OUR FRONT COVER

The cover of our National review issue, December, is given to C. Ross Somerville of London Ontario. This veteran player, though hardly a veteran in years has won the hearts and support of every Canadian golf enthusiast by his many outstanding victories. He is seen here receiving from President Frank Harris of the Ontario Golf Association, the Ontario amateur championship cup which he won this year as part of his comeback. Added to this Sandy won the London Hunt Club Invitation tournament also the Jasper Park Totem Pole event, one of the highlights of Canada's social tournament calendar. Beside this Sandy has played, throughout the year, golf which has marked him as Canada's greatest. Indeed in review of the season we salute Sandy's accomplishments as the most outstanding.

Canadian Golfer is published monthly. This publication was begun in 1914 and has incorporated Golf and Social Sports, a weekly golfing publication, and its successor Golf and Sports Illustrated. Reviewing the Review Issue

IN OUR review which is really a provincial summary edition we have attempted this month to continue a precedent begun last year. That is we devote the December magazine to putting in order the outstanding facts of the year both nationally and provincially. In this way we present our readers with a permanent record of the year just past. Strangely enough it is so easy to forget highlights of years in sport and for those of our readers who do not have the time to memorize facts about their favorite pastime—we hope this practice of presenting the golfing year in one volume will be of use and enjoyment.

Information in this issue has been supplied jointly from the various officials of the provincial associations and from our files. In certain instances where sectional events have not been included in the review this has been chiefly because we could not include events of such dimensions during the active season and have since found it impossible to obtain accurate information from authentic sources.

The national aspect of the issue will be found in the manner in which each province has been indi-for their splendid assistance in the compiling of data for this national review issue.

vidually considered. Last season response to inquiry from available sources was slow and in some cases unsatisfactory. This year better co-operation has made a more complete edition possible. We feel that as the December issue of Canadian Golfer becomes better recognized as a national review this co-operation will continue to grow.

To those who have supplied assistance in this issue the editorial department wishes to extend its sincere appreciation. We hope that our presentation has done justice to the material. To those who will read this issue we wish to point out that the purpose of reading Canadian Golfer's review is to obtain an idea of the scope of the game in Canada . . . and at the same time to ascertain who are the leaders in golf in all of the centres in which golf is played on a large scale. For the expert golfer this issue may give some idea of the comparative calibre of golf and difficulty of courses across the broad Dominion. To the casual reader some conception of the importance of golf to Canadians may be gleaned. We solicit our readers comment on this issue and suggestions will be received with welcome for the betterment of future reviews.

At this time the Canadian Golfer wishes to take the opportunity of expressing heartiest Season's Greeting to our readers. May Happiness, Health, Prosperity—and longer fuller golfing seasons lie ahead for all. Somehow the warmth and fellowship of the Christmas Season strikes a kindred note with the best ideals of our grand old game. That is why we who are golfers cherish the refinement of our contact with the game . . . with these little thoughts Good Cheer again and a MERRY CHRISTMAS!

OFFICIALDOM REVIEWS PROGRESS

The Canadian Golfing Season for 1937 being now over, it may prove of interest to review what has happened during the year. From an administration standpoint, the Royal Canadian Golf Association has been most active and several important decisions have been reached.

The first Competition which is one of, if not, the most important, was the Willingdon Cup. This year seven Provinces were represented coming from as far West as British Columbia and from New Brunswick in the East. This competition not only brings together fine representative young men from the different Provinces, but it gives the best amateurs in each Province an opportunity to play in the Canadian Amateur Championship. The Royal Canadian Golf Association by means of financial assistance to the Provincial Associations makes this competition possible...

The Canadian Open was held at St. Andrew's Golf Club Toronto. Due to excellent cooperation between the officers of St. Andrew's and the Committee of R.C.G.A., this tournament was particularly well organized, and had not the weather on the final day been so terrible, it would have undoubtedly been a great success.

With the Assistance of the R.C.G.A., the Canadian Professional Golfers Association was able to have their first International Team Match with a team representing the United States Professional Golf Association. This Match created much interest, and our Canadian Professionals made a remarkably fine showing against a very strong team from the United States.

In order to further assist our Professionals, the R.C.G.A. agreed to pay the expenses to the United States Golf Association Open Championship of any Canadian Professional who qualified. Three qualified and had the opportunity of playing at Oakland Hills Country Club in the United States Open.

A plan is now being considered to give further encouragement to our younger players, and it is hoped that at the time of the Willingdon Cup games, the Junior Champion of each Province may be present and compete for the Canadian Junior Championship.

After many years, the two Senior Golfing Provincial Associations Ontario & Quebec have agreed on a Handicapping System which the R.C.G.A. has adopted, and which it is expected will become a National Handicapping System and be used in all Provincial Associations. In addition to using the same methods of rating courses and granting handicaps, it is agreed that a handicap of nine be the point below which all handicaps shall be made or revised by the National Handicap Committee, and that Canadian players must have such handicap or lower to be eligible to play in any National Championship.

Much thought has been given to the suggestion of Mr. Robert Jacob that the Constitution be amended to allow Provincial Associations to become members of the R.C.G.A. After consulting the different Provincial Associations, it was decided to submit to the Annual Meeting an Amendment to the Constitution that will provide for the following:

1. Each Provincial Association will become a member of R.C.G.A., thus having direct representation and a vote.
2. Member Clubs will pay one fee to their Provincial Associations, which will include that payable to the R.C.G.A.
3. That each Provincial Association be entitled to appoint one member of the Executive Committee of R.C.G.A.
4. That the Nominating Committee select two from each of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec to constitute the remainder of the Committee.

It is felt that this is the most important and constructive action undertaken by the R.C.G.A. for some years, and will do much to strengthen both the R.C.G.A. and the Provincial Associations.

During the year an effort was made to reach a joint understanding with The Royal and Ancient and the United States Golf Associations regarding the interpretation of the conditions of Amateur Status. Committees are being formed with a view of permanently deciding this always difficult question.

On the whole, it has been a year full of activity, and we hope with results that will prove of benefit to golf and all those interested in this great game.

OUR 1937 FRONT COVER PARADE

JAN. BLACK

In January 1937 Canadian Golfer published its annual amateur rating of golfers throughout the Dominion. This was based upon the records of players during the 1936 playing season. To the top of this list Kenny Black of Vancouver found his way through his remarkable play in the Vancouver Jubilee tournament, which he won, also the B.C. amateur championship which fell before him. Black showed to advantage in the Willingdon Cup matches of that year.

FEB. GRAY

In February we devoted the front cover to Bob Gray Jr. formerly of the Essex Club Windsor Ont. but who next season will take over the Scarborough Club in Toronto. Gray in 1936 had been the leading Canadian in the Canadian Open Championship and in this recognition we predicted that Gray would come close to the pinnacle of golf in this country. This forecast was borne out in 1937's season.

MAR. MACKENZIE

In March word came to us that a Canadian had taken the Women's Bermuda championship from a strong field. This wasn't at all surprising when we found out that the victor was none other than Toronto's Miss Ada MacKenzie. Miss MacKenzie is undoubtedly the most prolific title winner among the Canadian women players of this era and for that matter any other. This snap sees her playing with Lady Heathercoat Amory.

APRIL FENWICK

April saw Canada take a monopoly on Bermuda's golf titles as the amateur championship, was won for a second time by Ted Fenwick, Montreal's gift to the art of neat chipping and match golf. Ted defeated, in the finals, Sidney Powell of Vancouver a perennial threat for Bermuda crowns. Fenwick is champion of Summerlea Club in Montreal of which A. G. Fenwick, his father, is the president.

MAY NASH

May brought us to the realization that Jack Nash of London was about to have a fine season. After a poor 1936 rating due to an "off" year, Jack flashed mid season form to win the first Ontario tournament, a field day at testing old Lambton in Toronto. Played under the first fine conditions of the year the event drew a great entry, but none could head off the rampant Jack whose putter became hot in this event and never cooled off perceptibly during the whole 1937 season . . . during which period its owner won back much prestige.

JUNE LAWSON

Slim Kenny Lawson of Victoria got the front cover call in May as result of his splendid win over British Columbia Open Champion Russ Case, Vancouver, in the finals of the British Columbia amateur championship which was played this year in Victoria. Lawson, won a post on the B.C. Willingdon Cup team as a result and played well in this tourney for the Interprovincial championship in July in Ottawa. He was, however, defeated in the first round of the Canadian amateur championship before his fine game really began to click.

JULY HUOT

Highlight of the early season was the General Brock Open Championship played at Fonthill Ontario over the Lookout Point links. This tournament marked the first win of a Canadian professional over Americans in over ten years. Our July cover, honoring Jules Huot, pro from Kent Club Quebec who won the event, includes Vernon G. Cardy president of the General Brock Hotel, E. C. Gould, Brantford, former president of the R.C.G.A. and H.A. MacLennan manager of the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton.

AUG. CAN. AMATEUR

Sandy Somerville of London capped the great comeback he staged in 1937 to again become Canada's leading player after a lapse in 1936. We pictured him and the brilliant Phil Farley of Montreal on the August front cover as the latter was congratulating him at the 35th hole of their final in the Canadian amateur championship which was played in Ottawa in July. Sandy had just sunk a good long putt at the deciding hole of one of the finest matches seen in this tournament. Sandy added to this crown several other major wins this season.

SEPT. WOMEN'S CHAMPS

September and the women's Canadian Open and Close Championship in Winnipeg were the reason for putting these two stalwart western stars on the cover of that month. They are Heather Leslie and Mrs. John Rogers, clubmates, arch rivals, Canada's Close and Open championship winners respectively, and very good friends otherwise. Mrs. Rogers won her first major title this year playing at her home club, St. Charles in Winnipeg, while Miss Leslie defeated Mrs. Rogers a week later in the Close championship final.

OCT. BRYDSON

Determined Gordon Brydson of Mississauga was pictured on October front cover for his fine golf displayed in winning that "hottest of, hotly" contested championships, the Ontario professional match play title event for the Millar Trophy. To do this, Brydson had to get a new putter before the event and incidentally defeated the favored Stan Horne, youthful Canadian professional champion, in the final.

