The Royal Canadian Golf Association has endorsed this ruling which will appear for the first time in Canada in this 1932 Edition of the Books of the Rules. It will be well therefore if every club in Canada and golfers generally have this edition in order to be conversant with this new and most important ruling.

Late Hon.

Wallace Nesbitt,
K.C., Honoured at Osgoode Hall.

The Toronto Globe editorially pays the following graceful and well deserved tribute to the late Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C. :—

“Osgoode Hall's dim interior is being lighted by choice portraits which preserve the memory of leaders of the law in this Province. One of the finest collections of any public building in Canada is especially ornamented by the portraits by George Theodore Berthon, a Toronto artist for many years, whose father was a court painter to Napoleon.

The latest addition to the gallery in the convocation hall of the Law Society of Upper Canada is a likeness of the late Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., Treasurer of the Law Society for several years, and a former member of the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Nesbitt brought honour to any position he held, and rightly takes a place among the leaders of the Ontario Bar who were successive Treasurers of the Law Society since 1797, whose portraits are hung at Osgoode Hall.

“I attribute this large gathering simply to the love we all had for Mr. Nesbitt,” said Sir William Mulock, at the investing of the portrait. “It is most fitting that in this temple of justice we should preserve the memories of former Treasurers. We are here a united brotherhood, to advance the welfare of the law.” Such an occasion and such a spirit will do much to maintain the high level of Canadian justice.

The late Hon. Mr. Nesbitt was in his younger days an all-round athlete. Later in life he took up golf with his usual enthusiasm. He was an outstanding member of the Toronto Golf Club and the first vice-president of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association. He took a particularly keen interest in the Seniors from the inception of this very prominent golfing organization. In fact, if it had not been for his invaluable support in the early days the Association could not have been launched so successfully. The Seniors are under a lasting debt of gratitude to him and his name will always be revered and honoured by them and deservedly so, too.

Australia The fair blue-eyed young Australian lady champion, Miss May Provide a Susie Tolhurst, will after all take part in the British Ladies' "Dark Horse". Championship at Saunton the week commencing May 30th, in which the pick of the British and American women players are competing. She has just arrived in England accompanied by Miss Cecily Lascelles, who has competed in several British Open Championships and who more or less will be her coach and mentor. Miss Tolhurst may well be the "dark horse" of the Championship, if she plays up to anything like the form she has displayed the last two or three years in Australia. "Down-Under" her admirers are confident that she is the world's greatest woman player. She has won championships there ad galore and has one record round of 70 to her credit over the championship course of the Australian Club at Kensington, N.S.W. No British or American woman has ever reeled off a round in such sensational figures. Miss Tolhurst's debut at Saunton will be quite one of the features of the most notable women's championship ever staged.

British Sports Firms for Canada? It is understood that the well known British sports goods firm of Wisdens, will shortly start a branch of their business in Canada, either in Montreal or Toronto. The final decision will be made by a representative who is coming to Canada after the Imperial Conference at Ottawa. Other Old Country manufacturers of golf and other sporting goods will probably also establish branch factories here, if the results at the Conference are favourable to Imperial trade.

A great deal depends upon the deliberations at Ottawa next July in every branch of business. The whole of the Empire is eagerly anticipating the results of this momentous meeting in which Great Britain and the Dominions are so vitally interested. Golfers, like everyone else, are hoping for a "give and take" policy which will have far-reaching results.

Provincial Associations Should Co-operate. In connection with the vexed question of the Amateur Status which is provoking so much discussion just now, all Provincial Associations in Canada should co-operate in assisting the Royal Canadian Golf Association to keep the standard of golf high. The Provincial Associations can be of great assistance to the Governing Body of golf in Canada in securing information which can always be done better locally. If there is any uncertainty upon the part of a player in regard to his amateur standing the necessary information can always be secured from the Provincial Associations or the R.C.G.A.

Another point. The Royal Canadian Golf Association is supreme in Canada and not the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews, and clubs in Canada should write the secretary of the R.C.G.A., 510 General Assurance Bldg., 357 Bay St., Toronto, Ont., for rulings and advice and not to the Royal and Ancient on matters pertaining to golf matters in Canada.

A Beauty Spot in the Heart of Ontario

RECENTLY the Editor had the pleasure of visiting the Roseville Trout and Country Club, which is located in the County of Oxford in the heart of the industrial centre of Ontario and which is admirably situated, being within thirty minutes drive of Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Preston, Hespeler, Paris, Brantford, Woodstock and Stratford.

The manager of the Development Company, Mr. Moffett, has already transformed the property into one of great beauty. An artistic stone lodge has been built whilst rustic fences, bridges, water falls and trout ponds provide a most artistic setting. Later on it is intended to build on this delightful property an 18-hole golf course and club house.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-address envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

Rt. Hon. Robert Munró, Lord Alness, Edinburgh, writing April 15th, very kindly says:—

“The ‘Canadian Golfer’ is always welcome and always excites admiration.”

Here's a hole-in-one that's different. Marvin Harris, of Pampa, Texas, drove 75 yards from the rough. The ball landed neatly in a hip pocket of Ivey E. Duncan, Pampa attorney. Mr. Duncan was slightly bruised.

By the death this month of Mr. F. W. Harcourt, K.C., Toronto loses one of its outstanding lawyers and Masonry in the Dominion one of its most beloved craftsmen. Mr. Harcourt was a prominent member of both the Toronto and York Downs Golf Clubs.

Lady Nancy Astor, M.P., is an enthusiastic golfer and recently took part in the Parliamentary Handicap but was put out the second round. Her handsome 24-year-old son, Hon. Wm. Waldorf Astor, also is a keen golfer. He plays a great deal with his brilliant mother.

The novel idea of service these days of financial stress instead of payment by members has been adopted by the Ogmere Valley Club (England), who decided to accept from prospective members offers of work in the development of the new course in lieu of the annual membership fee.

Canadians will be interested to know that Mr. Sydney H. Sturdy, recently elected president of the Medinah Country Club, Chicago, the largest Masonic Golf Club in the United States, is a Canadian. Mr. Sturdy was born in Galt, Ontario, in 1873. He is a very prominent resident of the city of his adoption.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Adamson, of the Court of King's Bench, Winnipeg, recently elected president of the Manitoba Golf Association, during the course of a much appreciated letter, says:—

“I am enclosing my subscription for the ‘Canadian Golfer’ which I always enjoy. It does more for golf than probably any other agency in Canada, so good luck to it.”

And here is “a good-un” from Oklahoma City, Okla.:—

Neiswander, druggist of Prague, Okla., alleged Blumenthal, also of Prague, became angry when he missed the putt in a match at Prague in July, 1930, swung his club over his shoulder and struck Neiswander in the right eye, causing loss of the eye.”

The 10th annual edition of "Fraser's International Golf Year Book" is as good or better than ever—and that is certainly rather to be marvelled at considering business conditions generally throughout the world, and Fraser's really covers the golfing world in a most exhaustive and authoritative manner. Mr. George E. Fraser, of Montreal, the Editor, is to be heartily congratulated on publishing such a superb tenth edition. It is a tribute alike to his enterprise and acumen.

Chicago Golfer:—

"Just when the world full of pessimists was sure that nobody would be playing golf this year, a special train pulled into French Lick with 173 players for the first annual Midwest tournament. Even the railroad and the hotels were surprised. They would have been pretty well satisfied with 100. Somehow or other it seems that a lot of men and women are going to keep on playing this game."

Blessed with ideal weather the week-end of May 14th saw literally tens of thousands of golfers on the golf courses of Canada. Many competitions were held. Courses everywhere are in superb condition, having wintered exceptionally well. Greenkeepers, in fact, state that it is many years since the opening of a golf season witnessed such ideal fairway and green conditions. Everywhere they are well nigh perfect.

Sir Herbert Austin, one of the greatest advertisers in Great Britain, recently recorded his opinion that the paper or magazine that wins its way by good make-up, good editorials and good reading matter generally, that gets into the home on sheer merit and is read there, not merely skimmed, is the medium it is worth while to advertise in. Apropos of all this the "Canadian Golfer" has always been proud of its generous and high-class advertising patronage.

A cable from London, May 4th:—

"The Prince of Wales moved into the fourth round of the Parliamentary golf handicap to-day with a 1-up defeat of Harcourt Johnstone at Coombe Hill Club. The Prince had a handicap of 11, against 4 for his opponent.

The handicap is a very informal affair, competitors being allowed to choose convenient dates for their matches. The tournament has been in progress for some weeks.

The Prince played strong golf in defeating Johnstone. He was especially fine with his woods."

* * *

Announcement has been made by the Royal and Ancient that the British Open next year will be held about the middle of May and the British Amateur in mid-June. This putting back the British dates will be especially welcome by U.S. players as it will give them a much better opportunity to compete in the Old Country events and then come home for their own championships. Heretofore the dates have been quite close together and it was more or less of a rush for players, both British and American, to compete in the major championships in the two countries.

* * *

It is very satisfactory to hear from greenkeepers from all parts of the country that courses are in excellent condition this spring. Last year many courses were in bad shape but this year fairways and greens alike are reported in splendid condition for the season's play. This is especially good news as the majority of clubs are budgetting as closely as possible on the upkeep of their courses. It is also satisfactory to hear that few if any men employed on the links have been laid off, although in many cases there has been a ten per cent. reduction in wages. Clubs generally recognize that it is false economy to cut down on course maintenance. It means another year double the expenditure

THE TOP-FLITE
Spalding's new ball for low handicap golfers

TOP-FLITE—the ball that replaces the famous Spalding ball for Championship play, is Spalding's latest contribution to championship golf. It is the first ball in the world with a paintless cover. It is the only ball ever made in which the cover itself is white—pure white—right through to the winding!

When a Spalding ball comes from a Spalding mold, its marking is absolutely perfect—designed to the ten-thousandth of an inch to give the utmost in distance and in accuracy.

 ON

Adding paint to such a ball is tampering with perfection. No matter how accurate the paint spraying machines may be, microscopical distortion is possible. And, when tests show that a variance of so much as 1/1000 of an inch can cause a variance of 3 to 5 yards in distance or direction, the full import of this newest Spalding feature can be realized!

If you are a low-handicap golfer, play the Top-Flite. 75 cents.

