The End of the 1930 Golf Season in Sight.

Already the curtain has pretty well rung down on the chief championships for men in Canada, Great Britain and the United States. The only Canadian events of note still to be played off are the Quebec Open Championship at the Country Club, Montreal, August 22nd, and the following day the Quebec Amateur Championship, also at the Country Club. In the United States two very important championships are yet to be decided. The Professional Championship of America at Flushing, N.Y., September 8th, 13th, and the U.S. Amateur Championship at Philadelphia, September 22-27. Two or three leading Canadian amateurs will take part in this championship. If Bobby Jones wins this event, and he is odds-on favourite to do so, he will have accomplished what has always been looked upon as the impossible, namely, the winning in one season of the world's four great championships, the British Amateur and the Open and the American Open and Amateur. He already has the former three dangling at his belt.

The ladies of Canada and the States come into their own the next few weeks. The Canadian Women's Open Championship is scheduled for the week of September 15th at the French-Canadian club, Laval-sur-le-Lac, Montreal, and the Canadian Close Championship at Mount Bruno Golf Club, Montreal, the week of September 22nd. The U.S. women the week of October 13th tie themselves to Los Angeles, to fight out their battle for feminine supremacy. It is understood that as usual there will be a galaxy of U.S. lady stars at the Canadian Open. They will have ample time to play at Laval and then go on to California for their own championship.

Then at the Toronto Club the week of September 1st the Seniors of Great Britain, Canada and the United States foregather for their triangular matches and other events. The Governor-General, and other notables from all three countries will take part in this outstanding social and golfing event of 1930.

The present holders of the championships noted above and still to be played are:—Quebec Open, Arthur Hulbert, of the Thornhill Golf Club, Toronto. Quebec Amateur, Gordon McAthey, Montreal. American Professional Championship, Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, Mexico. U.S. Amateur, Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul, Minn. Canadian Ladies' Open, Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, Long Island. Ladies' Close Championship, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto. Women's Championship of the United States, Miss Glenna Collett, Del Monte, California. Canadian Seniors' Championship, J. E. Caldwell, Ottawa.

A Week With a Japanesey Tinge. And this is the story of a "Japanese Week". Last June Mr. R. H. Greene, of Toronto, sent the Editor from Japan an interesting brochure on "Golf in Japan" reference to which was made in the June issue. The first week in August, a letter from an English subscriber was received asking for the loan of this interesting little book which was gladly acceded to. Then almost on the next mail a request came from a Tokyo newsdealer for a copy of the "Canadian Golfer" which was wanted for an International display of leading magazines to be held in that city. A day or so following a prominent Japanese merchant in Vancouver, Mr. Kozi Orido, wrote in ordering a year's subscription of the magazine to be sent to a friend in Nagoya, Japan.

And then to "cap it all". At the end of this self-same week, the Editor during a visit to the beautiful Royal York Club, Toronto, saw three of the party of Japanese merchants touring Canada this month playing over the course. And a very good game of golf they played too. Showing that in Japan they know and practice the etiquette of the game which regrettably is more than can be said of all too many players in this country, this "threesome" was most punctilious in waving properly constituted matches to go through.

It is interesting to note that there are now forty golf clubs in Japan, whilst in Manchuria and China there are ten clubs. Many of these clubs boast well laid-out and well kept-up 18-hole courses. There are also several Japanese professionals who play a regular championship game. Golf was first introduced into Japan in 1904 by an Englishman, Mr. Arthur H. Groom. The young Emperor is quite an enthusiastic golfer, and his lead is being followed by many of the prominent men of the "Flowery Kingdom". A golf "world champion" may yet come out of Japan, as the Japanese never rest content until they master anything and everything they take in hand. Witness for example, tennis, in which game they have become great adepts.

Every Player Should Master the Rules of Golf. In three major championships this month has a breach of the rules resulted in rather dire consequences. In the Manitoba Amateur Championship on the 37th hole of the final match, the players being "all square" at the 36th, D. Kennedy, of the St. Charles Club, Winnipeg, asked his caddie to help support him whilst taking his stance on the sloping side of a bunker. He did so and also dropped the bag in the bunker. This was a double breach of the rules and Kennedy's opponent, D. Arnott, also of Winnipeg, was given the hole by the referee and as a result the Championship of Manitoba, and no one wants to lose or win a championship that way.

In the Canadian Amateur Championship at London this month Stuart Carroll, of Montreal, going to the unlucky "13th hole" picked up some twigs and leaves lying on the fairway more than a club's length from his ball.

His opponent, "Woodie" Platt, of Philadelphia, called attention to the breach of the rules and Stuart was penalized by having the hole given to Platt. It was a crucial stage of the match which was subsequently won by Platt entitling him to go into the championship final against Somerville.

Then in the Scottish Amateur Championship last month at Carnoustie, Major Keith Thorburn, a prominent London stock broker, picked up a discarded cigarette box lying about three yards from his ball, and had to concede the hole to his opponent. Another unpleasant incident at the Scottish Championship was the disqualification of E. Watson, one of the best known players of Scotland, and one of the favourites to win the title. He was not on the tee when his name was called for the fifth round, and he was disqualified. He had won all his previous matches easily. The verdict a harsh but just one, caused a demonstration of disapproval from the spectators.

The moral of all this. Every player whether of championship calibre or not should possess a book of the rules, and "mark, learn, and inwardly digest" the contents. It is absolutely essential to master these rules. It will save irritation, because no one likes to be "called down" for a breach of the rules, always so upsetting, and more important still, possibly save losing an important match or championship.

Magnificent Work of the Alberta Country Districts Golf Association

MR. G. G. PETERS, of Carbon, Alberta, secretary of the Alberta Country Districts Golf Association, writes the Editor:—

"Our annual tournament has just been completed and our executive believe that our association in the past five years has accomplished results that if given some publicity in your splendid magazine would tend to advance the grand old game in the smaller towns of the other Provinces even as we have done in Alberta. In 1926 the 'Herald' of Calgary brought sixteen would-be golfers from widely separated parts of the Province and had them play a series of matches for the 'Herald Cup'. At the conclusion of the games this association was formed with the sole idea of promoting golf in the country towns of Alberta. With the writer as secretary we built up an association in five years that has brought together more players in keen golf rivalry than, we believe, any other association in Canada.

"The Province has been divided into sixteen districts which embrace all of Alberta except the cities of Calgary and Edmonton. Each district is composed of from two to eight golf clubs which through a series of eliminating matches send a district representative to the annual tournament played over the Calgary Golf and Country Club course. When I advise that an eighty-six over this course was not good enough to get into the qualifying round for the championship I feel that you will realize that we are not only producing quantity but quality as well. The finalists in this year's tournament both had seventy-eights in their qualifying round. In winning the championship of the association Mr. L. Welliver, a twenty-year-old golfer of Red Deer, came in with a pretty seventy-three, or three over par.

"Mr. Welliver goes to the Prince of Wales tournament at Banff in August as the guest of the C.P.R. Hotels and will represent our association at the Provincial tournament in Calgary next year as the guest of our association. The success of our work has been due in no small way to the continued guidance and support of the 'Calgary Herald'. We hope the time is not far distant when the champion of our association will be able to meet the champion of a similiar association or associations formed in the other Provinces. We believe that through the influence which the 'Canadian Golfer' is able to command that this is not only possible but certain. The hon. president of our association is Lt.-Col. J. H. Woods, of Calgary, and the president Dr. Stewart.

Hearty congratulations to the Alberta Country Districts Golf Association on the splendid work it is accomplishing in Alberta for the Royal and Ancient Game and to the Calgary "Herald" for its invaluable support. "Good work and go to it."—Editor "Canadian Golfer."

The quite sudden passing of Miss Mary Schell, of Brantford, is deeply mourned by a large number of golfing friends. She for some years had taken a very keen interest in the Ladies’ Section of the Brantford Club. A mother in Brantford and a brother, Mr. Herbert Schell, of Oshawa, a former president of the Oshawa Golf Club, are left to mourn the loss of a devoted daughter and sister. Messrs. William D. Richardson and Lincoln A. Werden, editors of "The Golfer's Year Book" (The Golfer's Year Book Inc., 331 Madison Avenue, New York City, price $3.00), are to be heartily congratulated on this year's issue, which covers most succinctly the whole American golfing field. Championship results and clubs with names of club executives and professionals have all been most carefully compiled and the result is really an authoritative work on golf on this Continent. Handsomely bound and printed "The Golfer's Year Book" should be in every club house and in the libraries of all golfers who desire to keep in intelligent touch with the game.

Many happy returns of the day to Mr. George S. Lyon, who on July 27th celebrated his 72nd birthday by going round the difficult Royal York course, Toronto, in 75. The greatest veteran of them all played in the Open Championship of Canada at Ancaster on July 24th and 25th and easily qualified to continue to play the last day at 36 holes but decided to drop out. He also had a very good score, 162, in the qualifying round of the Canadian Amateur Championship at London, Ontario. Countless friends throughout the golfing world join in wishing him many more years in which to tread the verdant fairways he loves so well, in which sentiment the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" begs leave to be most heartily associated.

A Turkey He Would A-Golfing Go

Many extraordinary golfing stunts have been recorded this season. From Woodstock, Ontario, came word of a dog picking up a golf ball which had landed on the green and dropping it in the hole for a "one". From Howard Sask., a "birdie" was reported by a player when he killed a plover with his tee-shot, but it remains for Brantford to register not "a doggie", a "birdie" nor an "eagle" but a "turkey". Dr. C. Race, son of the president of the Brantford Golf and Country Club, Mr. W. B. Race, principal of the Ontario Institute for the Blind, searching for his drive on the blind 13th hole of the Brantford Golf and Country Club the other day found his ball reposing beside a prostrated turkey gobbler, which had wandered from a nearby farm onto the 13th fairway and was gasping its last. First thing we know some lusty hitting golfer will be accounting for one of the bears which playfully amble over the fairways at Jasper Park, Alberta.

Armour Wins Canadian Open

In Play-off With Diegel Annexes Canada's Premier Golfing Event. Ancaster Course Witnesses Record-making Scores. Nicol Thompson, Sr., and Lex Robson Leading Canadian Professionals. George Von Elm Leads the Amateurs.

TOMMY ARMOUR, who has been in the golfing picture for nearly twenty years, certainly packed a lot of interesting golfing experiences in his old golf bag between July 24th and July 30th. On the first date at Ancaster, he notched a 68 and on his third attempt 71 for a total of 213. Nothing particularly startling about all this but then on the final lap he attained to really great golfing heights and registering a 64, some-paired with Nicol Thompson, the Hamilton expert, on the opening round of the Canadian Open Championship, he witnessed his partner register a 66, a record for the Ancaster course, whilst he was busily engaged in collecting an indifferent, for him, 74. That rather ominous total for the first 18 holes, the knowing ones freely predicted, spelled disaster for the rangy Scot's effort to again annex the Canadian Open, which he had done in 1927, the same year in which he had won the U.S. Open.

Armour, however, is nothing if not a dour fighter. On his second round thing never before done in a major championship, tied Leo Diegel, the defending champion, with a score of 277 for first place.

The following Monday he had to play off in Detroit to qualify for the American Professional Golf Championship—one of the most coveted titular events in the States, and with two rounds of 75 failed in his attempt to do so. Diegel is the holder of this championship and did not have to qualify. Back to Hamilton on July 30th Armour proceeded to take the measure of his great rival, Diegel, four times titleholder in the play-off for the Canadian Open and won handily by three strokes, with 69-69 for 138. Armour will probably never forget the hectic last week in July of 1930. He made a world's 18-hole record in a major championship, he won the Canadian Open in a play-off and he failed to qualify for the American Professional Championship, an event which every pro is keen to round" laid the foundations of a sterling game.

Armour first came to Canada in 1920, just after winning the French Amateur Championship, playing as an amateur in the Canadian Open Championship at the Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa, tied for titular honours with the late Douglas Edgar, famous English golfer, then residing at At-win. But of such is the Kingdom of Golf.

It is not generally known that Armour, who served with distinction in the war in a Scotch regiment where he virtually lost the sight of one eye, was not only in his younger days, a brilliant Scottish amateur golfer but a very good musician indeed. In fact, the first money he ever earned was playing the violin in an orchestra in an Edinburgh theatre. He learned his game as a youth on the famous Braids Hills, Edinburgh, where so many golfers who have since earned fame, for "tuppence a lanta, Ga., and C. R. Murray, of the Royal Montreal. The scores were 298 or 21 strokes more than registered at Hamilton last month. In the play-off at 18 holes Edgar won, although going to the long 17th at Rivermead, Armour was leading by a stroke. Here, however, two tee-shots out of bounds spelled disaster for the then Edinburgh amateur. In 1921 at the Open Championship at Toronto, Armour still playing under the colours of an amateur, won the amateur medal with a score of 299, which placed him in 4th place. Turning professional in 1925 and taking up his residence in the States he has for the past five years been very much in the spotlight. Only last year in the Canadian Open he was runner-up to Diegel at Kanawaki, Montreal, with 277, the same score which tied Diegel at Ancaster. He is generally acknowledged to be the world's greatest iron-shot player. Bobby Jones and all other experts concede him that honour.

But to hark back briefly to some of the details of a record-making championship at Ancaster. With the exception of Jones and possibly Gene Sarazen, although the latter has not been very much in the limelight since 1922 when he won both the American Open and Professional Championships, all the stars of the continent teed-up on the opening day. Considering the dry weather which for some weeks previously had been prevalent throughout Ontario, the Ancaster course was in very good shape, especially the greens. The fairways were fast, very fast, and as a result drives of 300 yards or so were not uncommon and on the longer holes, mashie-niblicks often took the place of wood. To show the quality of golf uncorked during the three days there were no fewer than 18 cards in the sixties. As previously mentioned Armour had one round of 64 and Nicol Thompson a 66. Lex Robson, the brilliant former Scottish amateur, now professional of the Islington Golf Club, Toronto, also carded a 66, as did, too, debonair Johnny Farrell. Diegel, the defending champion had three rounds in the sixties—the first 18 in 69, the third in 69 and the fourth in 67. This generally speaking should have won any championship, more especially as he had a 72 for his second effort. But this marvellous total of 277 was only sufficient to tie Armour and prevent Diegel from registering his fifth Canadian Open Championship. 'Tuff luck beyond peradventure of an argument. In winning the championship last year at Kanawaki Diegel, it will be remembered, carded a 274.