NOV. TODD

Left handed Jimmy Todd of Victoria, amateur golfer par excellence who displaced veteran Russ Case of Vancouver as the British Columbia Open Champion this fall. Todd outlasted the flashy Stan Leonard, newly-turned professional, who has been a constant threat for a number of years on the West Coast. To do this Todd had to shoot a 270 total for the 72 hole tournament which was played in Victoria. Todd is considered by many to be the best left-hander in the game.

DEC. SANDY

The cover of our National review issue December, is given to C. Ross Sandy Somerville of London. This veteran player, though hardly a veteran in years, has won the hearts and support of every Canadian golf enthusiast by his many outstanding victories. He is seen here receiving from president Frank Harris of the Ontario Golf Association, the Ontario amateur championship cup which he won this year as part of his great comeback.

Left: Chief among Canadians to return to the front this past year was C. Ross Somerville of London Ontario. Ranks among the year's national champions by merit of a sixth Canadian Amateur championship victory. Scored at the Ottawa Hunt Club in July over Phil Farley of Montreal.

Right: Henry Cotton, British Open champion. His second win (three years) in this foremost of championships was the saving grace for British golf during a year which saw America win the amateur, and Ryder Cup events.

A SALUTE TO THE YEAR'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

John Goodman, Omaha insurance man, finally won the U. S. amateur championship. Long overdue victory for the former U. S. Open champion. One of three amateurs to ever win both titles. Is a double national champion this year however, for he also won the keenly-contested Mexican amateur championship.

Robert Gray, Toronto, Canada's greatest senior golfer. Again won Canadian senior title at Lambton in Toronto. This is the second year of his reign. Won with a record score 73-75-148. Is a former Ontario champion. Member of Rosedale Club.

Densmore Shute, Brae Burn, Newton Mass., won his second consecutive U. S. professional championship at Pittsburg in the spring. Considered America's coolest match player. Lost to Henry Cotton in a 72 hole affair in England this summer, score of 6 and 5. Cotton was ten better than average of fours at the end.

Above: Ralph Guldahl, Texas' gift to golf. Won U. S. Open at Oakland Hills in Detroit in June. His rise wrote chapter of "Poverty to Fame" into this year's golf story. Third high money winner among American professionals.

Below: Heather Leslie, Canadian Ladies Close champion. Manitoba Ladies titlist for two years. Beat Mrs. Rogers, Open champion, in the final of the Close event.

Above: Canadian Open Champion, Harry Cooper of Chicago, and Stanley Horne of Ottawa, Canadian professional champion for a second consecutive year. Horne also Quebec Open titlist. Cooper, leading American scorer for season, also leading money winner taking approximately $14,000 for the year.

Below: Robert Sweeney Jr., American living in London, who won the British amateur championship from veteran Irish Champion Lionel Munn. Sweeney, at St. George's Sandwich, proved himself a much better golfer than was formerly realized.

Above: Miss Estelle Lawson Page Greenboro N. C., American Ladies champion. Defeated the famous Patty Berg decisively in the final of this event. Has won the U. S. Ladies Championship qualifying medal two years in succession.

Below: Mrs. John Rogers, Winnipeg. Won first National notice with victory in Canadian Ladies Open played at Winnipeg. Went to finals of Close championship.

This picture taken this year at the Mayfair Course in Calgary brings out several interesting features. First is the size of the gallery. Points to the worthy thought of a not-too-distant Canadian amateur championship for this city of golf enthusiasts. Putting, is the touring Sandy Somerville of London, Ont. To be seen are A. W. "Whit" Matthews, capable president of the Alberta G. A. (facing Sandy) At left, R. L. Proctor and "Jam" Mountifield who completed the exhibition foursome. Both well-known golfers nationally. Also Lyle Hoar, vice-Captain of the Mayfair Club.

Above, perennial threat for Alberta women's honors and one of Canada's really great women players is Mrs. R. S. Horne of Calgary who again won the Alberta women's title this year for the sixth time. Her return to play this year and win at Red Deer was accomplished after a serious illness early in the season.

ALBERTA'S FOREMOST PLAYERS THIS SEASON

Above (left centre) Youthful Johnny Richardson, one of several Alberta youngsters who gives more than promise of bringing Alberta to the fore in Canadian golf. Johnny of Calgary this year was a star of the Alberta Willingdon Cup team in Ottawa and he also numbered among his achievements victory over youthful veteran Stew Vickers of Calgary in the final of the Calgary City championship. He is seen above with the Banff championship trophy which he won this year. In this he defeated Eddie Wiseman in the final. This is one of the important invitation events on the Alberta calendar.

(right centre) Stew Vickers of Calgary, one of the most popular of Alberta's players in national circles. Stew has been three times Alberta amateur titlist, once Open champion and once Calgary champion. In every event played in that part of the country Stew is a real contender.

Above, Henry Martell of Edmonton who continued his reign in Alberta golf this year. He won the Edmonton City title, the Alberta amateur, both titles he was defending. He was also runner up in the Alberta Open championship which he held last year. This time he was one stroke behind invading Stan Leonard of Vancouver.

Left (bottom) Mrs. Train Gray of Calgary, twice Alberta champion who this year was runner up to Mrs. Horne in the provincial championship.

(Right) Miss Paddy Arnold of Calgary, seen with the Banff award for the women's championship in that event. She defeated Miss Barbara Burns of Seattle by a score of 4 and 3.

AGGRESSIVE POLICY OF A. G. A. PRODUCES NEW INTEREST IN OPEN AND NEW STARS

TO SUCH other happenings as are in these days directing attention to Alberta, add the rapid developments which are undoubtedly being made in golfing circles. The past season found golfers out on their favorite links throughout the province in ever-increasing numbers. The Alberta Golf Association continued its aggressive policy to further the interests of the royal and ancient pastime and new high-water marks were established.

Particularly noteworthy is the rapid spread of interest in golf throughout the country districts and the number of new clubs thus resulting. Through the efforts of President Leigh Walsh, K.C. of the Alberta Golf Association, and with the assistance of the Calgary Daily Herald, the County Districts Championship Tournament was reorganized. This event was held at the Calgary Golf and Country Club immediately preceding the Amateur Championship, winners having previously been declared in the eight county districts. In the match play at Calgary, Mr. Gordon Savage of Red Deer proved the ultimate winner and was automatically qualified for the Amateur Championship.

A new star appeared in the golfing firmament of the province early in the year in the person of young Johnny Richardson of Calgary. Richardson defeated the ever-popular Stew. Vickers in the final for the Calgary City Championship in a match which drew a record-breaking gallery. Later in the season, as a member of Alberta's Willingdon Cup team, Johnny proved that the above feat was no mere flash-in-the-pan by making a very creditable showing at Ottawa. Incidentally, Richardson is only one of several promising young players that are likely to make Alberta a very serious Willingdon Cup threat in the near future.

Alberta's Willingdon Cup bid was far from discouraging as every player on the squad showed that had it been a little more his day, the Prairie team might have placed a lot higher than fifth position. There was really only one bad round produced by the team composed of Johnny Richardson, Henry Martell, Duane Barr and Bobby Proctor—but only Richardson was low enough to pull the team into a front place. However there was only one Richardson. Team scores were as follows:

Stan Leonard, Vancouver professional who made the trip to Alberta's Open championship with Benny Colk of the same city. Leonard won the title by a stroke from Henry Martell, Edmonton, defending champion. Colk placed third.

Richardson	79-74-153
Duane Barr ..	80-82-162
Martell	79-83-162
Bob Proctor ..	75-82-167

In and about Edmonton Henry Martell continued to dominate the field. In addition to retaining both his City and Provincial Amateur titles he teamed with brother Burns to successfully defend the Eaton Challenge Cup upon eleven straight occasions. These Eaton Cup games played an important part in stimulating spectator interest in golf. The final match was played at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club on November 7th (yes November is correct) and saw the Martells reclaim the trophy from the Mountfield-Kilburn combination with several hundred enthusiasts braving a cold wind to witness the struggle.

The Alberta Amateur Championship was held at the Calgary Golf and Country Club in mid-August and drew the cream of Alberta's golfers. Several Calgarians, including Vickers, Barr and Richardson, were favored at the go-in to take the title. Henry Martell annexed the qualifying medal by virtue of a second round sixty-eight and served notice that he would battle to retain his title. Few upsets were recorded and the semifinals brought together Martell and Vickers in the top bracket and Hogan and Tearle, the latter a newcomer to senior competition, in the lower. In the final, Hogan, the young Jasper star, put up a game but losing fight against the more experienced Martell.

The Ladies' Championship was held at the attractive Red Deer Golf and Country Club and witnessed the return to competition of Mrs. Roy Horne, former Dominion Close Champion. The field was small but select although no one could be found to match the steady play of Mrs. Horne.

This veteran player, still weakened from a recent operation, was scarcely in condition for the prolonged play which this tournament involved, but by merit of finishing her early opponents off quickly she had just enough stamina to play through the 36 hole final with Mrs. Train Gray of Calgary as her opponent. She won this match 4 and 3 with two birdies on the last three holes though her strength was ebbing so obviously that the gallery was momentarily expecting her to withdraw. Mrs. Horne, 1935 Canadian Ladies Close cham-

BRITISH COLUMBIA STAYS ABREAST

CONTINUES TO SHOW PROGRESS AS

YOUTHFUL VETERANS HOLDS TOP RUNGS

UNDoubtedly the outstanding achievements of the past year in British Columbia golfing circles were those of Jimmy Todd of Victoria and Stan Leonard of Vancouver. The latter is newly become a professional, while Todd has carried on in the best tradition of a growing number of great B. C. amateurs to shine in that division both at home and across Canada.

Leonard this year was a great loss to the B. C. Willingdon Cup team of his province, for with his help in the past few years the Coast team has always been a great threat. It will be remembered that he led all the players in the Willingdon Cup matches in 1936 at St. Charles in Winnipeg. Turning professional as he did this year opened the field in the various amateur championships throughout the province. He was twice Vancouver champion; twice B. C. Open titlist. He was five times a Willingdon Cup member . . . twice semi-finalist in the Canadian amateur championship.