For the average golfer—
 the inimitable KRO-FLITE

It is the toughest of all golf balls, and it is only slightly behind the Top-Flite in distance. The only ball that combines first-grade distance with maximum durability. 75 cents.

"Old Man Hard Times" in the United States is making his presence felt very severely by the golf clubs there and expenses are being cut in every direction. Caddies this season will come in for their share of the reduction. Representative clubs in the New York Metropolitan district have just cut the Class A caddie rate to $1.00 for 18 holes instead of $1.25, the 1931 scale, and in some other districts the remuneration has been slashed to 75c. In Canada the caddie fees have never been so high as in the United States and so far no reduction here has been reported. In the States many unemployed men are being given the preference as caddies over the boys.

Mr. Noble Mitchell, proprietor of the famous Mint Cafe, Juarez, Chihuahua, Old Mexico, was many years ago as a youth a resident of Brantford, and writes the Editor he often caddied for him in "days lang syne". Mr. Mitchell has to-day one of the most famous cafes in Juarez which is patronized by leading visitors to Mexico. Many former Canadian friends will be glad to hear of the success of this former young Canadian. Mr. R. H. Greene, of Toronto, vice-president of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, and Mrs. Greene were visitors last month to Mr. Mitchell's Cafe and speak about it in glowing terms.

The Whitlock Golf Club, situated on Hudson Heights and one of the most beautiful clubs in the Montreal district, by an announcement in the Canada Gazette, Ottawa, has been created a bird sanctuary and it will be known as the Whitlock Bird Sanctuary. Golf links are ideal places for such sanctuaries and a more determined effort should be made to make them so in all parts of Canada. In the United States bird sanctuaries have been established by many clubs. The feathered songsters are a great asset on any course. Whitlock is to be congratulated on receiving recognition from the Dominion Government and it is to be hoped in the future other clubs will also be recognized.

It is with great regret that the Editor is called upon to record the sudden passing in Kingston, Ontario, of Col. A. B. Cunningham, K.C., one of the outstanding lawyers of Ontario. He had an attack of influenza several weeks ago but had performed legal work since. A heart attack caused death. In his student days he was a prominent rugby and hockey player and in later life he was a very keen golfer indeed. The Royal and Ancient game in Kingston owed much of its popularity and success to Col. Cunningham. He is survived by his widow; three draughters, Mrs. Berely MacDonald, of Brazil, Mrs. M. K. Hill, of Toronto, and Miss Florence Cunningham, at home; and five sons—Gordon, Douglas, John, Stanley and Willis.

Golfing friends throughout Canada and the States will be interested to hear that Mr. George S. Lyon, "the Grand Old Man and Master of Golf", has just won a vexatious suit at the Toronto Assizes for damages against his former partner in the insurance business for $5,000 damages and costs. An agreement which prevented Mr. Lyon from engaging in the insurance business was also cancelled by the court and he therefore will again be enabled to resume his insurance activities in association with his son, Freddie Lyon, also a well known golfer, and A. H. Butler, at 18 Wellington St. East, Toronto. He will also once more be connected with the Sun Fire Assurance Company, which company he represented so successfully in Toronto for so many years.

Interest of sportsmen in the visit of the Scottish Trade Mission to Canada, arriving aboard the Anchor-Donaldson liner, T.S.S. "Letitia", centres in the display of guns, fishing tackle and golf-clubs included in the hundred or more exhibits of Scottish manufacturers. A significant link with the coming Imperial Conference at Ottawa, the arrival at Montreal this month of the Scottish Trade Mission bearing these exhibits, as well as representatives of the leading Scottish industries, is concrete evidence of the desire for Inter-Empire trade. The T.S.S. "Letitia" will be open to the trade and the public when she arrives in Montreal. Every effort will be made to provide facilities for Canadian buyers who contemplate meeting the representatives of the Scottish firms who are exhibiting. A portion of the exhibit has been set aside for the display of Scottish made golf clubs both steel shafted and wood shafted. J. T. Donaldson is also exhibiting golf goods.

The new and heavier U.S. golf ball made many successful assaults on par during the past Southern and Western tournaments and Albert R. Gates, administrator of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, well known in Canada, is hopeful that it ultimately will be recognized as the International sphere.

"So far, in the professional as well as the amateur tournaments the past winter, the new ball has made a great hit," Mr. Gates said, "and I am more hopeful than ever that England, Canada and other powers in the world of golf will soon accept it as the International ball.

"Records of the tournaments played so far with the new ball show that it has trimmed tournament scores from three to four strokes below last year, when the lighter and larger ball was used. Almost all of the pros tell me it is a wonderful putting ball—far better than any ball they ever played—while it cuts the wind better."

Decisions by Rules of Golf Committee

THE "Canadian Golfer" is just in receipt of a few copies "Decisions by the Rules of Golf Committee" handed down by the Royal and Ancient of St. Andrews. In all 358 most interesting decisions with an invaluable index. Every prominent golf club in Canada and every golf association should have a copy of these invaluable decisions. Price, duty and postage prepaid, $3.75. An early order is advised.

Hamilton and District Ladies' Tournament

THE annual Hamilton and District Ladies' Golf Tournament will be held Tuesday, June 14th, on the course of the Brantford Golf and Country Club. This is one of the important golfing events of the Ontario women's season, drawing over one hundred and more players from Hamilton, Brantford, Brantford, St. Catharines, Burlington, Welland, Paris, Galt, Guelph, Dunnville, Oakville, Grimsby and Simcoe. Entries close for this important fixture on June 9th, with Mrs. Royds, secretary, Brantford. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Gordon Duncan, Brantford (convener); Miss K. Bishop, Brantford; Mrs. C. G. Royds, Brantford (secretary); and Misses Leonard and Turner, of Hamilton. Brantford's fine 18-hole course is in splendid shape this season, and a record number of entrants and a record tournament is confidently anticipated.

Totem Pole Golf Week, Jasper Park Lodge September 3rd to 10th

(By Bruce Boreham)

TOTEM Pole Golf Week at Jasper Park Lodge, September 3rd to 10th inclusive! This most welcome message to the golfing fraternity of Canada and the United States was recently issued by the Canadian National Railways. It is welcome news indeed as it tells the dates of one of the most interesting, attractive and enjoyable golf tournaments in Canada and the Pacific North West.

This photograph was taken from the first green of the championship golf course at Jasper Park Lodge. In the background can be seen the club-house and first tee. Fat and lazy old black Bruin is usually an interested spectator during the summer, and often ambles across a fairway to see what this game of golf is all about. It is over this course that the Seventh Annual Totem Pole Golf Tournament will be played from September 3rd to 10th inclusive.

Golf Week at Jasper. Just ask those who have taken part in one or more of those events and get an inside story of what Golf Week means. Plenty of golf, splendid competition with good enough flights for everybody and the opportunity to compete with other golfers who play the same brand of golf you do.

The feature of Golf Week is the competition for the silver Totem Pole golf trophy, one of the most beautiful golf trophies now competed for on the Continent. Golf week is open to amateurs only and brings together players from all parts of the United States and Canada. After the qualifying round the flight play continues for the week with the finals on Saturday.

An added attraction in connection with the qualifying round is the now famous International team match, which has always promoted the keenest interest. During golf week the ladies are well taken care of and an interesting series of matches is laid out for the fair sex. In addition to these there are mixed foursomes and the ever popular greensome, the latter being one of the standout features of golf week.

An attractive series of prizes accompany each event and the week is officially closed with the presentation of prizes on Saturday afternoon on the spacious lawns in front of Jasper Park Lodge.

No golf tournament of this kind is ever complete without its dinner dance and the annual dinner dance at Jasper Park Lodge has become one of the smartest social affairs in Canadian golf history. This affair has the enjoyable atmosphere of a real house party and whether the guests dance or not, they all thoroughly enjoy the evening.

The golf course at Jasper Park Lodge now has an International reputation. It is a test of golf second to none on the Continent. Its layout is perfect and affords the golfer the chance of using every club in his or her bag. As a matter of fact, Eddie Held, of New York, who won the Canadian Amateur golf championship over this course in 1929, said after his victory, "There's a real course; there is a shot for every club in your bag here."

The setting of the course is unique in the extreme, surrounded as it is with the snow-capped mountains. Perfectly sodded and turfed fairways, with tricky and well bunkered greens make golf a pleasure at Jasper. The higher handicapped player has just as much fun at Jasper as he does on his own course and the low handicap man has just as tough a battle trying to beat Old Man Par.

Golf week at Jasper provides a never to be forgotten golfing holiday.

The Vexed Question of the Amateur Status

MR. A. C. GREGSON, Editor of "Golf Illustrated", New York, himself a well known golfer indeed, and a recognized authority on the game, writing the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" about the amateur status, so much to the fore lately in the States and Canada, in no mincing manner says:—

"I notice the question of amateur status is to the fore in Canada as in the United States. Possibly we would all get less muddle-headed on the subject if we kept in mind that in golf as in other things we should get what we can pay for.

If we cannot afford to pay our own way in amateur golf, we must give it up, just as we would anything else beyond our means. No expenses of any kind are ethically payable—one exception but leads to others and the game comes to be exploited by all sorts of hangers-on who in nowise support it, but simply use amateur golf as a means of personal advancement and a livelihood.

The Bermuda business was an all-round disgrace, and if the R.C.G.A. and the U.S.G.A. were hoodwinked there is no reason why they should not now put on their glasses and throw out of amateur golf every man who went on that trip if he received expenses therefor, whether in free passages and free accommodations, or otherwise. The U.S.G.A. certainly intended no sanction to any payments, and I cannot believe that the R.C.G.A. did either".

Chicago Editor Takes Opposite View

Mr. R. J. G. Davis, editor of the "Chicago Golfer", writes:—

"I have read with pleasure your editorial on Amateur Definition in the April issue, as I have always felt that a golf club should be allowed to pay the expenses of a player to a tournament as is done in most other sports. The president of the Chicago District Golf Association states that the matter of amateur standing was in the hands of the U.S.G.A. and he did not care to usurp their duty, except to the extent of reporting any flagrant violations that might occur in his territory.

The Western Amateur Championship last year at Portland drew just two players from the Middlewest and so was practically a Pacific Coast championship. I presume you have the same conditions in Canada, where players cannot afford to make jumps of from 1000 to 2000 miles. If it was permissible for a club to pay the railroad fare of a player, this situation would improve."