It was heartening news that Nicol

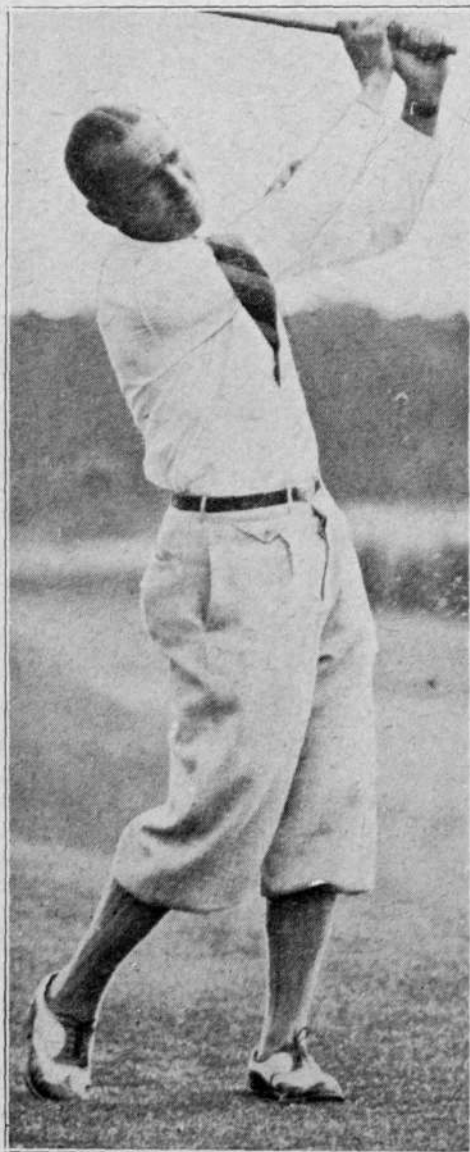

Thompson, for the first time in 16 years, after the first round had the Canadian flag flying at the top. Then at the end of the second day and second round it was still mast high, Thompson adding a 71 to his superlative 66 to lead the pack with 137. Right at his heels, however, were the

U.S. invaders, Tony Manero, more or less of an unknown, 138, Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell, 139. Al Watrous, Canadian Open Champion and 142, Mr. Ross Somerville, T. D. Armour, Canadian Open Champion 1927, J. Heaney, Tom Kerrigan, runner-up Canadian Open Championship 1922 and 1923, and J. Barnes, runner-up Canadian Open Championship 1919. Then on the 143 mark was C. R. Murray, Royal Montreal, Canadian Open Champion 1906 and 1911.

1922, and Emmett French, 140, MacDonald Smith, Canadian Open Champion 1926, Leo Diegel, Canadian Open Champion 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1929, C. Lacey, Mr. George Von Elm, 141

These were the only ones conceded to have a ghost of a chance on the third and concluding day—36 holes on end, under existing weather and course conditions a gruelling grind, if ever there was one. The end of the 18-hole morning round found Thompson with a 74, excellent golf but not good enough in such fast company, compelled to relinquish for the first time his lead. There was a nasty cross-wind blowing but Lex Robson carded a 66, and Diegel a 69. Then Johnny Farrell, MacDonald Smith and Manero, had 70's, and Tommy Armour and Walter Hagen each 71.

So at the end of the more or less fateful third round the leaders were grouped thus:—Manero, 208; Farrell, 209; Diegel, 210; Hagen, 210; MacDonald Smith, 211; Lex Robson (leading Canadian), 211; Nicol Thompson, 213, and Armour 213. The knowing ones freely predicted that Manero would crack a bit on the final 18—and he did if a 71 could be called "cracking". So they pinned their faith and their money, more or less, on Diegel, Hagen, who has never won the Canadian Open, and MacDonald Smith, with Diegel and Hagen as the favourites. Armour's chances, 5 strokes back of the leader, were considered a 100 to 1 shot. But the versatile and likeable Scot eventually did "spill the beans".

One of the first leaders in was Manero with 279. That looked good enough to win, but Johnny Farrell, notwithstanding a disastrous 6 at the four par 11th hole, and a 5 at the sporting four par 12th hole, managed to collect a 69 and was 1 to the good on Manero with 278. He was generally acclaimed the 1930 Canadian Open Champion and it would have been a most popular win.

But back of the smiling, dilettante Johnny a few holes were Diegel and Armour fighting the grimest kind of a battle royal. Word was flashed from the short 16th hole that Armour was coming to the 500 yard 17th six this is changed by a score of strokes or more:—

under par and Diegel three below and that if they made pars at the 17th and 18th they would respectively have 64 and 67 for 277 or one stroke better than Farrell, who with 278 had already been "radioed" as a winner of the Championship. Armour and Diegel had little difficulty in making their pars. As a matter of fact, each had a sizeable putt for a 3 at the 18th hole or 72nd of the match but both apparently preferred to play "safe and sure". It was unquestionably the most dramatic finish ever recorded in connection with the Open Championship of Canada.

The scores of the players in this colourful championship who carded 300 or better. In years lang sync a card of 300 or thereabouts would carry off a major event. To-day all

The following is the record-breaking score of Armour, “the man who was out of the running”. It will be noticed that he started with what looked like a disastrous 5 on the first hole—an easy par 4 for a good player. Then he “went to it” in a fashion most convincing:—

Par for the course:

Out .....	444 543 434—35
In .....	444 344 354—35—70

Armour’s card:

Out .....	544 333 334—32
In .....	344 333 354—32—64

It is quite “on the cards” that this card of Armour’s will never be beaten in a medal-play round at Ancaster. It must always be remembered that a score in match play is never under any circumstances a record. A record must be made under the acid test of medal play. Scores in match play have no significance whatever. The conditions are so altogether different.

A cause for hearty congratulation was the excellent showing of the Canadian professionals, Nicol Thompson,

Both clean-cut and talented players and teachers of the game, their notable standing is most encouraging and bodes well for the future of professional golf in the Dominion. Well up amongst the leaders, too, were the Canadian Professional Champion, Willie Lamb, of Uplands, Toronto, and Jimmie Johnstone, Rose-dale, Toronto, C. R. Murray, of Montreal, headed the Quebec contingent. In 1926 at the Royal Montreal he tied for 5th place with Armour, one of the best positions attained by a Canadian player since the Americans started in winning the event in 1919. He finished at Ancaster with the excellent total of 293. Redvers MacKenzie, of Elm Ridge, was the next best player from the Metropolis.

George Von Elm, Los Angeles, in 9th place, was the first amateur with a total of 284 for the 72 holes, seven strokes behind the leaders. Ross Somerville, of London, was the best Canadian amateur with 287.

future ahead of him. Horton Smith, the phenomenal young U.S. pro, never quite got into his stride. He was followed by large galleries who greatly admired his almost faultless swing. Hagen, fresh from a $50,000 tour of Australia and Japan with Kirkwood, might have won his first Canadian Open if he had not been "stabbing" lead but it was well nigh beyond the bounds of possibility. The next three holes were halved. Diegel got back a stroke on the 15th. That cut the lead to two strokes, but the next hole saw it back again to the three mark, when both players were over the green with their first shots, chipped back within six feet and Diegel's his putts too much. But for that he should have done much better than 6th place.

Showing the great interest taken in the play-off for the championship a gallery of 1,000 or more on Wednesday, July 30th, witnessed a homeric struggle between Armour and Diegel. Both were more or less under a great strain but they reeled off the morning round in 69 each, or one under par. In the afternoon they were still "all square" at the 28th hole. Then came the fateful 11th, or 29th of the match, which had been Farrell's undoing in the championship proper on his last round. It is a hard and tricky dog's leg and here it was that Diegel "blew and blew badly". He hooked his drive into the trees and taking two blows to get out on the fairway ended up with a "dirty seven". That settled the 1930 championship there and then as Armour, playing well within himself, carded a 4. Diegel worked hard and worked well to overcome that three-stroke putt hung on the lip of the cup for a four to Armour's three.

They halved the 17th and 18th in par fives and fours, respectively, and it was all over but the cheering, and Armour, erstwhile Scottish amateur, for the second time in four years, was crowned the golfing king of Canada. The R.C.G.A. very generously gave the "gate" at the play-off, which amounted to a handsome sum, to Armour and Diegel—two-thirds to the former and one-third to the latter.

A rather queer incident occurred to Armour when he finished his victorious march to the championship. After he had holed out his last putt he looked at his watch and it had stopped right at the identical minute the match ended.

On the Friday evening before the final 36 holes of play the usual pool was held, after the names of the 101 qualifiers had been posted. Rather odd but Walter Hagen proved to be the favourite by bringing a price of Freedman received $712.50 for his $380 bid for Diegel, while Farrell won $427.50 for R. Richards. Mac Smith and Tony Manero, who tied for fourth place, brought back $142.50 in return for $350 paid for them in the pools. Mr. C. E. Thompson, of Hamilton, who was plucky enough to pay $130 for Armour, after he looked hopelessly out of it, was well rewarded for his investment. He drew down the tidy little sum of $1,425 as the result of the Scot's spectacular play on the last round of the championship and his subsequent winning of the tie.

The arrangements throughout the Championship were conducted in a manner which called for unstinted praise alike from the record field of entrants and the record galleries. The R.C.G.A. officials and officials of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club are to be very heartily congratulated on the great success which deservedly followed their efforts. During the championship galleries conservatively estimated at 4,000 witnessed and thoroughly enjoyed the various rounds.

The following are the Directors of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club who did so much to make the Championship such a success:—

G. W. Wigle, president; N. S. Braden, vice-president and chairman of green committee; W. S. Burrill, honorary secretary; H. G. Stambaugh, Jr., George D. Fearman, chairman of finance committee; Argue Martin, Dr. P. B. Macfarlane, A. L. Page, G. F. James, chairman of house committee.

The Vogue of the "Tom Thumb" Course

THE "Tom Thumb" golf courses which had their birth in the States have literally swept across Canada this summer and have been installed by the score, every city and town boasting one or more of these fascinating little lay-outs. Whether the vogue will continue is a matter of conjecture, but there is no question about the popularity of the device to-day. Thousands are busily swinging putters for the first time and to that extent the love of golf is being inculcated amongst old and young alike. Everyone loves to "putter around" anyway.

The pioneers in the installation of these courses are literally coining money. Even the picture houses are seriously feeling the competition as the "Tom Thumb" enthusiasts are especially in evidence in the evening and for that matter well onto midnight and even after that hour. Not since the days of ping-pong has any game so caught the popular fancy. And ping-pong, it will be remembered, had a short but merry life.

"But Overseas Empire sportsmen have helped me very much during my long trips round this great Empire during the last ten years. We are all agreed that golf is a very fine game. We get older. We have all played more strenuous games, but golf is a game you can go on playing for ever, and I once made so bold as to say that when you are too old to play golf you had better die. I am delighted that so many golfers—or should I say so many fellows keen on golf?—have been able to come here." The Prince went on to say he had heard that when one was making a speech about golf it was very important to give a golf story. "I know some very good golf stories, but I do not think I can tell them all here," added the Prince amid loud laughter. "With Lord Lonsdale's permission, however, I will tell you these.

"We have a good many motor accidents in this country. I do not know whether they are due to bad motors or to bad drivers—but anyway a small boy witnessed an accident during a week-end, and was put into the witness-box. The judge asked him, 'Do you know the nature of an oath?' 'Yes, my lord,' said the boy. 'Don't I caddy for you?'

"Then, to illustrate the great concentration necessary in golf, there was a very rare occasion when an enthusiastic golfer arrived home in time for dinner. (Laughter). He sat down to dinner with his wife and his boy, and his wife said, 'Willie tells me he caddied for you this afternoon.' 'Dear me,' said the golfer, 'I thought I had seen that boy somewhere before!'

"Then there is another, which I think is one of the funniest. It is about the golfer and the man who was not a golfer, who was very bored as he walked across the course. Suddenly there was a shout of 'Fore!' and then there was a hum in the distance, which resolved itself into 'Fore he was a jolly good fellow!'

Not in a hurry will Major Mackenzie Wood, M.P. (handicap 4), forget this year's Parliamentary Handicap, in the final of which he eventually beat J. W. Waddell (9) of the Parliamentary Press Gallery, by 2 and 1 at Walton Heath. The match followed some remarkable rounds which had concerned Major Mackenzie Wood. Once he had qualified for the semi-final he had to contest 45 holes, two rounds ending all square, before beating Sir A. Steel-Maitland. Then, at Walton Heath he and Waddell finished the 36 holes final all square. They first played one extra round two days later, but this, played in the morning, likewise finished level, and so, despite the pouring rain, which drenched both players, they went out again in the afternoon. The position was all square at the 15th hole—the 69th of the final—and there seemed every possibility that the match was still going to be undecided, but then Major Mackenzie Wood secured a "birdie" 4 at both the 16th and 17th holes. This proved too much for Waddell, who lost both, to be beaten by 2 and 1.

Kenneth Greig, a St. Andrews player, who is 22 years of age, won the Scottish Amateur Championship at Carnoustie, defeating in the final James Wallace, of Troon, Portland, aged 26, by the decisive margin of 9 and 8.

It was a runaway victory, the magnitude of which has eclipsed anything in the history of the championship. Greig is definitely a player of great promise, in fact, one of the best youngsters Scotland has produced since the war.

He has a fine record. In winning the Links championship of St. Andrews this year he accomplished a score—70—which has never been equalled in the history of the event, while in the recent British Championship he reached the last sixteen after beating Ronald Mackenzie, a distinguished member of the victorious American Walker Cup team.

Greig has taken golf seriously, even to the extent of adopting the Bobby Jones method of training, which entails daily massage and physical exercises in order to keep the limbs and muscles supple. Greig has ambitions in the direction of professional golf, believing that the United States, where so many young Scottish golfers have migrated, offers the road to fame and wealth for the gifted player.

Before leaving England Bobby Jones gave it as his opinion that Roger Wethered was not only the best iron player in the world, but, given enough practice, would become his equal, if not superior. Among the professionals the play of young Cotton impressed him the most, but his admiration for the trimuvirate, Vardon, Taylor and Braid, is unbounded.

Bear Adds 15 Yards to Drive

PARTICIPANTS in the Canadian Amateur Championship at Jasper are prepared to vouch for the following despatch from Jasper Park, August 4th:—

"When Miss Evelyn Hay, of Toronto, drove 150 yards from the first tee of the Jasper Park Lodge golf course this morning, three black bears, until then engaged in an intimate but haphazard wrestling match on the edge of the fairway, removed their attentions from one another and took after the bounding white ball.

They reached it almost together. The smallest of the trio, however, a two-year-old cub, got his teeth on it first. He was bowled over by a clout from one of his more bulky companions and the ball jolted from his mouth. He seized it again and had carried it about 15 yards nearer the green for which Miss Hay had aimed it in the first place, before he was once again more laid low by a combined assault on the part of his two confreres. The ball was left in the middle of the fairway while the two larger bears chased their younger and more successful golfing partner back into the bush.

Miss Hay continued with a new ball from where the bears left off and according to Leo Borgault, her partner, defence man of the New York Rangers, who spends his summers managing the transportation desk at Jasper Park Lodge, made the hole in six. Mr. Borgault retained as a souvenir the teeth-pitted ball dropped by the bears in the fairway."

Again Jasper and the bruins. Two Torontonians playing to the 17th hole saw a bear amble out into the fairway and "sit on" one of the balls. They decided to "call it a day" and hiked for the hotel.

The New and Lighter and Larger Ball

IT will not be long now—January 1st next—before the new larger and lighter ball will be put into commission by the United States Golf Association. This ball will cut off ten to twenty yards in the length of a drive or brassie and to that extent will not be popular with the majority of golfers in the States, but in championships will have to be used.

The Royal and Ancient has not adopted the new ball so in Great Britain the present official ball, 1.62 in weight and 1.62 in diameter will continue to be used. The Royal Canadian Golf Association has not yet taken any official action in regard to the matter. Heretofore, however, it has always followed in the footsteps of the R. and A. and the chances are it will do so in regard to this quite controversial ball question. The British authorities claim, and this condition of course does not prevail in Canada, that the weather in the Old Country and the States is not at all similar. Here we do not experience the high winds they do in Great Britain, especially on the sea-side links and it is perhaps rightly felt that the larger and lighter ball would impose too severe a handicap on the ordinary British player. The question has very well been asked in Canada as elsewhere amongst the rank and file of golfers. "The modern ball is the best that has ever been made. Every player likes it. Why change it because a few amateurs and professionals can do exceptional things with it?"

