

"When Father Wins His Game"

When Father wins his game,
There is an atmosphere
Around our table spread,
That radiates good cheer.
He simply beams with pride,
He boasts about his golf,
And on his face there dwells
That smile that won't come off.

The soup he says is good,
The roast is simply great,
The pie is just the kind
That Mother used to make.
And after coffee, he Describes in casual way,
Of how he beat old Briggs,
Three up and two to play.

Before it's time for bed,
He's told us every shot,
And dwells delightedly
On his prodigious swat.
We listen with respect,
Tho' fearfully fed up,
Yet registering joy
To hear of Father's luck.

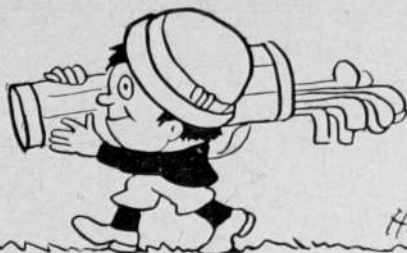

For oft on other nights,
We could recall too well,
When Father had been trimm'd
His game all shot to hell.
When he would sit in gloom,
While Mother sat in fear,
And all the rest would squirm
Beneath his frown severe

'Tis then the cook would get
The deuce, to her chagrin,
And we all caught it too,
For lack of discipline,
When nothing functioned right,
It really seemed a shame,
The world, in fact, seemed doomed
When Father lost his game.

You cannot wonder, then
Devotedly we pray,
That Father strikes a dub
When he goes out to play.
This may not seem true sport,
But really just the same,
His family prefer—
That Father wins his game.

To The Caddies After Their Annual Tournament

(W. Hastings Webling)

To-day you played the grand old game
All on your own in search of fame,
And felt the glorious delight
Of surging forward in the fight;
And in the contest, all supreme,
You realized that courage keen
Was needed and you did your best
To grit your teeth and stand the test
With hopes inspired to carry far
That you some day might be a star.

Should this be so and you decide
To follow thro' with honest pride,
Remember clean your life must be
And treat all with civility.
Tho' now you're but a caddie small
Mark well the flight of farthest ball
And in your master's game take part
By helping hand and eager heart;
Don't talk too much or idly jest,
And study those who play the best.

Remember that from lads like you
Have risen stars both old and new;
The Vardons, Rays and Hagens great
Once followed in their master's wake;
Each carried far their master's bag,
Have watched the ball and tended flag,
All keen in their respective way
To learn the ancient game to play.
Their aims were high, their heads kept down
Till each achieved a champion's crown.
So Bill, and Red and Muskoski,

Whate'er your race or creed may be;
There's nought to stop your great career
If hopes are honest, aims sincere,
Play when you can and try to do
The very best that's born in you.
Hitch high your wagon to a star
Not satisfied with less than par;
So here's good luck, work hard and then
You yet may rise like Sarazen.

(Note: Nearly all the principal Clubs the past few weeks have been holding Caddie Tournaments in which the competition has been of the keenest description).

Canada and the Visiting British Team and the Walker Cup

The Editor is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. B. L. Anderson, the Secretary-Treasurer of The Royal Canadian Golf Association:—

“The question is frequently asked why we did not get the British Golf Team which visited the United States to come to Canada. I would like to say in this connection that an invitation was addressed to Mr. Robert Harris, who accompanied the Team, and some correspondence was passed on the subject, and on September 6th we received a letter from Mr. Harris stating, definitely, that it was not possible for the Team to accept our invitation. Mr. Harris and the Team felt that this was a journey they ought to make and they regretted very much that they could not visit the Dominion as a British Team—their chief difficulty being lack of time—and he hoped the occasion might soon arise when the British Team might visit us.

Another question which has been asked is why we did not send a team to compete in the Walker Cup. In this connection I may say that we were not invited to compete and that the British Team was the only team which was invited to compete for the Cup this year. I believe some discussion has taken place in regard to the conditions for this competition and that they may be changed after a year or so. If a Canadian Team is invited to compete for this Cup, I have not the slightest idea but the R.C.G.A. would consider favorably sending a team.”

All Canadian golfers will understand, on a somewhat hurried trip in an effort to “lift” the Walker Cup, Mr. Harris and the members of his team found it impossible to play in this country, but next year it is to be sincerely hoped that they will be able to spare a week or so at least to visit us. They can rest assured they will be accorded the heartiest kind of a welcome.

In reference to the Walker Cup. There is no reason at all why the Dominion in the future should not be represented in this Competition and there is no reason at all why our players should not give a good account of themselves. Canada can select eight players to-day able to provide even the expert Amateurs of the U. S. with an argument, difficult as is unquestionably that task, as the Britishers found out last month. It will be remembered that they were defeated 8 events to 4, although they had the valid excuse that their team was badly crippled by the absence of the Amateur Champion, Holderness, and two or three other expert and seasoned players.

Champions of 1921 are all Thrust into the Discard

The United States Women's National was the last of the major events of 1922 and the result is that not a Champion of 1921 has retained his or her honours. In Great Britain in the Open, Walter Hagen replaces Jock Hutchison. In the Amateur, Mr. W. E. Holderness replaces Mr. W. I. Hunter. In the United States in the Open, Gene Sarazen takes the place of James Barnes and in the Amateur Jesse Sweetser that of Jesse Guilford. In Canada in the Open, "Al" Watrous displaces W. E. Trovinger and in the Amateur, Mr. C. C. Fraser replaces Mr. Frank Thompson. In the United States Professional Championship, Gene Sarazen replaces Walter Hagen. All the 1921 Lady Champions have also been sent into the discard, Miss Joyce Wethered in the English Open defeating Miss Cecil Leitch and now Mrs. Gavin and Miss Collett respectively capturing the Canadian and United States Championships, replacing Miss Cecil Leitch (who did not defend her title) and Miss Marion Hollins. The only player in 1922 to repeat in a big event is Abe Mitchell, who won the Thousand Guinea Tournament at Gleneagles in 1921 and again this year. It has been the biggest season of upsets ever recorded. As a result of these major events, the young professional, Gene Sarazen, must be proclaimed the Champion golfer of the year. His winning of the United States Open and also the United States Professional Golf Association Championship entitles him to this honour, demonstrating that he is a past master both in match and medal play. By winning the British Open, Walter Hagen must be placed second.

HOW HE WON THE CHAMPIONSHIP

"Pea Soup and a Roast Beef Sandwich" the Noon-time Diet of Sweetser.

AND here is the proper menu for golfers if they want to win championships, vide the breezy account of the recent complimentary dinner to Mr. Jesse Sweetser, the U.S. title holder, by Mr. George Trevor in the Brooklyn "Eagle"—

"Too bad Jesse Sweetser isn't enrolled among the students in the Yale Divinity School. For if Jess were only a clergyman he would right now be an honorary member for life of the Siwanoy Country Club. As it is, Jesse cannot avail himself of this honor, bestowed upon him by the Siwanoy Board of Directors at the testimonial dinner Saturday night, until the Club constitution is amended. At present only wearers of the cloth are eligible to honorary life membership at Siwanoy. The entire Sweetser family attended the banquet given in Jesse's honor at the Siwanoy Country Club on Saturday evening. The big surprise of the party was the presentation of a silver-mounted photograph to the champion's mother. Mrs. Sweetser responded to the toast-master with a very gracious speech, in which she recounted Jesse's early career as a golfer. It appears that the champ. just could not keep his hands off a mashie, even at the tender age of 8. Amid the tumultuous acclamation of the "whole gang," Jesse blushing arose and rehearsed his part in winning the title. He drew a hearty laugh when he described how his noon-time diet had been restricted scrupulously to pea soup and a roast beef sandwich throughout the entire week of play, after he had found that combination highly efficacious in subduing Willie Hunter. Jesse intimated that the match with Guilford was his most rigorous test, and admitted that he was rather thankful for that stymie on the 15th green."

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered).

A particularly interesting 4-ball match last month at Philadelphia was that between Taylor and Herd and Duncan and Mitchell. The "youngsters" defeated the "veterans" 3 and 2. Duncan and Mitchell had a best ball of 67 and Taylor and Herd 72.

In writing Mr. Presbrey, President of the U.S. Seniors' Golf Association, regretfully declining to take part in the Tournament at Apawamis last month, President Harding concludes an interesting letter:—

"I have spent a very long and hot summer here in Washington with substantially nothing to do but work and at rather uncertain intervals play a round of golf; and as the season nears its end I am able to congratulate myself on the fact that the golf has contributed a good deal to my comfort and condition. I am more than ever convinced that the Seniors' Golf Association has precisely the right idea."

At a recent meeting the Royal and Ancient decided to institute a plan of national handicapping of players. Next year only golfers nationally handicapped will be allowed to compete in the British Amateur Championship. The Chairman of the Championship Committee, Mr. William Boas, in reporting on the new decisions respecting the Amateur status which have been approved by the United States Committee said that the Committee was determined that the Amateur status should include only real amateurs.

In this issue will be found the first of a series of articles by Mr. Innis Brown, Managing Editor of "The American Golfer," under the title "Tee-Box Tales." Mr. Brown is to-day the acknowledged authority on golf in America. His mind is a filing cabinet of both record and incident and he wields a trenchant pen. The "Canadian Golfer" is confident that its readers from Coast to Coast will the coming months peruse with absorbing interest these "Tee-Box Tales." They will alone be found worth the subscription price of the Magazine.

"Sandy" Herd, who recently toured Canada and the States, has the honour of having tutored the Prince of Wales, the new Captain of the Royal and Ancient in golf. The ball with which the Prince "played himself in" at St. Andrews the other day will be reproduced in gold. It will then be hung on one of the historic clubs which have up to the present boasted only of one gold trophy amongst the scores of silver ones. The last gold ball to be added was attached fifty-nine years ago, in honour of King Edward's captaincy when he was Prince of Wales. It has rarely happened that a ball has been damaged with the ceremonial drive, but it is recorded that on one occasion the ball was split in halves.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin can certainly look back upon the season of 1922 with a good deal of satisfaction. In addition to winning the Canadian Championship and being Runner-up in the U.S. Open, she was also in the finals for the French Ladies' Championship, the winner of which event was Miss Gladys Bastin of Crowborough. A Championship and two "Runner-ups" is a very fine record indeed and stamps Mrs. Gavin as one of the world's finest women players.

A despatch from New York, September 28th:

"David Bancroft, shortstop of the New York Giants baseball team, called at the White House to-day to pay his respects to the President and to invite him to the World's Series games in New York between the Giants and Kilties. President Harding expressed great regret that he had to decline the invitation. Secretary of State Hughes called while Bancroft was at the White House, and posed for photographs with Bancroft. The Secretary of State was also forced to decline an invitation to witness the games, and for the same reason—pressure of business here. Bancroft's visit, however, aroused the sporting blood of both the President and his Secretary of State, Mr. Harding prevailing upon Mr. Hughes to knock off work for the day and join him in a golf match in which Ambassador Myron T. Herrick also participated."

The 1922 season has certainly been fatal to the champions of 1921. There is not one of them left "to tell the tale." In the States especially, youth has asserted its supremacy. Three or four years ago, Sweetser, the Amateur Champion; Miss Collett, the Lady Champion and Sarazen, the Open and Professional Champion were absolutely unheard of. Their united ages hardly equal some of the noted veterans, professional and amateur alike, who for so long held the stage and who are still playing great golf, but not "quite good enough golf" in Canada, Great Britain and the United States. Golf to-day from a Championship standpoint would seem to be the golden age of players barely out of their 'teens.

A correspondent in India writes:—

"That feathered gamin, the ubiquitous crow of India, will sometimes interfere in a game of golf, apparently mistaking a rolling ball for a curiously active egg and carrying it off to a distant tree to crack it. No doubt the crow knows that the lizards, which make their burrows in the dry golf links of the Indian plains, lay round white eggs that are good to eat. The same lizards are more directly responsible for other hazards not contemplated in the rules of golf, because not only are the balls liable to become "lost" by rolling into burrows, but occasionally also the lizard, seeing one slowly passing, will rush out and carry it in himself. Yet another wild creature sometimes adds to the interest of golf as played up-country in India, where it is always wise, after holing your ball, to peep in and see that there is no scorpion there before taking it out."

That well-known United States golfing authority, Grantland Rice, does not believe like so many British pessimists, that American amateur golf is so much superior to the British brand. In a survey of the recent visit of the British team to the States, he states, "Great Britain's sole deficiency at golf is on the greens." The British golfers, as a body, more than held their own from the tees. On a general average they were longer, straighter hitters. They had a more carefree, slashing style of going for the ball. Even Colin Aylmer, slight of build, was up with any hitter we had except Guilford when it came to length. In the test between Tolley and Guilford there was little advantage either way, but the laurel certainly could not be awarded to the Boston Siege Gun. And then just back of these two came Wethered, hitting a longer ball than either. When Tolley and Wethered are catching them exactly right we should say they are the two longest driving amateurs in golf, and about as long as the greatest hitting pros. When they are hitting the ball they are up with Abe Mitchell, but they are not as consistent as Mitchell. And their swings call for greater physical effort. For all that, it is worth a long trip to see these two step up and soak one over the hills and valleys, taking the longest carry upon any course in the land."

The following resolution was recently sent to Mr. Presbrey, President of the United States Golf Association, New York:—

"That we, the Governors of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, desire to record on the Minutes of the Association, our most cordial appreciation of the great friendliness evinced by the presentation to us, from the United States Seniors' Association, of the handsome trophy which was handed to our President by Mr. Presbrey on the occasion of the Fifth Annual Dinner of the Association at Scarboro, Ont. The Canadian Seniors place additional value on this gift as an evidence that real progress has been made in the object for which this Association was formed and the International Match instituted, that is, the extension and betterment of a feeling of goodwill and esteem between the peoples of our respective countries."

Mr. Presbrey in reply stated how much the resolution was appreciated and that it would be placed among the records of the U.S. Association.

The veterans, J. H. Taylor and "Sandy" Herd, made hosts of friends whilst in Canada who will be delighted to know that in their unostentatious way they also captured the hearts of golfers in the United States. For example, Mr. J. G. Davis, Editor of the "Chicago Golfer," writes:

"The visit of J. H. Taylor and Alec Herd to Chicago was a wonderful education. Here are two portly middle-aged and genial gentlemen who play the game without any fuss or feathers. Not knowing who they were one might judge they were of the sustaining golfer class, who might hit the course around about 84. At Lincoln Park, over fairways kept green by watering, they defeated Laurie Ayton and Jock Hutchison, and a few days later over a sunburned course at Oak Park, they led the same two players up to the 18th hole, where the local team managed to tie. As we stated before, there is nothing striking in the style of the two veterans, but they get there just the same. We saw Taylor stand absolutely flat-footed to make his famous mashie pitches and he seldom failed to get results. Then on the green the same simplicity of action was noticed. They size up the line of putt, step up and hit the ball, a refreshing change from the antics of some players who infest the game with all sorts of terrors."

One of the features of golf in Canada this season has been the "linking" up of business with golf. It is really extraordinary the number of important conventions and meetings all over the country which are followed by competitions among the participants, on the nearest golf course. It is quite the thing now-a-days, amongst financial, manufacturing and other interests, after "round table" discussions, to adjourn to the links and finish up the meeting in a friendly game of golf. Many prominent associations have, as a matter of fact, regularly organized golf committees, which arrange matches between the members and put up handsome cups and trophies for competition. "Big business" to-day recognizes golf as a very important factor in keeping fit and encourages its officials to play the game. September and October are the favorite months apparently, for the holding of such competitions and dozens of them have been held and are being held throughout the Dominion.

In the demise, after a brief illness, of Mr. Edward Douglas Armour, K.C., D.C.L., Toronto and the whole Dominion mourns the loss of a great lawyer and educator and the Toronto Golf Club one of its oldest and most valued members. For upward of thirty years, Mr. Armour had been senior partner in the firm of Armour & Mickle, and during that time had been engaged in many important cases. He was a leading authority on laws relating to real property, wills and trusts, and for several years, up to his retirement in 1909, had lectured on these subjects at the Law Society. He was the author of many books of authority on these branches of law. For ten years he had been a Bencher of the Law Society, and during the greater part of that time had rendered valuable service as Chairman of the Legal Education Committee. Mr. Armour was also interested in letters, and since its formation was a member of the Executive of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, his satirical translations of Horace being among his qualifications for membership in that body. He founded and for 19 years edited the "Canadian Law Times." It was only last month that the "Canadian Golfer" published a charming golfing transcriptus from Book II., 10th Ode of Horace, by this gifted Torontonian whose passing away will be genuinely regretted. His place will of a surety be hard to fill in the legal, social and golfing circles which he so adorned.

"Golfers' Magazine," Chicago:—

"It is the belief of George Ade (the celebrated writer) that it is only a matter of a year or two now before golf will begin to invade the small towns of America, of from 3,000 to 4,000 in population—"and when it does," says George, "look out, for the tide will engulf most of our native population." "There is a big swing in this direction already," he said, "and within a brief period you will find at least a nine-holes golf course laid out in every town, or nearly every town, that can locate forty or fifty acres of virgin soil and that can produce thirty or forty male members subject to the Scottish germ." Mr. Ade is correct in this surmise. Golf is headed toward the small towns, just as it engulfed them in Scotland and England, and the day isn't so far away when there will be 5,000,000 Americans whanging away at the ball."

In Canada, the "small towns" have already taken up with the game. There are dozens of places with a population of 3,000 and less possessing 9-hole courses in the Dominion. In fact, in the West there are villages of 300 population or so with links, the record being held by Lemsford, Saskatchewan, which has only 150 inhabitants.

KINNEAR'S WONDERFUL RECORD

A despatch from Saskatoon, Sask., September 19th, says:—

"William Kinnear, local golf professional, to-day made a hole-in-one on the City Golf Links. This is his second this season and his ninth since he became professional at the local club.

Kinnear is one of the best known professionals in the West. He not only plays good golf but he is also a golf architect of repute and has inventive ability too, above the ordinary. He is one of the principals in the Golf Equipment Co., Ltd. of Saskatoon, manufacturers of the Economy Travelling Sprinklers which are in use on many of the courses of the States and Canada and which are pronounced by greensmen the best sprinkler yet placed on the market. First thing we know Kinnear will be equalling Sandy Herd's world record of 16 holes in one. More power to his golfing elbow!

"TEEING UP WITH OUIMET"

"Few Golf Matches Are Actually Won by the Victor. Most Players Defeat Themselves."

(By Francis Ouimet).

"FEW golf matches are actually won by the victor; most players defeat themselves," remarked a sage of the links to me one evening during the recent Amateur Championship at Brookline. And when you consider the matter from every side, you come to much the same conclusion. What my friend meant was that if golf matches were won par would be wrecked on every such occasion when two players meet. It's the inability of the stars to keep pace with that never deviating score of par which puts them out of the running.

And in nearly every instance putting tells the tale. After nearly every Championship you read that putting won. As a matter of fact, an analysis of most matches proves rather conclusively that poor putting passed the player into the discard. That certainly has been so in Championships since time first gave full recognition to golf. Poor putting has been costly to most of us and a failure to strike our stride on the greens usually tells the tale.

I know that most stars feel fairly certain about their long game. They rarely err on driving and along the fairway. Most trouble comes with the short game, and here putting has the turn. It has been my experience that when I lose or win the result is usually a matter of putting. I figure that I'm good for something like three mistakes to a round and that if I'm getting the breaks, these will be offset on the greens. But if my touch is not there, then I'm done for. And it's about the same with all of us.

Yes, a fellow licks himself. Sarazen didn't defeat Jack Black in the Open. Jack took care of that very nicely by driving out-of-bounds on the seventeenth. But before that his putter had failed, had cost him a stroke here and there. The inability to putt with Jesse Guilford has cost many an opponent a match. Whereas, the failure of Chick Evans in the past may be traced directly to his putting. From 150 yards up to the green "Chick" hasn't a rival in golf. He has long been in a class by himself. But when "Chick" isn't putting, he isn't a contender in a tight match. "Chick" wins his matches when he putts. He defeats himself when he does not.

Figure golf at par and the game grants you two putts to the green. But in every big Championship I've attended, few players who go out ever hit that clip. Those who fail as often keep pace with the winner from tee to green, hole upon hole, but the failure to have the touch on the greens wrecks their hopes. No shot demands such delicate exactness; no shot counts so heavily. You see it time and again in your own rounds just as we see it in title events. Players will reach a green a stroke ahead of others only to half the hole by the inability to play par golf over the smallest part of the course.

