Canadian Woman's Golf is Improving

The Lady Championships of Ontario and Quebec the past week witnessed record fields of entrants, and what is better still, a decidedly higher standard of play. There is no question that the fair golfers of Canada to-day are on the average 5 or 6 strokes better than they or their predecessors were some few years ago. For a woman to go round any Championship course in the eighties was unheard of then, but now many of them are doing so. The younger players, too, are showing great promise and it should not be long before golf in Canada more nearly approaches that in Great Britain, although Canadian women have still some distance to go, generally speaking, before attaining to this high standard. Altogether the Provincial Championship showing augurs well for the defence by Canadian women of the Canadian title next September at Toronto, where they will be called upon to meet some of the best players from the United States and in all probability from Great Britain too, and there is no gainsaying the formidable nature of this "invasion." So far Canadian women have never won a Championship when there has been a serious effort to capture it upon the part of Great Britain or the States. Mrs. Hurd, when Miss Dorothy Campbell, won it three times; Mrs. Macbeth (Miss Muriel Dodd); Miss Alexa Stirling, and Miss Cecil Leitch each once. Representatives from Great Britain, therefore, have captured our chief ladies' title five times and the U. S. once. Canadian women in the past have been seriously handicapped by the lack of opportunities for competitive golf, because it is only by competitive golf that championship form can be developed. Given more competitions and there is no reason whatever why Canadian representatives should not in the near future take a prominent place in the women's golf world.

Knickerbockers— Winnipeg women golf enthusiasts, like their sisters in other cities, are divided in opinion as to just what is the most suitable, proper and at the same time most becoming costume to wear on the links this summer. There are those who consider that knickers, beside being the latest thing in fashion, are all that can be desired from the utility point of view, while sacrificing nothing on the aesthetic side. They cannot go a-flapping in the wind, nor impede the lithesome vigour of the swing. As a result of this reasoning many prominent Winnipeg Ladies are appearing on the links this season in knickerbockers, whilst on some of the Ontario courses, too, the innovation is being introduced. It does not seem likely, however, that the departure from the regulation skirts will become very general in Canadian feminine golfdom. As one prominent player succinctly writes: "The fairways of our numerous courses are all clipped to within two inches of mother earth. We have very few trees and no cliffs, ravines or rushing torrents to negotiate, and if the idea is to draw attention to a shapely limb, why fluttering breezes and non-pleated skirts are much better looking than knickers, and the larger number of women golfers will not supplant them by anything so unnecessary and unbecoming." Thus knicker tastes differ among the fair sex and in the meantime some wear them, and the great majority don't.

A Formidable U. S. Triumvirate Challenges Great Britain's Supremacy All golfing eyes will this week be turned in the direction of the Royal St. George's, Sandwich, where the great classic, the British Open, is staged to take place, June 22nd and 23rd, with qualifying rounds two days previously. It looked at one time as though there would be no United States entrants for this greatest of all golfing events, but a very formidable trio in Hutchison, Barnes and Hagen, sailed last month to take part in the championship, and Hutchison incidentally to defend his title, won in the play-off with Mr. Roger Wethered last year at Old St. Andrews. Sandwich is a very long and testing championship course, but this won't bother the United States representatives, who are all prodigious drivers, the lanky Cornishman, Jim Barnes, especially so. Hutchison, who pulled off titular honors last year, had the advantage of thoroughly knowing the St. Andrews course, having been brought up as a boy there, and the chances are that he will not find Sandwich quite so much to his liking. Then, too, it must not be forgotten that the invaders will be under a distinct disadvantage this year, owing to the fact that the Royal and Ancient has banned the ribbed or slotted clubs (they are allowed in Canada and the United States), and it is generally claimed that it was the result of his work with a heavily slotted mashie-niblick that won for Hutchinson the coveted championship last year.

However, Barnes, Hutchison and Hagen are a most formidable aggregation. They represent respectively the English, Scotch and American schools of golf. Many U. S. critics claim that the native-born Hagen has got more shots in his bag than any other living golfer. He has played in championships only eight years, including two years of no tournaments during the war, yet his record is little short of marvelous for that short a time. He began in 1913 and finished fourth in the Open that year—the year that Ouimet beat Vardon and Ray. He won the National Open the following year at Chicago. He won this event again in 1919 at Brae Burn. He won the Western Open last summer and once before in 1916. He won the Metropolitan championship three consecutive times in 1916, 1919 and 1920. He won the Eastern Open championship in 1916, the Pan American Open championship in 1915, the French Open in 1920, the North and South championship in 1918, the West Coast of Florida title in 1920 and 1922, the New York state title in 1920, the Michigan state title in 1921. He won the Professional Golfers championship last fall at Inwood, defeating Jim Barnes in the final. Hagen has twice before visited Great Britain, but has never made any showing over there. Both Hutchison and Barnes have championship records as long as Hagen or even longer, so altogether it will be seen that the Britishers will have to play the best golf that is in them, to bring back the Open Championship cup to the tight little isles. Fortunately George Duncan and many of the younger stars are playing wonderful golf this season, and there will be a battle royal all right this fourth week in June on the links of the Royal St. George. Hagen and Hutchinson have never competed in any Canadian championships, but "Jim" Barnes has twice appeared in our Open and has each time been a runner-up, in 1912 at Rosedale and 1919 in Hamilton, when he tied for second place with Mr. "Bobby" Jones and Karl Keffer.

Mr. Fred. B. Morrison, M. A., President of the Saskatoon Golf Club:
 "I have pleasure in enclosing cheque for $4 in payment of my subscription for the Canadian Golfer, which I continue to greatly enjoy. Golf is booming in Saskatoon."

And here is a new one. It is known as "the Raney eye" and applies to the player who does not keep his head down. In other words, it is a question of "up-lift."

So numerous are the applicants for playing privileges over the Municipal course at Winnipeg, that the Parks Board in that city has issued orders for the course to be opened at 4.30 a.m. These early Municipal golfers have not unappropriately been dubbed "dew dusters."

That our former Canadian lady champion, Miss Alexa Stirling, is still capable of playing fine golf was demonstrated recently at the Morris Country Club, N. Y., when she won the Metropolitan championship by defeating in the finals that very good player, Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson, 5 and 3.

At a recent meeting of the Saskatchewan Provincial Association, held in Regina, it was resolved to co-operate, if possible, with the other Associations west of the Great Lakes in the formation of a Western Canadian Golf Association, within the jurisdiction of The Royal Canadian Golf Association.

The Editor takes this opportunity of most sincerely thanking many subscribers both in the United States and Canada for letters received, couched in most complimentary terms in reference to the May Anniversary issue of the Magazine. Also to several newspapers for kindly notices. Needless to say how these altogether too flattering encomiums are appreciated.

Mr. Stewart MacCauley, a prominent Glace Bay golfer and a member of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, has ordered a trophy that will be up for perpetual competition in Maritime golf. Only newspapermen will be eligible to play for the trophy. The matches among the newspapermen will probably be held on the second day of the meet of the Maritime championships.

In spite of the fact that the U. S. G. A. has this season barred the steel shafted club the Western Golf Association, with headquarters at Chicago, last month decided to permit its use in all events under its jurisdiction. In Great Britain and Canada the steel-shafted club is barred. It seems a pity, now that all Associations the world over are coming together in recognizing a uniformity in the rules, that the Western should have taken this action.

A despatch from Philadelphia:

Health was placed paramount by Dr. Franklin P. Millard, of Toronto, in an address yesterday before delegates of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association.

"If golf interferes with business, the thing to do is to give up business," he said. "No man, no matter how busy he is, should sacrifice his life for his business or profession."

As a result of this pronouncement, Dr. Millard to-day in business circles, is the most popular man in the world. He is hereby elected to the Golfing Hall of Fame, by a unanimous vote.

In the death of Mr. Justice Robert F. Sutherland, largely as a result of an accident, the Dominion loses a most outstanding citizen. He was a man who had been honored by his country, who had held many high positions of trust and responsibility, and it was doubtful if any other man of the day had more truly won the esteem and confidence of his fellows. The late Judge was an enthusiastic follower of the Royal and Ancient and a member of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association.

The dates of the last of the important Canadian Championships have just been announced. At a meeting this month of the Saskatchewan Provincial Golf Association, held in Regina, it was decided to hold the Provincial Championship the week commencing August 21st at Moose Jaw. There is a very interesting course in this city and the Saskatchewan golfers are assured of a splendid week's golf and a most enjoyable time generally, as the golfers of Moose Jaw are celebrated for their hospitality.

Mr. Hal. B. Donly, who for forty years has been the editor and proprietor of the Simcoe "Reformer" one of the brightest and best weeklies in Ontario, has sold out his interests in that paper. Mr. Donly in his younger days was a bicyclist of note and edited the magazine at that time devoted to the interests of "the silent wheel." Of late years he has taken up golf and is to-day President of the Norfolk Golf and Country Club, Simcoe. He richly deserves a well-earned rest from his active and successful journalistic duties, extending over four decades.

Lord Balfour, who as everyone knows is a golf enthusiast, often plays on the famous St. Andrews links in Scotland. A player on the ancient links asked his caddy if he often carried clubs for famous men. "Lots of them," replied the caddie, and after naming a few more or less distinguished persons mentioned Earl Balfour, and said that he had a close acquaintanceship with him. "Just what do you mean by a close acquaintanceship?" asked the golfer. "This," replied the caddie, pointing to his legs. "I'm wearin' a pair o' His Lordship's troosers."

Overlooking the Atlantic and with an enthusiastic membership of fifty, a new golf course has just been opened at Dominion, Cape Breton. The "Canadian Golfer" is in receipt of the score card, which is in Gaelic. And here is how the numbers of the holes wonderfully and fearfully appear on the card: Aon (1); Dha (2); Tri (3); Ceithir (4); Cuig (5); Se (6); Seachid (7); Oehd (8); Naoi (9). Iomlan stands for total and Namhaid for enemy or opponent. The Tomlan (total) length of the course is 2,700 yards. Altogether a most interesting card and from all accounts a most interesting course.

Is this season going to be another one of championship upsets? Already it has seen the dethronement of two British amateur champions, Miss Cecil Leitch and Mr. W. I. Hunter, whilst this month will tell the tale about our own Canadian Amateur and the British Open. In golf of recent years, "repeats" are rare, very rare. The day of an individual, man or woman, winning championships year after year, seems to have passed on the links to a very great extent. There are too many high-class players, both amateur and professional, in every country now-a-days, to permit of "continuous performances" being recorded.

* * *

By once again winning respectively the Quebec Provincial and Toronto and District Championships, C. R. Murray, of the Royal Montreal, and Geo. Cumming, of the Toronto Golf Club, have again demonstrated that although they are both getting in the "veteran" class, they are still in the very first flight of professional golf in the Dominion. Murray has won the Open Championship of Canada twice and Cumming once, whilst they both have other important events without number to their credit. The former's 154 over Mount Bruno, the longest course in Canada, was a distinctly fine performance, whilst Cummings' 149 over the difficult Lambton links was quite one of the best things he has done during his long and nctable golfing career.

A despatch from Garden City, Long Island:

"Long Island golf courses will be caddyless, at least in so far as Episcopalian boys are concerned, until after church hours on Sunday, if a resolution adopted at to-day's session of the Diocesan Convention here is adhered to in the Diocese of Long Island. Pastors in the diocese, under this resolution, offered by Dr. James S. Holland, of Glen Cove, are instructed to urge their parishioners not to employ boys as caddies on Sundays until after morning church services are concluded. This employment, it was said, deprives some parishes from 20 to 25 per cent. of their available choir boys and Sunday School material for six months of the year. The resolution provides: "That this convention protests against the empolyment of caddies on the golf courses before 1 p.m. on Sundays," and that the protest "be brought to the attention of congregations by the clergy."

A despatch from Vancouver, May 22nd:

"The marriage was quietly solemnized on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at Christ Church, Rev. W. H. Vance officiating, when Miss Mary Johnston of this city and daughter of the late Mr. Daniel Johnston and Mrs. Johnston of Ontario, was united in marriage to Mr. H. T. (Mike) Gardner, also of this city, and son of the late Mr. James Gardner and Mrs. Gardner of Skelmorlie, Ayreshire Scotland. Mr. Gardner is captain of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, of which the bride is also a popular member. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left for Seattle and Portland, and on their return will take up their residence in Vancouver."

The "Canadian Golfer" extends hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, and all good wishes for a record round, together, of life's links.

The intimation made at the meeting of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, that the Prince of Wales has agreed to become the next captain has been hailed by Old Country golfers with much satisfaction. The Prince appeals to everybody as a real sportsman in the best sense of the word, and his acceptance is no mere nominal honor to the R. and A., for it is understood that he intends to visit the Mecca in September and drive off the ceremonial ball to play himself into office in the old fashion. His grandfather, the late King Edward, when Prince of Wales, took the R. and A. captaincy in 1863, but did not in person visit the "auld grey toun" in connection with it. Prince Leopold, some thirteen years afterwards, also occupied the headship of the headquarters club.

Up to date the Canadian Amateur has been played 23 times. Mr. George S. Lyon has won it eight times and his brother-in-law, Mr. F. R. Martin, of Hamilton, twice. No other player has annexed it more than once. Of the twenty-three winners, Ontario men have been the victors sixteen times and Quebec seven times. No other Province has ever been represented, although Alberta the last two years has provided the runner-up—respectively T. Gillespie and C. W. Hague, both of Calgary. Once a United States player, Mr. Brice Evans, of Boston, reached the finals, in Ottawa in 1914, but he was defeated decisively by Mr. Lyon 8 and 7. If Armour, Lewis and Marston, all tee-up at Ancaster this week, for the 24th championship, as the indications are they will, it is a pretty good wager that an American will once again be in the finals this year.

The opening of the Community Golf Course at Hamilton last month with appropriate golfing and municipal ceremonies, marks another forward golfing step in Canada. Hundreds of workmen and young clerks, in the Ambitious City will now be able to enjoy the game under almost as ideal conditions as the members of the rich private clubs. The eighteen-hole course at Hamilton (formerly the home of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club for many years), can be made really a capital test of golf. This month Windsor, thanks to the generosity of the Racing Association there (Mr. Raney, the persecutor of the Sport of Kings, should make note of this), puts into play a nine-hole course for the rate-payers of the Border Cities. Vancouver is laying out a public course and it will not be long before Montreal and Ottawa will be the only cities of importance not providing facilities for public golf in Canada. They, too, can't afford much longer to stay out in the cold.

The following despatch from London will be read with great interest by Canadian golfers and golf clubs generally:

"Golf clubs and players are liable for accidents to people who may be passing the links, according to Justice Sankey, who has given a judgment in favor of George Castle, a taxicab driver, against the St. Augustine links and Marcus Chapman. Castle was blinded in one eye by a sliced drive. Chapman's ball hitting the windshield of the cab. Castle was awarded $2,000 damages. The ball was driven from the unlucky thirteenth hole, and several players testified that they drove into the road more frequently than they wished.

Justice Sankey, in giving the ruling, said that he played golf himself, and knew something of the problems of players. He thought the golf club should insure them against risk.

He added that the very best players occasionally sliced the ball, ordinary players sliced frequently, while the worst players never sliced because they almost never hit the ball at all. He said that slicing was part of the game and must be taken into consideration, and therefore the club in question was responsible because it placed the tee too close to the road. The justice advised clubs in general to avoid such possibilities, that golfers might slice and have their fun."

The Editor has much pleasure in publishing the following letter from Mr. C. M. C. Brunton, Hon. Sec. of the Sarnia Golf Club in reference to one of the best and most popular amateurs in Ontario:

"The Sarnia 'Observer' in their issue of May 13th, printed a despatch from the Detroit 'Free Press' to the effect that Mr. F. G. Hoblitzell would play for the Essex Golf Club of Windsor this year. This article was misleading and we think calls for some explanation. It is quite true that Mr. Hoblitzell has joined the Essex Club, as his business will take him to Windsor quite frequently during the summer months. He will be eligible to play for Essex in competitions against other clubs or in tournaments where club teams are entered. Mr. Hoblitzell is still a resident of Sarnia though, and a member of the Sarnia Club, where most of his golf is played. In all competitions where he is entered as an individual he will represent the Sarnia Golf Club as in former years. This includes the Canadian Amateur at Hamilton on June 19th, and the Detroit District Association Tournament, also, in all probability the American Amateur. "Hobby" has had very little time for practice so far this season, but in the few games he has shown excellent form. On Saturday last, playing with Mel Hunt, he shot a 74 over the Sarnia course, which is still far from perfect.

I trust that you will give the above explanation the prominence in your publication which Mr. Hoblitzell's standing as a golfer deserves."

In a letter received in this country from Miss Cecil Leitch, the Canadian Lady Champion, the regrettable announcement is made that she is under a specialist's orders to abstain from golf for the rest of the season. She is suffering from partial paralysis of the right ulnar nerve, resulting from the injury to her arm in America several months ago. Her golfing trip to Canada and America, planned for autumn, will have to be cancelled, though she may come to Canada on a visit to friends she made here last year. Miss Leitch made hosts of friends in Canada upon the occasion of her last visit, who will hear with greatest regret of her temporary suspension from the game of which she was such an outstanding ornament. Although not a stylist, there was something about her rugged form and long carrying iron and wood shots which greatly appealed to the gallery. She has been not inaptly described as the "Ted Ray of Women Golfers," whilst her young and successful rival, Miss Joyce Wethered, the present British Champion, who, it is generally expected, will take part in the Canadian and United States Championships this season, has been dubbed the "feminine Harry Vardon."

A FEW OF MANY

Just a Few of Many Kind Appreciations of the May Number received, to the Number of nearly one hundred, from widely scattered sources.

Mr. A. M. Hain, advertising manager of the important firm of The Robert Sinclair Tobacco Co., Ltd., Newcastle-on-Tyne, England:—"We have to-day received a copy of your special May number and have to congratulate you on the very effective manner in which this is got up."

Mr. R. C. S. Bruce, Winnipeg, President of the Manitoba Golf Association:—"I have to congratulate the "Canadian Golfer" on passing another "milestone" and wish for its continued success and bigger returns for the proprietors. Your anniversary number does you great credit, it was quite a generous volume and full of most interesting and enjoyable reading. I have always the greatest pleasure in perusing your magazine. Here's luck to you and it."

Mr. W. M. Reekie, New York:—"Your last number of "The Canadian Golfer" is very attractively arranged—quite an improvement I think—and you always make it interesting reading; no golf magazine ranks higher."

Mr. R. J. Younger, Assistant Manager of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto:—"May I compliment you upon the excellence of your May number, from cover to cover. It is a production of which every Canadian golfer may well be proud."

Mr. H. T. Curtiss, of the A. G. Spalding & Bros., of New York and an International Sporting Goods Firm:—"I have gone through your May number with the greatest possible interest, and I want to most heartily congratulate you on it. You exhibit a great genius in assembling material, none of which is dull, and yet it is so comprehensive that you cover successfully an extremely large field. I do not know what Canadian golf would do without the "Canadian Golfer."

Mr. F. O. Judge, Quebec City:—"Your new magazine cover is very artistic, and the whole appearance of the journal is dignified and of excellent taste—my congratulations."

Mr. George Wright, the veteran golfer of Boston, Mass.:—"The May number of the "Canadian Golfer" just received. It's new front cover is very attractive indeed, whilst the issue contains most interesting reading for all golfers."

Mr. W. A. Henry, K.C., Halifax, a member of the Executive of the Royal Canadian Golf Association:—"I am writing to congratulate you on the vast improvement in the appearance of the "Canadian Golfer." You ought to feel very proud of it."