This spring following a great win over a brilliant field of amateurs and professionals at the Jericho Country Club in the Pacific Northwest Open championship Leonard was tempted with a good offer to take over the professional duties at the Hastings club in Vancouver. Later on in the year he travelled to the Alberta Open championship which this year attracted a great field due to increased money prizes and captured his second Open title of the season. Added to this he was runner up in the British Columbia Open championship played at Oak Bay this fall.

Under ordinary circumstances this seasonal collection of honors would be by far the outstanding of the year, but Jimmy Todd came along late in the year to complete one of the finest seasons a Western amateur has compiled in some years.

Todd started the year by "copping" the medal in the British Columbia amateur championship with scores of 70-73 in this spring tournament. In so doing he "nosed out" Clarence Brynjolfson of Victoria by three strokes. Todd, a left-handed player, just about won his place on the 1937 Willingdon Cup team with this demonstration, though eventually beaten in this tournament, Todd had one notable win to his credit besides that won in the medal test. That was a 3 and 1 triumph over Stan Leonard who was then playing in his last amateur tournament. Todd was then the Victoria City champion, but even this did not make his win over the brilliant Leonard less an upset . . . at least that was what most critics thought at the time!

In this championship, Russ Case, the Vancouver amateur player who held the Open title in 1936 showed to advantage on his way to the finals, but there he fell victim to the steady prowess of a twenty year old Victoria youngster who beat him 2 and 1. Case three putted at the 33rd and missed a short one at the next hole. These two holes were his undoing. Case won the first three holes of this event and held control through the early stages. It was only at the end that Lawson saw his opening as Case wearied on the greens.

Ken Black, Vancouver player who was the defending champion, was beaten 2 and 1 by Case in the second round. Alan Taylor well-known Coast amateur who was away from Vancouver for several years returned and played in the amateur this year. He went 23 holes before bowing to the fast-coming Jimmy Robertson, member of 1936 Willingdon Cup team. Robertson in turn bowed in the next round to Lawson.

In the Open championship of British Columbia, Todd completed the 72 hole event in a total of 270 shots. The course is parred at 69 and Todd played it four times in eight shots better than regulation figures. Right behind him was Leonard three shots in arrears. Phil Taylor, long-standing ace professional player from the Oak Bay club in Victoria where the Open Championship was this year played, placed third, four strokes back of Leonard.

Prominent figures in this year's open were Fred Wood, Vancouver professional and former Open champion, Dunc Sunderland veteran star who led this year up to the third round of the Open, Ken Black, Vancouver, who placed sixth with a 281 total.

The British Columbia Willingdon cup team this year placed third, ten shots behind Ontario. Their team scored as follows:

Ken Black	79-73-152
Ken Lawson	80-77-157
Jimmy Todd	81-77-158
Russ Case	78-85-163

Total 630

Quebec won the event played at the Ottawa Hunt Club with a total of 619. In the amateur championship the B. C. players played well, but had the misfortune of running into some of the stars of the event. Kenny Lawson's demise in the first round was rather an upset, but Farley's 2 and 1 win over Ken Black was not only a brilliant match, but was certainly no disgrace to lose. At one point Black was three under par and still down. Case, beaten 4 and 3 in the first round by defending champion Freddie Haas was one under par for the fifteen holes played. Haas was five under par on this testing course. Todd, in going to the semi-finals, met Somerville to whom he bowed after showing the gallery a fine set of shots.

Women's Golf in British Columbia

The Major Tournaments in British Columbia are to a great extent, confined to Vancouver, on the Mainland, and Victoria on Vancouver Island, which are the two principle centres of golf in the province. The mildness of the climate allows play practically the year round.

The active playing season is usually ushered in with the Empress Mid-Winter Tournament in Victoria, sometime in February or early in March, and is open to guests of the Empress Hotel and members of local golf Clubs. This Championship is played on handicap, and results in a very sociable affair, much enjoyed and looked forward to by all who enter, both men and women. Mrs. Alex Watson of the Victoria Golf Club was the winner; Miss Nora Wilson, Runner-up, and Mrs. Arthur Dowell, Royal Colwood Golf Club, the medalist.

MANITOBA HONOURS DIVIDED

IN 1936 it was the men of Manitoba's golf who showed the way as the amateur championship of Canada was played at St. Charles and Bobby Reith of Winnipeg went to the finals of this National tournament. In 1935 Bud Donovan distinguished the males of Manitoba's golf with his splendid play in the British amateur championship also his placing second in the great General Brock Open of that year. But in 1937 Manitoba golf received its greatest National recommendation because of the remarkable play of its lady exponents.

Locally the golfing honors of the province were well divided although Bobby Reith, the boy who has been chiefly responsible for the monopoly of Manitoba's golf crowns, this year again won two. However before dealing with the competitive season in detail let's notice the trend of the game in this province generally.

It may truthfully be said that more games of golf were played in Manitoba during the season of 1937 than in any previous year. A number of reasons contributed to the increase. Day-light saving, put into effect in Winnipeg for the first time in some years, permitted many more rounds of golf to be played. In June and July a golfer might leave his office at 5.30, drive 14 miles to Birds Hill, get into his golf togs and play eighteen holes before dark with ease. Improved condition of golf courses helped to swell the number of games played. Fairway watering systems installed by many clubs several years ago, are having effect, greenkeepers are gaining in knowledge of suitable grasses for this soil and climate; with the result that courses are an invitation and an enticement.

Then, too, 1937 weather in Manitoba was at its best. There was little or no extreme heat at mid-summer and during the fall there was day after day of glorious golf weather. Armistice Day, 11th November was a perfect day for golf. All these factors, taken with a steady increase in interest in the game, brought smiles to the faces of golf club officials.

A check on the number of games played at private courses is not the Seine River prepared ground to increase from nine to eighteen holes. The northerly part of Assiniboine and Deer Lodge courses discontinuing and making up eighteen holes from parts of the two courses. Announcement has been made that fairways will be watered on the Wasagaming course at Clear Lake, which will make this summer resort course in the Riding Mountains still more popular.

This photo was taken just after she had defeated Mrs. John Rogers, (right) for the latter title in the final. Mrs. Rogers is Canada's Open champion this year and made her triumph impressive by wading not only through the open field but to within one match of the Close title.

Bob Reith, the 22 year old Elmhurst veteran won the Manitoba Amateur championship for the third year in succession, and for the fifth time in the past six years. Reith's first round match in the Amateur against Dick Wright went to extra holes and his second round match was close. His last three matches were comparatively easy; he was particularly 'hot' in the final against Sandy Weir.

At the conclusion of the regulation rounds of the Manitoba Open, Bob Reith and Arthur Land, assistant greenskeeper at the St. Charles course were tied. Nine extra holes were played for possession of the Tribune trophy and the Manitoba Open crown. One bad hole seemed to wreck Land's hopes, but the usually steady Reith also faltered at one hole, and the unassuming, long-hitting Arthur Land won the Open on the last hole.

The Niakwa club again won the Interclub Team-of-four event for the eighth time in nine years. The Birks Interclub trophy seems to make a permanent home in the clubhouse by the Seine River.

The Manitoba Willingdon Cup team which played in Ottawa this year placed fourth after Quebec, Ontario, and British Columbia. This squad made up of Reith, Dave Arnott, Ernie Palmer, and Herb Pickard were leading the field after the first round of the Interprovincial matches in the morning. The wind was practically blowing contestants off the course, but the Westerners made a splendid bid. They were three strokes ahead of Quebec and five in front of Ontario. Reith had a 76, Arnott the same, while Palmer and Pickard were 74 and 82 respectively.

However in the afternoon all save the veteran youngster Reith, lost control. Palmer taking 87, Arnott 85 and Pickard adding an ineffective 82. Meanwhile Reith in a super effort placed second for the day to only Phil available, but Secretary White of the Public Parks Board reports that on the two Municipal courses, Kildonan and Windsor, games played increased by the incredible number of 12,261. Tuxedo, a public course in Winnipeg's west end reports an even larger percentage of increase.

Golf clubs in Manitoba expended little on capital account during the season. With the exception of the odd new green or bunker, efforts were directed to refinements and improvements to existing layouts.

The St. Boniface course on Farley of Quebec as he added a sub par 72. This however did not hold the team up and Manitoba sagged to a 634, four behind B.C. and fifteen back of victorious Quebec.

The saga of Manitoba in the Canadian amateur Championship was a rather poor one with Reith falling before Pete Kelly, Maritime champion, a player he would ordinarily be expected to overcome. This was in the third round. Arnott and Palmer went out in short order while Picard was defeated by G. B. Taylor of Montreal 4 and 3 in the third round. Reith again won the City and District Winnipeg crown by nosing out Kasmir Zabowski, professional of Pine Ridge and last year's Open champion of the province. Reith also won the Western Manitoba title. Incidentally in third place in the Winnipeg Open event was veteran Alan Boes of Niakwa. He was likewise tied with Reith at the 27th hole of the Open championship for the lead but slipped finishing.

Allan Boes of Assiniboine who has come close to winning in Manitoba many times. This year was third in the Winnipeg City championships. He has been a member of Manitoba's Willingdon cup team in recent years.

One highlight of the Manitoba season was supplied by Zabowski who travelled to the St. Paul Open this summer and there competed with the best Americans in the travelling troupe. In that event he might have been a winner had his putter not let him down a few times in the pinches. As it was he finished third in the final standing.

Zabowski and Reith both played in the Canadian Open and despite the terrifically inclement weather they performed very creditably.

The Manitoba Branch of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union enjoyed a successful season, with increased membership. Miss Heather Leslie won the Manitoba Ladies championship the runner up being Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, both members of the Niakwa club. Mrs. R. K. Bearisto won the City and District competition and Mrs. Watson Swail the Tribune trophy, which is played with handicap.

The Manitoba Branch was host to the Ladies Dominion championships, which were played over the Niakwa and St. Charles courses. Manitoba brought home first honors in both the Ladies Open and the Ladies Close, Mrs. Johnny Rogers after a season of grand golf winning the former, and Miss Heather Leslie winning the Close.

This victory made Winnipeg one of the few cities in Canada ever to hold both of the Women's major championships.

