St. Andrews by the Sea

O what days we all remember
 As the years are going by,
 Days in rich and ripe September
 That with happy memories vie,
 But of all those days the brightest,
 Will they not for you and me,
 Be the days at old St. Andrews.
 Old St. Andrews by the Sea.

* * *

How we scann'd the hills out seaward,
 O what shades of heavenly blue!
 How the coves and harbors glistened,
 And the deep green shadows grew;
 And the air was paradise—like,
 And the mellow sun was free,
 In the days at old St. Andrews—
 Old St. Andrews by the Sea.

* * *

O! the hand of Heaven is gracious,
 Who can count his mercies o'er;
 And the future days are spacious,
 Who can hope or wish for more;
 But for all that now is going
 To the past for you and me,
 How we bless dear old St. Andrews,
 Old St. Andrews by the Sea.

J. E. CALDWELL.

Question of Standard Ball again to be taken up.

That the standard ball which has been played this season on the courses in Great Britain, Canada, the United States, Australia and in fact, all golfing countries, has not been an unqualified success to the extent that it has limited the distance attained both by wood and iron, does not admit of an argument.

The experts are driving the new ball as far or farther than the old heavy weight balls. The idea that the 1.62 ball would cut off 25 yards or so on shots from the tee and through the green has failed to materialize. As a result, it is understood that the powers that be in Great Britain and the United States before the season of 1922 opens, will again have a conference and make another effort at standardization which it is hoped will be more fruitful of results than the legislation of last spring. It is also rather expected that there will be a change made in regard to the out of bounds rule. The rule adopted last spring was that a ball out of bounds should carry the penalty of both stroke and distance. This new ruling is undoubtedly most unpopular and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the old rule of distance only should be re-instated and enacted.

The Royal and Ancient after the Amateur and Open Championships in Great Britain last July, passed legislation barring the grooved or slotted iron clubs. This ruling was not followed by The Royal Canadian Golf Association as the chief Canadian Championships had still to be decided. The R.C.G.A.

before the 1922 season opens, will, too, be called upon to take action in regard to these clubs, which are in very general use throughout the Dominion. This decision will undoubtedly be awaited with great interest by Canadian golfers generally.

The End of the 1921 Championship Season.

With the successful completion of the Ladies Championship at Rivermead, Ottawa, the championship events in Canada have now all been brought to a conclusion. The season was a remarkable one in every particular. There were record fields of entries whilst the brand of golf "uncorked" was easily the best in the history of the Royal and Ancient in the Dominion. A feature of the championships is contained in the fact that with the exception of the Canadian Seniors' Championship, the Canadian Professional, the Maritime Provincial, and the Toronto and District Professional Championship, every last year's champion was dethroned. The following are the results:—Open Championship at the Toronto Golf Club, won by W. H. Trovinger of Birmingham, Mich.; runner-up, Michael J. Brady, of Detroit; Canadian Professional Championship at Lambton, won for the fourth time by David L. Black, of Shaughnessy Heights, Victoria, B.C.; W. M. Freeman, of Lambton, runner-up; Amateur Championship at Winnipeg, won by Mr. Frank L. Thompson of Mississauga, Toronto; runner-up, Mr. C. W. Hague of Calgary, displacing respectively Messrs. C. B. Grier, Montreal, and T. Gillespie, Calgary. Canadian Ladies' Championship at Rivermead, Ottawa, won by Miss Cecil Leitch, of Silloth, England; runner-up, Miss Mollie McBride of Beaconsfield, Montreal, replacing Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Georgia, and Miss Kate Robertson of Beaconsfield, Montreal. Toronto and District Championship, won by Mr. George S. Lyon, Lambton, Toronto, who took the place of Mr. W. J. Thompson of Mississauga, runner-up this year with Mr. R. M. Gray of Rosedale. George Cumming of Toronto Golf Club again won the Professional Championship of this District; runner-up, Percy Barrett of Weston. Quebec Provincial Championship, won by Mr. Marcus Greer of Grand Mere, Que., runner-up, Mr. D. V. T. Williams of Kanawaki, Montreal. Last year, the champion was Mr. T. B. Reith of Beaconsfield; Quebec Professional Championship, C. R. Murray of The Royal Montreal takes the place of Arthur Woodward of Montreal; runner-up, George Ayton of Kanawaki, Montreal. Quebec Ladies' Championship won by Miss Mollie McBride of Beaconsfield, Montreal; runner-up, Miss Bernard of The Royal Montreal. Mrs. Ahearn of Ottawa was champion last year. Ontario Ladies' Championship, played over the London Hunt Club course, won by Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton; runner-up Miss Joyce Hutton of Toronto. The Calgary City Championship, won by Mr. T. Gillespie of Calgary, who defeated Mr. J. Walton (champion 1919 and 1920) in the finals. City Championship of Vancouver, won by Mr. Robert Gelletley of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, runner-up, Mr. Knox Walken. British Columbia Championship played at the Colwood Golf Club, Victoria, and won by Mr. A. V. Price of the United Service Golf Club, Victoria; runner-up Mr. A. V. Macan, captain of the Victoria Golf Club. The Maritime Provincial Championship, played at Amherst, N.S., was again won by Mr. Gerald Meikle of Halifax, runner-up, Mr. C. A. Evans of Halifax. Professional Championship of the Maritime won by Leo Quesnel of Halifax; runners-up O. Brault, Moncton, and S. Lingard, St. John. Open Championship of Saskatchewan, played at Saskatoon, won by Mr. Jackson Walton, Calgary; runner-up, Mr. H. A. Bruce. Amateur Championship, won by H. A. Bruce, Saskatoon; runner-up, Mr. C. P. Church. Ladies' Championship, Mrs. A. M. Boyd, Saskatoon; runner-up, Mrs. H. A. Bruce. Mr. A. A. Weir of Regina was Amateur Champion in 1920. Alberta Open Provincial Championship, played at Calgary, won by Mr. T. Watson of Calgary. Amateur Championship won by Mr. T. C. Morrison, Calgary; runner-up, Mr. T. C.