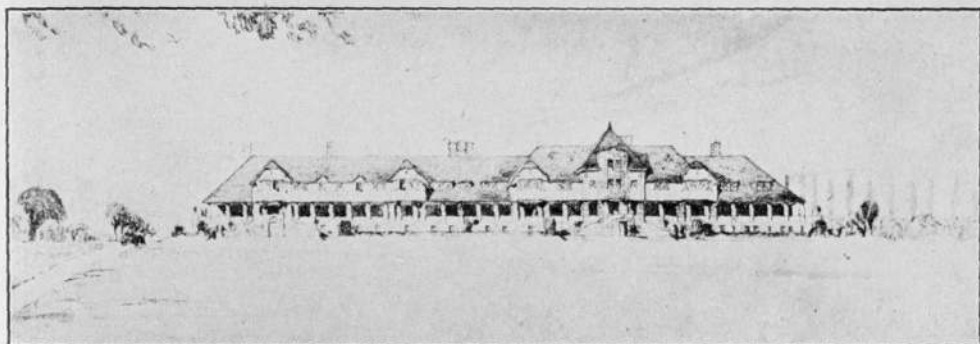

KIRKWOOD'S WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE

"Joe" Kirkwood, the Australian expert, is certainly playing great golf this season and he undoubtedly ranks to-day as among the six greatest golfers. The McVitie & Price £800 was won by him last month at Lossiemouth, Scotland, by the wonderful score of 290 for the four rounds. His first round was 69, which is a record for the course. Back of him in second place for a tie were George Duncan and Holland with 303 or 13 strokes behind Kirkwood. It looks as though the Australian will yet be the world's champion golfer.

AN EPOCH IN CANADIAN GOLF

Stately New Club House of The Royal Montreal Golf Club Formally Opened Last Month at Dixie—A Home Worthy Alike of the History and Traditions of the Premier Club of the Continent—Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., Honored at the Dinner over which Mr. J. J. McGill, President, Ably Presided.

THURSDAY, May 25th marked an epoch in the history of the Royal and Ancient in Canada, because that day witnessed the formal opening of the truly magnificent Club House of The Royal Montreal Golf Club, the premier golfing organization of the Continent, with an enviable history dating back to 1873. The event will long be remembered not only by the members of The Royal Montreal, but by the visitors who were privileged to take part in the notable ceremonies. It was made doubly memorable because the occasion also marked the 70th anniversary of the birthday of Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., for some six years the President of the Club, and its present Hon. President. It was during Mr. Baker's tenure of office that the extensive and comprehensive financial and other plans were laid whereby the erection of the present stately Club House and the re-vamping of the old 18-hole course and the purchase of land for a new 18-hole course were made possible. It was therefore most appropriate that the opening ceremonies should have taken place on his natal day.

The dinner which marked the opening of the new building, took place in the men's grill room—a room possibly without a peer in any Country Club in America. It is Elizabethian in style and is a tribute to the artistic genius of the architect, Mr. Charles J. Saxe, A.R.C.A. For that matter the whole Club House is a monument to his outstanding abilities.

Mr. J. J. McGill, the President of the Club, and for many years one of its most active members and Directors, occupied the chair in a most capable manner, and others at the head table were the Honorary President, Mr. W. R. Baker, J. L. McCulloch, President of the Beaconsfield Golf Club, T. O. Lyall, President Senneville Golf Club; W. G. Kent, President of the Whitlock Golf Club; Col. Cape, contractor of the club; Howard G. Kelley, President of the Grand Trunk Railway; C. J. Saxe, Architect of the Club, and Ralph H. Reville. Grouped around the flower bedecked tables were some two hundred of the Commercial Capital's leaders in the professions, in finance, in transportation, and other circles.

A menu which left nothing to be desired had been provided by the efficient staff of the Club, whilst a jolly feature of the dinner was the musical programme supplied by an orchestra comprised of talented young members of the Royal Montreal. All of the selections were particularly bright and added not a little to the "swing and carry through" of the whole dinner proceedings.

After the usual loyal toasts had been suitably honoured, Mr. McGill, who made a most admirable chairman, gave first of all a brief resume of the club's history. It had been indubitably proved that The Royal Montreal was the oldest club on the continent, and they were all naturally very proud of that fact. The Club next year would celebrate its 50th Anniversary and for some time it had been generally acknowledged that it had outgrown its old Club House and more or less the old course. The Club House recently demolished had been formally opened just a quarter of a century ago, and at that time it was thought to be a very magnificent edifice indeed, the speaker reading amidst some amusement, an extract from the Montreal Gazette of May 17th, 1897 to that effect. It was in 1918 that Mr. Baker, who was then the President, first mooted the question of larger and better quarters and improved courses. To-night they saw the fruition of those efforts.

In concluding a ringing speech Mr. McGill paid a warm tribute to the inspiration of Mr. Baker, to the enthusiasm of Mr. W. H. C. Mussen, another member of the original building committee, to Mr. Charles Saxe, the architect, and to Col. E. G. M. Cape, D.S.O., whose firm in record time had performed the construction work, the contract for which was only awarded last autumn.

Then came a very notable part of the evening's proceedings. The treasurer of the Club, Mr. E. F. Waterhouse, handed to the President a handsomely framed certificate illuminated on vellum, conferring on Mr. Baker the Hon. Presidency of The Royal Montreal, and also an Honorary Membership of the Club.

In presenting this tribute and proposing the toast to the recipient, Mr. McGill in glowing words expressed the hope that Mr. Baker would be spared many years to enjoy the privileges of the Club now conferred upon him. The certificate reads:—

"THIS IS TO CERTIFY: that at a meeting of the Directors of THE ROYAL MONTREAL GOLF CLUB held on Wednesday, August 24th, 1921, Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., was elected Honorary President of the Club, and the following Resolution, accepting his resignation of the position of President, an office which he had held for over six years, was placed on the records of the Club:

"It was resolved that the Directors of The Royal Montreal Golf Club learn with feelings of sincere regret that the state of his health forces the President, Mr. Walter R. Baker, C.V.O., to relinquish his office.

Under the circumstances, and with much regret, the Directors feel obliged to accept his tendered resignation, and in doing so express the hope that an improvement in his health may speedily set in, enabling Mr. Baker to continue to take a lively, if unofficial, interest in the affairs of the Club.

The Directors desire also to place on record an expression of appreciation of the devoted, efficient and successful service given to the Club by Mr. Baker during his many years of office. Under his able direction the Club has notably progressed, and it is owing in no small measure to his vision, energy, and organizing ability that the completion of the scheme for the enlargement of the Course, and the erection of a new Club House, that will be a credit to the pioneer Golf Club of Canada, has been made possible.

That Mr. Baker may have before him many years of health in which to enjoy the pleasure afforded by the "Royal and Ancient Game" is the wish of his colleagues on the Directorate—a wish which will be cordially shared by the members of the Club one and all."

THIS IS FURTHER TO CERTIFY:

That at the Annual General Meeting, held on Wednesday, December 14th, 1921, Mr. Baker was, by standing vote, unanimously elected an Honorary Member of the Club.

A. McCONNELL,
Assistant Secretary.

JNO. J. MCGILL,
President.

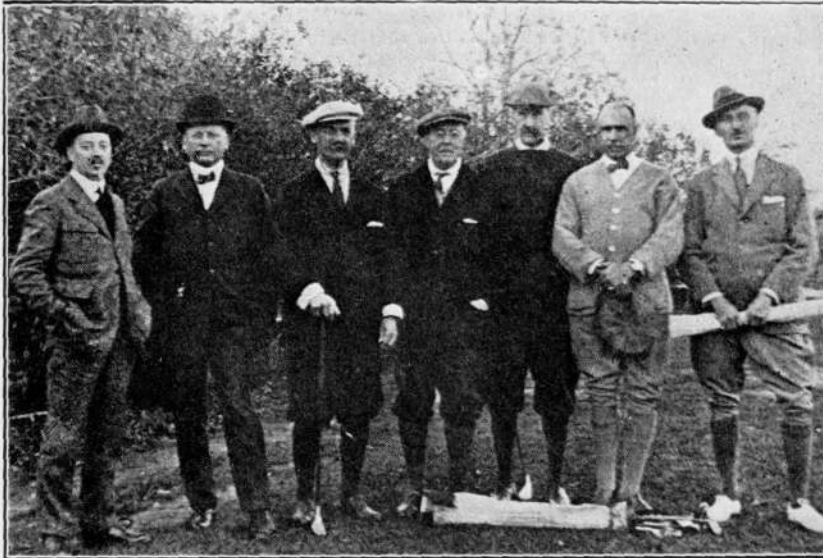

On rising to reply Mr. Baker was given an ovation, he being cheered for many minutes and given all the musical honours.

"It is quite impossible for me," he said, "to find language in which to properly express to you my grateful acknowledgment of the more than cordial manner in which you have received this Toast. Whilst, of course, it has a most welcome personal significance, it has even a greater appeal in that it means your approval of what has been accomplished.

I don't think any one of you can realize what this day means to me.

Seven years ago, or more, when I first had the honour of being made your President, I had no idea what that honour really meant; I did not know that it meant the highest sporting position in Canada, nor did I realize that it meant the greatest social position in the Dominion, for that is what I consider the Presidency of The Royal Montreal Golf Club really does mean. When I did realize that, when I began to know something of the history of the Club, when I began to recognize not only its position but its potentialities and its possibilities, then I made up my mind that it must be my task to provide a home for the Club that would be worthy of its traditions.

You will remember, perhaps, that in 1916 I put before you a scheme which I thought at that time would be fully equal to the Club's requirements. That scheme, whilst not declined, was not unanimously accepted, and I want to say now that I am every glad it wasn't. I feel that our later and larger scheme is much more fitted to the eminent position which the Club occupies in the golfing world.

A notable group of notable Montreal men, responsible for the financing and building of the new Club House and Courses of The Royal Montreal Golf Club at Dixie. Reading from left to right: Messrs. J. M. Miller and C. J. Saxe (the architects), W. R. Baker, C. V. O. (Honorary President), J. J. McGill (President), E. A. Macnutt (Captain), W. H. C. Mussen (former Chairman of the Green Committee and member of Construction Committee), Col. E. G. M. Cape (Principal of E. G. M. Cape Co., contractors of the new Club House).

Very well, Gentlemen: we set to work on our larger scheme, and we now have a home to which, no matter how illustrious your visitors, you may introduce them without a qualm or a misgiving; you have a home which, in my experience (and I have travelled pretty well the wide world over), is equalled by few and excelled by none, and I would like here to pay a little tribute to the splendid Club spirit evinced by two of our members, who, although practically in the employment of the Club, have given you what money cannot pay for—the best of their skill, and their devoted energy towards the completion, in the most perfect manner, of the home which you are now enjoying—I refer to Mr. Saxe, our architect, and to Colonel Cape, our contractor.

I would also like to add the name of Mr. Sutherland, also a member of the Club, who has been locally in charge of the work, and whose attention has been unremitting.

Some of you have had misgivings about the financial outcome, but the fact that with practically all your new members elected you still have over three hundred names on the waiting list, that for 23 dressing rooms you have 130 applications, that for 30 bedrooms you have 35 or more applications, and that the large lockers have been over applied for, is, in my opinion, a complete justification of the policy which I urged upon you, and a thorough vindication of what some of my friends have been pleased to call my "ridiculous optimism."

And, Gentlemen, in my opinion there need be no anxiety as to the future. With the policy that has heretofore obtained of having plain food, daintily served, at moderate prices, you will have a business here that will surprise you, and a business that will exceed any estimate of revenue that has been made.

I feel, however, that I must ask you to have in all fairness yet a little patience. It has been a big undertaking and it will be a while yet before our new courses are ready, or before our organization is complete, but when that comes I am satisfied that every vestige of criticism will disappear, and that you will all be very happy in your new surroundings.

With every hope that you may all live long to enjoy the delights of the new Dixie; with my most grateful thanks again for the manner in which you have received the Toast to my health, and for the very delightful welcome which I receive at all times from the members of the Club out here—a welcome which makes Dixie the nearest thing to home that I have, I will close by saying with all truth that having now accomplished what has been the one ambition of my later life, and having arrived at "the allotted span," I can sing my "Nunc Dimitis" not merely with resignation, but with joyful acclaim.

Mr. Baker was accorded another ovation at the conclusion of his heartfelt speech.

Other toasts were proposed and replied to by Mr. Murray Kennedy, the oldest member of the club; Mr. Howard G. Kelley, President of the Grand Trunk; Mr. Jas. L. McCulloch, President of Beaconsfield, and Mr. Ralph H. Reville, Editor of the "Canadian Golfer," all of whom expressed great admiration for the superb new home of The Royal Montreal Golf Club and wished its President and members a future, commensurate with the past and replete with every success and happiness. Altogether it was a golfing event that will always remain a fragrant memory with those who took part. An event that marks another stepping stone in the long and honourable career of the "mother of Canada's Parliament of Golf."

THE NEW CLUB HOUSE AND COURSES.

The Royal Montreal has now two 18-hole courses of championship calibre. The old course has been greatly lengthened and improved from plans of Willie Park, who is also responsible for the new 18-hole course. The new course is not yet ready for play, but will be in July, and by next year, which marks the jubilee of the club, will be in splendid shape. There are many character holes on the new course. The greens are extremely well placed and when all is rounded into shape there will be no better test of golf in the Dominion. An admirable feature of these twin courses is that the 18th holes both end up in front of the Club House. The golfer will find at Dixie every variety of hole to test the best game that is in him. There is an admirable balance of one-shot, two-shot and three-shot holes, whilst the greens are of most generous proportions. The Royal Montreal is the only Club in Canada to have two 18-hole courses. Until the new course is put into play the old course, as the result of the admission of many new members, will no doubt be congested to some extent, but as the President, Mr. McGill stated in his speech at the dinner, the members will undoubtedly make the best of this in the meantime.

The new Club House is approached through a handsome loggia, which extends to the main entrance where a large stone hallway two and a half storeys high is quite one of the features of the building. With stone floors and walls and winding stairs, also of stone, this hallway has almost a cathedral-like dignity. Off this entrance hall is the Secretary's office complete in every detail.

To the left of this stone hall are the dressing and locker rooms easily the most complete on the Continent. The lockers are arranged in bays—14 lockers to each bay—and each bay has direct lighting from the exterior through a large window. Each bay of lockers is shut off from the central corridor by a light-hinged lattice door which virtually converts each into a private locker-room. The system of lockers was installed by The Dennis Wire and Iron Works Co. Limited, of London, Ontario, and the installation is a great credit to the firm. Some of the lockers are double the ordinary size and have regular wardrobe features. Close to the entrance to the locker room and centrally located, is situated the locker keeper's office, telephone boxes, etc. The eight showers and their cubicles too, are very conveniently placed. The ladies' locker-room on a smaller scale, is the duplicate of the men's. A feature of the locker rooms is that they open out right on the courses.

On the first floor of this wonderful Club House are situated the men's beautiful grill room and lounge, where the opening dinner was held, the billiard room, card rooms, the general dining room of most generous proportions; the general lounge and a charming ladies' sitting room. All of these rooms are superbly lighted. They are finished in the majority of cases in chestnut. Handsome open fire places are a feature of several of them. Everywhere the utmost taste has been displayed. Running the whole length of this first floor, some 300 feet, is the superb stone gallery overlooking the courses and the lake beyond, and approached from the links beneath by magnificent stone steps. Mr. Saxe had an inspiration when he planned this gallery.

On the second floor are some 53 dressing rooms and bedrooms. As most golfers know, generally speaking, in Club Houses the bedrooms more or less are a "shake-down." Not so at Dixie. Mr. Saxe has paid particular attention to the comforts of the members in this regard, and the result is bright, light airy rooms facing towards the lake, which will simply court slumber. There is not a dull or dingy room on the whole floor. Every convenience has been arranged for. There are three shower rooms and six bath rooms on this floor, and telephones and inter-communicating phones for the use of members.

Hardly necessary to state that the building is fireproof, and hardly necessary to state, perhaps, that the kitchen arrangements and heating arrangements are fully in keeping with the rest of this "last word in club houses", whilst the wants of the large staff from every standpoint are looked after in a manner which leaves nothing to be desired. One word, however, in regard to the professional's shop and quarters. These are on quite an elaborate scale, with fine show rooms and work shops, and a private room for the use of the professionals off which is a shower bath. The caddies, too, have not been neglected. An enclosed playground with shelter has been provided for them.

Apparently nothing has been overlooked, alike for the convenience and comfort of the members, their guests and the staff. There is a continuity in everything in this perfectly planned Club House, which is a credit alike to the members of The Royal Montreal who made it possible financially, the architect who designed it, and the builders who build so well.

Appreciating the artistic nature of the new Club House and realizing the importance of looking after the transportation welfare of the members, the Grand Trunk Railway has this summer erected a new station at Dixie which has been so designed as to harmonize more or less with the Club House. Members coming to Dixie by the G.T.R. now have a comfortable path and a covered way right to the entrance, all of which is greatly appreciated by them, as was voiced by the President, Mr. J. J. McGill, at the dinner, in proposing the toast of the President, Mr. J. Howard Kelly, of the G.T.R. Even the railways conspire to make the lot of The Royal Montreal golfer happy beyond compare.

For the general information of clubs, the following dimensions of the principal rooms, etc., at Dixie will no doubt be of interest and value:—

GROUND FLOOR—Common Entrance Hall, 22' 0" x 22' 6". Secretary's Office, 15' 0" x 20' 0". Professionals' Shop, 21' 6" x 25' 0". Men's Private Dressing Rooms, each, 7' 6" x 9' 6". Men's Showers, 8 showers each with 2 cubicles 4' square. Lobby, 11' 0" x 11' 0". Corridor, 7' 0" wide.

FIRST FLOOR—Upper Part of Hall, 22' 0" x 22' 6". Men's Coats, 15' 0" x 17' 0". Men's Grill Room and Lounge, 25' 0" x 71' 0". Seating capacity, 108. Billiard Room, 21' 0" x 24' 0". Card Room, 25' 0" x 22' 0". Common Dining Room, 25' 0" x 55' 0", with bay. Seating Capacity 100. Common Lounge, 25' 0" x 63' 0". Ladies' Sitting Room, 16' 6" x 23' 6". Men's Gallery, 15' 0" wide. Dining Capacity 72. Common Gallery, 15' 0" wide. Dining Capacity, 72. Kitchen, 25' 0" x 41' 0". Maids' Dining Room, 16' 0" x 26' 0".

BEDROOM FLOOR—Members' Bedrooms, with bath and shower common to two rooms, size, 9' 6" x 10' 6" to 11' 3" x 18' 6". Dressing Room, 8' 0" x 9' 0".

The exterior of the Club House is treated in a manner after the English Country homes. The ground floor is faced in rustic stone work; the first floor and galleries in a cream white roughcast, and the roof is covered with slate in varied colours—the whole blending in a most satisfying and harmonious manner.

NO FINANCIAL BURDEN

Are Municipal Golf Links. Portland Links Make $16,000 Profit

MUNICIPAL golf links, once established, are no financial encumbrance to a community, if the experience of such cities as Portland and Seattle can be taken as any criterion. During the past years Portland has realized a profit of $16,000 on its links, and Seattle has shown a balance on the right side of the ledger of something like $6,000. There is no reason why Vancouver could not boast of a municipal golf course and incur no financial loss on the outlay.

These are some facts gleaned and a conclusion arrived at by Alderman Fred. Crone, chairman of the public works committee of the Vancouver city council, who accompanied the civic delegation which visited the cities to the south a few days ago.

"Not only do these cities make a profit on their investment in golf links, but they give those citizens who are not in a financial position to contribute to the upkeep of golf clubs, an opportunity to play the game at small cost," he observed. "I would like to see Vancouver in possession of municipal golf links. We have hundreds of golfers who would derive many hours of enjoyment and the advertising which the city would secure would be no small asset."

Have You Seen This Great Ball in Action?

There's something about the imported "JH"--the great ball created by J. H. Taylor--that once you see it in action or actually play it, you recognize in it the world's master ball.

Probably no golf ball in history has ever won a place in the hearts of professional and high rated amateurs in the same length of time as the "JH."

Last year, brand new to America, this year you hear about it everywhere. In the South this Winter it was the most popular ball. Right now it is being played by Pros all over the country.