Jos. G. Davis-IH

Editor "Golf Monthly", Edinburgh

We may not have a new definition of an amateur golfer; the definition of an amateur may be discarded and a definition of what is a professional golfer provided. The effect of defining a professional golfer should be that everyone who does not do the things which make a professional is necessarily an amateur. Rather odd, but we understand there is a trend towards such procedure.

California Champions Leave for Old Country

(Special to the "Canadian Golfer" by Griffith Bonner)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 5th, 1932.—Two California and Southern California golf champions, Mrs. Leona Pressler Cheney of the St. Gabriel Golf Club, and Dave Martin of the California Country Club, Los Angeles will sail this summer to try their golfing ability on foreign shores.

Mrs. Cheney sails on May and will not defend her Southern California title, but will be satisfied with the State Women's Championship which she recently won, for another year. Mrs. Cheney will be a member of the American Women's Golf team.

Dave Martin, the men's champion, is giving up both his California championship and his Southern California title to compete in major tourneys this year. He will be in England when the Southern California event takes place, and plans to play in the U. S. Amateur championships, which as usual conflicts with the state title at Del Monte.

Martin's golfing trip to England and Scotland will be in the nature of a home-coming, as he will visit relatives in Carnoustie, Scotland. Dave Martin will play in the British Men's Amateur Championship. He is the son of Ernest Martin, professional at A. G. Spalding & Company's branch in Los Angeles.

Martin recently tied for first place in the Bobby Jones' Trophy Tourney, held at Catalina Islands, scoring 133 strokes for 32 holes of play, on the tricky links of the Wrigley resort.

The play of both Mrs. Cheney and Dave Martin abroad will be followed with great interest by their many friends in both Canada and the United States, and it is hoped that at some time both of these well known players will display their golfing abilities in Canada.

Canada, the World's Greatest Playground

Wide Variety of Recreational Attractions—Canadians Fortunate in Holiday Advantages Their Country Offers

THE majority of Canadians probably do not realize what a wonderful choice of vacation opportunities this country offers. How many of us in any one Province have first-hand knowledge of the wide range of attractions of our neighbouring Provinces? Many no doubt have gone abroad to seek a holiday, forgetting that our own Dominion is unequalled in the exceptional variety and range of its recreational resources. Surely a country which attracts visitors from other countries by the tens of millions must have recreational features of interest to its own citizens.

Recreational Areas Easily Accessible

It is so easy to travel in Canada that an interprovincial tour is a recreation which every Canadian vacationist may well and profitably undertake. All the developed and much of the undeveloped part of the Dominion is easily accessible by train, boat, or automobile. Canada is served by two of the world's greatest railway systems and a number of smaller lines. The equipment and service are of the highest standard. Steamers built specially for pleasure cruising afford many pleasant trips along the coast and on the extensive inland water system of lakes, rivers and canals. A cruise from the head of the Great Lakes to the Maritime Provinces is nearly equal, in distance, to an ocean voyage. Good roads lead to practically all scenic and sporting territories. Canada's road system includes many thousands of miles of surfaced highways, well equipped with direction signs and danger signals. Tourist accommodation, from campsite to hotel, is available almost everywhere.

National Parks Cover Large Area

National and Provincial parks in Canada cover nearly 25,000 square miles. They are areas which have been withdrawn from exploitation and are being preserved in their virgin beauty and wildness, for purposes of pleasure and recreation. The largest national parks are in the Rocky Mountains section of Alberta, a region of unsurpassed scenic splendour admirably equipped by nature for all forms of sport and recreation. There are also important parks in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. Accommodation ranges all the way from large modern hotels, to log cabins and tents. Fishing is one of the chief attractions in the parks, but game animals and birds are rigidly protected and their fearlessness never fails to interest visitors.

Summer Resorts Numerous and Varied

Throughout the Dominion there are many summer resort districts which offer a wide range of attraction and variety of accommodation. On the Atlantic coast, in the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, are typical seashore resorts, where salt-water bathing, sailing and deep sea fishing are the principal attractions. The rugged beauty of this coast and the picturesque charm of the fishing villages, at the head of every inlet, cannot fail to enchant the summer visitor.

Quebec's summer playgrounds are of the most varied nature including as they do, sea-shore, mountain, lake and forest resorts. Along the lower St. Lawrence, summer colonies have been established at many points. North of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers the Laurentian Mountains, clothed with pine forest and dotted with lakes, constitute a vast summer and winter playground. The Eastern Townships, which adjoin the International boundary, also have a number of well-established resorts, on picturesque lakes and rivers.

Ontario has perhaps the largest number and greatest variety of developed summer resorts of any of the Provinces. The Thousand Islands, Lake of Bays, Muskoka Lakes, and Georgian Bay are known throughout America, but there are in addition an equally attractive, only slightly less known, districts. Accommodation includes everything from campsite to palatial hotel, and cottages may be rented, in any district.

In the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta many attractive resorts are located along the shores of the lakes and rivers. The Canadian Rockies are world famous for scenic beauty and contain some of the most highly developed tourist resorts on the Continent.

British Columbia, with varied and splendid scenic attractions, is a tourist wonder-information for the use of those planning a Canadian tour, and where necessary will refer enquiries to Provincial and local tourist organizations. Applicants should be as specific as possible as to the section of Canada in which they are interested, in land. The Province has majestic mountain ranges, and extensive lake area, stately forests, an imposing coast line, and many attractive resorts in settings of exceptional natural beauty.

Government Bureau Free Information Service

For a number of years the Department of the Interior at Ottawa has been engaged in the promotion of the Canadian tourist industry, more especially the development of tourist travel from the United States to Canada. It is also endeavouring to influence Canadians to spend their vacation in the Dominion. The National Development Bureau of that Department will gladly furnish interprovincial road maps and other order that available information may be supplied.

Golf Courses Stretch From Coast to Coast

Canada is particularly fortunate in providing splendid facilities for the enjoyment of the Royal and Ancient game. The "Canadian Golfer" lists show nearly six hundred clubs stretching from Coast to Coast. Many of the courses are of championship calibre and afford a test of golf unexcelled in the world. Tourists are made welcome at the majority of these clubs on the payment of the regular green fees and thousands every season take advantage of this opportunity of enjoying their favourite game whilst en tour in the various Provinces.

Canada's First Golfer

MR. T. M. HUTCHISON, of Montreal, in a letter to the "Gazette" of that city, writes:—

"It is refreshing to turn, if even for a moment, from discussions on tariff matters and the Economic Conference to topics which are happier and less controversial. In your issue of April 13th there appeared an extract from the Dominion Government Bulletin on Canada's first golfer. His name was mentioned as William Dibman, but this would seem to be incorrect and should be William Doleman. Leaving his native town of Musselburgh in early manhood, Mr. Doleman for some years followed a seafaring life, and in 1854 was on board a vessel at Odessa when the British fleet were bombarding the town.

BEAUTIFUL BERMUDA

Enjoy golf on beautifully situated courses under ideal conditions. In these mid-ocean islands you will find health, rest and recreation . . . a climate mild and equable . . . a land unspoiled by motors, trams and factories. And yet, so near at hand!

For beautiful illustrated Booklet, write the Bermuda Trade Development Board, 105 Bond Street, Toronto 2.

It would appear that his sailing ship berthed at Quebec in 1859, and as Mr. Doleman always brought along his clubs, he spent part of his time ashore golfing on the Cove Fields. So far as can be ascertained, he would likely be the first golfer to play in Canada. Mr. Doleman first came into prominence as a golfer at the Championship Belt Tournament at Prestwick, in 1865, five years after the event now known as the Open Championship was instituted. For fully a quarter of a century Mr. Doleman maintained his place as the finest player in the amateur ranks, and was a frequent competitor in both the amateur and open championships. His last appearance in the Championships was at Westward Ho! in 1912, where he had gone out of admiration for that famous nursery of Devonshire golfers, of whom his friend J. H. Taylor was the greatest living member.

Mr. Doleman was an honored member of the Glasgow Golf Club, which he joined in 1874, and as late as 1898 tied for the scratch medal of the club. In his 74th year he went round the Killermont Course in the remarkably low score of 76. As unassuming in manner as brilliant in play, Mr. Doleman was held in the highest respect by his golfing friends, and in 1895 the Glasgow Golf Club presented him with his portrait in recognition of his ability as a golfer and his long service as a playing member. Mr. Doleman died in 1918, and his sons, who are members of the Glasgow Golf Club, are very fine golfers and carry on the family tradition."

All this is very interesting, but Mr. Doleman was not by any means the first one to play golf in Canada. There are well authenticated accounts that the game was played in a desultory manner in Montreal in 1824, or over one hundred years ago. But who can doubt that far prior to that the persistent Scot with his long-faced driver and wooden putter, his trusty iron of fire-shovel shape and his wee bit baffy, was in evidence on this continent.

In days lang syne, the distant posts of the Hudson Bay Company, were almost all manned by men from the Land o' the Heather. Many of them were certainly followers of the Royal and Ancient. Many of them undoubtedly brought out with them their golf clubs with which to enjoy, even in a most primitive fashion, the exhilarating swing and the "fair follow through" so dear to the heart of the golfer. Is it an unfair supposition to venture that golf was first played in North America over 200 years ago in the far West? That the first feather-ball on this continent was teed-up on the limitless prairie or at the foot of the grim old Rockies with a buffalo herd for a ticklish hazard, a bison wallow for a generous putting hole, and an untutored savage mayhap, as a caddie primeval—and primevals generally speaking, caddies are still—whenever they are still—Editor “Canadian Golfer”.

Stratford, Ontario, Opens Its Third Course

STRATFORD is putting into play this month its third golf course. In addition to the Stratford Golf and Country Club and the Municipal course, the Avalon Golf Club has been formed. The links are situated just outside the city limits and are extremely picturesque with a stream running through the property providing more than one water hole and hazard. Stratford is the smallest city in Canada to have three golf courses but it is the centre of an enthusiastic and large golfing population and there is no reason why the Avalon Club should not be a success more especially as it will cater to the increasingly popular “pay-as-you-play” class of players. Mr. J. L. Holmes and his sons are owners and managers of the club. Success to them.