Morrison, Calgary; runner-up, Mr. T. Gillespie. Ladies' Championship, Miss Esther Gardiner of Calgary repeated. J. Munro Hunter, who is now a professional, won the Alberta Amateur in 1920. Manitoba Amateur Championship won by Mr. J. T. Cuthbert of Winnipeg, who replaced Mr. Douglas Laird; runner-up, Mr. F. F. Tribe of Winnipeg. The Manitoba Ladies' Golf Championship, won by Mrs. Douglas Laird; runner-up, Mrs. C. E. Winks. The Senior Golf Championship of Canada, won for the fourth time at St. Andrews, N.B., by Mr. George S. Lyon, of Lambton; runner-up, Mr. F. A. Parker, Lambton. The Alberta Provincial Foursome Competition, for the Calgary "Herald" Cup, was won by the Bowness Golf Club, Calgary. Miss Bauld, of Halifax, won the Ladies' Championship of the Maritime Provinces.

The Season's
Many Successes and many upsets

The outstanding professional players of the United States during the season now drawing to a close, have unquestionably been Barnes, Hutchison and Hagen. The latter, twice U.S. Open Champion, 1914 and 1919, who made such a sorry showing in Great Britain last year, has this season the United States Professional Golf Championship to his credit, and the Western Open and Michigan Open. Hagen for a year or so has not been attached professionally to any club and under the rules of the United States Golf Association, four years from now can apply for recognition as an amateur. Whether or not his ambition in this respect will be gratified is another question. Barnes and Hutchison, of course, this year won the World's premier events, the U.S. and British Open respectively. As showing the remarkable ins and outs of the game, the Scottish-American, Hutchison, had an unenviable experience at the Professional Championship this month. He was looked upon as a prime favorite for the event, having won it last year, defeating in the finals the late Douglas Edgar, Canadian Open Champion. He had as his opponent this year a youngster with the ungolfy name of Gene Sarazen, who learned his game at Apawamis, where the U.S. and Canadian Seniors foregather. At the end of the 18th, the British Open Champion awoke to find himself 8 holes to the bad. In the afternoon he failed to pull this formidable lead down, and at the end of the 27th, Gene was still 8 up. The 28th and 29th were halved in threes and fours and the genial "Jock" was retired into oblivion to the tune of 8 and 7, by a 20-year-old unknown. Funny game, golf, all said and done.

And then there is this stunning upset of Miss Cecil Leitch in the U.S. Ladies' Championship. All of us who watched her play at Rivermead, Ottawa, in the Canadian Ladies' Championship, which she eventually won so decisively, were unanimously of the opinion that there wasn't a woman golfer in the world in her class and for that matter, very few amateurs amongst the men. But the wonder-woman of golf, with for her, a miserable 92, gets put out of the running in the U.S. premier event by Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr. of Chicago, who defeated the British star 1 up. Now, Mrs. Letts is not by any means an unknown figure in U.S. golfing circles. She won the Women's Western Championship in 1916, 1917 and 1920, and was runner-up in 1919. But she has never cut any dash outside of the West, and her dearest friends would not for a moment compare her with either Miss Leitch or Miss Stirling. But the wonder-woman faltered for the nonce and Mrs. Letts earned undying fame by effectually putting the quietus on the ambition of the British, French and Canadian Champion, to add that of the United States to her belt, and thus create a world record. It was all more or less a bit of a tragedy. There can be no question if Miss Leitch had gone to the finals in a 36-hole match test she would unquestionably have won out. She excels in a double grind of the links and—but Letts forget it. All said and done, however, no defeat this season has been felt so keenly by followers of the game in Canada as that of the great Englishwoman, who endeared herself to everyone during her all too brief visit to the Dominion.