The "JH" is made for the good golfer who hits hard. Standard weight and size. Long in flight. Hugs the green on the approach and putts firm and true. At $1.00 it is the most economical ball to play.

If you lack power in the drive, we recommend the Beldam-- Same as "JH" but wound under less tension which gives great distance from moderate blow.

Try one of these HOLMAC balls the next time you play and see why they are so popular among good golfers.

ONTARIO LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP

Rosedale, Toronto, Provides an Ideal Setting for the Annual Event—Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mississauga, Toronto, Wins the Championship from Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton—Splendid Golf Witnessed in the Flights—Toronto and Hamilton Players Annex all the Honours.

THE Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, that very virile organization, so ably officered, well advisedly, last year revived the Ontario Ladies Championship, which originally, thanks very largely to the initiative of the ladies of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, was instituted some time ago. The London Hunt was the scene of the 1921 event, the first for many years and a thoroughly interesting five-days' golf resulted in Mrs. Hope Gibson, of Hamilton, winning club honours, defeating Miss Joyce Hutton in the finals by a really remarkable display of golf. Mrs. Gibson went out in 48 and came home with a 36 for a total of 84. And that is a card which takes a bit of beating.

This year, Rosedale, Toronto, was the venue of the Championship—June 5th to 9th, and a better choice could not have been made. Centrally situated, with one of the most comfy club houses in Canada (recently greatly enlarged and improved), and a course that has been extended and brought right up to modern golfing ideas, the last year or so from plans of Donald Ross, a golf architect with an international reputation, until now it has a variety of well placed holes of quite noteworthy character, the lady golfers of Ontario had an exceptional opportunity to thoroughly enjoy their annual outing. Added to all this, unbounded hospitality upon the part of the Rosedalian President, Mr. W. H. Despard, and his Board of Directors, and the capable Ladies Executive of the club, and the Ontario Women's Championship meeting of 1922 could not help but be an unbounded success. And it was.

One hundred and six entrants teed-off in the Qualifying Round the opening day from the elevated first tee, commanding a wonderful view of the tree-environed course, deep in glorious June's green foliage. Naturally Toronto had the largest representation, closely followed by Hamilton. London, Brantford and Paris were among the other places represented. Altogether a goodly company of the women golfers of the Province.

The title-holder, Mrs. Hope Gibson, of Hamilton, playing true to form, captured chief honours the opening day, returning a consistently put together 86—43 out and 43 in. Miss Ada Mackenzie, ex-Canadian Lady Champion, was four strokes back of her with 90. In third and fourth places were those promising young Toronto players, Miss Sidney Pepler and Miss Joyce Hutton with 94 and 95 respectively. Miss Elmsley, still another Toronto member, was 5th with 96. Other players qualifying to play in the first 16 for the Championship were: Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Hamilton, 96; Miss Effie Nesbitt, Woodstock and Hamilton, 97; Mrs. J. H. Riddel, Scarboro, 97; Miss M. Beck, Toronto and London, 98; Mrs. W. G. More, Toronto, 99; Mrs. J. H. M. Bostwick, Hamilton, 99; Mrs. J. G. Ridout, Lambton, 101; Miss Jean Masten, Toronto, 101; Miss Violet Mills, Hamilton, 101; Mrs. W. W. Forsythe, Lakeview, 102. Tying for the 16th place with 103 were Mrs. Murdock, lady champion of the Humber Valley Golf Club, who learned her game in Scotland, and Mrs. E. E. Henderson, of Rosedale. In the play-off Mrs. Murdock won and going into the championship flight, subsequently almost succeeded in making golfing history.

The following qualified for the six other flights:—

SECOND FLIGHT—Miss Margaret Findlay, Mrs. Henderson; Mrs. L. Hammill, Mrs. G. W. Little; Mrs. F. Mallory, Mrs. Duncan Coulson; Miss Willo Gage, Miss Dorothy Thomson; Mrs. A. B. Mulholland, Mrs. C. H. Carpenter; Mrs. H. Thorne Mrs. F. C. Biggar; Miss May Denison, Mrs. E. P. Clarkson; Mrs. Sidney Jones, Mrs. Marshall Graydon.

THIRD FLIGHT—Mrs. G. C. Mills, Mrs. Fraser Grant; Mrs. G. T. Pepall, Miss N. Defoe; Mrs. E. R. Allson, Mrs. Grant Fletcher; Mrs. W. K. Fraser, Miss L. Wickson, Miss M. Gagen, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Mississauga, Ontario Lady Champion (right) and Mrs. Murdock, Humber Valley (left) who took the Champion in the Demi-Semi Finals to the 18th Green.

Mrs. R. Harris; Miss L. Maule, Miss W. Hoskin; Miss L. Macdonald, Mrs. J. C. Moorehouse. Mrs. E. F. Garrow, bye

FOURTH FLIGHT—Mrs. H. A. Coulson, Mrs. A. N. Mitchell; Mrs. E. G. Williams, Mrs. Frank McCarthy; Mrs. J. J. Ashworth, Miss H. Blackstock; Mrs. J. A. Goodearle, Mrs. F. Leeming; Mrs. F. Spry, bye; Miss M. Millichamp, Mrs. W. P. Torrance; Mrs. Agar, Mrs. T. F. Matthews; Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. F. Adams.

FIFTH FLIGHT—Mrs. George Evans, Mrs. R. Wadsworth; Mrs. A. D. Morrow, Miss S. Heron; Mrs. J. Whitehall, Mrs. A. D. Miles; Mrs. J. E. Ganong, Miss N. Laird; Miss L. Pettit, Miss H. Reid; Miss M. Morris, Miss F. Cassidy; Miss M. Lyon, Mrs. W. B. Meikle; Mrs. W. C. Stikeman, Miss K. Capreol.

SIXTH FLIGHT—Mrs. J. L. Coulson, Miss E. Wishart; Miss K. Christie, Mrs. G. S. Deeks; Mrs. W. C. Webster, Mrs. F. C. Husband; Miss E. Scott, Mrs. C. Gibson; Miss M. Wishart, Mrs. H. P. Temple; Miss R. Ryckman, Mrs. F. Hughes; Mrs. J. M. Lyle, Miss B. Burrows; Mrs. R. J. Dilworth, Mrs. F. I. Fox.

SEVENTH FLIGHT—Mrs. W. S. Alley, Mrs. F. How; Mrs. F. W. Marlowe, Mrs. C. Harris; Miss P. Stevenson, Mrs. W. E. Pepall; Mrs. Leonard Murray, Miss H. Scott; Mrs. Lennox, Miss M. King.

The handicap prizes, contributed by the men of the Rosedale Golf Club, were also determined by the scores in the qualifying round, and four ladies tied for first place with net scores of 76, viz.: Mrs. M. K. Rowe, of Hamilton; Mrs. Fred. Mallory and Mrs. G. T. Peppall, of Lambton, and Mrs. G. C. Mills, of Rosedale. Other low handicap scores were Mrs. Fraser Grant, of the Toronto Club, with 77, and Mrs. W. K. Fraser, of the same club, with 79. In the subsequent play-off to break the double tie, Mrs. Rowe of Hamilton won, and her victory was a particularly popular one.

MISS MACKENZIE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Naturally the chief interest in the succeeding days of the Tournament centred in the matches which were to determine the Championship, although in the other flights competition was keen and the golf exceedingly good. And this is what happened the first day of the Championship competition:

Miss Jean Masten (Toronto) won from Miss Myriam Elmsley (Toronto), on 20th hole.

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton) won from Mrs. K. M. Rowe (Hamilton), 4 and 3.

Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton) won from Mrs. J. G. Ridout (Lambton), 6 and 5.

Mrs. W. G. More (Toronto) won from Mrs. H. M. Bostwick (Hamilton), 3 and 1.

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) won from Miss Marion Beek (Toronto), 5 and 3.

Mrs. J. H. Riddell (Scarboro) won from Mrs. W. W. Forsyth (Lakeview), 4 and 2.

Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga) won from Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto), 6 and 4.

Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley) won from Miss Violet Mills (Hamilton), 5 and 4.

No particular upsets here. Then on Wednesday the following tale was told:

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton) won from Miss Jean Masten (Toronto), 4 and 3.

Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton) won from Mrs. W. G. More (Toronto), 1 up.

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) won from Mrs. J. H. Riddell (Scarboro), 4 and 3.

Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga) won from Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley), 1 up.

The match of the day was that between Mrs. Murdock and the ex-lady Champion. Make no mistake about it. The Humber Valley player is a finished golfer and is a decided acquisition to the ranks of Canadian golf. All she requires is a little more experience of course conditions here to be in the very first flight. She plays every shot with ease and skill and should be a factor in any future championships. At the 10th Mrs. Murdock was 2 up on Miss Mackenzie. With a perfect three, however, at the 13th the Mississauga representative squared the match. Winning the 15th and 16th she was dormy 2. Mrs. Murdock, however, won the 17th and playing superb golf at the difficult 18th was on the green in 2 and it looked as though an extra hole would be in order. She, however, had hard luck in sinking her putt for a four, the ball hanging on the lip of the cup, and Miss Mackenzie halving the hole with a 5 won a thrilling match 1 up. Mrs. Murdock was the recipient of heartiest congratulations on the memorable fight she put up against her seasoned and experienced opponent. Another very close match in this round was that between Mrs. More and Miss Nesbitt, the popular Woodstockian also registering 1-hole victory over her Toronto opponent.

The expected rather happened in the semi-finals, Mrs. Gibson defeating her team-mate, Miss Effie Nesbitt by 4 and 2, whilst Miss Ada Mackenzie accounted for the brilliant young Toronto player, Miss Sidney Pepler, 3 and 1.

Then on Friday afternoon, under ideal weather conditions, came the finals and a large gathering was treated to a display of golf decidedly above the average. The title holder, Mrs. Gibson, and the ex-lady champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie, notwithstanding a gruelling week, were both at the top of their game and the spectators were well repaid for the long and hot hike over the 6,300 yard course.

Miss Ada early established what looked like a commanding lead being 3 up at the 4th. She, however, dropped the 389-yard 5th 6 to 5 and the next four holes being halved, entered upon the homeward journey 2 up. Mrs. Gibson won the 10th 5 to 7 but losing the 11th was again 2 down. Miss Mackenzie also annexed the 401-yard 12th 5 to 6 after her opponent had made a capital recovery from a bunker, losing a chance, however, to tie on the putting green.

Mrs. Gibson, however, won the short 13th only to lose the 438-yard 14th 5 and 6. At the 15th, 420 yards, Mrs. Gibson was badly punished by a hanging lie after a superb drive of some 225 yards. She made a plucky effort to reach the green with an iron, but just failed to carry the ridge. Her third was on however, but 3 putts proved her undoing, Miss Mackenzie who had made a very fine brassie second to the edge of the green, holing out in a 5 for a 4 and 3 victory which carried with it the Ladies' Championship of Ontario. The new champion of the Province and the ex-champion much to the delight of the gallery decided to finish out the round and the following cards were the result:—

Miss Mackenzie, out555, 464, 454=42 In755, 555, 355=45=87
 Mrs. Gibson, out675, 554, 454=45 In566, 466, 446=47=92

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton, Champion 1921), who lost the title to Miss Ada Mackenzie in the finals.

Mrs. Gibson was driving a superb ball off the tee, but was having trouble with her approach shots to some extent, whilst on the green she threw away many chances. Miss Mackenzie played a masterly game throughout. With the exception of the 10th hole, where she carded a rather ugly 7, her work through the green and on the green was marked with absolute assurance. She is playing this season unquestionably the best golf in her notable career. She well deserves the Ladies' Championship crown of her native Province.

WINNERS IN OTHER EVENTS.

The results in the other match events of a most notable week were as follows:—

Championship Consolation, Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) in the finals won from Miss Marian Beek (Toronto).

SECOND FLIGHT—Miss Willo Gage (Lambton) in the finals won from Mrs. G. H. Carpenter (Rosedale).

THIRD FLIGHT—Miss N. Defce (Rosedale) in the finals won from Mrs. J. C. Moorehouse (Summit).

FOURTH FLIGHT—Miss M. Millichamp (Rosedale) in the finals won from Mrs. Frank Leeming (Brantford).

FIFTH FLIGHT—Miss K. Capreol (Toronto) in the finals won from Mrs. A. D. Miles (Rosedale).

SIXTH FLIGHT—Mrs. F. Hughes (Mississauga) in the finals won from Mrs. F. C. Husband (Scarboro).

SEVENTH FLIGHT—Mrs. W. E. Peppall (Mississauga) in the finals won from Miss M. King (Lambton).

In addition to the various matches in the championship and flights during the week there were several other interesting events run off.

Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) won the prize for the three longest drives. She made drives of 190 yards, 185 and 199, for a total of 574 yards—a most excellent performance. Mrs. Hope Gibson with a total of 565, was second. Miss Willow Gage had the longest drive, with 205 yards.

In the putting and approaching contest a tie resulted between Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton) and Mrs. Murdock (Humber Valley), each securing a superb 8. In the play-off the Humber Valley player with a score of 9 to 10 won first prize, Miss Nesbitt winning the second prize.

A summary of the prize lists shows that Hamilton players secured five trophies (Mrs. Gibson accounting for three of them). The Toronto Golf Club representatives three. Mississauga three. Lambton two. Rosedale two, and Humber Valley one.

A glorious week of golf and entertainment was brought to a most successful conclusion Friday afternoon by a delightful tea given by the ladies of Rosedale, and the presentation of prizes in the flower-bedecked lounge room of the club house (the floral decorations of the Rosedale Club House throughout Tournament week were simply exquisite and called forth unstinted admiration). The President, Mr. W. H. Despard, presided in a most happy manner. He was assisted in the presentation by Mrs. Leonard Murray, the President of The Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, and a right good President too, Mrs. Miles, President of the Rosedale Ladies' Golf Club, and Mr. R. H. Greene, an ex-President of Rosedale, who all through Tournament week had been most indefatigable in looking after the successful starting of the various events. The winners were cheered, the Rosedale officials were cheered, whilst a pleasing feature was the presentation by Mrs. Bostwick, of Hamilton, to Mrs. W. C. Stikeman, Secretary of the Rosedale ladies, of a handsome Souvenir on behalf of the Hamilton players.

Mr. E. C. Boyer, the Manager of the Rosedale Golf Club, also came in for all kinds of praise from the ladies. He devoted his whole time during the week to their welfare and much of the smooth-running of this most successful of Tournaments is due to his untiring efforts.

BRITISH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

Mr. E. W. E. Holderness, an Englishman, Wins the Coveted Title—Plays Brilliant Golf Throughout the Week and Deservedly Earns Chief Honours—Is Recognized as a Great Stylist—A Crowd of 20,000 Watch the Thrilling Finals.

(Extracts from "Golfing", London)

MAY the 22nd to 27th the 1922 Amateur Championship of Great Britain was decided at Prestwick, the well known Scottish course. The finalists were Mr. E. W. E. Holderness, of Walton Heath, and Mr. John Caven, of Cochrane Castle. The former is the son of Sir Thomas and Lady Holderness, is a member of the Bar, and at the age of thirty-two is one of the principal secretaries of the Home Office. He was born in India, which—according to the ideas of nationality put forward by some English journalists in the case of Mr. Willie Hunter—would make him a Hindoo. He is perhaps the most stylish amateur player we have to-day.

Mr. John Caven is a worthy representative of that great reserve of fine but little known players in whom Scottish golf is so rich, but who, usually owing to monetary considerations, do not get enough play in big events to attain more than a local reputation. He is twenty-nine and is engaged as a book-keeper to a firm of engineers in Johnstone. His younger brother Alec is the professional at Cochrane Castle.

The play was much above the usual standard of Championship finals and that in spite of the sometimes rather disconcerting applause of the vast crowd of spectators. The lead changed hands frequently and it was only a 300-yard drive of Mr. Holderness's just over the last green, that enabled him to get a 3 there and go in to lunch 1 up. He was round in 76. Mr. Caven in 78.

That last-hole drive by Mr. Holderness—all the more remarkable because Mr. Caven had frequently out-driven him—stood him in good stead. A good putt made him two up at the first hole in the afternoon, but the Scot squared at the eighth. Again the Englishman got ahead; again Mr. Caven brought him back to square. Then Mr. Holderness got away and became dormy 2, but Mr. Caven won the Alps with a ten-foot putt, and everything depended on the last hole, which is the easiest of 4's, but the hardest of 3's.

Amid tense excitement Mr. Caven holed a five yards put for a 3. Then as "the tumult and the shouting died" Mr. Holderness stepped forward to hole his three yarder for the Championship. Down it went, and for the Scot is at least a good loser.

The entry of 252 was a record for the event. Of course it is always greater in the years when the Championship is played in Scotland, because the strong body of Scottish artisan players can only afford to compete when the meeting is fairly near home.

The over-seas entry included one from the Gezireh Club at Cairo, but those who expected to find this representative of Lower Egypt chanting "Allah Akbar" on the first tee were disappointed. Mr. T. L. C. Heald is at present located at Cairo where he is engaged in the cotton trade, but he has used his three months' holiday to good purpose, annexing the Lancashire Championship the other day at Formby.

The most unlucky golfer of the whole meeting was Mr. J. A. Ingram, of Turnhouse, who, by mistake, got into a Glasgow express at Ayr station instead of a "local," discovered his error and pulled the communication cord and succeeded in stopping the train at Gailes, and motored back in time to be just ten minutes too late for his match.

Except for Mr. John Anderson, the American entry, this year was not a very distinguished one, although Mr. Daniel Parsons, of Youngtown did well in some of the Southern States tournaments during the winter. He was put out early in the week whilst Mr. Anderson lasted until the fourth round, when he was defeated by Mr. W. L. Hope 2 and 1.

A feature of the meeting was the re-juvenation of Mr. Harold Hilton. He played splendid golf to beat the Scottish International Mr. Gordon Simpson, but he seemed to tire as the week wore on. In the demi-semi-final he was rather easily beaten by Mr. Holderness after a curious battle in which the loser won the first three holes. The tit-bit of this sixth round was the meeting of the holder and Captain Carter, the Irishman, who had been playing some of the best golf of the meeting especially in the fifth round, in which he beat Mr. Manford, 6 and 5. Against Mr. Hunter, however, he opened weakly by putting his tee-shot on the railway. Mr. Hunter was three up at the fifth, but lost the next three, and after that every hole was halved except the sixteenth, where Captain Carter got into "the Cardinal" and played a couple of shots against the sleepers before giving up the hole. So Mr. Hunter got home by the narrowest possible margin.

Even the Scots were startled when Mr. Bob Scott, the Glasgow Club crack, beat Mr. Roger Wethered. Mr. Scott was deservedly 4 up at the turn, but he gave Mr. Wethered chance after chance coming in. He was bunkered at the fifteenth and took two to get clear, but Mr. Wethered could only halve. Standing dormy two, Mr. Scott was bunkered off his second at the Alps, failed to get out at the first attempt and was playing 4 out of the bunker when Mr. Wethered was on the green in 2. But the Glasgow man put that fourth from the bunker within a foot of the hole. Mr. Wethered took three putts—and the match was over.

There were four Scots in the last eight, and two of them, Mr. Caven, of Cochrane Castle, and Mr. W. Mackenzie, of Mortonhall, had a terrific internecine struggle which was only decided in favour of the West of Scotland player at the 22nd hole.

It has been observed that Mr. Holderness lacks the "tiger touch" for a match play tournament, and had not fate intervened, it is just possible that that lack might have cost him his match against Mr. Willie Hunter. They had turned level and Mr. Holderness won the tenth, but after a series of halves, the holder looked like drawing level when he was left with a putt of less than a yard for the fifteenth hole.

Mr. Holderness, as he afterwards said, was about to give him it, but Mr. Hunter, his nerves at full stretch, was already putting. He missed, curled round the lip of the hole, laid himself a dead stymie—and failed in his attempt to screw round it coming back. He was two down instead of square, and two more splendidly played halves sealed his fate. Last year the pair met in the fifth round, when Mr. Hunter won by 4 and 3.