The play of Mrs. Rogers was particularly good, for though she had never before played such a strenuous stretch of golf — seldom if ever playing thirty-six holes in one day before this year's Open, she managed to keep her game at such a pitch as to carry through two gruelling weeks, falling only slightly short of a double

Dave Arnott, veteran Manitoba player. Member of Assiniboine Club, winner of the amateur championship back in 1931 and runner up to Sandy Somerville in 1930. He this year earned a place on Manitoba's Willingdon Cup team.

RE-ORGANIZATION IN THE MARITIMES

NEW BRUNSWICK AND PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND MERGE AS SINGLE ASSOCIATION

THE NEW BRUNSWICK Golf Association is the youngest of all the Provincial Associations, having been organized in the spring of 1934. Prior to that time the Maritime Provinces Golf Association had been in existence for a number of years and conducted one Maritime Championship Tournament each season, also on two occasions sent Maritime team to the Canadian Championships. The province of Nova Scotia has had its Provincial Association for several years and has been conducting the Nova Scotia Championships.

During the late summer of 1933, Mr. Earle O. Turner and Mr. E. A. MacKay of Fredericton, and Frank N. Robertson of Saint John discussed the advisability of forming a Provincial Association for the Province of New Brunswick, and after obtaining valuable information from Mr. Taylor, of the Province of Quebec Golf Association, and Mr. Anderson, of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, it was decided to proceed with the formation of the N. B. G. A., so on Tuesday April 3rd, 1934, a meeting was held in the Admiral Beatty Hotel, Saint John, attended by representatives from twelve Provincial Clubs.

The Association was formally organized with Mr. Percy W. Thomson of Saint John as Honorary-President; Mr. E. O. Turner of Fredericton President; Mr. J. Royden Thomson of Saint John Vice-President; Mr. Frank N. Robertson, Secretary-Treasurer; and with a Board of Directors representing six different clubs.

The first Annual Provincial Championship Tournament was held on the links of the Fredericton Golf Club in June of that year and was very largely attended. Since then, the Association has grown in member clubs and its different tournaments are creating increasing interest in golf each season.

In 1935 the Royal Canadian Golf Association decided it would be to the advantage of the Maritimes if they recognized the two Provincial organizations of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and gave them each representation on the Canadian Executive Committee rather than just one member from the Maritime Provinces Golf Association and in doing so the R.C.G.A. linked Prince Edward Island with New Brunswick.

In the fall of that year, the Charlottetown Golf Club of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, became a member club of the New Brunswick Golf Association and at the annual meeting this year the name of the

Mrs. E. Loran Baker of Yarmouth who was the 1936 Maritime Ladies champion, but who lost in the final of that event this year. She is the former Barbara Creighton.

Association was changed to the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Golf Association. The Association now embraces all clubs in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island with the exception of one.

The activities of the Association go far beyond the holding of an annual championship. The member clubs are in close touch with the officers of the Association and the committee on handicaps and rating-of-courses, headed by Professor Turner, has been active in visiting the different clubs—rating the courses and instructing the different captains in the use of the latest handicap chart.

The season which has just come to an end has been the most successful in the short history of the Association.

All the tournaments sponsored by the Association were very largely attended and were most successfully run off. Probably the outstanding feature of the year was the excellent showing made by Pete Kelly of the Charlottetown Club at the Canadian Championships in Ottawa. The New Brunswick team made a fairly good showing, and the fact that Kelly, in the face of stiff opposition, went as far as he did increased the interest here in the Canadian wide competition.

The Provincial Championships were held on the links of the Riverdale Golf Club in Moncton, and Pete Kelly was crowned Amateur Champion of New Brunswick, while Archie Skinner, pro at the Algonquin Club, St. Andrews, won the Open Championship. William Crawford, a coming young player of the Westfield Country Club was runner up in the Amateur, and Larry Thornton, pro at the Moncton Club, was runner up in the Open.

Pete Kelly thus became the winner of The Lieutenant-Governor MacLaren Medal, The Mr. Justice Tilley Cup and the Mr. Norman Wilson Silver Tray. Kelly's score was 316 while Archie Skinner turned in 306 for the Open.

The Cup for the Best Net was won by V. A. Fraser of The Bathurst Golf Club.

The Charlottetown team composed of Pete Kelly, Bob Holman, Jack Saunders, and Vic Saunders, President of the Maritime Provinces Golf Association, were the winners of the gross score team prize; while Riverside team No. 3, composed of Royden Thomson, Billy Gale, Benny Fottler, and Reid Storey were the winners of the net score team prize.

The officials of the Riverdale Club of Moncton were complimented for the excellent arrangements at the club and the very fine condition of the course. Seventy-eight players competed in this meet.

The next tournament staged in the Province was the Provincial Mixed Championships which were held on the links of the Riverside Golf & C. C. Saint John, and attracted an entry list of sixty-six. Last year's champions, Miss Audrey McLeod, and D. C. Skinner, of the Riverside Club again won the honours; while Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wallace of Fredericton, and Mrs. H. S. Gregory and H. O. Clark of Riverside tied as runners up.

The New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Association inaugurated a new tournament this year which created so much interest and turned out to be such a success that it will be continued each year in the future. The excellent and difficult course at the Riverside Golf & Country Club was the scene of this meet, which was of a six-fold character.

Six different competitions were played—Father and Son; Father and Daughter; Mother and Son; Mother and Daughter; Senior Man and Junior Boy; Senior Lady and Junior Girl.

The competition of Senior Man and Junior Boy brought out a very large entry list and created keen rivalry among the juniors, whose ages ranged from twelve to eighteen years. Some of the older players were surprised to find such good golfers among some of the very young boys. This competition was won by R. J. Hickey and Eugene Mealey of the Westfield Country Club—young Mealey being the son of the pro at the Westfield Club. The Senior Lady and Junior Girl match was won by Miss M. Staples and Miss S. Vandervort of the Ridgewood Golf & Country Club. The Father and Son championship was won by W. A. Harrison and his son-in-law C. H. Little of the Riverside Club. The Father and Daughter match was won by F. W. Roach and Mrs. C. S. Stevenson of the Riverside Club. The Mother and Son championship was won by Mrs. W. A. Harrison and her son-in-law C. H. Little, and the Mother and Daughter contest was won by Mrs. G. A. Maguire and Miss Marion Maguire of the Westfield Country Club. It is a foregone conclusion that the young boys and juniors will be out in greater numbers for this popular contest next year.

The Annual Tournament of the Maritime Provinces Golf Association was held at the Charlottetown Golf Club and was attended by almost one hundred golfers from all three of the Maritime Provinces. Pete Kelly carried off the championship defeating N. Ross of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, in the finals. Pete, who is a member of the Detroit Red Wings Hockey Team, thus proved himself to be the outstanding golfer in the Maritime Provinces at the present time.

One of the most successful golf organizations in all Canada is that of the Maritime

WINNERS OF ONTARIO LAURELS

Left above: Miss Willo Love of Lambton in Toronto was a member of the Ontario Interprovincial team and as such went to Winnipeg where the team placed third. Miss Love was the last left of the Ontario contingent in the Canadian Ladies Close event reaching the semi-finals where she was eliminated by Mrs. Rogers of Winnipeg, Open Champion.

Left above: Bobby Alston of Chaudiere Club in Ottawa who won the Ontario Open championship this year at the Hamilton Golf and C. C. with two great rounds of 70-69. Even then he had to play off with Bill McWilliams of St. Andrews, Toronto. He won this match with a 75 to his opponent's 79. Alston was leading point winner in the International professional matches played with the American team this fall, winning both games.

Centre above: Jack Nash of London Hunt Club had a fine year playing excellent golf in the Ontario field days. He won the first at Lambton. He was low amateur in the Ontario Open tying for third place. Added to this he vindicated a bad showing on the Ontario Willingdon Cup team in 1936 by this year leading the Ontario squad with two fine rounds. He was third low scorer in this event among all contestants.

C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, London Hunt Club, Canadian amateur champion again this year for a sixth time. He toured across Canada this year playing exhibitions and gained a host of friends and admirers. Sandy won the Jasper Park Totem Pole trophy which he annexed while visiting Jasper. He was low amateur at the General Brock Open Championship in the spring.

Right above: Miss Grace Sears of Lakeview in Toronto who is one of the most promising of the Junior players in the Ontario Ladies junior Division. She this year won the Junior title of the province with a splendid score of 177 for thirty-six holes. Her two rounds were 91-86. She is a pupil of Lex Robson and should be among the top ranking players of the province before long. She is 18 years old.

Left below: Jim Boeckh of York Downs in Toronto who this year played on the Ontario Willingdon Cup team and generally distinguished himself with some excellent play. He won the Hamilton Field day with a record-making 68; he took Sandy Somerville twenty holes in the Ontario amateur championship at London before bowing. It looked for a time as if he might defeat the great Londoner as he actually holed out once from over 100 yards to take the lead.

Determined Gordon Taylor Jr. of Summit in Toronto. He this year played on the Willingdon Cup team and won the Fall Field Day of the Ontario Association which was played at Brantford. Taylor was a semi-finalist in the Ontario championship in which he was beaten by Somerville by a 2 and 1 score. Sandy managed to play a super round against Taylor as he always does when these two old rivals meet. This will be born out by the fact that Taylor was even par when the match ended.

GOLF IN ONTARIO CARRIES ON

CANADA'S LARGEST GOLFING PROVINCE

IS LED BY SOMERVILLE'S GREAT SEASON

ONTARIO continues to be the leading golfing province from point of view of the greatest number of players of any single province. The spread out nature of playing interest in this province makes for considerable difficulty in organization and administration, however this year has seen a closer knit Ontario Golf Association than ever before. This has been made possible through the earnest efforts of this year's O.G.A. executives working in co-operation with the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the Province of Quebec Golf Association.

Probably the single events of the golfing year which have generated more general interest in the game than any others were the playing of the Canadian Open Championship again at the St. Andrews Golf Club practically in Toronto and the third annual General Brock Open Championship at Fonthill Ontario. Both of these Big Money events attracted much public interest and served to bring the game closer to large groups who might not have found interest otherwise. This was the second year in succession that the St. Andrews Club was the scene of Canada's National tournament and the great players at this and the General Brock tournament were definitely promotional assets to the game.

