PUTTING

"My advice on putting is: spend as much time as you can at practice in acquiring a smooth, steady stroke. You can do this anywhere you can find a few square feet of comparatively smooth surface, and the time to swing your club for a few minutes. But, in doing this practice, take note of a few fundamental principles. Take a stance that will let you keep your head and body still, preferably one that places your head as nearly as possible over the ball. Then start by taking the club back low along the surface. Carry the club back deliberately, and then send it through smoothly on the forward swing, making it travel a bit beyond where the ball lay. Keep at this until you find it easy to follow this routine, remembering to keep the head and body still. Once you have got this habit of stroking the ball right, you have laid the foundation for good consistent putting."

Age and Experience Have Now to Bow the Knee to Youth.

Golfers in their twenties and youths in their teens are certainly sweeping all before them this season in Canada both in amateur and professional events. Outside of the circle of the Seniors, champions of a few years ago are lagging far behind. Without an exception they have all been swept into the discard. Sixteen and eighteen year old boys are consistently "breaking into the seventies" and leading their elders a merry dance. Youth is very much in the golfing saddle these days. Golf is no longer exclusively "an old man's game." It is no longer "a middle-aged man's game." It is now pre-eminently the expert game of the young athlete, trained to the minute. In the Royal and Ancient, as in all other sports, youth will no longer be denied.

British Walker Cup Team Sustains Defeat

As was generally predicted, the British Walker Cup team at Chicago, last month, without the assistance of Sir Edward Holderness, Cyril Tolley and Roger Wethered, had little hope of coping with the strong U. S. team headed by Bobbie Jones, but no one quite expected such a debacle. The Britishers were almost white-washed and sustained the most crushing defeat in the history of the competition, which has always been won by the United States. The Americans are unquestionably to-day in a golfing class by themselves. They reign absolutely supreme both in the amateur and professional fields. "The home of golf" has fallen upon parlous times and unlike the States, no outstanding youngsters seem to be coming forward to impart a glimmer of hope for the immediate future.

Cyril Tolley, the former British Amateur Champion, who until this year has always taken part in the Walker Cup matches and with some success, in a letter to the press, claims that the selection of the British team is not in the right hands and also that to develop players capable of meeting the Americans, the British Amateur Championship and other major events must in future consist of 36-hole matches each day instead of matches at 18 holes. This is the custom in the States and latterly in Canada and we are of the opinion that Mr. Tolley in regard to this latter contention is quite right. The 36-hole match is the only test of Championship golf and the only way by which Championship golf can be developed.

As a matter of record the following were the results in the Walker Cup competition:—

Foursomes—Sweetser and Von Elm, United States, defeated Perkins and Tweddell, Great Britain, 7 and 6.

Jones and Evans, United States, defeated Hezlet and Hope, Great Britain, 5 and 3.

Ouimet and Johnston, United States, defeated Torrance and Storey, Great Britain, 4 and 2.

Gunn and Mackenzie, United States, defeated Beck and MacCallum, Great Britain, 7 and 5.

Singles—Jones defeated Perkins, 13 and 12; Ouimet defeated Hezlet, 8 and 7; Watts Gunn defeated Hardman, 11 and 10; Sweetser defeated Hope, 5 and 4; Johnston defeated Storey, 4 and 2; Von Elm defeated Tweddle, 3 and 2; Mackenzie defeated Captain Martin, 2 and 1; Torrance defeated Evans, 1 up. Total, U. S. 11 matches, Great Britain one match.

In the last competition, 1926, at St. Andrews, the U. S. team only won out by the narrow margin of one match, the score being six matches to five. On that occasion Great Britain won four of the singles (Von Elm halving with Major Hezlet), the U. S. three, whilst the U. S. won three of the foursomes to Great Britain's one.

It goes without saying, that the Britishers had not one word of excuse to make for their crushing defeat. In this respect they have won golden opinions from the people and press of the neighbouring Republic.

NEW BALL NOT TO BE AUTHORIZED 'TIL 1930

DISCUSSING the question of the new ball which is being considered by the Royal and Ancient and the United States Golf Association the "Golf Monthly," Edinburgh, says:—

"No official announcement has been made; in fact, secrecy, for some reason which is not obvious to the everyday outlook, is desired. The subject is not of political or financial importance, it is a matter which should be disclosed at once; already it is an open secret. The ball that the chairman of the Golf Ball Sub-Committee favours is 1.68 in diameter and 1.55 in weight. The proposal to restrict championships and open tournaments to this ball will be made to the Royal and Ancient autumn meeting. The suggested date for the ball to become operative is 1st January, 1930.

"We have stated here before that there are a considerable number of well-placed golfers who would like to see a larger and lighter ball made for the championships and leave the rest of golfers to play with any ball they cared; that is to say, except in championships a golfer could play with as small or as heavy a ball as he wished.

"One eminent firm of golf ball makers, we believe, intend, irrespective of whatever legislation is introduced, to manufacture the best possible ball that their equipment permits, market the ball and leave the public and not the Royal and Ancient to decide.

"How the great number of golfers all over the world will accept a retrograde movement in the production of the common implement in the game it is difficult to calculate. The government of golf might be complicated, indeed as it is known at present that government might be undermined, by an ill-advised decision."

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

This idiotic marathon stunt in golf is still being recorded. A despatch from Wallace, Idaho:—

"Tommy Brand, 16-year-old Wallace High School track star, played 184 holes of golf in 13½ hours here yesterday to establish what was believed to be a record in marathon golf. His score was 741. Brand trotted between each hole and took only a ten-minute rest between each round. The former record of 128 holes was claimed by Clarence Fincher, Fort Worth (Texas) professional."

Mr. Tolley is well known in Canada, where he has played over the courses in Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Quebec.

Extracts from editorial in New York Times:—

"Defeat of the British golfers in this year's competition for the Walker Cup was generally expected, but no expert predicted the annihilation which befell the invaders. For them to have lost all the foursome matches and seven out of the eight singles has seemed so astounding a result that ingenious theories have been advanced to account for it. One of them is that the British players went to the first tee, every man of them suffering from an "inferiority complex." That was what doomed them in advance. They knew that they were beaten before they drove off. So reasoned our young Freudian critics of the links. But they seem to know more about golf than they do about the inferiority complex. A person afflicted by that shows it by a bumptious, blustering and arrogant manner, which is precisely the thing which our British friends did not display.

Lester P. Edge, of Spokane; lawyer, legislator, golfer and drinker of "Canada Dry" Ginger Ale.

"In this land of cooling and delightful drinks it has no superior"

Two holes-in-one in one year! That is Mr. Edge's record. The first took place on Friday, May 13 (how's that for defying superstition) and the second took place on October 31st (how's that for a Hallowe'en present).

Hail to you, Lester P. Edge! May you have as much success in the law business and in politics as you had in golf during 1927.

And may you keep on drinking "Canada Dry." Those two cases we sent you for making two holes-in-one must have gone pretty quick around the club. With its cooling, delightful flavor, its subtle suggestion of ginger, its dryness, its sparkle and its rich bouquet, this fine old ginger ale probably became a favorite with your friends (you must have shared some of it) as it has with countless other golfers throughout the nation.

Mr. Edge wrote to us: "In this land of cooling and delightful drinks, it has no superior." You bet it hasn't. Mellow . . . thirst-quenching . . . with a bouquet like some rare old wine . . . that's "Canada Dry." Containing no capsicum (red pepper) . . . therefore not biting the tongue . . . that's "Canada Dry" too.

Do you, as Mr. Edge has, want to become a member of the Hole-In-One Club? Simply make your hole-in-one. Then have your score card signed by the club secretary and send it to us, describing the shot and telling us where to send the free case of "Canada Dry."

They were fine gentlemen and good sportsmen throughout, a fact which led the American captain, Bobby Jones, to say handsomely that we still have much to learn from the British in the way of taking a beating gracefully. In his blunt English way, the British captain explained what had happened by simply saying: 'The Americans were far too strong for us.'

* * *

Stewart Sheftal, seventeen-year-old American living in Paris, brought the boys' British Open golf championship to the United States last month, when he beat Archibald Dobbie, of Inverness, Scotland, by a wide margin, six up and five to play. Nervousness with the championship at stake caused both boys to relapse considerably from their best form shown in their earlier rounds but Sheftal got away to an early lead and was cool enough in the pinches to hold it. The first two holes were halved, then the American won the third and fourth and became five up at the eighth and six up at the tenth. Although Dobbie played in par figures at the next three holes Sheftal matched shot for shot and was the victor six and five.

All the Open Golf Championships of Great Britain are now held outside of the country with the exception of the Amateur. "The home of gowff" is certainly these days going through the bitter experience that "golf is a 'umbling game."

SIMCOE COUNTY GOLF TOURNAMENT

THE Simcoe County golfers were out in force at the Midland Golf Club on August 15, 16 and 17, these days being the dates on which the county golf championship was played. The weather was ideal for the royal and ancient game and the players took advantage of the fine conditions to show their wares.

Wednesday was taken up with the qualifying round, which was won by Mr. R. F. White, Midland, with a card of 80 which deservedly won for him a gold medal. The contestants were grouped in four flights and on Thursday the real test began. Again the weatherman was benevolent and some good scores were turned in.

The County Championship was won by Mr. W. L. Huggan, Midland, with a score of 80, his opponent in the final game being Mr. W. Dymont, of Barrie, whom he defeated by 4 up and 3 to play. Mr. Dymont turned in a score of 84.

Mr. W. F. Beck, Penetang, won the second flight, the runner-up being Mr. George Ross, Midland.

The third flight went to Dr. W. K. Ross, Penetang, while Mr. G. A. Beck, Penetang, was his nearest rival.

The consolation prize was won by Mr. P. F. Fasken, Midland; Mr. J. W. Benson coming next.

A large number of spectators were present to follow the players and keen interest was displayed in all the games.

The players from Camp Borden were unable to take an actual part in the games, but paid a nice compliment to the participants by manning five airplanes and flying to Midland. On arrival here, the flyers circled over the golf course in perfect formation, while the tournament was in progress, and gave a display of acrobatic flying; then, unable to stay longer, headed their planes for Camp Borden and thundered off into the air.

Mr. James Playfair, who has done so much for golf in Midland and district, was the donor of the prizes, but unfortunately was unable to witness the contest.

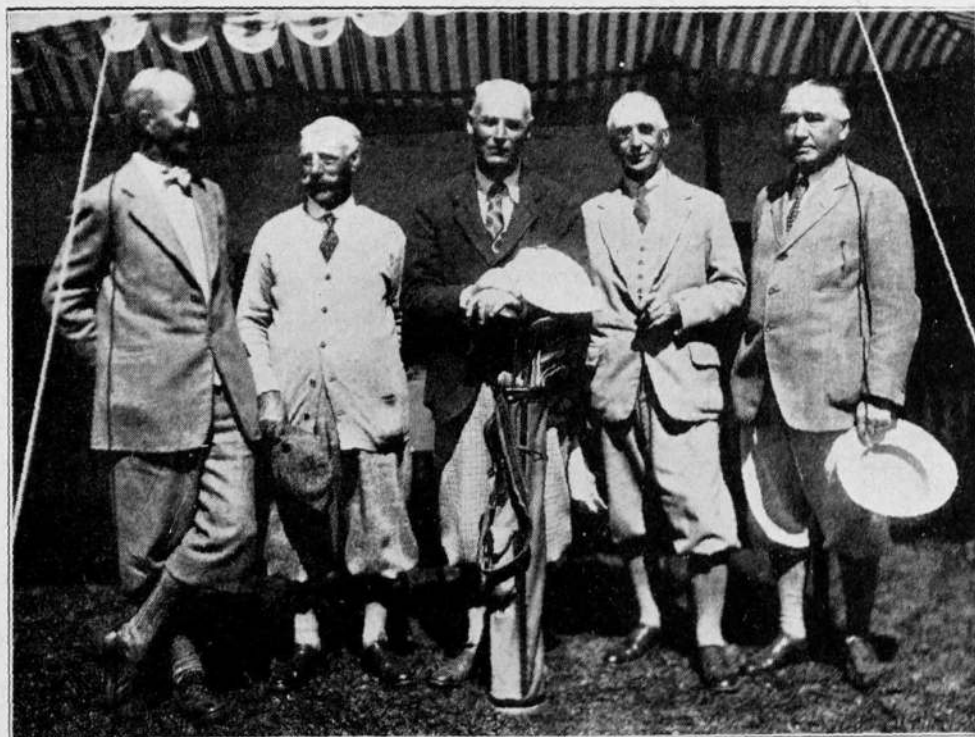

The finalists both played good golf and their plays from the rough were features of the game. The champion made some excellent approaches and seldom failed with his putts on the green.

SENIORS' NORTHWEST GOLF TOURNAMENT

Brings Out Over One Hundred and Seventy Golfers from the Pacific Coast. After Playing in the Final Four Years in Succession, Mr. J. E. Wilson, of Victoria, Wins Grand Championship. Mr. J. A. Sayward, Victoria, President of the Association, Runner-up. Mr. J. W. Morris, Victoria, Wins Qualifying Round. Victoria in Future Always to be Chosen for the Tournament

UNDER superb course and weather conditions, on August 14th, over 170 senior golfers of British Columbia, Oregon and Tacoma teed off in the Sixth Annual Tournament at the Victoria Golf Club of the the comfort of the competitors and the big fields called for expert handling, on the opening day the first pair being sent away at 8 a.m. and it was not until 2.55 p.m. that the last couple started on their 18-hole round.

Seniors' Northwest Golf Association. For the balance of the week the veterans of fifty-five years and upwards had "the time of their young lives", the Tournament being voted the most successful in the history of the Association.

The hospitality of the directors and members of the Victoria Golf Club throughout the whole week was unbounded, whilst the officials in charge of the event left nothing undone for

The following were the results of the various flight events in this outstanding Senior event:

Grand championship—Final: J. E. Wilson defeated J. A. Sayward, 4 and 3.

First flight—Final: Judge H. B. Rigg defeated L. A. Lewis, 3 and 2.

Class "A"—Final: J. R. Waghorn defeated A. C. Flumerfelt, 5 and 4.

Class "B"—Final: F. Nation defeated W. W. Barker, 2 up.

Class "C"—Final: J. H. Bloedel defeated H. H. McDougall at the nineteenth.

Class "D"—Final: R. Musgrave defeated Elmer E. Todd, 3 and 2.

Second flight—Final: C. J. Northrup defeated Percy Criddle, 2 up.

Third flight—Final: L. H. Hardie defeated C. H. McCoy, 3 and 2.

Eighth flight—Final: J. B. Giffen defeated J. O. Cameron, 2 up.

Ninth flight—Final: B. F. Ivy defeated R. J. A. O'Reilly, 2 and 1.

Tenth flight—Final: N. W. Parker defeated George A. Todd, 3 and 2.

Eleventh flight—Final: A. J. Fiske defeated Burt W. Lyon, 2 and 1.

Twelfth flight—Final: Frank E. Hart defeated A. Gonnason, 2 and 1.

Thirteenth flight—Final: E. C. Blanchard defeated A. S. Robertson, 5 and 4.

Fourteenth flight—Final: H. E. Beasley defeated F. F. Johnson, 6 and 3.

When the semi-finals were reached in the Grand Championship it was found for the first time that all the U. S. competitors had been eliminated and that four Victorians were left in the fight for titular honours, viz., Messrs. A. T. Goward, who graduated into the Seniors this year, and has many golfing trophies to his credit, J. A. Sayward, J. E. Wilson and Frank Halstead. Sayward defeated Goward 4 and 3, and Wilson disposed of Halstead by the same margin.

The match between Messrs. Sayward, President of the Association, and Wilson was a very interesting one. It ended, however, on the 15th green, where Mr. Wilson, who was especially driving well, recorded a well earned 4 and 3 victory over his doughty opponent.

This is the first time that the championship has been won by a Victorian. Four previous titles went to members from across the border, while L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, accounted for the other.

The victory of Mr. Wilson was popular, through the fact that he had experienced some bad breaks in previous finals. He had won medalist honours, and had fought valiantly to survive the finals on three previous occasions but had always been denied. Mr. Wilson is a Class C man, while Mr. Sayward belongs to the class five years older.

To a member of the Victoria Club, Mr. J. W. Morris, also goes the honour of winning the Qualifying Round on the opening day. He turned in an excellent 80 which was just one stroke better than the cards returned by J. A. Byerly, of Portland, Judge H. B.

Mr. J. A. Sayward, Victoria (President), Association Championship Runner-up and best gross in "B" Class in the Qualifying Round.

Fourth flight—Final: W. G. Merryweather defeated R. F. Prael, 3 and 2.

Fifth flight—Final: W. L. Bilger defeated E. Cookingham, 2 and 1.

Sixth flight—Final: E. S. Shorrock defeated W. E. Tapley, 3 and 2.

Seventh flight—Final: Dr. Garasche defeated J. M. Lay, 3 and 2.

Rigg, of Yakima, and J. E. Wilson, of Victoria, the subsequent winner of the major Championship. Mr. Morris, paired with Mr. R. W. Gibson, of Victoria, Captain of the International Team, also won the four ball match and the best long drive in "D" Class. Mr. Gibson won the best long drive in "A" Class.

The best gross score in Class "A" was won by R. W. Gibson, who toured the layout in 85. Honours in Class "B" went to the veteran J. A. Sayward, of Colwood, who had an 82. J. E. Wilson, Victoria, twice runner-up for the Association Champion, was the best in Class "C", with a sparkling 81.

A. C. Flumerfelt, of Victoria, won the best net prize in Class "A", with 90, 19, 71. W. W. Hogg, Vancouver, took the best net prize in Class "B", with 87, 20, 67. J. H. Bloedell, Seattle, took honours in Class "C", with 87, 22, 65. R. W. Wilbur, Portland, had the best net in Class "D", with 95, 19, 66.

Dr. O. J. Best, Seattle, won the putting contest, having 35 for 18 holes.

J. H. Bloedell, Seattle, and J. W. Morris, Victoria, were tied for the best net of the day, each having 65.

The International Match

On the last day of the Tournament the International match was played and this created great excitement as Canada was one point ahead with one pair to come in. However, Mr. A. W. Tidmarsh, of Seattle, earned "undying glory" when he defeated Mr. W. A. Ward, of Vancouver, and the encounter ended "all square", each team having  $7\frac{1}{2}$  points to its credit. The scores:—

Dr. O. J. West 1, L. H. Hardie 0.
 Judge H. B. Rigg 1, J. E. Wilson 0.
 J. A. Byerley 1, J. A. Sayward 0.
 J. Sobey 1, A. T. Goward 0.

 H. G. Griggs 1, W. E. Hodges 0.
 W. C. Butler 0, F. R. Stewart 1.
 Capt. W. E. Langley 1, J. R. Wagborn 0.
 J. R. Stirrat 0, R. W. Gibson 1.

E. G. Todd 0, R. Musgrave 1.
 J. B. Kerr 0, C. C. Worsfold 1.

 Totals, United States  $7\frac{1}{2}$ , Canada  $7\frac{1}{2}$ .

Judge P. S. Lampman, Victoria, B.C., Chairman of the Tournament Committee and President-elect of the Association.

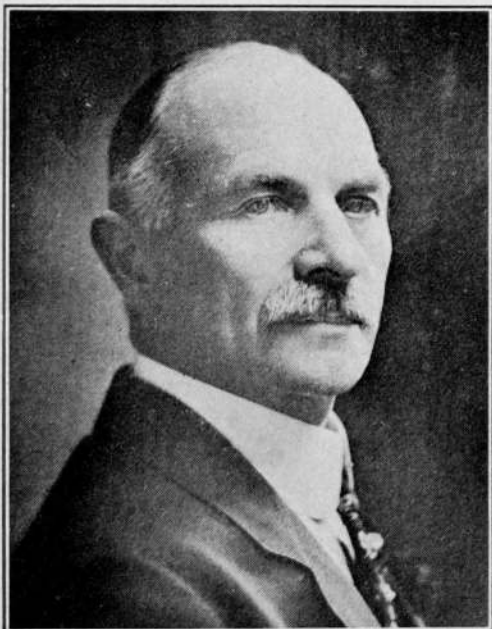

The U. S. Seniors have won the match four times, whilst there has been two ties.

In the All-American-All-Canada four ball match, the Canadian representatives, scored an overwhelming victory, defeating the Stars and Stripes' team by seven points to two.

Annual Dinner a Great Success

A glorious week of golf and good fellowship and a week of golden weather ended up with a dinner at the Union Club, Victoria, which was presided over by Mr. Sayward (who also presented the prizes won during the Tournament) and which went "with a swing and follow through" that left nothing to be desired.

Captain J. V. Perks, Secretary-Treasurer of the Association.

The speech-making was limited in order that the fun and fellowship might be enjoyed to the full. There was only one toast which called for lengthy speeches and that was to "Our Seniors' Association." J. A. Kerr, of Portland, proposed the toast and W. M. McNeill, of Vancouver, responded.

After a fine address by Mr. Kerr in which he touched upon the international amity and fellowship between Canada and the United States he concluded: "It is not too much to expect that this association may, possibly, probably, win the peace of the world, rather than its battles."

After speaking in a humorous vein for some time, Mr. McNeill remarked that "the association by itself, through itself and in itself can do more than any other force to aid in preserving the peace of the world. Nations should not war against each other, but should take themselves to the Oak Bay golf links and settle their differences on an equality of scoring."

The prize for runner-up in the grand championship won by Mr. Sayward, was presented by Judge Lampman, vice-president.

C. C. Worsfold, of New Westminster, was surprised when called to the front. He was presented with a flask for making a hole-in-one, the first made in a Seniors' tournament.

The untiring efforts of Captain J. V. Perks, the secretary of the association, came in for much praise from the various speakers. Captain Perks has been the indefatigable secretary of the association since its inception.

Annual Meeting

At the Annual Meeting of the Association held during Tournament week it was decided that Victoria shall in future always see the staging of the Tournament. An invitation for the 1929 event had been put in by Vancouver but the U. S. members were unanimous in voting that Victoria should be the permanent place for the Tournaments and the Vancouver delegates subsequently endorsed the resolution to this effect. The Tournaments will be held alternately at the Victoria Golf Club and the Colwood Golf Club, Victoria's two outstanding clubs.

Another important decision reached at the meeting was the limiting of the handicap for all future tournaments to twenty-four. This will prevent the tournament from getting too large and making it necessary to use two courses. Each succeeding championship attracts a larger number of entries and some step had to be taken to prevent them from getting unwieldy.

Judge P. S. Lampton, of Victoria, was elected president of the Association to succeed J. A. Sayward. W. McMaster, of Portland, was elected first vice-president, and H. S. Griggs, of Tacoma, second vice-president.