In the most sporting manner, Mr. Bob Scott had agreed to delay the start of the other semi-final so as to give Mr. Caven time to recover from his prolonged battle of the morning. Although the Cochrane Castle player led from the very start, Mr. Scott fought dourly to the last green where a glorious half in 3 left him still one hole on the wrong side.

The final struggle has already been described. It is estimated that there were well over twenty thousand spectators on the course on the afternoon, and with such a crowd accidents were almost inevitable. Mr. John Henderson, a retired schoolmaster belonging to Ayr, dropped dead at the sixth hole, and at the last hole one of the youths who climbed on to the roof of the professionals' shop to get a view of the winning putt, fell on to the spikes of the railings below and broke a leg.

The details of the later rounds were as follows:—

FOURTH ROUND

Captain E. F. Carter (Royal Portrush), beat W. J. Guild (Murrayfield) by 1 hole.

G. C. Manford (Luffness New) beat E. Noel Layton (Walton Heath) by 4 and 3.

W. I. Hunter (Walmer and Kingsdown) beat W. K. Whigham, (Prestwick) by 1 hole.

G. Tweedale (Wilmslow) beat W. B. Torrance (Edinburgh Burgess) by 2 and 1.

S. Robinson (Southport and Ainsdale) beat S. H. Fry (Mid-Surrey) at the 19th hole.

H. H. Hilton (Royal Liverpool) beat A. M. Carr Brown (Mortonhall) by 2 and 1.

E. W. E. Holderness (Walton Heath) beat R. Garson (Troon Mortland) by 2 and 1.

W. Willis Mackenzie (Mortonhall) beat R. W. Crumack (Lytham and St. Annes) by 6 and 5.

W. L. Hope (Turnberry) beat J. G. Anderson (Siwanoy, U.S.A.) by 2 and 1.

C. Bretherton (Handsworth) beat J. Wilson (Prestwick and St. Nicholas) by 1 hole.

T. C. Bower (Bromley and Bickley) beat A. Menzies (Ralston) by 2 and 1.

J. Caven (Cochrane Castle), beat C. Hammersley (Hesketh) by 3 and 2.

R. E. Campbell (Sunningdale) beat T. L. C. Heald (Gazirah, Cairo) at the 23rd hole.

R. Scott, jun. (Glasgow) beat C. E. Dick (Royal Liverpool) by 7 and 6.

E. Martin Smith (Royal St. George's) beat E. A. Lassen (Lytham and St. Annes) by 5 and 4.

R. H. Wethered (Worplesdon) beat C. Gibb, jun. (Troon Merchants) by 6 and 5.

FIFTH ROUND

Carter beat Manford by 6 and 5.

Hunter beat Tweedale by 3 and 1.

Hilton beat Robinson by 5 and 4.

Holderness beat Hope by 4 and 3.

Mackenzie beat Bretherton by 3 and 1.

Caven beat Bower by 3 and 2.

Scott beat Campbell by 2 and 1.

Wethered beat Smith by 4 and 3.

SIXTH ROUND

Hunter beat Carter by 1 hole.

Holderness beat Hilton by 4 and 3.

Caven beat Mackenzie at the 22nd.

Scott beat Wethered by 2 and 1.

SEMI-FINAL

Holderness beat Hunter by 2 and 1.

Caven beat Scott by one hole.

FINAL (36 holes)

Holderness beat Caven by one hole.

"TEEING UP WITH OUIMET"

"Do Your Golf Thinking," Says the Great Amateur. "Lack of Concentration," the Most Common Fault Among the Ordinary Players. Some Corking Good Advice for the Average Golfer.

(By Francis Ouimet).

DO you know what your worst fault as a golfer is? You may think it's slicing, or lifting your head, or stabbing your putts, but you are all wrong. The average golfer, the vast majority of linksmen and links-women, those who shoot the various courses of this country rarely under 90 strokes and from that low medal on up to well above 100, all suffer from a similar complaint—lack of concentration. They do not try to reason things out for themselves.

Sometimes I think that our entire system of golf is wrong. We urge players to practice and to take many lessons. All of which will do a great deal for one's game. But did you ever stop to figure out just what proportion of the golfers who belong to your home club have the time to do these things? They take up golf for exercise. They play with their friends. Occasionally they get into a tournament, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred they get a thorough trimming from some fellow who has had the time to learn something about golf.

This class of golfers, the fellows who shoot from 90 up, make golf possible in this country, for its their money which builds our courses and maintains them.

Without them we would be in an awful situation in so far as golf is concerned. Yet we do mighty little for such golfers. Without doubt, our courses are too severe for them and without doubt we have failed to work out a plan by which they can improve their games. Our whole game of golf is made for the crack. He costs us a lot of money and the system which produces him makes it almost impossible for the other golfers to improve their play.

Take the instructive stuff written for golfers. Little of it helps the average player. A fellow has to know a lot about play before he can apply such tips to his game. And few golfers know a lot about golf. Consider also the plan by which we handle the average golfer. He begins by taking a few lessons, then playing until he gets into a batting slump and back he goes to the pro. to get straightened out.

The result is he is born and bred with the idea of leaning upon some one else for his golf. He is taught not to think about his game. It is rather a hopeless situation, at best. And it is the reason why nearly all linksmen fail to get below 90.

It seems to me that we have to go about improving the play of the people who support golf in a different manner. We have to first consider the conditions under which most people play golf and cut our coat to fit this cloth. Most golfers are not going to spend many hours in practice, much as they need to, and as much as it is bound to improve their games. It is all right to tell them to do so and mighty good advice, but the trouble with it is that it will not be followed. Men play golf for the fun of it, and you can make up your mind they are going to play. The average club member gets off two or three times a week, and it's a moral certainty he's going to take a friend on for eighteen holes on such afternoons. It is not human to suppose he is going to hie himself off to a practice field to work on his strokes.

Now, how can this sort of golfer help himself, how may he improve his game, so he will get a great deal more fun out of it and still not have to practice? That is the big problem of golf.

My tip to such a golfer would be to do a whole lot of thinking about how to play the various clubs. The average man certainly has all the mind required to work out all the problems of the game. But he does not apply it. He has been bred to the doctrine that some outside agency is to do his thinking for him.

If we could only get golfers to think about methods of play, if we could only get them to reason out why this and that happens when certain things are done with a club, we would accomplish miracles on the courses of this country. And until we do this practically all of our golf is going to be poorly played because very few golfers are ever going to have the time for the practice otherwise necessary to bring about an improvement.

So, think much about your shots. Try to figure what you are doing and note the result. Remember, especially, just how you got that good drive or that deadly approach. Then, you will slowly but surely improve your game and upon solid lines.

A $100,000 PROPOSITION

Halifax Golfers are Arranging for an 18-Hole Course and an Up-to-Date Club House.

Halifax golfers are talking this month of forming the Halifax Golf and Country Club Ltd., with a capital of $100,000. Options have been secured covering a new site just outside the city limits, with enough cleared ground for 9 holes, at least, and ample room to develop an 18-hole course. Mr. Stanley Thompson, the Toronto golf architect is being consulted in reference to the new course.

The Halifax Golf Club was established in 1880. The present 9-hole course, which is a very short one, is on rented ground and will probably not be available after this year. The Club is a very popular one and has quite a long waiting list. There is no reason whatever why an up-to-date 18-hole course and club house should not be successfully launched in the premier city of Nova Scotia.

SUNDAY GOLF ENCOURAGED

(Editor, "Brooklyn Eagle.")

The Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water, veteran Episcopal clergyman, as rector of the Church of the Beloved Disciple, sees no reason for camouflage or misunderstanding on the matter of Sunday golf. In an advertisement Saturday his church stated, that the 10 o'clock service Sunday morning was to be "not only for children, but also is recommended for churchmen who like to play golf."

It is explained that the rector discovered that one of his most devoted attendants at the 11 a.m. service was in the habit of hurrying off to catch a train for the golf links without a chance to get any dinner, which was bad for the digestion. That was what led to the advertisement. It was thought wise to make it clear to everybody that it was possible to hear a morning sermon and devote most of the day to golf.

Doubtless the aggressive Sabbatarians of some of the evangelical churches will be inclined to criticise this position. But so far as the laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church are concerned, most of them have come to think on pretty good authority that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. So general is this sentiment that clergymen who antagonize it, if there are any such, are bound to be in hot water most of the time. Probably the method chosen by Dr. Van De Water is most conducive to church harmony and church efficiency."

THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Mount Bruno Country Club, Montreal, Will See a Notable Gathering of the Golfing Stars of the Dominion.

THE Programme for the Open Championship of Canada, at the Mount Bruno Country Club, Montreal, has just been issued. The Championship is open to all amateurs and professionals and the money prizes are quite liberal. The first is $250 and golf medal; the second $100 and silver medal; third $50; fourth $25; fifth $15, and sixth $10. The Royal Canadian Golf Association will present a golf medal for the best amateur score. The Mount Bruno Club will offer an additional $100 to the winner and $50 to the runner-up, making the total value of first prize $350 and second prize $150. These quite handsome figures should attract some of the leading players of the continent. It was only three years ago the first prize at the Canadian Open was $100. In addition, the "Canadian Golfer" will give $50, divided $35 and $15 to the Canadian professionals making the best score during the Championship. The prospects are for a record entry at Mount Bruno and some of the best golf ever witnessed on the Continent.

The entrance fee is $5 and will be received by Mr. R. J. R. Stokes, Secretary, Mount Bruno Country Club, Box 2722 Montreal, or on the grounds until starting time (8.30 a.m., Friday, July 28th).

The courtesies of the links and Club House of the Mount Bruno Country Club will be extended to competitors who have actually entered, from Monday, July 24th.

To reach the Club competitors should take train from the Grand Trunk Bonaventure Station, alighting at Montarville Flag Station, or by motor car, which takes approximately one hour.

HOLES IN ONE

Looks Like a Record Season for Canada in 1922. Many One-shot Performances Already Reported

IN last month's issue two holes-in-one on Canadian courses were reported. Here are some more:

R. R. Hindmarch, of the Daily Herald, Nanaimo, B. C., the 8th hole, 120 yards, at the Qualicum Golf Course, Qualicum Beach, B.C. Mr. Hindmarch has only recently taken up golf and is naturally very proud of his notable feat.

Dr. Roach, playing with Messrs. J. O. Miller, W. Arden and E. L. Harvie, at the Calgary Golf and Country Club, the 17th hole, 175 yards in one.

(Note.—Like Mr. G. T. Brown's notable "one-er" at the difficult 15th hole at The London Hunt, previously recorded, the above performances took place before May 24th and are therefore unfortunately not entitled to a year's subscription to the "Canadian Golfer.")

May 26th, at the Humber Valley Golf Club, Toronto, Mr. E. D. Fox registered a "one-er" at the 8th hole, 165 yards. The feat was witnessed by Messrs. Thos. W. Learie and P. F. Harman. Always glad to welcome a "Humber-Valleyer" to the Hall of Fame.

Then on May 27th Mr. S. M. Fraser brought fame to the recently opened Chedoke Civic Golf Club, Hamilton. Playing the 17th, 130 yards, he found the cup from the tee, as a result of a perfect pitch to within 6 inches of the pin. Mr. Fraser writes that it was a grand and glorious feeling when he discovered that the ball had found the hole.

On the 27th also, Mr. E. A. Bernard, a well-known member of The Royal Montreal, negotiated the tricky 3rd hole on Canada's premier golf course in one.

Mr. Fletcher Anderson, President of the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, and Messrs. Duncan and Richardson, of The Royal Montreal, were playing with Mr. Bernard and were the first to extend hearty congratulations.

From Sydney, Nova Scotia, comes the next report of a "one-shot." Mr. Paul Longley pulled off the stunt May 29th at the 2nd hole, which is 118 yards. He was playing with Mr. Hugh B. Gillis at the time. This is the fourth time the 2nd hole at the Lingan Country Club at Sydney has been made in one.

Then on June 5th The Royal Montreal was again heard from. Mr. A. M. Tirbutt, a member of the Beaconsfield Golf Club was on that day a guest of Mr. Mortimer L. Packard, and decided to celebrate the event by playing a perfect shot at the short 6th, which, however, is particularly well bunkered. Mr. Frank L. Packard, the well known author, was also playing with Mr. Tirbutt when the stunt was recorded.

Winnipeg golfers every season are represented in this "Hole-in-One" competition. The first this year to record the feat is Mr. G. Ford, who whilst playing with Mr. Percy Mason on May 29th made the 16th at the Winnipeg Golf Club in one. This is a short hole with a nasty carry of 90 yards over a swamp. It was the upsetting of many a good score in the Amateur Championship last August.

To Mr. Robert Brown, of Naemine, Alberta, belongs the credit of making the first one-shotter ever recorded there—a 120 yarder with two small ravine bunkers intervening and a railway bank on the left. The President of the Club, Mr. J. B. Hart, the Captain, Mr. James Weir, and Mr. R. Forbes, witnessed the feat. Total "Holes-in-One" to date—nine.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

Mr. W. J. Thompson Wins the Qualifying Medal with Mr. Seymour Lyon Back of Him One Stroke.

THE Canadian Amateur Championship is being played this week on the beautiful links of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, which are in superb condition. There were 120 entries. Unfortunately the three crack U.S. Amateurs, Messrs. T. D. Armour, Max Marston and Reginald Lewis, failed to materialize, although likely U.S. contenders for the Championship are L. L. Bredin of Detroit, R. McAuliffe of Buffalo, G. M. Standifier of Washington, W. W. Patton, Schenectady and J. Bydolek, East Aurora. At this writing, however, it would seem highly probable that the finals will see two Canadians fighting for the title.

The qualifying medal on Monday, June 19th was won by that sterling Mississauga golfer, Mr. W. J. Thompson, with 153. Just back of him was Mr. Seymour Lyon, 145. The Amateur Champion, Mr. Frank Thompson, was in 3rd place with 156. (He had a superb first round of 73, but was 10 strokes over this in the afternoon). Fourth place, R. Abbot, Peterboro, 157; fifth, L. L. Bredin, Detroit, 158; sixth, G. H. Turpin, Quebec Champion, 161; seventh, H. M. Scott and Alex Wilson, Royal Montreal, 162. Others qualifying for the Championship 32 were: W. M. Hodgson, Royal Montreal; B. L. Anderson, Lambton; G. M. Standifier, Washington, D.C.; R. McAuliffe, Buffalo; J. T. Cuthbert, Winnipeg; W. McLuckie, Kanawaki; C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki; L. B. Paton, Danvers, Mass.; C. B. Grier, Mount Bruno; John Haddon, Toronto; Geo. S. Lyon, Lambton; J. S. Lewis, Brantford; Stanley Thompson, Mississauga; F. Hoblitzell, Sarnia; P. H. Hyde, Buffalo and C. M. Jones, Scarboro.

TORONTO CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

Rosedale, Toronto and Lambton Teams Win—Tie Between Scarboro and Mississauga

THE first round of The Mail and Empire competition for the team championship of the Toronto golf clubs was played last month with teams of twenty players from each of the Rosedale, Toronto, Lambton, Mississauga, Scarboro, Lakeview, Summit and Humber Valley clubs engaged. Nine of the local clubs entered the competition, the second round of which will be played on September 2nd, and Weston drew the bye. Saturday's games resulted in Rosedale, Toronto and Lambton teams winning over the Lakeview, Summit and Humber Valley clubs respectively, while Mississauga and Scarboro teams played a tied match, and will replay it when mutually arranged. With the exception of the latter game, the winning teams' majorities were well defined, the most pronounced being that of the Torontos over the Summit, who lost 23 to 0 at home, and 25 to 0 at Toronto.

The scoring of the competition is computed by the Nassau system, one point for the first nine holes, one for the second nine and one for the game. At the completion of the Mississauga-Scarboro match it was found that Scarboro had lost by 8 to 14 at home, but had won 16 to 10 at Mississauga, giving the two clubs a grand total of 24 each on the day. While the ten Humber Valley players who went to Lambton were defeated by 25 to 0, those who were playing at home turned in a very creditable performance, when they defeated the Lambton visitors by 17 to 12, losing the match by twenty points. Rosedale were expected to win the match with Lakeview, and were successful both at home and away, the score being 33 to 17.

The Rosedale and Weston teams will play before September 2, and the winner will enter the semi-final against Torontos on September 2nd, and the winner of the Scarboro-Mississauga replay will play Lambton on that date.

A WONDERFUL CLUB HOUSE AND COURSE

The Westchester-Biltmore, at Rye, N. Y., the World's Greatest Country Club, Costing Some $6,000,000

(W. Hastings Webling)

THREE or four years ago, I don't know the exact date, Mr. Gage G. Tarbell, a prominent New York Realstatist, noted, somewhat to his surprise, the great grip golf was getting on the people of New York. It created a vision for the future, and with this in mind, Mr. Tarbell started out to locate a kingdom worthy the vision, and the development of his plans. Fortunately, he discovered just the right spot, an ideal estate of about six hundred and fifty acres situated in the gloriously picturesque environment of Westchester, conveniently adjacent to the dignified old town of Rye. He finally secured an option on the property, and with this, Mr. Tarbell went to his friend, Mr. John McE. Bowman, that Napoleonic promoter of palatial hotels, who once, by the way, in his early manhood lived, and was well known in Toronto.

Mr. Bowman listened intently to his friend's ambitious scheme, involving as it did a matter of six million dollars, and said in his usual concise manner, "I'll go in on one condition." "What is that?" inquired Mr. Tarbell anxiously. "That you look after the building." "All right, I will," replied Mr. Tarbell. So the great vision was born, and grew, until May 25th of this year of grace, the largest, and most luxurious Country Club in the world was presented to the public, and the Westchester-Biltmore was opened for members and their guests.

To celebrate this auspicious event a very attractive programme was prepared, consisting of a Buffet luncheon, and exhibition four ball match between Jim Barnes, U. S. Open Champion and Walter Hagen, against Tom Armour, the Club secretary and Cuthbert Butchard the professional, and renowned club maker, which resulted in a most interesting match, with a win for the latter pair by the narrow margin of two and one.

Herewith the card of this interesting match:

Clubs, and other friends. It was a delightfully informal affair, and judging from the opinions expressed by those present the success of the Westchester-Biltmore was fait accompli. A more genial or generous host than Mr. Bowman could hardly be imagined. Everything was well done, and glory be, the only speech of the evening was one to play, is just about six thousand yards. I understand, a nine hole course for ladies will soon be opened.

Outside golf there are first-class tennis courts galore, bowling greens, trap shooting, riding and polo. While conveniently near is the beautiful Beach Club, owned by the Westchester-Biltmore, for salt water bathing. The a very brief address of welcome from our host, himself.

From a playing standpoint the Westchester-Biltmore is now off to a good start. Already crowds of golfers from near and far are gathering at this magnificent Mecca of Golfdom. There are two courses in excellent condition, the West Course is a championship one of six thousand, six hundred and five yards. The South Course, a delightful Clubhouse itself is an impressive looking building containing about four hundred outside rooms from which one can see Long Island Sound, besides a panorama of park land scenery hard to beat in this or any other country.

On Saturday night the first public dinner-dance was given, when over fourteen hundred reservations were made, and it speaks well indeed for Marcel, the famous head waiter and his corps of highly trained assistants, that although this big concourse of people, practically sat down at the same time, a delicious dinner was served without the slightest discomfort or vexatious waiting. It was in the nature of a miracle. Afterwards two wonderful orchestras played alternately and the merry throng danced joyously till break of another day, concluding an occasion which will long be remembered by those privileged to be present.

While in the vicinity, I had the pleasure of playing at Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, delightfully situated and with a very sporting course of six thousand five hundred yards. This Club has been in existence about twenty-five years, the turf is in fine condition, the greens themselves being some of the best one could see anywhere. Mr. Robert White, an English golf architect, is in charge of the course, which reflects the greatest credit on him and his assistants. To show the difficulty of this course, there is a standing wager of five hundred for anyone beating a 71. Golfers far and near tried last year to capture the cash, but only one succeeded in equalling this score, viz., one Jim Barnes, the U. S. Open Champion.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST CHAMPIONSHIPS

Colwood, Victoria, is the Scene of a Wonderful Gathering of Golfers from California, Seattle, Spokane, Portland and British Columbia—David Black Wins the Open and Mr. Geo. Von Elm of Salt Lake City the Amateur—Ladies' Title Goes to Mrs. Hutchings, of Winnipeg.