The ideal method in golf is therefore to strive to play all holes in par. One who does that may rest assured that in ninety-nine out of a hundred matches he will come home the winner. Jock Hutchison once philosophized on this point at an Open by stating if they gave him rounds of 72 for the course—its par figures—he would be content to quietly loll around the club house and let the world shoot at that mark without having any entry defeat him.

Shoot par, by all means. The regular repetition of bowling one hole after another in par figures wrecks most any opponent. This point was early called to my attention. "Shoot par, Francis," said an experienced golfer to me long years ago, "and you need not fear the results." And in playing that kind of a game one must forget his opponent's strokes. Do not try to outstroke him. Let him play his own game. If he rolls a "birdie" all will come right in the end. To be sure, there are exceptions to this rule. Golfers have run a long string of par figures, only to fall in defeat. But these exceptions prove the plan. And if that method fails, if par defeats you, one might as well admit he has met his master. Just the same, I'm dead certain that a match between the same two men on any other day would bring the par man home a winner. Every golfer at rare intervals has a grand round which breaks par for the course. But it is well not to count on such golf or to figure it as your game. No fellow can keep it up. Furthermore, match play is a different matter. The medallist who cracks par meets different conditions in a tight match. Par is a rare accomplishment in this type of golf.

By all means strive for par. Then you will win your golf matches because your opponent, nine times out of ten, will defeat himself. Most winning golf comes down to this in the end—the loser whipped himself. He has no one to blame except himself, either, as he will realize when he gets his mind busy seeking reasons for his defeat. Trying to beat par, striving for that which is almost impossible, licks most of us. It begets pressing and over-running the cup on the greens. Let the other man do that. Play par and win.

CANADA'S CHAMPION GOLF ENTHUSIAST

Mr. Willoughby Has a Private 9-hole Course in Georgetown Unrivalled in the Dominion. Invitation Tournament Participated in by Leading Amateurs and Professionals of Ontario.

(By W. M. Stuart)

DISCOVERED! The greatest golf enthusiast in Canada! We have all seen, heard and read of golf 'fans,' men who sacrifice much for the grand old game, men who put up with all kinds of trouble, inconvenience and expense in order to chase the "gutta," but what think you of a man who builds his own private course, a course claimed by many masters of the game to be without a peer in Canada, and then, as if that were not enough, invites everybody to come and play on it without money and without price and finally, to wind up his claim to being the greatest living Canadian golf devotee he organizes a Tournament, giving up one day to the pros and the other to amateurs, and donates all the prizes himself. If there are any other competitors for the title of champion golf enthusiasts of the Dominion we are ready to receive them.

The gentleman in question is Mr. J. A. Willoughby of Toronto and Georgetown. Mr. Willoughby is a well-known real estate man of Toronto and a prosperous manufacturer of Georgetown where he is President of the coated paper mills and the steel mill organization. He was born in Georgetown where he went to school and ran through the fields and over the hills where he to-day has his magnificent golf course, and where he extends a hospitality that is unbounded and unrivalled in the wide Dominion and could only be extended by a man of wealth and bigness of heart. Mr. Willoughby is a self-made man. When he ran the hills of Georgetown it was with no thought that some day he might be able to spend sufficient money to develop those fields into the most picturesque and sporty course in the country. But such is the case. And such is the course. And this is the story of the Tournament referred to above—the most unique and remarkable of its kind yet played in Canada.

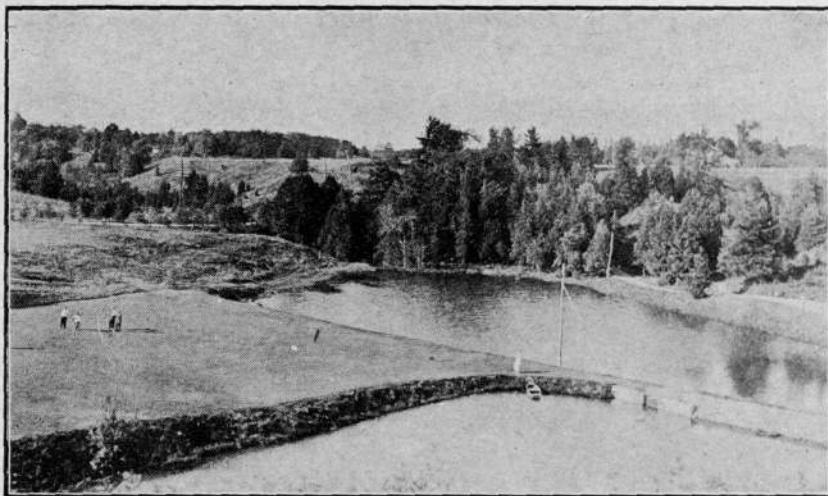

"Personally," said Mr. Willoughby, when talking not too willingly about it, "I am not a good golf player. That is, I am not any Frank Thompson or Charlie Fraser or anything like that." (Incidentally he is far from being a bad one). "But," he added, with a sweep of his hand to indicate the wonderful course surrounding him, "I like the game and I like to see it played and I like to know that other people like to feel the way I do. So I finally hit on the idea, supplemented by some of my good friends in Georgetown, that I would invite the pros and amateurs who desired to come and play over my course and, of course, in order to do it properly, I had to give them something to play for." This is how he describes the money prizes he put up for the pros and the magnificent silver flask, travelling bag and silver cigarette case he donated for the amateurs. "And so," he continued, "we asked all those who cared to, to come and—well, here they are."

There they were and no mistake—27 of the best known pros in the country and almost 70 amateurs, some of them among the best known in the history of the game in Canada.

It would serve no purpose here to go into any detailed explanation of the play either professional or amateur, but it does serve some purpose to state that the unanimous opinion among both pros and amateurs, few of whom had ever seen the course before, was that it was the most wonderful nine-hole course in Canada and several of the pros went further and said in America. Laid out by George Cumming, the well-known Toronto pro, the course is more on the lines of the Old Country courses than is found, generally speaking, on this side of the water. It is not an easy course, although the greens are truly magnificent and the fairways a delight—a real bad lie after a well played shot being something rare, but it is a course where every bad shot is paid for—and that is golf. It is safe to say that the second hole, where one stands on a tee hewn out of solid rock and looks down over a rough gorge and over a forty-yard pond onto a beautiful green 135 yards away, is without a peer in this or any other golfing land. The average player's amazement at discovering such a hole usually ends up the first time in his plunking his ball gently but firmly into the aforementioned pond.

Nicol Thompson of Hamilton and K. Marsh of London led the 36 holes played by the pros on the opening day, Friday, September 29th, with 155 each. George Cummings, who laid the course out, was one stroke behind.

The beautiful second hole on Mr. Willoughby's private course, Georgetown.
The tee can be seen at the upper right of the picture.

Frank Thompson, with a gross 75 net 72, led the amateurs and J. H. Barfoot of Weston and Col. Drew of Guelph were tied for second place with net 73's. Drew won the play-off on the 19th hole. Frank Thompson refused to accept the best gross special prize which was also his by right and this went to R. Cunningham of Humber Valley with a gross 80. Many well-known amateurs, as will be seen from the appended scores were well down the list, testifying to the sporty nature of the course. The feature of the Tournament was the "birdie" three made on the wonderful ninth hole by Frank Thompson. This is a bottle-neck hole of over 400 yards and Thompson's three was the first that has yet been made on it. To those who have seen the hole it is a remarkable feat.

A feature of the Tournament and one that pleased the owner of the course more than anything else was the number of young players who entered and who performed wonderfully well. Also the interest taken in the youngsters by such great players as Frank Thompson, George Lyon, etc. Four youngsters, all under 16 in the persons of Nic Thompson, Jr., son of the well-known pro.; D. Roe of Georgetown; Carroll Stuart of Galt and R. Hazelwood of Georgetown, went round in net scores of 85, 78, 82 and 93.

While, of course, this article is primarily to give the golfing public of Canada an idea that such a wonderful course as owned by Mr. Willoughby exists—and it is open at any time to the general public—it would be amiss to close it without some reference to the fish hatcheries which Mr. Willoughby has installed on his land and where in five ponds he has bred in the past few years over 250,000 beautiful trout. He owns in conjunction with the land on which the golf course is situated, a stretch of four miles of the River Credit and there he sometimes turns when drives go wrong and approaches refuse to stay approached and putts won't sink, to sooth himself with the calmer joys of angling. But he always returns to golf.

Mr. Willoughby has erected on his course a magnificent private residence—in club house style—and there he welcomes his friends as he did on the occasion of the Tournament to this truly royal domain. He has ample land for an additional 9 holes and hopes some day to complete the course. If he ever does, there will be nothing like it in this country. The following are the scores in the amateur games and it will be observed that players were present from as far west as British Columbia and as far east as Montreal.

"TEE BOX TALES"

How the 1922 U.S. Champion Was a Golfing Phenomenon in His Early 'teens.
Jesse Sweetser's Wonderful 69 When a Mere Kid.

(By Innis Brown)

WHEN Jesse Sweetser slashed his way through the big field at Brookline to the National Amateur Golf Championship, he encroached heavily on a prerogative that had somehow been rather generally assigned to Bobby Jones, the brilliant young Atlanta star. This consisted in being regarded as the logical successor of the somewhat older coterie of stars represented by Chick Evans, Francis Ouimet, Robert A. Gardner and Jesse Guilford. For, in spite of his years, or rather shortage of them, Bobby has been playing super-brilliant golf for so long, few anticipated that any other youngster would crowd up past him to snatch the crown from his grasp.

Now, it develops that Sweetser had all along been stealing some of Bobby's stuff, though the theft had been rather fully concealed from the general public. In other words, Jesse has been something of an infant prodigy of the links himself all along, or at least for several years. Jesse was born in Cobb County, Kentucky, but while he was still a wee lad, his family moved to St. Louis. It was there that he started his golfing career.

His father was a member of the Normandie Country Club in the Mound City and the flaxen-haired youngster first began to wield a golf club on the links of that course. By the time he was ten years old, he was doing the course in the 80's. His game picked up as he went along, and at the age of thirteen, he turned in the very remarkable card of 71.

But at that time the Normandie Club wasn't exactly bent on developing future champions, and wasn't very cordial toward the idea of having the course cluttered up with a flock of kids, when the grown-up members wanted to mangle a bit of turf without hindrance. In fact, the club was so much opposed to the idea that a local rule denied admission to junior members in club affairs. As a consequence, the future champion had to waste the fragrance of his skill on the desert air. And while Bobby was leaving galleries in championships agape with his amazing skill, Jesse was doing his act for the restricted audience of some member of the family or possibly a friend or two.

This accounts incidentally for a situation that arose in the first Tournament of any note that he entered around New York. The family had moved on to that city from St. Louis, and Jesse had been bundled off to school at Exeter Academy. Then in the summer of 1919, after he had finished his preparatory work for Yale, he turned up at the Apawamis Club at Rye, New York, to take part in the Westchester County Championship. Few members of the field new of his presence. That is, few knew, when he trooped in around the middle of the afternoon at the finish of the qualifying round. But there was a feverish inquiry as to who he was, when the scorer posted his card and totalled it up for a 69, a new amateur record for the course, and one which still endures.

He was beaten in match play in the first or second round, and as a result arose a situation possibly unparalleled in golf in this country. On the final day of the Tournament, a special medal play handicap of eighteen holes was held. He handed in his name to the Tournament Committee as a starter. Then came the puzzle. He didn't have a handicap in the Metropolitan Association. More than that, he didn't even have a club handicap at the Ardsley Club, from which he entered. The only thing available on which to rate him, was his record-making 69, some two or three strokes under par.

What are you going to do with a fellow who goes out and makes a course look ridiculous? Frankly, the Committee didn't know. Some argued that he ought to be placed at scratch. Others appreciated the ridiculous situation of suddenly discovering a scratch man in the person of a kid heretofore unknown. The problem was finally solved by giving him an allowance of four strokes. And he didn't win the low net with that, in spite of his recent record-making round.

Shortly after the finish of his round, the writer cornered him and launched an effort at gouging a few facts about his previous golfing experiences from him. But it proved a stubborn job. His new honors accruing from his course record, sat lightly on his youthful brow. He regarded golf as a real nice interesting game. But what concerned him most were the chances he might have of winning a place on the Yale track team. And up until the time that he withdrew last winter to accept a job with a New York business firm, he was still devoting his athletic efforts to that end. He has recently entered Yale again. He's the golf champion now. It remains to be seen whether the cinderpath still enjoys his closest allegiance. He says he expects to play golf a little now and then.

LIST OF CANADIAN CHAMPIONS

Manitoba Ladies' Championship, won by Mrs. Harold Hutchings of Winnipeg; Runner-up, Mrs. K. C. Allen of the St. Charles Club, Winnipeg. British Columbia Amateur Championship, won by Mr. Robert Bone of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club. Ladies' Championship, won by Miss Violet Henry-Anderson, Vancouver Golf and Country Club; Runners-up, Mrs. Robert Gelletley and Miss Florence Phepoe.

The 1921 Champions who "repeated" in 1922 were Mr. George S. Lyon, who again won both the Toronto and District and the Canadian Seniors' Championship; Mr. Gerald Meikle, the Maritime Amateur; Mr. H. A. Bruce, the Saskatchewan Amateur; C. R. Murray, the Quebec Professional, and George Cumming, the Toronto and District. The lowest 36 hole score made during the season goes to the credit of Nicol Thompson of Hamilton, who won the Canadian Professional Championship over the Country Club course, with 145, only one stroke back of him being C. R. Murray with 146. In winning the Invitation Tournament at Beaconsfield, Montreal, staged the end of September by the Quebec Provincial Golf Association with 298, Mr. Redvers Mackenzie made the best score for 72 holes ever recorded by an Amateur in a first-class Canadian competition.

PLAYS GOLF IN WINNIPEG

Governor-General Honours the Municipal Course by Taking Part in a Single with Major Fowler

DURING his visit to Winnipeg on the afternoon of Thursday, October 5th, His Excellency Baron Byng of Vimy and the Mayor of Winnipeg, Mr. Frank O. Fowler (a member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association of which Lord Byng is Hon. Patron) played a game of golf over the Municipal Links. A throng of spectators crowded the links, which were closed for play to the general public from 2 to 3 o'clock. Following Baron Byng and the Mayor, the Hon. Robert Rogers and Major Vannier played a single. Other members playing included Capt. the Hon. W. G. H. Joliffe, Dr. A. J. Douglas, Capt. F. W. Erskine and H. J. Symington. Caddies for the party were Messrs. J. Thompson, George Champion, R. Hill and Fred Ferguson.

"HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL"

He felt like sin that he couldn't win,
 No matter how he tried;
 For every game was just the same—
 A puncture to his pride.
 He decided to sell his clubs, but well,
 He knew, all to his sorrow
 He'd need 'em again for another good game
 In a foursome arranged for the morrow.

Lay Up Your Big Car for the Winter

YOU will actually save money by driving a Ford Sedan. Handling a big car in deep mud through snow, on icy roads, is certainly no pleasure—and may prove costly. The extra depreciation and extra wear of tires in hard winter driving will go a long way towards paying for the handier, more comfortable Ford Sedan.

If you already own a large car, buying a Ford Sedan as a second car is sound economy at the low Ford prices.

GOLF IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The Westfield Country Club is Most Charmingly Situated 14 Miles Out by C. P. R. from St. John. Fine New 9-hole Course Just About Completed.

THE Westfield Country Club, situated at Westfield, a popular summer resort 14 miles from St. John, N.B., is this season completing an attractive new 9-hole course 3,100 yards in length, under the superintendence of Mr. W. B. Hatch who is associated with Mr. Donald Ross, the celebrated golf architect of Pinehurst and Boston. The links are beautifully situated amidst high hills overlooking the broad St. John river, while to the North the Douglas Mountains form a beautiful background. In the course of another year or so, Westfield will have easily not only one of the most picturesque but one of the best courses in New Brunswick.

Mr. D. Lorne Pratt, winner of the Club Championship, putting on the third green at Westfield.

Mr. F. W. Robertson of St. John, Treasurer of the Club, writes the "Canadian Golfer" entertainingly of golf and other sports as follows:—

"Our golf links are coming along and improving all the time and when enough of our new course is completed to give us a fairly good 9-hole course we hope some of our friends in Upper Canada will take a trip down this way and look us over. We can offer them fishing, yachting, motor boating or canoeing, all within the immediate vicinity of the village of Westfield. Moose are plentiful only a few miles back of our course and deer are often seen in the early morning sampling the grass on our fairways, in fact, one of our workmen saw a bear a few days ago on the edge of the woods right behind our No. 5 green.

Our location is ideal, and our visitors are always surprised and charmed with the magnificent view of the surrounding country which is obtained from the hills on which our course is laid out.

For many years we were a boating, tennis and social club only, but in 1919 a complete re-organization took place and the present club house was built by popular subscription. In 1920 we became incorporated, the first Board of Directors being composed of Mr. D. W. Ledingham, Mr. Horace C. Grout, Mr. F. N. Robertson, Mr. G. L. Warwick, Mr. W. E. Golding, Mr. F. G. Spencer, Mr. H. F. Rankine and Mr. S. N. Sancton.

Our thoughts then turned to golf and enough land was leased to give us a little five-hole course. We started playing immediately and before the season was half over more than one hundred of our members became interested in the game.

Canadian National Railways

Last year we purchased about 300 acres of land, mostly wooded, and a permanent nine-hole course of 3,100 yards was laid out by Mr. W. B. Hatch. Construction work was started this Spring and Nos. 1, 6 and 7 will be ready for next year. These will work in with our present course and give us a temporary nine-hole course of about 2,400 yards.

We have a membership of 348 of which nearly 200 are golf members. Our dues are $25.00 per year for men, $10.00 for ladies and $5.00 for juniors. Our members are nearly all suburbanites, summering in Westfield for a few months only and on this account our season is very short. An orchestra is in attendance at the club house every Wednesday and Saturday evenings and many pleasant and social events take place there throughout the week.

On August 6th of last year, forest fires swept down on the village and destroyed over sixty buildings. Many of the villagers lost everything they owned, while our President and a great many of our members lost their summer homes, several of them being the show places of the colony. Fortunately no lives were lost. It was a Saturday afternoon and the annual water sports were to be held, and for that reason numerous cars came out from the city. As soon as the danger was realized all cars were pressed into service and the women and children were removed to a place of safety. It was three or four days before all danger to the rest of the district was past.

The Club was very active in relief measures and its members responded most generously to the call for aid from those who had lost their permanent homes. The club house escaped, but the barn, only a short distance away, was burned, also four houses within a stone's throw. One of the two churches was burned and services have been held in the club house ever since.

The fire was a severe set-back to the village, but it is now being rebuilt and with finer homes than before. Building prospects for next year are most encouraging and we look for the most successful season in our history.

The present officers of the Club are as follows:—W. E. Golding, President; Geo. L. Warwick, Vice-President; Lawrence T. Allen, Secretary; F. N. Robertson, Treasurer. Directors, F. J. Likely, D. W. Puddington, F. P. Elkin, H. W. Rising and D. W. Ledingham. The Green and Match Committee is composed of the following gentlemen: J. C. Mitchell, Chairman, P. D. McAvity, D. W. Puddington, D. W. Ledingham and R. E. Crawford, Secretary.

The building of the new course is in the hands of Mr. F. J. Likely, Mr. P. W. Thomson and Mr. E. A. Thomas, Engineer in charge of construction.

Our pro's name is Harry Mealey and several of our junior players are coming along very well under his guidance."