The governors for three years will be: J. Collins, Seattle; J. T. Lyon and A. F. Albertson, Tacoma; C. F. Adams, Portland, and C. H. Jones, Spokane.

W. C. Butler, of Bellingham, was elected to serve out the term of governor of the late E. A. Strout, of Seattle.

PRINCE HAS CHAT WITH TUNNEY INSTEAD OF PLAYING GOLF

A CABLE from London, August 31st:

"The Prince of Wales had a fifteen-minute chat with Gene Tunney at St. James' Palace to-day, the meeting between the two being purely informal.

"The prince heard that the retired champion was staying in London and made the suggestion that Tunney drop in for a few minutes' talk.

Tunney would not talk about the interview with the Prince, but his happy manner as he emerged from the room where they chatted indicated that he had enjoyed the experience hugely.

"The Prince paid his guest an unusual honour when he himself escorted Tunney to the door and, in ushering him out, stepped back and insisted that the retired champion precede him through the exit.

"It was learned that the Prince was very much his natural self throughout the talk. He displayed an expert knowledge of boxing and other sports and gave evidence that he had followed the ex-marine's career in the ring with considerable attention.

"The Prince mentioned offhand the name and home of Tunney's fiancee and expressed his best wishes for the happiness of the couple.

"Sir Godfrey Thomas, secretary to the Prince, arranged the interview.

"It was stated that to-day's conversation was substituted for the projected golf match between the Prince and the retired champion. The game had to be abandoned because only a few days remained before the Prince starts on a trip to Africa."

WHOLESALE GOLF TOURNAMENT, MANITOBA

WEATHER conditions were ideal for the Tenth Annual Wholesalers' Golf Tournament played over the Winnipeg Club Golf Course on Wednesday afternoons, August 15th and 22nd.

This yearly competition is now attracting quite a deal of attention in Manitoba golf circles and is open only to those connected with the wholesale trade in that Province. Various Cups and prizes donated by local wholesale interests are competed for each year upon the basis of gross aggregate medal play for 36 holes.

The first afternoon's play was taken as the qualifying round and from the cards turned in the 84 entrants were divided into six flights which were played off during the second afternoon of the tournament. The winner and runner-up of each flight was presented with valuable prizes and in addition each of the six flight winners are entitled to hold a silver cup for one year.

Mr. R. O. Y. Leighton, of the Leighton Sale & Purchase Co. Ltd., proved the winner of the Wholesale Golf Championship Cup with a total of 170, closely followed by a 173 turned in by Jos. A. Acheson, of the Dominion Linseed Oil Co. Ltd.

The Ferguson Cup was won by S. W. Morris, manufacturers agent, who turned in the best score in the second flight, the next position being carried by A. Brock, of the Hudson's Bay Company, and S. Dobbin, of Dunwoody, Nicholl & Co., while the third flight trophy, the Martin Cup, was awarded to J. S.

Moysey, manufacturers agent, with Henry Detchon, of The Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited, runner-up.

The Arnold and McGuekin Cup in the fourth flight was not awarded until R. H. Fisher, of the Consolidated Medicine Co. Ltd., and O. B. Smith, of Marshall, Wells Co. Ltd., had played a further deciding game, their scores in the tournament being identical. Mr. Smith ultimately became the possessor of this cup and Mr. Fisher was obliged to take the position of runner-up.

Mr. J. Cox, of the Winnipeg Storage Limited, by his superior play in the fifth flight, is entitled to hold the Campbell-Nicholson Cup and C. S. Frost, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, annexed the second prize. The result of the last flight gave Mr. Thos. Watson, of the Cockshutt Plow Co. Ltd., the custody of the W. S. Newton Trophy for one year, and T. Barton, of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited, gained second place.

Prizes were also given for the lowest gross foursomes turned in in each flight and the highest gross foursomes turned in during the competition, as well as for lowest gross and highest gross in hidden holes competitions, lowest gross and the highest gross scores made during both the qualifying and the final round.

A special feature of the tournament was the awarding of the Detchon Cup which is emblematical of the Credit Men's Championship. This was won for the second year in succession by R. M. Balmer, of G. F. Stephens & Co. Ltd., with a score of 175, Mr. D. P. Sullivan, of Marshall, Wells Co. Ltd., second, 179. The conditions under which this Cup is held include subject to challenge by other Credit men, and two challenges have already been registered, one by the runner-up, Mr. Sullivan, and the other by W. J. Telford, of Robinson, Little & Co. Ltd. The winner of this championship each year is presented with a replica of the cup and the second best golfer amongst the Credit Men receives a prize donated by Mr. Detchon.

The dinner in the clubhouse at which various prizes are presented at the conclusion of each day's play, add, in no small measure, to the success of the tournament for business friendships under the best of conditions are renewed and new ones made, and these pleasant functions where one can forget the questions of discount, sales policies and the collection of outstandings, are eagerly looked forward to.

"JACK" CAMERON WINS THREE EVENTS

Annexes by Fine Golf the St. Andrews, N.B., Championship, the Royal Ottawa Invitation Tournament and the Quebec Open Championship

GOLF this season as usual has been very popular at the Algonquin Hotel course at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B. All the various events throughout the season were keenly competed for.

The principal event in the Men's Championship was for the beautiful cup presented by the late Lord Shaughnessy for annual competition.

Last year it was won by that sterling New York golfer, Gardner White. Owing to the illness of his wife he was unable to defend his title last month. However there was a very representative field, including Edward Knapp, of New York; Alex Wilson and Gratz Josephs, of Montreal, and Jack Cameron, of Toronto and Ottawa, who has this season been playing the best golf of his career.

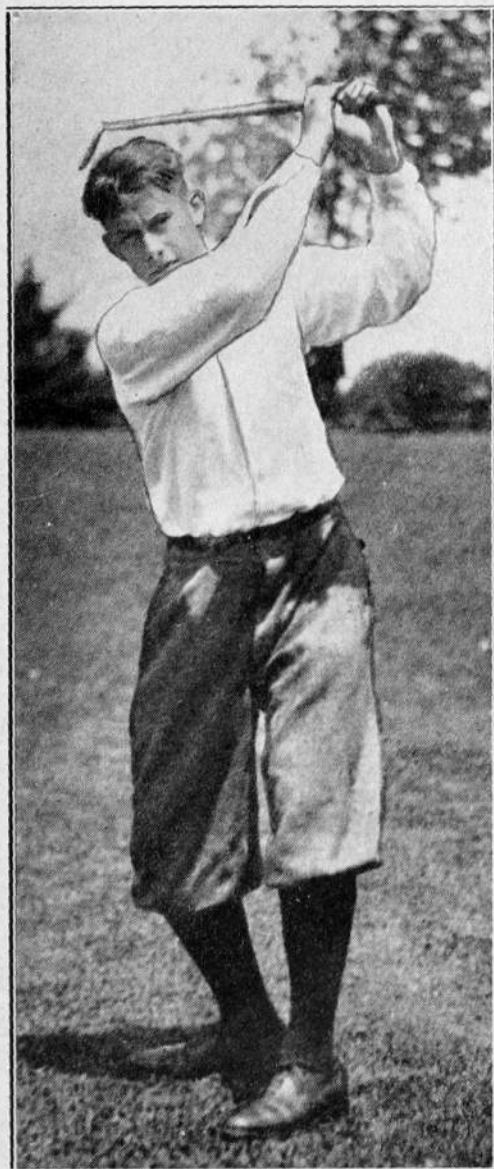

All these four well known players reached the semi-finals, Josephs defeating Wilson 2 and 1, and Cameron winning from Knapp. This latter match was a battle royal. Cameron was 1 down and 1 to go but eventually won out on the 19th. In the final the former brilliant Olympia star defeated Josephs 6 and 5. The medal scores for the 36 holes were Cameron 149 and Josephs 155—good going on a stiff course like St. Andrews.

Cameron Repeats at the Royal Ottawa

The Invitation Tournament staged by the Royal Ottawa Golf Club the end of August resulted in some brilliant golf and a dogged struggle between "Jack" Cameron, of the Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa, and Carroll Stuart.

Both fresh from playing splendid golf at the Canadian Amateur at Summerlea, Montreal, and Cameron from winning the St. Andrews Tournament, they dominated the large field.

Stuart played par golf in his morning round to come home with a sparkling 73, which gave promise of developing an even more spectacular game in the afternoon. Cameron playing below his best form registered a 77 to finish within challenging distance of his most serious rival.

"Jack" Cameron, former Olympia star (medalist and runner-up in Ontario Championship), who last month won the Championship of St. Andrews, N.B., the Royal Ottawa Invitation Tournament and Quebec Open by dogged and determined golf in both events.

In the afternoon Cameron maintained his same steady gait and carded another 77, but Stuart tore his game to shreds on the thirteenth hole after being out in 38. He had just compiled two threes on the eleventh and twelfth and was well on his way home, and playing with assurance when his game broke. He compiled a seven on the thirteenth, and dubbed his drive on the fourteenth. He scrambled a six together here, and made a mighty effort to pull himself together and keep in the fight.

Compiling a four on the fifteenth he reasserted his usual form to collect another four, but on the seventeenth disaster stalked on him again and his ball trapped in the bunker, subjected him to a six and it was a stern fight on the home hole. He was putting for a four which he just missed by a matter of inches to square Cameron with 73-81—154.

On the play-off next day neither player was at his best, the brilliant young Carroll throwing away his chances at the 15th where he carded an ugly 8. Eventually at the 18th by sinking a 15-foot putt Cameron emerged the victor. The scores, Cameron 80, Carroll 81. The winner was given an enthusiastic reception and deservedly so, too. That long and fateful putt was negotiated with superb sangfroid and skill.

In third place in the Tournament was another Hunt Club member with a total of 156 made up of an 81 and 75. C. K. "Watty" Watson, of the Royal Ottawa, won the best net score with 137. He had an 85 and 84 with a handicap of 16.

There was a triple tie for the best afternoon net between J. E. Caldwell, of the McKellar Golf Club, the well known Canadian Senior golfer, E. Code, of Perth, and R. C. Macpherson, of Royal Ottawa. They played one hole off

Wins Quebec Open Championship

"Jack" Cameron, erstwhile Olympic star, is certainly "going great guns" this season, in fact it is a regular "Cameronian year". Not content with runner-up honours in the Ontario Amateur and being on the winning Ontario Inter-Provincial team, he recently, as noted above, won the St. Andrews, N.B., championship and the Ottawa Invitation Tournament. To this brilliant record he has now added the Open Championship of Quebec, leading a strong field of amateurs and professionals of both Ontario and Quebec by two strokes. Incidentally, this is the first time an amateur has won the Quebec Open, another feather in Cameron's cap, who came from behind in the afternoon with a sparkling card of 71 to win the Championship with a total for the 36 holes of 148. Ross Somerville and Cameron, in the absence of Don Carrick, 1927 Amateur Champion, are unquestionably to-day the outstanding Canadian amateurs. They are both of the dogged and determined type—qualifications acquired during their scholastic careers in which they both shone in various lines of sports. It looks as though in the future in Canada, as in Great Britain and the States, the young collegians are destined to dominate amateur golf.

The Championship was staged on the Kanawaki course, admittedly one of the best tests of golf in the Montreal district. The following were the scores of 165 or better:

Mr. J. A. Cameron, Rivermead, Ottawa.....	77	71	148
R. Mackenzie, Marlborough .....	78	72	150

One hundred dollars was the first prize and the winner as an amateur could have taken plate to this value. He very generously, however, waived this privilege as also did Mr. McLuckie, former Canadian Amateur Champion, who was in fourth place.

As a result of the graceful action of the two leading amateurs, Redvers Mackenzie, Marlborough, and A. F. McPherson, Islesmere, popular Montreal professionals, played off for second place in the field and the first place prize money. They finished in second place behind Cameron with 150's, McPherson just managing to tie Mackenzie's score on the 36th with a fairly long putt in which the ball hung dramatically at the lip and then toppled into the cup. In the sudden-death play-off, Mackenzie won on the second hole with a four, McPherson hitting a poor second and missing a gallant attempt to hole a 25-footer for a half in fours.

In the morning round Willie Lamb, assistant pro of the Toronto Golf Club and Canadian Professional Champion, and Arthur Hurlburt, of Thornhill, Toronto, led the field but both spoiled their chances in the afternoon, carding respectively a 77 and 80, Lamb losing his ball at the 13th. He won 3rd money. Dave Spittal, of Uplands, Toronto, 4th; Karl Keffer, Royal Ottawa (last year's champion), 5th, whilst Hurlburt and Wakelam, of Brockville, divided the 6th award.

ROSEMOUNT TEAM AGAIN WINS QUEBEC JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

FOR the third year in succession the Quebec Junior Championship, which is decided by medal play, four players on a team, has been won by the junior representatives of the Rosemount Club, Montreal—certainly a fine record. Rosemount in the years to come should produce a champion golfer or so.

Forty players participated in this interesting event, which was played over the Summerlea course, where the Amateur Championship was held last month. The scores of the four leading teams:

Rosemount.			Marlborough.
J. McCubbin .....	41	40	81	H. R. Pickens, Jr. ....	39	45	84

It will be noticed that the leader of the winning team, J. McCubbin, had an 81, which is a particularly fine performance on a testing course like Summerlea.

Ten teams entered the event, Whitlock and Knowlton were represented by two each, while Summerlea, Marlborough, Rosemount, Laval, Forest Hills and Beaconsfield each entered one.

The Birks Trophy, emblematic of the championship was presented to the Rosemount four at the conclusion of play and individual prizes were also presented to the Rosemount team, Whitlock number one, the runner-up, and Marlborough, who took third place.

"OUR HOLE-IN-ONE-CLUB"

Over Two Hundred Members Will be Enrolled Before the End of the Season Judging from the Performances Recorded up to and Including September 10th.

BEFORE the snow flies there are going to be over two hundred members enrolled this season in the "Canadian Golfer's Hole-in-One Club", which constitutes a record for any year. Incidentally the sooner the snow flies the better for the financial obligations of "this Great Family Golfing Journal". Literally never a day passes now but the stunt is registered in some part or other of the Dominion. The latest culprits:—

While playing over the Midland Golf Course Mr. R. H. Grant had the pleasant experience of qualifying for membership in the Hole-in-One Club. His partner was Mr. F. W. Grant, who witnessed the unusual stroke, which was made at No. 8 hole. The former is a nephew of Mr. F. W. Grant, and is in Midland, accompanied by his wife, from California, on a vacation.

This is the second occasion on which a hole has been made in a single stroke on the Midland course this year.

Mr. Wm. Prest, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Wetaskiwin, Alberta, whilst playing Mr. Wiseman "got his" on the 5th hole of the Wetaskiwin course—a tidy little poke of 203 yards.

Another banker, Mr. George L. Ziegler, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Parry Sound, Ontario, does not believe in doing things by halves. Twice in three weeks he recorded a "oneer" on the Parry Sound course, which is certainly a remarkable performance.

Playing with Mr. Murray Gossage, T. K. Creighton, one of the prominent members of the Oshawa Golf Club, which boasts one of the best 18-hole courses in Ontario, found "the tin from the tee" on the tricky "Horseshoe" hole No. 9, 120 yards.

Comes Calgary. Mr. G. H. Connolly, playing the Earl Grey course in that famous golfing city made a one at the 9th hole, 151 yards.

Writes Mr. A. S. Smith, Secretary of the Marine Drive Golf and Country Club, Vancouver:—

"This apparently is an open season for making a hole-in-one, and the army already occupying the charmed circle is increasing in strength rapidly. At Marine Drive Golf and Country Club on the 14th instant the fourteenth hole was made in one by Roy Davis, and the following day Mr. Chris Nelson speared an ace at the fourth water hole. The 'water hole' celebrations were exceedingly wet." (Ed. Note. Sorry we weren't there. They would have been still "wetter.")

The first hole-in-one on the new Roseland course, Windsor, Ontario, was made by one of its most promising golfers, viz., Harold Williamson, while playing a threesome in company with Sandy McGaw and Tom Ridley. It was played on the 16th hole, a difficult par 3, 176 yards, well trapped where a perfect shot must be played.

Flying Officer A. F. Ingram, R.C.A.F., the secretary of the Camp Borden Golf Club, and a member of the Barrie Golf Club, Harold Williamson, the first to score a "one-shot" on the new course at the Roseland Golf Club, Windsor, Ontario.

whilst playing over the latter course put over a particularly "fly" tee-shot at the 4th hole, 175 yards and found the cup. Good work.

Mr. W. E. Winterton, of Saskatoon, had the thrill that comes once in a lifetime when he bagged an ace at the 7th hole of the Riverside Country Club, Saskatoon, a 127 yarder.

Bankers are very much in the picture this month. Mr. W. Robinson, main office of the Bank of Montreal, Winnipeg, playing in the semi-finals of the Bank of Montreal Manitoba Provincial Tournament at the Niakwa Golf Club, made the coveted "hole-in-one" at the 125 yard 9th. In all fairness he will have to "blue-pencil" our cheque when next in Winnipeg.

A double-header from Stratford, Ontario. The 7th hole on the course "where the silvery Avon flows" is 120 yards. Both Mrs. A. C. Lord, who resides in St. Marys, and Mr. W. D. Martin last month decided to earn fame by each negotiating it in one shot.

Then the Vancouver Golf and Country Club. Our old friend No. 3 hole, the "Punch Bowl", 120 yards, is again in the spotlight. Mrs. E. Hayward Hawkins, playing with Mesdames W. E. Herger and O. A. Olson, secured an "eagle" here and so also did Mr. J. G. McNab, playing with Mr. A. S. Matthew. That "Punch Bowl" has cost us a lot of money the past ten years. It ought to be handicapped.

Mr. Wm. Hastie, assistant treasurer of the Canada Life Assurance Company, Toronto, and a member of the Toronto Golf Club, while playing over the course of the St. Charles Country Club, with two of the members of this prominent Western club, Messrs. A. K. Harvie and A. L. Brown, made the 6th hole, 179 yards, in one stroke.

We welcome a fair Fredericton golfer, Miss Maggie Jean Chestnut, playing with Mr. C. H. Blair over the Fredericton course, put over a beautiful tee-shot at the 4th hole, 145 yards and beat "Old Man Par" by two strokes.

Playing in a Caddie Tournament at the Marine Drive Golf and Country Club, John McIntosh, playing with Eric Ould, found "the tin from the tee" at the 14th, 90 yards.

The golf club at Shawinigan Falls, Que., is again in evidence this month. Mr. H. S. Reid, vice-president of Shawinigan Chemicals Ltd., turned the trick at the last hole, 93 yards. Mr. J. A. Wilson, Hon. Secretary of the Club, writes:

"This is the third time only in the records of the club that a hole-in-one has been obtained on the course, but as two of them have been made within fifteen days this season all the club members are on their toes attempting to join your company of holes-in-one. An interesting point in connection with this performance is that until Mr. Reid holed out last Sunday his rival in all sporting matters—motoring, golfing and fishing—had always the edge on him by having to his credit a hole-in-one. This was Mr. R. A. Witherspoon, vice-president and general manager of Shawinigan Chemicals. Now they can call quits and club members are looking forward to further exploits on the part of one or the other."

Saskatoon once again. Mr. O. S. Wakeford, of the Hudson Bay Company, on the 3rd hole, "Vimy Ridge", 115 yards, mashed to the green and found the cup in one.

Mr. W. Basil Watson, of Woodstock, N.B., chose the 8th hole on his home course, 135 yards, to register the stunt. So did Mr. C. E. Stewart, another member of the Woodstock Club. Always glad to welcome New Brunswickers to membership in "Our Club."

Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, is again in the picture. Mr. McCurdy, of Toronto, at the 13th hole on this popular summer course, registered the notable performance. He was playing with Messrs. Gordon T. Finch, Herbert Loftt, and J. Adam Gibson.

And here is another remarkable dual performance. Mr. G. Morris Pentz, vice-president of the Title & Mortgage Co. of Buffalo, like so many other prominent presidents of the Bison City is a member of the Erie Downs Golf and Country Club, Bridgeburg, Ontario. Last May he made a hole-in-one on this course and duplicated it again last month when he made "a perfect shot" at the 137-yard 6th hole. Mr. Pentz, who used a spade mashie to turn the trick, was playing in a friendly foursome with John P. Conway, chairman of the golf committee at the Downs; F. H. Forster and H. E. Rieckelman, all club members.

Mr. Parker, Hon. Secretary of the Kamloops Golf Club, writes:

"I have to record another member for select and exclusive coterie of golfers, members of your "Hole-in-One Club." Mr. D. Dagleish, of this club, successfully negotiated "Old Faithful", our ninth hole, in a friendly game with Mr. T. Clark, also of this club, who made history early this season by holing out his tee shot on two different occasions, the first on our second hole and the second being at "Old Faithful," a favourite hole on our course for one shot-ers." (We had a picture in the August issue of "Old Faithful, Ever Sure". Some hole.—Editor.)

The Thistledown Golf Club was placed on the golfing map last month when Mr. J. A. V. Fraser made a "hole-in-one" on that well known Toronto course.

Playing with Mr. B. M. Steacy on the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, Mr. Robert H. Davidson, banged the tin for a "oneer" on the 135 yard 9th hole.

Mr. B. C. Donnan, County Crown Attorney of the County of Hastings, chose the 8th hole on the Belleville Golf Club, a nice little swat of 210 yards, to register the feat.

Mr. Heward Jones is the captain of the York Downs Golf Club, Toronto, "and a right good captain, too". Recently he negotiated a "one-shot" on his home course.

Miss Grace L. Saunders is another fair golfer to be awarded honours. She performed the 20,000 to 1 shot whilst playing on the Lakeview House Golf Course, Jackson's Point, Ontario.

The Langara Golf Links, Vancouver, is a monthly sinner. R. H. Jay on the 210 yard 16th registered the feat.

Another U. S. golfer and another well known Canadian summer-resort course. Mr. J. A. Logan, of Chicago, was a guest this season at the celebrated C. P. R. Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B. He qualified for our club by making the 7th hole on the golf course there, 125 yards, in one.

At Chester, N.S., there is a perfect little gem of a course where many prominent Canadians and visitors from the States foregather. Mr. F. L. Fowke, of Oshawa, Ont., chose the fourth hole there, 158 yards, to register the feat.

It gives the Editor particular pleasure to welcome to our "Hole-in-One Club" Mr. R. W. Johnson, a "chartered" member of the St. Thomas Golf and Country Club, a charter subscriber of the "Canadian Golfer" and one of the best players in St. Thomas, having won the Club Championship in 1918 and 1922, the President's Cup in 1913, 1918, 1922 and 1923, and "still going strong."