Lamb Makes it "Three in a Row"

Once Again Wins the Canadian Professional Golf Championship With the Fine Score of 141. Tom McGrath, Runner-up, Has a Record 67 on His Second Round

LAST month the Burlington Golf and Country Club played the part of host to the members of the Canadian Professional Golf Association and played it right royally. The beautiful course on the lake shore was looking its best and the championship was conducted with "a swing and follow through" which left nothing to be desired. The C.P.G.A. is one of the most important and enjoyable golf events of the whole Canadian year. The prize list is a particularly generous one and competition is always of the keenest. The only pity is that on account of the almost prohibitive distances the professionals in the West rarely find time to participate. However, in the years to come, this drawback will be obliterated without a doubt. It will only be a very short time now when the airplane will make even Vancouver and Victoria only a couple of days jaunt from Toronto or Montreal and then the championship of the professionals will become truly Canadian.

There was a splendid field of all the leading Quebec and Ontario pros at Burlington and very high-class golf indeed resulted, there being over twenty cards of 150 or better turned in for the 36-hole route.

And for the third time in succession Willie Lamb, professional of the Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, formerly assistant with George Cumming at the Toronto Golf Club and erstwhile Scottish amateur, landed the coveted P. D. Ross Trophy, emblematic of the professional championship of all Canada. He thus equalled the record of Davie Black, of the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, B.C., who, too, lifted the cup "three times in a row"—1919, 1920 and 1921. Black also won the trophy in 1913 when he was professional at the Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa.

Like the Canadian Open, which followed two or three days afterwards, the C.P.G.A. event was not without its thrills. With a score of 75 for the first round Tom McGrath, who learned his game in Ireland, professional at the Dundas Valley Golf Willie Lamb, professional of the Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, who for the third year in succession wins the Canadian Professional Championship.

Club, formerly of Glendale, Hamilton, proceeded to burn up the course on the second 18 holes. As a result, driving the green on the 18th he left himself with a tricky 17 foot putt for a 2 to score a record 67 and a total of 142 for the championship, which looked all over like the winning card. And he promptly proceeded to sink that putt. Following him shortly afterwards was the defending champion, Lamb, who arrived at the 18th tee with a total of 138 for the 35 holes. He knew he had to make a 3 to probably win the championship again. He chipped up from his drive on the far edge of the green to within 8 feet of the pin and then too he sank a beauty, nosing out McGrath by a stroke. Two other serious threats were Davie Spittal, of the Royal York, and A. E. Cruttenden, of the Summit Golf Club, two former Scottish players of repute, who had morning rounds of 71. Spittal carded a 72 for a total of 143, and Cruttenden 73 for 144, only three strokes therefore divided the first four players.

McGrath in 1928, whilst at Moose Jaw, Sask., for a short time, won the Western Canada Open Championship. Twice before has he figured in the Canadian Professional Championship, when in 1924 and 1925 he was in third place. In 1926 he was runner-up for the Ontario Open title so he has loomed quite large in Canadian golf the last six years.

Lamb, who is a most unassuming and popular player, came in for all kinds of well deserved congratulations on his notable triple victory. His card and that of the runner-up, McGrath, whose record round of 67 contained four 3's and two 2's, "some golf that":—

Our Hole-in-One Club

Burnt-up Courses are "Burnt Up" by Hole-in-One Performers in Every Province in the Dominion. A Record Grist of One-Shotters This Month.

PHOBEBUS' blinding ray and scorching heat have not (as we hoped, oh, so ardently) provided a check to the ever-increasing number of "one-shotters" registering their golfing achievement on the baked and burnt-up courses of the Dominion more especially in the Province of Ontario. Herewith the sad, sad story for the past four weeks of "Holes-in-One".

At the precipitous Lookout Point Golf Course, Welland, M. H. C. Hegelheimer, of Niagara Falls, Ont., combined the agility of a Diegel or an Armour to negotiate the one hundred and seventy yard 17th hole in one shot only.

Mr. Arthur Batts, of Niagara Falls, Ont., while playing over the same difficult course found "tee from tin" at the 5th hole, 158 yards in length.

Messrs. H. N. Hamilton and W. C. Cannington were the astonished witnesses of a golfing miracle when to their extreme wonderment Mr. C. R. Grieve, of Humber Bay, Ont., wielded his "inimitable iron" to make the sixth hole—140 yards—of the Humber Valley course, Toronto, in one stroke.

The clarion call of another outstanding feat is wafted to us from Powell River, B.C. Here, at the 180 yard 6th hole Mr. Hugh McLean sank his tee shot.

From Edmunston, N.B., the "Recording Angel of Golfdom" flies on soundless wings to recount the stunt of Rev. N. Franchetti, who, forsaking the cloister for the fairway drove "straight and true" to make a hole-in-one on the 159-yard 7th hole of the Edmunston Golf Course. This serves to show the versatility of the game which can attract both proletariat and peasant, priest and plutocrat.

The honour of making the second "oneer" and the first in fifteen years on the sporting Lindsay course goes to Mr. H. D. Wilford, of Lindsay, Ont., who, while playing an inter-club match with Mr. F. R. Stone, of Cobourg, made the 145-yard 5th hole in one shot.

Mr. W. W. Moore knocked Old Man Par into the proverbial cocked hat when he nonchalantly dropped his ball into the cup of the 140-yard 5th hole of the Senneville course, Montreal, in only one shot.

The "Canadian Golfer" band turns out with triumphant strains to welcome the arrival of a "ladye fayre". Mrs. George Harvey, of Regina, playing with Mr. Harvey, played her mashie with deadly accuracy to reach the cup of the eighth hole—130 yards—of the Gyro Golf Course, Regina, Sask.

Every month marks the arrival from Vancouver of large numbers of successful "oneers". We feel that this city so aptly termed the "gateway to the Pacific", should be rechristened "The Hallway to a Hole-in-One". This conclusion has been "clinched" by the performance of Mr. W. B. Knickerbocker, who, when playing on the Point Grey Golf Course, Vancouver, B.C., with Messrs. R. Mottisham, H. N. MacCorkindale, and F. F. Kennedy, scored an "eagle" at the 100-yard 11th hole.

Mr. H. J. McMillan, Kamloops, B.C., will be the "fortunate" recipient of the "Canadian Golfer" for one year and other awards as a reward for his skill with the mashie. Mr. McMillan traversed the 115-yard 2nd hole of the Merritt Golf Course in one shot.

The "blind" 7th hole of the Barrie Country Club, Barrie, Ont., was not deceptive enough to deceive Squadron-Leader G. E. Brookes, who drove a perfect ball to sink his tee shot.

Mr. W. P. Witherow, of Beaumaris, Ont., by making an "ace" at the 10th hole, 199 yards, at the Beaumaris Golf Course, entered the golfers' Utopia, where "there is no need for niblicks, and the turf will ne'er be torn."

We take great pleasure in proposing for membership on our Hole-in-One Club Mr. E. G. Connor, of Toronto, who with "masterful mashie" chipped his ball into the cup of the 16th hole—150 yards—of the Uplands Golf Course, Toronto, from off the tee.

Dr. W. W. Chipman, Emeritus Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at McGill University, while playing with Dr. C. F. Martin, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine at McGill, and Mr. W. F. Angus, proved conclusively that he had mastered the psychology of golf as well as the psychology of pedagogy when he negotiated the 5th hole—122 yards in length—of the Senneville Golf Club, Braeside Links, Montreal, in one.

Quebec again! Mr. R. C. Dozois, of the Granby Course, while playing in a match with Stanstead, Que., on the Stanstead course, made a hole-in-one at the 157-yard 8th hole. This is the second time he has performed the feat.

Far-away Chilliwack, B.C. D. L. Patten while pursuing the "noblest of pastimes" wooed "Lady Luck" with such success that he was enabled to play a 100 per cent. shot for an "eagle" at 127-yard 7th hole of the Chilliwack Golf Course.

Mr. E. M. Cowling, of Montreal, is a banker who can wield a niblick with as great proficiency as he can "blue pencil" an overdraft. Mr. Cowling demonstrated his ability in the former activity (we hope he won't have to display the latter at least not to us) at the 3rd hole—125 yards—of the Metaberoutin course, Three Rivers, Que., where he made a hole-in-one. Mr. Cowling has been relieving the manager of the Bank of Commerce the past few weeks at Three Rivers.

The tale of one of the most lengthy hole-in-one shots comes from the fair links of the Assiniboine Golf Course, Winnipeg, Man. Mr. T. F. Reith, good Scottish golfing name that, accompanied by Messrs. B. F. Sprung, C. R. Hudson, and J. J. Monerrieff, drove a full 225 yards at the 15th hole to be enrolled among the golfing immortals.

Regina is again in the golfing picture. Mr. T. H. Hewitt while playing with Mr. G. H. Burns, Jr., over the sporting Regina golf course, earned everlasting fame when he "tickled up the tin" at the 140-yard 7th hole.

Two "oneers" are reported from the Essex Golf and Country Club, Windsor, Ont., which boasts one of the finest golfing properties in Canada. Mr. A. L. Wilkinson, of Windsor, traversed the 147 yards to the cup from the tee of the 7th hole in one stroke, while Mr. E. C. Grundy, of Walkerville, a few days later duplicated this fine performance.

The first "hole-in-one" of the season at the Cedar Brook Golf Club, Toronto, was accomplished by Mr. Sidney Oalvey, Toronto, who was granted at the 151-yard 13th hole the golfers' crown.

And now Fort William—"The City of Elevators"—is in the limelight. Mr. Jack Morrison, while playing over the Fort William Municipal course, directed his ball with unswerving accuracy into the cup of the 7th hole, 200 yards in length.

Mr. W. Y. Bowles, Toronto, while playing with Mr. L. B. Baird on the Pine Point Golf Course, Weston, Ont., sank his tee shot at the 8th hole—a full 225 yards in length. "Some swat", Mr. Bowles!

From the far West comes another "miracle man" of golf. Mr. M. H. Millar, of Edmonton, Alta., made a "one" at the 128-yard 12th hole of the Municipal Links, Edmonton.

Mr. R. W. Gallanough, Toronto, while playing over the beautiful Weston golf course, earned "name and fame" when he traversed the 170-yard 15th hole in one.

Brantford, already "famed o'er land and ocean" as the hub of golf in Canada, has additional glory showered on her through the exploit of one of her prominent citizens, Dr. T. H. Bier. The Doctor, playing over the Muskoka Lakes Golf Course, Port Carling, Ont., with his son, Dr. Leslie Bier, and his daughter, Miss Marion Bier, made the 125-yard 14th hole in one stroke on this beautiful summer-resort course.

Oyez! Oyez! This is to certify that Mrs. O. H. Foshay, of Wolfville, N.S., having made a hole-in-one at the 6th hole of the Ken-Wo Country Club, Wolfville, N.S., is hereby entitled to membership in the illustrious company of "golfing magicians".

Mr. R. S. Nease, Kinsella, was thrilled as only those who have made holes-in-one can be thrilled when he saw his ball leave the tee and settle "nimble and sweetly" in the cup of the 6th hole of the Kinsella Golf Course, Kinsella, Alberta.

Again the "Telephone City". Jack Stinson, Brantford, son of Dr. S. B. Stinson, realized the highest ambition of every golfer when he made a "oneer" at the 150-yard 8th hole of the Arrowdale Golf Course, Brantford, Ont.

Mr. James Johnstone also recorded the stunt this month at Arrowdale, which is the popular course conducted by the Brantford Public Parks Board. He chose the 6th hole, 200 yards, "to turn the trick".

Mr. J. M. Hinchley certainly started "things doing" and acquired an "edge" on his opponents when he negotiated the 177-yard first hole of the Seaforth Golf Course, Seaforth, Ont., in one stroke.

"Hats off", gentlemen golfers to Mr. F. W. Cowan, well known golfer and resident of Oshawa, who recorded a perfect one-shot performance at the 145-yard 10th hole of the Oshawa Golf Club, Oshawa, Ontario.

Mr. E. A. Macnutt, prominent executive of the Sun Life, Montreal, and a former president of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, whilst summering in the White Mountains, made a hole-in-one this month at the Waterville (New Hampshire) golf course. The feat was registered at the 13th hole—a difficult 205 yarder, fifty feet above the tee on the mountain side. "Some shot!" This is Mr. Macnutt's second "oneer" during an extended and successful golfing career. Six years ago he made a one at the famous Kopje hole at Dixie.

From the beautiful Government Park at Waterton Lakes, Alberta, "the golf course in the clouds", comes word of Dr. S. D. Dalrymple, of Howie, Montana, "copping the cup." Playing with Mrs. Dalrymple and N. C. Annable, the Doctor registered the feat at the 2nd hole, 120 yards. Teddy Wagstaff, the popular pro at Waterton Lakes Park, also witnessed the achievement.

Professionals rarely qualify for hole-in-one honors but Hugh Fletcher, the pro at the Citizens Golf Club, Moose Jaw, Sask., who, by the way, is one of the best players in the West, put over a corking tee shot at the 1st hole on his home course which nestled into the tin—a tidy poke of 260 yards.

Despatch from London, Ont., August 5th:—

"The thrill that comes once in a lifetime, an "ace" on a par four hole, befell the lot of Kenneth Y. Greene, of London, while playing in a sweepstake event today, held in connection with the Canadian Amateur Golf Tournament. Greene sent his drive on the 255-yard eighteenth hole, straight for the pin. The ball fell short of the green, but rolled on and trickled into the cup.

"Unlike the fate of most golfers who perform the unusual feat, Greene had a gallery of 200, which had gathered around the home green."

Hearty congratulations, Mr. Greene, in staging such a thriller during a championship week. You certainly chose "the time and the occasion" to earn golfing fame.

Mr. C. J. Burrows, principal of the Souris Collegiate Institute, playing over the Souris course, Manitoba, with Mr. C. Evans, scored a one at the 4th hole. This is a very difficult hole indeed, 190 yards in length over a very deep valley with the green on the cor-

Why a DUNLOP Spotkwick is easy to find

When you come up to this ball where it lies on the fairway or in the rough, it seems to look up at you and catch your eye. It's easier to find, easier to identify.

Because this new Dunlop shows groups of three coloured spots arranged in triangular form around the ball. No matter how it lies a set of coloured markings is always on top.

These markings also help you to "hold your eye on the ball".

Made with Dunlop's perfection of balance—every ball is tested and weighed at every stage, insuring consistent quality and uniformity.

You are at your best with a Dunlop. Buy from your Pro. or sport goods dealer.

ner of the bank. Fours and fives are much more common than pars at this snappy hole.

The pretty course of the Muskoka Lakes Golf and Country Club is in the picture this month. W. E. Fleury, of Toronto, playing with his father, well known lawyer and athlete, made an ace at the 7th hole, 130 yards.

Mr. J. Y. Blythe, of Rosemont, Que., playing with Mr. J. Mather on the Municipal Course, Montreal, registered a one-shot at the 11th hole. This is only the third time such a feat has been recorded on this course and first time for the 11th hole.