"HOLES-IN-ONE"

Many More Canadian Golfers Join the "Hall of Fame"—Another 15-Year-Older Joins the Ranks of the "One-ers"

ALTHOUGH the season is well-nigh spent, still the golfers of Canada persist in making "Holes-in-One" and incidentally picking up a year's free subscription to the "C. G." Here's the list since the September issue:

Mr. C. J. Jones, B. A., of the firm of Jones & Jones, Barristers and Solicitors of Woodstock has once again put that good New Brunswick town on "the golfing map." But let Mr. Jones tell the tale:—

"Realizing that my subscription to the "Canadian Golfer" must be dangerously near the expiration point, I was fortunate enough to negotiate the eighth hole of the Woodstock course (133 yards) in one on the 6th inst. I was playing with R. L. Daniel, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, while Mr. R. F. Armstrong happened to be at the green at the moment. I enclose a statement signed by these gentlemen verifying the accident. While lightning is not expected to strike twice in the same place, the following evening, playing with G. A. Mears, our pro., I got the sixth hole, (400 yards) in two. I presume I shall not be able to sink a two-foot putt for a year. May I add a word of congratulation to you and the staff for the very excellent magazine which you are turning out. It certainly compares most favorably with any publication of the sort which I have ever seen."

Perhaps hardly needless to say, after such a cordial letter as the above, how the Editor is delighted to credit Mr. Jones with "four of the best" on his subscription account as a result of his prowess.

Then Mr. W. F. Martin, Secretary of the well-known Bowness Golf Club, Calgary, writes under date of October 4th:—

"On receiving the last issue of the "Canadian Golfer," it was brought to my mind that I had failed to inform you that Mr. H. B. Woodhouse of the Donald H. Bain Co., Calgary, a very enthusiastic golfing member of our Club, had earned his place in your hall of fame by playing the 17th hole at Bowness in one stroke. This hole is 194 yards in length and is played over one of the deep ravines for which our course is justly famous. Mr. W. Shewell Morris, playing in the foursome at the time this feat was accomplished, had also holed out here in one stroke just a week previous, but not during a full round. The writer was present and playing on both these occasions, but has failed utterly to grasp "the secret" of these two gentlemen."

Calgary is such a splendid golfing centre that it is always a pleasure to award a "Hole-in-one" subscription to a player there.

A particularly good friend of the "Canadian Golfer" ever since its inception has been Mr. R. A. ("Bob") Mackie of the Lakeview Golf and Country Club, Toronto, a Club which it is generally conceded has the finest greens to-day in Canada. He chose the 17th hole, 102 yards, at Lakeview to negotiate a "one" and join the immortals. Mr. Mackie learned his golf in Scotland and ranks as one of Lakeview's foremost golfers.

And here comes a most remarkable "One-er. The 8th hole on the St. Francis Golf Club, Sherbrooke, Que., is 270 yards, yet Dr. H. D. Bayne of that Club, playing with W. R. Gale, found the "tin from the tee." The Editor is rather inclined to think that this wonderful performance of the Doctor's is a record for Canada. The record in Great Britain is held by Mr. A. C. Ladd, the 17th at Henley-on-Thames, 330 yards and in the United States by Mr. J. G. Anderson, 328 yards at Brae Burn.

No. 7, "The Pit" hole at Stratford, Ontario, is a very tricky one-shot hole of 120 yards, but Mr. J. C. Makins, K. C., negotiated it in one last month and enscrolls his name in the golfers' "Hall of Fame." First time by the way, for two or three years that a resident on the banks of the Avon has been heard from in this competition. Congratulations to Mr. Makins.

On September 25th, Mr. J. A. Gorman, a member of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club—one of the finest inland courses in Canada—decided to join the golfing elect. He chose the difficult 10th hole—190 yards, for the feat. This is the first time this hole has ever been made in one and the chances are that "the 10th Commandment" will never be broken again at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club.

Mr. Stanley Thompson, golf architect, Toronto, (runner-up in the Quebec Invitation Tournament last month) under date of October 3rd, writes:—

"I am enclosing a card of Monteith Inn Golf Club on which it will be seen Mr. Jack Strathdee (Manager of the Inn) negotiated hole No. 3 in one on September 26th. I might say this is a very difficult hole and a man who gets it is deserving of the best Golf paper on the Continent."

And Mr. Strathdee will certainly get it for the ensuing year.

And here is a particularly interesting "one shot" performance, because the "Canadian Golfer" does love to encourage and chronicle golfing feats by the youngsters. "Jack" Cowans, the 15-year-old son of Mr. J. N. Cowans of The Royal Montreal, and of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, who has been summering at Metis Beach with his people, last month made the 7th hole, 170 yards, in one on the Cascade Golf Club course there—a Club, by the way, which has been the "nursery" of more than one Amateur Champion of Canada. "Jack" used his trusty mid-iron to turn the trick. He is a most promising junior member of The Royal Montreal and a pupil of C. R. Murray, who has done so much for golf in Canada.

Total number of "Holes-in-One" to date in Canada this season—50.

(Note: Secretaries in sending in names of players making "Holes-in-One" will please give their residential or business address so that the Magazine for a year can be forwarded to them.)

PRINCE USES "BLUE RING" COLONEL

IT was most appropriate that the Prince of Wales should select a Scotch-made Golf Ball, which he used when driving himself into office as Captain of the Royal and Ancient at St. Andrews on the 27th September, St. Andrews being the golfers' mecca in Scotland and the headquarters of the game in Great Britain.

The ball used by His Royal Highness was the new "BLUE RING" COLONEL and, being its first official appearance, it received a Royal introduction. During his subsequent play throughout the day he used this new "COLONEL" Ball which gave His Royal Highness considerable satisfaction. Before leaving St. Andrews he placed an order for a dozen of these balls for his own use.

DUNCAN AND MITCHELL

Conclude Tour of Canada and the States—In One of Their Last Matches Defeat Hagen and Barnes

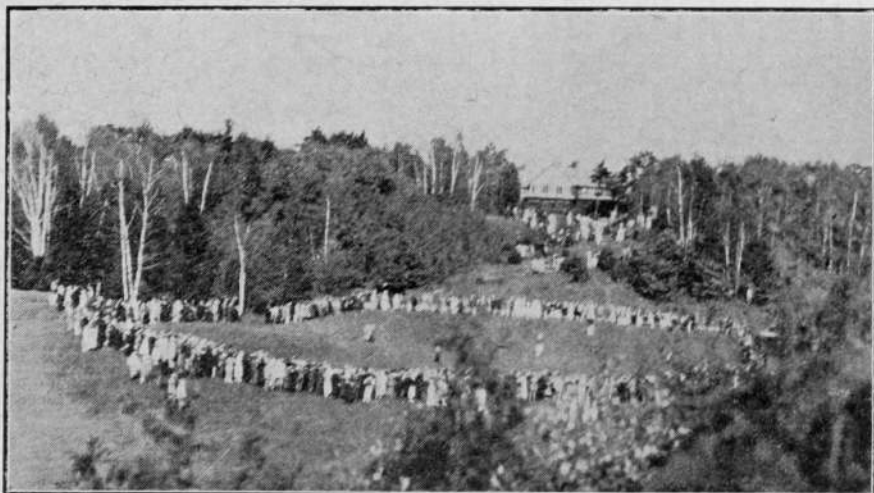

DUNCAN and Mitchell, the British professional golf stars, this month brought to a conclusion a brilliant and successful tour of Canada and the United States. One of their biggest wins was against Walter Hagen, British Open Champion, and James Barnes, former U.S. Open Champion, at Pelham Manor, N. Y. on October 10th. The Britishers defeated their celebrated opponents by the rather overwhelming score of 5 up and 4 to go. Admission proceeds for the match were turned over to the Pelham Summer Home for children. Mitchell and Duncan won the great majority of their matches in Canada and the States and also picked up a couple of State Championships. It is generally reported that they will go home this month $15,000 apiece richer as a result of their tour.

CANADIAN LADIES' OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Brilliant Week's Golf at the Toronto Club Results in the Victory of Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of Huntercombe, England, Who in Finals Defeats Miss Alexa Stirling—The Fine Showing of the Two Young Toronto Players, Misses Sidney Pepler and Joyce Hutton—Misses Ada Mackenzie and Pepler Tie for Best Score in Qualifying Round and Mrs. Douglas Laird, of Winnipeg, Wins Gold Medal for Best Nett Score.

THE Seventeenth Annual Women's Championship of Canada, September 11th to the 16th, could not have had a more ideal setting than that provided at the Toronto Golf Club by the thrice United States and once Canadian Champion, Miss Alexa Stirling. The only regret was that Miss Cecil Leitch, the title holder, although present, was unable owing to her in-—the premier Club of Ontario and the proud possessor of one of the finest courses in the Dominion and one of the most perfectly equipped club houses. 'Twas a memorable meeting in every sense of that term, replete with fine and thrilling golf and marked with a fine golfing spirit throughout. There was a particularly representative gathering of the best Canadian lady players, whilst a thoroughly International aspect was given to the event by the presence of Mrs. W. A. Gavin and Miss Edith Leitch, celebrated British players, and several U.S. entrants, headed jured arm to defend her Championship so well won at Rivermead, Ottawa last year. It had been hoped, too, that the British Champion, Miss Joyce Wethered, might have been among the entries but she found it impossible to make the trip this year. In 1923 she will in all probability do so, from recent advices received.

The ninety-odd ladies who teed-up under superb weather conditions on Tuesday for the Qualifying Round (the weather man was most ungallant on Monday, the scheduled opening day and the R.C.G.A. officials wisely postponed the starting of the Championship) had eventually nothing to complain of in regard to the environment and the ideal golfing atmosphere generally, the officials of the Toronto Club and the members sparing no effort in providing every facility for the enjoyment by the participants of a glorious week, both on and off the course. And the consensus of opinion at the end of that week was that a women's championship had never been better conducted or better run. There was not a flaw in the arrangements from start to finish and especially Mr. R. C. H. Cassels, K.C., President; Mr. B. L. Anderson, Secretary and the officials of the R.C.G.A. together with Mr. F. C. Armitage, the Secretary-Manager of the Toronto Club and his efficient staff came in for praise unstinted from the ladies.

The result of the Qualifying Round was distinctly favourable from a Canadian standpoint and gave rise to great hopes that a Canadian-born might once again carry off the Championship which in 1920 went to the States and in 1921 crossed the seas to Great Britain. With capital scores of 84, Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, the Ontario Lady Champion, and Miss Sidney Pepler, the brilliant young Toronto Club player, headed the classy field—no mean accomplishment considering the calibre of the contestants.

Only one stroke behind them, however, was Mrs. Walter A. Gavin of Huntercombe, England, ex-Metropolitan Champion and a victor in many a well-fought championship and tournament both in Great Britain and on this Continent. Tied for fourth place with 87 were Miss Stirling, formerly of Atlanta, Georgia, now living in New York and entering from the North Hempstead Club of Long Island, and Mrs. Douglas Laird of Winnipeg. From the very start, the former U.S. and Canadian title-holder and Mrs. Gavin were looked upon as possible finalists. Their play in the Qualifying Round rather justified the hopes of their friends as it was of the steadiest description, demonstrating that they were both "on their game." Mrs. Laird's medal of 87 was made up of a consistent 44 and 43. The ex-Amateur Lady Champion of Manitoba learned her game in Toronto and is well known and very popular on the courses of the Queen City. With a handicap of 11 her nett of 76 won for her the best nett score—so the West early in the Championship provided a prize winner.

Not all the favourites made the first 32 who qualified to play off for Championship honours. Notable players failing to do so were Miss Mollie McBride (who tied for 32nd place with several others and lost in the play-off), last year's Quebec Lady Champion and runner-up in the Canadian Championship at Ottawa to Miss Cecil Leitch. Mrs. Foy, too, of Quebec City, the present Lady Champion of Quebec, also failed to make the charmed circle. Neither were playing the game they are capable of putting up. The handicaps ran all the way from 20 to 2, Miss Stirling having the honour of sporting the latter figure. Mrs. Gavin was on the 3 mark, whilst Mrs. Hope Gibson at 4, Miss Edith Leitch at 5, Miss Ada Mackenzie 6 and Misses S. Pepler, H. Kennedy, S. Kennedy, J. Hutton and Nesbitt 7 were among the other low handicaps. As previously noted, Mrs. Douglas Laird (whose husband, by the way, is a very well-known golfer indeed, having been runner-up to Mr. George S. Lyon in the Canadian Amateur at the Royal Ottawa in 1906) had the best nett score, a 76. Miss Pepler, Toronto and Miss Bowes, Baltimore, with 77's had the second best netts. Miss Bowes for several years has been a visitor with her parents to Beaumaris, Muskoka and has won many events over the interesting 18-hole course there. Miss Mackenzie with a 78 was in third place.

According to the original program there were but two Consolation events scheduled for those who failed to qualify, but Mrs. A. D. Miles, President of the Rosedale Ladies' Golf Club, very generously offered a third prize for a third Consolation, which enabled all but twelve of the players to continue in the Tournament.

In the Club Team Match, the Hamilton quartette composed of Miss Mills, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Bostwick and Miss Nesbitt, won, with a total of 394, compared with 398 by Mrs. More, Misses Beck, Pepler and Hutton of the Toronto Club. The Hamilton Ladies' Club can place a team in the field which takes a lot of beating.

ROUNDS IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Wednesday witnessed some particularly interesting matches in the first round of the Championship. The draws that excited the greatest interest were those between Mrs. Hope Gibson and Mrs. Gavin and Miss Edith Leitch and Mrs. E. W. Whittington. The other favourites, Mrs. Gavin and Miss Leitch, it was generally thought, would not have to unduly extend themselves. Miss Leitch has been more or less playing indifferent golf this season in Canada, but she managed to pull out a closely contested match, defeating her clever Toronto opponent 3 and 1.

Mrs. Hope Gibson and Mrs. Gavin attracted by far the largest gallery of the day and provided the spectators with golf of championship calibre. From the first, Mrs. Gavin had the "edge." Nervousness on the part of Mrs. Gibson destroyed the Hamilton player's accuracy at the crucial moments, and when, at the eighth, she could have taken the lead, she took three putts after making the green in two. Mrs. Gavin took the ninth (450 yds.) in 4, and the tenth (320 yds.) in 3, good scores, considering the length and difficulty of the holes mentioned. At the eleventh, where an additional gallery awaited them, both players missed short putts and halved the match in four. Mrs. Gavin ultimately won, four up and three to play. She went out in an approximate 41, as against Mrs. Gibson's 43. The Hamiltonian certainly has had all the worst of the luck in the draws for the Canadian Open. Last year at Ottawa she encountered in the first round the redoubtable Cecil Leitch.

Mrs. Leonard Murray, of Toronto, the popular President of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, who did so much to make the Open and Closed Championships such a success.

Other results:—

Mrs. F. Ahearn (Royal Ottawa) defeated Mrs. H. Bostwick (Hamilton) 5 and 3.

Miss M. Cameron (California) defeated Mrs. W. G. More (Toronto) 2 up.

Miss D. Thomson (Brantford) defeated Mrs. C. E. Armstrong (Royal Ottawa) 6 and 5.

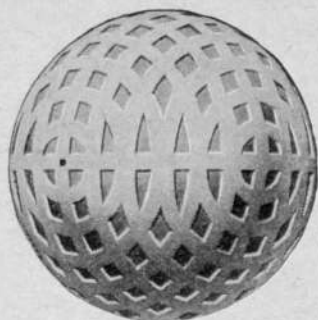

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) defeated Mrs. W. W. Forsythe (Lakeview) 6 and 5.

Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga) defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton) 4 and 3.

Miss Alexa Stirling (North Hempstead, L. I.) defeated Miss C. M. Findley (Lambton) 6 and 5.

Miss Hazel Kennedy (Royal Montreal) defeated Mrs. M. K. Rowe (Toronto) 1 up.

Mrs. D. Laird (Winnipeg) defeated Mrs. W. M. Burns (Rosedale) 5 and 4.

Miss E. I. Bowes (Baltimore) defeated Miss Violet Mills (Hamilton) 4 and 3.

Miss Kate Robertson (Beaconsfield) defeated Mrs. J. L. Counsell (Hamilton) 4 and 3.

Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley) defeated Mrs. B. L. Symmes (Mississauga) 2 and 1.

Miss H. LeSueur (Ottawa) defeated Miss H. Baker (London) 3 and 1.

Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) defeated Mrs. I. Bridges (Winnipeg) at the 19th hole.

One of the best matches of the day was that between Mrs. Bridges and Miss Hutton. At the 15th the Torontonian was 3 down and the St. Charles Club representative only had a short putt at the 16th to halve the hole and win the match. She failed to sink the ball and Miss Hutton also winning the 17th and 18th the match went to the 19th with the inevitable result—Miss Hutton came in the victor. Oh! the tragedy of those two-foot putts.

The elimination of Mrs. Gibson was rather a sad blow to Canadian hopes of retaining the Championship, more especially as the bracket in the next sixteen brought the Ontario Lady Champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie and Miss Alexa Stirling together, whilst Miss Kate Robertson of Beaconsfield, runner-up in 1919 and 1920 was drawn against Mrs. Gavin, and Mrs. Murdock had as an opponent Miss Edith Leitch. Here were three golfing stars of the States and Great Britain contending with three Canadian representatives. All more or less fancied for finalist honours. Mrs. Murdock learned her golf in Scotland and since coming to this country the past two years has got into the game again, thanks to the formation of the Humber Valley Club which is doing so much for Community golf in Toronto. She is a finished player and last June at Rosedale looked very much like entering the finals for the Ontario Championship. She faltered in her match with the athletic Englishwoman, however and was put out to the decisive tune of 8 and 6 which doesn't by any means tell the correct story of the respective merits of the two players. Mrs. Gavin always had the best of Miss Robertson and with a 42 to a 48 was 4 up at the turn. The Beaconsfield player pluckily tried to stem the tide setting against her and won the 10th and 11th, but the end came at the 14th where she had to acknowledge a 4 and 3 defeat.

The Stirling—Mackenzie match naturally drew the gallery. Although weather conditions were unfavourable for good golf, both players went out in 44, five over par, and they made the turn all square, each having won one hole and halved seven. The first seven holes were halved, and, instead of either cracking under the tenseness, the play, if anything, improved. Miss Mackenzie went into the lead on the tenth, and after the eleventh had been halved she increased her lead by winning the twelfth. Miss Stirling came back and reduced the margin at the thirteenth and wiped it out altogether at the fifteenth. Miss Stirling took the sixteenth and then halved the seventeenth. On the last hole, Miss Mackenzie missed a nine-foot putt to square the match and then picked up. It was a magnificent exhibition of plucky golf and the result might easily have been reversed. There is no question, however, that in an uphill contest Miss Stirling is at her best. She is never beaten until the last putt is holed, as she has demonstrated on occasions without number. Miss Stirling had a medal of 84 to Miss Mackenzie's 86—good golf, that.

A particularly interesting match in this round was the one between Miss Annable, the 17-year-old star of Kanawaki, Montreal and Miss Bowes of Baltimore. All square at the 17th, Miss Annable rimmed the cup at the eighteenth green with a putt which would have won the match had she sunk it, and at the nineteenth she did the same. She continued to play beautiful golf and won the twentieth. There would seem to be unquestionably a golfing future ahead of this brilliant young player.

Other matches in the second round resulted:—

Miss Cameron (California) defeated Mrs. Ahearn (Ottawa) 5 and 4.

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) defeated Miss D. Thomson (Brantford) 6 and 5.

Miss H. Kennedy (Royal Montreal) defeated Mrs. D. Laird (Winnipeg) 4 and 3.

Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) defeated Miss H. LeSueur (Ottawa) 6 and 5.

Owing to the heavy rains on Monday which resulted in the Qualifying Round being put forward until Tuesday, it was necessary, in order to get down to the finals on Saturday to play both the demi-semi and semi-finals on Friday, meaning for the semi-finalists a hard grind of 36 holes over the exacting 6,434-yard course. But the ladies who qualified proved that they were fully equal to the task and this is what happened on Friday morning:—

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) defeated Miss Marion Cameron (California) 2 up.

Miss Alexa Stirling (North Hempstead, L. I.) defeated Miss Hazel Kennedy (Royal Montreal) 6 and 5.

Mrs. W. Gavin (Huntercombe, England) defeated Miss Marjorie Annable (Kanawaki) 7 and 5.

Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) defeated Miss Edith Leitch (Walton Heath, England) 3 and 2.

The only upset in the above third round was the defeat of Miss Edith Leitch by Miss Joyce Hutton and that was not much of an upset, either. The clever young Toronto player is quite capable of taking the measure of the Walton Heath representative on her present season's showing. It was almost a forgone conclusion that such seasoned campaigners as Mrs. Gavin and Miss Stirling would prove too much for their young Montreal opponents who, however, although rather sadly beaten will gain vastly from the experience of meeting such past mistresses of wood and iron. It will be an education for both Miss Hazel Kennedy and Miss Marjorie Annable which is bound to bear fruit. Miss Pepler's victory over Miss Marion Cameron, a representative California player by 2 up was especially a creditable one.