Miss Stirling, too, will have every reason to remember the season of 1921. She pluckily tried for the British and French championships and was defeated and she failed to successfully defend her U. S. and Canadian titles—altogether the golfing year drawing to a conclusion spelled disaster for the Atlanta star as it also did for her fellow club-mate, "Bobbie" Jones, who too, failed to add to his reputation on the links.

DIED ON GOLF LINKS

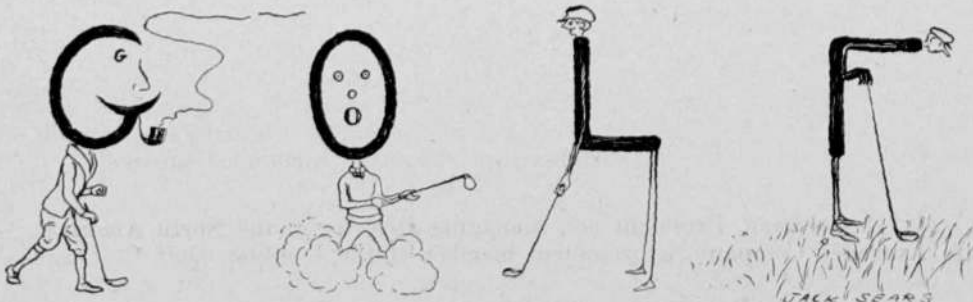

Mr. W. H. Meek, druggist of Port Rowan, and brother of Dr. Meek of the same place, died suddenly of heart failure on the golf links at Galt on September 29th, where they went as members of a party of about eighteen members of the Simeoe Golf and Country Club, participating in a fixture with the Waterloo Golf and Country Club. Mr. Meek was apparently well and thoroughly enjoying the day. He was a man of about 50 years, married and leaves a wife and a son of 13 years. The body was taken to a Galt funeral director's rooms and Dr. Meek returned to Simeoe and proceeded to Port Rowan by auto to break the tragic news to the stricken wife and son. Deceased was born at Alton, Peel county, and educated at Orangeville High School and Toronto University. The tragic demise naturally cast a great gloom alike over members of both teams.

NEW CLUB FOR BRAMPTON

Golf is to be revived in Brampton, Ontario. At a meeting of enthusiasts last month a Brampton Golf Club was formed and provisional Directors elected. It is hoped to have a course in shape by next spring. The Directors appointed are: R. W. Lowry, C. S. McDonald, R. J. Brett, Rev. Malcolm McArthur, W. C. Young, F. W. Wegenast, and J. G. Hall. The provisional board was given authority to appoint committees and to purchase suitable property for a course. Ten sites are under consideration. A charter will be applied for under the title, Brampton Golf Co. Ltd., the Company will be capitalized at $40,000. Each member will be required to purchase two shares, valued at $50 each. Mr. C. S. McDonald, the well-known Lambton and International Senior golfer, who resides in Brampton, writes:

"Regarding Brampton I am pleased to advise you that we have bought a very pretty property here, just close to the town, and along the valley of the Etobicoke and will have a 9-hole course ready for play in the spring. We have appointed Provisional Directors for a Company and made application for a Charter, and already have a large number of people applying for stock and membership. The matter has been taken up so heartily that I am sure it will be a success at once. There was a Club here some 12 or 15 years ago, using some rented property, but it went out of existence 10 years ago."

Here's success to Brampton!

A prominent member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association writes:—
 "My thought has always been if our Seniors' Tournament was held not farther east than Montreal, nor west than Hamilton, or possibly that centre of golf, Brantford, it would best serve the interests of the Association."

Editorial note, Toronto "Globe":—

"Had the squirrels who collected forty golf balls at Fort William been allowed to test their food value there would have been much language such as is forbidden as a relief to fozzling."

Golfing friends throughout Canada will be grieved to hear that a late bulletin states that the condition of Senator Frederic Nicholls is very serious and little hopes are entertained of his recovery. The Senator is a valued member of several Toronto golf clubs and of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association.