M. K. Butterfield, hon. secretary of the interesting Salt Spring Island

Golf Club, Ganges, B.C., writes:—

"I have pleasure in informing you of the first hole-in-one to be made on the Salt Spring Island Golf Course since the opening of the club almost two years ago. This was accomplished on August 5th, 1930, by Mrs. N. E. Inglis, on No. 2, a hundred-yard shot, who was playing with her husband, Mr. Arthur Inglis. Other witnesses were Mr. T. F. Speed and Mr. Walter Norton, both of Ganges, B.C., and both members of the club. Mrs. Inglis is the winner of the cup presented by the late H. H. Hay, Esq., of Vancouver, for the first member of the club to make a hole-in-one. Mrs. Inglis' address is Ganges, B.C."

Hearty congratulations to Mrs. Inglis. Total holes recorded in Canada this season up to and including the 10th of August, 111.

Electrically Lighted Courses the Next Stunt

THE Eastwood Hills Country Club, Kansas City, has recently tried out the experiment of lighting the holes in its course so that members could play in the evening. The secretary writes the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" that the experiment has proved quite a success and a careful check-up shows that the scores made by players by artificial light, compared favourably with those made in the day time. He is quite enthusiastic about the test and predicts that night golf in the future is destined to very popular indeed in Kansas City and he sees no reason why other clubs throughout the country should not also instal the electric lighting of courses. In the future it really looks as though "the universal game", like bowling, will be played both day and night.

Montreal Gets Amateur and Toronto Open in 1931

AT a meeting of the executives of the Royal Canadian Golf Association held in London during Amateur Championship week the question of the venues for the two 1931 major championships were discussed. It was definitely decided to award the Amateur event to the Royal Montreal Golf Club, Montreal, and the 18-hole course for the championship will be a combination of the two courses of the club, the same as in the 1926 Open, the arrangement then having worked out very successfully.

Toronto will be awarded the 1931 Open Championship but the venue has yet to be decided upon. In this connection the Royal York course, which is generally conceded to be one of the best tests of golf in Canada, is sure to be considered. Two Western members of the executive, Mr. R. Milton Martin, vice-president, of Edmonton, and Mr. C. W. Jackson, of Winnipeg, attended the meeting besides representatives from Ontario and Quebec. The affairs of the Association are in a particularly prosperous condition, from a financial and every other standpoint.

Bob Cunningham Runner-up.

ONE of the most enjoyable professional tournaments of the season and one always looked forward to by the pros is the annual competition for the beautiful Captain Melville Millar Cup which is both a medal and match play competition which after all is the best form of a competition calling for both skill in medal and match play.

Arthur Hulbert, popular pro of the Thornhill Club and former Ontario Open titleholder, led the field in the qualifying round, turning in two scores of 74 for a total of 148. Willie Lamb, of Uplands, Canadian professional champion, was second with 151. He turned in cards of 76 and 75. In addition to the championship and other flights there will be a driving competition on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 23rd. The annual meeting of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union will be held at the Mount Bruno Country Club, at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 24th.

Indications are for record championships. Miss Helen Hicks is the present holder of the Canadian Open title. She will be at Laval to defend her title besides a score or more of prominent U.S. players. Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, is the Canadian Close Champion. She and all the leading Canadian women golfers will be at Mount Bruno. As a "curtain-raiser" on Saturday, Sept. 13th, an International match will be played at Laval, Canada vs. the United States.

Both the Mount Bruno and Laval courses are reported in superb condition and a colourful two weeks of golf is ahead of the "ladies fayre". Both fixtures will attract large galleries. There is really nothing more attractive and interesting than a ladies' championship.

International Match to Precede Ladies' Open Championship

THE announcement made by Mrs. M. K. Rowe, secretary of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, that a match between the women players of the States and Canada, will be staged the Saturday previous to the Canadian Open Championship, at Laval-sur-le-Lac the week of Sept. 15th will be heard of with great satisfaction. Such an International event will be fraught with much interest. A very representative team of U.S. ladies were defeated early in the season, by the ladies of Great Britain and then the Americans took their revenge on the ladies of France. This match at Montreal next month will therefore give a particularly good slant on how Canadian women players line-up with their fair sisters of Great Britain, France and the United States.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, as the ranking player of Canada, will captain the Canadian team and Miss Mary K. Brown, the American. She, it will be remembered, three years ago turned professional in tennis and was promptly disqualified as a result by the United States Golf Association, and properly so, too, although at the time the judgment was criticized in many quarters. Only this year she was reinstated as an amateur. Miss Brown enjoys the unique distinction of being both a ranking tennis player and golfer.

a KRO-FLITE!

The Kro-Flite is the toughest golf ball in the world. Not even the vicious Guillotine has ever been able to cut it.

And that Guillotine gives a golf ball rougher treatment than it would ever meet in actual play. The heavily weighted steel knife hits the ball exactly as a viciously-topped iron shot hits it.

Again and again, every well-known make of golf ball has been put to the Guillotine. And every single time, the Kro-Flite alone has carried off first honors.

All the others have been rendered unplayable. But the worst damage the Kro-Flite has ever shown is a barely visible dent. Always this amazing ball has come through in a playable condition—good for more holes than any ball ever made.

The Kro-Flite has Distance, Too

The Kro-Flite is also one of the longest golf balls made.

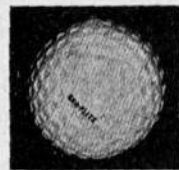

In recent Driving Machine tests at Chicopee, Mass.; Putney, England; and Pinehurst, N. C.—the Kro-Flite fell but a trifling distance behind its famous brother, the Spalding Ball. And this Spalding Ball is recognized by golf's finest players as the longest ball the game has ever known.

Try Kro-Flite! If you play it without topping it—and we hope you will—you will get distance to cheer about. If you do top it—and we hope you won't—the Kro-Flite will come through undamaged, unhurt.

Several Clubs Will Pipe Water to the Fairways

AS a result of the unprecedented drought this summer in many parts of Ontario, several of the larger clubs including Toronto and Hamilton are making plans to pipe the fairways so as to obviate another year such an unpleasant situation. The outlay will be large but unquestionably it will be money well spent. In the aggregate, thousands of dollars of damage have been sustained by courses in Ontario, the result of the lack of rain.

In Quebec and the Maritimes this summer, generally speaking, there has been ample moisture and the courses were never in better condition. Ontario seems to be the chief sufferer of all the Provinces this season. Many links are literally burned almost to a crisp. Several clubs in the West and British Columbia pipe water to the fairways with excellent results.

Algoma Steel Corporation Opens Golf Course

WITH over a thousand club members and invited guests watching, W. C. Franz, president of the Algoma Steel Corporation, drove the first ball at the official opening of the Algoma Golf Club, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, on July 28th. Besides being the third golf club now operating in the city, the Algoma Club has the unique honour of being the only club in Canada operated by a corporation and its employees. There is only one other club operating under similar circumstances in America and that is in Tennessee, United States.

Joseph Wilson, general superintendent of the steel plant, and president of the newly opened club, gave the inaugural address, tracing the history of the club from its inception to the opening. The idea was born in the minds of several of the employees, who after working out plans for the carrying out of their idea, took it to the officers of the company who gave them ideal co-operation. The first sod of the new club was turned Oct. 21, 1929, and the first turf was planted May 2, 1930.

Following the opening drive by Mr. Franz, he was presented with a bronze trophy of a miniature golfer suitably engraved, by Miss Florence Norton, on behalf of the club members. The ball, driven by Mr. Franz, was retrieved and placed in the trophy cabinet of the club house. As soon as the course was opened nine teams started out playing invitation four-ball foursomes. They were also followed by a number of club members and guests who tried out the course. The officers of the club are:—Joseph Wilson, president; D. V. Ryan, vice-president; Roland Barber, secretary-treasurer; directors, J. W. Gemmel, C. Stenbol, S. Hitchen, A. J. Smith, Joe Norton and C. Rogers.

Staging a Sensational Come-Back

In the Third Round, Ross Somerville Smothers His Opponents in the Semi-final and Final to Win for the Third Time the Amateur Championship of Canada. "Woodie" Platt, of Philadelphia, Runner-up, and Ferguson, of Philadelphia, and Ryan, of Detroit, Co-Medallists.

THE Royal Canadian Golf Association made no mistake when it awarded London, Ont., the 1930 Canadian Amateur Championship for the first time in the history of the event in thirty-five years. London has for some four decades now, been a consistent supporter of golf, and moreover has been the only city outside of Toronto and Montreal of recent years to furnish a Canadian amateur champion, not to mention an Ontario Champion. To that extent the Forest City thoroughly deserves recognition. But after all, in championships, "the course is the thing," and the London Hunt Club whilst not boasting a course of super-championship calibre, has of late years developed a lay-out which is alike interesting and to some extent exacting. The links—6336 yards in length—are particularly attractive, circling as they do from the 7th hole almost to the river bank, going to the 17th the stately stone buildings of the Western University. Altogether a very charming setting for a championship.

If it was hot in Hamilton for the Open Championship held a week or so previously, it was Hades in London, and as a result, it was no one but the physically perfectly fit, who could hope to endure the gruelling test of a championship extending over six days. One hundred and fifteen entrants gallantly tackled the task on the opening day, and as a result of the acid thirty-two qualifying 36-hole elimination, eighty odd faded out of the picture, the majority unheralded and unsung, all the favourites, however, more or less, coming through.

It was possibly the most representative field ever entered in a Canadian Amateur. There was a very fine entry from the United States headed by Eddie Held, of New York, who won the title at Jasper Park, Alberta last year. Unfortunately Gardiner White, popular golfer and financier, also of New York, who was runner-up at Jasper, did not have his "hat in the ring" at London. He has once more

C. Ross Somerville, ranking amateur golfer of Canada, three times Amateur Champion of the Dominion, 1926, 1928, 1930.

felt the lure of Jasper, and is again summering there with his family, and will defend his championship title in the Totem Pole tournament at Jasper next month, and it's odds that he will again annex it. Philadelphia was well represented by that outstanding player "Woodie" Platt and also by Ray Ferguson. Other American entrants were: F. W. Ryan, Detroit; F. J. Wright, Boston; Brice Evans, Boston, runner-up to G. S. Lyon in the Amateur Championship at the Royal Ottawa in 1914 and in his time possreturned from playing in the British championships; T. G. McAthey, Montreal, Quebec Amateur champion; Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, Carroll Stuart, Montreal, H. Borthwick, Calgary, D. L. Arnott, Winnipeg, recent winner of the Manitoba Amateur Champion-

Canada pinned its faith to stem the U.S. invasion on the twice Amateur Champion, Ross Somerville, London, and Don Carrick, Toronto; the young Londoner, Jack Nash, who last month won the Ontario Amateur Championship, Jack Cameron, leading player of Quebec; the former Canadian Amateur champions, W. J. Thompson, Toronto; Frank Thompson (now a resident of Chicago), and C. C. Fraser, Montreal, not to mention A. A. Weir, of Winnipeg, leading Western Amateur, recently ship, and D. Kennedy, runner-up, and a dozen or so more promising young golfers. A particularly welcome entrant was George S. Lyon, 72 years of age last month and eight times Amateur Champion of Canada. He was most appropriately paired with Brice Evans, of Boston, runner-up to him in the Championship of 1914 at Ottawa. The veteran had rounds of 82 and 80 for 162, only six strokes back of the qualifiers and ahead of many near and would-be champions 50 years and more his juniors.

And as a result of the qualifying round the following 32 players earned the right to play down in match play at 36 holes:—

One of the most disappointing incidents in connection with this qualifying round was the retirement owing to illness after attempting to play a few holes, of Jack Nash, of London, the young Ontario champion. He was greatly fancied to make a favourable showing in the Championship. Then, too, at the end of the first round at match play F. W. Ryan, of Oak Hills, Mich., a pupil of Al Watrous, former Canadian Open Champion, professional at Oak Hills, who tied for medal honours with J. R. Ferguson, of Philadelphia, had to drop out. He received a wire that his grandfather had died and took the first train back to Detroit. He recently was runner-up in the Michigan State Amateur Championship and was one of the favourites in the pools. Ryan's and Nash's withdrawals unquestionably had a bearing on the ultimate results of the Championship. They both should have gone far.

The sun-baked course and a high wind accounted to some extent for the rather high scoring. The par of the London course is 70, but Ryan was the only player to break it. On his morning round he carded a 69. Still at that, it took 156 to qualify. Last year at Jasper Eddie Held was out in front in the qualifying round with 148—and Jasper is no primrose path. Scores of 165 and better qualified there, or 9 strokes more than it required to get into the charmed circle at London—so it would appear that a better brand of qualifying golf was called for this year than last.

And this is what happened during the five days of 36-hole match play under an unclouded sun with a temperature averaging nearly 90° in the shade and with nine Americans and twenty-one Canadians striving for supremacy:—

First Round—

J. Wood Platt, White Marsh Valley, Philadelphia, defeated J. A. Fuller, Royal Montreal, 10 and 8.

Gordon Taylor, Jr., York Downs, defeated Chas. Keene, London Hunt, 8 and 7.
Fred G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, defeated Jack Armitage, Glendale, Hamilton, at 39th hole.

Eric Russell, Lakeview, defeated J. Watson Yuile, Royal Montreal, 7 and 6.

C. Ross Somerville, London Hunt, defeated C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, 6 and 5.

Frank Connolly, Dearborne, Mich., defeated Stanley Thompson, Mississauga, 4 and 3.

S. S. Merritt, Huntington G.C., Nobla, Pa., defeated Don Carriek, Scarboro, 5 and 3.

“Playing out of a trap”. Here Platt, runner-up, is seen making a particularly clever explosion shot.

Francis W. Ryan, Oakland Hills, Birmingham, Mich., defeated Ross Hayes, Western G.C., Detroit, 4 and 3.

Wm. D. Taylor, Summerlea, Montreal, defeated George Boeckh, York Downs, at 37th hole.

Nicol Thompson, Jr., Cedar Brook, defeated Hugh Borthwick, Calgary, 5 and 4.

Carroll M. Stuart, Islesmere, Montreal, defeated Frank Thompson, Mississauga, two up.

Eddie Held, Lakeville G.C., Great Neck, N.Y., defeated John S. Lewis, Brantford, 8 and 6.

Alex A. Weir, Niakwa, Winnipeg, defeated L. L. Vanzant, Tulsa, Okla., 4 and 3.

Jack Cameron, Laval, Montreal, defeated Dan Kennedy, St. Charles, Winnipeg, 5 and 4.

Fred J. Wright, Abernade, Newton, Mass., defeated D. L. Tower, Lewiston, N. Y., at 37th hole.

J. Raymond Ferguson, White Marsh Valley, Philadelphia, defeated G. B. Heintzman, Lambton, 12 and 10.

Second Round—

J. Wood Platt, White Marsh Valley, Philadelphia, won by default from Francis W. Ryan, Oakland Hills, Birmingham, Mich.

Nicol Thompson, Jr., Cedar Brook, Toronto, defeated Wm. D. Taylor, Summerlea, Montreal, 4 and 3.

Carroll M. Stuart, Islesmere, Montreal, defeated Eddie Held, Lakeville G.C., Great Neck, N.Y., 3 and 1.

Jack Cameron, Laval, Montreal, defeated Alex A. Weir, Niakwa, Winnipeg, 2 and 1.

feated Eric Russell, Lakeview, Toronto, 6 and 4.

Third Round—

former Canadian champion the past two years has not been playing the game that he did when he was in his twenties. Boxing and long hours of study at Harvard apparently have taken in the meantime their toll. The match between the ex-champs, Somerville and Fraser, was for a time interesting but in the afternoon round the Londoner played his Montreal rival to a standstill.