In company with R. M. Anderson, Don Anderson and H. T. Gough the feat was accomplished by Mr. Johnson on the short eleventh hole, which is ninety yards, over a very deep ravine to a steep hanging green surrounded by woods. The slope of the green keeps the ball away from the hole and fours and fives are far more common than twos, the hole being one of the sportiest of the eighteen on the St. Thomas course.

Mr. B. M. Greene, Editor-in-chief of the International Press Ltd., Toronto, a member of the York Downs Golf Club, whilst playing with George Boeckh, who the day before had won the coveted Willie Park Trophy at Weston, and Mr. John C. Boeckh, negotiated the 8th hole at York Downs in one.

Major W. J. Baxter, manager of the Toronto branch of the well known advertising firm of McConnell & Ferguson Ltd., Toronto, whilst playing over the sporting course of the St. Thomas Golf Club, put a beauty over the big ravine at the 11th hole and found "the cup which cheers in one" the heart of every golfer.

Mr. R. W. Johnson, chartered accountant, St. Thomas, Ont., a welcome member to our "Hole-in-One Club."

The 7th hole at the Levis Golf Club, Que., is 166 yards and a pitch shot over an old military embankment 10 feet high in front of the green. Mr. H. E. Weyman, of the Levis Club, negotiated this tricky hole in one whilst playing with Mr. C. C. Breakley.

Mr. P. J. Thompson, Inspector of Public Schools, London, Ont., whilst playing over the Thames Valley course in that city with Mr. Campbell recorded a "one-shotter" at the 114 yard twelfth hole.

Mr. P. Clarke, of Kerrobert, Sask., gave himself and the community the thrill of a lifetime when he made a hole in one at the annual Labor Day golf tournament. The drive had the added glamor of having ended its flight at the home green in the presence of a large crowd which applauded heartily. Another striking feature is that the drive was an exceptionally long one, the ball travelling true and straight into the cup a distance of 230 yards.

A member of the Nanaimo Golf Club, B.C., Mr. F. C. Grant, manager of the Bank of Commerce in that town, is next in the picture. Playing on the Qualicum Beach, B.C., course with Messrs. Thomas Graham, B. P. Alley and T. Cunningham, he bagged a "oneer" at the 16th hole.

Nordegg, Alberta, records the feat this month. Dr. F. A. McEwan, a prominent member of the local club, had the pleasant experience of making the 6th hole, 147 yards, in one, the second time in the club's history that the stunt has been recorded.

Mr. F. Harold Heath, of Hamilton, whilst visiting the popular Maitland course at Goderich, Ont., took occasion to join the elect. Playing with Mr. Leon E. McFern, of Detroit, a mashie turned the trick for him at the 7th hole, 100 yards.

Miss Audrey White, of the Summit Golf and Country Club, Toronto, whilst playing with Mesdames E. G. McMillan, W. D. Hendry and W. D. Robertson, sunk her tee shot at the "Pulpit", the 120 yard 17th hole at Summit. Congratulations.

Total holes this season in Canada up to and including September 10th, 1922.

TO HAVE NEW $50,000 CLUB HOUSE

"LOOKOUT Point" Golf Club, Welland, Ontario, which has one of the finest 18-hole courses in Ontario, has this month started on the construction of a $50,000 new club house. "Lookout" was laid out by the late Walter J. Travis, his only course in Canada, and he arranged that the commanding site which the new club house will occupy overlooking the lake, will fit in with his routing scheme of 18 holes, namely, the first nine and the second nine ending at the club house.

"Lookout" has been particularly popular this season, especially with golfers from Buffalo and contiguous points. Green fees have been averaging $1,000 per month and over. When the new club house is completed next year this club deserves to be considered as the venue for a major Canadian Championship.

A "GOLFING MATCH" OF GREAT INTEREST

A QUIET but pretty wedding took place at the Shriner's Hospital, Montreal, at four o'clock Wednesday, July 18th, 1928, when Miss Flora MacBeath Adams, R.N., eldest daughter of the late Gordon Cameron and Mrs. Adams, of Campbellton, N.B., was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Henry Murray, professional of Beaconsfield Golf Club, and twice Open Champion of Canada.

The bride was charmingly gowned in beige georgette embroidered in gold with hat, shoes and stockings to match, wore a red fox fur and carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Isobel MacBeath, of Campbellton, as bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. W. E. Bell, of Beaconsfield.

The wedding march was played by Miss Bush, R.N., of Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Miles McCutcheon, of First Baptist Church, after which a dainty lunch was served by the nurses of the hospital. The bride and groom left amid showers of rice, confetti and good wishes on a motor trip to Niagara, Buffalo and Toronto. The gifts, which were many, included several substantial cheques, cut glass, silver and furniture.

Mrs. Murray is a graduate of Soldiers Memorial Hospital, Campbellton, N.B., and for the past two years a valued member of the nursing staff at the Shriner's Hospital. The groom is well known in golfdom and both have our very best and sincerest wishes for many years of wedded happiness.

Interesting News of the Men Who Do So Much for the Royal and Ancient Game, from Coast to Coast

WONDERFUL golf was played by Henry Cotton, of Langley Park, one of England's most promising young professionals, during a four-ball match on his home course. He partnered Mr. J. B. S. Moberley, a scratch player at the home club, against Mr. W. L. Hartley and W. T. Twine, the Bromley and Bickley professional, and holed out the course in 62 strokes. The competition record for the course, which measures over 6,000 yards, is 64, which Frank Ball established in 1925, and these figures will stand in view of the fact that Cotton played in a match. Cotton's best golf was played during the second nine holes, for which he required only 30 shots. At the 10th and 11th—bogey five holes—he got 3's and completed the round with a 2. His card read: Out, 44434423—32; in, 333444342—30—62.

E. R. Whitcombe, when he secured the Irish Open title, used a "Super Harlequin" ball, as did his brother, C. A., when he carried off the Leeds 1,000 Guineas Tournament. E. R.'s first round at Newcastle, County Down, in the Irish event, set up a new record for the course. The Harlequin balls are very popular in Canada this season. The Harold A. Wilson Co. Ltd., 279-299 Yonge Street, Toronto, are the Canadian distributors.

Arthur Neve, the popular professional at Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, while playing a round with Mr. R. C. McIntyre, of Buffalo, hung up a new course record for Bigwin with a card of 65. He was out in 33 and home in 32—exceptionally fine golf that. This score lowered the former record of the course by no fewer than four strokes.

July, which has provided the most glorious golfing weather experienced in England in many years, saw the running-off of a Tournament at Verulam of the 24 leading British professionals for handsome prizes donated by Mr. Samuel Rhyder, a generous patron of the game. With a total of 287 strokes, W. H. Davies, who is 36 years of age and a pupil of the Hoylake School, who previously has never figured very prominently, tied with Abe Mitchell. Tied for 3rd place were George Gadd and Tom Williamson, four strokes back of the leaders. George Duncan, who, like Mitchell, had two 69's, but supplemented this fine performance with two 77's, was in 5th place, and Harry Cotton, two strokes more, was 6th. Owing to the baked course tremendous distances were recorded by the leaders. At the Lake Hole, which is 571 yards, Abe Mitchell followed up a mighty drive with a brassie shot which carried over the green. In his two shots he registered 600 yards, which surely must be a record.

A great pair of Champions. Right, George Duncan, who last month won the Isle of Man Championship with a glittering 278, and on left, "Jimmy" Rimmer, Jasper Park, who also distinguished himself last month by annexing the Saskatchewan Professional Championship with 288. Photo taken at Toronto Golf Club last year during the Ryder Cup Team matches.

Country Club, Grand Rapids, by one stroke with a 68 in the morning round. Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, National Open Champion, were defeated in a thirty-six-hole best-ball match with Al Watrous and Maurice Wells, of Grand Rapids, 2 and 1. Farrell was off form in the afternoon and took an 80 after the visiting team led, 2 up, at the close of the morning session.

Watrous, ex-Open Canadian Champion, tied his own course record of 69.

Playing superb golf George Duncan won the Isle of Man Open Championship with the fine score of 278. The last 18 holes were played under the most atrocious weather conditions, a Scotch mist reducing the visibility to fifty yards. Notwithstanding this the glittering George turned in a 68 which enabled him to win from Fred Taggart, an assistant pro, by four strokes. Taggart at the end of the second round was leading Duncan by seven strokes.

Walter Hagen is in the limelight again, but in altogether a different role. A despatch from Menominee, Mich.:—

"Walter Hagen, famous for his long drives with a golf club, drove 300 miles out of bounds with his automobile yesterday. After driving 125 miles to this city from Oshkosh, he found he was seeking not Menominee, Mich., but Menomonie, Wis., which is about 300 miles distant, almost on the Mississippi River. Unable to make the journey there in time, he telephoned his apologies to the large gallery that had gathered there and left for Madison, Wis., where he was to play to-day."

Willie Gunn, the professional of the Dunnville Golf and Country Club, Ontario, reports a particularly successful season. The pretty 9-hole course in that very progressive town has had many visitors, outside of the members of the club. Incidentally, Gunn, who is a particularly good judge of courses, both in the Old Country and Canada, tells the "Canadian Golfer" that he considers the greens at the "Lookout Point" Golf Club, Welland, Ontario, the finest he has ever seen in this country. And that is praise indeed.

Seeking fresh fields to conquer, Walter Hagen is sailing from San Francisco October 20th and will not return to the United States until next June. The British Open Champion also plans to add South Africa to his trip, leaving Asia and South America as the only continents in which he has not played. He expects to spend a month in Australia and after his invasion of South Africa, will proceed to the French Riviera and later play with the American Ryder Cup team, of which he is captain, at Muirfield, Scotland, May 7th. There is little doubt, too, but he will also take part in the British Open Championship. This is the first time that a great golfer has ever visited the Antipodes or South Africa, and "the Haig" will pick up many more dollars galore. His tour is being awaited with great interest by golfers "down under" and he is assured of record galleries. Vardon, Ray, Duncan, Mitchell and other British stars who have frequently toured the States and Canada, have never visited Australia or South Africa.

Joe Kirkwood, the celebrated golfer, "trick and otherwise", was a visitor to the Border Cities a few days ago and paired up with W. Fox, pro at the St. Clair Club, played young Robert Manning and Wilfred Reid. The match, which was followed by a large gallery, was won by the latter pair one up. The scores: Kirkwood 69 (3 under par), Manning 71 (1 under par), Reid 74, Fox 76. The play of Manning was quite the sensation of the afternoon, as the St. Clair amateur was largely responsible for he and his veteran partner's victory. It looks decidedly as though he has a future ahead of him on the links.

Fourteen players took part in the Assistant Professionals' Championship of Quebec last week at the Hampstead Golf Club, Montreal. Thanks to a brilliant 73 in the morning round, just one over the stiff par of 72, B. Martin, assistant to C. R. Murray at the Royal Montreal Golf Club, won the Championship. He was 3 strokes better than the runner-up, J. Boyer, of Elm Ridge. The scores:

B. Martin, Royal Montreal .....	73	81	154
J. Boyer, Elm Ridge .....	83	74	157
John Clarke, Royal Montreal ....	78	81	159
G. Boothman, Laval .....	80	81	161
Ken. Murray, R. Montreal .....	77	85	162

R. Black, Elm Ridge .....	92	87	179
J. MacPherson, Country C.....	92	88	180
J. Shirley, Islesmere .....	92	89	181
J. Weatherhead, Summerlea .....	91	94	185
L. Trakenberg, Elm Ridge .....	89	99	188
S. Wright, Summerlea .....	95	99	194

The prize for the best 18 holes exclusive of the first three prize winners went to Kenneth Murray, of Royal

Montreal, who had a 77 for the morning round. * * *

Despatch from Philadelphia, Sept. 8th:—

"Johnny Farrell, American Open Golf Champion, defeated Walter Hagen, holder of the British Open title, 2 and 1, to-day over the Philmont County Club's links, in the third of their thirty-six-hole matches for the unofficial world's title.

"The two title holders are playing best three in five matches. Hagen won the two previous matches at Detroit and Chicago."

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the British Overseas Dominions

In accordance with the wish of the Prince of Wales, the cup presented by him to Prince's Club, Sandwich, will be competed for annually in aid of the Kent Playing Fields Association Fund. The meeting this year will be held on Sept. 28 and 29, over 36 holes at an amateur meeting open to players of recognized clubs, and will be for the best scratch aggregate score of the two rounds, 18 holes being played on each day. A replica of the cup will be given to the winner. Entrance fee is one guinea, and must reach Capt. H. H. C. Baird, secretary, Prince's Club, not later than Sept. 21. These fees will be handed over to the Kent Playing Fields Fund.

In consequence of the large number of competitors in the Eden Tournament, at St. Andrews, qualifying rounds were played over both the Eden and New courses. The entry, a record one of 283, included Miss Dorothy Pearson, Miss Gladys Bastin, and Miss Flora Ayton. On the Eden course R. W. Peattie, of Cupar, the ered, spoiled his card and he finished in 81. Erl Watson, who has gained prominence by his slow play, was paired with A. W. Carr Brown. The latter caused some amusement by having a special caddie in attendance carrying a luncheon basket and deck-chair. On the second day a large crowd gathered around the first tee on the New course to await the arrival of this pair. Brown arrived without his deck-chair and luncheon-basket, and Watson, who arrived late, was warned by the course ranger about holding up play. The "gallery" seemed to be antagonistic to Watson and rattled him. Certainly he played the first two holes badly, but he had the satisfaction of seeing the spectators disperse with a derisive cheer after he had addressed them from the second tee.

former boy champion, showed scorn of the bad weather which existed on the first day by going round in 68—which created a new amateur record for the green, and equalled the professional record established by "Jock" Hutchison in 1921. Peattie's round included only one bad hole—a topped second to the short 14th—following a short tee-shot. G. C. Killey, holder of the cup, made a good start, but an eight at the ninth, where he was bunk-

Miss Joyce Wethered made one of her all too rare appearances in public golf, in the London Ladies' Foursomes at Addington, which having been postponed from March owing to snow, was played off in the most brilliant weather of the year. She and Mrs. Kennedy had won this tournament for Worplesdon on three previous occasions, and in spite of the fact that Mrs. Kennedy had seriously injured her shoulder-blade and was playing with her shoulder bandaged, the pair were rather expected to win again, especially after the fourth round match in which, repeating the result of last year's final, they defeated North Hants by 4 and 3.

However, both the semi-finals produced surprises. The Camberley Heath pair, Miss Molly Gourlay and Miss Doris Chambers, lost by 2 and 1 to Mrs. J. B. Walker and Miss J. Spurling, of Walton Heath, and the holders, for whom Miss Wethered was not quite so good as usual with her irons, went under by the same margin to the Lady Golfers' Club, whose representatives were Mrs. Percy Garon and Mrs. W. Payne. The last-named couple were successful in the final by 3 and 1.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP AT SUMMERLEA

The Final as Viewed by a Montreal Close Follower of the Game and a Writer of International Repute.

(By Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon, D.D.)

ONE must be rather daring to make even an honest attempt to state why golf games are lost or won. But it would not be possible for anyone who knows the game from the inside and who can measure other men's play against his own struggles and failures, to follow the would-be champion for a week without having something to say of how things were done, and especially of what should not have been done. I had never seen the champion until the Inter-Provincial teams' match began; nor had I seen those who presented the strongest challenge to his supremacy. Every impression was the result of observation and study. Before two days had passed I began instinctively to pass my sympathies over to Somerville. Watching him through one hole after another, and through one game after another, I concluded that he was the best golfer, and I had a growing suspicion that inasmuch as Stuart was drawn so as to meet Somerville in the quarter finals, the final might have International significance, and that he was the only man whom I could trust to hold the honours for Canada. There is no doubt that America was represented by some excellent golfers, and the one who could win against their best, could not afford to make many mistakes. I believe that unless Stuart could have been depended upon to hold up under the strain of the finals, there was no one else except Somerville who could have defeated Lanman in the final rounds. I also consider that Lanman would have played an even stronger game against an opponent who would have showed any tendency to falter. That he held up as well as he did against fifteen pars in succession, and seventeen pars for the round, speaks in no uncertain tone of his skill and temperament as a golfer.

And yet I hope it is not ungenerous to say that the real runner-up from the point of view of golf never reached the finals. The only golfer in the tournament who called out every quality which Somerville possesses was Stuart. In the morning round of that contest, Somerville made a seventy-two, which was only one stroke higher than his best round for the tournament, but that one stroke cost him a hole which left him one down at the half-way mark. The game was played on the hottest day which Montreal has experienced in many years, and Stuart looked so slight and undeveloped in physique, over against the sturdy Somerville,

Mr. W. K. Lanman, Jr., Columbus, Ohio.
Runner-up in Canadian Amateur Championship.

that one naturally expected to see him go to pieces in the afternoon round. But he never faltered, and brought the game to the sixteenth green all even. Right here we experienced the most thrilling moment of the whole tournament. The seventeenth is two hundred and ten yards, with the green properly trapped. He had the honour, and no one knew better than he that he had to make the green or go down, for we all had a lingering suspicion that Sandy would. I never expected that he could or would, but to my surprise, I never saw a more perfect stroke, nor a prettier ball. It came to rest just "flag high" and about twenty feet to the right of the pin. Now, if "Sandy" Somerville had not been just Sandy Somerville, with that hidden, indescribable, distinctive quality which distinguishes a champion from a runner-up, he would certainly have missed that green. But with that grim, silent precision which is the outstanding feature of both "Sandy" and his golf, he laid the ball quietly on the green, approximately two feet nearer the pin than his rival. Both positions presented difficult putts due to their distance combined with the undulating nature of the green. Stuart, who was away, surveyed the intervening territory, brushed away all possible obstructions. In judging the weight of the stroke two undulations had to be calculated and in direction allowance made for lateral slope. It was executed as only great golfers have ever done it. The ball was hit cleanly and unhesitatingly, and went over hill and dale like a hungry horse headed homeward, and dropped into the cup with the thud which spells decision. The hearts of Sandy's supporters sank, and they glanced furtively at his face. It was pale for the first and only time during the tournament. He indulged for one moment in a look which suggested that he might be human like the rest of us, and as quickly displaced it by the expressionless mask of a disciplined temperament. He made a magnificent attempt to save the hole. His direction was absolutely perfect, but the stroke was a grain too heavy. The ball struck the back of the cup, directly in the centre, but jumped on the edge of the cup and came to rest hanging over the side of the hole. One felt like quoting Browning, "A little more and how much it is, a little less and what worlds away." This was the great moment of the tournament.

rather than anything which took place in the final rounds. Stuart deserves great praise, and he received it. He played real, championship golf, and proved himself a gentleman and a sportsman. He won the appreciation and admiration of the gallery. He possesses the stuff which makes champions. But the eighteenth hole showed that in this tournament he might have been a runner-up but not champion. I have seldom admired a sportsman as I did Somerville at this juncture. The gallery went forward to where the drives were likely to lie. I walked back to the tee with the players. I viewed them with utmost care, and I concluded that Somerville intended to win and felt that he would. Stuart drove well—a little to the left, but on the fairway. Somerville was straight on the pin with terrific distance. The approach is fairly long and the green heavily guarded. Stuart got correct distance, but pulled to the left into the base of a grass bunker which guards the elevated green. Somerville was right on the pin but the ball rolled past it far enough to make a birdie possible, but not probable. Stuart recovered well, but overran the hole and failed to sink, and Somerville won the hole in a par to square the match. Now, as I have said, Stuart deserves all praise for his splendid fight; but nothing is gained of speaking of luck or accident. In all great matches the man who can hold his head and rule his hand for that last stroke which has a championship tucked into it, wears the crown of victory. I once followed Hagen in two important matches on two successive days, with two worthy opponents. In each case the match was all square on the thirty-sixth green, with the putts still to be made. In each case Hagen made the putt and his opponent just failed to sink the ball. But it is just this difference that makes Hagen a great golfer. Again, "a little more and how much it is, a little less and what worlds away."

The first extra hole is over five hundred yards, with a brook a few yards short of the green. To cross with the second requires the longest and most accurate work and always involves risk. Sandy was not out to take risks. If one could judge by appearance he did not intend to win the first. Both played safe with the second and made perfect par fives. It is the second hole that tests the golfer's skill and stamina. It is four hundred and forty yards with an up-hill fairway. A par four here is likely to get the other fellow. The drive here is very important, because it is such a marked advantage to play an iron to the well-guarded green for the second. Sufficient to say, that all that was in "Sandy", both of mind and body, went into that drive—and it turned out to be a considerable amount. It was the kind of drive that we lesser men dream of, but never execute—at least not when it is needed. Stuart followed with an ordinarily good drive,

F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton Golf and Country Club, semi-finalist Canadian Amateur Championship.

"Jam" Mountifield, Edmonton, who reached the semi-finals in the Canadian Amateur Championship.

but one instinctively felt that his chances were slipping. I felt a deep sympathy for the brave chap, as I had so often been in a position similar in principle. Every real golfer knows that feeling of inevitable tragedy which creeps over him, when he has fought with a courage that is his own secret, only to see the shadow of a hand of fate thickening around him. It reminds one of the words Kipling attributes to McAndrew, "Predestination in the stride of yon connecting rod."

When each had played three, Stuart was twenty feet from the cup, with a down hill putt to negotiate. Somerville lay within easy putting distance. Stuart made a magnificent attempt, but the ball refused to sink. Have we not all experienced the "sinking" feeling within ourselves as we have watched that wayward little demon looking over the edge of the cup, and sit there. Stuart turned his back while Somerville putted, only to hear the ball drop firmly into the cup, carrying with it below the surface of possibility his chances of the championship. Two brave men and worthy sportsmen had met, and the more experienced golfer and the sounder golfer won. But Stuart's day is coming in due time, and when it comes all who followed him in Montreal will feel that his laurels will be honestly won and modestly carried.

The finals between Somerville and Lanman produced championship golf, but at no time, after the sixth hole were any thrills provided, such as described above. The contestants presented a marked contrast in personal appearance. Somerville is medium height, broad shouldered, sturdily built, and was neatly attired in orthodox golf knickers, socks and shoes. His step was firm and regular, and his whole bearing gave the impression of endurance, control, accuracy and poise.

Lanman was taller, less regularly attired, scarcely erect, and rather unathletic in his gait. His habitual movements and appearance elicited less confidence in his athletic skill and regularity.

Both set out on their task and journey prepared for championship contest. The first six holes were halved in six pars. But the game, even to this point, was not as even as these figures would indicate. Somerville played with the precision of a machine. He had no "lucky breaks"; he took the two regulation putts on each green, and on the fairway the ball was always were first-class golf demands it should be.