The season itself from a competitive point of view was very satisfying to those who have learned to count on Ontario's fairway heroes of the past few years, who in 1936 seemed to slip a little from their lofty positions nationally and provincially. This year most of these standbys came roaring back to prominence. Somerville and Nash, Taylor and Boeckh, names well known to Ontario's golfing headlines, all showed flashes of great form. . . the former two returning to the top rungs of amateur golf in this country.

Concluding the 1937 season, the Ontario Golf Association happily reported another successful year, not only financially, but also in the number of clubs affiliated with the Association—several new clubs having joined during the year. An indication of the keen interest in the various championships and tournaments is evidenced by the fact that only two titles were successfully defended by the 1936 titleholders, the fortunate victors being Mrs. J. D. Craig, and Miss Jean Craig, of Weston in the Mother and Daughter division of the Parent and Child championship at the Thornhill Golf Club, and Ray Grieve, of Islington, in the Junior championship at the Summit Golf Club, Jefferson, Ontario. The last named gives every evidence of being one of Canada's future greats of the links for, though but sixteen years of age, after putting together 77-78-155 in a heavy rain and fog at Hamilton last year to win his title, he further demonstrated his scoring ability this year at Summit by returning 79-73-152, two strokes better than the total scored by Herbert Carnegie, of Glen Mawr, the colored boy who is already well-known as a hockey, football and basketball star.

C. Ross Somerville's triumph in the Ontario Amateur championship at the Sunningdale Golf Club, London, marked his fourth victory in this event and his return to top honors in this province, was singularly significant for he went to Ottawa Hunt to regain the Canadian Amateur championship, his sixth triumph in this event. Further honors which came his way were his perennial winning of the London Hunt Invitation tournament and his capturing of the Totem Pole tournament at Jasper Park Lodge, Alberta.

As last year, a playoff was necessary to decide the Ontario Open championship, played this year at the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, for Bobby Alston, of Chaudiere, Ottawa, and Bill McWilliams, of St. Andrews, Toronto, tied at the end of the thirty-six holes medal play with identical scores of 69-70-139, but in the subsequent eighteen-hole playoff, Alston won by 75 to 79. Jack Nash of London Hunt, was leading amateur scorer with 141, creating a tie with Jimmy Johnstone, of Rosedale, for third place in the championship.

After being strong contenders for several years, J. E. Cassan and S. E. Cassan, of Thistledown, finally came into their own in winning the Father and Son championship at Thornhill, their gross score of 81 being too good for the opposition. Father and Daughter honors went to H. G. Wookey and Miss Barbara Wookey, of Rosedale, while the Mother and Son winners were Mrs. W. G. More and Ian More, of Toronto.

Harry W. Phelan, of Royal York, who was runner-up in the 1936 Senior's event, secured this year's title with a 78 over the Royal York Course, R. M. "Bobby" Gray, of Rosedale, last year's winner and also holder of the Canadian Senior's title, failing to successfully defend his laurels. An injured knee handicapped his playing considerably.

Five field days were held during the season including the Spring and Fall Tournaments and a host of new faces were seen in these events, many of whom indicated that they would be championship contenders of no mean ability in another season or so. Jack Nash of London, was the Spring tournament winner at Lambton, Robert Abbott of Peterboro, at his home club, Jim Boeckh of York Downs, at Burlington; J. D. Ritchie of Mississauga, at Cataraqui, Kingston; and Gordon Taylor, Jr. of Summit, in the Fall tournament at Brantford.

QUEBEC HAS GREATEST YEAR IN HISTORY

QUEBEC'S golf has, in the past year, shown signs of being in what might be termed a mature state. This does not imply that the game has spread as far as it will, but indications, unrefutable, would tend to imply that the French-Canadian province is in many respects reaping the reward of well-ordered and long-standing golf organization. The P.Q.G.A. (Province of Quebec Golf Association) has long been the moving factor among the provincial associations of Canada. Work accomplished by this body has in many instances proven the leading inspiration for general betterment of the game both locally and across Canada. Up until this year Quebec has hardly shown the rest of Canada that her organization was worth a great deal in the realm of producing players and teams which could lead the way, but 1937 proved tangibly that the game of golf if correctly introduced, and correctly conducted will in time be proficiently played.

Most of the daily papers across the country have made known the facts of the season in Quebec, and in other provinces, and for that reason too close a review of the play in Quebec is superfluous here. Let us explain further however the meaning of the phrase "mature state" as applied to Quebec's golf.

In 1936 and 1937 there were more tournaments in Quebec than in any two years prior to that time. 1937's schedule of thirty events as against 1936's thirty-one, was supported more regularly by the leading low handicap players. In other words Quebec's Tournaments have been attractive mainly to the better players. The higher handicappers, it has been revealed, are now playing their golf in tournaments held largely outside of the provincial jurisdiction.

The P.Q.G.A. has in this regard served its purpose, for it has shown practically all types of organizations that golf is a natural and logical medium for sporting "get-togethers". This year in Quebec hardly a day passed without some financial, athletic, or fraternal organization holding a golf field day. The numbers of such events if checked in the files of the newspapers, is amazing. It might therefore be considered that the Golf Association in Quebec has accomplished the business of introducing golf as a sport for everyone to enjoy, and a competitive game chiefly for the best players.

Of the season competitively it must be admitted that 1937 was for Quebec the most outstanding in modern times. Individually Phil Farley, formerly of Toronto and now a resident for two years in Montreal, was the star, winning his second provincial championship in two years, leading all contestants in the Interprovincial Team championships as well as the Quebec team to the Willingdon Cup title. He also took his third low scoring amateur honors in the Canadian Open championship along with a bevy of lesser honors including the Pheonix trophy, H.R.H. Duke of Kent trophy, the Metropolitan trophy, Dr. George Bigelow, Regina, long a leader in Saskatchewan golf. He was elected this year to the presidency of the Saskatchewan golf association. He is formerly a provincial champion and is rated one of the province's outstanding performers.

SASKATCHEWAN golfers have been handicapped greatly for some years owing to the long period of drought from which the province has suffered, and particularly so in 1937 when the courses resembled deserts more than golf courses, the putting green being the oasis. Notwithstanding these conditions interest in the game continued as great as ever, both locally and provincially, and the Saskatchewan Golf Association had a very successful season.

The bad playing conditions have not, as might be imagined, unduly disturbed the membership of the Association, although in recent years a few Clubs in the drought areas have ceased to exist. The Association hopes, however, that next year will see these Clubs functioning again.

The 1937 Open, Professional, Amateur and Junior Championships were held at the Riverside Country Club, Saskatoon, a favourite championship course but, like all the other Saskatchewan courses, with scarcely a blade of grass on the fairways. The Amateur and Junior Championships are restricted to members of the Clubs affiliated with the Association. Competitors in the Junior Championship must not have passed their eighteenth birthday on the opening day of the tournament.

Wilf Greenwood, Regina professional, this year defended his title as Open champion of the province. His great 69 in the final round enabled him to retain the crown and at the same time nose out an old rival, Tom Ross, also of Regina. The latter was one stroke higher.

SASKATCHEWAN GOLF DEFIES DROUGHT

There was a good entry of professionals, including three or four Alberta friends. In the first round of the Open Bob Reid, Regina, last year's amateur champion, led the field with 71, but fell away badly in the second round. The four leading scores were made by professionals, as follows:

Wilf. Greenwood, Regina, last year's winner, repeated with 75 and 69 — 144. Tom Ross, Regina, also a previous winner, followed closely with 72 and 73 — 145. Hugh Fletcher, Moose Jaw, had the same total with 75 and 70, and J. Mountified, Edmonton, took fourth place with 75 and 73 — 148. All very good scoring considering the bad condition of the fairways.

Miss Margaret Esson, darling of the Saskatchewan links who was this year shorn of her Saskatchewan title by the veteran Mrs. R. S. Rideout of Regina. Miss Esson is only sixteen years of age but last year playing in her first major tourney came through with a provincial crown. She is from Rosetown and was the youngest player in the Canadian Championship in Winnipeg this year. Mrs. Rideout, this year's champion has held the Saskatchewan championship six times in seven years.

The professional event (72 holes) was won by Tom Ross with 293. Wilf. Greenwood taking second place with 294. Hugh Fletcher followed with 297 and Jack Cuthbert, Calgary, took fourth place with 298. Jack carded the best total for the third and fourth rounds with 74 and 73.

The Amateur Championship was won by Arnold Lozo, Saskatoon, junior champion in 1928, who played consistent golf throughout the week, and the runner up was Eddie Wiseman of hockey fame. The game finished on the 36th. green. Bob Reid, winner in 1936, was beaten by Lozo in the semi-finals on the 18th. green, and Dr. Bigelow, winner in 1933 and 1935, met defeat at the hands of Wiseman in the quarter finals. A record was probably created in the Bigelow-Anderson (Saskatoon) match in the first round, which went to the 26th. green.

The Junior Championship was won by Mickey Pyke, Humboldt, the runner up being Arthur Elder, Prince Albert.

It is interesting to note that for the last ten years, with one exception, the Amateur Championship has been won by a former junior champion of the province.

The team match was won by the Regina Golf Club team, consisting of Bob Reid, Ben Reid, Harry Burns and Jimmy Mackenzie, the total score being 307.

The 1938 championships are to be held at Waskesiu, Prince Albert National Park, in July, the most likely dates being July 11 to 14.

The President for 1938 is Dr. George B. Bigelow, Prince Albert.

The senior golfers held their annual tournament on the course of the Regina Golf Club. All amateur golfers residing in Saskatchewan and of the age of 55 or over are eligible to compete in the senior events.

The 1937 championship was won by Fred Bradshaw, Regina, the runner up being J. E. Armstrong, also of Regina. There was a good turn out of 40 players.

Next year's tournament is to take place at the Wascana Country Club, Regina.

The President for 1938 is J. E. Armstrong, Regina, and the secretaryship is in the capable hands of Dr. J. W. Hedley, Regina.

Notwithstanding the worst drought conditions within memory, the Saskatchewan Prov. Branch of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union enjoyed the most successful year in its history.