Going to the sixth hole on the London Hunt Club course. Platt, on the right, is seen making a clever mashie shot to the green. At the left, Mr. Collyer, president of the R.C.G.A., and Dr. Claude Brown, president London Hunt.

Semi-finals—

C. Ross Somerville, London, defeated J. Raymond Ferguson, White Marsh Valley, Philadelphia, 10 and 9.

J. Wood Platt, White Marsh Valley, Philadelphia, defeated Carroll M. Stuart, Islesmere Golf Club, Montreal, 4 and 3.

Final—C. Ross Somerville defeated J. Wood Platt, 11 and 10.

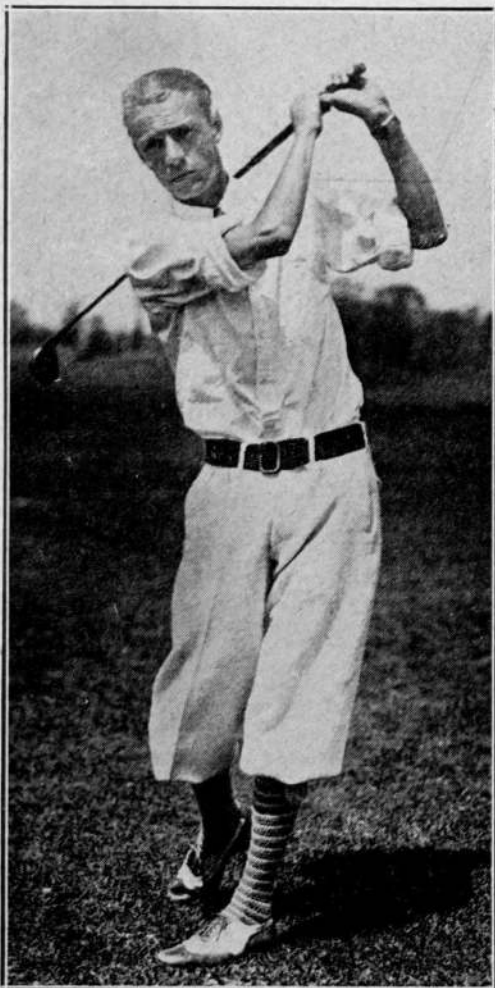

To come up to the final Somerville accounted for C. C. Fraser, former champion, 6 and 5, Eric Russell, junior champion of Ontario, 6 and 4, Frank Connolly, 1 up, and J. R. Ferguson, 10 and 9. Platt defeated J. A. Fuller 10 and 8, W. Ryan by default, Nicol Thompson, Jr., 5 and 4, and Carroll Stuart 4 and 3.

The only real upset in the first round was the elimination of Don Carriek by the U.S. player, S. S. Merritt, by 5 and 3. This was a most unexpected reverse, although the

The second round witnessed the downfall of the defending champion, Eddie Held, at the hands of 22-year-old Carroll M. Stuart, who secured a 3 and 1 verdict over the U.S. player. This was the feature event of this round and placed Stuart in the spotlight and deservedly so, too. He learned his game in Galt, Ontario, but his family removing to Chicago he more or less perfected a compact game there. He is now residing in Montreal. Carroll, it will be remembered, in the semi-finals in the Canadian Amateur at Summerlea, Montreal, two years ago, took Somerville to the 38th hole before acknowledging defeat. He has all the hall-marks of a coming champion, especially if he brightens up a rather too deliberative a game. In this round Nicol Thompson, Jr., Jack Cameron, Hoblitzel and Ferguson all played exceptionally well to register hard-earned wins.

Then came in the third round the big thrills of Championship Week.

Carroll M. Stuart, Islesmere Golf Club, Montreal, who kept the Canadian flag flying as far as the semi-finals.

Somerville, the hope of Canada, a 2 to 1 favourite to win the championship, faltered at the end of the morning round and faltered badly. Drawn against Connolly, of Dearborn, Mich., who has no particular rating in his own country, at the end of the morning 18-hole duel he found himself 3 to the bad, losing the last three holes.

In the afternoon worse was to come. Playing in rather a listless manner, at the 24th hole of the match, Somerville was 6 down with 12 to play. The large gallery which naturally had its hopes pinned on the former Canadian champion, at this stage gave up all hope for the favourite coming through. But the Londoner, true to his Scottish ancestry, is a dour fighter. He proceeded to get a hole back at the 25th and then at the 8th, or 26th of the match he ran down a long putt for a birdie 3. Connolly missed a ten-footer and his lead had been reduced to four and ten to go. That "psychological putt" was unquestionably the turning point in a thrilling game. It heartened Somerville, it disheartened Connolly, and from there on he commenced to drop hole after hole until at the 35th he was one down. The 36th being halved, a match which looked all over like Connolly's went to his sturdy opponent instead. Somerville's "comeback" is the most outstanding in the long annals of the Canadian Amateur Championship and stamps him as a worthy offspring of the bulldog breed which never knows when it is licked. In his uphill fight he won five of the last ten holes and halved the rest. And that's golf, superlative golf, worthy of the very best masters and traditions of the game.

There were two other exciting matches in this fateful third round. Cameron, like Somerville, an all-round athlete of the "dogged is that does it" type, was pitted against Carroll Stuart, and it was generally predicted would go into the semi-finals but the slim young Montrealer had something to say about that. It was a ding-dong match from start to finish but Stuart never faltered and eventually nosed out a well-earned victory by 1 up.

Hoblitzel, the Lambton ace, had the unfortunate experience of running up against Ferguson on a day when every approach he made was on the pin or thereabouts and every putt went down. The Philadelphian's short game especially during the afternoon round was simply uncanny. On the outward 9 he one-putted seven greens and registered a sensational 32 as a result. Hoblitzel fought valiantly but not even a Bobby Jones could have gone up successfully against a game like that and he was really lucky to hold his opponent to a 2 and 1 victory. The co-medallist freely admitted that he never in his golfing career found a course that suited his rather short game so well as London. His putting and approaching until he reached the semi-finals was almost faultless. Young Nicol Thompson, who is in fine form this season, put up a game fight against Platt but experience told in the long run and he was defeated 5 and 4.

The semi-finals took on a regular International complexion, Somerville vs. Ferguson and Stuart vs. Platt. The first match was hardly for a moment in doubt. The hard-hitting Londoner playing at the top of his fame fairly swamped his Philadelphia opponent and the unequal struggle ended on the 27th green 10 and 9. For once Ferguson lost his fine putting touch and that settled any chance he might have had.

The Stuart-Platt match was decidedly interesting, rather marred by an incident which occurred going to the unlucky "13th" or 31st of the match. Here Stuart picked up unthinkingly no doubt, some twigs and leaves on the fairway, more than a club's length from his ball. Platt quite properly called attention to this and Mr. Collyer, president of the R. C. G. A., who was following the match, having been appealed to of course recognized a breach of the rules and Platt was awarded the hole which made him 3 up. He subsequently won the match 4 and 3. Platt was quite right in calling attention to the breach. Players, especially in championships or club competitions, have no excuse whatever in not conforming to the rules, either from carelessness or ignorance, and the sooner they take that to heart the better for themselves and the better for the game. "Rules are rules" and must be observed under all circumstances. It must also be remembered that a player who does not call attention to a breach of the rules renders himself liable to disqualification.

Then the final. Once again Somerville was in a fighting mood. Playing spectacular and brilliant golf over 26 holes of the baked and burned fairways he polished off Platt to the rather devastating tune of 11 and 10. On the 8th green where two days before he had gobbled the sensational putt which helped to turn what looked like a certain defeat into a victory over Connolly, he was crowned for the third time Amateur Champion of Canada amidst the plaudits of an running at Rosedale. Then the following year at Ottawa he defeated Max Marston, the only U.S. Amateur Champion ever to compete in the Canadian Amateur. Marston was the favourite to win the event that year. In 1928 he won the Championship after defeating W. K. Lanman, of Columbus, Ohio, in the final at Mon-enthusiastic gallery. "Fighting Sandy" had come into his own again on his home course and in his home town and Londoners can be forgiven for the pardonable pride they take in their brilliant golfing son and famous all-round athlete. He is a credit alike to the city of his birth and to the whole of Canada.

Incidentally, Canada has to thank the Londoner for preventing perhaps the title crossing the Border on four occasions. In 1924 Lauren W. Upson, of California, the brilliant young collegiate champion, was a serious threat but Somerville put him out of the treat and now "Woodie" Platt at London bows to the prowess of his "irous and wood". But for Ross, Upson, Marston, Lanman and Platt might easily have been Amateur Champion of Canada. Canada, therefore, from a golfing standpoint has to thank him for stemming an amateur invasion which might otherwise have been as successful almost as the professional has been in our Open Championship.

Somerville, who has also starred in the past on the cricket field, football field and in the hockey arena, has undoubtedly this season been playing the best golf of his brilliant career. It will be remembered that last April he won the qualifying round in the important North and South Championship at Pinehurst, N.C., and then went through to the final at match play defeating in the semi-finals at the 19th hole George Voigt, the U.S. Walker Cup player and by many ac-fourth place. He was defeated in the second round at match play on the last green by John Beck, a member of the British Walker Cup team. London now has the unique honour of including amongst its golfers the Amateur Champion of Canada and the counted second only to Bobby Jones in the amateur ranks of America. In the final he was rather unexpectedly defeated by Eugene Homans. Last month he won the qualifying round in the Ontario Amateur at Scarborough and followed this up a few days afterwards by tying with Lex Robson and Gordon Brydson at the Toronto Golf Club in the Ontario Open, Brydson winning in the play-off. This is a great record for one season. It is satisfactory to know that Somerville is entering for the U.S. Amateur at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, next month and he should go far.

In the U.S. Amateur Championship at Boston in 1928 he qualified in Amateur Champion of Ontario (Jack Nash), a record of which any city should be justly proud. Large galleries every day during Championship Week witnessed the various matches. In the final between Somerville and Platt there were some 1,000 spectators present.

Immediately after the conclusion of the Championship on the pretty putting green adjoining the club house the presentation of prizes took place. Mr. Alfred Collyer, president of the R.C.G.A., very capably presided at this particularly bright and snappy wind-up of a memorable week. He referred in graceful terms to both the winner and runner-up and also to the semi-finalists, Stuart and Ferguson, and regretted the absence of Ryan, the co-medallist, who was so unfortunately called away by family bereavement. Mr. Collyer especially paid a well deserved tribute to the officers and members of the London Hunt who had been largely responsible for the smooth running of one of the best championships ever staged in Canada. Mr. Platt replied on behalf of the prize winners. In a witty little speech he stated that he had come to Canada bent on doing two things, win the Championship and have a good time. "Well," he said, "Ross attended decisively to the first wish but he couldn't prevent me having a good time." Colonei Claude Brown, president of the London Hunt, in a particularly charming speech referred to the fact that London and the London Hunt Club had been delighted to play host to the brilliant field of U.S. and Canadian entrants and he only hoped that in the not far distant future the city would again be awarded a Canadian Championship. The presence at the presentation of prizes of two leading Western members of the R.C.G.A. executive, Mr. H. Milton Martin, vice-president, Edmonton, and Mr. C. W. Jackson, Winnipeg, was an especially appreciated feature. It is rarely that Western members of the executive find an opportunity to come East for the Championships. More's the pity.

The Board of Directors and officers of the London Hunt and Country Club, Ltd., who came in for so many compliments as the result of the brilliant staging of the Championship are:—

Manitoba Amateur Championship

Is Won by David Arnott, D. Kennedy, Runner-up. All square at the 36th, Kennedy Violates Rules Going to the Extra Hole and Arnott is Awarded Title.

THE St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, provided a splendid venue this month for the 1930 Manitoba Amateur Championship. There was a record field of entrants, no fewer than 183 of the leading players of the Province teeing-up for the Qualifying Round.

Despite a high and hot wind some very good scores were turned in. With cards of 75, one over par, A. Carson McWilliams, Elmhurst, Winnipeg, and Ernie Palmer, Canoe Club, Winnipeg, tied for medal honours. Dave Arnott, Assiniboine, Winnipeg, was runner-up to the dual medallists, with a fine 76, featured by a stirring comeback on the home nine after he had taken 40 going out. An eagle three on the 520 yard fourteenth aided him in this effort.

Alex. Weir, Niakwa, recently returned from playing in the British Championships, the defending champion, Gordon Konantz, St. Charles, and Chuck Hodgman, Niakwa, were all next with 77's. Hodgman needed 43 going out, but blazed a neat trail after the turn, for he finished with 34 due to four birdies. Bobby Reith, unattached; Alex. Black, Sr., Assiniboine; George Heffelfinger, Niakwa, and J. A. Gemmill, Pine Ridge, were back of the above group with 78's. Dan Kennedy, St. Charles, and R. McIntyre, Niakwa, were one stroke under 80.

The following 32 qualified to play-off for the championship:—

T. G. Roberts, Winnipeg; R. McIntyre, Niakwa; G. Howson, Winnipeg; F. M. Boulton, Pine Ridge; W. Keep, unattached; A. Black, Sr., Assiniboine; J. Dillworth, Deer Lodge; A. A. Weir, Niakwa; H. R. Parker, Norwood; G. Konantz, St. Charles; B. Donovan, Norwood; J. A. O. Gemmill, Pine Ridge; R. L. Wright, Niakwa; G. Heffelfinger, Niakwa; C. I. Hall, St. Charles; D. N. Arnott, Assiniboine; F. Land, Deer Lodge; C. L. Hodgman, Niakwa; L. W.

Hicks, St. Charles; J. R. Murray, Pine Ridge; G. J. Fraser, Elmhurst; E. Palmer, Canoe Club; G. McDonald, unattached; R. J. Reith, unattached; Alex. Black, Assiniboine; A. C. MacWilliams, Elmhurst; W. H. Booth,

Mr. Robert Jacob, K.C., Winnipeg, the energetic president of the Manitoba Golf Association.

Norwood; D. J. Kennedy, St. Charles; C. W. Kennedy, St. Charles; D. Stack, Kildonan; L. D. Bawlf, St. Charles; J. R. Beattie, Niakwa.

There were many upsets recorded in the match play which followed the qualifying round. A. Carson MacWilliams, greatly fancied to win, was eliminated by Kennedy, of the St. Charles Club, and the other medallist, Palmer, was also defeated by 15-year-old Bobbie Reith on the 19th hole. Then in the semi-finals the defending champion, Weir, was taken into camp 1 up by Kennedy, the young St. Charles Country Club expert, whilst Arnott accounted for C. Hodgman, one of the ranking players of Winnipeg.

The 36-hole final between Arnott and Kennedy witnessed a battle royal, which unfortunately was marred at the finish by a regrettable incident. Both finalists played fine golf in the morning round, Kennedy with a 75 being one up on Arnott. In the afternoon the ding-dong struggle continued. At the 31st hole the match was all square. One up at the 35th Kennedy lost the 36th and once again the players were on even terms. Going to the extra 37th hole both split the fairway with long drives. Kennedy was in the bunker over the green in his second shot, while Arnott was just off in the higher grass at the back. Kennedy attempted to explode from the sand, and only moved the ball on to the embankment. He found difficulty in getting his stance, and after several futile attempts requested his caddie to support his foot.