Canadian golfers who are making plans to spend the winter in California cannot do better than include Del Monte in their itinerary. Here is one of the finest hotels (the Del Monte) on the Continent and unexcelled golf courses. Tournaments and competitions are played throughout the season under ideal weather conditions. Del Monte is California's largest and best-loved resort.

Mr. W. J. Thompson, one of the best-known amateur golfers in Canada, has recently been contributing to the British and Colonial Press a valuable series of articles on the game which have been read with very great interest by followers of the Royal and Ancient throughout the Dominion. These articles are now being made into book form by Mr. T. Allan, publisher, of Toronto, and will be issued in time for Xmas gift-giving. Mr. Thompson is not only a very fine golfer, but he also has literary ability quite above the ordinary. The "Canadian Golfer" unhesitatingly recommends this book of Mr. Thompson's to the golfers of Canada.

Elsewhere in this issue will be noticed a very attractive announcement of the Owen Sound Golf and Country Club. This Club has about 6,000 feet of lake shore frontage adjoining the links which is being sub-divided for summer cottages. The location is an ideal one and should appeal to golfers who wish to secure a charming summer home and at the same time have the privileges of a first-class golf course and club house, in addition to excellent boating and bathing. This Owen Sound project has all the ear-marks of an unbounded success.

Mr. L. Goldman, President and Managing Director of the North American Life Assurance Company, a prominent member of the Lambton Golf Club and the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, together with Mrs. Goldman and his two daughters, recently returned from a most enjoyable trip to Great Britain and France. Mr. Goldman was particularly impressed this trip with the improved service at the London hotels since the war, and the really moderate charges guests are now called upon to pay.

* * *

Miss Cecil Leitch, when in Ottawa, was very enthusiastic about her great English rival, Miss Joyce Wethered, and freely predicted that next year it was quite within the bounds of possibilities that she would win titular honors in Great Britain. As showing the wonderful golf that Miss Joyce can produce, a recent match in which she participated is well worthy of mention in this column. Playing over the links of the Royal Dornoch course against Mr. Goadby of Cambridge University, who conceded her 4 strokes, Miss Wethered registered a crushing defeat to the Cantab 9 and 7. And here is Miss Wethered's remarkable card:

Out 4,3,4, 5,3,3, 5,6,3—36 In 3,4,4, 6,5,4, 5,2,3=36=72

Now the Royal Dornoch course, as anyone who has played over it very well knows, is not by any means an easy one to negotiate, but here we have a woman golfer playing it in par figures. Even the great Miss Cecil Leitch herself, during her long and distinguished career on the links, has never equalled golf of this dazzling description.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an interesting account of how the Glendale Golf Club, Hamilton, solved the installation of a difficult water system for the club house and greens at the remarkably low cost of $7,000. Excellent data here for other clubs in the Dominion. Glendale is fortunate in having a particularly virile board of directors and an enthusiastic membership which gives liberally of both time and attention to the wants of the club.

The U. S. professionals are waking up to the fact that the Britishers have been picking all the ripe plums in the exhibition stunt, so long Jim Barnes, the U. S. Open Champion, and "Jock" Hutchison, the British Open Champion, have decided to "team up" this fall and winter and go after some of the golfing shekels. Roy McCarthy, golf editor of the New York Tribune, is booking them for a tour of California, and British Columbia at $500 per day. The Vancouver Golf and Country Club has already engaged the stars. Barnes, by the way, is an Englishman, and Hutchison a Scotsman. They both, however, are naturalized American citizens, having lived in the States for several years now.

Says the Edinburgh "Scotsman":

"Jock Hutchison has sent to Mr. Norman Boase, of the Royal and Ancient Club, a letter which places him, in regard to the interviews, which brought a storm about his head, in a much more favorable light. Hutchison pleads that he has been very much misunderstood, and the letter, while it has the ring of sincerity, undoubtedly fits the Hutchison we saw at St. Andrews much better than some of the views which he was alleged to have expressed. He thanks the Royal and Ancient Club for their championship arrangements, and states that he did not expect any formal presentation of the cup, since the prize-giving ceremony in the main had been carried through on the previous night. He clears up the remark he was supposed to have made about our players here. What he meant was that, owing to the handicaps of the war period, we had not four players who are the equal of Vardon, Taylor, Braid and Herd at their best. As for the alleged suggestions that he had turned his back upon the Old Country for good, Hutchison effectively spikes that by stating that before the alleged statement could have been made he had made certain arrangements to be at Sandwich next year."