Miss Joyce Wethered in Fine Form This Season

Miss Joyce Wethered, who opens the 1932 season by winning the Surrey Championship.

SHOWING that Miss Joyce Wethered, who leads and captains the British ladies' team against the Americans at Saunton, May 24th and 25th, is still playing a great game, although out of competitive golf for the past few years, was amply demonstrated a week or so ago when she fairly romped away with the Surrey County Ladies Championship. Miss Joyce is generally accorded by experts, including Bobby Jones, as the greatest woman golfer of all time. She will be a tower of strength to the English team at Saunton this month in the International Match, but the English girls will have to play the best golf that is in them to defeat the American team headed by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Miss Helen Hicks and Miss Maureen Orcutt (Canadian Lady Champion), who with the other U. S. players are now tuning-up in England for the big event, having arrived there last week.

The Americans will also all participate in the Ladies' Open Championship which is scheduled for May 30th-June 2nd, also over the Saunton course. They are looked upon as a formidable threat. The team is unquestionably the strongest that has ever invaded Great Britain. Unfortunately it is stated that Miss Wethered will not enter for this Open Championship, although great pressure is being brought to bear upon her, to do so.

Miss Wethered, who is in her 31st year, comes of a well-known golfing family, her brother Roger having won the British Amateur Championship in 1923. In 1921 he tied for the Open Championship with Jock Hutchison, but lost in the play-off.

Miss Joyce has a most brilliant career on the golf courses of Great Britain. She won the British Ladies' Open in 1922, 1924, 1925 and 1929. She did not compete in 1926, 1927, 1928, 1930 and 1931 or otherwise it is generally conceded she would in all probability have also won the title in those years. She annexed the English Ladies' Championship five years in succession, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924 and then retired. Last year she headed the British team which so decisively defeated the French ladies in the first women's International match ever played and also participated in the London mixed foursomes which she won for the fifth time, paired with the Hon. Michael Scott.

And Here is a Splendid "Group Idea" From Windsor

THAT very virile Windsor organization, the Roseland Golf and Country Club, is planning for a busy season. Mr. W. H. Neal, the president and general manager, writes the Editor:—

"Ours, as you know, is operated as a semi-private club. We sell memberships for the year only, and the course is open to public play at all times. This year we changed our programme considerably regarding memberships, and greatly reduced the price. This is 1932, and it simply means that whatever product you are selling your price must be at a point whereby people feel that they are getting a bargain. Everybody has less money, and it is hard to pry them loose from it.

We decided to go after memberships on a group plan. If fifteen or more members can be secured in the larger factories, or in a group of smaller factories, or in various trades or professions, we made the full membership $37.50 each. This proved very successful, and we have now some fifteen different groups, such as the Ford Motor Car Co., Chrysler Corporation, Canadian Industries, Ltd., manufacturers groups, retailers group, doctors and dentists, lawyers, financial, general foods, druggists association, insurance and real estate, municipal, government officials, etc. We have now some 250 members and fully expect 300 or more. The idea went over big, and has created more enthusiasm than ever in golf and in our course. It will provide a lot of competition among and between the various groups, and this will mean a lot of publicity.

Percy Alliss

Do you remember the sensational putting of Percy Alliss at the Canadian Open last year?

Alliss used DUNLOP Maxfli throughout because of his unbounded confidence in the ball in every department of the game.

A great many of those who have joined have probably paid green fees in the past, but we do not believe that our receipts from this source will be curtailed, because there are always a great many new golfers starting in each year, and those that are members will bring their friends out more or less during the season, and besides our course is becoming more popular each year. We have a big field to draw from in Detroit and vicinity. We reduced our green fees last year to $1.00 for 18 holes during the week, and $1.50 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. If these are reduced at all it will only be on the week-end play, probably to $1.25. This has not been decided yet, however.

Our course being privately owned, and more or less a family affair, affords us the opportunity to adjust our prices and policy each year to meet general conditions. This is what we have done this year. If we had continued on our policy of getting in members this year at a $75.00 rate, we would not have had 40 members. As it is now we have 250 and will get more, and everybody is enthusiastic. Our course has wintered well and is in better condition than it has ever been in the Spring. Mr. T. McConnell and his son Dick have done yeoman service in lining up our membership on the new basis. In fact it could not have been accomplished without them.

(Note—This "Group Idea" might very well be followed by other clubs this season in Canada. Mr. Neal and his associates have certainly put "a good one over".—Editor "Canadian Golfer.")

A Wonderful Record at Last Equalled

WAY back in 1914, C. B. MacFarlane, the Scottish golfer, did the first nine holes of St. George's in 31. He was playing the American, Chick Evans, then at the height of his fame, in the British Championship. Evans found the avalanche of fours and threes that MacFarlane hurled at him more than he could stand up against and was easily defeated. This score of 31 for 9 holes constitutes a record in the British Amateur.

This month, however, at St. George's, playing in the British Close Championship the record was equalled after a lapse of 18 years by W. H. Elkins, who is in the Malay Civil Service, and spending a golfing vacation in England. Elkins was playing the Lancashire golfer, C. E. Hardman, but no one would have been able to cope with the golf he produced.

Elkins took 31 for the first nine holes, and was 8 up. He had a score of 38 when the match finished on the 11th green. A tall, soldierly figure, Elkins won by 9 and 7, his putting being simply miraculous, for he only required 17 strokes on the green. The details of his score makes very interesting reading. They are: 443442433—31; home: 43—total 38 for 11 holes.

"Hiking" Caddie off for England

Jimmy Turney Will Caddie in the Big British Tournaments.

"JIMMY" TURNEY, of Hamilton, the world's champion caddie-hiker, is off this month on the biggest adventure of his career. It has always been his ambition to caddie in the big British championships and at last his wish is to be qualified. He "hiked" his way to Montreal the other day and then boarded the Duchess of Athol on which ship he sailed for England. Just before leaving on his big adventure he called on the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" and secured letters of introduction to prominent officials.

The Montreal papers quite feature "Jimmy" and his quite remarkable career. Herewith some extracts from the "Star" of that city:—

"One-eye" Connolly has a serious rival in Arthur James "Jimmy" Turney, who, at 18, has crossed the whole North American Continent East and West and North and South within the boundaries of golf courses several times without the formality of paying his fare. Side-door Pullmans, brake-beam parlor cars, or autos—are all alike to him so long as he can get to golf championships.

Known to golfing "big-shots" as the "Hobo Caddie", Jimmy has been in the front row of more championships in a year than Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour or Helen Hicks—his three favourite golfers. He may be a hobo, but he is an aristocrat amongst caddies. In fact it has got to the point now that when Jimmy offers to caddie for you you know that you have arrived in the forefront as a golfer.

Now he is on his way to England where he will caddie for Helen Hicks at the Ladies' British Open to be held at Saunton, May 30, and for Tommy Armour at the men's Open at Sandwich a week later. He sailed this morning from Montreal on the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl.

Jimmy altered his routine a little this time. He went aboard by way of the gangway and surrendered a ticket. Hanging on behind, he says, is not quite so good when you have 3,000 miles of Atlantic Ocean to cross.

Flaxen-haired, blue-eyed and ruddy-faced from countless exposure to the southern sun during his winter rambles from course to course, Jimmy told interviewers his great ambition. "It is not just hero worship that started me caddying for the big shots," he said seriously. "I want to win the Canadian Open. It has been years since a Canadian won the Open and I am studying all the big fellows to improve my own game. Then I hope to get a job as an assistant professional and that will qualify me to enter."

Jimmy came to Canada four years ago and got himself a job at Dominion Foundries and Steel in Hamilton. Right away he started caddying in his spare time and soon downed his tools to follow the open road. His travels have taken him to all the big courses in Canada and the United States. "I have caddied," he said, "for Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Fairley Clark, Miss Helen Hicks and a number of other big shots, on such courses as Royal Montreal, Mississauga, Royal York, York Downs, Ancaster, Oak Bay, where the Empress Hotel mid-winter tournament is held, and Banff." These were just a few he pointed out.

Jimmy Turney, who hailed from Abingdon-on-Thames, is a systematic youth. Before planning his year's activities he studies the tournament schedule and then maps out his itinerary so he will not have to double back. When it is possible he works down the east side of the United States, across the south, up the west and back home across Canada. On one occasion he crossed Canada by the freight car route with only one break from Moose Jaw to Medicine Hat. And an obliging motorist looked after that part of the trip.

Jimmy's fees for a championship range from $50 to $150. He explains that championship caddying is not like carrying a bag for an ordinary golfer. "You have to go over the course in advance and learn it thoroughly so that you can tell your man any tricks or peculiarities of the links. The way you do it is to register as an ordinary caddie a few days before the meet, carry

Second—The Hole-in-One must be made on Canadian links.

Third—It must be made during a full round of 9 or 18 holes, when scoring according to the official C. L. G. U. rules of golf.

bags for members and keep your eyes open.' Then he boards the train bringing the contenders a few stations away from their destination, and makes his arrangements.

Several golfing enthusiasts amongst the officers of the Duchess of Atholl have already planned long talks with Jimmy. He is a pocket compendium of the style of play favoured by all the champions. Just before the liner sailed he answered the interviewer's last question. "What do I go round in? Seventy-three or seventy-four."

The Wind—Greatest of Handicappers

(By J. H. Taylor, Five Times British Open Champion)

THE wind on a seaside links possesses many vicious qualities, which cannot be claimed by the comparatively innocuous breezes that blow inland. The wind by the seaside blows with a gusty intensity, which gives no herald of its coming. It quickly drops to a mere zephyr, to lull one into a sense that the worst is over, but suddenly bursts again into most violent fury.

At such times the real golfer—he who has had the good fortune to learn the game within the sound of lashing waves—comes into his undisputed kingdom. He learns from bitter experience that special means must be taken in propelling the ball to render it immune from the wind's vagaries.

If the wind be blowing from the right or the left, in front or behind, well-thought-out strokes must be exploited if full marks are to be obtained.

It can be laid down as a general principle that whenever a strong wind is blowing from any direction the lower the trajectory the ball can be given the better the result will be. This demands a special method of attack, both in the manner of stance, and how the ball should be struck.