THE Annual Pacific Northwest Championships were held the week of June 3rd to 10th over the beautiful links of the Colwood Golf and Country Club, Victoria, B.C., and there was an attendance of hundreds of the best known amateurs and professionals from various golfing centres in California, from Tacoma, Salt Lake, Spokane, Seattle, Portland and Victoria and Vancouver. It was one of the greatest Tournaments ever held in the history of the game in Canada, and Victoria was simply inundated with the visiting golfers and their friends. The hospitality of the local golfers was simply unbounded from President J. A. Sayward of the Colwood Club and Mr. Biggerstaff Wilson, President of the Pacific Northwest Association, downward.

The Open Championship of the Association was held on the 3rd and 4th and that sturdy, stocky little Scot, Davie Black, of Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, four times Canadian Professional Champion, proved the eventual victor in a large and very classy field. On the opening day Black, with 156, was no fewer than 11 strokes back of his brother, William Black, the pro. at the Colwood course, who had a very fine score of 145 for the 36 holes to his credit and who looked all over like the winner. On the second day, however, William rather faded away with a couple of 79's and Davie coming from behind with a 71, which equals the course record, of Colwood, and a 73 nosed out his brother for first place with a grand total of 300. William Black was in second place with 303 and A. R. Espinosa, pro of Seattle, third with 307. In fourth place was the ex-amateur champion of California, Mr. J. Neville, who had 307, whilst one stroke behind him was Phil Taylor of Victoria, B.C., the crack British pro. who only came to this country last year. Altogether the Pacific Northwest Open Championship was a triumph for the Black brothers as the Toronto and District was for the Lyon family the same week.

The special prize for the professional with the best 18 outside the regular prize winners was won by J. Huish, of Vancouver. The prizes for the amateurs were won by Mr. Jack Neville for best gross 36 and best gross 72; Mr. Von Elm took second for best gross score in the second day's play, and Messrs. Spiers and Stein were tied for third. Mr. H. Jones was first for best net and Mr. Straith of Victoria, second.

There was a large attendance of spectators, seats of vantage being taken at various points of the course, and big galleries following several of the more important rounds.

Following the Open for six days, the crack amateurs of the Pacific Coast and also the leading lady golfers fought for supremacy over the sporting Colwood course and the best golf ever seen in Victoria was the result, the scores of the leaders being well up to the best Eastern standards.

For the Amateur Championship the finals eventually proved a battle royal between the 1921 holder of the title, the brilliant young Salt Lake City player, Mr. George Von Elm and Mr. Bon Stein of Seattle.

The final tussle between the two cracks was one of the most thrilling battles that have ever decided the P. N. G. A. championship. Von Elm was a hot favorite to win, but a brilliant 74 made by Stein in the morning round left the title holder four holes to the bad at lunch, and while even then his supporters expressed confidence that the youthful star would fight his way through to victory, it looked like a hopeless task, in face of the kind of golf that Stein was playing.

But Von Elm came through. Playing a phenomenal game from the first shot off the tee in the afternoon round, he clicked off hole after hole in wonderful figures, and at the eleventh hole of the round, the 29th of the match, he squared things away. Going to the sixteenth, he was dormie two, his card for the round being then two under fours and leaving him with a brilliant chance of breaking the course record of 71. An extra putt on the next green, however, and an approach that went two feet over the green on the home hole, added two strokes to his total, and the record remained unbroken.

As a matter of fact, his faltering on the last two holes came within an ace of tying the match. Stein sank a nice putt to win the seventeenth, and when Von Elm missed the cup with his fourth on the green, the Seattle man was left with a twelve-footer to sink to win the hole and square the match. He had already come through with several fine putts in the pinches and a gallery of 1,000 enthusiasts held their breath as he coolly surveyed his line. There was no hint of nervousness in his appearance, as he addressed the ball and tapped it firmly for the hole, but it missed by a whisper. Stein smilingly strode over and warmly congratulated his conqueror.

Poor putting by Von Elm in the morning round was the chief cause of the four-hole lead secured by Stein. As the result of a heavy fog that came down during the night, the greens were somewhat heavy at nine o'clock when the pair teed off on the deciding 36-hole grind. Stein was the quicker to adapt his play to the conditions, and when the champion was consistently short with his approach putts, his opponent stowed away hole after hole. At the fourteenth Von Elm was five down, but by annexing the sixteenth in four he picked up one hole of his arrears. Stein went around in a beautiful 74, while Von Elm required 78.

The fireworks started at the second hole of the afternoon round when, after Stein had pitched his second shot dead to the pin, Von Elm, playing from the rough, holed out a 150-yard mashie-niblick for an "eagle" 2. After the third had been halved in unpretentious 5's, and the next water-hole, in 3's, Stein wobbled on the fifth, pulling his drive badly, and Von Elm won in 5. Playing to the sixth green, Von Elm's mashie shot failed to get the hook which it usually carries, and he ran off the green among the trees, failing to get out in his next. Stein won in 4, but when Von Elm took the short seventh in 3 the Seattle man's lead was cut to two holes again, remaining at that figure when the eighth and ninth were halved in par 4's.

At this stage Stein broke badly, taking five strokes each for the tenth and the short eleventh, and seeing his lead wiped out completely. Another 5 at the twelfth, where his drive was short and his second topper, put him one down for the first time. On the next hole Von Elm played one of the finest shots of the day. In the rough on the right on his drive, with a terrific mashie-niblick he hoisted the ball over trees and brook, to land squarely on the green for a half in 4. On the fourteenth, Stein pulled his tee shot to the rough, where he got a poor lie, and his second, while cleverly negotiated, got little distance. A tremendous iron put him on the green and a sixty-foot putt, that had to cross a couple of ridges before it found the cup, enabled him to halve.

Both were nicely on with their drives at the fifteenth, and when Stein's great effort for a 2 hung on the lip of the cup, the hole was divided in 3's. Winning the sixteenth in 4 Von Elm became dormie two. Three putts by Von Elm on the next sent them to the last tee, with Stein still in a position to square the match by winning the hole. Stein's drive was short, while Von Elm's was a screamer. Stein played a beautiful second that stopped a few yards short of the green, while Von Elm's trickled a couple of feet over. Stein chipped his third twelve feet short while Von Elm's run-up was weak by fifteen feet and his putt was pulled two inches from the cup. Stein made a heroic bid for the winning putt, but just failed, and Von Elm kept his title.

The cards for the afternoon round follow:—

The Ladies' Championship was keenly contested throughout. The finals were reached by the crack Winnipeg player, Mrs. Hutchings, who won the Canadian Ladies' Championship and Miss Violet Henry Anderson of Vancouver, in Montreal, 1909. The former won after a keenly contested match by 5 up and 3 to play. Mrs. Hutchings also had the honour of tying with the well known Vancouver player, Mrs. Sweeney for the best medal score in the qualifying round. It was decided to play off the tie on the final day of the Tournament at 9 holes. The fair players were again all square at the 9th, but on the extra 10th Mrs. Sweeney won out by a stroke.

F. Thomas, of Colwood, defeated Robert Bone in the final match of the first flight, 3 and 2. Dr. Barrett won the P. N. G. A. handicap final from A. N. F. Rant, 2 and 1. H. C. Martin, R. Scott-Moncrieff and Dr. Leslie tied with net 74's in the men's medal handicap. In the ladies' medal handicap Mrs. Parry and Miss Horrocks both came in with net 88's. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kay were far ahead of the field in the mixed four-somes, winning with a net 74.

Crack Sarnia Golfer Romps Away with Coveted Detroit District Championship

Detroit's most prized golf trophy, that emblematic of the district championship, has gone on a long journey to "foreign shores," across the river and up to Sarnia. F. G. Hoblitzell took it with him Saturday evening on his return home after a victory over Earl R. Cain, Detroit Golf Club, 7-5, in the final of the district championship at Lochmoor.

Two down at the end of the morning 18, Cain went to pieces in the afternoon and Hoblitzell captured eight holes to the Detroit player's three, the one-sided victory of the golfer from across the river resulting. On holes. His total for these was 24 strokes, the afternoon journey Cain lost the first four eight over par. Had Cain the chance to do it over he probably could cover them as well with one hand.

The match ended on the thirteenth green, the thirty-first hole of the match, when Hoblitzell dropped a seven-foot putt for a par four, and won. The cards:

A NEW GOLFING QUEEN

Miss Joyce Wethered Decisively Defeats the British, French and Canadian Lady Champion—Miss Cecil Leitch Meets with the Most Decisive Reverse in Her Wonderful Career on the Links

PLAYING throughout with confidence, Miss Joyce Wethered, by the convincing margin of 9 and 7, wrested the British Ladies' title from Miss Cecil Leitch in the 36 holes final over the Prince's Course, Sandwich, last month. Never has such an overwhelming defeat been administered in the final of the competition. It was, indeed, a great surprise to see the holder vanquished so completely in the second half of the match, as Miss Wethered could claim only a hole advantage in the first half. Miss Wethered was in an inspired mood as she won the second, third, fourth and fifth holes in the second round to become 5 up. At the short third she holed out from six yards for a three, while at the next she laid her spoon shot four yards from the pin. Meantime the holder could not keep out of trouble, bunker after bunker trapping her ball. Securing the sixth hole in four, as the result of some brilliant strokes, it looked as though Miss Leitch would make up leeway. The challenger, however, was not to be denied, and, with Miss Leitch unable to surmount her difficulties, she took the next five holes, to win the match and title on the 11th green.

Commenting on Miss Wethered's notable victory, Mr. R. E. Howard, of "Golf Illustrated," writes:

"The inevitable has happened. Miss Cecil Leitch has been dethroned from her position of sovereignty in feminine golf. Kings and queens of games, as of people, are only human, and from the very beginning of the tournament on the Prince's links at Sandwich last week, the most devout believers in the greatness of Miss Leitch had a lurking premonition that this meeting might result in her downfall. Perhaps she herself had some such feeling, for when the pinch came in the final, and Miss Joyce Wethered applied the pressure in the form of one of the most brilliant displays of golf ever seen in the Ladies' Championship, the title-holder was utterly powerless to resist it. Never before had Miss Leitch been so impotent when called upon to stem a rush. Never before, indeed, had she shown a vestige of a sign of collapsing in any match—and her record in first-class golf goes back to 1908, when, just turned 17 years of age, she reached the semi-final of the championship at St. Andrews. Her game and her confidence went to pieces like a house of cards, and losing nine of ten consecutive holes in the afternoon—from the second to the 11th inclusive—she was beaten by the astonishing margin of nine up and seven to play.

Miss Joyce Wethered and the Championship Cup

That state of affairs was produced by a supreme cause: Miss Joyce Wethered. It is a trite comment, with a great deal of truth in it, that in golf or any other game, one plays just as well as one's rival will allow. Miss Wethered had Miss Leitch fighting an uphill battle from the first few holes in the morning, and kept her at it till the end. It was an entirely new experience for the player who had dominated ladies' golf since 1914. It worried her that she was outdriven at every hole where full shots from the tee were demanded, and had to take a wooden club to reach the green while her opponent was getting there with an iron. It is a fact that at all holes except the short ones Miss Leitch invariably had recourse to her spoon or her brassie for the second shots to the green on the outward journey, while Miss Wethered was just as regularly in a position to get up with an iron. Not until they reached the tenth hole did Miss Leitch feel that she could select an iron for her second shot.

The effect of this upon a player who, by sheer force of circumstances—her own unquestioned supremacy—had grown accustomed to regarding golf as her dominion, was almost painful to watch. Miss Leitch became more and more harassed the farther she went. For a long while she made a tremendous fight of it. Miss Wethered did the first five holes in 19 strokes, with half a gale of wind blowing over the left shoulder towards the sea; a helpful wind in driving, but one that called for judgment. She stood two up at the fifth. Miss Leitch battled away with a determination that was beyond praise, but all the while one felt that she was exhausting herself and not her opponent, who went round complacently chewing some kind of sweetmeat and playing seemingly effortless shots that went far and sure to their appointed places.

In fact, Miss Leitch would have been wonderful indeed if she had not cracked under the strain of such an ordeal. By sheer strength of character—resolution standing very high in it—she actually gained the lead for the first and only time at the 13th hole. But little by little small distractions began to worry her more and more. Voices on the hill-sides which ordinarily she would not have heard in the tenseness of her concentration, became to her as shrill interruptions would be to a bishop delivering a sermon in a cathedral. She looked fretfully and reproachfully at the chatters. She became one down again very soon, and had to hole a putt of two yards to save herself from being two down on the 18th green.

In the afternoon Miss Leitch's nervous constitution was more jangled than ever. This time Miss Wethered did the first five holes in 20 strokes, and won four of them. That made her five up. Miss Leitch, pressing to assert herself, started to top shot and bang them from bunker to bunker. In her high-strung condition, cameras had become anathema to her. She seemed to see them everywhere; and she was always looking round apprehensively for parties who might be preparing to put their shutters into action. The final turning point—from which there was no recovery—came at the seventh hole. Miss Leitch had played the sixth splendidly; two perfect shots through the narrow fairway between the dunes, a chip, and a two-yards putt for a four. She had reduced her deficit to four. That gave her a fighting chance.

Then came the unexpected. Just when everybody was saying that she had struck the right note at last, and would be off in pursuit of Miss Wethered, she played just about the worst hole of which I have ever seen her guilty. She topped her drive 10 yards; chipped her third shot into a bunker almost under her nose; went from there into another bunker 20 yards ahead, and altogether would have done well to hole out in eight—if she had not given up the hole. I asked her afterwards how she accounted for it. "There was somebody sitting on the wall of the coastguard's station focussing me with his camera, and I saw him," she said. "Then there was the click as my club came down, and I topped the drive. However, I played thoroughly badly and deserved to be beaten." Snapshotters went on looming larger and larger in her eye, and the more unsettled she became the better Miss Wethered played. There was never a better brassie shot than the latter's second on to the ninth green (396 yards), from a hanging lie, which compelled her to stand below her ball and aim at a very narrow opening between the bunkers flanking the front of the green."

It is perhaps only fair to state on behalf of our Canadian Lady Champion, as noted elsewhere in this issue, that she undoubtedly is suffering from a very severely strained arm, and since the Championship has been imperatively ordered by her doctor to give up all golf for some months. This, however, in no manner distracts from the notable victory of Miss Wethered, twice English lady champion, who for some time now has been proclaimed as possibly the world's greatest woman golfer.

The only Canadian entrant was Miss Molly McBride, of Montreal, and the only U. S. player entered Miss R. Sherwood. Miss Mollie in the second round was defeated by Mrs. A. C. Johnstone by 5 and 3, whilst Miss Sherwood was beaten in the first round by Mrs. Fletcher 3 and 2. Mrs. W. A. Gavin, U. S. Metropolitan Champion last year, who took part in the Canadian championship in 1921 at Ottawa was an entrant, but she entered from her old English Club, Huntercombe. She was defeated in the third round. The following were the results in the last rounds:

Fourth Round.

Mrs. Collis Browne beat Mrs. Munro by 6 and 5; Miss Stocker beat Miss Rogers at the 20th hole; Mrs. Bond beat Miss Edith Leitch by one hole; Miss Wethered beat Miss McCulloch by 7 and 6; Miss Bastin beat Miss Scroggie by 4 and 3; Miss Cox beat Miss Brown by two holes; Miss Winn beat Mrs. Johnston by 6 and 5; Miss Cecil Leitch beat Mrs. Cautley by 3 and 2.

Fifth Round.

Miss Joan Stocker (Sheringham), beat Mrs. Collis Browne (West Hill), by 4 and 3; Miss Joyce Wethered (Worplesdon), beat Mrs. Bond (Royal Ashdown Forest), by 2 and 1; Miss Gladys Bastin (Crowborough Beacon), beat Miss M. Cox (Royal St. David's), by 4 and 3; Miss Cecil Leitch (Carlisle and Silloth), beat Miss Joy Winn (Aldbrough), by 4 and 3.

Semi-Final.

Miss Wethered beat Miss Stocker by 5 and 4; Miss Leitch beat Miss Bastin by 6 and 4.

Final.

Miss Joyce Wethered (Worplesdon), beat Miss Cecil Leitch (Carlisle and Silloth) by 9 up and 7 to play.

TORONTO AND DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Witness an Event Unique in the History of the Game in Mr. George S. Lyon and his son Seymour Tieg for Club Amateur Honours—George Cumming Again Wins the Professional Championship, Whilst the Mixed Foursomes are Won by Seymour Lyon and his Sister—
In the Play-off for the Amateur Championship Mr. George S. Lyon beats his son Seymour.

IS 1922 going to be another Lyon year? It looks uncommonly like it, notwithstanding the greatest of all veteran golfers within a few weeks now will tee-up for the 65th round of his eventful sporting career, which started on the baseball diamond as a young man, extended to the cricket field in middle-aged manhood, and from the forties onward has made history on the links of this and other countries.

Mr. George S. Lyon started this season in a most auspicious manner by winning at Washington, D.C., the very important Chevy Chase Invitation Tournament, the chief trophy of which is the Taft Cup presented by the ex-

President of the United States and now Chief Justice. There was a very classy field entered comprising nearly two hundred prominent U. S. golfers, not to mention the Canadian Amateur Champion, Mr. Frank Thompson. But Mr. Lyon went through this representative field in a most impressive manner and in the finals administered a 5 and 4 defeat to Marshal Whitlash, one of Washington's best players.

Then this month at the Toronto and District Championship at Lambton, the eight times Amateur Champion celebrated the near approach of his 64th birthday by conclusively proving that instead of "slipping" he is going as strong or stronger than ever. Any golfer knows what an exacting course Lambton is, many judges considering it the hardest in Canada on which to make a medal score, and possibly it is, and yet we have this three score and over player negotiating it in the morning with a 39 out and a 39 in for a 78, notwithstanding the course was heavy from copious rains, and in the afternoon going even these fine figures two better with a 38 out and a 38 in for a 76, or a grand total of 154. This is easily the world's golfing record for a player of Mr. Lyon's age. Neither Great Britain nor the United States can parallel such a performance—worthy of any crack young amateur of any country.

Then, if that was not enough to bring the grand old name of Lyon to the forefront, the veteran's son, Mr. Seymour Lyon, decided also to get in the picture. Since the International match at Hamilton three years ago when he was taken dangerously ill, Seymour has not been heard of very much in competitive golf. That he is now back again into his stride was amply demonstrated at the T. & D. Championship. In the morning he had a superb round had to be satisfied with an 80 which also gave him a total for the 36 holes of 154 and brought him in a tie for chief honours with his father. As in the mixed foursomes on Friday Seymour paired with his sister, Miss Marjorie, had with a 68 won the mixed tory as a regular Lyon family affair. It was a great week-end for the most popular golfer in Canada and his bairns.

The Thompson family was also as usual in the T. and D. limelight. Mr. W. J. Thompson who was deposed from the Championship last year by Mr. G.

MR. G. S. LYON WINS IN PLAY-OFF

The tie for the T. D. Amateur Championship was played off on Thursday, June 15th at Lambton, and resulted in rather a decisive win for Mr. George S. Lyon. At the end of the first nine holes, Seymour was leading his father by 2 strokes, he being out in 38 as against a score of 40 by the ex-amateur champion. Coming in, however, the "senior member of the firm" started right in to cut down this lead, and at the short 12th hole with a "birdie" 2 was for the first time out in front. From there on he steadily increased his lead and the result was never in doubt. Mr. Lyon eventually finished the contest with a well put together 77. Seymour's score at the 17th was 79. At the 18th his drive landed him in an almost unplayable position and he picked up.