* * *

A number of prominent Toronto golfers, the majority of them of the Seniors' Golf Association, have a Walking Club, which during the winter meets every Saturday afternoon and goes for a brisk tramp of several miles. In the summer time the club engages in three or four golf matches, prizes being given for the best scores made during the season. Recently the Club made a pilgrimage to Brantford and played over the course there, ending up with a jolly little dinner at which two or three officials of the Brantford Club were guests of honor. That the Walking Club members are capable of playing a very good game or golf was evidenced by the scores made in Brantford, Mr. A. T. Reid, for instance, making an "eagle" 3 at the 15th, one of the most difficult holes on the Brantford course—a feat never before recorded. This Walking Club idea might very well be followed in other golfing centres in Canada. It lends itself to good fellowship, whilst from a physical standpoint, it has everything to commend it.

Caddies are certainly "coming high" these days on the links. There was a time not long ago when they were content to get 15 cents for a round of the course, but now they are being paid at least 50 cents and in some instances, 75 cents and a dollar. But no-one ever dreamed that the freckle-faced kiddies valued themselves quite so highly as apparently do the caddies of East Orange, N. J. A 14-year-old carrier of the bag on the course there, named Toohey, was recently struck by a ball and as a result, lost the sight of his right eye—a regrettable accident certainly. Toohey's parents are now suing the offending member of the club who drove the ball for $85,000. All of which gives rise to the surmise if a caddie's eye is worth nearly $100,000, what would be the sum total of his whole anatomy? Apparently it would stagger even a Rockefeller of the links.

Having won the Ross cup emblematic of the Canadian Professional Championship four times (the last three times in succession), the donor, Mr. P. D. Ross of Ottawa, a Vice-President of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, has written "Dave" Black of the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club that he has decided to present him with a duplicate of the trophy, the members of the Canadian Professional Association having expressed the wish that the original cup with its valued associations, be kept in perpetual competition. This generous action upon the part of Mr. Ross needless to say is greatly appreciated alike by the popular champion of the Association and the members of the Association.

The Editor, during a golfing experience of well into a quarter of a century, has never in this or any other country been present at such a wonderful gathering of golfers as that which took place in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, Saturday evening, Oct. 15th, when some five hundred members of the Humber Valey Golf Club attended the annual meeting under the Presidency of their golfing god-father, Mr. Ralph Connable. The whole gathering fairly pulsed with good fellowship. Afterwards the meeting resolved itself into a merry dance, followed by a buffet supper, Mr. Connable being the host at both. A full account of this really remarkable evening, during which the "Father of Co-operative Public Golf" in Ontario came in for the most heartfelt praise and thanks unbounded, will appear in the November issue.

PUBLIC COURSE FOR WINDSOR

The Golf course which the Western Racing Association of Windsor, Ontario, has been preparing for some time has been turned over completed to the Committee which is to operate it for the public. It is a nine-hole course and covers 65 acres of Devonshire Park. The Racing Association donated the ground and paid for the grass seed and the labor. The Committee in charge will fix playing fees. Play will commence probably early next summer. Windsor is the seventh city in Canada to have a public course, with Hamilton probably being the eighth next year. Montreal, too, is making arrangements to start a public links.

A Record Championship at Rivermead

Wonderful Women Golfers Compete in Canadian Competition—Miss Alexa Stirling, Champion, 1920, defeated in Semi-Finals by Miss Cecil Leitch, who eventually adds the Dominion title to that of Great Britain and France—Miss Mollie McBride, of Montreal, Runner-up—Results in the Consolations, Mixed Foursome and other events—Huge galleries follow the famous women players throughout the week.

THE Ladies' Championship of Canada, staged last month in Ottawa, was unquestionably the most successful held in the history of the event. It was the seventeenth Championship in which the women of the Dominion have participated, the first having been held in Montreal in 1901, or 20 years ago. There were no tournaments during the war.

There have been several notable meetings before, but none to compare with that of 1921. In the first place the Capital in the golden month of September is a superb place for a golfing tournament. In the second place Rivermead, which was the venue for the event, especially provides an ideal setting for a ladies' tournament, and thirdly and most important of all, there was a record number of high-class entrants.

A particularly speaking likeness of Miss Cecil Leitch, Canadian Lady Champion.

In the past the Canadian Ladies' Championship has been graced by the presence of well known players of International reputation, Miss Dorothy Campbell (now Mrs. Hurd) in 1910, 1911 and 1912, and Miss Muriel Dodd (now Mrs. Macbeth) in 1914, but never such a galaxy of golfing stars as entered the lists last month at Rivermead.