Assuming the wind is blowing from the right, it is futile to toss the ball high with a lofted club. A medium-lofted club should be used, with a maximum of left-hand effort in order to keep the ball into its eye. Conversely, if it blows from the left, more right-hand should be employed to obtain the same effect.

In each case the wind should be regarded as a buffer or cushion, like the side walls of a racket court, and the ball struck decisively.

If the wind is a rear one care should be taken to keep the ball down and pitched rather short. The wisest policy is to try to get somewhere near the middle of the green rather than attempt to land the ball close to the hole.

Should the wind be dead ahead, a moderate-lofted mashie is the best club to use. Its short, squat head makes for more accurate striking than the longer-faced iron-head, which is more likely to be deflected when making contact with the ball.

The stance should be more forward, with the ball nearly opposite the right foot, and care should be taken to swing the club more upright. The wrists should be held taut and firm, and the head kept severely down. There is no margin for error in such a stroke. The ball should be struck on the downward swing of the club.

If the ground be touched before the ball is struck the boring flight of the ball is immediately arrested, and a "flub" invariably results, with loss of length and direction.

To see a ball played low and firm into the eye of a strong wind is to witness the height of golfing skill, and I never saw anyone more expert at this testing stroke than John Ball, who learnt to play it on a links where the wind does know how to blow at times.

I again repeat that the wind is the greatest of handicappers, and until a player learns how to circumvent it his game will remain unfinished and woefully uncertain.

The Manitoba Golf Association's New President

THE Hon. Mr. Justice J. E. Adamson, of the Court of King's Bench, Winnipeg, who has just been elected president of the Manitoba Golf Association, has always taken a very keen interest in the Royal and Ancient game. He is a member of the well known St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, and also of the Sandy Hook Golf Club at Winnipeg Beach, which is a popular summer resort course of 9 holes. He is not only a very capable golfing executive but also plays a very good game indeed. Two years ago he won the low gross in the Manitoba University Alumni annual competition and last year and the year before he was the club champion at Sandy Hook.

It is interesting to note, that Mr. Justice Adamson is strongly of the opinion, and many will heartily agree with him, that in golf, as in the majority of other things, too much money nowadays, is lavished on the upkeep of the game. He does not believe in courses being manicured to the last degree and club houses maintained in a lavish manner. He contends that it would be much better if golf expenses were kept down and the game made available to many more players as a result.

The Manitoba Golf Association is very fortunate in having in the presidential saddle, these rather parlous days, such an outstanding Judge of the King's Bench of the Province and such a capable golf executive.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Adamson elected president of the Manitoba Golf Association.

Golf and Tennis at Metis Beach

MR. T. G. Arnold, Montreal, president of the popular Cascade Golf and Tennis Club at Metis Beach, Que., writes:—

Although most summer resorts will be less full this year, we are expecting a good summer at Metis for the reason that both the hotels and the Golf and Tennis Club are very inexpensive; in fact, golf at Metis is cheaper than any other place we know of, and, of course, we have an excellent eighteen-hole course at the Cascade. I do not know if you have ever visited Metis yourself, but we would be delighted if you would do so and hope that you will see your way clear to come down in the near future.

Our season, of course, is short, being but two months, but there are a great many events packed into that time. The following is a list of the events for the season 1932 and also a list of the officers and committees for this year:—

Golf in St. John's Newfoundland

(Special Correspondence "Canadian Golfer")

SITUATED on high ground overlooking the city and harbour of St. John's, the Bally Haly Golf and Country Club provides the visitor with delightful scenery as well as interesting golf.

The club, as now constituted, was founded in 1907. Prior to that time the golf course was laid over a field in St. John's, and many of the founders of the present club were members of the old one.

The course is not a very long one, 5,700 yards, and only one or two greens are protected by bunkers, but there are a great many natural hazards which call for considerable accuracy. Woods, wind, and other hazards lie in wait for the unwary, while many sloping greens make preciseness in putting essential. Bogy is 74.

Many a low handicap player has met his Waterloo at Bally Haly.

The quality of the golf played in Newfoundland may be judged by the fact that Mr. A. C. N. Gosling, one time champion, played for Cambridge University, and was the winner of the Amateur golf championship of Bermuda 1929, while the past champion, who won this honour for seven years in succession, Mr. H. W. Dickinson, was the runner-up in the Maritime Amateur golf championship at St. John, N.B., in 1929.

Mr. P. C. Mann is the present champion, Mr. Dickinson not entering in 1931.

Last year the ladies associated with Bally Haly became affiliated with the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union.

Bally Haly Golf and Country has had a continuation of successful years, and the present membership is now about 320. It is conveniently situated for visitors, as it is only a mile from the Newfoundland Hotel. The green fees are one dollar a day, or five dollars a week, and arrangements have been made whereby visitors may be accorded the privileges of the club house and course on payment of these small fees.

The club is extremely well officered this season as follows:—President, C. McK. Harvey; vice-president, L. C. Outerbridge; secretary-treasurer, H. C. The 1932 Edition of the Books of the Rules, handsomely printed in new type and edited up-to-date was recently issued from the "Canadian Golfer Press". These books contain the important amendment to Rule 28 recently passed by the Royal and Ancient and Royal Canadian Golf Association which makes it doubly important to have a supply.

Last year in Canada, not knowing the Rules, cost three participants, in Championships probably the Championships in which they were playing. Every Golfer should have a Book of the Rules and every Club should have a supply for their members. It is nothing short of criminal not to know the Rules and the Etiquette of Golf. These little Red Books will add to the pleasure and satisfaction of your game. Always have one handy—in your pocket or in your golf bag. Price—Single copies 25c. 100 copies or more 20c per copy. 500 copies or more (with name of Club or Firm printed on cover, without extra charge) 15c per copy.

Golf Boomerangs

(By Charles Herndon, Author of "Golf Made Easier")

Weight Distribution

"THE average golfer should figure more on keeping the weight back on the right foot and leg as long as possible since his natural tendency is to throw his weight forward."—Grantland Rice.

The golfer should not endeavour to keep his weight at any place. He shouldn't even think about it. Weight shifting, or the changing of one's balance as the swing proceeds, should be entirely passive or involuntary. If the swing is made properly the weight will shift properly.

Putting

"I advocate the idea of the two hands working against one another, the left hand pushing the club back in the upswing, the right hand bringing the club forward against the resistance of the left in the downswing."—Archie Compston.

This division of labour between the two hands in putting could never be accomplished except by conscious effort in each putt. That in itself is enough to condemn it, for it would be a distraction to concentration. And we do not accept his theory that the putt can be negotiated better with the hands working alternately or "working against one another" than it could by hands working together—as one—in both the upswing and in the downswing.

The Straight Left Arm

"The main advantage of a straight left is that it increases the arc of the back swing and hence the potential power of the stroke."—Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

A straight left arm does enlarge the arc of the swing (but not the length of the swing); maintaining both arms straight would increase the arc some more; and using longer clubs would still further enlarge the arc of the swing; but a swing arc that is forced to larger dimensions by a straight left arm does not increase "the potential power of the stroke". The speed of the clubhead, which is greatly augmented by the bending and unbending of the elbows, is more responsible for power than an exaggerated swing arc would be. We frequently see a small player, with a comparatively curtailed swing arc, outdriving a taller player with a large swing arc; but the smaller player is not maintaining either arm straight, but is bending them so as to take full advantage of his arm muscles.

Mr. Mackenzie Has Done Much for Golf in the West

AS announced in the April issue Mr. G. Innes Mackenzie, well known Winnipegger and golfing executive, has launched out for himself in the insurance business. Mr. Mackenzie, who is a twin brother of Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, many times Canadian Open and Close Champion, has always taken a keen interest in the Royal and Ancient game in the West. For two years he served as secretary of the Winnipeg Canoe Club which for many years has had a very popular nine-hole course. During that time he established a course record and also won the club championship. For the past six years he has been a member of the Alerest Golf Club, Winnipeg, and secretary for one year. He served as hon. secretary-treasurer of the Manitoba Golf Association in 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925.

Western Canada Golf Association in Regina in August, 1923. At that time he was appointed hon. secretary-treasurer and his continued in that office since. Altogether a very active and distinguished golfing career.

Soldier, Artist and Golf Club Manager

CAPTAIN MELVILLE MILLAR is president of the Art Club of Ontario, and secretary-manager of the Islington Golf Club since its organization nine years ago.

He is an old soldier, having served with the Canadian forces off and on since the Northwest Rebellion. Back in 1889 he went to the States and subsequently entered the American calvary, where he saw service during the Sitting Bull uprising in Dakota, the Catarina Garza revolution on the Mexican frontier, Indian uprising in Arizona and Indian Territory and had the distinction of firing the shot that started the mad rush into the Indian Territory in 1894.

During the World War Captain Millar had charge of the attestation of all units for overseas and incidentally swore in some forty thousand men leaving for the front from Niagara.

For the past twenty years he has been greatly interested in golf course construction and management.

After the war he took charge of the construction of the Muskoka Lakes Golf Club, being associated with Stanley Thompson at that time.

Subsequently he went to Bigwin Inn to look after construction work.

In 1923 he took over the construction of Islington Golf Club under Stanley Thompson and he has remained as manager of this club ever since.

For some years past he has been associated with George Cumming and during such association has built a number of the better known courses in Ontario.

During Captain Millar's army life in the States he came in contact with Frederick Remington, the famous artist, also Col. Wm. Cody (Buffalo Bill).

Remington was attached to the Captain's troop during the time he published his book "Done in the Open" and Cody was at that time chief of scouts.

A friendship sprung up between these three which was only broken when Remington and Cody died some years ago.

At the annual meeting of the Islington Golf Club this spring Captain Millar was presented with a magnificent silver salver by the members of the club as an appreciation of the work he has done since the organization of the club.

He was honoured in a like manner by the Art Club at the close of its official season this spring, being the recipient of a beautiful case of pipes. He is an artist of note and a well known contributor to art exhibitions in Ontario and elsewhere.

With the Professionals

Interesting News of the Men Who Do So Much for the Royal and Ancient Game, from Coast to Coast.

To Fred Morrison, professional from Culver City, Cal., goes the honour of taking top place among the money golfers at the end of the Far Western winter tournament season.