So Friday afternoon found two young Toronto representatives pitted against two of Great Britain's and the United

PRESENTATION TO MISS CECIL LEITCH—	Replica of the Duchess of Connaught Cup for the year 1921.

States' most seasoned players— Mrs. Gavin vs. Miss Sidney Pepler and Miss Stirling vs. Miss Joyce Hutton, and right worthily and well did they uphold the honour of Canada and the Toronto Club. In fact, at one time it looked as though the colours of the many times U.S. Champion were fated to be lowered. It was only by a wonderful exhibition of skill and pluck that Miss Stirling eventually pulled a gruelling match out of the fire and defeated her clever young opponent.

Out in 43, Miss Pepler was 2 up on the U.S. expert but she lost the 10th in a 5 to a par 4. The next two holes were halved, but Miss Stirling squared the match on the 13th, winning the 14th and 15th, was 2 up. Miss Pepler came back with a 6 to a 7 on the long 16th and should have squared the match on the short 17th where Miss Stirling, in consequence of an unplayable ball as a result of a badly pulled drive in the bushes, had to go back to the tee and play 3. The Torontonians, however, took three putts on the green and had to be content with a "divide" in 5. The 18th was halved and Miss Stirling was more or less fortunate in recording a 1 up win.

Miss Hutton gave Mrs. Gavin one of the hardest contests that she had during the week, but the winner played the steadier short game of the two. Both made few mistakes off the tee, and if there was any difference it was to Miss Hutton's advantage, but in approaching and on the green Mrs. Gavin was superior. She had, however, to play the best golf in her bag to register a 3 and 1 win over last year's runner-up in the Ontario Championship.

MRS. GAVIN ANNEXES THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The gallery which witnessed the finals Saturday between Mrs. Gavin and Miss Stirling was a record one, there probably being fifteen hundred enthusiasts present. They were well repaid for the two hours or so spent in following the game which was replete with incident and never lapsed into the mediocre. Take for example the question of the drive. Not once did the matronly Englishwoman nor the athletic young Scottish-American fail to get off a ball from the tee (at the 2 and 3 shot holes) averaging less than a couple of hundred yards or so. But it was in their crisp iron work that they both excelled. In this department of the game these two outstanding women exponents of the British and American schools of golf have little to learn from the best of men players. Mrs. Gavin uses a full swing mashie-niblick shot to the green with telling effect, whilst Miss Stirling calls into play a half swing stroke to great advantage.

Mrs. Gavin stepped on to the first tee under this great disadvantage. For a dozen times or more in important competitions, had she met before the Georgia girl expert and not once had she been able to take her measure. That in itself was a great handicap, a very great handicap. Winning as she did the first hole was unquestionably a most heartening incident for the plucky Englishwoman, who, whisper it, is almost twice the age of Miss Alexa. The win at the first undoubtedly gave Mrs. Gavin the confidence that was so absolutely necessary if she was for the first time to ring the changes on her great rival. From there on till the 14th, she played by far the better golf and was deservedly 3 up. Then came the reversal of form which nearly cost her the Championship. Poor putting at the 14th, a sliced tee-shot on the short 15th and poor judgment in the second shot at the long 16th, when the hole was literally in the hollow of her hand, found her slipping badly and instead of being dormie 4 as she should have been at the 14th, Mrs. Gavin went to the tricky 17th with only a 1 up lead. And things looked blue for her when she followed up Miss Stirling's fine iron shot to the left of the green with a spoon shot which landed her in the bunker on the right. "A graveyard" of championship hopes, however, is this 220-yarder at the Toronto Club. It was here, last year, that Mike Brady of Detroit lost the Open Championship of Canada, when in the final round, instead of a par 3 he took a 6, which left him in second place. It was here in the semi-finals of the present Ladies Championship, that Miss Pepler lost her chance to tie with Miss Stirling by wasting three putts on the green and by the irony of fate it was three putts on this self-same green, which allowed Mrs. Gavin, who had made a fine recovery from the bunker, to win the hole in a 4 to a 5 and defeat Miss Stirling by a 2 and 1 margin. There is many a player who regretfully remember that innocent-looking but very tricky 17th at the Toronto Club.

Mrs. Gavin, who played under the colours of her old English Club, Huntercombe, has for some years now been playing most of her golf in the United States. She first sprang into prominence there, when in 1915 she was runner-up to Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck in the United States Championship at Outwentsia. In 1916 she won the Women's Championship. In 1919 she was runner-up in the United States Championship at Shawnee. Miss Stirling this time defeated her. Last year she won the Metropolitan Championship, defeating Miss Bishop in the finals by the decisive margin of 9 and 8. She was playing in the British Championship this summer in England and did not defend her Metropolitan title, which was won by Miss Stirling, so the finals last month at Toronto were by way of being a duel between the ex-Metropolitan and the present Metropolitan champions. Mrs. Gavin was a participant in the Canadian Championship last year at Ottawa but was defeated by Miss Stirling 4 and 3. So she now has her revenge on a Canadian course. In 1910 and 1911 she was particularly prominent in competitions in Great Britain and played in all the International matches with much success. Miss Stirling won the United States Championship in 1916, 1919 and 1920 and also the Canadian Championship in 1920. She has dozens of other events to her credit. On her form, however, at Toronto she is not playing the golf to-day that she did in 1920 and previous years.

The victory of Mrs. Gavin at Toronto was a most popular one. Both players, however, were most impartially applauded from the start to the finish of this most interesting match our former young Champion being a prime favourite with Canadian galleries.

Apart from the Championship there were many splendid matches in the Immediately after the Championship finals the presentation of prizes took place on the broad verandah of the club house in the presence of a large number of the players and their friends. The popular President of the R.C.G.A., Mr. R. C. H. Cassels, K.C. presided at this interesting ceremony, the various prize-winners being heartily applauded as they come forward to receive their well-earned trophies.

Mrs. Gavin received the R.C.G.A. gold medal, a replica of the Duchess of Connaught gold cup and the cup itself will be given over to the keeping of her Club for a year. This will be the first time that the cup has left Canada, as the original deed of gift stipulated that if the trophy was won by a competitor from another country the cup was to remain in Canada. Since last year the Duke of Connaught has consented to a change in the deed and now the trophy is permitted to be taken out of the Dominion. Mrs. Gavin made a charming little speech in reply to Mr. Cassels' congratulations on the winning of the Championship. She especially thanked the officers of the R.C.G.A. and the officials of the Toronto Club for the many courtesies extended to herself and all the competitors during Championship week.

Miss Stirling was presented with the R.C.G.A. silver medal and the C.L.G.U.

Outside of the Championship and Runner-up trophies, Toronto and Hamilton ladies made almost a clean sweep of the prize list. The Toronto Club players were especially in evidence, winning no fewer than five prizes. To Mrs. Douglas Laird, Winnipeg, belongs the honour of being the only representative of a Canadian Club outside of Toronto to win a trophy.

The beautiful home of the Toronto Golf Club, the headquarters of the ladies who participated in the Championship.

cup, Mr. Cassels remarking that she now had a complete set of the Association's trophies, having won the gold medal and the Duchess of Connaught cup in 1920 when she annexed the Championship.

To Misses Sidney Pepler and Miss Joyce Hutton went the R.C.G.A. Semi-finalist cups; Mrs. Hope Gibson won the R.C.G.A. Championship Consolation prize; Miss Willo Gage, Lambton, the First Consolation R.C.G.A. prize; Miss Marion Beck, the Second Consolation R. C. G. A. prize and Mrs. Ridsen the Third Consolation, the prize for which was presented by the donor, Mrs. A. D. Miles. The complete list of prize winners will be found on Page 484.

An unexpected feature of the concluding ceremonies was the presentation to Miss Cecil Leitch, last year's champion, of the gold replica of the Duchess of Connaught cup for last year's victory. At the time of the Championship it was not completed and the presentation was postponed for a year. In replying, Miss Leitch stated her intention of competing in the Championship next year, provided that her arm permits her taking up the game next summer, an announcement which was received with cheers.

This happy presentation of prizes and programme of short speeches brought to a conclusion one of the most successful Championships ever staged in Canada.

WITH A RECORD MEDAL SCORE

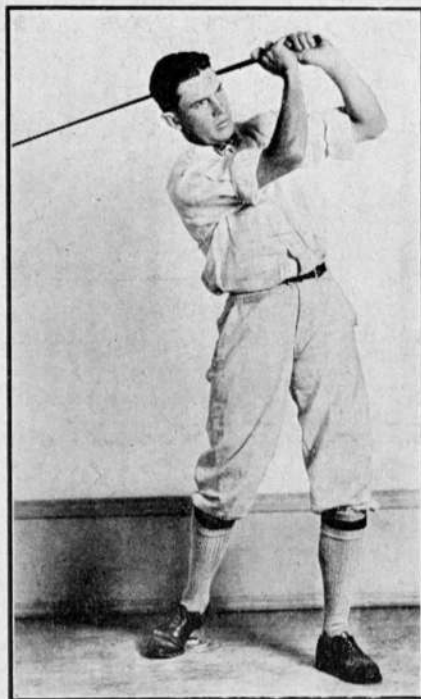

Mr. Redvers Mackenzie, the Brilliant Country Club Amateur, Wins the Invitation Tournament of the Province of Quebec Golf Association.

Twice Equals the Par of the Course in His Score of 298 at Beaconsfield. Mr. Stanley Thompson of Mississauga in Second Place.

THE Quebec Golf Association is to be heartily congratulated on the inaugurating of an Invitation Tournament, which was successfully run off Sept. 22nd and 23rd at Beaconsfield, Montreal. Ontario was well represented by its younger players, Messrs. W. J. Thompson, Stanley Thompson, Seymour Lyon and Percy Shaw, whilst all the crack amateurs of Quebec were in attendance. It was hoped that a number of United States players would be present, but the lateness of the date militated against this. Another year it would be as well perhaps to hold this Invitation event earlier in the season. That sterling young Montreal golfer, Redvers Mackenzie of the Country Club, Montreal, easily led the field which included the Amateur Champion "Happy" Fraser and the ex-Amateur Champions, G. H. Turpin, C. B. Grier, A. Wilson and W. McLuckie. He had the remarkably fine total of 298 for the 72 holes or 11 strokes ahead of Stanley Thompson of Toronto, who was in second place. The latter is one of the famous quintette of brothers who, the past two or three years, owing to his extensive golf architectural work has had little time to devote to the playing of the game, more's the pity. Mackenzie is unquestionably to-day the best medal player among Canadian amateurs. He gave an indication of his medal playing ability at the Open at Mount Bruno last July when with a 79, 79, 80 and 78 for a total of 317 he was in ninth place easily leading all the other amateurs who entered. At the Canadian Open at Rivermead, Ottawa in 1920 he also made a very fine showing and altogether, the past season or so, has proven himself a medal player of the very first rank.

The Beaconsfield course was in fine shape for the event, although in the morning a tricky wind bothered the players not a little. A brilliant par 72 by Stanley Thompson was the feature of the first round. Close behind him being Mackenzie with a 75, the winner-to-be carding a rather ugly 7 at the 16th hole par 4. Other good scores were Fraser's (the Amateur Champion), G. H. Turpin (Royal Montreal) and J. McBride's (Beaconsfield) 76; W. J. Thompson (Mississauga) and G. P. Shaw (Scarboro) 78.

In the afternoon, playing every shot with confidence, Mackenzie equalled Stanley Thompson's morning round by carding a par 72. At the 3rd hole he registered an "eagle" 2 and narrowly missed a 1, his drive almost finding the cup. Stanley Thompson, on the other hand, was having difficulty with the greens and had to be content with an 80 or 8 strokes back of the Country Club expert for a 36-hole total of 152 compared to Mackenzie's 147. At the end of the first day these two then were the leaders, with W. J. Thompson 154, C. C. Fraser 155 and G. P. Shaw 155, still within measurable distance of the top pair.

On Saturday the Country Club expert left no doubt as to his ability to negotiate a 72-hole round without cracking. Again in the morning he reeled off a par 72 and following this up in the afternoon, in the presence of a large gallery) with a 79, he collected a grand total of 298 for the 72 holes or a trifle over 2 strokes per round above par. And that is superlatively fine golf—golf which very few of the greatest Amateurs can equal, or for that matter, leading Professionals, either. Beaconsfield is not an easy course to score over as has been demonstrated time and again in Championships and to "break 300" there is really a very great accomplishment.

On the concluding day, Stanley Thompson negotiated a 77 and 80 for a grand total of 309 which put him in second place, although eleven strokes back of Mackenzie. In third place was the ex-Amateur Champion, W. McLuckie (312); fourth place, ex-Amateur Champion, A. Wilson, 314 whilst tied for fifth place were the ex-Amateur Champion, G. H. Turpin (316) and W. J. Thompson (316).

The Amateur Champion, C. C. Fraser, G. P. Shaw, J. McBride and Mr. Hodgson tied for 6th place with 317. The card of Mr. Mackenzie:—

Grand Total298

It will be noticed that Mr. Mackenzie during the two days play had no fewer than 14 threes and 32 fours to his credit. The only sixes were at the long first hole, he taking that figure twice there. Altogether a particularly brilliant and well balanced card—one which will take a lot of beating.

This score of 298, by the way, is the best ever made by a Canadian Amateur in a 72-hole competition. "Bobby" Jones, the U.S. star, at Hamilton in 1919 made a 294 and tied for second place in the Canadian Open and Tom Armour, the Scottish Amateur, tied for first place in the Canadian Open in 1920 at Rivermead, Ottawa with 298, the same total as made by Mackenzie. Armour also led all the Amateurs in the Open in Toronto in 1921 with 299. It will thus be seen in compiling 298 the winner of the Beaconsfield Tournament was playing championship golf of the very highest calibre.

A most interesting feature of this remarkably successful Tournament was the Dinner given by the President, Mr. Jas. L. McCulloch, Directors and members of the Beaconsfield Club, on Friday evening to the contestants. It was greatly enjoyed by all those privileged to participate. At the dinner which turned itself into an informal meeting of the Province of Quebec Golf Association, a Sub-Committee was appointed consisting of the Chairmen of the Green Committees of the various clubs in the Association with a view of formulating joint action in the matter of the up-keep of greens, seeding, etc., in other words, following somewhat along the lines of the Green Section of the United States Golf Association which is accomplishing most invaluable work. It is hoped by concerted action and interchange of experience, methods can be adopted by which the enormous sums annually spent by golf clubs in seeding, fertilizing, wages and machinery can be reduced to a minimum. It was generally admitted at the meeting that large sums have been lost in the past by wasteful seeding and ignorant so-called fertilizing, and the golfing authorities in Quebec are determined by concerted action to put an end to such extravagance, thereby materially reducing the cost of golf to the individual.

The presentation of prizes took place on Saturday evening, the Champion of the Tournament receiving his well-earned trophies at the hands of Mr. McCulloch, President of the Beaconsfield Club, whilst Mr. W. W. Walker, the energetic President of the P.Q.G.A. distributed the handsome prizes to the other winners. Mr. Mackenzie was given a great reception. The day he won the Tournament was also the anniversary of his 23rd birthday. That he will have "Many Happy Returns" of natal days and championship winning days is the sincere wish of golfing friends throughout the Dominion. His play nominally made him the winner of all the special prizes offered, but the Association rules allowed him only the Association First Prize and the Special offered by the Beaconsfield Club.

The following is the corrected list of prize-winners:—

1st Prize, Redvers Mackenzie, Country Club, Montreal.

2nd Prize, Stanley Thompson, Mississauga, Toronto.

3rd Prize, William McLuckie, Kanawaki, Montreal.

Best 18 holes, first day, C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki.

Best 36 holes, first day, G. H. Turpin, Royal Montreal.

Best 18 holes, second day, R. C. Smith, Beaconsfield.

Best 36 holes, second day, W. J. Thompson, Montreal.

Under the Regulations of the Association, no competitor is eligible to receive more than one prize. This automatically enabled all the prizes for the best 18 and 36 holes to be taken by others than actual winners of these particular prizes.

All the participants voted this first Invitation Tournament a huge success. The officials of the Quebec Golf Association and the Beaconsfield Golf Club were indefatigable in their efforts in looking after the welfare of the players, whilst all the arrangements of play, thanks largely to Mr. R. J. R. Stokes, Secretary of the P.Q.G.A., were carried out with a "swing and follow through" which left nothing to be desired. The Quebec Invitation Tournament has made a hit and in future will be eagerly looked forward to as one of the golfing fixtures of the year in Canada.

It will especially be a factor in developing the play of the younger golfers, three of whom, J. McBride of Beaconsfield, G. Annable, Kanawaki and A. D. McCall of Beaconsfield, especially distinguished themselves in this first Tournament, finishing well up in front.

"GOLF" BY CECIL LEITCH

ONE of the best books on "Golf" yet published is one just issued by the well-known firm of J. P. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia (with a branch office in Canada at 201 Unity Building, Montreal) compiled and edited by that great golfer, Miss Cecil Leitch, winner of Championships without number including the Canadian Open last year. The noted Champion details in vivid fashion the story of her golfing career and tells how anyone's game can be developed by study, practice and experience. Most valuable hints and sound advice run through the book, which includes technical chapters dealing with such vital subjects as length, direction, difficulties and special shots. No lady player is better fitted than Miss Leitch to give others those little "tips" which often are all that a player needs to make a good game a winning one.

The book contains 54 photographic illustrations, is handsomely printed throughout and retails for $3.00. The "Canadian Golfer" unhesitatingly recommends this work of Miss Leitch to the golfers of Canada. It should be in every Club House and in the home of all lady golfers. It contains advice and instruction of infinite value and a careful perusal of its pages will improve the game of every player, no matter what her handicap. By all means send in an order for this invaluable work and study it carefully and intelligently the coming winter months. No golfer can expend three dollars to better advantage.

LADIES' CLOSED CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. Hope Gibson, of Hamilton, Wins the Event, defeating Miss Helen Paget, of The Royal Ottawa, in the Finals—A Record Field of Entrants Marks the First Canadian Closed Championship, held at Lambton Miss Ada Mackenzie Repeats Her Success in the Open by Again tying for the Best Score in the Qualifying Round

THE skeptics, and there were many of them, who prophesied that the holding of a Closed Canadian Ladies' Championship immediately after an Open Championship would prove more or less of a fizzle, received their answer in a very decided fashion at Lambton last month. The Closed Championship, instead of falling flat, was a most brilliant success. There were half a hundred more entrants than at the Open and the competition was just as keen and the golf just as good as at the Open. The weather was ideal throughout the week. Lambton provided a perfect course and unbounded hospitality and the whole Tournament went with "a swing and follow through" which left nothing to be desired. It was really a great Championship and to cap it all, one of the best lady golfers in Canada, Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton, at last came into her own and captured premier honours. Mrs. Gibson won the Ontario Ladies' Championship last year and was Runner-up this year. There is no doubt about the sterling quality of her golf. She gets a long ball off the tee, but it is in her iron work that she excels. She is, in fact, a most finished player in every department of the game and in the past it has only been lack of confidence that has prevented her carrying off many major Championships. She has that confidence now and there is no reason why she should not go far in the future in any competition, International as well as Canadian. Make no mistake, either, about the finalist, Miss Helen Paget of the Royal Ottawa—a very clever young golfer, who only needs experience to round out a particularly sound game. She had never played in the presence of a big gallery before and was obviously nervous. She will soon get over this handicap, however. It is a hopeful and healthy sign for the future of Canadian ladies' golf that such fine players are being developed as the Misses Paget, Sidney Pepler and Joyce Hutton, to mention only a trio of brilliant young participants in the Championships of the past two weeks. Mrs. Douglas Laird of Winnipeg, ex-Manitoba Lady Champion, demonstrated, too, that the West has golfing talent quite above the ordinary. Her victory in the Championship Consolation was alike a most creditable and popular one.