Here was Miss Cecil Leitch, the "wonderwoman" of golf, fresh from successfully defending her British and French titles against all the best players in Great Britain, Canada and the United States. A golfer with an unparalleled reputation, victor in a hundred contests or more. And here too came to defend her title, Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, Ga., U. S. and Canadian Lady Champion. Another notable figure amongst the entries was Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of New York, winner of the Metropolitan Championship this year, and a prominent figure now for some years both in British and American golf. Accompanying Miss Cecil Leitch, also, was Miss Edith Leitch and Miss Doris Chambers, both of whom have won their spurs in many a hard fought contest on English soil. Canada, too, was exceedingly well represented. Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, the ex-champion who made such a capital reputation for herself on English and Scotch courses this summer, was on hand to battle for chief honours, as was also Miss Kate Robertson, of Montreal, twice in succession Canadian runner-up. The champion of Ontario was there, Mrs. Hope Gibson, of Hamilton, and the champion of Quebec, Miss Mollie McBride, in addition to all the leading players of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, only the West and the Pacific Coast failing to be represented, so it will be easily seen at Rivermead last month for the first time in the history of the game on this continent, there was assembled the elite of the world's lady golfers. As showing the standing of the leading entrants herewith their L. G. U. handicap ratings:

Miss Cecil Leitch, scratch; Miss Alera Stirling, 2; Mrs. W. A. Gavin, 3; Mrs. Hope Gibson, 4; Miss Edith Leitch, 5; Miss Ada Mackenzie, 6; Miss Effie Nesbitt, Hamilton, 6; Miss Sydney Pepler, Toronto, 6; Miss Doris Chambers, 7; Miss Joyce Hutton, Toronto, 7; Miss Kate Robertson, 8; Miss Bauld, Halifax, 9; Miss Helen Paget, Ottawa, 10, and so on down to 24.

In the qualifying round on Monday, September 19th, a total of 96 fair players teed off. At Hamilton last year there were 120, but it must be remembered that owing to the improved standard of golf in Canada now, the handicap limit was materially reduced this year. The following were the pairings:—

Mrs. G. Cahoon, jr., and Miss M. Tooke. Mrs. H. Thorne and Mrs. McG. Mitchell. Mrs. S. R. Saunders and Mrs. W. W. Forsyth. Mrs. C. C. Mitchell and Mrs. Rowe. Miss F. Cassidy and Miss E. Scott. Mrs. W. G. Annable and Miss K. Capreol. Mrs. S. E. Parker and Mrs. A. Fellows. Miss J. Hutton and Mrs. W. A. Gavin. Mrs. F. Spry and Mrs. J. L. Coulson. Mrs. S. White and Mrs. G. S. Toller. Mrs. C. S. Smith and Miss Strachan. Mrs. A. Leslie and Mrs. Ronalds. Mrs. H. Pinhey and Mrs. H. Soper. Miss Creswick and Mrs. R. Harris. Mrs. D. Davis and Mrs. F. A. Parker. Mrs. M. Findlay and Miss E. Brownlee. Mrs. D. T. Rees and Mrs. J. H. McGregor. Miss Bosworth and Miss Bernard. Mrs. J. F. Irvine and Mrs. A. Lucas. Miss M. Beck and Mrs. R. Dawes. Miss B. Wallace and Mrs. E. R. Alison. Miss E. Bauld and Miss M. Annable. Miss H. Kennedy and Mrs. H. Irwin. Mrs. W. Bowden and Miss A. Allan. Mrs. C. Monk and Mrs. W. L. Campbell. Miss V. Mills and Mrs. W. H. Burns. Miss S. Pepler and Miss H. Paget. Miss G. Wanklyn and Miss F. Sharpe. Mrs. A. N. Mitchell and Mrs. K. Fellows. Miss M. Langmuir and Mrs. F. Leaming. Mrs. J. J. Ashworth and Miss L. Saunders. Mrs. H. B. Robinson and Miss Elmsley. Miss C. Bird and Mrs. A. Glascoe. Miss K. Robertson and Miss D. Chambers. Mrs. S. G. Lugsdin and Mrs. Hammill. Miss M. McBride and Mrs. F. Ahearn. Miss J. Masten and Mrs. J. F. Kidd. Miss L. Booth and Mrs. R. B. Law. Mrs. S. Jones and Mrs. C. H. Carpenter. Miss E. Nesbitt and Miss E. Leitch. Mrs. A. McCartney and Mrs. A. McLean. Miss M. Codville and Mrs. J. C. Ridout. Mrs. Gibson and Miss Cecil Leitch. Mrs. A. Horwood and Mrs. A. D. Miles. Miss L. McGee and Mrs. E. E. Henderson. Miss Alexa Stirling and Miss A. Mackenzie. Mrs. Risdon and Miss L. Molson. Miss Lesueur and Miss E. Henderson.