Morrison, who won virtually no money in other years, amassed $5,746.66 in five of the six tournaments which offered aggregate cash prizes of $39,000. First place in the Agua Caliente $15,000 Open gave him $5,000.

Morrison took the throne vacated by George Von Elm, of Los Angeles, who won $7,447 of the $51,200 prize money posted last season. Von Elm gathered in only $1,610 the past season on the Coast.

"The News of the World", London, is running every week from leading golfers "My Best Performance". Canadians will be especially interested in the following which appears in the current issue from Percy Alliss:—

"I consider my best performance was in tying for the Canadian Open Championship on the Mississauga course, Toronto. Walter Hagen had finished his final round when I was at the ninth hole. I had to come back in 32 to tie.

"This looked a hopeless proposition, the more so when, with five holes to play, I had to do four 3's and a 4 to tie. These figures I accomplished, and so tied with Hagen.

"Johnny Farrell, who was my partner on the last round, was also leading me by four strokes with nine holes to go, but I beat him by a stroke at the finish.

"Unfortunately I did not finish my good work properly, as I was beaten in the replay by a stroke, the scores being: Hagen 72 and 68, myself 71 and 70."

Percy Alliss was born in Sheffield 35 years ago. He has won German, Swedish, and Welsh Championships.

Third in British "Open" in 1931, fourth in 1928 and 1929, and fifth in 1923. Played for Britain against America. Now with Beaconsfield Club, Bucks, England.

The first hole-in-one of the season at the Toronto Golf Club was recorded by Lou Cumming, son of and assistant to George Cumming, the club's pro. Lou was playing with Eugene O'Neil, Joe Thompson and Eddie Leader and on the 156-yard fourteenth hole his mashie shot went dead for the pin and after landing well on the green ran up to the cup and dropped in. It was this brilliant young professional's first ace.

During the summer months the professionals do not have the opportunity of "picking up much easy money", but they do have the chance to make reputations in the British, U.S. and Canadian Open Championships plus a few hundred dollars only in prize money, but a reputation is worth in the long run a good deal more to a player than the winning of big money in the winter tournaments.

The appointment of W. H. Martin, well-known golfer, as professional at the Cutten golf course, Guelph, Ontario, is announced by Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, and a director of the club. Martin, formerly associated with clubs in Montreal, Toronto and New Brunswick, will assume his duties immediately, and will also supervise some extensive landscape work, which it is planned to carry out on this outstanding course this summer.

The annual U.S. Professional Golf Association National Championship will be held over the Keller course, St. Paul, August 30th to September 4th. This is some two weeks earlier than the date usually selected for holding this outstanding event.

An extra added attraction likely to be held immediately prior to the championship will consist of a match between teams of foreign born and home-bred professionals. This affair is the result of a suggestion on the part of the P. G. A. president, Charlie Hall, the idea being to have Will Macfarlane head the foreign born and Horton Smith the native forces.

He writes: "Summerside is a very nice club and they are making some alterations in the course. It's a splendid layout and the members are all very enthusiastic. I am looking forward to a successful season."

Stan Harper, formerly of Cedar Brook, Toronto, is the pro this season at the Willowdale Golf and Country Club, a very popular Toronto "pay-as-you-play course".

Jack Madash, who left this month to again take up his professional duties at Amherst, N.S., writes:—

"I find the Amherst course has wintered extremely well and is in excellent condition for the season's play. Our members are very enthusiastic and are looking forward to a most successful season. Mrs. S. E. Goodwin, who was a resident of Amherst last year, is now living in Halifax. She won the Maritime Ladies' Championship last year, you will remember, when playing for the Amherst Club. She will be a great addition this season to the playing strength of the Halifax Golf and Country Club at Ashburn."

MacDonald Smith, winner of the Canadian Open in 1926, has already arrived in the Old Country to tune up for the British Open. The famous Scottish-American professional is keen to win the British Championship. This is his 7th attempt to annex the event and if persistency counts for anything "Mac" should land the title at Sandwich the week of June 6th, although he will have big opposition in Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, the Japanese ace "Tom" Miyamoto, not to mention the flower of the British players who this season are shaping up well, especially some of the younger players, many of whom have been scoring consistently in the low seventies, already this year. Hagen and Armour arrived in the Old Country this week which will give them some six days practice on the difficult Sandwich course. "The Haig", by the way, has always found the Sandwich course to his liking and has won two of his four British Championships there—in 1922 with a score of 300 and in 1928 with a 292. He has been installed a prime favourite in England to repeat next month.

The Canadian Open Championship

All Golfing Roads Will Lead to the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club July 7th, 8th and 9th. All the Golfing Stars Will be There.

THE Open Championship of Canada will be played over the course of the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 7th, 8th and 9th of July.

The secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, Mr. B. L. Anderson, has this week issued the official programme of this outstanding event of the season. The Championship shall be decided by the entire field playing 36 holes, one round of 18 holes on Thursday and 18 holes on Friday. All competitors within 20 strokes of the leader on Thursday and Friday shall play 36 holes on Saturday. In the event of a tie or ties, the competitors who tie shall play an additional round as arranged by the committee. In this connection it might be stated that heretofore 36 holes have been played in the event of a tie, as was done in 1930 at Hamilton between Tommy Armour and Leo Diegel, and last year at Mississauga between Hagen and Alliss. The United States Golf Association this year is limiting the play-off to 18 holes in the event of a tie and the R.C.G.A. may probably follow this example, although whether 18 holes or 36 holes will be left to the discretion of the Committee.

In the case of amateur golfers applications will be considered only from players whose handicap is 6 or less.

The prizes, amounting to $1,465, subject to any alteration necessitated by ties, shall be divided as follows:—The winner shall receive the Championship Gold Medal and the first prize, $500.00 in money. The prize money shall be awarded only to a professional. First prize $500, second prize $300, third prize $200, fourth prize $150, fifth prize $100, sixth prize $75, seventh prize $50, eighth prize $40, ninth prize $30, tenth prize $20. The association will present a gold medal for the best amateur score.

In addition to these prizes the "Canadian Golfer" will as usual donate $50.00 (1st $35, second $15) to the Canadian professionals returning the lowest two scores in the Championship.

The last time the Open Championship was held in Ottawa was in 1920 at the Rivermead Golf Club, when the late Douglas Edgar, Tommy Armour (then an amateur), and C. R. Murray, Royal Montreal, tied, and in the play-off Edgar won. The course of the Ottawa Hunt has never staged a championship before but experts claim that it is one of the best tests of golf in Canada.

Hagen will be at Ottawa to defend his title and Leo Diegel, MacDonal Smith and Tommy Armour, former Open Champions, will also be there with the cream of American and Canadian players. All golfing roads will lead to Ottawa the week of July 7th.

The Canadian Open Championship has always been a great success largely owing to the generous treatment of the contestants and spectators by the officials of the R.C.G.A. and the hospitality of the officials of the clubs staging the Championship, who have always thrown open the conveniences of their club houses in a most generous manner to the participants and this generous gesture is much appreciated.

Hagen in the Lead

In an Interesting Exhibition Match at the Royal York Club, with Willie Lamb a Close Second.

NOTWITHSTANDING that Saturday, May 14th, was more or less the official opening of the majority of the golf clubs in Toronto, a very large gallery was attracted to the Royal York Golf Club to witness the exhibition game participated in by Walter Hagen, Open Champion of Canada, and the world's most colourful golfer, and Willie Lamb, of Uplands, Jimmie Johnstone, of Rosedale, and Bob Cunningham, recently appointed professional at the Royal York.

The course was in superb condition, although as a result of recent heavy rains, rather on the slow side and the large gallery which religiously followed the experts from the first tee to the last green were well rewarded for their tramp of 6,645 yards over the rolling fairways of the Royal York.

Two hundred dollars was offered in prize money, and $500 additional should Hagen break the course record, 69, which is held by Horton Smith, the clever young United States professional. The Canadian champion failed to break the record of the course, but he won first prize, which amounted to $150, in a close contest with Lamb and Johnstone. Twice during the round the champion thrilled the gallery, once when he holed a long downhill putt for a birdie at the thirteenth hole, and then when he sank a shorter, but difficult, putt on the home green. The scores were: Hagen, 38-37-75; Lamb, 37-39-76; Johnstone, 38-39-77; and Cunningham, 40-47-87.

In the evening a dinner-dance was held in the charming club house which was very largely attended and proved a fitting wind-up to a most delightful day.

Hagen, who left Toronto for New York after playing at the Royal York, to take steamer for England to again compete in the British Open, it is interesting to note carries a bag with seventeen clubs, four woods and thirteen irons. Driver, brassie spoon and cleek; one, two, three, four irons, mashie iron (driving mashie), mashie, spade, two mashie niblicks, niblick, runner-up, sand blaster and putter. His clubs are of standard length, but very heavy. If I'm not mistaken the driver weighs about sixteen ounces and the others proportionately.

The clubs are beautifully made, particularly the heads, which are his own design. If anyone ever gets the idea he is not a skilful club-maker, a few moments conversation will quickly ruin this thought. Just start discussing models, face planes, lies, etc.,

with him and his expert knowledge quickly shows.

Hagen has always been regarded as one of the greatest putters in the world, but at Toronto he confided to some friends that so far this season he has been more or less worried about this department of the game. He confesses to having for a time more or less lost his "putting touch". However, at the Royal York he did not show to any extent that he is not yet one of the most bold and fearless putters of all the great golfers. And after all "the putt's the thing" when it comes down to winning the British or any other big championship. The champion again this season has discarded "plus fours" for "flannel pants" which in England especially are becoming the vogue on the links.

W. Lister Hartley, a British International, who is regarded as certain of securing a place in this year's Walker Cup team, was in fine form at Chislehurst.

Playing from plus three, he won the Victory Challenge Cup over 36 holes, with a return of 5 up. Holing out everything Hartley had scores of 65 and 66 respectively. The scratch score of the course is 70.

The story of a golf caddie who had been "warned off" the Wanstead golf course, where he formerly worked, was told at Stratford (E.) Police Court, when Arthur Smith, aged 25, of Lawrence-avenue, Manor Park, was fined 40s. for stealing 16 golf balls.

It was stated that Smith was questioned by a park keeper, whom he told he had been getting golf balls from the lake on the course.