Mrs. Hope Gibson, of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, winner of Canada's First Closed Ladies Championship.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, the Ontario Lady Champion, once again demonstrated her great ability as a medal player. At the Open she tied with Miss Sidney Pepler for the low score (84) in the Qualifying Round and again at Lambton with Miss Joyce Hutton she had the best card (89). In two events to accomplish such a feat, stamps her as Canada's greatest woman medallist.

The success of the Closed Championship was entirely due to the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union and its energetic President, Mrs. Leonard Murray of Toronto and her Executive. The Governors of Lambton very wisely decided to ask the C.L.G.U. to "run the Tournament" themselves from first to last. Mere man had nothing to do with the arrangements. Even the referee in the finals was a woman, and what man for that matter could have refereed a Championship better or as well as Miss Cecil Leitch, the world's greatest woman player? Friends were very sorry to see the many times ex-champion once more wearing her injured arm in a sling. At the Toronto Club during the Open Championship, she again wrenched it badly. A record entry of 144 players teed-up for the Qualifying round on the opening day and the following were the results:—

Mrs. Irene Brydges of Winnipeg, finalist in her flight at the Open in Toronto, turned in the best net score of the day. She went out in 45 and returned in 47 for a 92 which, minus her handicap of 14, gave her a net score of 78. Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto), Mrs. Douglas Laird (Winnipeg), Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley) and Miss Louise MacDonald (Toronto) were next in order with net scores of 81.

The thirty-two ladies who qualified to play off for the Championship were:—

Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto), Mrs. E. W. Whittington (Toronto).

Miss Kate Robertson (Beaconsfield), Miss M. Langmuir (Mississauga).

Miss Mollie McBride (Beaconsfield), Mrs. Douglas Laird (Winnipeg).

Mrs. Frank Spry (London), Mrs. Murdock (Humber Valley).

Miss H. Kennedy (Royal Montreal), Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto).

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton), Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton).

Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga), Mrs. Ridout (Lambton).

Mrs. F. Ahearn (Ottawa), Miss Dorothy Thomson (Brantford).

Mrs. W. H. Burns (Rosedale), Mrs. Pinehy (Ottawa).

Miss L. Macdonald (Toronto), Miss Marion Beck (Toronto).

Mrs. J. H. Riddell (Scarboro), Miss Helen Paget (Ottawa).

Mrs. Bostwick (Hamilton), Miss M. Findley (Lambton).

Miss Willo Gage (Lambton), Mrs. I. Brydges (Winnipeg).

Mrs. W. G. More (Toronto), Mrs. M. K. Rowe (Toronto).

Mrs. A. F. Rodger (Lambton), Miss S. Kennedy (Royal Montreal).

Mrs. H. S. Thorne (Lambton), Mrs. T. F. Matthews (Lambton).

In addition to the Championship there were no fewer than seven other flights of 16 players each with the exception of the Seventh Flight which had 12 players only.

And this is how the Championship rounds resulted:—

FIRST ROUND—

Mrs. E. W. Whittington (Toronto) defeated Miss Joyce Hutton (Toronto) 1 up.

Miss M. Langmuir (Mississauga) defeated Miss Kate Robertson (Beaconsfield) 1 up.

Miss Mollie McBride (Beaconsfield) defeated Mrs. Douglas Laird (Winnipeg) 1 up.

Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley) defeated Mrs. Frank Spry (London) 4 and 2.

Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) defeated Miss H. Kennedy (Royal Montreal) 9 and 8.

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton) defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt (Hamilton) 5 and 4.

Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga) defeated Mrs. A. M. Ridout (Lambton) 3 and 2.

Mrs. F. F. Ahearn (Ottawa) defeated Miss Dorothy Thomson (Brantford) at the 19th hole.

Mrs. W. H. Burns (Rosedale) defeated Mrs. Pinehy (Ottawa) 2 and 1.

Miss Marion Beck (Toronto) defeated Miss L. Macdonald (Toronto) 7 and 6.

Miss H. Paget (Royal Ottawa) defeated Mrs. J. H. Riddell (Scarboro) 2 up.

Mrs. Bostwick (Hamilton) defeated Miss M. Findley (Lambton) 2 up.

Miss Willo Gage (Lambton) defeated Mrs. I. Brydges (Winnipeg) at the 19th hole.

Mrs. M. K. Rowe (Toronto) defeated Mrs. W. G. More (Toronto) 3 and 1.

Miss S. Kennedy (Royal Montreal) defeated Mrs. A. F. Rodger (Lambton) 7 and 6.

Mrs. H. S. Thorne (Lambton) defeated Mrs. T. F. Matthews (Lambton) 2 up.

SECOND ROUND—

Mrs. E. W. Whittington (Toronto) defeated Miss M. Langmuir (Mississauga) 5 and 4.

Mrs. R. Murdock (Humber Valley) defeated Miss Mollie McBride (Beaconsfield) 2 and 1.

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton) defeated Miss Sidney Pepler (Toronto) at 19th hole.

Mrs. F. Ahearn (Royal Ottawa) defeated Miss Ada Mackenzie (Mississauga) 1 up.

Miss Marion Beck (Toronto) defeated Mrs. W. H. Burns (Rosedale) 4 and 3.

Miss H. Paget (Royal Ottawa) defeated Mrs. H. Bostwick (Hamilton) 3 and 1.

Miss H. Paget (Royal Ottawa) defeated Miss Willo Gage (Lambton) 6 and 4.

FINALS—

Mrs. Hope Gibson (Hamilton) defeated Miss Paget (Royal Ottawa) 5 and 4.

As usual in all championships, there were many upsets. The very first round saw the elimination of Miss Kate Robertson of Beaconsfield, runner-up in the Open Championship in 1919 and 1920, but the biggest surprise of all came in the second round when the Ontario Champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie, was eliminated by Mrs. Ahearn, the well-known Royal Ottawa player and an ex-Champion of Quebec. The mar-player from Humber Valley, Toronto, accounted for the clever young Montrealer, 2 and 1.

The third round witnessed the defeat of Mrs. Murdock, Mrs. Ahearn, Mrs. G. W. Whittington, of Toronto Golf Club, Semi-finalist in the Closed Championship.

Miss Willo Gage, of Lambton, Semi-finalist in the Closed Championship.

gin was the narrow one of 1 up. It was generally thought that Miss Mackenzie would easily last until the finals. Another well-known player to be put out in this round was Miss Mollie McBride, ex-Quebec Champion and Runner-up to Miss Cecil Leitch last year at Ottawa. Mrs. Murdock, the sterling Public Golf

Miss Marion Beck and Miss Sybil Kennedy. Then the semi-finals in which after a great match, Mrs. Hope Gibson defeated Mrs. Whittington 1 up and Miss Paget accounted for Miss Willo Gage 6 and 4. The young Royal Ottawa golfer played the most brilliant kind of golf to win from the Lambtonian who, both at Toronto and Lambton, played the steadiest kind of a game.

The finals drew out a large and enthusiastic gallery which was well repaid by witnessing a really high-class exhibition. Mrs. Gibson was in splendid form. Frequently she was driving well onto 225 yards and followed these drives up with the crispest kind of iron work. Very pluckily Miss Paget tried to hold her more seasoned and experienced opponent, but she was not playing anything like the golf that she did in the semi-finals. She was often in difficulties and at the end of the 9th hole was 2 down. Mrs. Gibson, with a par 5 won the long 10th and playing the 11th hole perfectly was 4 up. The short 12th was divided in four, but Mrs. Gibson took the 13th with a 4 to a 5 and the 14th being divided, the Hamiltonian won the first Closed Championship of Canada 5 up and 4 to play. Both Mrs. Gibson and Miss Paget were heartily cheered at the conclusion of the match. To reach the finals Mrs. Gibson defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt of Woodstock, her club-mate in the first round, 5 and 4; Miss Sidney Pepler of Toronto at the nineteenth; Mrs. F. Ahearn of Ottawa, one up and Mrs. E. W. Whittington of Toronto, one up. Miss Paget won her way to the final by beating Mrs. J. H. Riddel of Scarboro, 2 up; Mrs. H. Bostwick of Hamilton, 3 and 1; Miss Marion Beck, 1 up and Miss Willo Gage, 6 and 4.

Mrs. Gibson's score included a "birdie 4 at the first, a "birdie" 5 at the tenth and a "birdie" four at the eleventh, as well as par scores at the fourth and seventh holes. Miss Paget had a par 4 at the seventh, a par 6 at the tenth and a par 5 at the eleventh.

But the Championship proper did not witness the only good golf of the Tournament. There were many splendid matches in all the various flights. For instance, Mrs. Douglas Laird of Winnipeg played good golf to win the Championship Consolation Flight final from Miss Joyce Hutton of Toronto. Mrs. Laird's showing in both the Open and Closed Tournaments was particularly good. She won from Miss Hutton 4 up and 3 to play.

The complete results of the prize winners in the various flights, the Driving Competition and Team Match will be found on Page 501.

Miss Joyce Hutton, of Toronto, who tied in qualifying round for best gross and was runner-up in the Championship Consolation.

Immediately after the completion of the Championship Match the presentation of prizes took place on the lawn facing the Club House. Mrs. Leonard Murray, President, and Miss Dorothy Faulkner, Hon. Secretary of the C. G. L. U., officiated at this interesting ceremony. All the prize winners were heartily applauded as they came forward to receive their cups and trophies, the Champion, Mrs. Gibson, and the runner-up, Miss Paget especially being acclaimed by the large audience. An especially interesting feature of the proceedings was the presentation to Mrs. Murray, on behalf of the players, of a handsome travelling bag. Mr. A. W. Austin, first President and founder of Lambton, presented the bag in a few most appropriate words in which he bore testimony to the great work being done for golf by Mrs. Murray and the C.L.G.U. Mrs. Murray replied in a most graceful little speech in which she stated that it had always been her great ambition to win a golf prize, but she was afraid she never would. The bag, however, was even more wonderful and acceptable than a golfing trophy. Mr. J. W. Gale, President of Lambton, wound up a particularly bright little function by stating how much he and the Governors and members of Lambton had appreciated having the lady golfers of Canada as their guests.

Friday evening a brilliant dinner-dance was enjoyed by the players and their friends and a really most wonderful Championship was brought to a conclusion on Saturday by Mixed Foursomes participated in by all the leading lady players of the Tournament and men players of Toronto. The six best scores were:—

Mrs. H. Bostwick (Hamilton) and J. C. Breckenridge (Lambton) 91, 12, 79.

Miss M. Findley and Allan Findley (Lambton) 93, 14, 79.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews (Lambton) 98, 18, 80.

Mrs. H. R. Tilley (Lambton) and A. T. Reid (Lambton) 101, 21, 80.

Mrs. A. G. Northway (Lambton) and M. T. Ellis (Lambton) 99, 19, 80.

Mrs. D. M. More (Toronto) and W. G. More (Toronto) 88, 8, 80.

The ladies especially wish to thank Mr. E. Mason, the Secretary of Lambton and his efficient staff for courtesies and attention without stint throughout the week of the Championship.

Following the final match, all the members of the Toronto Club who participated in the Tournament surrounded George Cumming and made him a presentation in appreciation of his efforts. Much of the success of both the Open and Closed Championships is due to George Cumming and W. M. Freeman, the professionals of the Toronto and Lambton Clubs respectively who looked after the starting of the various events and the golfing welfare generally of all the contestants.

MANITOBA GOLF ASSOCIATION

Holds a Luncheon at Which the Presentation of Prizes Takes Place.

A BUSINESS Meeting of the Manitoba Golf Association was recently held in Winnipeg followed by a luncheon. The chief business of the luncheon was the presentation of various cups and medals to winners at this year's Manitoba Amateur Golf Tournament. Mr. R. C. S. Bruce, President of the Association, officiated as master of ceremonies. In opening the program he briefly referred to the splendid progress that golf is making in Winnipeg and of the success of recent Manitoba Tournaments; he announced his opposition to qualifying rounds for tournaments and hoped that the present system of play in Manitoba would continue.

Mayor F. O. Fowler made the various presentations. He also commented on the game of golf and of the good the municipal course was to the community. He said that the city course was more than paying operating expenses and expressed the hope that a second course would be built in the near future. He then presented the prizes to the following:

Free Press Cup and Championship Golf Medal to A. J. Wilson; Silver Medal to D. K. Arnott, Runner-up; to Frank Hale and E. W. S. MacVey, semi-finalists. R. MacAuley, winner of the Consolation event, and A. Bond, Runner-up, also received handsome medals.

Looking bronzed and well the British team which competed in the Walker Cup Competition in the United States and in the U. S. Amateur Championship, arrived home September 18th. They one and all speak highly of the reception they received in the States and of the fine class of golf they had to compete against.

The London County Council has decided to allow golf in the public parks and open spaces under its control. In Scotland, Sunday golf is still more or less forbidden, the dictum of Old Tom Morris to the effect that golf greens require one day's rest in seven, even if the players do not, being supported rather generally throughout the land of the home of golf.

Some very fine golf was seen the other day at Guildford when in exhibition matches in aid of the Surrey County Hospital, Harry Vardon and Ted Ray paired together, with a best ball of 66 defeated James Braid and the local pro, G. Calkwell (best ball 70) 2 and 1. In the afternoon, Braid and Vardon opposed Ray and Calkwell and with a best ball of 66 against 67, won by one hole.

The Troon Golf Club where the Open Championship is to be held next year, has suffered a severe loss in the sudden death of its Captain, Mr. J. G. Clark Millar, at the early age of 49. Mr. Millar was taking a very active interest indeed in the re-vamping of the course for next year's Championship from plans by James Braid and his demise is in every way a severe loss to Troon. His funeral was very largely attended by golfers and townspeople.

Golfers had a pleasant surprise this month when one of the leading golf ball manufacturers in Great Britain dropped the price of their highest-priced balls from 3s 6d. to 2s. 6d. The reduction was totally unexpected by the trade and professionals. It is a long time since there has been a first-class half-crown ball and players are naturally jubilant over the unexpected drop. Other prominent ball manufacturers quickly followed the example of "the leader." Now golfers are hoping that club prices will follow suit.

Which is the most powerful playing club in the world? A correspondent of Town Topics is of opinion that Mid-Surrey can turn out a side which will not only beat any club team in England but hold its own against any combination in America or the world. The Mid-Surrey team, all plus players, is composed of:—C. V. L. Hooman, T. A. Torrance, Douglas Grant, H. E. Taylor, Major Charles Hezlet, Bernard Darwin, W. A. Murray, J. J. Sir Harry Stonor, and won his foursome match against Capt. P. B. Champain, R.N., and Capt. H. T. Whitaker, but this was the only holes at Portrush. Lowe disposed of Major Hezlet in the 5th round and Capt. Carter the favourite in the 6th round, after a very fine match 2 and 1. He has not loomed large before in first-class events but is a golfer of very great promise indeed. Among the entrants was a Canadian, Mr. H. G. Joseph of Montreal, now in residence at Cambridge University. He played very good golf, lasting until the second round when he was put out by Mr. H. E. Read (Royal Portrush) 3 and 2.

With a record first round of 69 and a second round of 75 for a total of 144 Tom Williamson, the well-known Notts pro, won the Midland Professional Championship and headed the list of qualifiers in the Midland section of the £750 "News of the World" Tournament. Only one stroke back of him was L. Holland (Northants) with 145. In the Northern Section of the "News of the World" Tournament A. Mr. A. Lowe (Malone) won the Irish Open Amateur Championship on Sept. 15th, defeating Mr. James Henderson (Royal Portrush) 6 and 4 over 36

It is not often that a first-class player takes six putts on the green, but that was the record, and it must be a record in a high-class match, set up by Ralph Weldon of West Bradford the other day. He was playing in a stroke competition at Shipley with Harry Vardon, James Braid and Harry Loveridge the local player, when he decided to accomplish this remarkable performance. Three of the putts he missed were extremely short ones. At that he had a medal of 83, James Braid making a 75 and Harry Vardon 77. In a single in the morning Braid and Vardon ended up all square, although Vardon at one time was 2 up.

BANNISTER WINS MANITOBA OPEN

Classy St. Charles Country Club Professional of Winnipeg Captures Championship—Mr. W. M. Thompson Leads Amateurs

(By George Stephen, Golf Editor, Free Press, Winnipeg)

STAGING a strong finish while his nearest rivals were slipping on the down grade, Eric Bannister, professional to the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, won the 45-hole Medal Play Competition for the Open Championship of Manitoba during the week-end of September 30th, with an aggregate of 232. Three strokes back of him come George Daniels, the Assiniboine pro (formerly of Mississauga, Toronto) who had led the field in the first two rounds, and who still led, tied with Dick Holden of Elmhurst (formerly of Oshawa) at the 50th hole. Daniels finished in 235, and Holden one stroke worse, both cracking almost simultaneously, the dual upheaval to the leaders giving the St. Charles' player the chance, which a "birdie" 3 at the "dog-leg" 16th, at Elmhurst, definitely clinched. Cards for the last four holes tell the whole tale of victory and disaster. They read as follows:

Bannister	4	3	3	5—15
Daniels	5	5	4	6—20
Holden	5	6	5	5—21

Among the amateurs, Matt Thompson of Elmhurst, who has been hammering at the door leading to the sanctum reserved for champions for several years, won pride of place with a grand total of 245 for the 54-holes, the count by no means representing the high article of golf Matt played throughout. Second to him, but seven strokes in arrears came A. A. ("Sandy") Weir, formerly of Regina, but now of Edmonton, who made himself acquainted locally by fighting a brilliant battle against Charlie Hague, in the semi-finals of the Canadian Amateur Championships at the Winnipeg Club last year. A. J. Wilson, Manitoba Amateur Champion, was third among the Amateurs with 260, a 91 over Elmhurst in the final round, effectively putting him out of the running.

Forty-six competitors engaged in the competition, the number, considering the lateness of the season and the short notice given, being eminently satisfactory from the viewpoint of the Provincial Association. The interest shown testified to the demand for an annual competition along same lines, and it is understood the event is likely to become a permanent feature of the season's programme. Excellent "overhead" conditions prevailed throughout the two days, but the combination of strong wind and tricky greens proved a heavy handicap to the players, and this combination to a great extent accounted for the somewhat tall scoring. The majority of the strokes were lost on the putting greens, which, offering too little resistance made the ball exceedingly susceptible to the wind. This particularly applied at Elmhurst, but both at St. Charles and Winnipeg putting presented a "nervy" task and really brilliant "long games" were shot to pieces by the number of one-footers missed. No competitor displayed confidence with his putter, and several were seen to discard the usual instrument for a mid-iron, with but little better results.

One of the most spectacular shots of the entire competition was credited to the genial Matt Thompson. With a strong following wind, he over-drove the 350 yard 13th at Elmhurst, finding the bunker behind the green. Long drives were also credited to Dick Holden, who slammed the pill for a similar distance at St. Charles on the Saturday.

Jack Pringle, the Brandon professional, and Duncan Sutherland, the dual champion from Edmonton, failed to find their real form during the Tournament, but were under a double handicap of tricky greens and strange surroundings.

The event was made more noteworthy by the participation in it of the Count de Anvers, a prominent Belgian player, whose 89 over the St. Charles course Saturday gave some indications of his ability with clubs. Unfortunately, he was unable to play through, a fact which the Association deeply regretted.

Little more than half the entry turned in cards for the three rounds, while several players dropped out without completing the circuit, a medley of threesomes and foursomes coming in as the "gloamin' gathered grey" while many came home with different partners. J. W. Thompson, the little Elmhurst player who had pushed forward into a good position among the Amateurs at the Winnipeg, was forced to retire at the tenth hole at Elmhurst, through sudden sickness.

Had stricter attention been paid to the starting-time rule, the whole event might have passed off more smoothly, and with less inconvenience. That, however, is the only adverse criticism that can be levelled at the inaugural Open Tournament for the Championship of Manitoba. Incidentally the curtain is rung down on competitive golf in Winnipeg for the season of 1922.

The leading scores were:—

GOLF AND BUSINESS

The Canadian Paint, Oil & Varnish Association Hold Successful Meeting at Hamilton Golf Club.

(W. Hastings Webling)

ANY misguided person laboring under the delusion that all business of the present day is transacted entirely in the solemn surroundings of a private office, or round the polished mahogany of a board room, is really not in touch with the progress of events. That such a condition used to obtain is admitted and even yet there may be many of the old school who from physical infirmity or personal prejudice still insist on proceeding along the stern unbending lines of long ago. But a new and happier era is upon us, for a big percentage of business, both big and small, is now conducted in the social environment of the Golf Club.