This is the fifth year that the T. and D. title has been played for. Mr. Lyon has won it for three of the five years, Mr. W. J. Thompson of Mississauga taking the honours the other two years. Lyon won it the first year, Thompson the next two, while Lyon was the winner last year, as well as this.

Mr. Lyon has now to his credit the Amateur Championship of Canada, 8 times. The Senior Championship of Canada, 4 times, and the T. and D., 3 times, besides other competitions literally by the hundred. His collection of cups and medals is possibly unequalled by any amateur in the world. For that matter very few professionals can vie with it with the exception perhaps of Vardon, Tayler and Braid.

Tied for fourth place with the Amateur Champion was Mr. B. L. Anderson, Secretary of The Royal Canadian Golf Association, who is developing a very strong game this season. In the afternoon he had a capital round of 77 which with a morning round of 82 gave him a total of 159.

There were 129 entries and generally speaking the play was of a high order. The first prize in the handicap also was won by a Lambton man, Mr. J. H. Chipman, who with an 86 in the morning and an 84 in the afternoon less 32 turned in a net 138. Mr. Allan Skaith (handicap 32) of the Mississauga Club, with an 82 in the morning round and an afternoon round of 90 for a nett of 140, at one time looked like the winner, but he had to be content eventually with second prize. Mr. B. L. Anderson won the third prize with 141. Other good net scores were:

THE PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

On Friday the 9th the Professionals had their innings and once again the Doyan of the Corps in Canada, George Cumming, of the Toronto Club, demonstrated that he is still the "Daddy" of them all. For the fourth successive year he won the title and that, too, in a decisive manner, carding a superb 149, or five strokes better than the best amateur card. Nixon, Cumming's assistant, also won the first prize in the professionals' assistant division, so it was more or less a Cumming day professionally, as it was a Lyon day from an amateur standpoint.

The Toronto pro. played throughout the 36 hole round the steadiest kind of golf. In the morning he was out in 36 and home in 38 for a very fine 74—the same score as that carded by Mr. Seymour Lyon the following morning in the amateur. Out in 39 in the afternoon, Cumming came home with a par 36, his score thus reading 36, 38, 39, 36=149. Wonderfully consistent golf this, golf which stamps the Toronto representative as easily one of the best players in the game to-day. Like his celebrated amateur rival, Mr. Lyon. Cumming is playing just as good golf to-day, or possibly better, as he did when he first came to this country as a young man from Scotland a quarter of a century or so ago. A study of his card shows that he had 8 threes and 15 fours. At the short 12th in the afternoon he had a 2.

In second place with 156 was W. M. Freeman, Lambton's professional, and two years ago a pupil of Cumming's. He, too, played a very steady game.

Arthur Russell, of Lakeview, who secured third money, had a bad round of 87 in the morning, but in the afternoon he was going great guns and with a superlative 73 had the best card of the whole meeting. Going out he played uncanny golf, notching a 33 or two below par. Better golf has rarely been seen at Lambton.

In fourth place was Norman Bell, formerly of the Toronto Hunt, now of Thornhill. He had a round of 79 in the afternoon, as had also Frank Murchie, of Humber Valley, the new Community course, who tied with J. H. Pritchard of Mississauga for fifth place.

Nixon, in winning the Assistants' title, went out in 40 and came back with a 47. In the afternoon he had a 46 and 40. In second place was Attridge of Scarboro, whilst Swift, of Lakeview, was third.

“ON THE GOLFING MAP”

The Owen Sound Golf and Country Club Formally Opens its Beautiful 9-Hole Course and Club House on the King's Birthday—Many Outstanding Golfers Attend the Notable Event and are Unstinting in Their Praises of the Sporting Links.

OWEN SOUND, on far-famed Georgian Bay, has for many years enjoyed the reputation of being one of the prettiest summer resorts in Ontario. Now it will be known as a golfing centre and a golfing centre, too, quite above the ordinary.

city in the whole Dominion without its golf course.

So with characteristic energy Owen Sound decided to have golf links and decided, too, that they should be links worthy of the place and worthy of the tourist trade which comes to it every

The Pretty Club House of the Owen Sound Golf and Country Club, and the 9th Green.

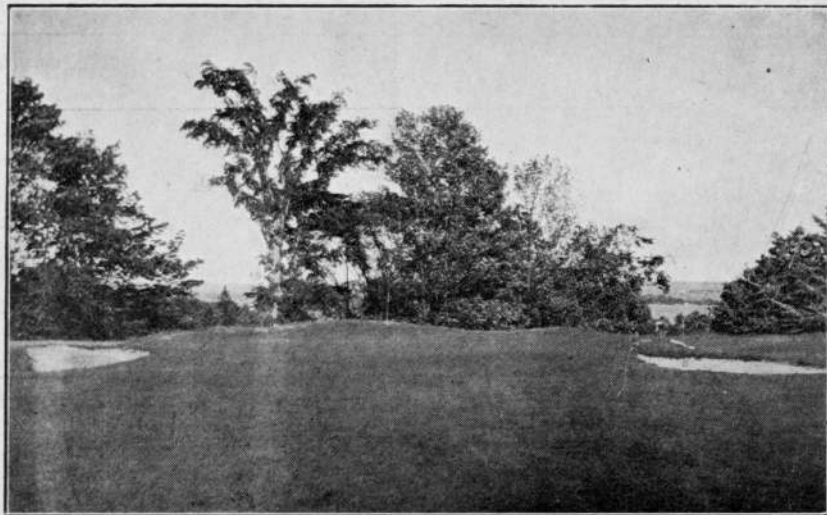

And all this has been brought to pass in less than two years' time because it was only late in 1920 that the project to give Owen Sound an up-to-date golf links really commenced to assume concrete form, although previous to that a few enthusiasts had endeavored to interest residents in a course. When Owen Sound became a city on June 1st, 1920, a fillip was given to the golfing movement as it was recognized by a number of the leading residents that a city without the facilities for playing the Royal and Ancient game, lagged superfluous on the sporting stage, there not being a summer. Fortunately within easy distance of the centre of the town overlooking the bay an ideal property was located known as the Glen-Airston park, charming home of an Englishman upon which was a most comfortable house, surrounded by green lawns and shrubbery, and upon this an option was secured by a committee composed of Messrs. E. C. Spereman, M. D. Lemon, R. P. Findlay, D. E. MacIntyre and Howard Bovel. This Committee met with great success in interesting prominent residents in the project and at a meeting held in September, 1920, were able to report that $27,000 worth of stock had been sold, which by the end of the year had been increased to $31,400, divided amongst 230 subscribers. On Oct. 14th, 1920, the Owen Sound Golf and Country Club was organized and the following have the honour of being the charter officers of the club:—

President, G. M. Butchart; Vice-President, M. D. Lemon; Secretary, R. P. Findlay; Directors, E. C. Spere-

This resume, all too brief, will give some idea of the really remarkable manner in which Owen Sound so successfully launched its golf club. Last year there were not half a dozen sets of clubs in the city. To-day over one hundred and fifty men and women are playing the game and playing it enthusiastically. There are over 200 members all told with applications com-man, J. A. Simpson, D. E. Macintyre, J. G. Hay, E. J. Harrison, C. S. Cameron, F. H. Kilbourn, R. McDowall and John Parker.

A few days after the first annual meeting work was commenced on the construction of the course under the capable supervision of Mr. Stanley Thompson, golf architect, Toronto, and so well did the work proceed that at the end of last season the links were in play. During this period, too, the fine old residence on the property was being re-vamped in a most skillful and artistic manner, a ladies committee composed of Mesdames G. S. Kilbourn, Bovell, J. Parker, A. B. Rutherford, C. S. Cameron and A. B. Hay assisting materially the Directors in this important matter.

ing in every week and a total of over 250 is assured before the end of the season. The club has nearly $40,000 invested in its fine course and club house, and proudly boasts of liabilities virtually nil. What is more, all the neighboring towns, seeing what Owen Sound has done, and done so successfully, are commencing to turn thoughts golfing-ward and the chances are that as a result other clubs will ere long be established in the district. So Owen Sound has not only builded well for itself, but must be given credit for splendid missionary work along golfing lines.

The formal opening of the new club house and course took place on the King's Birthday, Saturday, June 3rd, and the event was a memorable one in the history of the city, golfers coming from far and near to participate in the affair. In addition also to an interesting tournament on the links, there was an afternoon tea daintily served and enjoyed by hundreds of guests, and a dinner-dance in the evening which was a brilliant success. Fortunately, threatening weather in the morning dispersed and became merged into a glorious day of sunshine and citizens and visitors alike enjoyed to their heart's content a most varied and charming programme, admirably carried out by Mr. R. P. Findlay, Captain and Chairman of the Tournament Committee, President M. D. Lemon, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee; Vice-President J. A. Simpson, and their able assistants.

From Toronto as guests in his official car, of Mr. H. C. Grout, General Superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, came such well known golfers as Messrs. George S. Lyon, Frank Thompson, Amateur Champion; W. J. Thompson, and B. L. Anderson, Secretary of The Royal Canadian Golf Association. Other well known amateurs and professionals (including Mr. G. P. Shaw, semi-finalist in the Amateur at Winnipeg last August) from Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Stratford, Kincardine, Goderich and Collingwood, also were in attendance. So Owen Sound had a galaxy of talent to try out its sporting new course.

In the morning previous to the four-ball match event scheduled, came a most interesting feature of the day's proceedings, when Mr. M. D. Lemon, President of the Club, after welcoming most cordially the many visitors, introduced Mayor Harris. His Worship gave the freedom of the City to the guests and in an apt speech told how much they all appreciated the efforts of The Owen Sound Golf and Country Club in putting the city on the golfing map. He called upon Mr. George S. Lyon, Canada's greatest and best beloved golfer, to formally declare the links officially opened. This the eight-times Amateur Champion did in a few but well chosen remarks. Incidentally Mr. Lyon has been elected first honorary life member of the Owen Sound Golf Club.

Then the day's golf programme was started with a four-ball match, the best players, amateur and professional, being paired up with handicap men. The matches in which Messrs G. S. Lyon, Frank Thompson and W. J. Thompson participated drew quite large galleries and some excellent golf was witnessed. It remained, however, for the local professional, W. T. Brazier, paired with R. T. Stewart of Kincardine, to return the winning score of 79. This was a very popular result. Brazier went to Owen Sound the beginning of the season from Stratford and has made good plus. He is kept busy "morning noon and noot" giving lessons and looking after the course and has had little opportunity to perfect his game—and a very good game indeed he has in his bag.

Mr. M. D. Lemon, President of the Owen Sound Golf and Country Club.

In the afternoon, some thirty well known amateurs and professionals took part in an 18-hole medal competition, and the result was that the amateurs took the chief honors. Mr. W. J. Thompson of Mississauga had the winning card, with a well-put-together 75, going out in 39 and coming in with a 36, which established the amateur record for the course. In second place was Mr. G. P. Shaw of Scarborough, who had to his credit a 78. In third place was Mr. George S. Lyon, with a 79.

Mr. D. M. Butchart, Hon. President,
Owen Sound Golf and Country Club.

The leading professional was Frank Murchie of the Humber Valley Club, Toronto, with an 82, while C. H. Perkins of Brantford was second, with 83. In the Class "B" event, first prize was won by Mr. F. M. Gifford of Stratford, and second prize was divided between R. M. Butchart, son of the popular honorary president of the club, and M. H. Brown, of the Mississauga Club, Toronto, C.P.R. Divisional Freight Agent. The prizes were of a most generous character and were greatly appreciated by the fortunate recipients.

After a medal competition came an afternoon tea served in the Club House.

The reception rooms were exquisitely decorated with flowers, the whole effect being most artistic. Receiving the guests were the hostesses, Mrs. M. D. Lemon, Mrs. Jno. Parker, and Mrs. D. M. Butchart. Presiding at the tea-table and pouring tea were Mrs. Geo. Kilbourn and Mrs. F. Barrett. Assisting in serving tea were Misses Susie Ward, Grace Harrison, Isabell Keenan, Grace Keenan, Isabel McQuay, Gladys Middleboro, Dorothy Danard, Betty Ewens and Goldie McLauchlan.

In the evening, the visitors were the guests at a most delightful dinner, presided over by the captain, Mr. R. F. Findlay, in a most capable manner. There was a brief programme of speeches. The toast of the Royal and Ancient, proposed most eloquently by Mr. J. A. Simpson, was replied to by R. H. Reville, editor of the "Canadian Golfer"; B. L. Anderson, secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association; Frank Thompson, amateur champion of Canada, and Norman Bell, on behalf of the Canadian Professional Association. Coupled with the toast to "The Guests," proposed by Mr. W. S. Middleboro, were the names of Messrs. Geo. S. Lyon, W. H. Findlay, of A. McKim Co., Toronto, (formerly general manager of "The Globe), H. C. Grout, general superintendent of the C. P. R., to whom is due very largely the credit for the trip from Toronto to Owen Sound; and Marshall Brown. The toast to the Owen Sound Golf Club was proposed by Mr. W. J. Thompson in a few well-chosen words, and was replied to by the president, Mr. M. Lemon, Mr. Parker and Mr. M. Kennedy, sr.

The presentation of prizes then took place, Mr. D. M. Butchart, Hon. President of the club performing this pleasing task. Mr. Butchart, by the way, as previously mentioned, was the first President of the club, and in the initial stages devoted a great deal of time to the work of overseeing the construction of both the club house and course. Owen Sound golfers are under a deep debt of gratitude to him and the present President, Mr. M. D. Lemon. Both have given of their valuable services in no unstinted manner. Their reward is the gratitude of Owen Sound golfers and a completed golfing undertaking unexcelled in any of the smaller cities of Canada. Mr. Butchart has a winter home in Florida and is a member of the Palm Beach Country Club there.

After the dinner it was "on with the dance," some two hundred participating in this enjoyable rounding out of a memorable day in the history alike of the residents of Owen Sound and their visitors. The music, which was of a thoroughly satisfactory character, was supplied by the Georgian Orchestra.

The Club House at Owen Sound is a most attractive one and members boast that it is one of the show places of the district, and boasteth not unduly. The original building, built more or less on generous English lines with spacious rooms and inviting open fire places lends itself to club house purposes. Commodious locker rooms and a professional's shop were added to the main building, but the crowning feature of the re-arrangement consists in the broad and spacious verandah which encircles the ground floor rooms. This verandah is the Mecca for the members and their friends. From it can be seen the waters of the Bay, whilst velvety stretches of lawn with vivid-colored flower beds and many noble trees, come right up to its railings. The 9th green also ends here. A popular place is this verandah for afternoon teas and other functions.

But after all said and done, as so often emphasized in these columns, "the course is the thing," and in this essential of all golfing essentials Owen Sound is not lacking. The links comprise in all 98 acres, situated on the shore of Georgian Bay, a splendid view of which can be obtained from every tee and every green. The very excellent length of 3039 yards is shown on the card calling for a par of 36, but owing to the many natural hazards this is a very difficult par indeed, and will be rarely registered even by the most skilled amateur or professional. The first hole is a 508-yard dog's leg which requires absolutely a well-placed drive in order to secure a par 5. No. 2 (240 yards) also calls for a perfect tee shot as it is guarded with woods on the right and a ravine on the left. No. 3, a 345-yarder, is one of the best holes on the course. Here, too, woods at the right prove fatal to a sliced ball. No. 4 is 305 yards, calling for a well pitched second shot over a ravine to the green. No. 5 is guarded by two ravines with woods on either side. The length is 386 yards. No. 6 is an interesting hole of 408 yards guarded by woods on the left. No. 7 is a 392-yarder with a particularly well placed green—possibly the best on the course. No. 8, 265 yards, is flanked by an orchard on the right and woods on the left. The green can be reached by the long driver, but it has to be a particularly well designed tee-shot to get home. Then the 9th, with a generous green in front of the Club House, 290 yards away, completes a thoroughly interesting round—a round in which the “narrow primrose path” has to be trod if the player has any hopes whatever of returning a card under the forties.

Considering the course was only opened for play late last season, the greens and fairways are really in a remarkably good condition. There are few cuppy lies and if the same intelligent treatment of the links, which has so far been displayed, is continued in the future, it is no fulsome flattery to state that Owen Sound in a year or so will be able to boast of golfing facilities unexcelled by any 9-hole course in Ontario. It has the turf-mat, it has the terrain, and it has an environment which fairly charms the eye and the senses. The Club is fortunate too in owning land on the Bay front, simply ideal for summer-cottage purposes. This should be a valuable asset in the future.

On behalf of the visiting golfers, and on its own behalf, the “Canadian Golfer” hereby extends to the following Board of Directors and Committee of the Club, heartfelt thanks for a most delightful two-day’s outing, made possible by unbounded hospitality on the right hand and on the left, and the excellent facilities provided for “playing the game.”—

Honorary President, D. M. Butchart; President, M. D. Lemon; Vice-President, J. A. Simpson; Secretary, Col. W. N. Chisholm; Captain, R. P. Findlay.

Directors:—A. D. Creasor, Dr. A. L. Danard, Dr. G. H. Holmes, J. C. Keenan, G. S. Kilbourn, E. C. Spereman, J. C. Telford.

The Toronto contingent also wishes to extend to Mr. H. C. Grout, General Superintendent of the C.P.R., especial thanks for the courtesies of his private car and hospitality without bounds during the trip. Mr. Grout has the interests of Owen Sound very much at heart and is deservedly popular with all its citizens.

Interesting Jottings from the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, and British Dependencies

AT the age of 75, Mr. Charles Hutchings died at Cheltenham, after a long illness, from heart failure. Mr. Hutchings's great achievement was the winning of the Amateur Championship when he was 53, and, as he reminded the spectators in his little speech of thanks, a grandfather into the bargain. This was at Hoylake in 1902, and the championship was a particularly memorable one, because it marked the introduction of the rubber-cored ball. Mr. Hutchings was one of the first to discover the merits of the Haskell ball, and he played with it throughout the competition, as did the runner-up, Mr. S. H. Fry. The final was an extraordinary match, since Mr. Hutchings, who in the morning played magnificently through a storm of rain and wind, was actually 8 up at the end of the first eighteen holes. In the second round he fell off somewhat, while Mr. Fry played so pluckily and so well that Mr. Hutchings had ultimately to sink a difficult putt to win by a single hole on the 36th green. Mr. Hutchings played finely throughout the tournament, and, moreover, had often before showed himself to be formidable, having won the Spring Medal at St. Andrews and several medals at Hoylake. In the latter part of his life Mr. Hutchings lived chiefly in Gloucestershire, but he was more truly at home at St. Andrews, at Pau, or at Hoylake.

The Belgian Open Championship has been won by George Pannell (Brussels), with an aggregate of 152, second being C. Warren (Knocke-sur-Mer), with 159; third H. Burrows (Antwerp), with 160 and W. S. Eight professionals, including two ex-champions, A. Herd and G. Duncan, took first part in an interesting 36-holes stroke competition at Edgware. Bogey for the course is 38 out and 37 home. With two splendid rounds of 72 and 74 A. Herd, who is 54 years of age and is leaving with Taylor shortly for a tour of Canada and the United States, headed the field. Duncan, with 76 and 74 being second. Other returns were: J. Ockenden, 14 and 19—153; F. Leach, 77 and 77—154; G. Doughty, 73 and 82—155; J. Batley, 76 and 79—155; Bert Seymour, 82 and 75—157; W. Mrs. Muriel Dodd Macbeth has so far this season been showing continuously that she is in better form than at any time since she visited Canada and the United States in 1913, on which occasion she won the Canadian Lady Championship. In the first day at the Ranelagh Tournament she tied with Miss Leitch for the best score of the day, with 76, which was one stroke better than Miss Wethered. On the second and last day, Mrs. Macbeth had a 75. Of course, Ranelagh is a short course, but even at that, Mrs. Macbeth's scoring is a promise of better things to come.