The club professional, Gaudin, told the Bench that all balls found in the lake became his property, and those which Smith admitted having got from the course had been immersed for some time.

Amateurs and professionals of Dorset met in a match on the Came Down Club's course near Dorchester, and the professionals won by 13½ points to 12½. Each professional met at least two amateurs, playing the better ball of his opponents, but R. A. Whitcombe (Parkstone), who holds the West of England and South-Western Championships, tackled a more difficult task with success. In the morning, when the amateurs won by 7 points to 6, Whitcombe beat the best ball of E. F. F. Stubbs, Major J. Dundry, and H. S. Stringer by 4 and 3. In the afternoon Whitcombe played the best ball of Stubbs, Captain N. H. Carter, and W. Stansbury, and again won by 4 and 2.

An extraordinary golf feat was accomplished by R. M. Rowley-Morris in a four-ball match at Denham. At the fifteenth he holed out from a bunker 30 yards from the green for an "eagle" three. At the next hole—145 yards — Rowley-Morris's tee-shot pitched on the green and trickled into the hole. He thus did two consecutive holes in four strokes—four under par.

J. H. Taylor Tells British Pro Some Well Deserved Truths

J. H. TAYLOR, the great veteran golfer, five times Open Champion of Great Britain, opens the season by making a clarion call to the professionals of the Old Country to "wake up and play up". "J. H." doesn't mince matters and Canadians who were so disappointed at the miserable showing of the British Ryder Cup team last summer in our Canadian Open Championship will agree that he has handed out a jolt to the British professionals which they well deserve, and it is hoped will profit by. Taylor says in part:—

"Like soccer, football and cricket, standards are judged by what is done when we meet other countries, and by this comparison the paid British players have done badly. Our professionals show brilliance when engaged in home events, which makes it harder to understand their failure when they meet overseas competitors. I would hesitate to suggest that they suffer from stage fright, or that the importance of the event is too much for them.

"Carnoustie, last June, was a humiliating affair, much more so than any recent championship, and it blazoned in red letters the unmistakable fact that until a British player succeeds in winning the Open Championship of his country its prestige will remain at its present low level. Sheer hard work and a vigorous determination that it shall be restored are wanted.

"The skill is here, but disagreeable circumstances point to the fact that something more important is lacking. This may be thought a depressing article to herald another season, but, if it bears the impress of truth and awakens the resolve that 1932 shall bring with it a restoration of British golfing prestige, then, whatever the effect its reading may cause, it may be forgiven."

Canada's First Woman Golf Pro

Miss Verena M. Newton Takes Over the Professional Duties this Season at a Muskoka Golf Club.

AT last Canada has to have a woman professional golfer. Miss Verena M. Newton, charming 19-year-old Toronto girl, has decided to take the plunge and this season will take over the pro duties at the recently formed Lakeside Club at Minett, Muskoka, and make no mistake about it, she is well equipped to do so. Miss Verena quite sprang into fame last year, when unheralded and unsung she entered for the Canadian Ladies' Close Championship at Lambton and romped away with the handsome cup presented by the British Ladies' Golf Union. She is not only an exceptionally good golfer, but is quite capable of looking after the requirements of golfers in regard to club repairs and the dozen and one things a capable pro is called upon to perform. Miss Newton is the first woman professional in Canada although both in England and the States there are one or two following the profession. She is more or less a pupil of Hugh Logan, the well known pro, who writes the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" quite enthusiastically about his protegee.

"You see," said Miss Newton in an interview with Ken. W. McTaggart, Mail and Empire staff writer, "I have to make some money. I can't just go on playing golf for fun because I can't afford it. Everybody said I was crazy to be a pro because I can't play in women's tournaments any more. But why should I care? I don't want to play that way. The game is fun and I hope I can make my own way this way and have my fun playing, too."

So Verena took the club at Minett, Muskoka. She can shaft a head like a man, rewind clubs, can do anything that is done around a pro's shop because she has done them all lots of times when Hughie Logan was giving her good advice. She has high hopes that everything will go fine and that business will be good.

And yet, with all her golf, she is definitely feminine. She wears becoming costumes and is very dainty. She is a good cook. But, she admits, she likes playing golf best of all. And, she adds, she is only 19 and it looks like lots of fun along with the work and so why worry? Her eyes crinkle happily and she dimples when she says, "It's what I want to do, so what about it?"

The "Canadian Golfer" welcomes Miss Newton to the professional ranks. May her pluck be amply rewarded this season in Muskoka. She deserves it.

Between Tee and Green

(By W. H. Webbling)

I wonder why it's e'er my fate
To never really concentrate
Altho' I know within my bones
It's that which makes a Bobby Jones,
That, and to be always up
And sink the necessary putt.

I wonder why my thoughts must drift
And cause my silly head to lift
Instead of concentrating more
Than I have ever done before,
But no, my thought will ever fly
To some sweet girl who happens by.

Or when some chance remark I hear
From some one who is standing near
It may be on taxation, or
Other things that I deplore,
It matters not, I listen, thus
To golf become oblivious.

And so it goes from year to year
My hopes of fame all disappear
And duffers whom I used to trim
All beat me now, and take my tin—
And all this awful tribulation
Is lack, alone, of concentration.

* * *

I've been beaten very badly by many golfing men

Of every sort and station and every type,
ye ken,

And I've had the sad experience of being soundly flayed

By a simple sort of Johnny who very seldom played.

I've been beaten by an invalid, who warned me at the start,

He suffered from some malady connected with his heart

My fate I've met serenely throughout my golfing life

But I'd drop the game immediately, if beaten by my wife!

* * *

I hope I never know the day
When I hear some golfer say
Who, in thunder's that old cove
Holding up the course, by jove!

My game, I know, is far from strong
But yet I try to tramp along
And keep my place, as round we go—
I'd hate like blazes to be slow!

I ne'er was one to practice swings
Which satisfaction seldom brings
Neither, when I take my stance
Do I wriggle, squirm, or prance.

There may be many things I do
That wouldn't much appeal to you
But this I must proclaim, perforce—
I never yet held up the Course!

I've golfed with a crusty old Colonel
Whose language was certainly hot
It withered the face of the fairway
And dried up the river a lot.
On other occasions I've listened
To players of varied degree
Who shattered the air with invective
Comprehensive, conclusive and free.
But I think that in all my adventures
The most sacrilegious I found
Was the "silence" profane of a parson
Who frequently sliced out of bound.

* * *

In days gone by I used to play
A rather decent game
That used to win me trophies and
A certain sort of fame.
The clubs I used were second hand
My ball was quite brunette,
But still I won, how it was done
I've not discovered yet.

For now, by jove, I have the best
Of clubs in matched design
I only use, the latest ball
My costume's superfine
And yet withal, I seldom win
Or feel that wondrous glow—
The joy supreme of victories keen
That once I used to know.

* * *

In England, once, I played around
One bright and sunny day
With quite a queer, old golfer who Came ambling my way
His game was all that one would wish
But from the starting tee
This strange old bird, it seems absurd—
Said nothing much except one word—
"quite"!

I spoke on subjects topical
On matters grave and gay
I touched on reparation and Prosperity's delay.
I chatted rather cleverly
Upon dramatic art—
But not a word from this old bird
Except the fact, that he concurred—
"quite"!

And when the eighteen holes were played
The game of course he won,
We entered soon the 19th hole
In thirsty unison
At last I felt, I'd make this chap
Say something worth the while
But when I said, what price a peg?
He only bowed his head, and said—
"quite"!

Golf at Banff, "On the Roof of the World"

REPORTS from Banff, Alberta, are to the effect that the magnificent 6,500-yard course there has wintered extremely well and will be in superb shape for this season's activities which include among other fixtures, the Willingdon Cup the week of July 18th, and the Prince of Wales Trophy the week of August 15th. The present holder of the latter coveted trophy is Mr. F. G. Hoblitzel, of Toronto, who defeated Phil Farley, also of Toronto, in the final. The Willingdon Cup was won by Mr. Reginald Loftus, secretary of the Siamese Minister at Washington. The charming new $100,000 club house at Banff is worthy in every way of the blue grass fairways and

By the way, the beautiful Prince of Wales Cup was personally presented to Banff by His Royal Highness who has on several occasions played over the pine-scented course whilst visiting his ranch in Alberta not so far away.

A Great Golfer is James Braid

A SCOTTISH correspondent writes:—

A week or two ago James Braid, who is in point of record in golf the most famous Scottish professional of the past half century and in some respects of all time, went round Walton Heath in 66 strokes. "Prodigious" is the word that jumps to the mind. Braid was 62 in February, the big events know him no more, and we thought he was devoting his time nowadays to shaping courses rather than humbling them. But that was a wonderful score for the veteran even if we concede local knowledge its full value.

The feat joggled recollections of great days in the career of the giant of Earlsferry, who won his five Open Championships in ten years, who laid on gallantly for Scotland against England in the match the countries will (alas, without the great figures of the triumvirate) revive this year, and of course as all the world knows he once went to bed a comparatively short driver and woke up a long one.

But I think Braid has to go back over twenty years to a day of vivid memory for possibly his greatest, or, at any rate, most heroic performance on the links. It was in the Open Championship of 1910 at St. Andrews. That was the last of his historic collection of five titles. In itself that circumstance would set it out above many in the long catalogue of the event, but the weather in which the Championship opened also made it memorable.

It was one of the worst days ever experienced in big golf. In the course of the first day's play a violent thunderstorm descended on the classic links, filled bunkers with water, flooded putting greens, and made golf look generally impossible. That it succeeded in this last-mentioned respect was the view of the authorities, who decided upon the drastic measure of cancelling play and scrapping the scores for the day. Braid was playing through the height of this storm when that decision was taken.

Towards the end of the round the news was broken to Braid, but he did not pack up and leave the course. His decision was to finish the round for his own satisfaction. He could not be any wetter. He had played with a magnificent mastery through wind and deluge to the roll of thunder and amid the fearsome limelight of the lightning. He kept his eye on the ball and lashed it from the tees through the storm; he gave his putter a "dicht" and holed his putts. And he completed the course in 77. That will go down to the generations yet to live in golf as one of the greatest rounds ever played.