For instance, should the President of "United Kimonos" decide the time was ripe for a little readjustment of prices—upwards, does he call in his fellow conspirators, I means competitors, for a dignified conference behind closed doors in his palatial offices on Main Street? Not so! Rather does he send forth a cheery little message inviting them to a lunch at the Country Club with a round of golf to follow. Then perchance between holes, or courses, or possibly (we whisper it softly) between secret sniffers slowly absorbed in some secluded corner of the locker room, the wiley old bird broaches his proposition and the matter is speedily settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. Thus the day, like the song, ends perfectly.

Or take Mr. Richard R. Bookem, General Manager of Sales for "Tubes Consolidated." He is making a business call on "Majestic Motors" and is promptly shown into the scantum scantorum of Mr. James McSlicer, the astute purchasing agent of the above concern. After indulging in the usual salutations, there is a brief lull in the conversation and Mr. McSlicer is observed to fidget somewhat and cast furtive glances at the clock. Finally he asks his visitor if he has anything on for the afternoon and Mr. Bookem, after registering deep thought, admits that he has nothing on of grave importance. Upon which, Mr. McSlicer registers relief, touches a button, hands over a bundle of documents to a waiting stenographer, says he expects to be out of town for the afternoon and together the two dash off to the Golf Club for all the world like a couple of school-boys playing hookey. But be sure of this, before Mr. Bookem leaves the city he has a fine fat order tucked away in an inside pocket, very close to his heart.

These and many other incidents could be offered to prove the fact that nowadays business and golf are very closely interwoven, and leads me back to the fact that the Paint, Oil & Varnish Manufacturers of Canada are right up-to-date in this as in every other respect. It is their duty in life to brighten up the world with paint and varnish, and incidentally brighten up their own existence with the greatest of all games—golf. Anyway, it has long been settled in their own mind that all work and no play neither results in health nor happiness so from the parent body has sprung the Canadian Paint, Oil & Varnish Golf Association, consisting of twenty-six members representing the leading firms in this country, who meet at regular intervals in various cities for the proper consideration of business problems, followed by a friendly meeting on the links.

The latest re-union was held on the beautiful links of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club in Ancaster, Ont. the host on this occasion being Mr. Reginald Scarfe, President and General Manager of Scarfe & Co'y., Brantford. Don't let the impression arise that Mr. Scarfe invited his friendly enemies with any ulterior motive, but rather to do his bit and show his appreciation for the wonderful hospitality received from his brother manufacturers in other cities. That business may have been mentioned in a casual way during this meeting is not beyond the bounds of possibility, but from personal observation there seemed to be only one subject really deserving serious consideration and that was golf. However, even Presidents, General Managers or those of lesser rank, sometimes need a decent exercise for a day or so on the links, especially if they are married, hence the Association, what?

The competition on this occasion commenced in Ancaster, but we believe was to be completed in Toronto. As to this we are in the dark. In fact, the system of handicapping and awarding of prizes, etc. in most of the business tournaments we have been so far privileged to attend, remains a mystery to our young and unsophisticated mind. But one thing is assured, everyone seems absolutely satisfied with results and the jollying that usually follows is indicative of the fact that the participants are out for a jolly good time and they are jolly sure they are going to get it, you know, which after all is all that matters. The prizes for competition in Hamilton were two fine silver cups, the first presented by Mr. George Henderson, President of Brandram-Henderson, Ltd., and was won by Mr. F. J. Pemberly. The second for Runner-up was presented by Mr. Harry P. Livingston of the Dominion Linseed Oil Co'y., and captured by that sterling player, Mr. W. L. Jamieson of the R. C. Jamieson Co'y., Montreal.

The Committee of the Paint, Oil & Varnish Golf Association consists of five members, Messrs. T. F. Monypenny, F. J. Pemberthy, W. C. McLaren, W. B. Ramsay and E. Liersch, the latter being Chairman. The members who played in the competition at Ancaster were Messrs. Charles Hickman, John Irwin, a very promising performer over a short course, R. H. Jamieson, W. L. Ingston, F. J. Pemberthy, A. C. Ran-Jamieson, Reginald Scarfe, H. P. Liv-som, H. A. Reiffenstein and E. Liersch.

Needless to say the affair was a pronounced success in every respect and each player present was enthusiastic in his praise of Hamilton's famous links.

WINNIPEG LADIES' TOURNAMENT

Held Over the Public Course at Kildonan Park is Participated in by Nearly 150 Entrants. The Event, the First of its Kind Ever Held in Canada, is a Great Success.

DEMONSTRATING the wonderful vogue of the game in Winnipeg, last month at the Public Links at Kildonan Park, no fewer than 142 ladies entered for the Tournament which was staged there by the Park Commissioners in order to encourage golf among women on the Municipal course.

The event, the first of its kind ever held in Canada, was a great success, all the leading lady golfers of Winnipeg participating.

Making the remarkable score of 86 over a wet and heavy course, Mrs. K. C. Allen led the field in the qualifying round of the Championship. She was closely followed by Mrs. Hutchings with a splendid 87. Playing conditions were decidedly adverse and the ladies found it difficult to play a brassie with any degree of comfort.

The contestants were grouped into nine flights, including the Championship flight for which the following 16 qualified:—

Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Phipps Baker, Mrs. K. C. Allen, Mrs. Hugh Niven, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Smart, Mrs. Fleming, Miss Burbidge, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. R. M. Simpson, Mrs. McTavish, Mrs. Northwood, Mrs. Kreger, Mrs. Pellenz, Mrs. Keoster.

Very interesting matches resulted throughout the competition, Miss Burbidge and Mesdames Allen, Fleming and Pellenz eventually reaching the semi-finals, Mrs. Allen defeating Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Pellenz, Miss Burbidge. These two well-known players were pitted against one another in the finals. And Mrs. Pellenz, after one of the finest matches ever seen in Winnipeg, emerged victorious and received the congratulations of hosts of golfing friends.

Mrs. Pellenz was one up at the 17th and the contestants halved the final hole, giving her the game. It was a nip-and-tuck match from start to finish and both ladies displayed their customary excellent form. A large gallery followed the ladies around the course.

The consolation flight was won by Mrs. Hart at the expense of Mrs. Matthews, while the other flights were won respectively by Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Dunlop and Mrs. D'Armaund.

Mrs. Allen won the prize for the best medal score, 86, in the qualifying round and also captured the driving aggregate on Tuesday. Mrs. Phipps Baker made the longest drive, 182 yards, and Mrs. Matthews won the approaching competition with Mrs. Duncan second.

At the conclusion of the Championship final, an enjoyable ceremony took place in the club house, when the winners and runners-up were presented with prizes by Mr. Drewry. "The Municipal course is a credit to the city and has done much to add to the popularity of the game," Mr. Drewry said, adding that he was glad to see the interest taken in golf by so many ladies. Mr. J. H. Blackwood, the popular Secretary of the Parks Board, also made some suitable remarks and was roundly applauded. He paid a tribute to the Committee in charge of the Tournament, Mesdames Northwood, Allen, Fleming and Pellenz.

U. S. WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss Glenna Collett is Both Medalist and Champion—Canadian Open Champion, Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Makes a Very Fine Showing Against the Pick of the Lady Golfers of the Continent

MRS. W. A. GAVIN, the Canadian Lady Open Champion, undoubtedly played this season the finest game of her quite long career on the links. Her warmest admirer here, however, hardly expected her to go so far as she did in the United States Championship at White Sulphur Spring, Virginia, September 25th—30th. In such a classy field it was a notable achievement for the matronly little Englishwoman to keep the Union Jack flying until the finals. It must have been especially an intense satisfaction to her at White Sulphur Springs to demonstrate that her victory over Miss Stirling at Toronto was no fluke and that this year she really has the measure of the wonderful girl from Georgia, now a resident of New York.

Miss Glenna Collett, the wonderful 19-year old golfer of Providence, R.I., winner of the U. S. Championship and Qualifying Round.

The finals in the United States Championship is at 36 holes as it is in Great Britain, and as it should be in Canada and this severe test was all in favour of Miss Glenna Collett, only about half the age of Mrs. Gavin and who as was generally expected, eventually won the Championship and kept the American cup from once again crossing the Atlantic, as it has done on three previous occasions, Miss Dorothy Campbell (Mrs. Hurd), winning it in 1909 and 1910 and Miss Gladys Ravenscroft (Mrs. Dobell) in 1913. Miss Collett, the newly-crowned Queen of American golf (her victory over the Canadian Champion, Mrs. Gavin, entitles her to that distinction) is one of the younger players of the United States, she being only 19 years of age. She comes from Providence, R. I., and made an excellent showing in all of last year's big events and won the Championship of Massachusetts. Experts have freely predicted that she was on this year's form the best woman player on the Continent and the experts for once have proved correct.

The following is the story of the U.S. Championship by rounds:—

FIRST ROUND—UPPER HALF:

Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, defeated Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, Hutchison, 6 and 5.

Miss Elizabeth Harding, Bultusrol, defeated Miss Rosamond Sherwood, St. George, 6 and 5.

Mrs. F. C. Letts, Onwentsia, defeated Mrs. E. H. Fidler, Merion, 5 and 3.

Miss Edith Cummings, Onwentsia, defeated Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, 3 and 2.

Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Merion, defeated Miss Kathleen Gorman, Parkersburg, 6 and 4.

LOWER HALF:

Mrs. Quentin F. Feitner, South Shore, defeated Miss Marion Hollins, Westboro, 7 and 6.

Mrs. D. C. Hurd, Westmoreland, defeated Miss Audrey Fause, St. Louis, 3 and 1.

Mrs. H. Arnold, Jackson, Greenwich, defeated Miss Bessie Fenn, Poland, 4 and 3.

Mrs. G. M. Heckscher, Piping Rock, defeated Miss Frances Halloran, Salt Lake City, 1 up.

Miss Alexa Stirling, Atlanta, defeated Miss Elizabeth M. Gordon, Providence, 6 and 4.

Mrs. Clifton G. Alexander, Exmoor, defeated Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Huntington Valley, 2 and 1.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Huntercombe, England, defeated Miss M. Cameron, Annandale, 1 up (19 holes).

Miss Florence Hadfield, Blue Mound, defeated Miss Eara Fownes, Oakmont, 4 and 2.

SECOND ROUND:

Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, defeated Miss Elizabeth Hardin, Bultusrol, 5 and 3.

Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr., Chicago, defeated Mrs. Norman K. Toerge, Nassau, 2 and 1.

Miss Edith Cummings, Chicago, defeated Mrs. David Gaut, Memphis, 1 up.

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Norman P. Rood, Wilmington, 1 up.

Mrs. Quentin Feitner, South Shore, defeated Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Pittsburg, 3 and 2.

Mrs. H. Arnold, Jackson, Greenwich, defeated Mrs. G. Maurice Heckscher, Piping Rock, 2 and 1.

Miss Alexa Stirling, North Hempstead, defeated Mrs. Clifton G. Alexander, Chicago, 7 and 6.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Huntercombe, England, defeated Miss Frances Hadfield, Milwaukee, 7 and 6.

THIRD ROUND:

Miss Collett defeated Mrs. F. C. Letts, 3 and 2.

Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson defeated Mrs. Quentin Feitner, 5 and 4.

Miss Edith Cummings defeated Mrs. R. H. Barlow, 5 and 4.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin defeated Miss Alexa Stirling (in the most sensational match of the whole Championship) 1 up.

SEMI-FINALS:

Miss Collett defeated Miss Cummings 2 up.

Mrs. Gavin defeated Mrs. Arnold Jackson 4 and 2. (Mrs. Gavin had an approximated card of 78 filling out the by-holes).

FINALS:

Miss Collett defeated Mrs. Gavin 5 and 4.

Miss Collett in the morning round of 18 holes completely outplayed the plucky Britisher and at lunch time was 6 up. Mrs. Gavin in the afternoon made a brave attempt to stem the tide of victory, but the Providence "wonder girl" would not be denied and the match ended on the 32nd green.

In the morning, Miss Collett had a medal of 43 and 39 against Mrs. Gavin's 45 and 45 (approximated). In the afternoon, Mrs. Gavin was out in 42 to Miss Collett's 44. In the 5 holes played coming in Miss Collett had a 24 to Mrs. Gavin's 25.

Miss Collett not only won the Championship but she also won the Qualifying Medal with a 41-40-81. In second place was the 1921 U.S. Champion, Miss Marion Hollins 83, whilst tied for 3rd place with Mrs. Norman Toerge and Miss Fordyce was Miss Alexa Stirling. Miss Edith Leitch, although coached by her sister, Miss Cecil Leitch, failed to qualify as did two or three Canadian entrants. It is generally conceded that Miss Collett is the finest woman golfer ever developed in the United States. From all accounts she is quite in the class of Miss Joyce Wethered and Miss Cecil Leitch.

CHAMPION AGAIN

Hunstanton, Eng., Oct. 13.—Miss Joyce Wethered retained her title of English Woman Golf Champion by defeating Miss Jean Stocker, 7 up and 6 to play, over 36 holes in the final round of the Championship to-day. This is the second Championship won in England this year by Miss Wethered. Last May she defeated Miss Cecil Leitch, 9 up and 7 to play, at Sandwich for the British Women's Open Golf Championship.

Miss Wethered played fine golf throughout the Tournament, beating her opponents by substantial margins until yesterday, when she had a narrow escape, Miss Mollie Gourlay taking her to the 19th hole in the semi-finals before Miss Wethered was able to win. The Champion took this match after Miss Gourlay's ball had lipped the cup and rolled away, winding up the closest match ever seen in the Championships.

Showing the wonderful golf which Miss Joyce is playing this season, recently on the return of her brother Roger and Cyril Tolley from the States she played them at Dornoch. The lady Champion, who received from each a third of a stroke, was in great form and beat them both. Mr. Tolley, whose first visit this was to Dornoch, she beat by three and two, and her brother by three and one. She was round in a remarkable 76, and only took 36 strokes to the first nine holes, which was better than either of her opponents.

SOUTHERN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Abe Mitchell and Diegel Tie for First Place and Britisher in an Extra 3-Hole Play-off Wins, But Will Not Be Recognized as Champion

ABE MITCHELL will not be recognized as the Open Champion of the Southern Golf Association, according to a statement issued by its President, H. F. Smith.

Mr. Smith declared that the decision of Mitchell and Diegel to consolidate first and second place money and split it evenly and to play three additional holes to determine the title holder was illegal, Mitchell defeating Diegel in this 3-hole play-off.

Mitchell and Diegel tied for low medal on the 72-hole championship at Nashville, Tenn., September 30th and were still tied upon the completion of their authorized 36-hole play-off. It was then that the Briton and Yankee entered into the "50-50" arrangement which President Smith characterized as a private agreement without official sanction and therefore invalid as far as the Championship was concerned.

In order to constitute a valid test, Mr. Smith added, the contestants should have played a full round of 18 holes under the auspices of the Southern Golf Association.

As matters now stand the South has no official Open Champion, but Abe Mitchell and Leo Diegel are each richer by $1,250.

CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONSHIPS

Mr. J. Neville Wins the Men's and Miss May K. Browns, Former Tennis Star, the Women's Championship.

CALIFORNIA held its largest and greatest Golf Championship at the Del Monte and Pebble Beach courses on September 2nd to 10th. There were entries made by 380 men for the State Amateur title event, and 91 entries for the Del Monte Women's Championship. This is said to be the largest number of entries ever made for a State Championship any place.

"Jack" Neville achieved the honor of winning the California title for the fourth time. He played brilliant golf throughout the Tournament and defeated Robert Hunter of Berkeley, 11 to 9, in the final match. The outstanding feature of the play, however, took place in the semi-final round when Neville brought about the defeat of Fred J. Wright, Jr. the former Boston player, who is now making his home in Los Angeles. This match was witnessed by thousands of golf players, who saw Neville go from a 5 down disadvantage in the morning, and a 4 down handicap in the afternoon, to win the last three holes, and the right to play for the Championship by the narrow margin of one up.

E. S. ("Scotty") Armstrong of Los Angeles, who like Neville, is one of the old guard of California golfers, was the medalist with a score of 145. Neville was second with 147. Claude ("Bud") Edwards, the San Francisco boy, proved the sensation of the Tournament by putting out "Scotty" Armstrong in the second round. George Nickel of Burlingame also furnished a surprise in eliminating Dr. C. H. Walter, Northern California Champion, in the first round.

A. R. Skelley of Riverside, won the Del Monte Cup Flight. In addition to the Championship and the Del Monte Flights of 32 each, there was play in 16 other Flights of 16.

Miss Mary K. Browne, who is internationally known in the tennis world as the former National Women's Champion of America, provided the greatest sensation in years in women's golf by taking the honors of the Del Monte Women's Championship. In accomplishing this, she defeated Miss Doreen Kavanagh, present State champion, 3 to 1, in the final match. Miss Browne had a five on the 18th hole with a medal score of 87, which is the greatest round of golf ever played at Del Monte by a woman.

The record Tournament was well conducted under the direction of Fred A. Purner. It was promoted under the auspices of the California Golf Association. It ran off without a serious complaint or protest of any kind. The seaside course at Pebble Beach, the historic Del Monte course, was used for the play. Ideal weather favored the Championship.

At the annual meeting of the California Golf Association, the 1923 Amateur Championship was awarded to Del Monte and Pebble Beach, as well as the 1923 Junior Championship. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: J. A. Mackenzie, President; Ed. B. Tufts and Roger D. Lapham, Vice-Presidents; Frank Kales, Secretary-Treasurer; A. H. Vincent, William M. Armstrong, E. H. Seaver, W. W. Campbell and Dr. Paul M. Hunter, Directors.

WOMEN'S SENIOR GOLF ASSOCIATION

Organization Successfully Formed at Lambton—Many Prominent Ladies are on the Executive—First Competition Already Has Been Held

A MEETING was held at the Lambton Golf Club, September 21st, 1922, to organize "The Women's Senior Golf Association," Mrs. A. E. Mussen, Montreal, in the chair. The following officers and committee were appointed: Patronesses: Lady Baillie, Toronto; Mrs. A. P. Burrett, Toronto; President, Mrs. A. E. Mussen,

Mr. H. R. Tilley has very kindly offered a cup, which will be played for next year in Montreal.

The "Canadian Golfer" heartily congratulates the ladies of Canada on the formation of a Seniors' Association—the first on this Continent, although in Great Britain such an Association was formed a year or so ago. The Men's

Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns, Toronto,
Hon. Secretary of the Women's Senior Golf Association.

Mrs. A. E. Mussen, First President of the Women's Senior Golf Association.

Montreal; Vice-President, Mrs. Arthur Miles, Toronto; Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns, 399 Huron Street, Toronto. Committee, Lady Egan, Ottawa; Mrs. J. C. Dunlop, Montreal; Miss F. M. Greene, Montreal; Mrs. A. E. Whitehead, Montreal; Mrs. Ernest B. Smith, London; Mrs. Bostwick, Hamilton; Mrs. A. Rodger, Toronto; Mrs. Stikeman, Toronto; Mrs. H. R. Tilley, Toronto. Mrs. David MacPherson, Montreal.

The membership is limited to 50, the annual fee is $2.00 and any golfer 40 years old or over is eligible.

Senior Associations both in the United States and Canada have been an unqualified success and there is no reason whatever why the women too, should not find such an organization a delightful means of meeting together once a year on the links and enjoying a profitable two or three-day Tournament both from a social and golfing standpoint. In the States and Canada the Seniors' age limit with the men is 55 but the ladies are placing it, and very wisely placing it, at 40, although perhaps in the years to come they may find it advisable to advance it 5 or 10 years.

In the meantime, however, "fair forty" is the determining factor.

Already the Association has had an impromptu competition, this being run off at Lambton during the Closed Championship. Mrs. A. F. Rodger of Lambton has the honour of being the first lady "Senior Champion" of America, she returning the best gross score. Mrs. A. E. Mussen of The Royal Montreal, the newly-elected President, had the best nett score. Mrs. H. R. Tilley of Lambton won the sealed hole division of the competition and Mrs. R.

S. Fuller of St. Catharines, a special prize competition. Very appropriately, at the presentation of prizes at the Championship meeting at Lambton, Mr. George S. Lyon, five times Senior Champion and Chairman of the Seniors' Tournament Committee handed to these Lady Seniors the trophies won by them.