SO FAR this year, the important golf tournaments played in this country—from the Canadian Open and the Canadian Amateur downwards—have been won with a Spalding Ball. In the United States this year, every important golf tournament—from the U. S. Open to the Public Links championship of New York City—has been won with a Spalding Ball. Last year, forty-five national and international major championships, including the Canadian Open, the Canadian Amateur, the U. S. Open, the British Open, and the U. S. Amateur, were won with Spalding Golf Balls. In the last ten years, Spalding Golf Balls have won three times as many major championships—at home and abroad—as all other makes of golf balls combined. Surely, every low handicap golfer owes it to himself and to his game to try this ball of amazing conquest.

But even in playing these first six holes Lanman showed marvellous powers of recovery, and had considerable occasion to display them. On the first hole he played twice out of the rough and once out of a bunker, and made a par five to halve the hole. On the second, while Somerville was on the green with his second, Lanman played his third from a trap, and made a perfect putt, to halve the hole in four. Lanman's ability to run up to the flag from a trap or from beyond it is remarkable. I doubt if ever I have seen anything just like it. It is not a pitch, it is distinctly a run up; but its accuracy is beyond praise. But, when all this is said, even at this early stage of the game, you had an instinctive impression that the man who was repeatedly recovering, would eventually fall before an opponent who did not need to recover. Such was the result. After the seventh there never really was a tense moment as far as the result was concerned.

I never saw a game like Somerville played in the first round. I have seen as good scores, and even lower scores, but the card would display several birdies, which made up for human frailties. But to see fifteen perfect pars in one round was a new experience. It has been said that if you keep on shooting pars long enough, you will get the other fellow. Somerville verified the statement. The remarkable feature of his play was that he seldom got a birdie. Only one of these winged angels came his way throughout the day. His approach putts are excellent, but they refuse to sink without the second invitation, and while his approach to the green is deadly, he always lies far enough from the flag to make two putts probable. If about three of these dignified pars could be transformed into flirting birdies, his game would be marvellous, and his rank the highest.

One could scarcely describe a tournament and its participants without a word on style of play and its effect upon the count. Stuart gets good results and one is liable to say that "a good horse is never a bad colour." But the golf stroke is an artistic action as well as a means of propelling a ball. Two characteristics spoil the appearance of Stuart's game. First, he crouches, or over stoops for all his full strokes. And, while I have admitted that he drives a good ball, I am sufficiently loyal to style to believe that he would do still better if he mastered a more erect position throughout the swing. Such a change

Everything in its proper place under lock and key

At the Office, factory or Home the question of safe, convenient storage of supplies of every nature is well answered by the use of an "Office Specialty" Storage Cabinet.

There are five different sizes. One for every storage need. Shelves adjustable every inch are supplied with each cabinet. A convenient lock-in-handle offers the necessary security to the contents. Supplied in olive green finish or in special wood finishes to order.

would greatly improve the appearance of his play.

Also in addressing his ball, instead of the historic "waggle" Stuart has developed a series of jerks, by which the club is quickly lifted and dropped in a nervous sort of action. It is quite unpleasant to the spectator, and cannot be the best preparation for a quiet and controlled stroke. Golf action can be made so beautiful that no young man should accept as final a style which impairs its artistic value.

Lanman wobbles the club in his back swing. His wrists tend to roll over, turning the toe of the club outward. He has adjusted himself to this action until he generally corrects in the down swing so as to get a straight flight. But, none the less, with the exception of the eighteenth hole, which was lost by a faulty putt, every hole he sacrificed on the first round was by losing the line through the effect of this defect. Also, most of his remarkable recoveries were necessitated by the same cause. If Lanman is to make his potential game actual, his back swing will require some mending.

During the morning round of the finals, I entered into conversation with a reporter who was writing up the incidents of the game. I remarked that Somerville was playing great golf. He replied, "He is playing exceedingly poor golf for me, there is nothing to say about it, except that every stroke is perfect, and that makes poor copy." I venture to say that from the point of view of the journalist, this is as true of life as it is of golf. I am in a similar position when I attempt to discuss Somerville's style. I overheard a "pro" remark, "He is a perfect stylist." The mechanics of his stroke are faultless. His stance is more open than that of many good golfers; but that is quite orthodox. He uses the long "V" grip, never allows his right elbow to wander from his side, and never hits from the top. His club starts down slowly and maintains a perfect acceleration. There is entire absence of jerk and there is no apparent attempt to hit—the sweeping away of the ball is just an incident in a perfect, complicated unity. The accuracy of the results establish the soundness of the rules which experience has established.

It is scarcely fair to leave unmentioned the many other good golfers including J. A. Mountfield, who took part in the tournament but, as this would require more space than could be given, I have confined myself to those who were the more important.

It is encouraging to see the excellent type of young men who are coming forward to maintain Canada's place in the game of games.

DON CARRICK GIVEN PRESENTATION

DONALD CARRICK was the winner of the principal event on the program of the annual field day of the Scarboro' Golf and Country Club, which was held Sept. 13th, with 230 entrants taking part in the different events. Carrick, who recently returned from the Olympic Games and leaves this week to study law in Harvard University, won the low gross prize.

At the dinner given in the evening which was attended by four hundred, President Carnahan presented Don Carrick with a handsomely fitted dressing case as a token of the appreciation of the club's members for his showing in the Olympic boxing, while President C. E. Higginbottom, of the Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C., presented him with the gold medal he won in the Olympic boxing trials. Misses Marion Wibby and Audrey Graham were given special prizes for their success in the recent Ontario Girls' Junior Championship, while Mrs. K. L. Cummings was remembered for being the only charter lady member of the club who competed in the events.

CANADIAN SENIORS' ELEVENTH TOURNAMENT

Scores Record Success. Governor General of Canada and the British Seniors' Team Guests of Honour. George S. Lyon, "Grand Old Man of Canadian Golf," Wins Championship for the Ninth Time. Brilliant Speeches at the Annual Dinner by the Governor General, the Hon. Martin Burrell, and Mr. J. B. Pease. Royal Ottawa to be Venue of 1929 Tournament

THE 11th annual Tournament of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association at the Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto, this month, will go down in golfing history as the most successful in every way in the annals of this extremely prominent organization. Three or four circumstances contributed to make it so. First and foremost, the Weather Man, was in his most propitious mood. Old Probs if he had tried could not have vouchsafed the worthy Seniors more golden Autumnal weather. Bright sunshine tempered by light cooling breezes prevailed throughout the Tournament.

Then the Lambton course was in perfect condition for the event and after all, in golf "the course is the thing." Fairways and greens alike, left nothing to be desired.

The third factor. His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Willingdon, Patron of the Association, himself honoured the Tournament with his presence. A keen follower of the Royal and Ancient game, he participated in a notable foursome on the concluding day and to the delight of everyone partnered with Mr. Bogert, President of the Association, won the first prizes in this most interesting competition. In the evening at the Annual Dinner, which was also attended by the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, Lord Willingdon made one of his characteristic brilliant speeches. This is the first time in the history of the Association that the King's representative has taken such a gracious interest in the Tournament. He certainly is endearing himself to golfers throughout the Dominion by his participation and kindly interest in "the game of games."

Last, but by no means least, the week at Lambton was made memorable by the presence of a representative team of British Senior golfers, headed by that well known golfer and financier, Mr. J. W. Beaumont Pease, and comprising men prominent in the professions, the Army and Navy and business interests of Great Britain. They were thrice welcome not only at Lambton, but during their tour, on the courses of Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Jasper Park and other links in the west. Such visits are in the best interests of the Empire and of Empire golf. We can't have them too often. Although Mr.

George S. Lyon won the Senior Championship, it must not be forgotten that Mr. Pease had an aggregate three strokes better than the veteran Canadian, which would have been five strokes if it had not been for a penalty of two strokes for inadvertently grounding his club in a pot bunker.

Altogether there were some one hundred and seventy participants in the Tournament, which in itself is a record. For the first time a champion from the Northwest Seniors' Golf Association, Mr. J. N. Wilson, of Victoria, B.C., and an ex-champion, Mr. L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, B.C., participated. Literally from Coast to Coast, Senior golfers came to participate in the event.

Then to cap the climax, Mr. George S. Lyon, "the Grand Old Man of Golf", although recently quite seriously ill, for the ninth time annexed titular honours, which constitutes a golfing record. Mr. John Ball has eight times won the British Amateur, Mr. Charles, Jr., of Chicago, has a like number of victories to his credit in the Western Amateur, but Mr. Lyon now tops these two remarkable performances. He has won the Canadian Amateur eight times and now the Canadian Senior Championship nine times. He did not compete last year owing to illness. In the eleven years during which the Championship has been played he has only been defeated once—by Mr. F. A. Parker in 1924. Hats off to the seventy-year-old and seventeen times crowned Champion!

There were players at Lambton who this year having reached the age of 55 years, played for the first time. There were others, in Class D, seventy to seventy-nine years of age, blithely treading the fairways, and the suggestion has been made that soon a Class "E", eighty years and upwards, might well be instituted. Of such is the virility of golfers.

On the opening day there some excellent scores turned in. George L. Robinson, of Lambton, Class A, who tied last year for the Championship but was defeated by F. R. Martin, of Hamilton, in the play-off, with a 79 headed the field. Close on his heels were G. C. Heintzman, Lambton (Class C) and J. Beaumont Pease (Great Britain), with 80's. Players to score 81 were George S. Lyon (Class D), and Dr. C. Chapin, Brantford, a Class A player, only elected this year. There were in all 32 players, including the Britishers, who were in the "eighties". That shows that the Seniors have many very fine players in their ranks because to beat ninety on a hard course like Lambton with half a dozen or so water hazards and well bunkered and well trapped greens and fairways is no mean feat. The only upset of the opening day was the score of 87 returned by F. R. Martin, last year's Champion, and twice Amateur Champion of Canada. He was greatly fancied to repeat at Lambton, but his undoing was the 4th hole, where he collected a 10. It is a question whether the Hamilton expert during his long and brilliant career on the links has ever before carded double figures. But the best of 'em do it once in a while.

On the second day, Robinson did not find the going altogether to his liking and he had to be satisfied with an 85 for a total of 164. The same score was also returned by H. J. Martin, of Toronto, a brother of the former champion. The opening day he carded an 86 and did not look to be in the running. He registered, however, on the final 18 holes a brilliant 78, to tie Robinson's 164.

F. A. Parker, of Lambton, the 1924 champion, also came nearly providing an upset. With a first round of 88 he was considered completely out of the picture but on the second day he staged a wonderful come-back carding a 77, the best round of the Tournament. His total of 165 was just one stroke back of Robinson's and H. J. Martin's.

These scores of 164, however, were not good enough. Playing the steadiest kind of golf, G. S. Lyon, who was in ahead of the three players mentioned, had added an 82 to his previous score of 81 for a total of 163 which gave him a stroke lead over the runners-up. When the final returns were in and Mr. Lyon's notable victory was conceded he was overwhelmed by congratulations by hundreds of admirers, who thronged round the eighteenth green, the score boards and the club house. He has been the centre of many congratulatory golfing crowds during the last three decades but none ever exceeded in enthusiasm that at Lambton this month.

Note.—Only players returning cards for 36 holes are recorded above. On page 445 will be found the official prize list.

On Friday this memorable Tournament was brought to a conclusion with foursomes, always keenly enjoyed by the members, who choose their own partners. His Excellency Viscount Willingdon and the President of the Association, C. A. Bogert, were paired together, playing with the Hon. Martin Burrell and J. Beaumont Pease, Captain of the British team. It was intensely gratifying to all the members of the Association that the Governor-General and Mr. Bogert with a score of 90-19—71 won the first prize cups. The winners of the second prize cups were the Hon. Frank Carrell, of Quebec, and Dr. McGuire, of Simcoe, Ont., another very popular win.

During the first two days the very clever putting green of 18 holes in front of the club house provided lots of entertainment. On the first day George L. Robinson, of Lambton, with a 35, won the first prize. Tied for second place with 36's were Lt.-Col. Paul Myler, of Hamilton, J. E. Caldwell, Ottawa, C. C. Holland, of Montreal, and Dr. Bascom, of Oshawa. In the play-off, Dr. McGuire won.

On the second day Mr. George Cassels, of the British team, provided the "putting sensation" of the week. He had eight ones, three in succession, seven twos and three threes for 31. This is the most spectacular putting ever seen in a Canadian Seniors' competition. The Lambton green was an extremely difficult one to negotiate and scores of 40 and over by good putters were extremely common. J. E. B. Littlejohn, of Lambton, won the second prize with 35.

The Annual Meeting of the Association

An innovation this year and one which proved a great success was the holding of the annual meeting of the Association distinct from the dinner. Heretofore it has always been held during the dinner. There was a large attendance, with the President, Mr. C. A. Bogert, in the chair.

The annual report of the particularly efficient Hon. Secretary, Mr. W. Hastings Webbing, was a very satisfactory one indeed, showing a record membership and a satisfactory cash balance on hand. Mr. Webbing referred in his report to "the keen and kindly leadership of our founder and first President, Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., but our new President, Mr. C. A. Bogert, has given so unsparingly of his time, his energy and devoted interest, in his efforts to carry on the management of our Association that his undoubted success can hardly fail to inspire in the Governors and members of the Association a spirit of satisfaction and appreciation." Mr. Webbing also paid a well deserved tribute to Mr. R. H. Greene, second Vice-President, "for his invaluable assistance ever cheerfully rendered."

Mr. Bogert in his Presidential address expressed deep regret at the absence of the Founder of the Association, Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., who is at present suffering from illness but he was hopeful that by next year Mr. Baker would be able once more to attend the annual Tournament. He referred to the passing during the year of ten of the members of the Association and as their names were read out those present rose and bowed their heads in silent tribute.

In conclusion, Mr. Bogert proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the President, Directors and members of the Lambton Golf and Country Club for their kind and very generous hospitality and for the privileges they had extended in allowing their club and course to be placed at the disposal of the Association for the Tournament.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Laird Borden in a very eloquent and feeling manner spoke of the Founder of the Association, Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., and suggested that a resolution be drafted and sent to him "in which there shall be set forth our regret, as well as our earnest hope that the present disability which prevents him from being with us to-day will soon be removed and that we may fully rejoice in his presence among us another year." Such a resolution was unanimously ordered to be drafted, Mr. A. E. Dymont being the seconder.

On motion it was decided to amend the By-law calling for annual dues to be paid the 1st of August instead of the 1st of May.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Laird Borden, Mr. S. L. McKay, and Mr. George L. Robinson were elected to fill three vacancies on the Board of Governors, which with the

A hearty vote of thanks to the President was moved by Mr. C. P. Wilson, K.C., Winnipeg, seconded by Mr. J. D. Fraser, to which the President made a suitable reply and in which he took the opportunity to thank most heartily the Governors of the Association and members for their loyal support during the past year.

At a subsequent meeting a very kind invitation from the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, tendered through the courtesy of the Honourable Martin Burrell, to hold the next annual Tournament at that club was accepted with enthusiasm.

Annual Dinner at Toronto Club

The annual dinner of the Association was held on Friday evening of Tournament week at the Toronto Club and graced by the presence of the Governor-General, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the members of the British team, it was easily the most memorable banquet in the history of the Association. There was a very large and representative attendance of Canadian Seniors.

The President, Mr. C. A. Bogert, presided in a particularly able manner. He referred to the great honour conferred on the Association by the presence at the dinner of His Excellency, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the members of the British Seniors' team. They all appreciated to the utmost their attendance there that night. He gave the toast "His Excellency".

Lord Willingdon in rising to reply was given a regular ovation. In a brilliant speech he referred to his pleasure in being present and to his delight in welcoming to Canada the British Seniors' team and in meeting the members of the Canadian Seniors' Association. The speech was marked with a spirit of sincerity and patriotic fervour and scintillated with gleams of subtle humour that fairly delighted his enthusiastic hearers.

The only other toast on the programme was that to the "Senior Golfers' Society team" proposed in a most eloquent manner by the Hon. Martin Burrell, of Ottawa, First Vice-President of the C.S.G.A.

"We all of us," he said, "associate ourselves with our President when he expressed gratification at the presence of our distinguished guest at this annual dinner. We welcome the Governor-General who has continuously shown so strong and sympathetic an interest in Canadian social and industrial activities, and thereby endeared himself to the Canadian people. But we welcome him also to-night as a keen and sterling golfer, qualified in every way for a prominent place amongst senior golfers. What I already knew from past experience has been confirmed by the game he played this morning, and in spite of what His Excellency said just now, I am inclined to the view that he it was who 'carried' his partner round those eighteen holes.

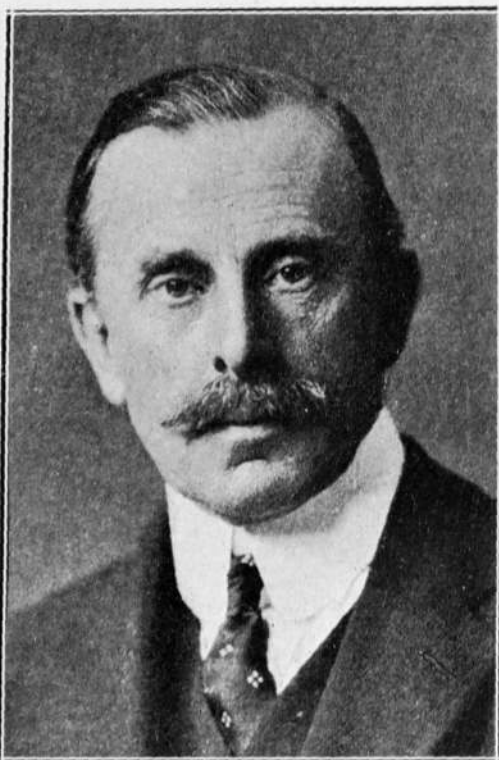

"And if he merits the name of a good golfer I can assure you that the charming lady who presides over Rideau Hall is not far, if at all, behind in the race. We have heard much in late years about Canada's 'status', and the 'status' of our Governor-General. On that well-worn and sometimes thorny path I am too discreet to tread, but without the slightest disrespect to their distinguished predecessors, many of whom were ardent golfers, I am prepared to assert that the joint golfing status of the present holder of that high office and of his distinguished consort is a few notches higher than that of any who have come before them. For these and for other reasons we greatly appreciate the presence of His Excellency here to-night. (Cheers)

"Then we are glad to have with us the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province. I have heard that His Honour contents himself with playing nine or eighteen holes about once a year. Well, I recall a custom in England when I was a youth. There were certain foot-paths through private property which meant a short cut to your destination, and well-worn paths they were. But once a year the Lord of the Manor would bar them to the public use in order to show that it was a privilege and not a right that was being exercised. So I suppose the Lieutenant-Governor goes forth once a year, clubs in hand, in order to show you crazy devotees that you cannot 'hog' the game, and that other people really have the right to play even if they seldom exercise it.

We miss to-night the presence of our former president and who for so many years worked so indefatigably and whole-heartedly for the success of our organization. To our regret we hear that Mr. Baker is confined to the house with sickness. He would, I am sure, like to know that we keep his memory green, and that we earnestly hope that renewed health will be his. (Hear, hear).

"We are delighted that one of the Elder Statesmen, our old friend Sir Robert Borden, has taken the time to attend this meeting, and I trust enjoyed himself. Some of you fellows with low handicaps may think you can beat him, and perhaps you can at golf. But I venture to think that in a different sphere and a larger game his handicap would be about plus four, and that he would give most of us a stroke a hole and lick us out of our boots. (Laughter).

"Then I only voice the general delight when I refer to the winning of the championship once more by our good friend and genial companion, George Lyon. A gloom was cast over our meeting last year when the news came that Mr. Lyon was too ill to attend. It is a deep pleasure to us all to see him recovering a large measure of his old strength and showing us once more his old skill. (Cheers).

"It is not without some perturbation, gentlemen, both to myself and possibly to you, that I find myself back on the old job, for last year I had hoped for an honourable discharge after ten years' efforts. But the task, shouldered once again at your President's urging, is made easier to-night for it consists chiefly in offering on your behalf a whole-hearted welcome to the representatives of the British Senior Golfers' Society (cheers). In a way it seems a little odd that the Society, in comparison with similar organizations on this continent, has come so late into existence. During the many years I spent in British Columbia I not infrequently found that in gatherings I attended I was the oldest man present. On my return to the east it was not quite the same. Many veterans were encountered, yet the seal and stamp of youth was chiefly observable. And so, casting my eyes across the water to those ancient Isles, home of the race from whom we have drawn so much that is of inestimable value in our intellectual and institutional life, I asked myself why was it that, in a country whose people were so eminent in the field of sport, and where golfers of fifty-five and up were as six to our one, a Seniors' Society should only have recently been born?

Brig-General Poore, of the British Team, who in his day was a famous cricketer. The General had a 37 on the first nine holes at Lambton the second day of the Tournament.

"Various reasons suggested themselves. As one who spent the early third of his life in England permit me to say that the English are a peculiar people. One who was once much in the world's eye, but who is now living in inglorious seclusion in Doorn, referred to the English people on one occasion as "the ice-cold haberdashers on the Thames." Somewhat later he found them rather a hot bunch. It is true that the Englishman doesn't wear his heart on his sleeve. Accustomed for a thousand years to invasions of one kind and another, usually of a hostile nature, he has necessarily learnt to be wary about strangers, and is perhaps casual in his first contacts. But, once assured that you are all right, the wall of reserve melts, and he is the warmest-hearted man in the world. Indeed his motto is, "the friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel." But the process of adoption may be a little 'trying' on both sides. In the end he unlocks not only his house but his heart, and his trust in you is no half-trust.

"Wedded to innumerable old customs, the origins of which are buried in the long past centuries, the English are deeply conservative by instinct. But years are a relative matter. I see little sign of old age or decrepitude in this race which has stood the shocks and assaults of evil fortune with so gallant a bearing and with so vigorous and smiling a determination to still be on the top of the heap. Nearly a century ago an acute foreign observer, visiting England in a time of crisis, remarked that it was evident that, let who will fail, England will not. These people have sat here for a thousand years and here will continue to sit. And we believe that his added words are as true to-day as when they were uttered, 'The stability of England is the security of the modern world.' (Hear, hear).

"Here, then, may be one reason why our friends postponed the formation of a Seniors' Society, for the spirit of perpetual youth is in these people. Then, perhaps, there is another. The elder brethren would not by such a step acknowledge even the slightest appearance of inferiority to their juniors. Nor do we know why they should, when a Blackwell, a Montmorency, a Pease, and many another veteran, can lord it over the best of the youngsters in so convincing a manner.