By ten games to four, Scotland won the revived international amateur match with England at Prestwick. This is a resumption of the Scottish march of triumph, for when the contest was abandoned in 1912 Scotland had won nine times against England's two. Unfortunately a great occasion was ruined by rain, a light drizzle prevailing at the start of the foursomes, and continuing with increasing force until it was a downpour. Notwithstanding the miserable conditions, there was an immense crowd on the links. A last-minute change occurred, Bernard Darwin being seized with a bilious attack, Angus Hambro taking his place. In the foursomes Scotland won by three games to one, one being halved. It was thought that the Englishmen would recover themselves in the singles, but while it would be wrong to say that they collapsed, nevertheless the display was poor. There were two great battles, Hunter v. Tolley, and Wethered v. Jenkins. The enormous crowds often never saw where their ball landed. Hunter was cooler than Toller and played many masterly shots. Wethered was hitting a mighty ball off the tee, and Gordon Simpson played wonderful golf. The result:

At Sandwich just before the Open Championship this week Jock Hutchison and Kirkwood gave a hole start to Messrs. Roger Wethered, who is coming to America as a member of the British Amateur team, and Angus Hamboro. The amateurs retained their advantage by completely outdriving the professionals on the long holes and eventually beating Kirkwood and Hutchison by one up. Walter Hagen played a friendly game with the Duke of Manchester, getting around in seventy-five and performing so brilliantly in his short game that he too, is accorded a good chance for the British Open honors, as is also Jim Barnes who in a practice game notched a 72.

THE QUEBEC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Mrs. Foy of Quebec Wins the Ladies' Championship—Mr. G. H. Turpin of the Royal Montreal the Mens, and C. R. Murray the Open—A Record Field of Entrants Thoroughly Enjoy a Wonderfully Well Run Three Days' Tournament.

ON June 8th, 9th and 10th the testing course of the Mount Bruno Golf and Country Club was the scene of the Quebec Provincial Championships which brought out record fields. The links were in fine shape. The President of the Quebec Golf Association, Mr. W. W. Walker, and his Executive, together with Mr. E. L. Pease, President of Mount Bruno and the energetic secretary of the club, Mr. R. J. R. Stokes, had spared no effort to provide for the golfing and social comfort alike of the large field of entrants, and the result was a wonderfully well run and successful three-day Tournament, possibly the best ever conducted in the Province. And as a result the Ladies' Championship goes to the Ancient Capital, Mrs. Foy of Quebec winning the titular event, replacing Miss Mollie McBride of Beaconsfield, who is in Great Britain and was therefore not present to defend her title. Mr. G. H. Turpin, of The Royal Montreal, ex-Amateur Champion, after a tie with Mr. C. C. Fraser, of Kanawaki, annexed the Men's Championship. Mr. Marcus Greer, formerly of Grand Mere, but now again residing in the States, also being an absentee, whilst once again that sterling player C. R. Murray, of The Royal Montreal, led the professionals. There was not a hitch in the running off of the three-fold event and the contestants were all loud in their praises of Mount Bruno and the hospitality of its officers and members, Mr. Stokes, the Secretary, especially coming in for all sorts of compliments.

Mrs. Foy (right) of Quebec, winner of the Quebec Ladies Championship. To the left Miss Mary Tooke, of The Royal Montreal Golf Club.

The ladies played two rounds, the first on the 8th and the second on the 9th. The following were the cards of the leaders:—

	First round	Second round	T ¹
Mrs Foy, Quebec	102	101	203
Miss Hazel Kennedy, Royal Montreal	104	100	204
Miss Annable, Kanawaki..	106	98	204
Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield	104	101	205
Miss P. Campbell, Royal Montreal	109	100	209
Mrs. R. J. Dawes, Royal Montreal	108	104	212
Miss A. Strachan, Kanawaki	106	108	214
Mrs. J. D. Hathaway, Royal Montreal	108	107	215
Mrs. George Chahoon, Grand Mere	105	110	215
Mrs. C. C. Ronalds, Kana- waki	108	108	216
Mrs. Alex Wilson, Royal Montreal	107	114	221
Miss H. Bernard, Royal Montreal	110	111	221
Miss Mary Tooke, Royal Montreal	109	112	221
Mrs. Fairbairn, Kanawaki	109	114	223
Mrs. H. Irwin, Royal Montreal	110	118	228
Mrs. Pickens, Country Club	109	138	247

It will be noticed that the clever young Kanawaki player, Miss Annable, who is again playing fine golf this season, and Miss Hazel Kennedy, of The Royal Montreal, tied for second place. In the play-off the representative of the premier club won. Miss Kennedy, too, is a player who will have to be reckoned with at the Canadian Championships next September in Toronto.

Mr. G. H. Turpin, of The Royal Montreal, ex-Amateur Champion of Canada, winner of the Quebec Amateur Championship.

Mrs. Foy played very steadily and her victory proved a most popular one. When Mr. E. L. Pease, President of the Mount Bruno Club, presented the prize to Mrs. Foy there was a generous round of applause. Mrs. Foy's notable victory will mean much for golf in the Ancient Capital. Only once before has Quebec been able to boast of a champion golfer, and that was 'way back in 1896, or over a quarter of a century ago, when Mr. Stewart Gillespie of that city carried off the Canadian Championship, defeating in the finals his club-mate, Mr. W. A. Griffith 4 and 3. Mrs. Foy has once again put the Ancient Capital in the forefront of golf. All credit to her.

The Ladies' Handicap, which ran concurrently with the qualifying round of the championship, was won by Mrs. H. R. Pickens, of the Country Club, who led Miss P. Campbell, of Royal Montreal, by two strokes, while three players, Mrs. George Chahoon, of Grand Mere; Mrs. Alex. Wilson, of Royal Montreal, and Mrs. Ethan Holland, of Grand Mere, tied for third place. In the play-off Mrs. Chahoon, of Grand Mere, won another very popular victory.

In the sealed hole competition, Miss G. Strachan and Mrs. Fairbairn, both of Kanawaki, tied for first honours. In the play-off Miss Strachan proved the victor.

Following the completion of the championship play, the ladies engaged in a driving contest. This was won by Miss Hazel Kennedy, whose three drives were 180, 165 and 165 yards respectively, for a total of 510 yards. Mrs. R. J. Dawes, Royal Montreal, took second place with drives of 162, 162 and 161 yards for a total of 485 yards. The best drive of the contest was made by Miss Annabel who covered a distance of 184 yards.

The putting competition was won by Mrs. Dobell, of Quebec, with a score of 10. Miss Sampson, of Kanawaki, was second with 11.

It will be noticed that the ladies outside the Montreal District quite held their own, the Championship and putting competition going to Quebec, and the Handicap event to Grand Mere. There were in all 61 entries.

THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

At one time in the Open Championship it looked as though the brilliant young amateur, Mr. Redvers McKenzie, of Islesmere, who made such a favourable showing in the Open at Ottawa in 1920, might land chief honours. With a well put together 77, at the end of the first round, he was well in the lead, the brothers George and Alex Ayton, and A. H. Murray being the only other contestants to break the eighties. The title holder, C. R. Murray, had to be content with an 81 and it looked very much as though he were out of the hunt. But the Royal Montreal pro. is never beaten until the last putt is made on the last hole. He is capable of wonderful recoveries, and he staged one all right in the second round. With a superbly put together 73 for a grand total of 154 he once again demonstrated that he is one of the greatest golfers in Canada. Karl Keffer, of The Royal Ottawa, like his confrere Murray, twice an open Champion of Canada, also had a brilliant second round and with a total of 156 nosed out by 1 stroke Mr. McKenzie and Frank Locke, the long-hitting Quebec professional who tied for third place with 157. The Islesmere amateur came in for all sorts of congratulations on the notable showing he made in the best amateur and professional field Quebec can produce—a field which boasted of two ex-amateur champions of Canada and three ex-open champions. The cards of the leaders:

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

There were 92 competitors for the Amateur Championship and the final result of the 36-holes medal play was that Mr. G. H. Turpin, The Royal Montreal and Mr. C. C. Fraser, of Kanawaki, were tied for first place with scores of 159, Mr. Turpin going out in 82 and coming home with a 77, whilst Mr. Fraser had a card of 81 and 78. It required three extra holes to decide the championship. The first two extra holes were halved but at the short third or the 39th of the nerve-racking contest, Mr. Fraser found trouble with his tee shot, and, although he made a very gallant effort to retrieve himself, pitching beautifully out of the rough and almost gobbling the hole, he left himself with a long putt which he failed to run down, while his opponent securing a par three took the hole and the championship. Mr. Turpin won the Canadian Amateur Championship at Toronto in 1913 defeating the late Captain Gerald Lees of the Royal Ottawa (who died gallantly fighting for King and Country in the early days of the Great War) by 1 up. He is one of the longest drivers in Canada and plays his iron shots too with consummate ease. He has a delightful style and can always be depended upon to finish well up in the front of any field. He has many competitions to his credit and deservedly ranks as one of the very best of our Canadian golfers either amateur or professional. Mr. Fraser is a player of great promise and will undoubtedly come into his own one of these days. All he needs is Tournament experience to round out a dashing game. Like Mr. Turpin he is very popular in the Montreal District. He is also quite well known on Ontario courses, having taken part in the Open last year in Toronto and in other outstanding events. The cards:—

In third place was Mr. T. B. Reith, the well known Beaconsfield golfer and a former Quebec Champion. He had a score of 163 to his credit which might easily have been 4 strokes better but for a most unfortunate incident at the long 12th. It was thought his tee-shot here was out of bounds and also his second. Playing a third ball from the tee and proceeding down the course it was found that the first ball was not out of bounds after all. It was too late, however, to claim this ball in play and as a result the Beaconsfield crack had to be content with an ominous ten instead of a likely six or even a possible five. Hard luck certainly which would unquestionably have been the undoing of a less seasoned player.

In the Handicap Contest, which ran concurrently with the championship field, Quebec again came to the fore and produced a prize winner in the person of Ivan Bosse, who turned in two good cards each of 88. His handicap of eleven strokes reduced his total to a net of 154. The actual lowest net was that of C. C. Fraser, but as the Kanawaki player had obtained the runner-up prize he gave way to Mr.

Bosse in accordance with the tournament rule that a competitor may receive one prize only. The Quebec player is only 19 years of age and should be heard from in the future.

C. R. Murray, the Winner Once Again of the Professional Championship of Quebec.

There was a tie for second prize in the handicap and this will be played off between J. W. Yuile, Royal Montreal, and D. C. Ritchie, Beaconsfield.

The Club Championship for teams of four was won by Royal Montreal. The title carries with it a cup and individual prizes for each member of the winning team. The Dixie Quartette had a total of 658, made up as follows:

G. H. Turpin, 159; C. B. Grier, 164; N. M. Scott, 167; and W. M. Hodgson, 168.

Second place fell to the Kanawaki team with a total of 669, as follows: W. McLuckie, 163; C. C. Fraser, 159; G. Annable, 172; and J. Buchanan, 175. Mr. Annable is a brother of Miss Annable who made such a favourable showing in the Ladies' Championship.

Mr. J. H. McCulloch, the young Beaconsfield player who made history at the Amateur Championship at Beaconsfield in 1920, when he in one day put out such great linksmen as Messrs. Geo. S. Lyon and F. R. Martin, won the prize for the lowest net score for a single round (an eighty) after tying with Mr. C. B. Grier, whom he defeated in the play-off. He certainly seems to have a penchant for disposing of ex-amateur champions, does this promising Beaconsfield boy.

Herewith the cards of the first forty players:—

The course at Mount Bruno is the longest in Canada and possibly the hardest. The length is 6523 yards with a par of 70. A par has never yet been made. The Open Championship will be held here next month and it will be interesting to see what the leading professionals of the continent can do over these sporting links. It is generally thought that 300 for the 72 holes, medal play will not be beaten.

AN APPRECIATION OF OSHAWA

MR. B. L. ANDERSON, Secretary-Treasurer of The Royal Canadian Golf Association writes the "Canadian Golfer":

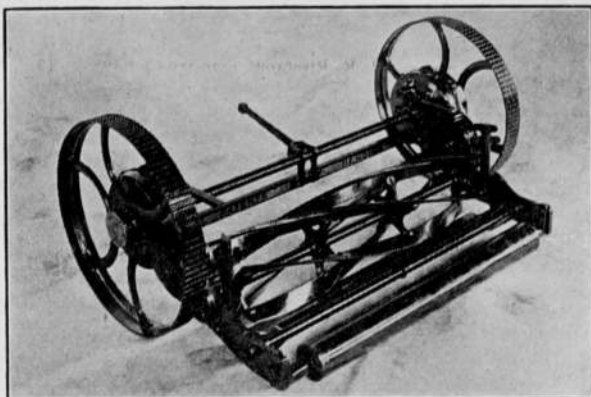

"I spent a week-end at Oshawa recently at the Oshawa Golf Club, and had the pleasure of playing over the new holes in connection with the extension of their course, and I know you will be interested to hear that with the addition of these holes, this will make the course one of the most difficult 18 hole courses in the Dominion

These holes begin with the 7th, which is a long hole, with a very narrow fairway, driving over a river immediately in front of the tee. It requires a 190 yard carry to get to a slight plateau or level piece of turf which gives you a full brassie shot to the green, the boundary fence being on the right and the woods and river to the left. The green is very beautifully set in a bank nearly surrounded by trees. This hole might be shortened up a little to advantage. The 8th, a slight dog's leg, requires another 190 yard carry to get on high ground, giving you a reasonable mashie shot to the green, which is on the top of a hill between the woods and boundary fence, which requires a well placed shot. The 9th is a real dog's leg, requiring a good 200 yard drive in order to get around the corner toward the green, which then becomes a mashie shot to a beautiful green again surrounded by trees. The three greens referred to are beautiful rolling turf. The 10th is a mashie shot over the river to a level green, with boundary fence at the back and hill at the side. The 11th is a drive up the river with a 170 yard carry, then a full mashie or jigger to a beautiful green. The 12th is again a drive across the river, requiring a mashie shot to the green with another background of trees. The old 7th hole now becomes the 13th.

On account of the narrow fairways on these new holes and the natural hazards, this, in my opinion is going to be one of the most difficult and at the same time one of the most beautiful courses in the country."

GOLF IN CHATHAM

THE Chatham Golf and Country Club was officially opened on Victoria Day and the program was thoroughly enjoyed. From quite early in the morning until afternoon little parties arrived and the contests as scheduled were started promptly. The beautiful grounds, with the velvety green, and tall trees fully leafed out, and a pretty little flower garden here and there, never looked more attractive. Motor cars were there in large numbers, and as one approached the golf club the charming sports blouses and coats, in bright and effective combinations, were in the majority for the lady golfers. The Executive and Games Committee arranged the program for the field and fete day which is one of the memorable events in connection with Chatham golf activities. In every way the day was remarkably successful and even the sunshine lent its assistance for this opening. A Men's Match between President A. C. Woodward and Vice-President A. D. Chaplin was the first contest, the President winning by 3 points.

At ten o'clock there was an Approaching and Putting Contest for the ladies, and Mrs. A. C. Woodward captured the prize, while in the Driving Contest Miss Edna Richards won the honors.

In the afternoon there were mixed foursomes, whilst a memorable golfing day was brought to a conclusion with a most delightful dance, at which there were many out-of-town guests.

CAPTURES CHEVY CHASE CUP

Mr. Geo. S. Lyon added another trophy to his golfing belt when last month he won the Invitation Tournament at Chevy Chase, Washington and the President Taft Cup emblematic of this important event. There were 184 entries in the qualifying round, and the first sixteen were composed of players who turned in cards of 85 or better. Mr. Lyon was the only Canadian golfer to enter the first sixteen, although both Frank Thompson and Harry Coulson qualified for the second sixteen with 86's. In the final Mr. Lyon met and defeated Marshall Whitlash of the Chevy Chase Club, winning 5 up and 4 to play. Both Messrs. Thompson and Coulson were defeated in the play for the ex-President Sherman Cup. Play in the qualifying round commenced on Thursday, and the players were hampered to a considerable degree by the rain, but on Friday and Saturday the weather was all that could be desired from a golfer's viewpoint. The course which is considered one of the best in the States, was in excellent condition. Mr. Frank Thompson, the Amateur Champion, distinguished himself by setting a new amateur record for Chevy Chase—a brilliant 74. Mr. J. B. Montgomery also accompanied the Canadian contingent.

GLENEAGLES TOURNAMENT

The £1000 Event is Again Won by Abe Mitchell, who Toured Canada and the States Last Year—Kirkwood, the Australian, Wins the Qualifying Round with 144.

THE £1000 Tournament at Gleneagles, Scotland, June 7th and 8th brought out one of the most representative fields of the season so far. Thirty two of the leading professionals of the world qualified to play off, match play. Joe Kirkwood, the Australian, playing in the steadiest kind of a manner, headed the classy field with a magnificent 144 for the two rounds. His card for the concluding round was as follows:—

Out	444 434 535=	36
In	524 444 445=	37
Total		73

George Duncan, who was only a single stroke behind the Australian in the grand total with 145, looked like breaking the record until he reached the seventh. Here he required three putts. He became unsettled momentarily, missing his second shot at the ninth, although he reached the turn in 36. Duncan came home in good style, driving straight through the middle and pitching beautifully toward the flag. However, just when he appeared certain to head the list, he took three putts on the seventeenth and eighteenth greens. His card was as follows:—

Out	444 445 424=	36
In	434 435 344=	36
		72

Jock Hutchison, of Chicago, the British Open Champion, who was the centre of attraction, amazed the spectators by his erratic play on the first nine holes. He missed a putt of less than two feet on the first green. This upset him, and he played mediocre golf right to the turn. Then his game improved wonderfully, and he was himself on the homeward trip. He reached the turn in 42, and took only 35 to come home. Hutchison began his erratic play at the second, where he pulled his tee shot into the gorse and eventually missed a four-foot putt, taking six for the hole. For the next few holes he scarcely hit a clean tee shot. He topped his shot into the fourth bunker, and while at the sixth began by pushing his drive behind a whin bush. He pulled his second across the course, and finished with a poor approach. The eighth saw the last of Hutchison's erratic driving. Here he pulled his drive into the rough, and though he recovered well, a bogey three-hole cost him four. He settled down at the turn and played like a champion on the way home, driving long and straight, and not missing a holeable putt.

His 153 for thirty-six holes gave him tenth place among the thirty-two qualified players.

Taylor, who sails for Canada and the United States on July 5th for his tour with Sandy Herd, played with extraordinary steadiness. He was never off the course from the tee, and played a remarkably steady, short game. He got around in 73, which gave him third place with a total of 148.

Harry Vardon had a remarkable experience, taking eleven for one hole. This was the tenth, which measured 430 yards. Vardon drove two tee shots out of bounds, and then topped his next into the bunker, holing out in eleven strokes. After this happening Vardon played the last eight holes in three under fours. Blair, who appeared to suffer from the heat, failed to qualify.

The sensation of the first round of match play was the defeat of Hutchison by A. G. Havers, leader of the younger school of professionals in England. The champion won the first hole in three, getting down a six-yard putt. Havers squared at the third. From then on the advantage changed hands several times, until they were all square at the eighteenth, where Havers holed a four-yard putt for victory. The Englishman went round in 76, while Hutchison's score was 77.

Another surprise of the day's play was the defeat of Harry Vardon in the first round by Compston, who won from the veteran by one up.

In one of the other matches Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, who won the qualifying medal with 144, defeated Gordon Lockhart, 4 up and 3 to play. Arnaud Massey, former French title holder, defeated Tom King, 5 up and 3 to play. J. H. Taylor beat Jack Rose 4 and 3.

Abe Mitchell was victor over F. C. Jewell, 2 up and 1 to play. George Duncan, Mitchell's partner, defeated McInnes in a contest that went to the twentieth green. Ted Ray beat Hugh McNeill 1 up, while George Gadd disposed of H. C. Jolly by 2 up. The triumph of Havers over Hutchison was short-lived, as Havers was defeated in the second round by Anderson, 1 up.