The 1937 Prov. Championship was held over the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club Course from 9th to 13th August. Ideal weather conditions prevailed. The Championship was won by Mrs. R. S. Rideout, Regina, Runner-up was Miss Margaret Esson, Rosetown, Sask.

The entry list of 89 players constituted a record for Saskatchewan, and included players from Regina, Prince Albert, Rosetown, Kindersley and the Riverside Country Club, Saskatoon.

A large measure of credit for the success of the Tournament must be given those out-of-town clubs for the splendid support given.

The Regina contingent numbered 18, and included the leading golfers of that city.

Considering the natural handicaps under which golf has been played in the Province of Saskatchewan for the past seven years, an excellent brand of golf was displayed. Most of the games were decided on the 17th and 18th holes.

For the first time in the history of the Saskatchewan Branch, sufficient funds were available to cover the cost of sending a team of 4

Provinces Seniors Golf Association, which has been in existence for fourteen years, and throughout that whole time has had as its guiding hand the efficient and obliging Mrs. A. C. Currie of Saint John, who has been its Secretary-Treasurer since its inception.

Their annual meet was held on the beautiful links of the Pines Hotel Golf Club at Digby, Nova Scotia, and was attended by one hundred and twenty-two senior golfers from all over the Maritimes. This is a record attendance for any meet in these Provinces. The championship was again won by Mr. J. Marsh Matthews of Chester, Nova Scotia, who finished six strokes ahead of Colonel H. Westmorland, of the Ashburn Country Club, Halifax. Mr. Matthews carded two rounds of 78 each.

A feature of the meet was the contest between Mr. C. E. Creighton of Halifax, players to compete in the Inter Prov. Team Matches at the National Tournament held in Winnipeg in September.

The team was composed of the following players:- Mrs. R. S. Rideout, Regina (Champion), Miss Margaret Esson, Rosetown, (Runner-up), Mrs. Gordon Brown, Regina, and Mrs. R. W. Thorpe, Saskatoon.

Mrs. Rideout is a veteran golfer, and has to her credit the honor of winning the Sask. Prov. Championship six times out of the last seven years.

Undoubtedly interest was added to this year's Tournament by the presence of the youthful Miss Esson of Rosetown.

This young golfer won the Prov. Championship in Regina last year at the age of 15. She had never before taken part in competitive golf, yet she easily disposed of the strongest players in the Province. Given 2 or 3 years time, in which to perfect her short game and acquire the finesse and poise of the finished golfer, this young lady will be ready to take her place amongst the leading golfers of the Dominion. She learned her game on a drought-stricken 9 hole prairie golf course, with sand greens, and rough fairways. That such a course could produce a golfer of Championship calibre at the age of 15, seems incredible, but Miss Esson is a natural born golfer. She reached the semi-finals in the Ladies Dominion Championship in Winnipeg this year, and created a favorable impression on all who witnessed her play.

The 1937 Executive concluded their year in office with the feeling that their efforts had been well rewarded.

who is eighty-one years old, and Dr. James M. Magee of Saint John, who is nearly the same age. Both veterans played throughout the whole tournament.

The Golfers of New Brunswick, and especially the members of The Riverside Golf and Country Club, are greatly indebted to Mr. Percy W. Thomson Honorary President of The N.B.-P.E.I. Golf Association, for the marvellous work he has done in connection with the re-building of the Riverside Course. During the last three years Mr. Thomson has given his personal supervision to the extensive alterations that have been carried out from plans and specifications prepared especially for him by Mr. Donald Ross the great American Golf Architect.

The soil culture has received intensive study in Mr. Thomson's private laboratory with the result that every fairway presents a perfect Brassie Lie where a good ball should come to rest.

Through Mr. Thomson's efforts, Riverside Saint John, and all Atlantic Canada, now has a Golf Course that is second to none in the Dominion, and The New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Golf Association takes this opportunity of expressing sincere appreciation for his untiring efforts in their behalf.

The Maritime Provinces Branch of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union with Miss Mable Sterling of Fredericton N. B. as its President and Miss Jean Hodge also of Fredericton as Secretary, has been doing splendid work for the promotion of golf among the ladies of Canada's Seaboard Provinces. The 1937 Annual Tournament, held on the superb links of The Riverside Golf and Country Club, Saint John, N. B., was an outstanding success. Perfect weather prevailed throughout the whole week and some very close and exciting matches took place before the finals were reached.

Mrs. K. I. Campbell, President of the Ladies Association of The Riverside Club, and a most efficient entertainment committee, were untiring in their efforts to provide for the needs and comforts of the visiting golfers. Many very pleasant social functions were held in honour of the ladies from other cities, and all three provinces were well represented in the 63 players who took part in the different competitions.

The meet was held in early August and the opening day, Monday, was given over to an 18-hole Interprovincial Match. 22 Ladies from Nova Scotia playing against 22 Ladies from New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island. The result was 12 to 10 in favour of Nova Scotia. On Tuesday the 18 hole Qualifying Round took place with all 63 golfers participating. Miss Barbara Trites of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia and Miss Babs Creighton of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia led the field, with Miss Dorothy Holmes of Truro, N. S., Mrs. S. E. Goodwin, Miss E. Sanderson, and Miss Maisie Howard, all of Halifax well up with the leaders. New Brunswick was represented in the Championship Division by Miss Audrey MacLeod, Miss Barbara Jack, Mrs. H. S. Gregory, Miss M. Woodworth, all of Riverside, Miss Agnes Puddington of Westfield and Miss Louise Sterling of Fredericton.

Mrs. A. G. Guest of Amhurst, N. S., Mrs. F. W. Young, Truro, N. S., and Mrs. W. K. McKean and Mrs. T. Moon of Halifax, also made the select sixteen.

The whole field was divided into four flights and match play continued throughout the week with consolation matches for the eliminated.

ONTARIO

The officers and directors of the Association feel that golf in Ontario is making rapid strides, and with co-operation of numerous clubs, throughout the province hope that the year 1938 will be a banner one.

The Ontario Branch of the Ladies Golf Union reported a very successful season this year. Six clubs joined the association during the year which brought in many new members. These clubs were Maitland Golf Club, Goderich, Woodbine Golf Club, Toronto, Napanee Golf Club, Napanee, Kirkland Lake Golf Club, Kirkland Lake, St Andrews Golf Club, Toronto, TamO Shanter Golf Club, Agincourt. These additions brought the total up to 102 clubs in the provincial division.

Foremost among the Ontario ladies tournaments is the provincial championship which was last year held by Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen of Toronto, but which at Kingston this year was taken by Mrs. C. H. Shuttleworth, a very much improved and popular player from Hamilton. In the finals she defeated a very dependable player in the person of Mrs. Eddis Carlson of Rosedale. Mrs. Shuttleworth is a member of Glendale Golf Club in Hamilton. The tournament was played at the Cataract Golf and Country club, in Kingston and was not supported with the number of entries that have taken part in other years when the event was played in or around Toronto. Mrs. Shuttleworth, in winning automatically gained a post on the Ontario Ladies Interprovincial team.

This team journeyed to Winnipeg where it made a bid for the honors, but ended well behind, taking third place behind the winners from Quebec and the runner-up team from Manitoba.

Members of this year's team included Mrs. Shuttleworth, Mrs. Eric Phillips, Lambton, Miss Willo Love, Lambton, and Mrs. H. F. Robinson, Mississauga, Mrs. Mulqueen, 1936 Canadian Close Champion was unable to take her place on the Ontario team, neither did she make the trip to Winnipeg in defence of her Canadian crown.

In Winnipeg at the Canadian Open and Close championships Ontario's players made very fine showings. Mrs. Phillips led the Ontario contingent as she went to the finals of the Open championship where she bowed to Mrs. John Rogers in a fine game. Mrs. Shuttleworth reached the semi-finals after defeating the favorite and medalist in the event in the person of Miss Bea Barrett of Minneapolis. She then was beaten in the semi-final by a teammate Mrs. Phillips by a score of 3 and 2.

Miss Love went to the semi-finals of the Close championship where she bowed to Mrs. Rogers 4 and 3. This was the best showing of the Ontario ladies in this event.

At home the leading players this year were fairly much the same as in recent years. Several new stars gave promise however. Again in field days and sectional tournaments the names of Ada Mackenzie, Mrs. Edward Gooderham, Mrs. Mulqueen, Mrs. J. A. MacDougall, Mrs. Eddis Carlson flashed across the headlines. Such names as Grace Sears, Lakeview, Mary Jane Fisher, Thornhill, Mary Lloyd of Lambton, and Miss Marion Walker of Mississauga were the newer ones to appear and all should place at the top in future years in Ontario's ladies events.

Tournaments at Hamilton and London were very well attended this year and showed increased interest in the game in these parts. Also Sarnia held a very fine event. The permanent Toronto fixtures drew splendid crowds of coming and established players. These tournaments included, The Toronto City and District Championship, the Isobel Porter Memorial Trophy, The Two Ball Foursomes, and the Mail and Empire Trophy.

The Junior Girls held their championship at the Toronto Golf & Country Club on August the 30th. and 31st. where there was a very good entry. Miss Grace Sears of Lake View Golf Club won this two day medal round and Miss Marion Walker of Mississauga Golf Club was the runner-up. Some excellent golf was played and many of these young girls are already making a name for themselves whilst competing in senior events.

The Annual meeting was held during the provincial tournament. At this time a change was made in the constitution i.e. that the date of the tournament be changed and in future be held during either the second or third week in June. During the meeting the Margaret Hamilton Memorial Trophy was presented to the branch by the lady golfers of Ontario in memory of Mrs. Hamilton, who until her death was President. The trophy is a very fine old piece of Sheffield and will be given to the runner-up of the tournament annually. Miss Jean Haslett conceived this idea and very kindly supervised the raising of the subscriptions. The balance remaining after the purchase of the trophy is invested and will in future partly defray the cost of purchasing a replica each year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. President—Miss Jean Haslett
President—Mrs. Armand Smith
1st. Vice-President—Miss Edith Ellis
Vice-President—Mrs. James Fraser
Vice-president—R. K. Palmer
Hon. Sec. Treasurer—Mrs. Ewart Binkley

Chairman Pars Committee—Mrs. S. G. Bennett
Chairman Team Fund Committee—Miss Gertrude Morwick
President's Three—Miss Isobel Suckling, Mrs. A. B. Rutherford, Miss Jane McFarlane.