This in itself, unknown to Kennedy, was contrary to the rules of golf, but Referee R. C. S. Bruce could not call it until he had completed the stroke. However, before playing his shot the caddie dropped Kennedy's bag of clubs in the hazard, thereby violating another rule and gave Mr. Bruce no alternative but to penalize Kennedy and award the hole and championship to Dave Arnott. It was a regrettable wind-up to one of the most brilliant finals ever staged in a Manitoba championship. The winner's card was 76-76—152, Kennedy 75-79—154.

Other winners were:—

First flight—Billy Muir, St. Charles, beat H. R. Daniels, Pine Ridge.

Second flight—Johnny Rogers, St. Charles, beat J. R. Walsh, Sandy Hook.

Third flight—J. L. M. Thomson, Elmhurst, beat A. Boes, unattached.

Fourth flight—Judge Cory, Elmhurst, beat R. N. McLeod, Pine Ridge.

Fifth flight—J. C. Baxter, Norwood, beat H. H. Greenfield, Canoe Club.

Sixth flight—N. E. White, Pine Ridge, beat Jimmy Berry, unattached.

Seventh flight—R. B. Alexander, Elmhurst, beat L. S. Gibson, unattached.

Eighth flight—G. M. Black, St. Charles, beat Dal Davies, Canoe Club.

Ninth flight—A. C. Mitchell, Canoe Club, beat J. M. Downes, Niakwa.

The officials of the Manitoba Golf Association, headed by the President, Mr. Robt. Jacob, K.C., Winnipeg, and Mr. Charles N. Harris, Secretary, came in for all kinds of well deserved praise as a result of the successful running of the Tournament. It was said on all sides that it was the best Provincial Championship that Manitoba has ever had. Mr. Jacob who is taking a very keen interest in the affairs of the Association, had even arranged "for four days of perfect weather."

Royal York is a Course of Championship Calibre

IN an exhibition game played last month at the Royal York Golf Club, Toronto, Leo Diegel, four times Canadian Open champion, was paired with the brilliant young Horton Smith against the two Lambton amateurs, F. G. Hoblitzel and Fred Lyon, son of Mr. George S. Lyon. The feature of the match, which was won by the American stars, was the play of Smith and Hoblitzel. Smith with a superb 69, a record for the course, had the best card, but he was closely followed by Hoblitzel with a 71, which equalled the amateur record. Diegel, taking it easy, had a 74. Over 1000 spectators thoroughly enjoyed the match. Hoblitzel came in for all kinds of congratulations as the result of his brilliant round. Both Diegel and Smith were loud in their praises of the Royal York golf course, going so far as to say it was one of the best tests of high-class golf in America, and worthy of staging any major championship.

The setting of the links is simply superb, the view from the first tee unfolding a veritable panorama, with the sky line of the city of Toronto in the foreground. The club house, along French chateau lines, is simply charming, both from an exterior and interior standpoint. The course is within easy distance of Toronto and the C.P.R. Royal York Hotel, and this season is attracting a very large high-class tourist patronage in addition to hundreds of Torontonians who are enjoying the privilege of playing over these quite outstanding links. Mr. Home Smith, the well-known Toronto financier, and the C.P.R., both back of the enterprise, are sparing no effort or expense in making the Royal York one of the really great golf courses of the Continent.

St. Catharines Preparing to Launch Public Golf Course

AS befitting one of the most progressive cities in Ontario, St. Catharines has decided to seriously take up the question of providing a municipal golf course for its citizens. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, City Clerk, writes the Editor:

A special committee of the city council here has been appointed, comprising Alderman John D. Wright, Alderman Fred W. Beard and Alderman Walter J. Westwood, to compile information and prepare a report for consideration of the Council on a proposal which has been advanced by numerous citizens that a municipal golf course be undertaken by the City Corporation, and in order that the committee is made acquainted with the costs of maintenance and construction costs and the income in other cities who are already operating successful eighteen-hole courses, I have been directed to secure information to compare their income with the possibilities of St. Catharines.

Alderman Wright, who is chairman of this special committee, is firmly convinced that all that is required is to obtain reliable information for the ratepayers and having done this the clear thinking citizens will see the value and the possibilities in St. Catharines for a municipal course and will predominate to carry the venture to success at the next municipal election when it is hoped to have a by-law ready for submission.

It is possible that I may have to avail myself of your very kind offer to assist in compiling useful and valuable information. In the meantime, however, I have prepared a questionnaire which I have sent to the various cities named in the article contained in the May "Canadian Golfer". When this information is received and tabulated I will communicate with you further. The questions I have asked for information on are as follows:—

1. Cost of property.
2. Number of holes.
3. Rules and regulations (copy if in pamphlet form).
4. Do you sell memberships?
5. Do members pay annual fees?
6. What fees are charged for games?
7. Do you hold tournaments?
8. Total revenue 1929.
9. Total maintenance cost 1929.
10. Total surplus for last five years.
11. Total construction expenditure.
12. Did you issue debentures or did the Corporation previously own the property used?

St. Kitts can make no mistake in providing public golf facilities for its ratepayers and visitors to the city. Such an undertaking is bound to be an asset and not a liability in the years to come. Every progressive city in Canada now has public links and all are paying propositions.

Renfrew, Ontario, Has Fine Golf Course

ONLY put into commission last year, the golf course at Renfrew, Ontario, has shaped up extremely well, and is affording a great deal of pleasure to the residents of the town and many visitors. The vast expanse of open country, the wonderful view of the mountains in the distance, the beautiful little lake nestled among the evergreens just below the Club House, the wooded valleys and the open meadows all help to give a never ending variety of play to the golfer who visits "the most up-to-the-minute town in the beautiful Ottawa Valley" and plays over its very interesting links.

The Renfrew Club possesses exceptional natural advantages in the matter of site, soil, location, transportation and geography. The course was designed and built by Messrs. Cumming and Millar, of Toronto, and they certainly made a good job of it. Visitors are assured not only of a championship course in every respect, but of surroundings that will appeal to the most discerning followers of the royal and ancient pastime and the heartiest kind of a welcome. By all means put Renfrew on your itinerary when touring through the Ottawa Valley. A valued Toronto subscriber writes:

Reports turned in by members of Toronto clubs who have visited the Ottawa Valley this season are most enthusiastic as regards the pretty little course constructed last season at Renfrew.

Last year, owing to lack of moisture and extreme hot weather, the fairways were somewhat backward in growth, but with frequent rains during the past two or three months a vast improvement is noticeable.

While so far there are but nine holes in commission they are without doubt a fine test of golf and the course, as a whole, conceded to be the finest in the Ottawa Valley.

The pretty club house of the Renfrew Golf Club, which set high on a hill overlooks practically the entire course.

Interesting Exhibition Matches Staged by Quebec Branch C. L. G. U.

IN order to stimulate an interest and encourage golf among women in the Province of Quebec a series of exhibition matches were arranged by the Pars Committee of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union. The party included Mrs. A. E. Mussen, vice-president of the Branch; Mrs. Garth Thomson, handicap manager; Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, Provincial golf champion; Mde. Jos. B. Dagenais, runner-up in the Provincial, and Miss Eileen Kinsella and Marjorie Kirkham, semi-finalists in the Provincial.

Quebec was the first place visited and played over the Kent course, which is 6,268 yards long, and the ladies' par is 77. This course is in splendid condition and they have some very interesting holes, some of the fairways are rather narrow, which rather tests the skill of a player to drive a straight ball.

The ladies' par at Grand Mere was reduced from 79 to 78 which will leave this very hard and beautiful course one of the highest pars in the Province.

Shawinigan Falls have a nine hole course which is very new, measuring 2722 yards, the par of which is 36 out and 36 in. A peculiar feature about this course is that they have sand greens, which are very difficult after playing on the grass greens.

The Ki-8-eb at Three Rivers has a most beautiful situation along the St. Maurice River, and has the possibilities of a very fine golf course. The country is hilly and undulating, and the greens are in excellent condition. It measures 3007 yards—ladies par 39. The ninth hole is only 167 yards long, but it has an elevation of about 250 yards, and no woman ever drove the green in one shot. Much to the joy of the members of the Club Mde. Dagenais negotiated this difficult green in one shot.

A very pleasing feature about the trip was the interest manifested by the large galleries that turned out at the different places to watch the foursome play, the golf displayed by the players was excellent, scoring in the eighties all the time.

After each game Mrs. Garth Thomson gave a short talk on the rules of golf, also handicaps, etc., and the numerous questions asked by the members evidenced not only a keenness about the play but also about the rules, which every player should know.

This trip also showed that in another year or so we could go outside the Montreal District to hold our championships, and we would be rewarded by playing on courses which would be real tests of golf.

The result of the matches played during the tour:—

Quebec, Kent Golf Club—Miss Dora Virtue, Mde. Jos. Dagenais vs Miss Eileen Kinsella, Miss Marjorie Kirkham. Misses Kinsella and Kirkham beat Miss Dora Virtue and Mde. Dagenais 2-1.

Grand Mere—Misses Kinsella and Kirkham lost to Miss Virtue and Mde. Dagenais two up.

Shawinigan—Misses Virtue and Kirkham beat Miss Kinsella and Mde. Dagenais 2 up.

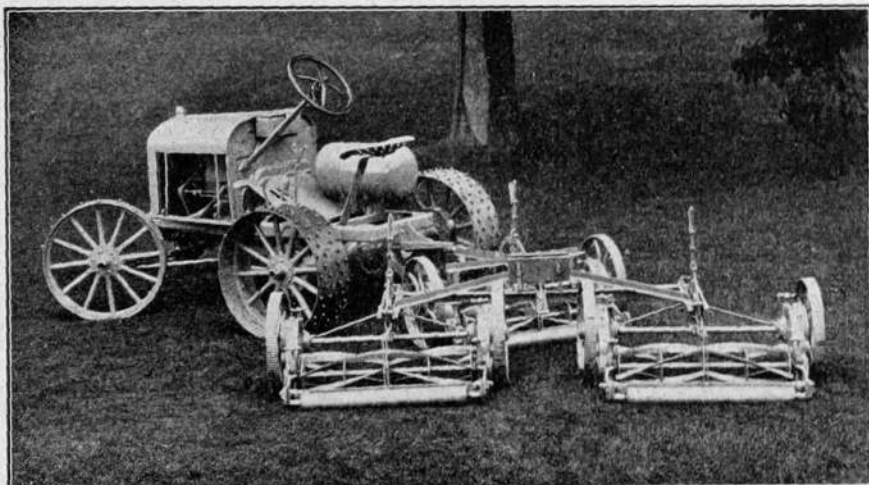

Ki-8-eb—Misses Virtue and Kinsella beat Mde. Dagenais and Miss Kirkham 2-1.

Charlottetown, P.E.I. Now Has a Sporting 18-Hole Course

(Special Correspondence "Canadian Golfer")

THREE and one-half years of unstinted labour has provided the Charlottetown, P.E.I., Golf Club with one of the best eighteen-hole courses in all Canada, and which, besides being an asset to the city and the Province, is proving a great charm and attraction to tourists. The new course measures 6,004 yards, the outgoing nine holes being 2,964 yards, and the incoming nine, 3,040 yards, par of the course being 72, so that the two nines are well balanced as to length. Both nines include a sporty "short" hole and two extra long holes, the former measuring 115 to 112 yards, and the latter from 500 to 540 yards respectively. The course is one which will test the skill of the most expert golfer. Construction of the new course began in the fall of 1926, when 49 acres of densely wooded land was cut down, burnt and cleared and eventually converted into fairways a truly herculean task, for thousands of large live stumps had to be removed. Following this and getting the ground plowed and under cultural subjection that a crop of buckwheat was grown and plowed under, harrowed, rolled, levelled and seeded with Prince Edward Island brown top, some thousands of pounds of this grass seed being used, resulting in a beautiful velvet green sward.

As before stated Prince Edward Island golfers now enjoy one of the finest golfing layouts in the Dominion, and Charlottetown is to be heartily congratulated on providing such ideal golfing facilities alike for its own citizens and visitors.

Interesting Golf Happenings in Winnipeg

MEMBERS and their friends who appreciate the Bird's Hill courses will be delighted to hear that the Winnipeg Golf Club has decided to reduce green fees for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays until further notice to $1.00. Green fees during the week will remain the same, viz., $1.00.

Winnipeg retailers turned out in large numbers for the play-off of the Gold Standard Cup at the Deer Lodge course. Four players, Weldon, Thompson, Lezette and Bowman, tied for the low score with a nett of 74.

The interest taken in this competition is shown by the fact that more than 60 players turned out. At the finish of the round, dinner was served at the club house.

T. G. Clough won the Windatt Cup competition at Southwood Club playing the three rounds in 88-81-87, less 15 handicap for a total of 211. J. B. Smith was second with 95-88-90 less 20, 213, and close up were Keith Vogan, 215; Gilbert Parfitt, 217; W. M. Kerr, 218; Robt. Fletcher and C. M. McCann, 221; Newton Brett and John Bracken, 223. Gordon Leggo turned in the best single game gross score, a 78 for his second game, and Norman McLeod was low for aggregate gross three game, 80-84-81—125. Premier John A. Bracken led the field in class A in the qualifying round with 84-16—68. W. M. Kerr was out in front in class B qualifying round, scoring 88-22—66.

At the Norwood Golf Club two interesting competitions in the Ladies' Section were run off.

In the event for the president's prize, some very close matches resulted. The semi-finals produced good golf between Miss K. Vanetta and Mrs. McIntosh in the one bracket and Miss E. McKay and Miss J. Ross in the other, Miss Vanetta and Miss Ross being successful in reaching the final, and not until the last green was reached could the winner be foretold. A nip and tuck battle kept both players on edge—long drives, excellent approaching and putting kept the match square, but, after a well-played 18th hole, Miss Vanetta emerged the victor and becomes the recipient of the much-coveted president's prize.

The other event, a tombstone competition, was won by Miss E. McKay, who holed out on the last green with a few strokes in hand, after playing very steadily all through the game.

The two-ball foursomes competition played at the Alcrest Golf Club was won by Miss Eadie and J. S. Lytle. The course was in excellent condition for the event and many fine scores were recorded.

Another Course on Monterey Peninsula

One Million Dollars Will be Expended on a Magnificent Lay-out Adjacent to the Steeplechase Course

ANOTHER new golf course is to be laid out on Monterey Peninsula. This important information was made public for the first time when S. F. B. Morse, president of Del Monte Properties Company, announced a $1,000,000 budget for new improvements in the Del Monte area. The new links is to be laid out adjacent to the steeplechase course east of the present Del Monte polo plant. Construction of the steeplechase course will be initiated this summer. However, Morse states that the golf course is to be built at a later date when required. The object in laying it out now is to plan it so that it will border and overlook the steeplechase course without interfering with the latter in any way.

The Del Monte Properties Company recently acquired 150 acres of land from T. A. Work, of Monterey, which, in addition to previous purchases and holdings, gives the Del Monte organization approximately 450 acres of land in the "polo area".

The land is all well drained, sandy loam, ideal for polo, golf and steeplechase courses.

The Del Monte Gun Club and its traps are already located on the property.

The ultimate plan of development involves the building of a great sporting unit, all taken care of by one club house. The race track will be kept in such condition that it can be used on a month's notice. The polo fields are being enlarged so that there will be four fields, two regular tournament fields, and two practice fields suitable for real games.