"But, gentlemen, you did last year form your Seniors' Society, and if success has attended your efforts nobody is more delighted than ourselves. I imagine a large part of that success is due to your enthusiasm, the energy, the suavity, and the skill, with which our secretary, our friend Colonel Popham, has applied himself to the work. We like to feel that you have as your president one who has ever stood for all that is clean and fine in sport, and also in the greatest game of life, Lord Balfour. (Cheers).

"If he belongs to you, he also belongs to us. Thousands on this side of the water wished him well when he passed the eightieth milestone on the long pilgrimage, and trusted he would pass many more. Our powers must slacken as the tell-tale years take their toll, but Lord Balfour is an inspiring example of the manner in which the freshness, the unconquerable spirit of youth, may still reign in the heart and mind long after the hair is silvered and physical strength has become somewhat impaired. I am sure that it would be the desire of all of us that you, Mr. Pease, and Colonel Popham, should convey to Lord Balfour our warm felicitations, and our earnest wishes that there may remain for him many years of health and happiness. (Cheers).

"And if our British friends have reason to congratulate themselves on their President I am sure they have equal cause for congratulations as to their Captain. (Hear, hear). Mr. Pease is not only eminent as a golfer, but a much distinguished man in financial circles, the sort of friend one would be glad to have, especially if he were in a tight corner. Somewhat more than fifty years ago I commenced my business life in a bank. At that time Mr. Pease was about seven years old, with no thought of banking in his head, and probably swinging a golf club in the back garden. Seven years' apprenticeship to finance convinced me that I was not cut out for a banking career. So I made the great venture to Canada. Then Mr. Pease started his banking career, and, singularly enough, the great House of Lloyds took over the bank he was in, and also the one which had, no doubt foolishly, dispensed with my services, and he eventually by sheer ability worked his way to the responsible position which he now holds. Meanwhile, after a chequered career, I arrived last year at the summit of any reasonable man's ambition, to wit, became the Vice-President of the Canadian Seniors' Association, and to-day, so singular are the turns of fortune's wheel, I find myself extending a welcome to the fine team of golfers of which he is Captain.

"There is so pleasant an air of juvenility about our visitors that it is difficult to realize that they are fully qualified seniors in point of age. But times are strangely altered. In Jane Austen's immortal novels men of thirty-five were spoken of as 'middle-aged'. As I look back to my youth it seems to me that the fathers and mothers of that day began to put on the emblems of maturity, to wear the signs and assume the habits of senescence, at a time of life when, if they had been living in our own day, they would be starting to take golf and dancing lessons.

"Not that it was the youngsters who even then did all the great work of the world. There were infant prodigies then. There are now. Macaulay at eight years of age wrote a Compendium of History which nobody has ever heard of since. But Tennyson, when eighty-three, wrote a short poem which still dwells in all hearts. Alexander may have conquered the world at twenty-five, but Von Moltke was chief of the Prussian army when eighty-eight, and John Wesley at the same age was leading the forces of Methodism.

"For ourselves we refuse to accept these arbitrary standards and doctrines as to the limitations and disabilities of advancing years. And the game to which we are all devoted backs us up in the great refusal.

"The presence of the British golfers is welcome for many reasons, and not the least is that they represent a nation whose people understand the real meaning and value of games. I am quite sure that in the frantic desire to win world championships and other victories there is at times an intensity of rivalry not altogether salutary. Games should be literally recreation, a re-creation of the spirit which, thus refreshed, can turn with increased energy to other things. And of all people I will take my hat off to the English who show a sanity of mind, a sense of proportion, in these matters which enables them to enter into their sports with zest, and draw out of them an ample pleasure whether they win or lose. (Cheers).

"The true golfer would rather play a good game, and enjoy the companionship and get licked, than he would flub round with an uncongenial opponent and beat him. I suppose we all get a bit worried at failing powers, but let us accept the inevitable philosophically, and not disturb our peace of mind by attaching importance to things which are not really important in life.

"If any golfer in the world should have learnt to discipline himself and extract joy from the game without losing his sense of values it should surely be a member of a Seniors' Society. So, gentlemen, let us go on playing, getting the fresh air, the pleasant companionship, the healthful exercise, occasionally obtaining an extra thrill when we show evidences of the old skill.

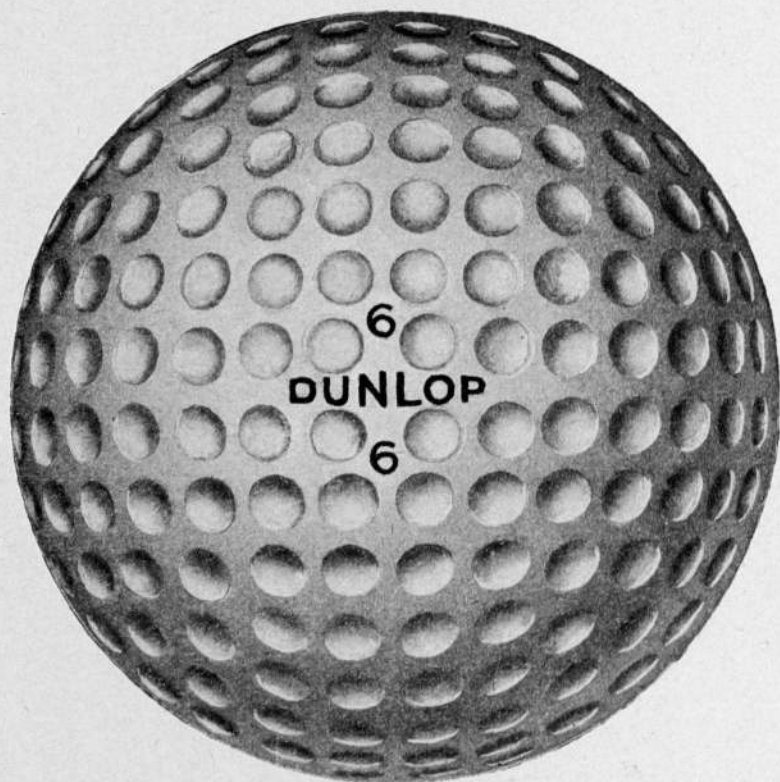

"Few would care to miss these meetings with their renewal of old friendships and the making of new ones. Amongst those new ones we shall count with deep pleasure those made with the members of the visiting British team. To them I offer on your behalf not only a welcome here but the sincerest wishes for a thorough enjoyment during the rest of the time they spend on this continent. We think that the Old World has still something to teach the New World, and much as we esteem our American golfing friends, we hope that the members of our great family will next week show the United States Seniors that the old flag is still flying and the blood of the race still running strong in the veins."

Mr. Burrell was cheered again and again at the conclusion of his masterly speech.

Mr. Pease, Captain of the Britishers, in replying to the toast of the "Senior Golfers' Society Team" expressed on behalf of himself and his players their deep appreciation of the welcome extended to them by the golfers of Canada. They would never forget the unbounded hospitality extended to them during their all but too brief tour.

Mr. Pease at the conclusion of his brief but happy remarks presented a most handsome solid silver cup to The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association on behalf of the British Senior Golfers' Society, for perpetual competition, a very thoughtful and gracious act, which Mr. Bogert accepted with deep appreciation.

"Auld Lang Syne" brought to a conclusion this notable and enjoyable dinner. One famous member of the British team said afterwards, "I have attended many dinners, and listened to many speakers. They

Tournament Chip Shots

Most excellent music was supplied during the dinner by Romanelli's Orchestra, and Mr. George Oldfield, baritone, whilst Piper George Murray added not a little to the enjoyment of this part of the programme.

Mr. R. H. Greene, Lambton Golf and Country Club, Second Vice-President of the C. S. G. A., who did so much to make the Tournament a success.

The menu card was a particularly artistic one. On the back page was a clever sketch of a boat sailing for Canada loaded down with British Seniors calling "Fore" with "Captain" Pease at the helm.

During Tournament week Mr. Bogert gave a dinner at Lambton to the British team and Governors of the Canadian Association. This was a particularly jolly little function during which the host was warmly toasted and thanked for all he had done for the C.S.G.A. and its members during the past year. He certainly has not spared himself in looking after the affairs of the Association which was never in such a prosperous condition both from a membership, golfing and financial standpoint.

All through Tournament week the Directors and officials of both the Lambton and Toronto Clubs were unremitting in their attention to the visiting Seniors. Especial thanks are also due to the two most capable Secretaries of these clubs, Messrs. E. Mason and F. C. Armitage, who left nothing undone for the comfort of the Seniors and their guests.

Much of the success of the smooth running of the Tournament is due to the following capable committee who had charge of the various arrangements in connection with the three days' play at Lambton:— Messrs. R. H. Greene, S. R. Hart, Lt.-Col. J. B. Miller and G. L. Robinson.

Although the British Seniors were not eligible to take part in the C.S.G.A. competitions the Association awarded them handsome prizes for best gross, 1st and 2nd and best nett, 1st and second. These prizes were won by Messrs. Pease, Clayton, Hoare and James Baker.

To R. H. Greene, Esq.,
Of the Lambton Golf and Country Club.

Of all the men I ever met
Upon this world below,
Dear "Daddy" Greene of high esteem
Is 'mong the best I know.
His step is light, his eyes are bright,
His character benign,
And on his face there dwells the grace
Of acts unselfish, fine.

No fractious "Senior" can withstand
The kindness of his guile,
Or be cast down with fretful frown
Beneath "Dad's" friendly smile.
When things go wrong, as things will do,
Or "times" arranged are bad,
We all decide to get outside
And leave the job to Dad.

If there's a mix up anywhere,
Or trouble with some man,
Dad is there, to help him bear
His troubles, all he can.
He fixes him with words that win
His gratitude supreme
To then depart with lightened heart
Since seeing "Daddy" Greene.

So, fill your glasses to the brim
And drink to dear old "Dad",
The truest friend, you may depend,
A fellow ever had.
And when to Paradise he goes,
I'll bet my boots you'll see,
That "Daddy" Greene is there serene
A saintly Sec., to be.

THE SENIORS' TRIANGULAR MATCHES AT BLIND BROOK, N.Y.

(W. Hastings Webling)

WHEN the team selected by Captain George S. Lyon, representing The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, set forth for New to York to attempt once more to recapture the Gold Cup, presented by the Duke of Devonshire for annual competition between the Seniors of the United States and Canada, it was generally felt we had a mighty good chance of succeeding, or at least giving the winners a real run for their money. Alas, it was not so to be, and once more our kindly cousins romped away with the match, and once more the sacred symbol of International victory was left in the proud possession of the United States Seniors' Golf Association for another year. As to the International Triangular Matches between the United States, Great Britain, and Canada, we failed again to make the showing that might reasonably be expected from such an aggregation of Senior golfing stars. However, thanks be, the actual winning of matches is not the sole reason of our annual reunions, and the simply wonderful hospitality extended by our most generous hosts leaves one rather bereft of words. The Canadian team was put up at that remarkable realm of sport, the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club, promoted by a former Canadian, Mr. John McE. Bowman, which in itself was a great privilege, and where the two excellent courses were, placed at our disposal through the courtesy of the management, at the behest of our very dear friend, Mr. Jerome A. Peck. We would like here, also, to acknowledge the attention rendered us all by Mr. J. V. Hawkins, Superintendent of Service at the Westchester-Biltmore, who did so much to promote our comfort and convenience.

The annual dinner at the Apawamis Club, at which the British and Canadian teams were honoured guests, will not easily be forgotten. It was, beyond doubt, one of the finest dinners one would wish to attend. Mr. Fred E. Wheeler, President of the U. S. Seniors, was, as usual, a gracious and competent Chairman. His fine address of welcome was responded to by Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, Captain of the British team, and Mr. C. A. Bogert, President of the Canadian Seniors, who took the opportunity of facetiously thanking the U. S. Seniors for their consideration in allowing the Canadian team to at least have their annual brief view of the Devonshire Cup. At this point Mr. Wheeler introduced Mr. Horace L. Hotchkiss, the Founder and Honourary President of the parent Association. Mr. Hotchkiss, although in the late eighties, was just as keen as anyone present. His brief but earnest address created real enthusiasm. Of course George Lyon enlivened the gathering with the ever green "Mother Machree", while Mr. Jerome A. Peck, Chairman of the U. S. Tournament Committee, kept a kindly paternal eye on the proceedings, and naturally everyone left with praise and appreciation for a delightful evening.

The Triangular matches were staged at that very attractive and dignified club, Blind Brook, and again the visiting teams were entertained in the most bounteous manner, and every courtesy extended. After the final game Friday morning, Mr. Fred S. Wheeler gave a lunch in honour of the visiting teams, which will long remain a mighty happy memory. The British team, who were guests of the Hotel Plaza, New York, were largely in the care of Mr. Snare, Captain of the U. S. team, and judging from the remarks one heard from our British brothers the genial Captain had certainly exceeded the limits of unselfish thought, and boundless hospitality, for which our cousins are so far famed. By the way, a very handsome Silver Cup was presented to the U. S. Seniors' Association by Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, as a souvenir of the first visit of the British Association, which was most gratefully acknowledged.

Mr. Fred Snare, New York, Captain of the U. S. Seniors, who is very well known on Canadian courses.

And so ended the first International Triangular reunion on this side of the Atlantic, and judging from its success, future meetings will undoubtedly take place. Already the United States and Canadian Seniors have been invited to make a return visit to Great Britain next year about July, when the matches, according to the British Hon. Secretary, Colonel Francis Popham, will be played on the classic course of old St. Andrews, Scotland, by special permission of the Royal and Ancient Society.

The scores for the two days in the Triangular annual match were, United States 40, Canada 22, Great Britain 16.

The scores the first day were as follows:

Great Britain (J. W. B. Pease, captain, and Douglas Clayton) defeated United States (Frederick Snare, captain, and Joshua Crane) and Canada (George S. Lyon, captain, and George L. Robinson). United States defeated Canada. Score—Great Britain 4; United States, 2; Canada, 0.

United States (Dr. C. H. Walner and F. H. Hoyt) defeated Great Britain (H. M. Hepworth and Admiral St. J. Farquhar) and Canada (F. R. Martin and W. J. Ross). Great Britain defeated Canada. Score—United States, 4; Great Britain, 2; Canada, 0.

United States (Hugh Halsell and D. N. Tallman) defeated Canada (George Heintzman and J. Dix Fraser) and Great Britain (F. M. Ash and G. C. Cassells). Canada defeated Great Britain. Score—United States, 4; Canada, 2; Great Britain, 0.

United States (C. D. Cooke and H. W. Croft) defeated Canada (F. A. Parker and J. D. Caldwell) and Great Britain (Basil Hoare and Col. F. J. Popham). Canada defeated Great Britain. Score—United States, 4; Canada, 2; Great Britain, 0.

OUT WITH A $500 CHALLENGE

WITH practically all of the championship tournaments completed for this season and most of the club competitions either finished or near the end, the professionals of the various clubs are preparing for a number of tournaments, either club invitation affairs or medal tournaments under the auspices of the Ontario P.G.A. In the meantime Jimmy Johnstone, of Rosedale, former Canadian P.G.A. champion, and Andy Kay, of Lambton, ex-Ontario Open champion, are out with a sweeping challenge to any other pair of professionals in Canada for a 72-hole match for a side bet of $500 a side. The match is to be a 72-hole four-ball, best ball only, with 36 holes to be played on a course selected by the challengers and the other 36 by the accepting pair, or if desired the entire 72 holes to be played on two neutral courses of acknowledged championship calibre. The challengers have asked C. W. MacQueen, secretary of the Ontario P.G.A., to act as take holder, and challengers may be sent to him care of The Mail and Empire Sports Department, or to either of the challengers.

As was generally expected little time was lost in Johnstone's and Kay's challenge being accepted. In a few hours after it was issued Willie Lamb, of the Toronto Club, Canadian Professional Champion and Bob Cunningham, the long-hitting Mississaugan pro, had their hats in the ring and arrangements are now being made for the match between these four experts.

T. M. SYER WINS PENTICTON CHAMPIONSHIP

(Special Correspondence "Canadian Golfer" from Penticton, B.C.)

THE fine cup donated to the Penticton Golf Club for annual competition by the David Spencer Co. of Vancouver, B.C., was played for here on Labour Day and was won by Tommy Syer, of the local club.

This event is open to any amateur golfer in B.C. and is over the 36 hole medal route. This is the third year for the event and is the first time that a Penticton player has held it. The winner in 1926 was Bob Levaek, of Princeton, while in 1927 it was taken by Dick Moore, also of Princeton and winner of the B.C. Amateur crown at Victoria the same year. Dick did not defend it this year. Mr. Syer was runner-up on both the previous occasions but this year Tommy managed to come out on top in a field of 30 starters.

Mr. Syer's morning round was 39-41—80; while in the afternoon he turned in 41-42—83, making a total of 163 for the 36 holes. This was 2 strokes better than Jake Colquhoun, the runner-up. Last year's Cup was won with a score of 173.

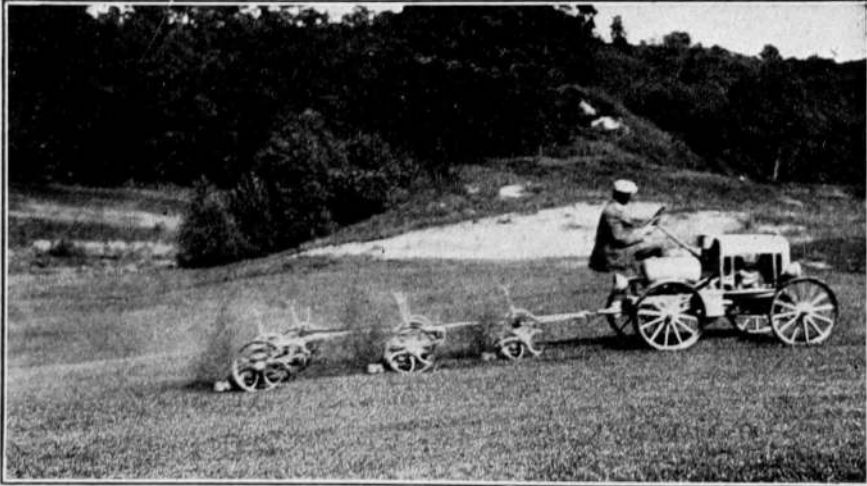

Harold Nicholl, a local lad of 17, was in third place with 168 and had a very good chance to have won except for the odd bad hole on the last 18 that ran his count up.

There was great interest shown in the event this season by the outside teams. Kamloops sent three, Kelowna four, Summerland two, Princeton three, Merritt one, with a good team of local players.

The prizes were well distributed, no one being allowed to take more than one prize. Besides the prizes to the winner and runner-up, there was a prize for the best score on either 18 holes. This went to Chester Owen, of Kelowna. Mr. Ewart, of Princeton, won the prize for the lowest card of any player with a handicap of over 20; while a Summerland player won the mystery prize for the largest score. This consisted of one dozen balls, nicely boxed, one perfectly new ball and eleven perfectly punk ones. The prize for four sealed holes had not been determined yet.

The president, Mr. G. A. B. McDonald, presented the prizes and with a few well chosen words thanked the visiting players for coming and the ladies for the fine way in which they entertained the players. The club was open to the public and several spent part of the holiday at the course.

JUNIOR GOLF TOURNAMENT AT WINDSOR

IN THE Junior Golfing Tournament held at the Roseland Golf and Country Club, Windsor, Ontario, during the week of August 25th, Howard Schneider, St. Clair caddie, won the Championship Neal Cup.

Carrying on as if he had been accustomed to match plays for rich stakes all his life, whether the breaks were good or bad, sixteen-year-old Howard Schneider started the final day gallantly at Roseland and finished by administering a four and three trouncing to William Moynihan, and now holds the "Harry J. Neal Cup", and is champion of the first Essex County Junior Golf Tournament.

There were one hundred and sixty-two entries, and on the first day ninety-six qualified for the Tournament, sixteen youngsters turned in scores of ninety-five or better. Seventeen birdies were made during the first day.

During the Tournament the lowest score was turned in by Alcide LaBute, who carded an eighty-one.

In the finals, it was a triumph for caddie over ex-caddie, a victory for a St. Clair Club caddie over a junior member of the same club. Schneider held his head and won over an exciteable Irish lad, who ranks among the best players. Schneider worried little, if any, when the final test came, and Moynihan fretted over little incidents which really meant nothing at all. He stepped out and played his best golf of the day, and took four of the last six holes and halved the other two.

At the end of the first eighteen holes, which started at ten in the morning, Schneider held a two hole lead over his more experienced and brilliant opponent. The first nine found all square after first Moynihan, then Schneider had taken the lead. On the incoming journey Moynihan forged ahead only to have Schneider catch him at the next hole. Finally after squaring the match at the fifteenth, Schneider won the sixteenth, shared the seventeenth, and won the home hole, to be two up at lunch time.

The youngsters started away on the second eighteen holes at two-thirty and at the first nine were all square, but from the tenth tee on it was all Schneider, thus he defeated Moynihan four and three.

Many valuable prizes were given to the winners of the various flights. The champion, Howard Schneider, received the "Harry J. Neil Cup", a season's membership in Roseland Golf Club, one year's subscription to the Canadian Golfer, and a set of golf clubs. Season memberships were also given to the runner-up, William Moynihan; Joe Bialkowski, who turned in the lowest score in the qualifying round, and Alcide LaBute, who turned in the lowest score of the Tournament.

A set of golf clubs were given to each of the sixteen boys who qualified for the championship flight.

Other special prizes were donated by merchants of the city.

Roseland Golf and Country Club is a new eighteen-hole championship course for the Border Cities. The course was in excellent shape for the Tournament. This was the first Junior Golf Tournament ever staged in this district. Judging by comments of visiting golfers, the greens are the best in this part of the country.

GREAT GOLF SEASON AT ST. ANDREWS, N.B.

THE sporting 18-hole and 9-hole courses of the Algonquin Hotel Club at St. Andrews, N.B., this season have been crowded "morning, noon and noon" with prominent players from all parts of Canada and the States. There were many tournaments and competitions and the following were the winners of cups and trophies:

Passamaquoddy Cup, presented by F. H. Markey, winner, Miss E. Perkins; runner-up, Miss B. Richardson.

Challenge Cup, presented by the Knapp family, winner, J. E. Ganong; runner-up, E. S. Aitkin.

F. W. Thompson Cup, winner, Thomas Scott; runner-up, Fred Rea.

July Ringer, presented by W. F. Wilson, winner, E. S. Knapp (56) balls; runner-up, Rosalie Knapp (62) balls.