And at the end of the fateful first day the following 32 had qualified to play off for titular honours, the other players going into the Consolations.

Miss Cecil Leitch, Carlisle and Silloth ..	84	Mrs. F. Ahearn, Royal Ottawa	100
Miss D. Chambers, Warral	86	Miss F. Sharpe, Royal Ottawa	100
Miss Helen Paget, Royal Ottawa	89	Miss M. Codville, Royal Ottawa	101

Miss J. Hutton, Toronto	89	Mrs. R. Dawes, Royal Montreal	103
Miss A. Stirling, Atlanta, Ga.,	90	Mrs. F. Rowe, Hamilton	103
Mrs. H. Gibson, Hamilton	91	Mrs. S. White, Royal Montreal	103
Miss A. Mackenzie, Mississauga	92	Mrs. H. Pinhey, Royal Ottawa	104
Miss M. Emsley, Toronto	93	Miss M. Beck, Toronto	104
Miss H. Kennedy, Royal Montreal	96	Mrs. J. F. Kidd, Royal Ottawa	104
Miss S. Pepler, Toronto	97	Miss E. Bauld, Halifax	104
Miss K. Robertson, Beaconsfield	97	Miss J. Masten, Toronto	104
Miss M. McBride, Beaconsfield	98	Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Jamaica	104
Miss Bosworth, Chislehurst, England ..	99	Mrs. H. Irwin, Royal Montreal	105
Miss Edith Leitch, Carlisle and Silloth ..	99	Miss A. McCartney, Grand Mere	105
Miss M. Allan, Mount Bruno	100	Mrs. C. J. Ridout, Lambton	105

It will be noticed that playing true to form the triple champion had the best gross score, a well put together 84 made up as follows:—

Out 5,7,4, 5,4,3, 4,6,3=41 In 4,6,5, 6,4,4, 4,5,5=43. Total 84

Miss Doris Chambers, her English companion, was in second place, going out in 42 and coming back with a 44 for an 86. Miss Helen Paget, the Royal Ottawa player, had the honour of leading the Canadian contingent with an 89. It was a regrettable fact that this clever young golfer was taken quite seriously ill after qualifying so well and had to default her match in the very first draw to Miss Joyce Hutton, of Toronto. Miss Stirling, Miss Leitch's great rival, had to be content with a 90, whilst 1 and 2 strokes back of her respectively were such strong players as Mrs. Gibson and Miss Ada Mackenzie. At Hamilton last year Miss Ada Mackenzie with an 86 had the best medal, Miss Stirling, Miss Bauld, Halifax, and Miss Sydney Pepler, Toronto, being runners-up with 89.

In this select list of 32, Great Britain had all four of her representatives; the United States both of her entrants; Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto each, rather strange to relate, contributed seven players; Hamilton two, whilst Halifax, Grand Mere, Que. and Jamaica were represented by a single player.

As usual, in all championships there were some upsets, notably Miss Annable of Kanawaki, the brilliant young player who made such a good showing last year at Ancaster, but who apparently is off her wooden clubs this season; Miss Effie Nesbitt of Hamilton, who has figured so well in so many championships, and Miss Bernard and Mrs. H. Beverley Robinson of The Royal Montreal. Three scores of 105 qualified. There were four scores at that figure but in the play off Miss Francis Cassidy of Lakeview was eliminated at the first hole.

In the past the draw always more or less of a momentous affair, has sometimes been criticised. But everything was "above board" at Rivermead. The names of the fortunate 32 were placed in a hat and, in front of the club house, Mrs. Leonard Murray, President of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, in the presence of an interested attendance drew the qualifiers and announced the pairs as follows:—

THE FIRST ROUND DRAW

- Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mississauga, vs. Mrs. J. F. Kidd, Royal Ottawa.
- Miss Elmsley, Toronto, vs. Miss M. Codville, Royal Ottawa.
- Miss E. Leitch, Carlisle, vs. Mrs. F. Ahern, Royal Ottawa.
- Mrs. J. C. Ridout, Lambton, vs. Mrs. H. Pinhey, Royal Ottawa.
- Mrs. Hamilton Irwin, Royal Montreal, vs. Miss Mollie McBride, Beaconsfield.
- Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Jamaica, vs. Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield.
- Miss Hazel Kennedy, Royal Montreal, vs. Miss Martha Allan, Mount Bruno.
- Miss F. Sharpe, Royal Ottawa, vs. Miss H. Lesueur, Royal Ottawa.
- Mrs. Richard Dawes, Royal Montreal, vs. Mrs. F. Rowe, Hamilton.
- Miss Stephen White, Royal Montreal, vs. Miss Alexa Stirling, Atlanta.
- Miss Joyce Hutton, Toronto, vs. Miss Helen Paget, Royal Ottawa.
- Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Belleclair, N.Y., vs. Miss Marion Beek, Toronto.
- Miss Doris Chambers, Wirral, vs. Miss Jean Masten, Toronto.
- Miss Cecil Leitch, Carlisle, vs. Mrs. Hope Gibson, Hamilton.
- Miss Bosworth, Chislehurst, England, vs. Miss A. McCarthy, Grand Mere.
- Miss Sydney Pepler, Toronto, vs. Miss E. Bauld, Halifax.