There is a natural point of vantage on the property which will make it possible to design a golf course and a steeplechase course in such a way that practically all of the golf holes will be in sight from this knoll which is large enough to park a number of cars and to take care of a large gallery. The steeplechase course will be unique also in that it will be in full sight of the gallery the entire distance.

The new entrance has been arranged through the polo field area just opposite the hotel grounds so that the entire plant can be tied into Del Monte without using the highway at all except just to cross it.

MacDonald Smith, runner-up to Bobby Jones both in the British and U.S. Open and generally accounted to-day as possibly the world's second greatest shot-maker, was the winner with a 72-hole score of 278. On the final day he carded two 68's. In second place, but 8 strokes back, was Willie Klein, of Wheatley Hills, 286 and in third place Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow, 287. Smith was in 4th place at the Canadian Open with 279. Sarazen did not compete.

Jack Vernon, popular professional of the Kenora Golf and Country Club, Kenora, Ontario, broke the course record this month in playing in a foursome with Drs. J. P. Paton, D. M. Baker and Horace Smith, completing the eighteen holes in 65, or seven under par, and establishing a course record that will be extremely hard to beat. The previous best round made was 68.

In only two holes did he fail to get a birdie or par, taking three putts on the sixth hole, for one over par, and getting into the rough on the sixteenth hole with a mashie shot. He had birdies on nine of the 18 holes, and he is to be congratulated on his splendid round, establishing a course record that will stand for some time.

It is remarkable that on the seventeenth hole, three out of the four players did it in two, or one under par. Mr. Horace Smith, one of the players, incidentally registered a brilliant 71, or one under par, which should be about the best score registered by a local player for a long time.

George Daniel, pro at the Niakwa Country Club, Winnipeg, had the distinction of setting a record for his own course, playing in a four-ball match recently. He shot the 18 holes in 69, three strokes under par.

This is the first time any player has broken 70 on the course with the exception of Jimmy Rimmer, the pro at Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., but when Rimmer scored his 69, winter rules were being played and every shot was teed up on the fairway and the holes were much shorter.

Daniel's card and par for the course follow:—

Par—

Out .....444 453 543—36
In .....445 343 544—36—72

Daniel—

Out .....345 444 533—35
In .....544 342 444—34—69

Playing with Daniel at the time were H. T. Hazelton, Dr. Digby Wheeler and J. L. Hewitt.

George Cumming, Professional at the Toronto Club, who will take over the new Constant Springs course at Kingston, Jamaica, this winter, will probably sail for the South late in November instead of in December as heretofore. It is reported that both Lou, his son, as well as Gordie Brydson, Ontario Open Champion, will accompany him.

George Daniels, for a number of years with Cumming and Millar, as construction superintendent, has been appointed greenskeeper at Weston Golf Club, Toronto.

Stratford, Ontario, Launches a Municipal Golf Course

STRATFORD is another progressive Ontario city which is now in the Public Golf Links column. Last month the city council formally opened up an interesting 9-hole course for the benefit of the ratepayers, and there is no question that from the start it will be self sustaining. Nearly every city of importance in Ontario now boasts Public golf courses and it is only a question of a year or so, before every centre of any importance will provide "golf for the masses". The Royal and Ancient game to-day unquestionably is the most popular of all games in Canada. There are now over 600 private and public clubs and over 150,000 golfers in the Dominion.

The Stratford course, which was laid out under the supervision of Fred Cook, professional of the Stratford Golf and Country Club, is within the city limits about one mile from the City Hall. The length of the 9 holes is 3204 yards. The charges are 25c per round or 50c for the day. There are several very interesting holes. The links are under the supervision of a Committee of the City Council, with Ald. W. E. Goodwin as Chairman. The treasurer is Mr. Thomas Ballantyne, City Treasurer. Here's wishing Ontario's latest civic golf course an unbounded success.

The Canadian Seniors' Tournament

Names of the British Team Participating in the Event. Toronto Golf Club Will be the Venue of One of the Most Interesting Golfing Events of the 1930 Season.

MR. C. A. BOGERT, president of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, has received from London the names and handicaps of the British Seniors' team visiting Canada. They are:—J. Beaumont Pease (captain), Royal and Ancient scratch; E. B. Blackwell, Royal and Ancient, scratch; Major F. A. Stephens, D.S.O., Oxhey Golf Club, handicap 1; Douglas Clayton, Headingly Golf Club, handicap 2; J. C. Boys, Cinque Ports, Deal, handicap 4; Halford Hewitt, Cinque Ports, handicap 5; George Brann, Home Park and Deal Golf Clubs, handicap 5; James Todd, Worpleston Golf Club, handicap 9; Rt. Hon. Lord Morison, Muirfield Golf Club, handicap 10; Stanley Weigall, St. George's Golf Club, handicap 11; Sir Herbert Walker, K.C.B., Sunningdale Golf Club, handicap 18; Lt.-Col. Frances Popham, D.S.O., Royal and Ancient (Hon. Secretary of the Association), handicap 20.

It will be noticed that the first seven men all have low handicaps and the team is much stronger than the one which visited Canada and the States two years ago.

J. B. Pease is chairman of Lloyds Bank, and like E. B. Blackwell is a player of note. George Grann was the former famous Sussex cricketer. Lord Morison is a Privy Councillor and Judge of the High Court of Scotland. Major Stephens is secretary of the Oxhey Club and a particularly fine golfer. Sir Herbert Walker is chairman of the Southern Railway, one of the great railway combines. All the team are men of prominence alike in golfing and financial circles. The team expects to arrive at Montreal on Friday, the 22nd of August, and will stay there until the following Monday or Tuesday, when they will leave for Ottawa, remaining there until Thursday evening, the 28th. They then travel to Toronto, arriving there on Friday morning, the 29th of August. A. H. Eckford, of the Royal and Ancient, and his wife, are accompanying the team, although Mr. Eckford will not take part in any of the Triangular matches. Mrs. Eckford was formerly a Miss Hendrie, of Hamilton.

In addition to the Britishers a strong team of prominent U.S. Seniors will also be at the Toronto Golf Club to participate in the Triangular matches, Great Britain, the United States and Canada. His Excellency the Governor-General will, it is expected, grace the occasion with his presence and take part as he has done the past two years in the foursome matches. In these matches Lord Willingdon paired with Mr. C. A. Bogert won in 1928 and tied in 1929.

The following is the official programme of this most interesting and outstanding tournament:—

Monday, September 1: Round of 18 holes, medal play, starting at 9.00 a.m.; putting competition.

Tuesday, September 2: Second round of 18 holes, medal play, starting at 9 a.m.; putting competition.

Tuesday evening, September 2: Annual meeting of the association at 6 at the Toronto Golf Club.

Wednesday, September 3: Foursome competition, 18 holes, competitors to arrange their own partners in this event: triangular match between the British, United States and Canadian Seniors' teams (foursomes).

Wednesday evening: The thirteenth annual dinner at the Toronto Golf Club at 7.30.

Thursday, September 4: Driving, approaching and putting competitions for Canadian Seniors; triangular match between the British, United States and Canadian Seniors' teams (singles).

Friday, September 5: International match for the Duke of Devonshire Cup; United States Seniors vs. Canadian Seniors.

Saturday morning, September 6: Individual championships for cup presented by the United States Seniors' Golf Association.

The list of special trophies follows:—

The Passing of Mr. F. P. Betts, K.C.

Leading Londoner, Prominent in Legal, Church and Golfing Circles "Plays the Last Game of All" Greatly Mourned and Regretted.

IT is with sincere personal regret that the Editor is called upon to record the passing in London, Ontario, on August 3rd, of Mr. Frederick Pimlott Betts, B.A., K.C., who was called to the Ontario Bar in 1877 and who was senior member of the legal firm of Cronyn and Betts. He was also a member of the Bar of Saskatchewan. In his death Ontario not only loses a very prominent Anglican, Mr. Betts was Chancery of the Diocese of Huron, but golf one of its outstanding pioneers. He was a member of the original small band of golfers who first played the game over thirty years ago on a little course near the Barracks in London. Subsequently he was a leading executive and player of the London Hunt Club, where the Amateur Championship of Canada was played this month. Golf in Ontario owes much to Mr. Betts, who was associated in the game with the late Sir George Gibbons, the late Mr. George Brown, the late Dr. McDonald, the late Colonel Peters and other outstanding Londoners of former years. He always spent his summers at Murray Bay, Que., and played golf there a great deal with the former president and chief justice of the United States, Mr. W. H. Taft, who, too, spent his summer holidays for many years at that well known summer resort. Mr. Betts was a charter member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association. He was quite an authority on the game and was also a golf writer of note and on more than one occasion contributed to the columns of the "Canadian Golfer".

He was also a keen fisherman and curler, but golf occupied the premier place in his hours of recreation.

For many years Mr. Betts, who was born in Stourbridge, Worcester, England, a son of H. A. Betts, F.R.C.S., had carried on his legal practice in London in connection with the firm of Cronyn & Betts, with offices in London and Windsor. He was solicitor for the Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation, for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Anglican Synod of Huron, Canada Trust Company and R. G. Dun & Co. He was also Chancellor of the Diocese of Huron and a member of the Council of Huron College.

In the legal profession he was highly regarded by his colleagues throughout the district and was a former president of the Middlesex Bar Association. He was particularly widely known on account of his extensive legal writings for the Canadian and English legal journals.

Mr. Betts in early life had military experience, serving with the university company of the Queen's Own Rifles in 1871 and 1874.

To the bereaved widow, a daughter of the late Verschoyle Cronyn, K.C., and the surviving children, Mrs. E. A. Seely-Smith, wife of Lieut.-Col. Seely-Smith, formerly officer commanding the Royal Canadian Rifles, of London; Mrs. Leslie D. Lilly, of Calgary, Alta., wife of L. D. Lilly, of the firm of Lilly, Brewster, Cross &

Morkill, and Ald. Major F. C. Betts, of Cronyn & Betts, London, the sincere sympathy of friends not only in London but throughout the Province will go out, in which sentiment the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" begs leave to be associated.

An outstanding legal light, churchman and courtly gentleman has been called to his reward and the city of his adoption and Ontario is all the poorer for his passing.

Formal Opening of Port Colborne Course

Progressive Ontario Town Has Very Interesting Links Which Places it on the Golfing Map.

THE Port Colborne Country Club's new nine-hole golf course on highway No. 3, about three miles west of Port Colborne, with its comfortable and commodious club house, was officially opened on Civic Holiday, August 4th, by E. P. Murphy, president of the club, before a large crowd of members, and their friends, numbering about 200.

The president, in declaring the course officially open, outlined briefly the history of the organization of the club and the building of the course and expressed the wish that the club members avail themselves to the fullest extent of the club privileges.

Following the opening, a large gallery followed the first match played on the course of the club, a foursome between Major J. Ivan McSloy, of St. Catharines, who replaced George Cumming, of Toronto Golf Club, the designer of the course, Arthur Keeling, professional of the Lookout Point Club, Frank Murchie, professional at the Cherry Hill Club, and W. T. Cunningham, professional of the St. Catharines Club.

The four played twice around the nine-hole course and expressed delight at the condition of the course. The players experienced a little difficulty in sinking their putts on the green, the greens being still a little rough.

On the drives from the tee and along the fairways, the players found only one hazard which caused them much difficulty, it being the large tree in the line of the drive from the tee to the fourth hole. Some of the players had trouble getting around this tree. The low card was turned in by Murchie with a 79 for the 18 holes.

The gaily decorated dresses of the ladies, and the sport clothes of the men, all on a background of vivid green grass, made a colourful and lovely picture as they followed the golfers around the course. Any especially good shot was greeted with applause, and these were quite frequent. At the end of the first round many of the gallery deserted the course for the comforts of the club house and afternoon tea was enjoyed on the lawn.

At the conclusion of the exhibition match, some of the enthusiasts started out, and for the remainder of the afternoon and early evening the course was always occupied. It was a considerable change from the temporary six holes which had been in use for the past couple of months to be able to play on smooth greens and good fairways. The golfers apparently appreciated the change and took full advantage of it.

It was a gala day for the directors of the club, who had spent long months of labour to fulfil their offices and be worthy of the confidence which the shareholders have placed in them. The club is now away to an auspicious start, which is only an augury of better things to come.

Many of the members, following the opening match, took the opportunity to play nine or 18 holes and the course was a busy place until late in the evening.

An inspection of the club house, which was the farm residence before the land was bought by the club, showed that much work has been done in making it comfortable. It has been tastefully decorated and locker and shower rooms installed, while card rooms and lunch counter are also included.

Although Port Colborne, the latest progressive town in Ontario to provide a course for its citizens and visitors, has a most interesting golf property which is bound to be a great boon to the town. The "Canadian Golfer" extends hearty congratulations to Mr. Murphy and his able executive on launching such a desirable undertaking.

Quebec Wins Willingdon Cup

Defeats Teams from Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan in the Inter-Provincial Match at the Royal York Club

DEPARTING from the usual custom of holding the Inter-Provincial Championship in the city where the Canadian Amateur is staged (London this year) the Royal Canadian Golf Association chose the Royal York course for the competition. There is no question about the wisdom of the selection of the venue for the match. The Royal York layout is unquestionably not only one of the finest in the Toronto District, but in the whole of Canada and the Inter-Provincial competitors from Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan certainly had no reason to complain of greens or fairways.

Last year at Jasper, British Columbia, runner-up to Ontario and only two points behind, and Alberta were also represented. Unfortunately they were not at Toronto and the event therefore lost much of its interest. Ross Somerville, too, was an absentee. Without him the Ontario team was greatly weakened and with Jaek Cameron playing for Quebec instead of Ontario as formerly, it was not surprising that the Quebec quartette won the coveted Governor-General's Trophy. The scores, which were quite high, were:—Quebec, 634; Ontario, 644; Manitoba, 660; Saskatchewan, 677. Cameron, for Quebec, with 74-73—147, was the only player who showed any particular class. He was largely responsible for the victory of his team. Quebec last won the trophy in 1927. Ontario was the winner in 1928 and 1929. The match has been played for 29 times. Ontario has now 15 victories to its credit, Quebec 13, and Manitoba 1. Western teams have competed on 3 occasions only.

At the half-way mark Ontario was leading by 10 points but in the afternoon Cameron put on a 73, Jaques a 78, Gordon Taylor a 78 and C. C. Fraser, the captain, an 81, and that was too much for Carrick (captain) and his team, Nash the young Ontario champion, being the only one to break into the seventies on the second round. The scores:—

Visiting Toronto Courses

(By John Quail, Secretary National Association of Greenkeepers of America)

WHILE attending the Executive Committee meeting in Toronto, it was our pleasure to be able to visit several of the golf clubs in and about Toronto. The Toronto boys had a schedule worked out whereby we could cover the most ground in the least time and spend a few enjoyable minutes on each course.

Scarboro

Arriving in Toronto about noon on Sunday, and after a very enjoyable dinner, we were taken to the Scarboro Country Club where J. T. Anderson is the greenkeeper. Here we received our first surprise of many that were in store for us. The course is very picturesque and the natural setting of the greens in the woods make it a very pretty course. A creek running through the course makes a natural hazard and like all Toronto courses, there are many evergreens to add to the beauty. The course, was well kept and shows the results of the labour it requires to keep a course in good condition.

Cedarbrook

We next walked over to Cedarbrook Club which almost adjoins the Scarboro links. It is a new course and is not fully constructed yet but good headway is being made. The greens are planted with Washington Bent; good results are being obtained. As the name of club implies, the course is made a beautiful place by the wonderful cedar trees and the brook running through the course. Some of the greens are inclined to look a little artificial but when completed they will assume a more natural appearance.