But, as I have already said, it did not count. It went "into the discard." Braid, however, did win the Championship. His chance was challenged in one round by the late Willie Smith, of Mexico, brother of the Macdonald Smith who challenges to-day, in another round by George Duncan, but blind Justice must have had one eye open when Braid in his greatness defied the lightning and all the other weather in that wonderful round.

"Our Hole-in-One Club"

THE "Canadian Golfer" will again this season have much pleasure in awarding a year's subscription to golfers making a "hole-in-one" on any Canadian course.

A full round of the course must be played and the score card must be attested by the secretary of the club where the hole-in-one was made. No awards will be made before May 24th and none after October 1st. Several "one-shots" have already been reported but no subscription will be awarded before May 24th, which is generally looked upon as the opening of the golf season in all the Provinces.

"It was with profound regret that the Governors, and other members, of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association learned of the death in Winnipeg, on the 11th September, 1931, of one of its respected Governors, Mr. Charles Patrick Wilson, King's Counsel.

A prominent figure in the legal fraternity of Canada, and a staunch supporter and adherent of amateur sport, his passing is mourned by his many friends throughout the whole Dominion."

The president referred to correspondence exchanged with Col. Popham, the honorary secretary-treasurer of the Senior Golfers' Society of Great Britain, in which it was intimated that members of the British team would like to visit Canada prior to taking part in the triangular matches which are to be played at the Apawamis Club, Rye, N.Y. The Passing of Well Known Pro PROMINENTLY identified with sport circles in Guelph and one of the best known golfers in the district, James Carmichael, pro of the Guelph Golf and Country Club, died at the General Hospital May 18th after an illness of five weeks. Taken ill last summer, Carmichael spent the winter at his home in Scotland in the hope of regaining his health, but following his return to Guelph this spring his condition showed no improvement and he entered the hospital shortly after his arrival back in the city.

An expert golfer who figured in many important professional competitions in both Canada and the United States, Carmichael has had a wide connection among the golfing fraternity of both countries. Prior to coming to Guelph he held positions with the St. Hubert Golf Club at Lake Placid, N.Y., and the Grosse Point Club, Detroit, but for the past three years had been in charge of the Guelph Golf Club. He was born in Bridge of Weir, Glasgow, Scotland, and was in his 34th year. Besides his wife, one daughter survives.

Walter Hagen Not Amongst British Open Entries

LONDON, May 16.—There are 252 golfers entered for the British Open Championship at Sandwich on June 6, including Tommy Armour, winner of the crown last year at Carnoustie.

Walter Hagen, four times winner of the British Open, was not among the entries.

Hagen Cables Entry

Detroit, May 16.—Informed that his name was not among the list of entrants in the British Open to be held June 6, Walter Hagen, four times winner of the Championship, to-day said he had cabled a "last minute entry."

"I don't know whether they'll accept it or not," Hagen said. "I thought the closing time for entries was the same as our National Open, so I cabled right away when I found out differently."

Hagen said he was still uncertain whether he would play in the British Open, but wanted to be entered anyway.

Fees Paid Caddies

Go a Long Way to Help the Family Budget These Stressful Times.

THESE more or less strenuous financial times there is no question that the caddies throughout the country play quite an important part in providing for the upkeep of many a family. It is hard to even approximately estimate how much money is spent by golfers especially in the larger clubs, in caddie fees, but in the aggregate there is no doubt it amounts to a large sum. The following from the Toronto Globe, along these lines makes interesting reading:—

"In the neighbourhood of $100,000 will find its way into the homes of unemployed workmen of New Toronto, Long Branch, Etobicoke, Port Credit, Islington, Weston, Lambton, North York and Scarboro' from the score of golf clubs surrounding the city.

The money will be brought into the homes by boys of all ages, who will caddie for the thousands of golfers of Toronto. A considerable sum went into the homes of the unemployed over the week-end and assisted in making the lot of the father and mother somewhat brighter.

The estimate on the amount which may be contributed by sons of the unemployed toward the maintenance of the home was reached through a study of the payments of caddie masters, who are responsible for the employment of lads about golf clubs. Although golf was delayed through uncertain weather for a fortnight, the earnings of fifty boys in one well-known club, while play was comparatively light, amounted to $225. As the season proceeds the opportunity to earn more money will present itself, according to club officials, to whom many pleas for employment have been addressed from the neighbourhood.

Some years ago, R. C. H. Cassels, K.C., president of the Toronto Golf Club, estimated that the boys who carried clubs on the Lakeview and Toronto courses annually earned $15,000. Mr. Cassels stated the money had always gone into the home, because clubs were extremely careful when employing boys, and this year the earnings of the caddies from New Toronto, Long Branch and Port Credit would be of greater value to many families.

"To-day we had a four-ball match. Each boy earned a dollar. I presume they will earn more during the week. The money they will take home will make all the difference in the world. The Toronto Golf Club is one of the heaviest taxpayers in the township. All boys employed at the club come from the neighbourhood," said Mr. Cassels.

George Mortimer, caddie masfer at the Lambton Golf and Country Club, has established a policy of assisting the unemployed of York Township by employing their sons whenever possible and has found that boys whose fathers are at work refuse to take work from less fortunate lads. He stated the spirit among the boys of the township is remarkable.

"To-day I gave employment to two men. They were men who were destitute. It is hard to turn them away," said Mr. Mortimer, who then exhibited a score of letters from wage-earners in Lambton and the vicinity, pleading for employment for their children. "None of the boys from the city will get a job. We will give the work to boys in the township first. What boys will earn this year will mean a lot to many families."

Boys have been caddying on the Sabbath for three years. The clubs refuse to give work to them unless they bring a letter from their parents, and unless they are over a certain age. On a good week-end while Daylight Saving lasts, an efficient caddie should earn $4, and probably double it by working through the week.

There are twenty-five clubs operating close to the city this year, and, on account of business conditions, which prevent wage-earners and business men from leaving the city for extended vacations, each club expects to have a prosperous year. The caddies, as a consequence, should earn good wages. In addition to the money to be earned in this fashion, there is money to be made at tournaments, where every golfer must have his caddie.

Golfers state that they preferred boys instead of men as caddies. The boys, they stated, usually knew the course, and were much better at retrieving lost balls. They were satisfied that what the caddies earned this year would provide food and clothing for destitute families in many instances.

Famous "Reddy Tee" to be Manufactured in Canada

THE Nieblo Mfg. Co. Inc. of New York has changed its name to "The Reddy Tee Co. Inc. The change went into effect recently when the final papers were returned from Trenton, N.J. Mr. E. E. Lowell, president, writes the "Canadian Golfer":—

"The reason we made this change was primarily for the convenience of our customers and to have the name of our company consistent with our product—The Reddy Tee. The Reddy Tee is known the world over and because it is so well known and the name 'Nieblo' hardly at all, we saw no good reason for continuing with the name 'Nieblo'. Furthermore The Reddy Tee, as a product and as a name, is unique in that it embodied a brand new idea in golf."

Starting this season this world-famous tee is being manufactured in Canada for the Canadian market and for Australia and other countries by A. G. Spalding Bros. of Canada, Ltd., at their factory in Brantford, Ontario.

Dr. L. H. Price, who owns the sporting Lakeside Golf Club at Moncton, N.B., is enthusiastic about this season's prospects. He writes:—

The only requirement to play golf at the Lakeside Golf Links is that all players must obey and comply with the rules and etiquette of golf as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, and Royal Canadian Golf Association. There are no laws and by-laws to be observed, and annoy you—you only have to play golf and enjoy yourself.

The Lakeside Golf Links opened in 1928 with 20 members. Membership has increased so much that in 1931 there were 140 members. If the membership increases to 200 in 1932 and is maintained at that, I can promise a splendid 18-hole course in 1935 or 1936.

The present course has improved year by year, and the refreshing breeze that blows across the wide and open fairways, blows the pestiferous mosquitoes away, and makes the game a joy and pleasure to all players.

Everybody can play golf—everybody from 8 to 80.

Pro Tom Tonks will always be on hand to instruct beginners and help others to improve their game. He has on hand a first class assortment of clubs and all other golf equipment, which will be sold at reasonable prices.

Rumors that the Granite Club, Toronto, had under consideration the purchase of the Glen Mawr golf course were definitely set at rest when, at the first meeting of the board of managers held since the proposal was made to the club, it was unanimously and courteously declined.

In an interview George H. Ross, chairman of the board, pointed out that reports which had been published concerning the purchase had never any basis in fact. Propositions had been made to the club by those interested, but at no time had there been any disposition to accept them. The Glen Mawr is carrying on as usual this season under efficient management.

Mr. J. H. Warren, a well known member of the Saskatoon Golf Club, sends in the following amusing formula of a sure method of reducing golf scores sufficiently to win golf competitions'. He says:—

Since golf handicaps are principally hot air and hence amenable to the Gas Laws the following formula is submitted:—

$$S = \left[\frac{PVT}{NR} \right]^{1+D} - A \times 10$$

S=Strokes handicap.

P=Par for the course.

V=Veracity coefficient of the player, from 1 for actually truthful to 0 for chronic liar.

T=Size of tip given the caddie (if any).

N=Number of clubs carried.

R=Number of rules broken.

D=Player's drag with the handicap committee in the number of friends on it.

A=Arbitrary constant introduced by the player to make his handicap just what he needs to win.

Following complaints from several golf clubs in North York that boys have been reported to be prowling on the courses and picking up balls, which later they attempt to sell to players on another course, Chief Roy Riseborough has placed two lads under arrest. Admitting that they had secured the balls from the Glen Mawr course, they told the police that on the advice of other lads they tried to dispose of them on the St. Andrew's Club course. So numerous have the complaints been, that the authorities are keeping a close watch on all courses. This week three more youths charged with the same offense were arrested on the links of the Willowdale Golf Club, Toronto.

The Prince of Wales is thoroughly enthusiastic about the game of golf, says an English correspondent. He works hard to improve his form, and the fine showing he made in the Royal Navy Tournament at Sunningdale proves that he is a good eleven handicap. Should the royal golfer improve this season as much as he did last he may reach the distinction of a single figure handicap. His sphere of competition must necessarily be limited, but his entry for the Army Championship and his appearance in the Parliamentary Handicap, mark a mighty long stride from the seclusion which surrounded his position up to the time he became interested in this most democratic of games. It is good for golf that the Prince and his royal brothers are so keen about it.