Medal Round Handicap, presented by the Knapp family (45 entries), winner, Rev. Geo. Ferguson, 63 cup; runner-up, Henry S. Baldwin, 66 cup.

You will see by the results of the competition that Miss R. Knapp did very well this year. There are four in the family, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, Miss Rosalie and Mr. Edward, who are all great golfers."

FOX WINS SOUTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP WITH BRILLIANT SCORE

PLAYING par golf for 36 holes over the course of the St. Clair Golf and Country Club, Windsor, Ont., Bill Fox, professional at the club, carried off the Thomas Chick Cup and the Open Championship of Southern Ontario for 1928. Fox's scores were 74 and 70, and par for the course is 72. Thus his total for the 36 holes, 144, is the exact equivalent of two par rounds.

Fox led a field of 16 rivals, half a dozen of them professionals and the others crack amateurs, and he nosed out Malcolm Polhill, formerly of Kingsville, but now unattached, by a margin of three strokes. Polhill looked like the winner at the end of the morning round. He carded a nice 72, to equal par, on the first 18, while Fox took a 74, and Bob McKelvie, of Beach Grove, a 75. But in the afternoon "Mal" fell off his game just enough to take three more strokes than he did in the morning, turning in a 75 for a total of 147. At the same time Fox was beating par by two strokes to regain the advantage he had yielded in the forenoon, and pile up a lead of three strokes. Bobby Gray, of Chatham, finished with a nice 73 to take third money. The card for the afternoon round that won Fox the title read as follows:—

Out .....	2 4 5 3 4 4 4 4 4	—35
In .....	3 4 3 3 5 4 5 5 3	—70

ONTARIO JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Is Won in a Dashing Manner by Gordon Taylor, Jr., of York Downs, Toronto.
W. Millichamp, Oshawa, and Joe Thompson, of Hamilton,
In Second and Third Place

THE links of the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, presented a wonderful scene on Friday, September 9th, when the sixth Junior Championship of Ontario was staged under ideal weather and course conditions. There were players as young as twelve years of age and upwards and they simply took possession of fairways and greens from early morning until late in the evening. In fact so large was the number of entrants from all parts of the Province that at least a score of competitors finished in the dusk and were unable to turn in cards. At 7.45 President Jess Applegath, of the Mississauga Club, and Frank Harris, club captain, went over the last four holes of the course to warn the players who were grouped on benches awaiting turns to tee up that they must hurry along if they were to finish.

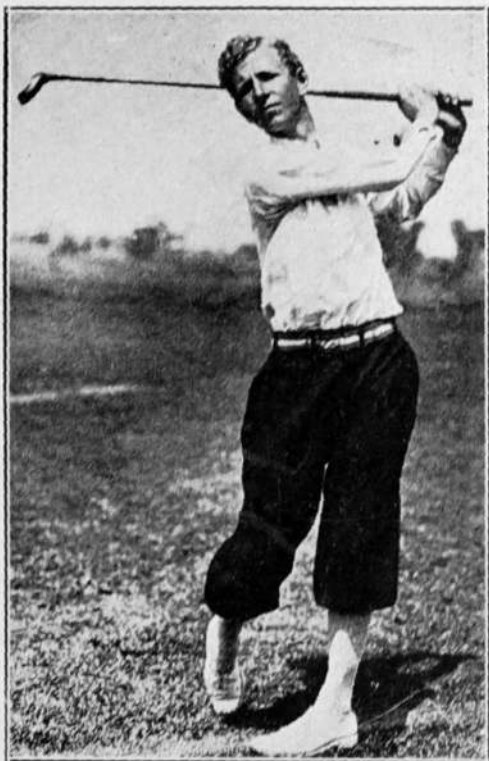

However, the inability of a number of entrants to finish or to conclude their second round in daylight had no bearing on the result of the championship, for there were no contenders for the title on the course at dusk.

Another year some means will have to be taken to limit the number of players in this popular competition, which has grown from small beginnings to a Tournament with one of the largest fields recorded in any Ontario events.

And make no mistake about it, these youngsters played excellent golf. Many of them were lacing out balls from the tee of 250 yards or more and following them up with crisp wood and iron shots to the green. Showing the versatility and the lure of golf for old and young alike. A few miles away on the Lambton Links the Canadian and British Seniors were heartily enjoying their foursomes at the same time as the boys were eagerly participating in their Championship. In the two events the ages of the participants ran the gamut all the way from twelve till well nigh eighty —a difference of nearly seventy years. No other sport can point to such a record as that.

With two excellent rounds of 76 and 75—151, Gordon Taylor, Jr., of York Downs, who for the past two

The prize winners in this most interesting and educational Tournament were:

Championship—Gordon Taylor, Jr., York Downs, 151.

Runner-up—W. J. Millichamp, Oshawa, 155.

Best gross, 18 holes, morning—Joe Thompson, Chedoke, 78.

Best gross, 18 holes, afternoon—Gordon Duncan, Brantford, 77.

Best gross, first nine holes, morning—Philip Farley, Cedar Brook, 37.

Best gross, first nine holes, afternoon—S. Horne, Lookout Point, 38.

Best gross, second nine holes, morning—J. B. Nash, London Highlands, 37.

Best gross, second nine holes, afternoon—P. Philip, Galt, 38.

Best gross, 36 holes, 15 years and under—R. G. Phelan, Scarboro, 167.

Youngest player—Buster Symmes, Mississauga, 202.

Largest score for 18 holes—H. W. Livingstone, Briars, 119.

Best net, 36 holes, 15 years and under—P. Eastwood, York Downs, and J. Cosgrave, Lambton, 130.

Cup presented by President Jess Applegath, of Mississauga Club, for best score by member of that club—D'Arcy Doherty and W. A. Eckhardt, 168.

Mr. Jess Applegath, President of Mississauga, and his officials and the officials of the Ontario Golf Association were simply indefatigable throughout the day and the result was a well-run Tournament "from the first drive until the last putt", notwithstanding the great congestion on the course. Mississauga and the Juniors were alike at their best. Owing to his absence in Europe, last year's Champion, Gordon Gunn, of Mississauga, was unable to defend his title. The winning score last year was 157 at Lakeview.

AN OLD SCOTTISH GOLFING SONG.

"How sweet the air upon the links,
That stretch along the sea;
Where bending down, white clover heads,
In silence sips the bee.

And 'tween each stroke, how socially,
Abroad in chat we go;
The shape o' club, the make o' ba'
Discuss with sportsman glow.

Then hale-lunged laughter peals aloud,
And banter stingless flies,
An' tears o' mirth, astonished run,
From sad, dyspeptic eyes."

CAPTAIN MELVILLE MILLAR TROPHY

Is Won by James Johnstone, of Rosedale. Runner-up, Nicol Thompson, of Hamilton. Tournament Generally Voted the Most Successful of the Season

WHAT was generally voted the most successful professional tournament held this season was staged at the Islington Golf Club, Toronto, Sept. 10th, 11th and 12th, when forty professionals and assistant professionals teed up in a medal-match play competition for the beautiful trophy presented by Captain Melville Millar, Manager of the Islington Golf Club, and Mrs. Millar.

The first day was devoted to a medal qualifying round and some very fine golf was uncorked as the following remarkably fine scores of the sixteen players who qualified testified:

	O.	I.	O.	I.	T'1.
W. Lamb, Tor. Golf.....	37	36	35	35	—143
Geo. Cumming, Tor. Golf	36	40	34	37	—147
Dave Spittal, Uplands ...	35	40	34	38	—147
Nicol Thompson, Hamilton .....	39	39	34	36	—148
Andy Kay, Lambton .....	36	40	36	38	—150
Fred Hunt, Brantford.....	37	41	37	38	—153
Frank Lock, St. Andrew's	38	39	38	40	—155
A. S. Lindfield, Islington	38	36	41	40	—155
xArthur Hunt, Lambton..	35	41	36	43	—155
J. Johnstone, Rosedale.....	35	40	39	41	—155
xT. Filmore, Lon. Hunt....	35	40	40	41	—156
A. J. Hulbert, Thornhill....	39	40	38	40	—157
L. H. White, Glen Stewart	39	37	40	42	—158
xJack Littler, Scarboro....	36	40	40	42	—158
Bert Tew, Lake Shore ...	44	41	35	38	—158
xR. Borthwick, Thornhill	40	40	39	39	—158
x Assistants.

That certainly was a very fine card of Lamb's, the Canadian Professional Champion. Nothing better has been done this season.

The first round at match play was marked by the defeat of Andrew Kay, Lambton Golf and Country Club, who lost his match with Locke by 2 and 1, and the elimination of Willie Lamb, Toronto Golf Club, who was defeated by Arthur Hulbert, Thornhill Golf Club, at the twentieth hole. Hulbert and Lamb have been the leading Canadian professionals in the open events of the season.

After defeating Kay, Locke met Fred Hunt, Brantford, and won one of the closest contests of the tournament, reaching the semi-final round with a home-green victory. James Johnstone, former Canadian professional champion, defeated Hulbert by 4 and 3. Bert Tew defeated George Cumming, Toronto Golf, by 3 and 1, while Nicol Thompson won from Dave Spittal, Uplands, by 3 and 2.

“Jimmie” Johnstone, popular professional of Rosedale, who wins for the first time the beautiful Captain Melville Millar Cup.

The second round results were:

Nicol Thompson, Hamilton Golf, defeated Dave Spittal, Uplands, 3 and 2.

Bert Tew, Lake Shore, defeated Geo. Cumming, Toronto Golf, 3 and 1.

James Johnstone, Rosedale, defeated Arthur Hulbert, Thornhill, 4 and 3.

Frank Locke, St. Andrew's, defeated Fred Hunt, Brantford, 1 up.

In the semi-finals, Jimmy Johnstone playing par golf or better at every hole defeated Frank Locke 4 and 3, whilst Nicol Thompson was taken to the 19th hole by Bert Tew before he registered a victory. Tew throughout the Tournament played extremely good golf, possibly the best of his career.

The final between Johnstone and Thompson attracted a large gallery which was rewarded by witnessing a very fine exhibition of clever, classy golf. The Hamilton veteran as a result of a superb short game was 2 up at the 9th hole. Coming in he lagged a bit, however, and the long-hitting Rosedale pro, although he was throwing away chances on the green, eventually emerged the winner by a 2-hole margin. It was a stubbornly fought game but "thirty prevailed against fifty" as it generally does and Johnstone has the great honour of having his name inscribed for the first time on the artistic Millar Cup.

Mr. and Mrs. Millar presented cheques of $25 each to the winner and runner-up and in addition the Ontario Professional Golf Association gave liberal cheques to all the qualifiers and semi-finalists. Mr. J. W. Pickup, President of Islington, presented the prizes in a very acceptable manner, assisted by Captain Millar. Speeches were also made by Ralph H. Reville, W. M. Freeman, Captain of the O. P. G. A., and Nicol Thompson on behalf of the players.

They one and all paid tribute to Captain Millar and endorsed a medal match play Tournament as an ideal competition. The entrants were loud in their praise of the Islington course, which this season is in superb condition and which possesses several character holes unsurpassed in Ontario.

VISIT OF THE BRITISH WALKER CUP TEAM

Play Friendly Matches at Toronto and Montreal and Defeat Hamilton Golfers by 6 to 2. Dr. Tweddell, 1927 Champion, Stars for Visitors

A PARTICULARLY enjoyable feature of the Canadian golfing season, now nearing its end, was the brief visit to Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Quebec of the Walker Cup team accompanied by the Manager, Mr. Henry Gullen, Secretary for many years now of the famous Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrews, Scotland, who is well known here, having been with the Walker Cup team on its previous visit to Canada in 1924.

The team came from Chicago to Niagara Falls where they were met by Mr. A. J. Hills, of the Canadian National Railways and Mr. B. L. Anderson, Secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association. The team was the guest of the C. N. R. at breakfast at their new Power Inn restaurant, overlooking the Falls, and the C.N.R. also provided for the visitors to see the Falls.

Arriving in Toronto on September 2nd the eight members of the team, on Labour Day visited the Rosedale golf course and paired up with Mr. Ross Somerville, Canadian Amateur Champion, and seven local players in a friendly match.

The game which attracted the greatest attention was that between T. P. Perkins, British Amateur Champion, and R. M. Gray, Rosedale, and T. A. Torrance and Ross Somerville. This was a very close match which was eventually won on the 17th green by the Canadian champion and his British partner.

Somerville, noted as a long driver, frequently was outdriven by both Torrance and Perkins, although never by much, but he was steadier throughout and had an approximate 72, par, for the eighteen holes, while Gray had a 74, Perkins a 75, and Torrance a 77. The latter was a bit timid on a number of his long approach shots, and this cost him several strokes. The winning pair had a best ball of 68 against their opponents' 70.

Another foursome that provided good golf throughout was that in which Fred Hoblitzel, of Lambton, teamed up with Major C. O. Hezlet to defeat Jack Firstbrook, Lambton, and Dr. Tweddell, the 1927 British Amateur Champion, one up. Hoblitzel had a 73, and Hezlet a 74, while Firstbrook was 75 and Tweddell 76. The winners had a best ball of 70, one stroke better than the losers.

Dr. Adam Beatty and R. H. Hardman finishing up all square with Alex. Gooderham and G. N. C. Martin, both the Rosedale players having 74's, Martin 80 and Hardman 84. Gooderham and Martin had a best ball of 73, while that of their opponents was 70.

In the fourth match Gordon Taylor, Jr., of York Downs, and Dr. A. R. McCallum defeated P. C. Tidy, of the Toronto Golf, and J. B. Beck, one up.

The teams were most hospitably entertained by Mr. Reid, President of Rosedale, and directors and members of the club. The Britishers were guests of Rosedale overnight and expressed themselves as delighted with the course.

At the Rosedale dinner at which some sixty were present, Mr. Reid, the President, proposed a toast to the Royal and Ancient, which was responded to in a very delightful and able manner by Mr. Gullen.

Next morning they motored to Hamilton where they were guests of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club at Ancaster. Here the matches took on an International flavour, the visitors playing against a strong Hamilton team augmented by Ross Somerville. The scores:—

G. W. Wible, Hamilton .....	38	42—80
John Beck, Great Britain .....	38	40—78
C. H. Selater, Hamilton .....	44	42—86
G. N. C. Marten, Great Britain....	40	42—82

Beck, 2 up on Wible, Marten, 4 up on Selater.

A. A. Adams, Hamilton .....	38	41—79
Capt. Hezlett, Great Britain .....	38	35—73
E. C. Gould, Hamilton .....	37	36—73
T. A. Torrance, Great Britain....	35	35—70

Capt. Hezlett four up on A. A. Adams, T. A. Torrance two up on E. C. Gould.

NO more work for this lad—for awhile, at least! I'm going to be as happy and contented as the rest of these people. Man, what a hotel this is! And the food they give you! I never ate so many good things all at once. . . . Just about walked my legs off this morning. I was in the Ocean a good part of yesterday, so today I decided to see what the Boardwalk was like. Did half the length and back again! It was certainly good to see that dining-room! . . . Going up on the Ocean Deck with a book till dinner time, and let the sun and air do their worst. I can't think of a better way to spend an afternoon.

Dr. Tweddell, Great Britain .....	36	34-70

Somerville 4 up on Perkins, Tweddell 4 up on Lewis.

It will be seen from the above that Ross Somerville and Dr. Bruce Sutherland both won their matches. The Britishers were out in front in the six other games, so the score was 6 matches to 2 in their favour.

Some very fine golf was witnessed by quite a large gallery. The British champion, Perkins, was not on his game at all, but his team-mates, Dr. Tweddell, 1927 champion, and Torrance, certainly were. They both registered 70's, or two under par and that for the first time round a course like Ancaster is very fine golf indeed. Gould, of Hamilton, with a 73, good enough to win almost any time, found himself two down to Torrance notwithstanding. Somerville, of the Hamilton team, and Major Hezlett, of the British team, also had 73's. The visitors were most hospitably entertained by the officials of the Hamilton Club before leaving for Montreal in the evening.

In that city they were the guests of the celebrated French-Canadian Club, Laval-sur-le-Lac. They were paired up in four-ball friendly matches with local golf stars and thoroughly enjoyed the game and the charming course.

Once again Dr. Tweddell starred. He turned in the best card of the afternoon, a 71. But for an unfortunate 6 on the 18th hole he would have tied or beaten the Laval record, which is 70. The Doctor was trapped on his second shot going to the 18th.

The visitors were guests at luncheon at Laval at which President Trudeau presided. In the evening the players were guests at a dinner at Laval at which President T. O. Lyall, of the P.Q.G.A., presided. It was a particularly jolly function.

Proceeding to Quebec the Britishers, who were also accompanied here by Mr. Anderson, were met at the Chateau Frontenac by Mr. W. J. Lynch, Vice-President of the Kent Golf Club, and Mr. J. Tessier, of the Quebec Golf Club. The team was taken for a delightful drive out to the Kent Club. The first game was played in the morning over the Kent Golf Links, the local team consisting of Ivan Bosse, G. L. Molchan, A. D. McCooey, R. A. Benoit, W. P. Good, J. Ernest Roy, Birg-General T. L. Tremblay, T. G. Leonard, Adjutor Dussault, J. A. Wilson, James Ruddick and R. B. McDunnough. Following this game the team was entertained at luncheon by the Kent Club, after which they proceeded to the Quebec Golf Links, where they played a match against a team composed of Ivan Bosse, Gratz Joseph, Stuart Ahern, L. Campbell, J. Des R. Tessier, H. A. Harding, Carl Whyte and A. H. M. Hay, after which the team was entertained at dinner by the Quebec Golf Club, the function being presided over by the Hon. W. Gerard Power.

The following then left for Boston to take part in the United States Amateur:—Dr. W. Tweddell, T. P. Perkins, T. A. Torrance, Major Chas. Hezlet, R. H. Hardman, John Beck. The remainder of the team and Henry Gullen, Secretary, sailed for home on Friday, September 7th.

Three charming ladies who were in the party were entertained by Mrs. Richard Southam in Toronto, by Mrs. J. L. Counsel, Hamilton, and the executives of the lady members of the respective clubs.

As a result of the all too brief Canadian tour it was the general consensus of opinion here that the three outstanding players of the team were Perkins (although he never really got into his stride on Canadian courses, complaining of being tired from so much travelling), Dr. Tweddell and Torrance. This trio has class plus.

QUEBEC AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

W. M. Hodgson, Brilliant Young Royal Montreal Player, Annexes the Title With a Card of 150. C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, Runner-up.

MAURICE Hodgson, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, who has for some few years now been a leading factor in golf in Canada and who comes of a celebrated golfing family, on September 8th at Kanawaki, Montreal, with a 74-76—150, headed a very representative field of Quebec players to win the Amateur Championship of the Province. He has been "knocking at the door" now for some little time and well deserved to at last annex a major championship. Hodgson had a two stroke margin over C. C. Fraser, ex-amateur champion of Canada, who was runner-up, and three strokes over J. A. Fuller, also of the Royal Montreal. Four strokes back was Jack Cameron, winner of the Open Championship of Quebec. Hodgson's excellent card:

Morning round:

Out .....543 355 453—37

In .....522 753 535—37—74

Afternoon round:

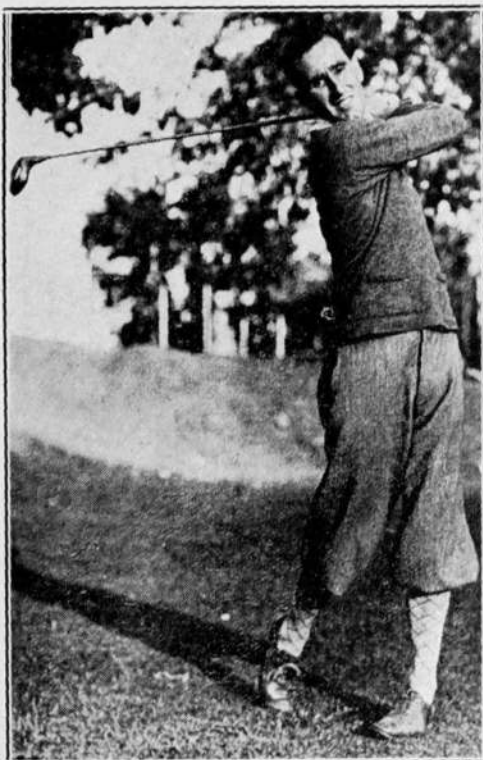

Out .....453 446 543—38

In .....533 455 445—38—76—150

The Amateur Championship was conducted this year for the first time with the players rated according to the new provincial handicaps. The field in the championship proper was smaller than usual. But in conjunction with the Amateur Championship, though as a distinct event, there was held the handicap competition, which attracted a large entry list and provided keen competition. The best net for the 36 holes in this event was turned in by the promising young Laval player, M. A. Brault, who carded an 80-81—161 or a net 137, while tied for second place were D. C. Orrock and H. T. Palmer, clubmates from Senneville, who had net 145's, Orrock winning in the play-off. P. S. Ross, Kanawaki, had a net 141 for the 36 holes, but was a prize winner as the scorer of the best gross 36 among the handicap players and could only receive the one award.

The Prize List:—

Best gross 36 holes, Championship, W. M. Hodgson, Royal Montreal, 150; runner-up, C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, 152; third best gross 36 holes, J. A. Fuller, Royal Montreal, 153; best net 36 holes, R. Cowans, W. M. Hodgson, dashing young Royal Montreal golfer, who won the Quebec Amateur Championship.

Royal Montreal, 144; best gross 18 holes, J. A. Cameron, 76 (after play-off with J. W. Yuile, Royal Montreal); best net 18 holes, H. Powell, Grand'Mere, 71.

Handicap event—Best net 36 holes, M. A. Brault, Laval, 137; second best net, D. C. Orrock, Senneville, 145 (after play-off with H. T. Palmer); third best net, H. T. Palmer, Senneville, 145; best gross 36 holes, P. S. Ross, Kanawaki, 161; best gross 18 holes, R. McDonald, Granby, 81; best net 18 holes, C. Rankin, Beaconsfield.

The following were the best score in the Championship (170 and lower):

W. H. Hodgson, Royal Montreal, 74-76—150; C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, 76-76—152; J. A. Fuller, Royal Montreal, 75-78—153; J. A. Cameron, Rivermead, Ottawa, 79-76—155; J. W. Yuile, Royal Montreal, 80-76—156; J.