The third and fourth rounds saw the elimination of Kirkwood and Duncan,

Abe. Mitchell, winner of the Gleneagles £1000 Tournament.

the favourites, and eventually Abe Mitchell and Ted Ray were left to fight it out.

In a distinctly poor game, which came as a disappointment to the spectators, Mitchell beat Ray by two and one. The fact that the two longest hitters in the game were opposed to each other was enough to draw a record crowd, but there was little of the spectacular in any part of the match and the standard of play was decidedly low.

The first round was somewhat better than the second. Ray was three up at the eleventh, but Mitchell managed to square the match at the eighteenth. The tide turned in Mitchell's favor in the second round, he being three up at the turn. At the sixth he smothered his drive and laid his ball behind a tree. The obvious shot was to play out on the course, but, instead, he attempted to guide the ball through the branches. As everybody expected, and as the player himself would have known had he thought the position out, he hit a branch and the ball bounded back into the rough only 30 yards being gained.

Neither of the contestants attempted the slugging game, despite their well-known prowess in that department. In fact it was not until the first round was over that Mitchell began to hit the ball cleanly. Ray should have retained his lead of three up after the short eleventh had been played, but at the sixteenth he was within three feet of the hole when he missed his putt for a two and allowed his opponent to halve.

Mitchell's luck came to his assistance. At the eighteenth he hooked his tee shot so badly that it flew 80 yards off the line, but, as luck would have it, the shot was so crooked that it carried over the trouble into another fairway and Mitchell found himself with as good a lie as if he had driven straight. He also had the additional advantage of a clear shot to the green. The play never rose above the commonplace, and sometimes it was actually bad.

Mitchell's victory duplicated his win of the same tournament in 1921, when he beat Kirkwood in the final. This was the first important match in which Mitchell and Ray had met in the final.

Neither Barnes nor Hagen, the other U. S. professionals who are playing in Great Britain with Hutchison, took part in the Gleneagles Tournament. Their reason for not doing so remains somewhat of a mystery.

RED LETTER DAY AT HAMILTON

When the Chedoke Civic Golf Links are Formally Opened—Membership Already Recorded over 1,000—The President, Mr. G. C. Martin, Tells How the Club Was Successfully Formed.

QUITE one of the events of the 1922 golfing season in Canada, goes to Hamilton in the opening there last month of the Chedoke Civic Golf Club. Ideal weather conditions prevailed and there was an attendance of several hundred in front of the attractive new club house when the 18-hole course for many years before removing to Ancaster, the home of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, was formally opened amidst unwonted enthusiasm.

Mr. G. C. Martin, General Traffic Manager of the T. H. & B., the President of the Chedoke Club, made an admirable "master of ceremonies." Herewith some extracts from his opening address, which will be read with great interest by believers and supporters of Municipal Golf throughout Canada:—

One of my dreams has to-day come true. Some five or six years ago, when the Hamilton Golf and Country Club moved to their present beautiful links at Ancaster, a Committee of the old Board of Trade, of which I was Chairman, felt that these old links should, if possible, be secured as a Public Golf Course for the benefit of the citizens of Hamilton. Our Committee approached the Parks Board with that end in view, but, owing to war conditions and financial difficulties, it was not considered an opportune time to go into the question, and it was dropped for several years.

During the past year, however, there has been considerable activity among all classes of citizens. The Trades & Labor Council discussed the question and, upon putting it to a vote, they were surprised to find a large majority of their members were anxious to have an opportunity of playing golf, particularly those members who had been accustomed to this class of recreation in the Old Country and many of the returned men, who had had the privilege of learning the game while Overseas, and their representative on the Board of Control, Mr. Aitchison, and one or two other members of the Board gave the subject some considerable attention, but it was felt by the City Fathers, owing to the high tax rate prevailing, they were not in a position to acquire this property.

It was then taken up by a Committee of the Chamber of Commerce with the assurance from the City Fathers that if it was demonstrated that the scheme could be made self-supporting, that a By-law would be submitted to the people next January, with a view to acquiring the property. With this end in view the Committee was instructed by the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, to proceed, and after one or two notices in the Public Press that those desiring to play golf at a minimum fee, which was placed at $10.00 for the season with green fees of 25 cents on Saturdays and Holidays, of $15.00 including all fees, to sign applications for membership at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce. In less than three weeks some 600 applications had been signed.

The Committee then felt that they were justified in going ahead with the proposition, and, after securing an Agreement with the Hamilton Golf and Country Club securing the property for one year at the cost of paying taxes and rates with an option to purchase at the end of the year, for the sum of $90,000.00, payable in ten yearly instalments, they proceeded to incorporate under the name of The Chedoke Civic Golf Club, with the result that today we have 1030 signed applications with more coming in daily. This will guarantee the full amount of our Budget which was placed at $12,000.00. Out of this we have provided this splendid Club House which is 60 ft. long and 26 ft. wide, two storeys, providing ample locker room space for both ladies and gentlemen, with three shower baths, lavatories, hot and cold water, restaurant facilities and comfortable lounging room.

The greens and fairways have been put in good shape and will improve every day. Water pipes will be laid shortly to water the greens.

This has been accomplished through the generosity of some of our members. W. H. Cooper, owing to slack period, was able to place his workmen on the Clubhouse for us at practically cost. G. W. Robinson Company have kindly furnished the refrigerator, tables, etc., through Mr. R. L. Smith, who is the energetic chairman of our House Committee. I might say that the members of his Committee have been most energetic and untiring in their efforts. Mr. W. S. Burrill, Chairman of our Greens Committee, and members of his Committee, have had a strenuous time putting the Course in shape and they deserve great credit.

The general impression among the masses of the people has been that Golf is a "rich man's game", which is entirely erroneous. Of course, if a person wishes to belong to an exclusive private club, it can be made as expensive as their tastes may desire, but you can readily see, from the results today, that we are providing our citizens with Golf at a minimum price, within the reach of every man who has steady employment. $10.00 with green fees of 25 cents on Saturdays and Holidays, together with about $15.00 for clubs and bag, and $1.00 for a locker, if one is desired, is the total expense, and I imagine that the ordinary citizen spends more than this in other amusements, which do not provide the health-giving recreation that the golf game affords. In most other amusements, the people sit and watch the other fellow do it, in golf he does it himself, and he is out in God's free air enjoying the beauties of nature, and while he may add something to his vocabulary, he will learn to control his temper and improve his disposition, as, in this respect, golf is a gentleman's game.

I trust you will all become enthusiastic golfers, so that when the necessary By-law comes before the people next January, you will all be such strong boosters that this valuable property may be added to the City's already fine system of recreation parks.

Mayor Copley, in a brief address, said that with the co-operation of such a band of enthusiastic golfers it was almost possible to do anything, and he had an optimistic message for the club's future. While the Council did not wish to add to the ratepayers' burdens, he assured the gathering that everything possible would be done to assist in acquiring the land for a municipal golf course. Mr. Ralph Connable, Toronto, was introduced as the founder of municipal golf courses in Ontario, and made a few fitting remarks, as also did Mr. Ralph Reville, Brantford. Before adjourning to the first tee reference was made to the good work of Mr. J. C. Moreland, Secretary of the Club.

As previously reported an exhibition match followed the speech-making, in which Mr. George S. Lyon and Mr. Frank Thompson ended all square at the 18th hole, with the Hamiltonians Mr. F. R. Martin and Nicol Thompson. Since the opening, the links have been exceedingly well patronized every day and the success of civic golf in the Ambitious City is absolutely assured.

The following well known and prominent Hamiltonians comprise the Board of Directors of the Chedoke Club formed "to provide golf links for those who live or work in the City of Hamilton":—

G. C. Martin, President; J. P. Bell, Vice-President; G. L. Hazell, Treasurer; J. C. Moreland, Secretary. C. I. Aitchison, W. S. Burrill, V. G. Cardy, A. E. Enlow, F. G. Fearman, C. W. Graham, J. H. Holbrook, J. F. Radigan, R. L. Smith, R. E. Van Dyke.

A SPLENDID PROPERTY

Has Been Secured for the New Burlington Golf and Country Club—A Keen Demand for the Shares

THE new Burlington Golf and Country Club, which is being sponsored by a number of prominent Hamilton and Burlington citizens, is situated on the Toronto-Hamilton highway, just east of Wabasso park, fronting on the bay shore. The club will be readily accessible by motor, will be located on a gently sloping plateau below the club house, and the 18th fairly will lie along the water front south of the Boulevard. The 17th green will lie just north of the road near the western line, about 150 feet north of the 18th tee to the south of the road.

GROUNDS OF THE BURLINGTON GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB

The above sketch shows the beautiful grounds of this club as they will appear when the improvements are completed.

and there will be available for members many diversified attractions. Accommodation will be supplied for boating, swimming and all aquatic sports. A tennis court and a bowling green will be available for members, as well as an 18-hole golf course. No other club in Hamilton district will combine the accessibility to the city with such excellent facilities for recreation. It will be a country club in every sense of the word.

The club house site is on the highland near the southeast boundary, overlooking practically the whole course, and commanding a beautiful view of the Bay, the City of Hamilton and the Beach. A more beautiful or wonderfully entrancing situation it would be impossible to imagine. The 18th green

Three entrances to the property make it very accessible to residents of Hamilton, Burlington and the Highway. Turning south from Aldershot on to the Boulevard Road, a beautiful drive past Wabasso Park and through woodland glades of a mile and a half reaches the club house. A private right of way also passes through the property from north to south, with entrance east of the Godwin home on the highway.

The entrance from the Highway on the east side is most convenient, the Club House being not more than one-half mile therefrom, over the improved Boulevard Road. When the Highway is in use over the new bridges, the motor drive from the city will not be over fifteen minutes; for Burlington and Beach residents, not more than ten minutes.

The $250 shares have been generously subscribed for by many leading residents of Hamilton and Burlington, and there is now no question of the unbounded success of this most advantageously situated golf club. It is already an assured success.

Mr. R. C. S. Bruce, President of the Manitoba Golf Association, writes:—

"We are arranging for a Foursome Tournament amongst teams of four players drawn from any golfing organization in the city, including the regular golf clubs with courses, and others, such as the Banks, Insurance Companies, Doctors, Dentists, Churches, Mercantile Houses and Fraternal Societies. I am anxious that this be run on the Municipal course on the same lines as the "Edinburgh Evening Dispatch" Trophy on the Braid Hills. Mr. Woods, proprietor of one of the Calgary papers, kindly presented this Trophy "to encourage the finest form of golf—the Foursome." Re the proposed Western Canada Golf Association, we are busy preparing a constitution which when completed will be forwarded to each of the Provincial Associations for their consideration. We hope to have things well advanced by the autumn when we propose inviting representatives to the Manitoba Championship meeting to discuss details."

One of the notable events of a notable month was the formal opening last week of the splendid 18-hole course of the Beach Grove Country Club near Walkerville, of which Mr. Harrington E. Walker is the President. The exhibition match participated in by Messrs. Frank Thompson and T. Ward Hunter, the Detroit Amateur, who were opposed by Messrs. Stanley Thompson and Nicol Thompson, drew a gallery of several hundred. The match ended in 1 up for the Amateur Champion and his Detroit partner. The scores were all very close. Nicol Thompson had the best medal, a 75; Frank Thompson and Hunt had 77's and Stanley Thompson a 78. The players are all very enthusiastic about Beach Grove which they claim will be one of the best links in Ontario in the course of a year or so. Stanley Thompson Co. Ltd., Toronto, laid out this fine property.

The new Moosomin (Saskatchewan) Golf Club, held a most successful formal opening on June 1st. Indications are for a very live club indeed.

In a very interesting match the ladies of Orillia defeated a team of ladies from Oshawa by 8 points to 3 over the Conchiching course, Orillia, June 15th.

The 23rd Annual Amateur Championship of the Western Golf Association takes place at the Hillcrest Country Club, Kansas, June 26th to July 1st. A record entry has been recorded in connection with this event.

The Deer Park Golf and Country Club of Grimsby one of the latest Ontario clubs, is having a wonderfully successful season. The Club boasts a membership of nearly two hundred entrants. This season it has a professional, Harold Wells, formerly of Orillia and he is booked up with lessons from early morning till evening. The course is really in excellent shape, whilst the Club House as a particularly pretty one.

A number of Canadian ladies are taking part in the Buffalo Country Club Invitation Tournament which starts June 26th. Miss Sydney Pepler of Toronto won the Championship last year.

Twenty-two members of the Brantford Golf Club visited Rosedale, Toronto, last week and were defeated 16 events to 6. They were all delighted with the Rosedale course and Rosedale hospitality.

The 9-hole course at Stonewall, Manitoba, was formally opened on May 24th when forty members took part in a match, President vs. Vice-President. Prospects are very bright for a most successful club.

Mr. Harry Gow, with a very fine 75, won the Victoria Day competition at the Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg. Unfortunately for Winnipeg golf, Mr. Gow intends returning to Vancouver whence he came some two years ago.

The ladies of the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, are having some keen competition in their club events this year, which has been featured by the brilliant playing of Mrs. K. C. Allen, the club champion, who made an 83 the other day at the St. Charles Club. Mrs. Allen also has an 85 to her credit at the Winipeg Club.

Professional golfers of the Quebec Association last week agreed to play an amateur and professional match at the Country Club on July 24 as a memorial to Arthur Woodward, late professional of the Country Club and Outremont, whose recent demise was so greatly regretted. Entries will be received from forty amateurs. Arrangements are in the hands of A. H. Murray, of the Country Club. It has also been arranged to hold the annual tournament noon, after losing the first, fairly devoured his contending rival, winning seven out of the next nine holes, and ending matters at the tenth hole of the round and the 28th hole of the journey.

For the first time in seven years Rosedale defeated Lambton last week 13 points to 12. By the very close score of 36½ points to 35½ points St. Catharines defeated Glendale, Hamilton, June 18th.

The Highland Golf Club, the new London golfing organization, is making remarkable progress and already 9 holes have been opened for play, whilst work is progressing in a satisfactory manner on the other 9 holes. The Club is already an assured success.

May 24th was the biggest day in the history of the Municipal Golf Course, Winnipeg, no fewer than 675 players testing their clubs over the greens during the day. This constitutes a record for the course. At all other Winnipeg clubs a big time was had, special holiday attractions being staged, with old Sol beaming down in all his glory.

H. K. Hotchkiss has been appointed professional this season at Murray Bay, one of the most popular summer resorts in Canada. Chief Justice Taft of the United States is President of the Club.

Canadian golfing friends will be sorry to hear that the well-known player, Mr. W. M. Reekie of New York, formerly of this country, has been incapacitated the past few weeks from playing in championships as a result of blood poisoning originating from a blister on his foot. He does not expect for a month or so to enter for any important events.

Thornhill, one of Toronto's latest and most successful courses, was formally opened this month with an exhibition match in which Messrs. George S. Lyon and Major R. M. Gray Jr. paired up against Mr. Frank Thompson and Norman Bell, the pro of the Club. The latter won an interesting match by 1 up. Twelve holes are in play and both greens and fairgreens are in a remarkably fine shape considering construction work was only started by Stanley Thompson Co. Ltd., the architects, this Spring. There is a great future ahead of The Thornhill Golf and Country Club.

The tabloid tournament put on by the Western Ontario League Association, and played on the Brantford links this month, scored a decided success and will prove a great encouragement for future events of this nature. Thanks largely to the assistance of Mr. A. A. Adams of Hamilton, an old Simcoe boy, Simcoe, for whom he plays, won the first prize for the team making lowest score with 340 gross for 36 holes. Brantford ran a good second with 346. A. A. Adams won first prize for the best individual score, 36 holes, 79 in the morning and 82 in the afternoon,

J. R. Skinner, Superintendent of the Algonquin Golf links at St. Andrews, N. B. writes June 10th:—

"We have been very busy laying a water system through the course and have now completed water to every green on both the 18 and 9 hole courses. The course is in splendid shape, all ready for the "big push" on the 20th June when we expect to have with us all the leading manufacturers of Canada for a few days. I can assure you they will enjoy the beautiful course and the sea breezes at St. Andrews. I was at Fredericton on the 12th May making some changes to their course, which is certainly a beautiful one. The turf is ideal, nice and springy, and I am sure when they complete my changes they will have one of the best 9-hole courses in the Maritime provinces."

Started only two or three months ago, the Thistledown Golf and Country Club, situated just outside Weston, is already swinging along in a most satisfactory manner. Arthur Keeling, for many years at Essex Golf and Country Club, Sandwich, has been appointed the pro at Thistledown (a most excellent appointment) and he writes:—

"The new 18-hole course will not be ready until next season some time, but we have as pretty a 9-hole course in play now and in as good shape as any around the country, brassie lies any place. We were very lucky having so much ground in pasture land and it took so little to get ready, and the turf is wonderful, in fact, you would have to see it to believe it. The whole land is wonderful golf country and the new 18-hole lay-out will make one of the best tests of golf in the country besides being a championship course of 6,500 yards, good soil and everything that goes to make up a real course."

The booking of the Exhibition game of Taylor and Herd at The Royal Montreal Golf Club has been changed from Wednesday the 23rd of August to Monday, August 21st.

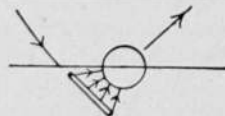

The Glendale Golf and Country Club, Hamilton, has issued a very attractive card of the many fixtures and competitions arranged this season. The men's captain is Mr. J. S. McCaughey; vice, Mr. W. A. Kennedy. Ladies captain, Mrs. J. V. Watson; vice, Miss Lillian Burke.

Mr. Frank W. Dyer, of Upper Montclair, N. J., who recently won the New Jersey Championship, has played on courses here and is therefore not unknown in Canadian golf circles. He is looked upon as a dangerous contender for the U. S. Amateur Championship this coming September.

Great enthusiasm was in evidence at this season's opening of the Glenview Golf Club, at Petrolea. The handicap driving contest for the men was won by W. G. Ogilvie, Hugh Simpson winning the second prize. The ladies' putting contest was won by Miss Mary McKenzie. Miss Ethel Fowler won second prize. Petrolea is one of Ontario's latest towns to go in for golf.

At a meeting of the Elgin Golf and Country Club May 25th at St. Thomas it was decided to close the option on the Whalley farm, located at Union, on the London and Port Stanley electric road, about four miles south of the city. On this property, which has been inspected by the golf links architect, Stanley Thompson, of Toronto, the club will lay out their new links. The property consists of 106 acres of rolling land, wooded in part, with a small stream running through it, and when completed it will be one of the finest golf clubs in Ontario. The club has on hand subscribed $35,000, and work will be started in the near future on the construction. It is proposed to build an up-to-date clubhouse, and a large membership from St. Thomas is assured, and many players from the summer colony at Port Stanley will take advantage of the ideally situated golf course. All cars on the L. P. and S. will stop at the new links. The purchase was necessary owing to the sale of the old links to the City of St. Thomas for industrial sites.

Representatives from the other clubs in the Association are: Messrs. Jack Rithet, Colwood; Col. Richard Bell-Irving, Jericho; N. J. Smillie, Shaughnessy and A. V. Price, United Services, Victoria.

A despatch from Newark, N. J.:

"Another 'golf widow' was granted a divorce to-day. She is Mrs. Rachel Dean Hayward, now living with her mother in Germantown, Pa. The defendant was Sterling P. Hayward, of Montclair, N. J. Vice-Chancellor Fielder gave Mrs. Hayward a divorce, $35 a week alimony and custody of the children. Hayward is a director of the Glen Ridge Golf Club, which he joined in 1910, a year after his marriage. Right there her troubles began, Mrs. Hayward told the court.

His passion for golf grew to the proportion of a mania and his interest in his wife decreased inversely, it was charged. What time he was not at Glen Ridge he was following tournament play at other clubs, and refused to take her along, she alleged. His neglect culminated, she said, when he went to Europe without so much as telephoning her that he was going, and greeted her with a curt "How do you do?" on his return, brushed past her to his room, changed, shouldered his bag of clubs and was off to Glen Ridge."