Hail, thrice hail to the Canadian Womens' Senior Golf Association accompanied by all good wishes. With such an able Executive the organization cannot help but be a huge success.

TORONTO A GOLFING HUB

No Fewer Than Seventeen Courses Now Cater to the Twelve Thousand Players of the Queen City.

AS pointed out by the Toronto "Star Weekly" Toronto is now hemmed in by golf courses.

Seventeen golf clubs, no less, now occupy hundreds of acres of land on all sides of the city.

It is land that yesterday was farms and tomorrow will be garden suburbs of Toronto. But now it is wide undulating expanses of lawn-like meadows, laid out, trimmed and watered at great expense, the playground of some twelve thousand men and women of Toronto.

The average membership of these seventeen clubs is between six and seven hundred. One club has about a thousand members, and a couple of the newer ones have around three hundred.

The five new clubs opened this year are the Thistledown, out beyond Weston; the York Downs, on north Bathurst Street; the Thornhill, near the village of that name on Yonge Street; the Uplands, just north of the Thornhill Club and the Cedarbrook, north of the Kingston Road, on the Markham Road.

Of these, the Thornhill is the most advanced, having its two club houses completed and a full eighteen-hole course in play. The other four clubs are using remodeled farm houses as club houses, and all will have their eighteen holes in play for next year.

The Thornhill Club is situated on a branch of the Don River, with a course laid along very picturesque flats of the river and on the higher meadows. The Uplands Club is on the same water, but is a more wooded course, and is very cleverly laid out in 130 acres and a 6,300 yard course. The York Downs Club is on meadow land, which a small army of ninety men have been working on all summer, clearing and creating hazards and laying a water system for the conditioning of the greens. The Thistledown Club is also in a beautiful river valley, and is reminiscent of the Lambton course in its great heights and broad valley flats. The Cedarbrook Club, as its name implies, is also a water course, and is on the old Frank Goforth farm of 175 acres.

This brings the number of clubs in Toronto to seventeen, as follows: The Toronto Club, Rosedale, Lambton, Mississauga, Lakeview, Scarboro, Weston, Summit, Hunt Club, the Lake Shore Country Club near Clarkson's, the two Municipal clubs, Humber Valley and Glen Stewart in the east end, and the five new ones.

Five golf clubs are already defunct in Toronto as the result of the city having grown out to them and rendered the value of their land too great to be played upon—the Highlands, where Jane Street now is, all built upon; the High Park, just west of High Park on Bloor Street, and the Spadina Club, on Spadina, north of St. Clair, all built over years ago, and the former site of the Rosedale Club, where St. Andrew's College now stands, and the Toronto Club's old course on east Gerrard Street.

MALE GOLFERS DEFEAT WOMEN

Interesting Matches at Garden City Result in the Men Vanquishing in a Most Ungallant Manner the Best Lady Golfers of the States

(By the Golf Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle)

Garden City, L. I., Oct. 9—That the female of the golfing species is more deadly than the male applies only to putting. This was proven yesterday on the links of the Garden City Golf Club where a team of male golfers took five out of eight matches from a team made up of the best women golfers. One match resulted in a tie. The women were allowed six bisques, or strokes, to be taken on whatever hole the women chose. The consensus among the women was that it would have been fairer had they been allowed half a stroke on every hole. Analysis of the scores of three matches showed that the men won 30 of the holes, halved 18 and lost 6, which, under the arrangement considered by the women, would still give the men the advantage but not so much so as under the bisque method. The idea of being allowed a stroke on six holes, and not being able to decide on what holes they wanted the allowance, proved annoying in some cases, and a hope was expressed that next year's series of matches would be arranged on a half stroke a hole basis.

The women actually should be credited with fourth point, for Frank Dyer failed to put in an appearance, allowing Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd to win by default.

Miss Glenna Collett, Woman Champion, and Rudy Knepper, the Sioux City star, drew the largest gallery, but did not play as good golf as did Jesse Sweetser, National Champion, and Miss Alexa Stirling, former Woman Champion. Sweetser defeated Miss Stirling, 4 and 2. Alexa's golf was good, but not good enough to offset the remarkable golf played by the Amateur Champion who negotiated the first nine holes in 2 under par and the homeward journey in 1 over par. He had a 35 going out and a 37 coming in. His golf was too good to allow competition from any women who had but 6 strokes allowance. Sweetser started right in by getting "birdies" on the first two holes and then slowed up, satisfying himself with par figures for the next seven holes. On the last nine he played six of the holes in par, taking an extra stroke on two holes and getting a "birdie" on the other.

Miss Glenna Collett, recently crowned Champion, could not quite hold Rudy Knepper, conqueror of Tolley. She was off in her driving, the one department of her game where she usually excels. Miss Collett started off poorly, putting her drive into the rough, but a fine recovery saved her and she sank her putt for a "birdie" 3. On the fifth tee she was wild again on her drive

Mrs. Arnold Jackson and John Anderson, the Siwanoy star, played a very interesting match that was brought to the last green for settlement. Mrs. Jackson had Anderson 1 up and defeated him by halving the hole with him. Anderson played the first nine holes in 35, but did not do so well on the homeward trip, getting two sixes, one on the courses's longest hole and another on a par 4 hole, which made him 3 over par for a 39.

The best match of the day was that in which Miss Edith Cummings defeated Max Marston. When Max stood 1 up at the 13th hole with no more bisques to concede, the battle seemed as good as won; but plucky Miss Cummings astounded the gallery and Max himself by outplaying her rival stroke for stroke and actually beating him on the home green with a par 4 by 1 up. In obtaining this sensational triumph Miss Cummings circled the course in 41, 40—81, which made Marston's splendid 74 of no avail.

In spite of his defeat, Marston, who was really responsible for America's first "sex match," was so delighted with the competition that he arranged to make it an annual fixture to be held each Fall at the conclusion of the Lesley matches.

GOLF'S HIGHEST HONOUR

The Prince of Wales Plays Himself in as Captain of the Royal and Ancient at Old St. Andrews.

A cable from St. Andrew's, Sept. 27th:—

"Despite wet weather, a crowd of 5,000 people applauded His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales when he "played himself in" as Captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews this morning by driving off the first ball, teed by Andrew Kiraldy, the Club's veteran professional for 50 years, and, according to custom, becoming the winner of the gold ball which will be added to the collection attached to two massive silver clubs, and also becoming the winner of the Queen Adelaide medal. The medal was given in 1839 by Queen Adelaide. It is a large, heavy trophy of gold, with a glass face, and is suspended round the neck by means of a blue ribbon, now worn and faded, but irreplaceable. The caddie who finds the ball and returns it to the new Captain is rewarded with a sovereign. The Prince "dubbed" his shot, the crowded gallery apparently effecting his effort."

In connection with the above despatch it might be stated that the Captaincy of the Royal and Ancient is considered the greatest honour in the golfing world. The late King Edward (then Prince of Wales, although he did not "play himself in") has held the office and also many of the leading statesmen and diplomats of Great Britain. When in Canada the Prince of Wales played over many courses, but was very adverse to driving off before any spectators. It is not surprising, therefore, that he "flubbed" his shot in the presence of a gallery of 5,000 people at historic old St. Andrews. He really is quite a fair golfer and intensely fond of the game, although he does not have many opportunities to indulge in it, owing to his numerous engagements.

CANADIAN LADIES' GOLF UNION

Mrs. Leonard Murray is Again Elected President—Association in a Most Flourishing Condition

THE Annual Meeting of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union was held at the Lambton Golf and Country Club on Tuesday evening, September 19th at 8 o'clock. The President, Mrs. Leonard Murray, was in the chair and there was a large attendance of delegates and members.

The report of the Secretary-Treasurer showed the finances were in a satisfactory condition. As the Secretary-Treasurer had been abroad for three months, her report for the year was embodied in the Presidential address. The membership of Clubs had increased to 67. The C.L.G.U. had stimulated golf and had been helpful to younger Clubs. Rivermead had marked an epoch in women's golfing history and special mention must be made of the work of Miss Brownlee and Mrs. Gamble. The international entries had been of especial interest. All golfers regretted the enforced absence from the Championship of Miss Cecil Leitch, our former Champion, and hoped that ere long she will be back in the game winning past laurels. It had been impossible to hold the Closed Championship before the Open, owing to the conflict of dates with the U.S. Championship. In future, all such conflicts would be avoided because of the co-operation of representative committees. The Executive had passed an important decision allowing the silver division to play for scores two days a week.

The report of the Quebec branch of the C.L.G.U. was read by the Secretary-Treasurer. It showed an active organization doing excellent work in the interests of golf. Mrs. Laird of Winnipeg spoke briefly of the work in Manitoba.

Miss Cecil Leitch received a great ovation when she rose to give an address. After thanking in her own name and her sister's, the Canadians for their kind reception and hospitality, she congratulated them on their improved form in the game. She very kindly answered many questions from the meeting, giving a good deal of advice on different aspects of golf.

As usual, the topics, Open and Closed Championships brought forth lively discussion. The following recommendation was passed to be forwarded to the R.C.G.A.: "That handicaps for Open be limited to 15."

The following resolutions were also passed:

"That the Canadian Closed Championship be held a week previous to the Open."

"That the C.L.G.U. buy a shield from proceeds of the Tournament, for Team Match for the Closed Championship, the four best scores to constitute the team."

"That two members from Toronto and one from outside Toronto should automatically retire from the Executive annually."

Miss Allan, on behalf of the President of the Mount Bruno Golf Club, extended an invitation for the Open Championship for next year.

The President spoke of the year book. The matter was left to the Executive to deal with.

The report of the Nominating Committee was unanimously adopted and the following Officers and Executive were declared elected:

President, Mrs. Leonard Murray, Toronto; Vice-Presidents, British Columbia to be appointed; Manitoba, Mrs. Northwood, Winnipeg; New Brunswick to be appointed; Quebec, Mrs. Beverly Robinson, Montreal; Nova Scotia, Mrs. McGregor Mitchell, Halifax. Secretary-Treasurer, Miss D. G. Faulkner, Toronto. Executive, Mrs. Hope Gibson, Hamilton, Miss Nesbitt, Woodstock; Mrs. Harry Hewitt, Brantford; Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Hamilton; Mrs. Sidney Jones, Toronto; Mrs. A. F. Rodger, Toronto; Mrs. A. N. Mitchell, Toronto; Mrs. Deeks, Toronto; Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto; Miss Elmsley, Toronto; Mrs. Ernest Smith, London.

The Secretary-Treasurer expressed her indebtedness to the President for her kindness in taking over the Secretarial work during her absence.

THE LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIPS

And the Advisability of Holding the "Open" and "Closed" During Successive Weeks.

A valued correspondent writes:

"I understand that the C.L.G.U. at their meeting the other night decided to recommend that the next Ladies' Championship, both the Open and Closed, be held in Montreal. Personally, I do not see that it would not be better to have the Open in Toronto and the Closed in Montreal, and vice versa the following year, and not have them follow each other, but perhaps a month apart. I am sure that some of the players were too tired the second week this year at Lambton and results showed it. Next year they want to have the Closed first, and it is perfectly evident to my mind that if they do this, the players will not be in fit condition to come up against outside better players and do their best, and I think it is a matter that the "Canadian Golfer" might comment on to some extent."

There is a good deal to say both pro and con in connection with the above communication. Two weeks of Championship golf is certainly a pretty hard ordeal, as even the best of the men experts will acknowledge. The great trouble is that distances are so great in Canada that to have the Open Championship one month and the Closed Championship the second month would militate against the attendance at both events of a number of the ladies, especially from points West. The whole question, however, should be very carefully considered by the capable Executive of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union before taking decisive action another year.

"THE LOWEST EVER"

Mr. Robert H. K. Browning, Editor of "Golfing," London, Compiles a History of Sensational Rounds on the Links of the World.

THIS has been a year of sensational rounds—Duncan's last round of 68 to win the Daily Mail Tournament at St. Andrews, his 69 in that gallant last round at Sandwich; Aubrey Boomer's third round of 65 in the French Open Championship at La Boulie; Sarazen's last round of 68 to win the American Open, Jock Hutchison's rounds of 67 and 68 in the qualifying rounds of the same event; Mr. Colin Aylmer's marvellous 56 at Ranelagh. It is worthy of remark that the dry weather of last year, favourable as it was to long driving, produced no exceptionally low scores, whereas the "wonder rounds" above referred to, were in nearly every case made on courses that were heavy with rain under conditions favourable to accurate approaching.

Of all these rounds undoubtedly the most remarkable is Boomer's which is the lowest single round ever done in an Open Tournament of the first class. It was a wonderful achievement, for La Boulie is a long course—6,646 yards, which is longer than any of the British Championship courses, except Deal—with eight holes of 420 yards or over. The par is 72; Boomer was seven strokes under it:—

Out 4 4 2 3 4 3 5 3 3 —31
Home 3 4 4 4 4 3 4 4 4 —34

Total 65

There is only one 5 on this card, and that is at the seventh, which is 560 yards and not to be reached in two shots by any player.

Curiously, E. Lafitte, of Biarritz, came in with a scarcely less sensational fourth round of 67, which gave him second place—but eleven strokes behind Boomer—and won him the French Native Professional Championship, for which the same scores counted. But this does not detract from the marvellous nature of Boomer's figures, for in fact apart from these two "mad" rounds, there was no single round below 72, and the aggregates were no lower than they have often been before at La Boulie.

To return, however, to the record score, it is not quite correct to say that Boomer's score is the lowest achieved for eighteen holes in any Championship. Nobody is likely to beat the record set up by George Duncan in August, 1913, in the event which bore the picturesque title of "the Open Championship of the Lucerne Lakes." Lieutenant "Wally" Marks sent me a complete account of it at the time, from which it appeared that the Championship was played over 36 holes at Axenfels and 36 holes at Lucern. Duncan's score was 62, 56, 71, 74—total 263, the best score ever returned for 72 holes. C. H. Mayo had 61, 63, 72, 71—267.

Duncan's total of 118 for the two rounds at Axenfels and his 56 for the second round are respectively world's records for 36 and 18 holes. Duncan's card for that record second round read:—

Out 4 4 4 3 3 3 2 3 2—28
In 3 3 4 3 3 3 3 2 4—28

Total 56

Previous to this the best Tournament returns were the scores which in 1911 and 1912 won the Open Championship of Germany at Baden-Baden. In the former year Harry Vardon won with a total for the four rounds of 279, at that time a world's record, and twelve months later J. H. Taylor and Ray tied at exactly the same figure. Two years ago, at Hamilton, Ontario, also, the late Douglas Edgar won the Canadian Open with a score of 278.

Until recently the lowest return ever made for eighteen holes in this country was James Braid's 57 for Hedderwick course, which was in match play and in strictness cannot be accepted as a proper score, as was also the score of 56 returned by Mr. Colin Aylmer a few weeks ago over Ranelagh. In the Open Championship the lowest return ever

A LADIES' NUMBER!

By large and small this October issue is by way of being a Ladies' Number, containing as it does interesting write-ups of the Canadian Open, Canadian Closed and U. S. Championships besides particulars of the formation of a Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association, the Men vs. Women match in the States and the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union. But who will say the ladies are not entitled to a well-nigh Special Number of their own? The women, God bless 'em all, have done and are doing much, very much for Golf on this continent. There's nothing too good for them from a golfing and "Canadian Golfer" standpoint.

made is 68—by J. H. Taylor at Sandwich in 1904, afterwards equalled by Ernest Gray at Prestwick in 1908, and by the late Tom Ball on two occasions—at Deal in 1909 and at Muirfield in 1912. For the four rounds the British "best on record" is Braid's 291 at Prestwick in 1904. The American lowest is the 286 with which Mr. "Chick" Evans won in 1916 at Minneapolis. In the French Championship 290 has been broken on several occasions. At La Boulie in 1911, with the flower of the British professionals competing, Massy won with 284, and the same aggregate enabled Boomer and Massy to lead the rest of the field by seven strokes at Le Touquet last year. In the recent New York Western Championship, Duncan's total was 281.

MUNICIPAL GOLF IN WINNIPEG

Prominent Western Paper Editorially Pays Tribute to the Great Value of a Public Course.

(Winnipeg Evening Tribune)

"DAME Fortune seems to smile on Winnipeg's municipal endeavors. The city has succeeded in big things, to wit in its hydro-electric system, in its Shoal Lake water supply and in its housing commission. It has succeeded also in quite other directions. One may without exaggeration describe the Municipal Golf Links, over which some 60,000 players have now passed in less than two years, as a huge success.

If the healthful pleasure, the re-invigoration of mind and body, derived by the citizens from the municipal links could be expressed in kilowatts or horse-powers, the resultant figures would surely be amazing. For there is no tonic in the world like a round of golf.

Our Municipal Links are happily circumstanced. They can be reached by a single street car fare. Situated in a beautiful part of old Kildonan they present a delightful combination of greensward, forest and stream. In some of the glades abutting on the river are carpet-like lawns where one could imagine one-self in the oldest corner of old England. A grassy bank runs along the terrain forming a pleasing break in the level stretches. And even the Canadian Pacific Railway's freight cut-off has been turned to profit in two exhilarating hazards.

Throughout the season the course has been well kept and constantly improved. The Parks Board has contrived to create an air of good sportsmanship around the links and within and without the club house the slogan of "The Public Be Pleased" has prevailed. Sympathetic touch with the private clubs of the city has been maintained by the visit to the links of their best players, amateur and professional.

Winnipeg's example has been an inspiration far and wide. This year Killarney, Birtle, Portage la Prairie, Kenora, Dauphin, Matlock, Sandy Hook and many other places, have made arrangements, or are making them, for the establishment of public links. On these links thousands of people are learning to play the ancient game.

Golf is one of many directions in which men and women are seeking health after the strain of the war years and the hardly less greater strain of the post-war period. The nerves of the whole world have been shaken and its vitality impaired. In municipal golf the people are finding a means of recuperation more efficacious than any doctor's prescription. The fact that for several months past an average of nearly three hundred people a day have been playing over the Winnipeg municipal links speaks volumes. The inauguration of a second municipal course is obviously a problem of the near future for the Parks Board."

MISS PEPLER WINS

On page 484 in the Prize List of the Canadian Open Ladies' Championship it will be noticed that Miss Ada Mackenzie, Missisauga Golf Club, Ontario Champion, and Miss Sidney Pepler, of the Toronto Golf Club, tied for the R. C. G. A. Gold Medal for the Best Gross Score in the Qualifying Round, with 84.

This week the tie was played off at the Toronto Club and Miss Pepler, with a score of 88 defeated Miss Mackenzie, who had a 90, and thus adds the R. C. G. A. Gold Medal to the many other trophies won by her this season. The brilliant young Torontonian in 1922 has demonstrated that she is in the front rank of Canadian lady players.

SARAZEN DEFEATS HAGEN

In one of the greatest matches of a record season the young wizard, Gene Sarazen, this month took the measure of Walter Hagen in a 72 hole match. 36 played at Pittsburgh and 36 played at the Winchester-Biltmore, Rye, N.Y. At Pittsburgh the British Open Champion was 2 up, but at Rye the U. S. Open Champion was too much for his older and more experienced opponent and eventually won out 3 and 1. Hagen, it is claimed, is over-golfed and is not to-day playing the game which he did earlier in the season.

Almost immediately after this great match Sarazen went into the hospital for an operation for appendicitis. The great little golfer, the sensation of the 1922 season is making a rapid recovery, his case not being a serious one.

MISSISSAUGA CHAMPIONS OF TORONTO

When W. J. Thompson beat R. M. Gray, and P. G. Campbell won from T. Gibson at Rosedale October 13th, the Missisauga Golf Club became the winners of The Mail and Empire Trophy for the season of 1922. The final match was commenced two weeks ago, but was not completed until the 13th because of the absence from the city of Messrs. Gray and Gibson. Until these matches were played Missisauga were leading by one, being two up at Rosedale and one down at home. Owing to the system of scoring adopted for the competition it was possible for a player to make three points, which Mr. Thompson succeeded in doing.

One of the biggest surprises of this most interesting City Championship was the rather decisive defeat of Lambton by Missisauga. The winning Club has to thank the Thompson brothers very largely for their notable victory.