Cowans, Royal Montreal, 81-79-160; A. B. Darling, Whitlock, 77-83-160; F. B. Logan, Beaconsfield, 83-78-161; W. McLuckie, Kanawaki, 85-77-162; R. Cowans, Royal Montreal, 84-78-162; N. M. Scott, Royal Montreal, 79-83-162; C. Villiers, Summerlea, 81-82-163; A. R. Wilson, Beaconsfield, 79-84-163; Leo Patenaude, Laval, 82-82-164; Alex. Wilson, Mount Bruno, 80-87-167; H. W. Maxson, Country Club, 85-82-167; H. Powell, Grand'Mere, 88-79-167; G. H. Turpin, Royal Montreal, 83-84-167; S. Gamon, Marlborough, 82-85-167; J. Buchanan, Kanawaki, 84-84-168; R. C. Smith, Beaconsfield, 90-79-169; G. M. Sommerville, Kanawaki, 89-81-170.

It was generally conceded that both the Amateur and Open Championships were easily the most successful in the history of golf in Quebec and the officials of the Provincial Association came in for all kinds of compliments and they deserved it. Kanawaki, too, was at its best and all the entrants were delighted with the course and the arrangements made for their comfort in the club house.

WILLIE PARK TROPHY

Is Won by Gordon Boeckh, of York Downs. Another Junior Player Shows His Heels to Some of the Best Players in Ontario.

ONCE again a junior and a member of the York Downs Golf and Country Club, Toronto, is to the fore. The Willie Park Trophy match at the Weston Golf Club is now looked upon as one of the leading golf events of the Ontario season. A day after Gordon Taylor, of York Downs, won the Ontario Junior Championship at Mississauga, his club-mate, Gordon Boeckh, headed a record field of the majority of the leading players of Ontario, both old and young, to annex the coveted Willie Park Trophy. It was another brilliant victory for the younger school, who this season are sweeping all before them both in the amateur and professional tournaments.

Gordon had the very excellent score of 74 to head the pack, the same as made by Dr. Joe Sullivan, of Rosedale, who last year for the second year in succession headed the field. The card of the winner:

Out .....454 344 535-37
In .....446 443 444-37
Total ..... 74

Two particularly consistent rounds, over a difficult course like Weston.

D. R. Hutton, Weston .....	85	13-72
B. Gordon, Humber Valley .....	85	13-72
G. Edwards, Galt .....	85	12-73

The number of entrants was over 125. Five of the eight players with scores of 78 or lower were juniors.

The prizes were presented by President A. B. Cooper and Club Captain Murray Stewart, Mr. Cooper referring to the purpose of the match and thanking the clubs of the district for their support. Mr. Bowyer replied for the competitors. "We have had a wonderful day," he said. "The competitors wish to thank the club for the manner in which the tournament was staged and the splendid prizes offered for the competition." Mr. Bowyer, who is the popular secretary of the Rosedale Golf Club, advanced the excellent suggestion that the senior clubs of Toronto should adopt the one-day 18-hole tournament for amateurs in 1929 and offer a number of matches, of which three might be held in the spring and possibly as many more, including the Park Trophy, should be held in the fall.

ONTARIO GIRLS' JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, Defeats Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, in an Exciting Final. Other Prize Winners

THE wisdom of enlarging the Toronto Girls' Junior Championship so as to include entrants from all over the Province was amply demonstrated at the Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, Toronto, this month, when forty players turned in scores for the Qualifying Round and among the sixteen eligible to compete for the Championship at match play were no fewer than nine from clubs outside of Toronto and two of these outside players, Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, and Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, eventually played off in the final. The following young ladies qualified:

W. Robinson, St. Catharines....	49	50-99
Mary Howlett, Weston .....	50	49-99
Roselma Lake, Briars .....	48	51-99
D. McIlwraith, Hamilton .....	52	49-101
Mary Donald, Burlington .....	48	53-101
Mary Hunter, Glendale .....	53	52-105
Ann Farwell, Orillia .....	51	55-106
Betty Sutherland, Weston .....	51	55-106
E. Cumming, Humber Valley....	59	49-108
Betty Willard, Chatham .....	57	51-108
Grace Beatty, Ladies' .....	58	55-113
Marion Wallace, Thornhill .....	54	59-113
Elsinor Wegenast, Brampton....	59	54-113
Eileen Williamson, Ladies' .....	55	59-114
Mary Ansley, Brampton .....	59	56-115
Audrey Grahame, Scarborough....	55	60-115

And this is what happened in the play-off:

First Round:—

Edna Cumming, Humber Valley, defeated Mary Ansley, Brampton, 5 and 4.

Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines, defeated Elsinor Wegenast, Brampton, 7 and 5.

Grace Beatty, Ladies' Club, defeated Audrey Graham, Scarborough, 2 up.

Mary Howlett, Weston, defeated Ann Farwell, Orillia, 4 and 3.

Eileen Williamson, Orillia, defeated Mary Hunter, Glendale, 4 and 3.

Douglas McIlwraith, Hamilton, defeated Betty Willard, Chatham, 3 and 2.

Roselma Lake, Briars, defeated Marion Wallace, Thornhill, 3 and 1.

Mary Donald, Burlington, defeated Betty Sutherland, Weston, 5 and 4.

Second Round:—

Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines, defeated Edna Cumming, Humber Valley, 3 and 2.

Mary Howlett, Weston, defeated Grace Beatty, Ladies' Club, 5 and 4.

Douglas McIlwraith, Hamilton, defeated Eileen Williamson, Orillia, 3 and 2.

Mary Donald, Burlington, defeated Roselma Lake, Briars, 6 and 5.

Third Round:

Miss Robinson defeated Miss Howlett, 3 and 4.

Miss Donald Defeated Miss McIlwraith, 2 and 1.

Final—Miss Winnifred Robinson defeated Miss Donald, 1 up.

Miss Robinson is to be heartily congratulated on taking the Championship to St. Kits against such a strong field of Toronto and other competitors. She played fine golf in the Qualifying Round and throughout the week. In the final against Miss Donald, who is also a young player of great merit, the issue was not decided until the last green was reached.

In addition to the Championship there were Flights and other competitions. The whole Tournament was a pronounced success and Miss Ada Mackenzie and the officials of the Ladies' Club are to be heartily congratulated on the unbounded success of their efforts. It is from the young players that the future champions of Canada will be developed. There is no question about that.

The list of prize winners:
 Champion (C. Q. Ellis Trophy)—Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines.
 Runner-up—Mary Donald, Burlington.
 Championship consolation winner—Betty Willard, Chatham.
 Runner-up—Audrey Grahame, Scarborough.
 First-flight winner—Marion Wibby, Scarborough.
 Runner-up—Bess McPherson, Orillia.
 Second-flight winner—Helen Mitchell, Ladies' Club.
 Junior grade—Isobel Somers, Lambton.
 Longest drive—Edna Cumming, Humber Valley.
 Three longest drives—Audrey Grahame, Scarborough.
 Approaching and putting—Elinor Williams, Ladies' Club.
 Best gross score—Mary Howlett, Weston.
 Semi-finalists—Douglas Mellowraith, Auster; Mary Howlett, Weston.

Miss Aleen Aked, of Bayview, was the winner last year, but the event was then restricted to Toronto golfers.

NEWS OF THE MIDDLE WEST

In a Triple Play-off C. D. Reid, of St. Charles Club, Winnipeg, Wins Manitoba Boys' Junior Championship, and Miss Lois McLaren, Also of St. Charles, the Girls—Mr. W. Kidd, of Winner in "Free Press" Tournament

SIXTY-EIGHT of Manitoba's best young golfers competed in the Junior Championship of the Province, the route being over the Southwood course. It was a splendidly run Tournament thanks to the work of Bryan O'Kelly and others in charge. With the excellent scores of 80 three juniors tied for the title, C. D. Reid, of St. Charles, J. R. Dillabough, of Norwood, and W. Tachensky, unattached. In the play-off Young Reid won out. Some excellent golf was played by the three leaders and other of the juniors.

Following are the winners by age classes, under 17, C. D. Reid, J. R. Dillabough; under 16, W. Tachensky, R. Landin; under 15, G. Bain, B. Donovan; under 14, R. J. Reith, L. Grace; under 13, G. Cotton; under 12, B. Swaun; under 11, M. Maciejkon; under 10, A. Cotton.

The Junior Girls' Championship was also won by a St. Charles player, Miss Lois McLaren, who in the final defeated Miss Mary Northwood, also of St. Charles. The match was all square at the 17th, but playing very steadily, Miss McLaren won the 18th and the championship. It was the best fought-out final ever seen in a Junior Championship. In the first flight Miss Mary Russell in the final, defeated Miss Betty Reid. Miss Verna Henning won the Consolation, defeating Miss Gwen Campbell.

* * *

William Kidd, of Weyburn, Saskatchewan, again won the major honours in the third annual Free Press golf tournament, which is doing so much for golf in the West, when he proved too strong for Charles Beck, Jr., Yorkton, in the 36-hole final over the course of the Winnipeg Golf Club at Bird's Hill. The Weyburn golfer won the same title last year and played first-class championship golf to defeat his more youthful and less experienced.

opponent, 8 and 7. Beck showed a splendid fighting spirit against a contender who made few errors. Kidd traversed the morning round in 83 and came home in 79 in the final eighteen.

Dr. Irvine Fryer, Virden, competing in his third Free Press final, was successful in capturing the second flight trophy after a hard battle for 27 holes with J. J. Kraus, of Wakaw. The Saskatchewan golfer then became consistently erratic and lost the final 6 and 5. J. G. Crawford, of Gladstone, grand champion of the 1926 tournament, had a splendid day of golf to capture the consolation flight from W. A. Pope, Humboldt, 5 and 4.

The distribution of prizes sees an even break between Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Kidd taking the grand championship trophy and the qualifying prize. Dr. Fryer the second flight trophy, and Jim Crawford the consolation award.

Kidd's display was a splendid exhibition of golf at its best, especially in the second round. The earlier round found him badly off his game on the greens, taking numerous extra putts that ran up a card that otherwise would easily have been in the low seventies. However, he combined an out score of 43 strokes with a second half of 40 to complete the first eighteen in 83. In the afternoon he played a magnificent game with a four-hole lead to work on. His driving was especially beautiful and straight.

* * *

Labour Day saw a large number of members playing over the course of the Souris Golf Club, Souris, Man., with a fair representation of visiting golfers. The final 36 hole game for the men's club championship was played between Lyall McMorran and Cyr'l Evans, McMorran winning by 3 and 2, securing the title for the third year in succession. G. T. Sewell and Dr. H. A. Croll refereed the game, which was witnessed by a fair sized crowd.

MANITOBA LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, One of the Best Lady Players in the West, is the Winner, With Mrs. B. Grant, Runner-up

THE Manitoba Ladies' Golf Championship at the Winnipeg Golf Club brought out a splendid field. The Qualifying Round on the opening day was played under most adverse weather circumstances, which greatly handicapped good scores. Mrs. B. P. Pellenz led the field with a net score of 90, Mrs. H. Duncan came second with 94, Mrs. L. T. Ainley third with 95, closely followed by Mrs. Beverley Grant, 97. Sixteen qualified for the Championship and the following were the match results:

Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, of Elmhurst Golf Club, Winnipeg, winner of the Manitoba Ladies' Championship.

First round—Mrs. B. P. Pellenz beat Mrs. R. McLeod; Mrs. J. H. Forster beat Mrs. A. McBean on the nineteenth hole; Mrs. G. Konantz beat Mrs. G. Ritchie; Mrs. L. T. Ainley beat Mrs. W. J. Lindal; Mrs. S. M. Campbell beat Mrs. G. Koester; Mrs. B. Grant beat Mrs. H. H. Fleming; Miss M. Northwood beat Mrs. H. Duncan; Mrs. S. Hart beat Mrs. F. G. Andrews.

Second round—Mrs. B. P. Pellenz beat Mrs. G. Konantz; Mrs. J. H. Forster beat Mrs. L. T. Ainley; Mrs. B. Grant beat Mrs. S. M. Campbell; Miss M. Northwood beat Mrs. F. Hart.

Third round—Mrs. Pellenz beat Mrs. Forster; Mrs. Grant beat Miss Northwood.

Final—Mrs. Pellenz, Elmhurst Golf Club, beat Mrs. Grant, Winnipeg Club, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Pellenz, who is a previous title holder, played superb golf to defeat Mrs. Grant so convincingly. She was right at the top of her game. A large gallery followed the final.

The consolation event was captured by Mrs. G. Koester, Niakwa Club, playing a fine game in defeating Mrs. A. McBean, who also turned in a splendid card.

Miss Iris Chapman, Manitoba's first girl golf champion, continued her splendid record set in the early stages of the tournament, and won the first flight championship by disposing of Mrs. T. Kipp, who also played fine golf during the tournament. Miss Chapman was right on her game and was well worthy of the title she won. She is another contestant from the Elmhurst Club.

The second flight prize and championship was won by Miss Lois McLaren, of the St. Charles Country Club, who defeated Mrs. E. S. Parker in a fine match. Both players did well but Miss McLaren proved unbeatable. She had a splendid day both with driving and putting, playing even stronger in the earlier rounds.

The tournament was completed in splendid fashion, greatly due to the capable work of the executive in charge, especially Mrs. Alves and Mrs. Faulkner, but not forgetting the fine co-operation of all players participating. Fair weather after the first day combined with the splendid condition of the Winnipeg course, helped immensely in making the annual affair a huge success.

INTERESTING CHAMPIONSHIPS IN MONTREAL

THE Montreal City and District Ladies' Championship two-day event was held at Senneville Country Club, August 27th-28th. Ideal weather prevailed, excepting for the intense heat both days, and seventy golfers teed off on Monday morning. Mrs. J. W. Ross and Mrs. F. A. Mann, both of the executive of the L.G.U., had charge of the arrangements and were responsible for a very successful tournament. The players were guests of the club at the tea hour on the closing day, the tea being served on the west end of the club lawn, and the shady trees and the lake view made a very delightful background for the event. Immediately following the tea, the prizes were presented by Miss Kate Campbell, President of the Quebec Branch of the L.G.U., and assisted by Mrs. Rowe, President of the Ladies' Branch of Senneville Club. Following are the first five prize winners:

Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, champion (score 181 for 36 holes, which won for her the Atholstan Cup); Miss Margaret Lockhart, Royal Montreal, runner-up; 36 holes low net won by Miss Catherine Beer, of Beaconsfield. The prize for this score was a Sheffield silver waiter, presented by the Ladies' Branch of Senneville. The 36 holes low net was won by Mrs. E. Savard, of Laval, and the 36 holes low gross by Mrs. H. Burrows, of Senneville.

In conjunction with the Ladies' Tournament, the Quebec Branch of the L.G.U. inaugurated, at the suggestion of Mrs. J. W. Ross, a Junior Girls' Championship, age limit eighteen years, handicap limit up to 35, ten young girls participated and the following were the prize winners: Miss Lorraine Howe, Whitlock, Champion; low net 36 holes, Miss Doris Taylor, of Summerlea; low gross first day, Miss Osra Gault, Laurentian Club; low gross 3rd day, Miss Barbara Took, Beaconsfield.

Miss Dora Virtue, of the Whitlock Golf Club, Lady Champion of Quebec, who also wins the Championship of Montreal and District.

THE NOTABLE VISIT OF THE BRITISH SENIORS

Prominent Old Country Golfers Enthusiastically Welcomed in Canada. Play Fine Golf and Make Hosts of Friends. Win all Their Friendly Matches Whilst Here.

NO VISIT of golfers to Canada has been more anticipated than that of the team of the British Seniors, which arrived in Quebec last month on altogether too brief a visit. The party consisted of the following prominent members of the British Senior Golfers' Society, which was only recently successfully organized:

John William B. Pease, Captain, London; Frederick W. Ashe, London, Honourary Treasurer; J. Baker, West Wickham; George C. Cassels, London; Douglas Clayton, Sutton Coldfield; Admiral St. John Farquhar, Sandwich; Herbert M. Hapworth, Leeds; Halford M. Hewitt, London; Basil Hoare, London; Alexander O. Joy, London; Dr. A. Mackenzie, Leeds; Brig.-Gen. B. M. Poore, C.I.E., D.S.O., Wimborne; Lt.-Col. Francis Popham, D.S.O., London, Honourary Secretary; Sir Milsom Rees, K.C.V.O., F.T.C.S., London; J. C. Stewart, Kinlochmordant, and Lewis C. V. Wilkes, Eastbourne.

The distinguished party was met on their arrival at Quebec by Sir Georges Garneau, a Governor, and Hon. Frank Carrel, M.L.C., Major Herbert McGreevy and Mr. W. A. Home, members of the Canadian Senior Golfers' Association, who greeted them on board the liner and afterwards accompanied them to the Chateau Frontenac. In the evening the British golfers were entertained to dinner by Sir George Garneau at the Boischatel Golf Club, the function being attended also by several members of the Canadian Senior Golfers' Association and other prominent local citizens.

Next day the visitors enjoyed their first game of golf in Canada over the beautiful Boischatel course. Among the local players who went around with the visitors were Sir George Garneau, Hon. Frank Carrel, M.L.C., Messrs. H. A. Price, H. McGreevy, W. A. Home and A. Boulton. Mr. Pease and the other members of his team had some excellent scores to their credit.

Leaving the Ancient Capital, the visit to which was so thoroughly enjoyed, the party proceeded to Montreal, where they were the guests of Messrs. W. G. Ross, Governor of the Canadian Seniors, E. L. Pease, Governor of the Canadian Seniors, J. J. McGill, Governor of the Canadian Seniors, and other prominent Montrealers. On Tuesday, the 28th, they were entertained at a luncheon at the Royal Montreal Golf Club, at Dixie, which was presided over by Mr. J. J. McGill. The visitors were warmly welcomed, and cordial wishes for a successful and enjoyable journey were extended to them.

In the afternoon they played a friendly match with members of the Canadian Seniors' Association. Eight foursomes indulged in 18 holes of match play over the southern course of the club. Of the eight the Britishers won 5, lost two and one finished all square.

The ladies of the British party were entertained at luncheon at the residence of Mrs. W. G. Ross at Woodlands, and later at tea in the Royal Montreal club house.

The following day the visitors were motored to the Mount Bruno Golf Club, where they played nine holes in the morning and nine after luncheon. Here, too, they succeeded in leading the Canadian Seniors in the matches played. In the afternoon a reception was given in their honour at the beautiful residence of Mr. E. L. Pease, President of the Mount Bruno Golf Club. This was a fitting wind-up to two delightful days spent in the Metropolis of Canada.

The hospitality of Quebec and Montreal was repeated at Ottawa, the next city visited. Here Mr. P. D. Ross, Hon. President of the Canadian Seniors, and the Hon. Martin Burrell, Vice-President of the Canadian Seniors, had charge of the programme of golf and entertainment at the Capital.

On Friday, August 31st, a team representative of Ottawa clubs engaged in friendly competition, and the games were keenly contested and productive of that fine spirit of play which so distinguishes golf from other sports.

While all the games developed splendid golf and consistently good scoring, that of J. B. Pease and Douglas Clayton against J. E. Caldwell and Col. A. Z. Palmer was perhaps the most notable. The British golfers won this match one up. In this match the best ball score was 69.

Mrs. J. F. Crowdy and Miss Lucy Crowdy.

Arriving in Toronto, where they were guests at the Toronto Golf Club, the team was accorded a hearty welcome by Mr. C. A. Bogert, President of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association on behalf of the Governors and members of the Association.

On Monday, September 3rd, showing that travelling far and lavish entertainment did not affect their game to any appreciable extent, the visitors defeated a strong team of Canadian Seniors in matches played over the Toronto course by 8 to 5. The scores:

Particular interest centred in the match between Mr. Pease, Champion of the British Seniors, and Mr. F. R. Martin, Champion of the Canadian Seniors and twice Canadian Amateur Champion. Mr. Pease won a most interesting match 2 up. He is a very polished golfer indeed and is a ranking amateur in Great Britain.

After the match, the teams and their wives and several Governors of the Canadian Association and their wives and other prominent golfers were the guests of Mr. Bogert at a luncheon at the Toronto Club. This was followed by a reception at Government House and afterwards the visitors were dined at the Toronto Golf Club, the guests of the President Mr. R. C. H. Cassels.

During their visit to Canada the wives and daughters of several of the members of the British Seniors were hospitably entertained by the Ladies' Executives of the various clubs visited.

It was the intention during the tour of Quebec and Ontario to include visits to Hamilton (the guests of Lt.-Col. Myler) and Niagara Falls (the guests of Dr. Grant), but owing to the United States Senior Golf Association having arranged for a programme of entertainment in New York previous to the International matches at Rye, N.Y., the British team had reluctantly to cancel these two engagements, leaving Toronto for New York on Sept. 8th, after spending three days at the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association Tournament at Lambton in which they played such an important part, Mr. Pease having the outstanding score of the event. If the Tournament had been an Open instead of a Closed event, he would to-day be the Senior Champion of Canada.

Lt.-Col. Popham, Hon. Secretary of the British Seniors' Golf Association, asks the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" to express on behalf of all the members of the team their deep appreciation of the hospitality extended them throughout their Canadian tour. "It was simply unbounded," said the Colonel, "and we shall never forget our visit to this glorious country of yours. I do hope in future that any Canadian Senior golfer visiting London will get in touch with me at the Carlton Club so that I can arrange for them being put up at any of our prominent clubs. It would be such a pleasure to do so and thus try and reciprocate in some small way for the magnificent reception accorded us here by your golfers and the officials of your golf clubs."

Several members of the British team after playing in the International matches returned to Canada. A despatch from Winnipeg says:

British Senior golfers now in Canada will make a journey to the West and test their skill over the famous course at Jasper National Park, according to A. J. Hills, assist-

Eight members of the British Seniors will make the trip after their engagements at Toronto and Blind Brook, Rye, N.Y. A match will be played at Winnipeg on September 18. The British team will be captained by J. W. Beaumont Pease, who forced Roger Wethered to the 21st hole in the recent British Amateur Championship. The team for the West will also include Lt.-Col. Francis Popham, D.S.O., and Honourary Secretary of the Senior Golfers' Society, F. W. Ashe, a former resident of Winnipeg, and Honourary Treasurer of the British Seniors, James Baker, of Kent, G. C. Cassels, manager of the Bank of Montreal, London, Major Basil Hoare, London, Dr. A. MacKenzie, prominent golf architect, and Brig.-Gen. R. M. Poore, C.I.E., former distinguished cricketer. From Jasper some of the members of the British Seniors will travel westward to the Pacific Coast over the Canadian National Railways, playing at Vancouver and Victoria.