The semi-finals produced some of the best golf of the week and brought together four Nova Scotia Ladies:- Miss Holmes against Miss Creighton and Miss Sanderson against Miss Trites. Miss Creighton had been playing very steady golf but on the following day in the finals she met another excellent golfer and was defeated for the Championship by Miss Trites of Bridgewater, N. S., by the score of 3 and 2.

the Manoir Richelieu tournament, and several others.

The winning of the Willingdon Cup was a great victory as the team of Farley, Frank Corrigan of Chaudiere, Guy Rolland of Laval, and Captain Gordon Taylor of Kanawaki nosed out Ontario by a single stroke in Ottawa in July.

Beyond this Farley took Sandy Somerville to the thirty-fifth hole of the final for the Canadian amateur crown—the closest a Quebecer has come to the title since 1936 when Gordon Taylor won the crown at Lambton in Toronto.

Beside this, Gordon Taylor this year went to the semi-finals of the Canadian championship only bowing to Farley at the 36th hole.

In the realm of the amateurs the Marlborough club players, of which Farley is a member, won the individual club honors with a total of 43 points this being substantially ahead of Chaudiere in Ottawa and Summerlea in Montreal, the second and third place clubs, respectively. Marlborough won the team-of-four provincial championship for the Star trophy leading Summerlea by a margin of nineteen strokes. On this team were Farley, Jack Archer, Joe Poulin, and H. R. Pickens Jr.

The Intersectional victory in Section One was taken on individual comparison by Summerlea Club after tying in points with Marlborough. In Section Two a powerful Laval squad placed ahead of Whitlock, Beaconsfield, and Ilesmere which followed in that order. Meanwhile Senneville eased in front of Country Club and Mount Royal by a scant half a point to take third division honors. Grovehill placed last in this section. Chaudiere won the Ottawa division; Kent Club was victorious in Quebec; and Cowansville lead teams of the Eastern townships.

Chronologically the season saw the St. Andrews East field day open proceedings, and with it a remarkable record-breaking performance by one of the province's "Old Guard" in the person of Watson Yuile. His 73, par, was the lowest the course has ever been played in competition by any amateur. Hard upon this event followed the Spring Open which was played, in thirty-six holes, at the same time as the Spring amateur championship at Country Club.

Again that wry Scot from Chaudiere, Bobby Alston, demonstrated his superiority in Quebec events to make it three "Opens" in a row in the French province . . . last year's Spring and Provincial Opens and then this 1937 Spring tourney! In so doing he led Jack Littler also of Ottawa (Rivermead) by two strokes. Carroll Stuart, Mount Royal, in what promised to be something of a seasonal comeback, took low amateur honors.

In the annual Mixed Foursome event for the provincial title, the Marlborough pair of Miss Rosemary Tedford and Phil Farley posted an 86 to top twenty-four pairs for this championship. With the season now underway the first of the Montreal District field days was played at Marlborough and Guy Rolland of Laval took first place with a fine 74 . . . one ahead of Farley. Interest then swung from Montreal to Quebec city where over a hundred golfers met in the annual Duke of Kent Trophy championship.

British Columbia

The 1937 British Columbia Championship was held at the Victoria Golf Club, Victoria, B. C. in May, with 59 entries. The qualifying round was played under very adverse weather conditions, a high southwest wind, almost gale like in proportion, sweeping the course, making it difficult to keep the ball teed up, but Mrs. E. E. Jackson, of the Uplands Golf Club, Victoria, and a member of the British Columbia Inter-Provincial Team, had the very creditable score of 85, and continued her fine play throughout the week to meet Miss Kathleen Farrell of the Jericho Country Club, Vancouver, the defending title holder, and also one of our Inter-Provincial Team players, in the finals, where she emerged victorious.

The Vancouver City Championship for the McIlreevy Cup was played at Marine Drive Golf Club with an entry of nearly 100. Mrs. Robert Gelletly of the Jericho Country Club was the medalist with a score of 84, and came out the winner each day throughout the week, to meet Miss Kathleen Farrell, again the defending Champion as in the Provincial Championship, in the final, and was defeated only on the 34th green after a very exciting match between two friendly rivals of the Jericho Country Club.

The Victoria City Championship was held in June at the Royal Colwood Golf Club under perfect weather conditions, and was won by Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, Uplands Golf Club, with Mrs. McIlraith, also of the Uplands Club, runner-up. Mrs. Arthur Dowell, Royal Colwood, was the medalist.

Much interest was taken throughout the year in the trial medal rounds, a number of which are played each year at the various courses as a means of choosing the players for the British Columbia Team to play in the Inter-Provincial Team matches. Mrs. S. C. Sweeney, President of the B. C. Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, has presented a cup for the lowest scorer in this event. This year's winner was Mrs. Thomas Melton, Marine Drive Golf Club, succeeding Miss Marcia Moss, who was last year's winner of this very interesting competition, but was unable to compete this year. Miss Moss is the ranking player at the Vancouver Golf & Country Club, New Westminster, B. C. and traveled East to Montreal last year for the Canadian Championships and Inter-Provincial Team Matches. Mrs. Melton was unable to attend the Championship, on account of a previously planned European trip, so the four players who won places on the Team were Mrs. E. E. Jackson from Victoria; Miss Kathleen Farrell, Miss Winnifred Evans and Mrs. Robert Renwick, the latter three from Vancouver.

The first part of June each year is a very interesting time in Vancouver, when all the various Golf Clubs in the City hold their Club Championships for Women. Miss Katie Duff Stuart, one of British Columbia's finest players, was crowned Champion at both the Jericho Country Club and the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, defeating Miss Kathleen Farrell at the former Club, and Miss Lillian Boyd, a very promising young player from the Shaughnessy Club.

The Mac Adam Cup, emblematic of the Inter-Club Team Championship in Vancouver has a new name engraved on it this year, the Quilchena Golf Club, which has developed a Team of very fine players.

The Upper Island Championship was played at Duncan, B. C. this year, with Miss Deta Peterson, Winner; Miss Jean Duncan, Runner-up; and Mrs. Hew Patterson, Medalist.

Farley stepped out in front though playing the course for the first time, and with a 150 total was five shots ahead of Guy Rolland, Laval. Two weeks later Farley recorded a record making win at the Manoir Richelieu where his two rounds of 73-73-146 lowered the "Sandy Somerville-made" record of 1934 by a single shot. Second to Farley in this event was W. D. Taylor.

In the Quebec handicap event (for those with handicaps of eleven and over) played at the Grovehill club, Fred O'Grady of Mount Royal put together an 80 and 81 to take the crown by one stroke from his teammate George Stafford.

In the middle of July the Quebec amateur championship was played at Elm Ridge on the lakeshore. Though W. D. Taylor won the qualifying round with a fine 71, Farley eventually defeated Jack Archer also of Marlborough in the final by a score of 4 and 3. This contest had to be played on two days because of a terrific rain which washed the players off the course at the third hole. Archer beat several fine golfers en route to the finals, but Farley was mechanical in the ultimate round. Following this Ted Fenwick, Bermuda amateur champion, won the P.Q.G.A. event played at his home course, Summerlea, as he spanked out a splendid 72. At this time there was a general check up on amateur eligibility in the province and the cases of several of the outstanding players were submitted to the R.C.G.A. for consideration. This ended ultimately in the amateurs in "good standing" status for all those considered.

In Quebec the first P.Q.G.A. field day ever held in that city was played and won by Adjutor Dussault of Kent with a score of 76. This event preceded the picking of the Quebec interprovincial team which included those mentioned earlier and Jack Archer as the alternate. Results of the Willingdon Cup matches for the Quebec team were mentioned previously as well as the showing of the two leading players, Farley and Taylor in the Amateur Championship.

After this tournament, Frank Corrigan, of Chaudiere again asserted his supremacy over Ottawa amateurs with a sparkling 69 over his home course in the P.Q.G.A. event held there. Farley, then fresh from his great show in the amateur event, won the Metropolitan championship defeating Bill Taylor in the final and then led the amateurs in the Quebec Open championship which took place a week later.

In the Open championship, Canada's professional champion Stan Horne of the Ottawa Hunt Club defeated tall Dick Borthwick of Oakdale Toronto. The championship was played at Marlborough, Horne and Borthwick scored two-over-par totals of 146; Horne won the playoff with a 72 to the Torontonians' 75.

Three field days following in quick succession were won by Gordon Taylor at St. Jerome with 72 over Guy Rolland's 73; Ted Fenwick at Val Morin with a two below par 70, one ahead of Carroll Stuart; and Jack Archer at Beaconsfield with a par 70 over Ed Innes' 71.

Quebec's two year old event, the Senior championship, was taken by George Salter, president of the Marlborough club. This championship was played at Senneville and Mr. Salter shot a fine 80 to edge out the strong bid of George Hamilton of Laval. The last team title event on the calendar was the Father and Son championship which was annexed again by A. E. Corrigan and son Frank. They scored 87-75-162 and beat off the perennial challenge of A. G. Fenwick, president of the Summerlea Club, and his son Ted, also by only one shot.

Quebec Junior champion this year was Lee Snelling of Rivermead, Ottawa. Played at Beaconsfield this tournament was quite a duel between Snelling and

Miss Creighton was chosen to represent the Maritimes at the Winnipeg meet, but owing to her approaching marriage, was unable to make the trip, so Miss Trites took her place and was accompanied by Miss Holmes.

The New Brunswick Branch of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union has been most active in assisting the Clubs throughout the Province in their efforts to foster tournament golf among the many lady players. In almost every New Brunswick Club there are more lady members than men, and under the very efficient guidance of Miss Audrey MacLeod, Secretary, and other officers, the rules and regulations of the C.L.G.U. are most accurately carried out. The many competitions in the Silver and Bronze Divisions are creating more interest each year. Miss MacLeod visits the different clubs and assists them in their parring and handicapping.