WINS $5,000 TOURNAMENT

A despatch from St. Joseph, Mo., October 9th:—

“Eddie Loos of the Lake Shore Country Club of Chicago, by virtue of a fine 72 Saturday morning, while the leaders were fighting a wind-swept course, won the $5,000 First Prize in the annual St. Joseph Open Golf Tournament. His total was 290 for the 72 holes. Lees was only one stroke lower than Harry Hampton of Detroit, who won second money with 291.

William Creavy of the Hillcrest Country Club of Kansas City, started the day with a two-stroke lead, but he played miserable golf on the first nine holes, taking 43 strokes. A 36 coming in left him a 79 and gave him third place instead of first.

John Golden, the New York professional, suffered the same fate as Creavy, going to pieces in the wind and taking two 79's for the day, dropping from second to fifth place.

Harry Hampton of Detroit played a fine game all day, scoring a 72 and a 73 and giving Loos a hard battle for first money. Tom Stevens, who finished fourth, had a good chance for first money after his 72 in the morning, but he blew in the afternoon and scored an 80.

Another player who had a fine chance to be at the top was Eddie Murphy, the St. Joseph professional, but his putter went back on him and he lost stroke after stroke on the greens, scoring a 77 and a 79 to-day, although his game to the greens was as good as yesterday afternoon when he had 69. He finished sixth. The winners and their scores:

Eddie Loos, Lake Shore Country Club, Chicago, 290; Harry Hampton, Brooklands Country Club, Detroit, 291; William Creavy, Hillcrest Country Club, Kansas City, 294; Tom Stevens, Minikahda Country Club, Minneapolis, 296; John Golden, Tuxedo Country Club, New York, 298; Eddie Murphy, St. Joseph Country Club, 300; Willie Kidd, Interlacken Country Club, Minneapolis, 301; William E. Mehlhorn, Shreveport, La., 302; H. S. Gibson, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., 304.

A special prize of $100 was given to Creavy for the lowest score for 18 holes—68.

SASKATCHEWAN CHAMPIONSHIPS

Were Records in Every Respect. Wascana Country Club, Regina, Chosen for 1923 Meeting.

THE following is the full summary of results in the Saskatchewan Championships at Moose Jaw, reported in some detail in last month's issue:—

Open Championship—D. Sutherland of Edmonton (also Alberta Open Champion); Runner-up, Mr. J. T. Cuthbert, Winnipeg.

Men's Championship—H. A. Bruce, Saskatoon; Runner-up, W. Ritchie, Saskatoon.

Ladies' Championship—Mrs. J. F. Hunt, Moose Jaw; Runner-up, Miss Boyles, Regina.

Men's Handicap (18 and under)—John Knox, Kindersley; Runner-up, Senator Wiloughby, Moose Jaw; L. S. Porter, Leader.

Men's Handicap (over 18)—R. Ellis, Moose Jaw; Runner-up, J. Balfour, Regina.

Second Flight—Walter Hill, Regina; Runner-up, A. R. Lecky, Saskatoon.

Third Flight—A. C. Froome, Regina; Runner-up, Judge Pope, Melfort.

First Flight Consolation—J. Dromgole, Regina; Runner-up, J. Dingwall, Swift Current.

Second Flight Consolation—J. T. Haywood, Moose Jaw; Runner-up, D. R. Pyke, Swift Current.

Mixed Foursome—J. A. Rogers and Mrs. Hettle, Saskatoon; Runner-up, A. G. Buchan and Mrs. Yule, Saskatoon.

Men's Team Match—Saskatoon City Golf Club.

Ladies' Team Match—Wascana Country Club, Regina.

Boys' Championship—G. Young, Saskatoon; Runner-up, W. Kinnear, Saskatoon.

Mr. Bruce's victory was a particularly popular one, he playing most consistent golf throughout the Tournament.

So many competitors entered for the qualifying round of the Men's Championships that play had to be started several hours ahead of schedule, in order to make it possible to keep up with the published programme. Not only did the Tournament set a new record in point of entry, however, but there was a very evident improvement in the calibre of play. This in spite of the fact that the Moose Jaw course is not an easy one to make scores on, owing to the difficult natural hazards. Ideal weather prevailed throughout the week's play, and fairways and greens were in excellent condition, these facts undoubtedly having a great deal to do with the class of golf which was witnessed.

Messrs. T. G. Tyrer, Regina, and S. J. Thorburn, Saskatoon, share the distinction of lowering the record for the local course. On the second day's play in the qualifying round, both men negotiated the eighteen holes in 76. The former record was 77, made by Bill Kinnear, Saskatoon pro., earlier in the summer. Kinnear did not figure as prominently as expected in the fight for the Open Championships, but distinguished himself by turning in a hole-in-one performance, sinking his drive on the sixth hole, 165 yards.

The unanimous verdict of players competing was that the Tournament was far and away the most successful ever held by the Saskatchewan Association. So large is the entry becoming, however, that next year's executive will probably consider holding the Ladies' Championships separate from the Men's event, making use of more than one course, doing away with the qualifying round, barring of high handicap men or some such means to run off the competitions more quickly.

The 1923 Tournament goes to the Wascana Country Club, Regina. Lorne Johnson of Regina is President of the Association for the ensuing year and the Secretary will be appointed by the executive.

In common with most other clubs these days, Elmhurst, Winnipeg, has a new Champion this season, or to be more accurate, two Champions. Mr. H. Pellenz is the 1922 Champion amongst the men, while the ladies' title holder is Mrs. F. G. Wright. The new Champion, who has improved out of all recognition this season, on his way to the final defeated Col. Rattray, John Gordon and Lou Papineau, while J. W. Thompson, who in the finals he defeated 5 and 3 in a 36-hole match, disposed of Sam Henderson, Matt Thompson and J. M. Blair. The ladies' final between

Mrs. Wright and Mrs. H. F. Matthews was closely contested all through and Mrs. Wright, who was one up at the turn, finally won on the 17th green by two up and one to play. The ladies made a gala day of it and a driving competition for a cup presented by Mrs. Fitzpatrick was won by Mrs. R. A. Graham.

Sunday preceding the opening of the Women's Western Championship at the Glen Echo Club, St. Louis, it rained most of the day, but in the afternoon several players decided to play, rain or no rain. Miss Carrie Kuhnert of Glen View, who had brought her bathing suit for the purpose of taking a swim in the fine open air tank of the Sunset Hill Club, decided it was the most suitable costume for that afternoon and so donned it. The local photographers regretted they took the afternoon off.

Mrs. McTavish was successful last month in defending her title of Champion of the Norwood Ladies' Golf Club, Winnipeg, by defeating Mrs. W. Smart 3 and 2. The dance and presentation of prizes which took place at the club house in the evening was largely attended and proved a most enjoyable wind-up to the season, despite the chilliness of the atmosphere. After refreshments Mr. E. J. Townshend, President of the Club, took the chair and complimented Hamilton Fleming, Captain of the ladies' section. Mrs. Hamilton was presented with a bunch of roses by the lady members. A happy variation from the usual course of such events was the bringing in and cutting of a large decorated wedding cake, the day being the anniversary of President and Mrs. Townshend.

Sir Henry Thornton, the new chief of the Canadian National Railways, is fond of all out-door sports. He was for many years an enthusiastic devotee of tennis but of recent years has given up that game more or less for golf. He is a firm believer in the doctrine "that all work and no play" makes for a dull General-Manager of a railway system, as it does everyone in all walks of life, and, although an indefatigable worker, always finds time for outdoor exercise in order to keep mentally and physically fit.

Glenboro, one of the latest of the Manitoba towns to take up golf, on October 4th had their first match with Killarney and made a very creditable showing, being defeated 6 matches to 3. After the match, the Killarney players were the guests of Glenboro at the Leland Hotel, a most enjoyable time being spent.

Games were played both morning and afternoon, resulting in an even break, the visitors losing the morning game, 2 to 5 but winning in the afternoon 5 to 2. In the evening the Winnipeggers were guests of the local club at a banquet in the Prince Edward Hotel. Mr. A. J. Wilson, Manitoba Amateur Champion, lost both his games, in the morning being defeated by Mr. A. W. Kay and in the afternoon by Mr. G. J. Bowen.

A Calgary correspondent writes:—

"May I mention that we have a great season in Calgary for the game of golf and that the beautiful Bowness golf course appears now to be on the eve of great doings. For some time we have been very much handicapped by a very bad road leading from the city, but we are now assured that we will have this road put in very fine shape at once, and next season should see Bowness booming. As you are possibly aware, we have one of the finest club houses in Western Canada and a very sporting course nestling in the trees and foothills of the mountains, and awaiting only the expenditure of some money, to make the changes suggested by Willie Park in his new layout of the course, when we will present one of the finest tests of golf in all Canada. Mr. J. S. Ballantine has just become our 1922 Club Champion by defeating W. Shewell Morris in the finals on the 38th hole. Our last year's Champion, Mr. Jackson Walton, a very fine golfer, is now residing in Toronto, and we look forward to seeing him prove his calibre in your Eastern Tournaments in the near future."

match was very keenly contested and many brilliant shots were played, the game ending all square. The Honorary President, Judge Widdifield, and several of the directors were among the spectators. Afterward, many of the members played over the course for the first time, and expressed their delight with the progress made so far. The Uplands Club has only nine holes ready for play now, but have planned to have the full 18 ready for the opening of next season. It will be one of the sportiest courses in the Province.

The final for the Club Championship of the Southwood Golf Club, Winnipeg was played off this month between C. R. Gross and N. A. Rule, resulting in a victory for Mr. Gross, the score being three and one. The game was hotly contested throughout, the runner-up giving the Champion a keen contest from the start. At the 35th hole, Gross was two up, when Rule's drive landed out of bounds. Gross holed out in four, thereby winning the match and incidentally becoming the club champion the second time in succession. The following cups were also won by members of the Southwood Golf Club during the season: Gouzee Cup, G. B. Saunders; Hough Cup, R. Morrow; Windatt Cup, C. H. Smith.

“Dave” Cuthbert, pro of the Grand Mere Golf Club, Grand Mere, Que., writes: “We have a wonderfully successful season here. We have started to build three more new holes which will greatly improve our already fine course.”

James Newman, the professional of the Catarqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, after a very busy season there, left this week to take up his duties for the next five months at the well-known Victoria Club, Riverside, California, a position he has held now with great acceptance for some years.

A despatch from St. Thomas, Ont., September 29th:—

“The Annual Tournament of Elgin Golf and Country Club was concluded to-day. The winners from a large number of entries for the different events being as follows:—

The President's Cup, for annual competition, 18-hole elimination medal play, with handicap—R. W. Johnson, winner; C. H. Smith, runner-up.

The Club Championship Cup, 18-hole elimination match play—R. W. Johnson, winner; J. B. Davidson, runner-up.

Junior Championship, 18-hole elimination match play—C. H. Smith, winner; F. A. Fesant, runner-up.

Driving Contest—D. F. O. Lawrence, winner.

Approaching and Putting contest—J. B. Davidson, winner.

This is the last Tournament that will be held on the present golf links, as next season's play will be on the course south of the city at Union.”

A despatch from St. Thomas, Oct. 6th:—

“There was a large number present this afternoon at the golf links of the Elgin Golf and Country Club to witness the finals in the Ladies' Tournament. The greatest interest was centred in the “A” class Championship which was contested for by Mrs. W. A. McIntyre, Captain of the Club, and Mrs. John Wallace, both of whom had held the Championship in previous years. Mrs. Wallace was the winner. The “B” class Championship was won by Mrs. J. Sinclair, Miss Alice Still being runner-up. In the Approaching and Putting contest, Mrs. D. Gerrard was the winner and Mrs. H. Roe, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Bidsardi tying for second place.”

Mr. C. W. Tinling, President of the National Drug & Chemical Company, a well-known Montreal golfer, this month returned from a trip to England.

In the semi-finals of the Humber Valley Golf Club (Toronto) Championship, R. Cunningham defeated L. Gordon, 3 up. Incidentally, he added his name to the roll of honour, which is swelling daily, by making the twelfth hole, which is 160 yards long, in one. J. F. Christie won this Championship, however, beating R. Cunningham in the final at the eighteenth hole, one up. Both covered the course in 73, which is three above par.

Arthur Field, in the Cleveland Sunday “News-Leader” pays the following tribute to the firm of Stanley Thompson Co.: Ltd., golf club architects, Toronto:—

“When it comes to turning farms into golf courses you have to hand it to Ontario. In April the Longstaff estate and surrounding farm at Thornhill was just that. To-day there is a nice little general club house, a ladies' club house, the old two-storey stable has been transformed into a dandy locker-room for men, there is a caddie house and thirteen holes have been made good enough for golf. That is rustling, brothers! Indeed, they tell me that April saw the first work on the Thornhill Golf and Country Club, Ltd., and May 24th saw golfers manhandling the elusive pill on a few rough holes. If anyone can beat that for speed I would like to hear of it. A friend of mine who looks as if he will play over every golf course in the world before he dies, played Thornhill's thirteen holes the other day and says that when the permanent greens are in play the Thompson golf course architects of Toronto will have laid out a pretty fine course.”

Brantford this month played a return match at Galt, 20 players a side, for the Cup presented for competition between the two clubs by ex-Mayor Alex. Edwards of Galt. Brantford won at Brantford 15 points to 5, but lost at Galt 12 to 8. On the two matches, Brantford was 6 points up. The Waterloo Golf and Country Club has this season easily one of the finest 9-hole courses in Ontario. The greens and fairgreens are in splendid condition. The bunkering of the course has also been much improved.

A Rosedale Golf Club team made a week-end tour last month, playing at Brantford and London. They lost at the former place and won a close match at the latter by 4 points. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by some 20-odd players who were quite enthusiastic about both the courses in Brantford and London.

The first flight Championship of the Stratford Golf Club was won by Mr. F. G. Gifford and the second flight by Mr. R. L. Whitman. The finalists in the Lloyd Cup (handicap) were Messrs. Walter Miller and K. C. Turnbull. This resulted in one of the best matches ever played over the sporting Stratford course. At the end of the 36 holes the finalists were all square, each having also registered a medal score of 160. It was not until the 39th hole that Mr. Miller won out from his doughty opponent and captured the coveted trophy.

Seniors' Tournament held at Apawamis immediately following the International Match at Scarborough, Mr. Frederick Snare of New York, who captured the U.S. team at Scarborough, won the Championship with a 77 and 85 for a total of 162. As he was also elected President of the U.S. Seniors at the Annual Meeting last month, all the honours are now his. In the International Match at Scarborough, Mr. J. E. Caldwell of Rivermead, Ottawa, played the new U. S. Champion and divided his match with him, each getting a point and a half. Mr. W. E. Truesdell won the Class "C" Cup, best gross, with 169; Mr. Alexander H. Revell, Class "D" with 170 in the Tuesday and Wednesday Tournament. Mr. Andrew J. Carty won the best gross 18 holes, Mr. Martin J. Condon, best gross, Class "D" with 164 in the Thursday and Friday Tournament; Mr. H. S. Redfield, the best gross, Class "E" with 167; Mr. W. S. Kinnear, best gross 18 holes, and Mr. A. V. Lee, best selected gross, Class "D." All these winners in the U.S. Senior Championships participated in the International Match at Scarborough last month. The team certainly made a fine showing.

Rivermead golfers of Ottawa split even in their series of inter-club matches played against the Whitlock and Laval-sur-le-Lac teams of Montreal recently. On Saturday Whitlock defeated the visiting players over the Hudson Heights links, the home team taking twelve of the fifteen four-ball matches, losing two and tying one. Next day the Rivermead team played sixteen foursomes with representatives of the Laval Club, the visitors winning seven, tying six and losing three. The matches were both return contests, Whitlock and Laval teams having visited Rivermead earlier in the season.

Championships, whose mighty deeds at Brookline where he recently made new golf history are still fresh in the memory of golf followers throughout the country, was defeated at Grassy Sprain September 24th. Playing in the semi-final round of the Victory Cup Tournament, an event which he has won for the last two seasons, and needing only one more victory to give him permanent possession of the mammoth Rodman Wanamaker trophy, Jesse went down in defeat at the hands of G. L. Conley, a Siwanoy club-mate, by the margin of 2 to 1.

Mr. A. W. Butchart, the well-known Scotch professional at Barassie, near Glasgow, who is one of the leading professionals in Great Britain to-day, lowered the record of his own course by three strokes last month, doing the round in a marvellous 69. The ball he used was the new "Blue Ring" Colonel manufactured by the St. Mungo Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Glasgow.

An interesting four-ball match at Hamilton this month was participated in by Sir Robert Borden, General Mewburn, Senator Lynch-Staunton and Dr. Ingersoll Olmsted—all, by the way, members of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association.

The following is from the Montreal Star:

"The official opening of the new club house of the Quebec Golf Club will take place some time toward the end of this month. The members are already using it, which is complete except for a few finishing touches. Since the old club house was burned down the golfers have been soused in the Kent House. The interior decoration of the new buildings has been carried out in the plainest manner, the walls being left in their white plaster state, which makes the Club bright and clean-looking. The beams carry an old oak stain which goes well by way of contrast with the walls."

Our esteemed contemporary no doubt meant to say "housed" in the Kent House. In Ontario, anyway, it would be impossible to get "soused" in a Club House. Eh, what!

"STRAIGHT SHAFTS DEVICE"

A Clever Invention Which Should Appeal to All Golfers Who Want to Keep Clubs in Perfect Condition.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found an advertisement of the "Straight Shafts Device." The purpose of this invention is to provide the means whereby golf clubs cannot warp, bend and twist when not in use and for correcting or straightening shafts should these be bent when used. Primarily its usefulness is to enable the player to prevent shafts warping when not in use and to enable one to take as good care of shafts as is shown when selecting new clubs.

It is called the STRAIGHT-SHAFT PATENT and is so made that when the player's clubs are packed and wrapped in it, it goes in the club bag so that it takes up no room and only adds the weight of an extra club to the bag (8 ozs. to be exact). There is nothing on the market to protect shafts in this manner. Billiard players protect their cues and tennis players protect their racquets.

All good golfers recognize the difficulty in getting clubs exactly to their requirements. It is not a matter of selecting one club of each kind. It is a slow process of selection and discard and often takes many years. The main difficulty is to get a complete set so that these are 'related' to each other in the question of strength and feel and model. The length is always easily adjusted. The thickness and kind of grip can be got at any time.

Once, therefore, a player has been fortunate in getting together a set of clubs that suit him in all respects, it becomes a question of how to keep them as they were when selected. When a shaft is allowed to warp and bend, however, slight, it has precisely the same effect as changing the face of a club. If you change one face it would be necessary to change all the faces alike. But all shafts do not warp the same way and for that reason it becomes impossible to use all clubs equally well if some are straight and some warped.

Some of the outstanding masters of the game may be able to so adjust their stance so as to get perfect results from a shaft that is slightly twisted in spite of the fact that the last shot was played with a club that had a perfectly straight shaft, but even that is doubtful and it is admitted that the great secret of playing consistently well is by simplifying the game as much as possible. If a player even takes ordinary pride in his set of clubs it improves his game. Anything that keeps one up to concert pitch is good for the game.

In billiards a player might get accustomed to a slight warp in a cue, but there is a vital difference. In golf the player has as many as ten 'cues' and, as before stated, it would be impossible to get ten similar warps. Unless a golf ball is scientifically made and correct according to weight and shape, etc., it is quite useless and the same must apply to the clubs that are used.

How few players, however, appreciate the value of careful selection of clubs, particularly with respect to their relation one to the other and the reason why players have not been careful of their clubs is because there was not anything to take the place of or do the work of the STRAIGHT-SHAFT PATENT.

The clubs are packed and wrapped in the Straight-Shaft Patent in a few seconds and then the whole is slipped in the club bag as usual. When travelling you need not fear the disastrous effects of your clubs lying against excessive heat or being held down under grips or trunks or against any other cause that may do so much harm. When laying clubs aside for the winter the use of this Patent ensures their proper care and it is even advisable to use it between week-end games. It should become a habit and IS FAR MORE IMPORTANT THAN KEEPING YOUR CLUBS CLEAN.

A player will complain that he is using his driver well but that he cannot use his brassie. Think this over—the one is straight and the other warped. This has effected his TIME-ING. Straight shafts and a straight eye go together, along with straight shots.