STOP PRESS NEWS

FOR the fourth time in five years "Bobby" Jones, generally acclaimed the world's greatest golfer, won the U. S. Amateur Championship at Brae Burn, Boston, defeating in the final "Phil" Perkins, the British Amateur Champion, decisively by 10 and 9. To go through to the final in the greatest field ever assembled in the history of the Amateur Championship of America, stamps Perkins without fear of argument, as one of the world's leading amateurs. It is a pity he did not put up a better argument at the end of a hectic week, against Bobby Jones, but this super-golfer would seem to have his opponents hypnotized and licked before they drive from the first tee. From a Canadian standpoint to some extent, it is interesting to know that Perkins received his first lesson on golf some few years ago from Freddie Hunt, the very clever professional of the Brantford Golf and Country Club. Hunt was an assistant at Castle Bromwich, Birmingham, when for health reasons, Perkins took up golf. He was then a lanky youth in his teens but Hunt tells the "Canadian Golfer", from the very beginning he was keen on mastering the rudiments of the game and early showed every evidence of future proficiency and skill.

T. Philip Perkins, British Amateur Golf Champion and runner-up in the U.S. Amateur, (notice the characteristic English pose) speaking in front of the club house at Brae Burn during the presentation of prizes. Seated on the right "Bobby" Jones, the Champion for the fourth time, and standing Melvin Traylor, President of the United States Golf Association.

He was a most diligent pupil from the start. He is a very long driver and uses his short irons especially in a masterly manner. He has a particularly fine mashie-niblick shot in his bag.

It has generally been stated in the press that he is what is known in the Old Country as an "artisan golfer", but this is not correct. Castle Bromwich is a well known private club and not an artisans club. Perkins attended the University at Birmingham and his family is well known in Birmingham.

Another statement freely published is that he intends to return to the United States next year and take up his residence there, with the intimation that he would probably follow in the footsteps of Willie Hunter, former British Amateur Champion, Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshanks, former prominent Scottish amateurs, who turned professionals to their great financial benefit. Talking with Perkins at Hamilton, during the visit of the British Walker Cup team there, he stated that there was absolutely no truth in this rumour. Perkins who is only 24 years of age, with more championship and tournament experience, he really has had very little until the last year or so, may yet reach to the heights of a very great golfer indeed. It is generally admitted that he is Great Britain's greatest amateur since the days of Harold Hilton—the only Britisher to win the American Amateur, and that was seventeen years ago.

In the semi-final in which he defeated George Voigt, of New York, the medallist and one of the ranking players of the U.S., by 6 and 4, Perkins is generally conceded to have played one of the finest games of the whole Championship.

Jones himself had a narrow escape from defeat in the second round, when the Boston veteran, R. Gay Gorton, took him to the 19th hole. This is the first extra hole Jones has ever played in the Championship.

Ross Somerville, London Hunt, Canadian Amateur Champion, quite starred in the Qualifying Round, in which he secured fourth place. Gordon Taylor, York Downs, Ontario Junior Champion, also qualified, which demonstrates that he is a young golfer of very great promise. Somerville won his first match against Frank Dolf, the Portland, Oregon, star, 2 and 1, but lost in the next match to John Beck, Great Britain, on the home green. Somerville was 1 up at the 17th, which, however, he lost and also the 18th, where he took three putts.

Gordon Taylor was defeated in the first round by Fred Wright, Jr., of Boston, 3 and 2.

John Kieran, the celebrated sporting writer of the New York "Times", discussing the Championship says:

"George Von Elm was eliminated by Ducky Yates in an 18-hole match, and that was a decided 'upset'. There's no way of blinking the fact. George Von Elm is the closest rival that Jones has in this country with the possible exception of T. Philip Perkins, who is in this country at the moment only as a visitor.

"But with the exception of Von Elm, the only possible threat against Jones who went out in the 18-hole rounds was Ross Somerville, the Canadian champion."

CHICAGO PLAYER WINS CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP

The Canadian Ladies' Championship at Beaconsfield last week attracted a brilliant field of entrants from the States and Canada. A notable and regrettable absentee, however, was Miss Ada Mackenzie, three times champion, who, owing to family bereavement, was unable to be present. The final witnessed two Americans competing for the crown, Miss Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, and Miss Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, who in the Qualifying Round tied with the very fine scores of 78. Playing magnificent golf in the morning round Miss Wilson took a commanding lead and eventually won the Championship by 5 and 4. This is the fifth time in nine years that the title has been taken to the United States. Miss Helen Paget, of the Royal Ottawa, was the outstanding Canadian player. She reached the semi-finals. Other results of a wonderfully successful Tournament:

Championship consolation—Miss Rosalie Knapp (Women's National) beat Miss Evelyn Mills (Royal Ottawa), 2 up.

First flight—Miss Kate Robertson (Beaconsfield) beat Miss Eileen Kinsella (Senneville), 4 and 2.

Second flight—Mrs. H. R. Pickens (Marlborough) beat Mrs. J. W. Nicoll (Beaconsfield), on the nineteenth.

Third flight—Mrs. Victor Sifton (Toronto) beat Miss Peggy Yuille (Royal Montreal), 6 and 4.

Fourth flight—Mrs. A. W. Horwood (Royal Ottawa) beat Miss Ann Foster (Beaconsfield), 1 up.

Fifth flight—Mrs. E. M. Rougvik (Royal Ottawa) beat Miss Madeleine Nicoll (Beaconsfield), 4 and 3.

HAGEN AND FARRELL TIE IN "WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP"

Coming from behind with a 35 for the last nine holes, Johnny Farrell, U. S. Open Champion, at the Siwanoy Club, Mt. Vernon, N.Y., defeated Walter Hagen, British Open Champion, in the fourth match by 1 up for the so-called Professional Championship of the World. This makes the count two matches each and will necessitate a fifth match to decide "the battle of the champions". A gallery of 1,000 enthusiasts followed the play at Siwanoy. Both Hagen and Farrell have been equalling or beating par in all four matches and it's a toss-up who will annex the fifth and deciding encounter, the scene of which is yet to be determined.

BAYVIEW TO HAVE NEW COURSE

The Bayview Golf and Country Club, Toronto, having disposed of a portion of its present property for subdivision purposes, will start construction work immediately on an entirely revised layout of eighteen holes which will be of championship length, approximately 6,500 yards.

The site chosen comprises a portion of the land at present in use and an additional fifty acres to the south.

The new course will be all roughed in this fall, all tees and greens built and some of them possibly finished.

The construction of this new course has been entrusted to George Cumming and Captain Melville Millar, of Toronto.

As Cumming's layouts are generally conceded to be without fault and Captain Millar has a reputation for careful and painstaking work and economical methods it goes without saying that Bayview will eventually have a course of very fine calibre.

"ARCHIE" COMPSTON, HIS "LONG PANTS" AND SUCCESS IN GOLF

AT THE annual dinner of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association in Victoria, B.C., last month, Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer, who were playing an exhibition game in Victoria, were guests of honour. "When they came into the banqueting room," says the Victoria Times, "there was quite a demonstration. The pros were besieged by the veterans who wanted their programmes autographed.

"Archie Compston had no sooner been greeted, than he was called upon to speak, and he surprised everyone by knowing how to handle words just as well as he does his golf clubs. He told some stories, and then added that 'As the Irish say, 'You're alright if you keep out of the churchyard,' so may you all live a thousand years.'

"Aubrey Boomer told of the wonderful experience of traveling across Canada and commented upon the charming hospitality tendered them everywhere.

L. G. Pattullo, of Seattle, who could not hide his Scottish brogue, arose to tell the seniors that he had learned the secret of success in golf.

"When I was in England a few years ago I saw Jim Barnes win the British Open, and he wore long pants," said Mr. Pattullo. "Then I saw Archie Compston win The Glasgow Herald competition, and he wore long pants. From now on I'm going to wear long pants when I'm golfing, and I think a lot of you other fellows ought to cut out your fancy regalia and wear the long ones too."

There seemed to be general support of the fact that Mr. Pattullo ought to try something to improve his golf.

NOTED GOLF ARCHITECT ON BRITISH SENIORS' TEAM

AMONG the members of the British Seniors' golfing team visiting Canada and the United States is the celebrated golf architect, Dr. A. Mackenzie. To the Doctor's credit goes largely the modern idea of building the undulating greens which are now to be found on every well equipped links. He has laid out courses in all parts of Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Europe and is now on his way to California, where he has been called into consultation on three or four important courses there.

Dr. Mackenzie is deeply interested in the formation of an International Association of Golf Architects and whilst in Toronto consulted with Mr. Stanley Thompson, who is strongly in favour of such an organization. All the leading golf architects in Great Britain and the States have already promised their support and the association will be successfully launched during the next month or so. Dr. Mackenzie states that there are now some twenty golf architects of recognized standing throughout the world, supervising work calling annually for the expenditure of millions of dollars. A few years ago there were not half a dozen experts on golf course construction.

A few well worth hints on golf course construction and up-keep by Dr. Mackenzie:

Never take the advice of a gardener or agricultural expert unless he has made a study of the special requirements of golf.

Agricultural grasses want an alkaline soil, whereas golfing grasses require an acid soil. Lime, basic slag, bone meal, and other alkaline fertilizers create rich agricultural grasses, daisies, plantains, and worms.

The most common cause of bad greens and muddy fairways is worms. These must be eradicated.

Beware of overfeeding! The most suitable vegetation for golf is to be found on poor, sour, sandy or heathland soils.

Remember that golf is a game and that no player ever gets any fun in searching for lost balls.

Cut the fairways and greens in the irregular curves of nature, and not in straight lines.

Don't remove the grass cuttings! They encourage a thick carpet of turf. Roots then become thick and strong and the leaf growth fine and pentiful.

The cost of the best advice is infinitesimal compared with the amount of money frequently wasted without it.

Never follow the advice of a golfer, however good a player he may be, unless he is broad minded enough to disregard his own game and recognize that not only has the beginner to be considered, but also that a very high standard of golf architecture improves everyone's play.

Golf course construction is a difficult art (like sculpture) and still in its infancy. Endeavour to make every feature indistinguishable from a natural one. Most courses have too many bunkers. They should be constructed mainly from a strategical and not from a penal point of view.

Never destroy undulations, hazards or other features because at first sight they may appear to be unfair. Their destruction may detract appreciably from the strategy, interest and excitement of the game.

Never alter a hole unless you are convinced that the change will increase the joy and the thrills of overcoming difficulties.

The best of golf courses are those, the holes of which have been designed and constructed to conform to the character of the ground at one's disposal. To attempt to copy a famous hole when conditions are dissimilar is usually fatal.

THE annual Field Day of the Brantford Golf and Country Club was a great success, over sixty of the leading players from the neighbouring cities of Hamilton, London, Stratford, etc., participating, whilst Montreal was represented by Mr. A. J. Veysey, who was amongst the prize winners.

The team prize was won by Brantford. Brantford team: J. Lewis, 71 and 75, total 146. I. W. Champion, 79 and 80, total 159. C. C. Slemin, 77 and 83, total 160. C. M. Sheppard, 81 and 80, total 161. Team total 626.

Ancaster took the second team prize.

Ancaster team: G. W. Wigle, 81 and 76, total 157. C. W. Slater, 79 and 81, total 160. Dr. B. Sutherland, 78 and 85, total 163. A. A. Adams, 85 and 84, total 169. Team total 649.

The following were the prize winners: J. S. Lewis, best gross for 36 holes, 147. H. Bruce, second gross for 36 holes, 155. Prior Philip, best net for 36 holes, 136. A. J. Veysey, second net for 36 holes, 137; C. C. Slemin, best gross for morning 18 holes, 77. J. A. Nash, best net for morning, 18 holes, 68. G. Wigle, best gross for afternoon, 18 holes, 76. G. Duncan, best gross for afternoon, 18 holes, 76 (tie). J. A. D. Slemin, best net for afternoon, 18 holes, 70.

The following players won balls in the morning sweepstake: J. Lewis, 7 balls; H.

Bruce, 7 balls; C. C. Slemin, Prior Philip, 4 balls; J. A. Nash, 3 balls.

The afternoon sweepstakes were won by Prior Philip, 9 balls; J. A. Nash, 6 balls; G. Wigle, 6 balls; J. D. Slemin, 6 balls.

Mr. Lewis' brilliant morning round of 71 was quite the feature of the event. He is playing very fine golf this season.

Frank Dolp, of Portland, Oregon, won his second Western Amateur Championship when he defeated Gus Novotny, of Chicago, 4 and 3, at Bob o'Link last month.

Novotny, ex-Illinois student and runner-up for Big Ten honours, was no match for the Portland star, who, playing a very brilliant but slow game, practically clinched the championship by winning five out of the last six holes played in the morning round to be six up at the end of the first eighteen holes on which Dolp registered a 74. Weighed down by that cumbersome load, Novotny went out in the afternoon and made one of the most courageous uphill fights in championship history. He took only thirty-four strokes on the first nine holes and with that only succeeded in cutting away two holes from Dolp's lead, but the match ended at the 15th when Novotny missed a 30-inch putt to halve the hole and carry the match on. All the British Walker Cup team participated in the Championship, but were early eliminated, as were many old time U. S. favourites. It was distinctly a young man's Championship. Mere youths of 17 and 18 accounted for most of the stars.

Bobby Jones, the golfing wizard from Atlanta, handed "old man par" probably the worst licking he has ever received.

In three successive 18-hole rounds over the long Chicago Golf Club course, where he was practising for the Walker Cup matches, Jones averaged just  $67\frac{3}{4}$ , or a total of 203 strokes, which for 54 holes carries a total par of 213. Bobby's remarkable scores over the par 71 course were made with a gallery of members of the British and United States Walker Cup team members.

Mr. R. B. Noble Steacy had an interesting experience while playing golf over the Catarqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, Ontario. On the seventh hole leading to the club house he sent out a long drive, followed by a second and shorter shot which sliced into the trees to the right. While Mr. Steacy was looking around for the lost ball his club stuck in a hole at the side of a tree and loosened some grass and turf in front of it revealing a perfect nest of golf balls to Mr. Steacy, eleven in all. Singularly enough, as revealed by the names on them, not one of them had been in play this year, and the only explanation now offered for the presence of the balls is that they were "cached" there by a dog which, it is recalled, was running loose on the course last year, and which had a habit of picking up balls and running away with them to hide them. The balls seemed none the worse for their year in the hole.

The annual tournament of the County of Simcoe Ladies' Golf Association was held in Barrie on Aug. 1, 2 and 3, when there were ten players from Orillia, four from Midland, and eighteen local players. Miss Mary Benson, of Midland, won the Championship, receiving a beautiful Sheffield tray donated by the President, Miss Margery Tudhope, of Orillia. Miss Tanner, also of Midland, was runner-up in a closely contested game. The other prize winners were as follows: Championship consolation—Mrs. A. E. Patterson, runner-up, Miss I. Laidlaw, both of Barrie. In the first flight, Mrs. H. R. Tudhope, of Orillia, won the first prize, which was donated by W. A. Boys and Mrs. Wainwright, also of Orillia, was runner-up. In the qualifying round on Wednesday Miss Margaret Ardagh, of Orillia, with an 87 carried off prizes for both gross and net scores. G. D. Hubbard kindly gave a prize for lowest score on two concealed holes on first round, for which Mrs. Tudhope, Miss Laidlaw and Miss Margaret Stewart tied, resulting in a lucky draw for Miss Laidlaw. Miss Tudhope in her usual spontaneous manner, presented the prizes, and extended an invitation to the Association to hold the tournament in Orillia next year.

Dr. Dwight Coons, of Hamilton, was the winner of the Claudius Ash and Sons Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Hamilton dentists' annual golf competition, which was held at Burlington Golf and Country Club. Dr. Coons scored low net with a 67, having a gross of 92 with a handicap of 25. The low gross for the first flight went to Dr. H. T. McDonald, and the low net for the first flight went to Dr. R. H. ald, and the low net for the first flight was won by Dr. F. L. Williamson. Second low net went to Dr. Hatton Robertson, and third low net to Dr. G. A. Phelps. Second low gross was won by Dr. E. C. Jackson, and third low gross for the first flight was won by L. A. Kilburne, and low net for the second flight by Dr. Coons. Second low net for the second flight went to Dr. A. R. Poag, and third low net was won by Wallace Mitchell.

The high score for the first nine went to Art Phelps, and J. L. Johnson won the high score for the second nine. The birdies were won by Dr. H. A. Robertson, E. C. Jackson and H. L. Field.

Max Sproule and A. D. Smith were the winners of the annual thirty-six-hole medal event at the Mississauga Club, Toronto, for the F. B. Robins trophy when they turned in a net score of 136, one stroke better than the veteran John E. Hall and his junior partner, Drew Magee, in the foursome handicap. The scores of the first three pairs were:—

M. Sproule and A. D. Smith .....	172	36	136
John E. Hall and Drew Magee .....	159	22	137
T. W. Watson and E. McGuire .....	176	36	140

Boyd Caldwell and Jack Taylor tied for first place in the eighteen-hole medal event to decide the Mississauga Junior Championship with gross 81's, and the former won the title in the play-off. D'Arcy Doherty was third with an 82 and A. D. Magee fourth with an 83.

An eight-foot putt, which Bobby Jones missed holing by a scant half inch, enabled Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen to defeat the National Amateur Champion and his teammate, Johnny Farrell, the Open titlist, by one up, in their 36-hole American Ryder Cup benefit match in Boston. Bobby and Farrell were five down when they started the afternoon round.

The Toronto Bar Golf Association concluded a most successful season at the Mississauga Club, when over 100 members participated in the final 18-hole medal competition, a handicap four-ball foursome for the National Trust Trophy, which was won by Fraser Grant and G. T. Evans, who turned in the lowest combined net score. W. J. Thompson had the best gross for the afternoon, with a 73. In the evening a banquet was held and the prizes won during the year were presented by the president, Holford Ardagh, M. H. Ludwig and Senator J. Spence. Prizes for the main competition were:—

Nesbitt Trophy, for match play championship of the association—Won by Fraser Grant, who defeated W. J. Thompson in the final.

Mulock Cup, medal competition in the Spring—Won by J. Kelly, who defeated W. J. Thompson in the play-off.

It looks as though the beautiful Somerville Cup put up by Mr. C. J. Somerville, of London, father of the Amateur Champion, for competition amongst teams of four players from Windsor, London, Hamilton and Brantford, will be won by Brantford, which now holds a comfortable lead with only two matches to be played by Windsor with Hamilton and London. It is not thought these can possibly affect the results. The trophy is a particularly handsome one. These team matches during the season have been productive alike of much interest and high-class golf and will do much to improve the golf in all four cities.

A despatch from Del Monte, Cal.:

"Playing better golf than he has in weeks, Johnny Farrell, American Open Golf Champion, defeated Walter Hagen, the British titleholder, 2 and 1, in the third thirty-six hole match of their series for the unofficial world's championship, at the Philmont Country Club."

Many golfers both in Canada and the States will be sorry to hear that the magnificent Manoir Richelieu Hotel at Murray Bay was completely destroyed by fire on Sept. 12th. The loss is $500,000. The Canada Steamship Company states that work will be at once commenced on rebuilding. There was fortunately not loss of life. Hundreds of golfers the past few years have spent the summer season at the Manoir. The new Hotel will be erected nearer the golf course.

The Long Trophy, which is an annual competition for the women's golf clubs of Brant, Norfolk, Oxford and Waterloo, and which was generously donated by H. P. Long, of Paris, was won this year by Mrs. Ferguson, of Paris, who had a gross score of 93. She defeated a field of between 30 and 40 entries. She also won a silver tray that is given to the person who wins the trophy. Mrs. Ferguson also won the net score prize, but, as she had already taken the trophy event, the prize was awarded to Miss Lucey Trafford, of Simcoe Club. Mrs. Werlich, of Brantford, was second in the trophy event with 94. The other prize-winners follow: Team prize won by the Norfolk Club with 400. The best drive was made by Mrs. H. Selby, of Simcoe, who had 180 yards. The best three drives were made by Miss K. Wilkes, with an aggregate of 495 yards. Approaching and putting was won by Mrs. George W. Brown, of Simcoe. Fewest number of putts were made by Mrs. Ademy, of Paris. The net score prize was won by Miss Lucey Trafford.

For the second year in succession the British Columbia team proved too strong for other competitors in the Inter-Province and State matches of the Jasper Park Lodge golf tournament, Jasper, Alberta. Only one player on the British Columbia team was over 80, and the team finished an easy first, with a combined score of 511. A team composed of players who either have lived or are living in the Yukon finished second, with a score of 534. Alberta was third, with 540, and Manitoba fourth, with 574. The other teams finished in the following order: Quebec, 577; Ontario, 580; United States, 583; Saskatchewan, 607, and Maritimes, 622. Low score went to M. Hill, of Vancouver, who turned in a card of 80, a remarkable performance for a golfer who was playing first round over this difficult course.

The individual scores of the winning team were as follows: Harry Jones, 84; M. Hill, 80; R. Symes, 84; A. Hull, 84; S. P. Powell, 88, and Alex. Straith, 91. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Starkey, of Edmonton, with a score of 6 up, won the two-ball mixed foursome handicap against bogie match in the afternoon. The Edmonton couple played a steady game throughout, and were easily the best in the field of 40.

Mr. Schuyler C. Sniveley, of the Canada Golf Ball Co., Toronto, writes from St. Andrews, Scotland:

"Just a line to say how interesting it has been to spend a few days here and to play on the 'Old Course.' The status of the 'R. & A. Club' members, the town people and visitors on the course is particularly interesting too, as it is, as you know, so different than our system.

"We, my wife and daughter, motored up from London, taking our time and expect to be in Scotland until after the Highland gathering at Brae Mar. We are going over to Glen Eagles one day this week."

An appeal against a fine of $1,000 and costs imposed on the St. Clair Golf and Country Club, Windsor, Ontario, by Magistrate W. A. Smith, on a charge of having liquor illegally will be heard before Judge J. J. Coughlin at Sandwich on Wednesday, Sept. 26. The St. Clair Club was fined in Ford City Police Court several months ago upon evidence that liquor had been found in the lockers at the club. Names of the locker owners were not secured, and Magistrate Smith held the club liable.

"CLIMBING HILLS"

"Golfers who complain of weariness in playing a golf course where hill climbing is necessary, should stop and consider their manner of walking uphill.

If you go up with your head bent over and climbing on your toes your wind is shut off and the fact that you are not breathing properly brings on weariness quickly.

Athletes know the proper way to breathe and get results on account of it. Runners invariably finish a 100-yard dash or a longer distance run with their heads in the air.

Try going up a hill with your head up, giving your lungs a chance, and be sure to walk on your heels instead of your toes. Don't double up in a knot."—Leo Diegel, Canadian Open Champion.