Toronto Golf

On Monday, after the first session of the Executive Committee, we travelled to the Toronto Golf Club, where William J. Sansom keeps the course of the oldest club in Toronto. It is truly a championship course and is well designed and built. They have a problem there as the topsoil is very sandy and they have many difficulties keeping the greens moist and also in holding the fertilizer in the soil as it leaches down through it very rapidly.

After a very enjoyable trek over the course we were entertained and tendered a hearty meal in the luxurious club house. Mr. Armitage, the manager, and George Cumming, the pro, along with Mr. Sansom were our very genial hosts. The chairman of the greens committee, whose name I can't recall, welcomed us and expressed his pleasure in having the greenkeepers from the States visit his course. The drive into the club house is lined with large pine trees and there are an abundance of evergreens all through the course. The grounds were well kept and the course speaks for itself and the ability of Mr. Sansom.

Lakeview

We next moved over to Lakeview Club which is not far from the Toronto Club. H. Hawkins, the greenkeeper, showed us around his course and explained the various items of interest. He has a very fine course and his greens are very good. He explained how the sandy soil causes the fertilizer to leach away and showed graphic charts of the change in acidity in a short time. He is mixing peat moss and clay in his compost to secure the desired results and his greens show that he is on the right track. From his course you look out over Lake Ontario and the view is very wonderful.

Mississauga

As we had quite a few more clubs on our visiting list we had to leave Lakeview and be on our way to the Mississauga Club, where we were met with a sight that you will find in no other place. The club house and part of the course are situated on top of a plateau and the remainder of the course is in a valley traversed by two streams. To stand by the club house and look out over the valley, is truly a wonderful sight.

Joseph Stanfield, the greenkeeper, has a problem that is faced by few other greenkeepers. In the spring the floods carry ice down stream and cause the water to back up and completely inundate the lower part of the course. At times there is ten feet of water covering several greens. You can imagine the work he has in the spring to remove the muck and debris that washes down over his course in the freshet. Another interesting thing was the native bent green which is a thing of beauty. It was originally part of the fairway and was cut down to putting green length and is now a wonderful green.

Islington

From Mississauga we went to Islington where we again looked over some very fine holes. All the courses we visited were in the pink of condition and were very well kept. The trees and natural beauty add much to the Canadian courses.

Royal York

Dad Lloyd, the affable greenkeeper of Rosedale Club, acted as pace-maker and marshall for the excursion again hurried us along and we visited the Royal York course. This course is owned by the Canadian Pacific Railroad and is a fairly new course. Nevertheless we found it in fine condition for the age of it and after resting in the club house a few minutes we proceeded to inspect several holes.

Mr. Hamm, the greenkeeper, showed us around and entertained us for quite a while and we would have been perfectly willing to spend a lot more time there had not our pace-maker pushed us along with the news that there were some more courses to look over. Before departing, Mr. Hamm had signed an application blank for membership in the association and we were all glad to welcome such a fine man and greenkeeper into the fraternity.

Lambton

Our last stop for the day was scheduled at Lambton Club, where Mr. Wm. Kirby is in charge. After renewing old acquaintances, we were taken over his course, which is a very fine one. Again the natural beauty took our attention and mingled with some fine architectural work it was a treat to look over these courses.

After a short rest which we all enjoyed and needed we moved on to the Old Mill where the Toronto greenkeepers were our hosts at a fine dinner and an enjoyable evening. We were entertained most royally and after several speeches and short talks by both greenkeepers and representatives of the City of Toronto we made our way home to a good night's rest with the promise of more for to-morrow.

Rosedale

On Tuesday, after the main session of the meeting, we were told we would again have to be on the road to visit the club of our old friend, "Smiling Dad" Lloyd, of the Rosedale Club. After a most enjoyable ride through the residential and park sections of Toronto we arrived at the Rosedale Club where we surely did enjoy ourselves. The hospitality of the manager of the club and Mr. Lloyd was unbounded. We sat on the veranda and looked out over the valley where the course is situated and marvelled at the beauty and grandeur of it all.

Lloyd's course was in wonderful condition and the shrubbery and flowers were the work of a master. Mr. Lloyd then took us down to his home where we again enjoyed his hospitality and sat under the stately old pines and talked over our wonderful trip.

Alberta Ladies' Annual Championship

Mrs. Roy Horne, of Edmonton, Stars Both in Medal and Match Play. Mrs. J. T. Gray, of Calgary, Runner-up. Interesting Duel in the Junior Championship Between the Sisters Barnett.

MRS. ROY HORNE, of Edmonton, but formerly of Calgary and Regina, in the Alberta Ladies' Championship held on the fine course of the Bowness Golf Club, Calgary, once again demonstrated that she is the leading lady player of Alberta. She not only won the Qualifying Gold Medal with a sparkling 80 but also won the championship in a most convincing manner for the second year in succession.

Miss Molly Dunsford, the Calgary city champion, was runner-up with a card of 81.

The 16 who qualified for the Alberta Championship included Mrs. Roy Horne, Mrs. Watson, Miss E. Egbert, Edmonton; Mrs. McEwing, Mrs. J. R. Hutcheon, Mrs. D. G. Mackenzie, Mrs. J. Train Gray, Miss Pennyueick, Calgary Golf and Country Club, and Mrs. S. D. Sewall, Mrs. Forbes, Mrs. Hill, Miss Jean MacMillan, Miss R. Eaton, Mrs. R. Hayden, Mrs. D. J. Lucy and Miss Molly Dunsford, Calgary Bowness Club.

All those who turned in cards of 103 or better entered the championship proper.

Forty players made entry for the championship, of which 38 participated. Ideal weather favoured the golfers, while the course was never in better condition.

The play-down at match play witnessed many well fought out games.

The results:—

First Round—

Mrs. Roy Horne, Edmonton, defeated Mrs. J. D. Sewell, Bowness, 7 and 6.

Mrs. A. McEwin, Calgary, defeated Mrs. Forbes, Bowness, 6 and 5.

Mrs. J. R. Hutcheon, Calgary C.C., defeated Mrs. H. B. Hill, Bowness, 2 and 1.

Mrs. D. G. MacKenzie, Calgary C.C., defeated Mrs. Watson, Edmonton, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Gray, Calgary C.C., defeated Miss Jean MacMillan, Bowness, 4 and 3.

Miss R. Eaton, Bowness, defeated Mrs. R. Hayden, Bowness, 6 and 5.

Miss E. Egbert, Edmonton, defeated Miss Pennyueick, Bowness, 4 and 3.

Miss Molly Dunsford, defeated Mrs. A. McEwing, Calgary C.C., 6 and 5.

Second Round—

DRIVES FURTHER= PUTTS BETTER= LASTS LONGER

At last—the “Super” Ball that golfers have wanted for years—the 1930 Super-“Harlequin”! The cover is specially “tempered” to resist injury, however badly a shot is topped, and even the hottest sun cannot affect it. Yet for true flight, distance and sweet “crack” off the clubhead it is unequalled by any ball made. Vastly improves your putting, too. PROVE it on your next round. Miss Molly Dunsford, Bowness, defeated Miss E. Egbert, Edmonton, 6 and 5. Semi-finals—

Mrs. Horne defeated Mrs. J. R. Hutcheon, 9 and 7.

Mrs. J. T. Gray defeated Miss Molly Dunsford, on the 19th green.

Final—Mrs. Horne defeated Mrs. Gray, 8 and 6.

It will be noticed that Mrs. Horne won all her matches decisively. The final was a 36-hole match and the champion took the measure of Mrs. J. Train Gray by an 8 and 6 margin. Mrs. Gray in the semi-finals had a particularly hard tussle with Miss Molly Dunsford, only winning out by 1 up on the extra 19th hole. Mrs. Horne has many Western Championships to her credit and it is a pity that she does not enter for the Canadian Ladies' Open and Close Championships. On her Western form she should go far in both these major championships.

In the Junior Championship the two daughters of Mr. Percy Barnett, manager of the Bowness Club and Alberta's foremost cricketer, staged a sensational 36-hole match when Miss Muriel won out from Miss Kathleen on the 37th green. The latter made a gallant, but unsuccessful effort to cop the honours from her older sister. She was four down on the first eighteen, but was only one down at the end of the 27th. She won three of the last nine holes, including the 36th to force the game into an extra hole, before admitting defeat. The girls played very fine golf and both will be heard from in years to come, as they have a thorough knowledge of the game and are particularly good in driving and putting.

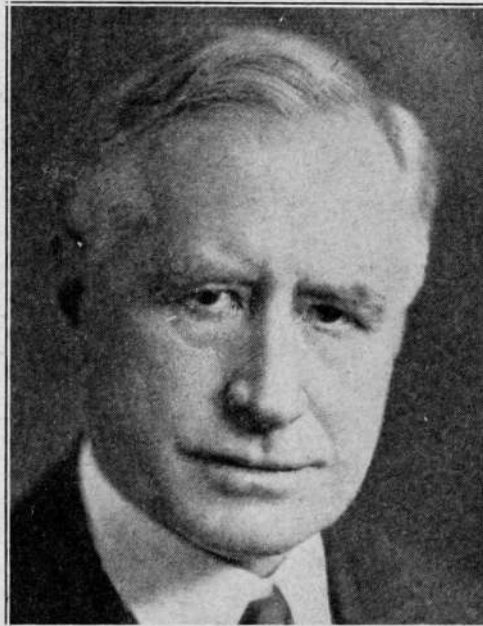

Officials in charge of this thoroughly successful and interesting championship were:—

Miss Mary L. Patrick, Bowness Club, president; Mrs. J. A. McKinnon, Edmonton Country Club, vice-president; Miss E. M. Pennyueick, Calgary Golf and Country Club, secretary-treasurer; Miss M. Mountfield, Mrs. J. T.

Mr. Albert R. Gates, Business Administrator for U. S. Professionals

A particularly interesting visitor to the Canadian Open Championship at Ancaster last month was Mr. Albert R. Gates, Chicago, who was recently appointed Business Administrator to the Professional Golfers' Association of America which now numbers some 3000 members. Mr. Gates is a lawyer by profession and for many years has occupied a very prominent position indeed in legal and golf circles in Chicago. He more or less occupies the same position in professional golf in the United States to-day as Judge Landis does in professional baseball. He has the interests and welfare of all American pros very much at heart, and his advice and counsel will be simply invaluable. Mr. Gates is of the opinion that the Canadian professionals and assistants who now number over 300 would also be well advised to appoint an administrator acting in conjunction with the Canadian Professional Golf Association, although of course the field in Canada is to a more or less extent limited as compared with the States. Sooner or later action might well be taken by the C.P.G.A. In the meantime it is interesting to note that the Association is considering the appointment of a paid Secretary, which Mr. Gates writes the "Canadian Golfer" he considers is an initial step in the right direction.

Mr. Albert R. Gates, Chicago, business administrator of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Mr. Gates is of pioneer American stock, the first of the American branch of the Gates family, having settled at Hingham, Mass., in 1638. Mr. Gates was born in Illinois, Nov. 29, 1869. He is a graduate of Lake Forest university law school. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1895 and to Supreme Court of the U.S. in 1898. His office as corporation counsel has been in the Title and Trust Bldg., Chicago, for 37 years. The new pro administrator is a director of three banks in Chicago and vicinity.

Mr. Gates is a veteran in golf circles, having been president of the Calumet C. C. (Chicago district) in 1905-6, secretary of the Western Golf Association in 1906 and its president in 1907-1908 and 1921-22. His administrations of the Western were featured by progressive policies. One of the occurrences of a Gates' administration was the first legalization of the steel shaft.

Skokie C. C. (Chicago district) is the home club of the new pro executive. He is an active golfer, a big game hunter and fisherman, but above and beyond all that a charming, clear-cut American gentleman of the very highest type.

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Overseas Dominions

Mr. L. S. Houghton, secretary of the Regina Golf Club, writes:—

"We are having a very fine season in Regina. Our course is now in better condition than for the last four years, with 15 fine creeping bent greens, and 3 grass greens in play together with a practice and putting green.

Within the next year or two we shall have an addition to our golf courses in Regina, in the form of a municipal course. This course was laid out by Mr. Stanley Thompson, who pronounced the natural conditions perfect for such an undertaking. It is situated on city property about 8 miles from town in the district where the city's water supply is obtained. Water will be piped to every green, and facilities for watering all fairways, something most clubs in this part of the country have been unable to afford to do.

We have accommodated a number of conventions at our course this year, and visitors from the East, and the States comment favourably on our layout. Come and see us some time."

The Montreal members of Rotary and Kiwanis to the number of over 100 competed for the Irving Rexford Cup at Islesmere Golf Club, Montreal. Rotary were the victors. A cable from Le Touquet, France:

"Allen Gault wore a rather frightened air most of to-day, for he began it by threatening to manhandle the Prince of Wales.

"Gault, groundkeeper for a new golf course which has not been opened to the public, failed to recognize the heir to the British throne when appearing with his party for a round of golf. He promptly ordered the Prince off the grounds.

"The Prince stubbornly refused. He said he had received permission to play the new course. Gault grew more determined. He threatened to assist the Prince from the grounds if he did not leave at once.

"In the midst of his demands, Gault recognized the Prince and almost collapsed from the shock. He began a lengthy series of excited apologies, but the Prince stopped him with a laugh, and a word of praise for his sense of duty."

She returned a gross card of 78, only two strokes over ladies' par, to lead her nearest rival, Miss Eileen Kinsella, Senneville, by seven strokes. The Quebec Branch official carded a score of 85, while Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, who regained the Provincial crown out at Royal Montreal last month, had to be content with third best gross in the silver division. She had an 86.

Miss Lucille Rolland, Laval-sur-le-Lac, tied with Mrs. George Stanley, Royal Ottawa, for the low nett prize in the silver division. The little Montreal star had a card of 42-49-91-78, while the out-of-town representative had 48-45-93-78. The Quebec Branch officials decided that owing to the tie prizes would be awarded to each of the players.

It was left to the bronze division players to return the lowest nett cards. Miss J. Davidson, Summerlea, and Mrs. L. Clegg, Whitlock, were the fortunate players with scores of 47-50-97-72 and 45-50-95-73 respectively.

Mrs. Garth Thomson, of Montreal, the newly appointed hon. secretary of the Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association, writes the Editor:—

"Naturally we expect a record meeting at our Senior Tournament at Lambton, Sept. 30-Oct. 2. It happens to be the first one held at Lambton since the inception of the Senior Association there nine years ago. Eleven women headed by the energetic and far-seeing 'Billy' Mussen, gathered for the first impromptu Senior meeting. Like the proverbial snowball our ranks have grown till we are now close on two hundred strong."

Halifax Chronicle, Aug. 15th:—

"Mrs. Nellie Woodbury, Gorsebrook, broke into the Mercury Mills prize list with a vengeance yesterday. Seeking a prize for a birdie two on any hole over 140 yards in length, Mrs. Woodbury shot the 147 yard fourth in 2 and the 185 yard 10th hole in two. Not a bad showing on the same card."

In the account of the play-off between Armour and Diegel for the Open Championship of Canada on page 296 it is stated that the R.C.G.A.

very kindly awarded the gate money after expenses, two-thirds to the winner and one-third to the loser. This is an error. The division was "fifty-fifty".