The 1937 Annual Tournament was held on the picturesque links of the Fredericton Golf Club, and a trip to the Capital city of New Brunswick is always an outstanding event in Provincial Golf annals. Nowhere may there be found better hosts than the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Fredericton Club. It is here at the fourth hole that the golfer has to negotiate the famous Periscope Shot. One hundred and forty-five yards from the tee lies the green hidden from view by a very steep hill which drops down sharply about 100 yards out. Only by the use of the huge Periscope which towers thirty feet in the air at the tee can the shot be followed. There is no fairway and only a small narrow green surrounded with plenty of trouble.

Mrs. Chestnut of Fredericton is the President of the N. B. Branch and was ably assisted in her work by the ladies of the host club.

The Meet is a medal play event running for three days. It was won by Miss Audrey MacLeod of the Riverside Golf and Country Club, Saint John with Mrs. D. A. Lindsay, Woodstock Golf Club, Woodstock, N. B., runner-up.

The gross score team prize was won by The Riverside Club Team composed of Miss Audrey MacLeod, Miss Barbara Jack, Mrs. H. S. Gregory and Mrs. A. F. Rankine.

The net score team prize was won by the team representing the Fredericton Golf Club.

Although Nova Scotia results are not complete as a result of failure to respond to correspondence, the most important of the Nova Scotia titles was taken this year by a former winner in the person of John Jack Harris of Wolfville, Nova Scotia. Harris, a graduate of Acadia University, and Harvard School of Business Administration, returned to top form this year after several seasons layoff. He had won this title back in 1932 when but a youngster.

Harris scored 312, Dr. Jardoe, 318 in third place was R. C. Duchimen of Asburn in Halifax. Torrents of rain marked the tournament which saw several former winners drop out, among whom were J. M. Matthews of Chester, and "Gint" Cain of Yarmouth.

Winner of the Nova Scotia Open championship was Jimmy Rimmer of Halifax who lead the nearest competitor by fifteen strokes. Rimmer is the popular pro of the Asburn club.

Gaston Ouillette, clubmates. The latter was two shots behind Snelling's fine effort of 39-38-77. The final field day of the season was won by long-hitting Eric Dunford of Ilsemere over his home course at Ilsemere. Dunford, whacked out a splendid homecoming 34 for a par total of 72. This gave him a four stroke advantage over Marcel Pinsonnault of Laval and Eric Pope of Ilsemere who tied for second place.

The final honor which accrued to the Province of Quebec was the point-winning in the Lesley Cup matches played at Laval-sur-le-Lac. With 55 points Quebec recorded its first win in the International Goodwill games which are played between ten-men teams selected on a handicap rating of varying scale from New York, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania. Happy Fraser, Kanawaki, veteran player and former Canadian amateur champion, captained the Quebec team which excelled as hosts while showing the visitors a sound group of golfers.

President R. J. Dawes of the P.Q.G.A. and his committees completed an excellent year as the success and scope of the above activities will indicate. Quebec was undoubtedly the outstanding golfing province in the Dominion showing a provincial handicap list of well over seven hundred. This list is revised twice annually and checked after every tournament. Perhaps in this one item alone has the French Canadian province obtained the keynote to successful golf organization, for in this vital and up-to-date rating exists a bond vital and up-to-date rating, exists a bond comparison such as may be shown by few localities in the golfing world anywhere.

Quebec's Lady Golfers During 1937

With Mrs. Darling of Whitlock and Mme Dagenais of Laval out of play this past season the year for Quebec's ladies was characterized by the rise of a number of efficient young players. Mrs. Darling, last year Dominion champion, Mrs. Leo Dolan, 1936 Quebec titlist, and Mme. Dagenais, were the foremost title threats in Quebec during the 1936 season, but all were out of competition in 1937. The result was the rise of slightly-built Nora Nankin of Rosemere as the province's leading medalist. Likewise youthful Mrs. J. D. Pearce of Beaconsfield, winner of the Quebec crown this season, proved that she is a powerful match golfer. These two augmented, by a sterling campaigner, Mrs. Harold Soper, Royal Montreal, captain of the Quebec Interprovincial team, and the long-hitting Evelyn Mills of Ottawa, constituted the squad which defended Quebec's Dominion title, won in 1936 at Royal Montreal. This group travelled to Winnipeg to win the 1937 team championship.

Outstanding events on the Quebec Women's calendar are the Provincial championship, the Montreal City and District tourney, the Seignory Club Invitation tournament, the Manoir Richelieu championship, and the regular field days played throughout the province during the summer. In the Provincial championship Mrs. J. D. Pearce found a fine brand of golf at Ilsemere in July to defeat Miss Molly Hankin of Kanawaki in the final. Miss Hankin had defeated Miss Yolande Moisan of Summerlea in the semi-finals, while Mrs. Pearce won in the same round from a grand young coming player, Miss Barbara Staniforth of the Seignory club. The final was a 12 and 11 win for Mrs. Pearce as Miss Hankin failed to exhibit anything like an approximation of her real ability. Miss Evelyn Mills of Ottawa was medalist in this tourney.

The City and District affair saw Mrs. A. D. J. Wright, veteran Kanawaki star, post two rounds of 86-85 to lead another veteran Miss Margaret Lockhart of Royal Montreal by two shots. The test matches which were played this year every week under the direction of Mrs. H. R. Pickens of Marlborough, for posts on the Quebec team were generally dominated by Miss Nora Hankin. Miss Yolande Moisan was a factor in the field days. The Manoir Richelieu tournament was again annexed by a veteran New York visitor from Rye, Mrs. L. Noel. The Seignory Club tourney was won by the diminutive Catherine Beer of Beaconsfield. This constituted the latter's first major win.

Mrs. Harold Soper, Royal Montreal, went to the semi-finals of the Canadian Open championship this year in Winnipeg where she bowed to the eventual winner Mrs. John Rogers. Miss Nora Hankin won the Qualifying round of the Close championship of Canada, also in Winnipeg. She placed second in the qualifying round of the Open.

In the Professional ranks of Quebec, probably the achievement of the season was the remarkable record-breaking victory of Jules Huot, tiny French Canadian professional of the Kent Club in Quebec City, in the $4000 General Brock Open Championship played at Fonthill Ontario. Huot beat the best American money players on the continent and established a new record for the 72 hole event, five strokes better than Craig Wood's 1936 total.

Quebec placed Robert Burns of Hampstead, Bobby Alston, Chaudiere, Ottawa, Maurice and Jules Huot of Quebec on the Canadian professional International team which competed very creditably against an American team at Toronto in September. Alston figured in two winning matches while Burns played with him in the doubles matches when they were successful against Tony Manero and Jimmy Thomson. Together they shot a 67 to win!!

Arthur MacPherson of Marlborough won the Montreal Professional Golfers Association match play crown by defeating Jock Brown of Summerlea on the last hole of their thirty-six hole final. Both played fine late-season golf. Bobby Burns, perennial M.P.G.A. medal champion, came from behind this year in the point standing, and in the final field day, won this event to gain enough points to push him out in front of Redvers MacKenzie of Elm Ridge.

Mrs. H. I. Nelson, president of the Quebec C.L.G.U. during 1937, was re-elected for the coming year after her splendid service in office during the past season.

Miss Barbara Staniforth of the Seignory Club at last stopped Miss Audrey MacIntosh's string of victories in the Quebec Girl's championship. Miss MacIntosh had the title for three consecutive seasons until this September at Marlborough where Miss Staniforth came from behind after being down at the turn to win, one up, on the last green. Both should prove champions in senior company in the years to come.

win when her nemesis Miss Leslie took her measure by a close score in the Close championship.

Mrs. Rogers was medalist in the Manitoba championship in which she scored an 88. Second in this qualifying test was the capable Mrs. Gordon Konantz also of St. Charles. She is the Manitoba Ladies C.L.G.U. president. Mrs. Rogers was defeated in this event by the eventual winner, Miss Leslie.

All in all it was the greatest year in the history of Manitoba's ladies golf and the new stars from this portion of the country have gained new confidence with their splendid advances made in 1937.

Alex Black, Sr., Assiniboine club won the Seniors championship. Alex. learned the game the hard way in Scotland, and while his long game may not be as good as it used to be, he is perhaps the most consistent golfer in these parts, a few strokes over par, and never a really bad game.

The Junior championship was won by Howard Bennett, Southwood club, after a playoff with Rod MacDonald of Norwood. Tall and slight at 15 years, young Bennett shows plenty of promise and should develop rapidly. To encourage the boys, prizes are given in age classes in the Manitoba Junior championship as boys of ages from 9 to 16 years compete. As an example of the way the competition brings these boys along, young Emil Beauchemin of St. Charles, aged nine, entered in 1935 and played 18 holes in 119. As a 10 year old he played in 104, and this year aged 11 his score was 99.

Nearly all golf clubs in Manitoba have adopted a Provincial Handicap system, and the system is being used for club competitions as well as for interclub play. The provincial handicap committee have given a provincial rating to practically all courses.

ALBERTA GOLF

pion, is undoubtedly the outstanding woman player ever developed in this province.

It would appear that the Alberta Golf Association made a very popular move in deciding to hold the Alberta Open Championship as a separate, seventy-two hole event. But from the standpoint of the high class field and from the size and enthusiasm of the galleries this event can be voted a complete success. The Edmonton Golf and Country Club was in excellent condition over this Labor Day week-end and entrants were on hand from British Columbia and Saskatchewan. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, and until this season one of Canada's ranking amateurs, became the first winner of the handsome Edmonton Journal Cup with a total score of 291. Henry Martell made it a nip and tuck finish with 292 while Benny Colk, popular young assistant pro from Jericho Golf Club, Vancouver, was third, three strokes further back. An important championship of this nature will no doubt prove a boon to professional and amateur golfers alike in Western Canada, and it is anticipated that it will become possible in 1938 to increase the prize money over the five hundred dollars available in 1937.

A fitting climax to the season came in early September when Sandy Somerville, the perennial Dominion Champion, paid Edmonton a visit. Stopping over after annexing the famous Totem Pole at Jasper Mr. Somerville played in an exhibition match at Mayfair Golf and Country Club. Expressing pleasure with the test furnished by the beautiful Mayfair course, Sandy was given ample evidence of the possibilities of Edmonton as a future host to the Canadian Amateur Championship, when some fifteen hundred enthusiastic fans turned out on a Monday afternoon to witness the match.