From the above it will be seen by "the luck of the draw" the lower bracket contained by long odds the strongest players. In this bracket were Miss Cecil Leitch, Miss Stirling, Mrs. Gavin, Miss Doris Chambers, Mrs. Hope Gibson, Miss Bauld and the two clever young Torontonians, Miss Pepler and Miss Hutton.

In the upper bracket it looked as though Miss Edith Leitch and Miss Ada Mackenzie or Miss Kate Robertson would be almost sure to be in the finals, although, as events subsequently proved, the Quebec champion, Miss Mollie McBride, quite decisively upset all these calculations.

And here is how the first day's play resulted, the favourites all coming through with flying colours:—

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mississauga, won from Mrs. J. F. Kidd, Royal Ottawa, 9 up and 8 to play.

Miss Elmsley, Toronto, won from Miss M. Codville, Royal Ottawa, 3 up and 2 to play.

Miss Edith Leitch, Silloth, won from Mrs. F. Ahearn, Royal Ottawa, 3 up and 2 to play.

Mrs. J. G. Ridout, Lambton, won from Mrs. H. Pinhey, Royal Ottawa, 2 up.

Miss Mollie McBride, Beaconsfield, won from Mrs. Hamilton Irwin, Royal Montreal, 4 up and 3 to play.

Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield, won from Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Algonquin, 5 up and 4 to play.

Miss Martha Allan, Mount Bruno, won from Miss Hazel Kennedy, Royal Montreal, 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Lesueur, Royal Ottawa, won from Miss F. Sharpe, Royal Ottawa, 1 up.

Mrs. F. Rowe, Hamilton, won from Mrs. R. Dawes, Royal Montreal, 3 up and 1 to play.

Miss Alexa Stirling, Atlanta, won from Mrs. S. White, Royal Montreal, 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Joyce Hutton, Toronto, won from Miss Helen Paget, Royal Ottawa, by default.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Belle Clair, won from Miss Marion Beck, Toronto, 4 up and 3 to play.

A Galaxy of Stars—Photographed in the Great International Four Ball Match at Rivermead.

Miss Edith Leitch; Miss Alexa Stirling, ex-U.S. and Canadian Champion; Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Metropolitan Champion.

Miss Doris Chambers, Wirral, won from Miss J. Masten, Toronto, 9 up and 8 to play.

Miss Cecil Leitch, Silloth, won from Mrs. Hope Gibson, Hamilton, 6 up and 4 to play.

Miss Bosworth, Chislehurst, won from Miss A. McCartney, Grand Mere, 9 up and 8 to play.

Miss Sydney Pepler, Toronto, won from Miss E. Bauld, Halifax, 5 up and 3 to play.

In her match with Miss Leitch the Ontario Champion was obviously nervous and was not at her best. Out in 40, the great British player was 5 up. At the tenth both drives were good and after each had pitched onto the green, Mrs. Gibson holed a 40 footer from the bottom of the green for a three. Miss Leitch then made a fine try for the half, but her putt ringed the cup.

From this point onward the superior steadiness of the British champion gained ground and finally brought the game to a close at the end of the fourteenth, the verdict being six and four.

All this time, the other favourite for stellar honours, the Canadian champion, was not having any such a roseate time with Mrs. S. White, the Royal Montreal representative. Winning the first hole, Miss Stirling lost the second with a seven to a six and then a flutter went through the gallery when Mrs. White promptly proceeded to annex the 3rd and 4th. A par on the 5th and 6th however, squared matters for Miss Alexa who, however, lost the short 7th. She won the 8th and, the 9th being halved, the players entered on the home journey all square. Then a ding-dong struggle ensued. At the 12th Mrs. White was 1 up. The difficult 13th was won by the champion in a par 4. The 14th and 15th were halved. Then at the tricky 16th, with a perfectly played 3, Miss Stirling for the only time since the first hole, went into the lead. The long 17th was also won by her and she was rather lucky to win out eventually from her plucky Montreal opponent by a 2 and 1 margin. Miss Stirling had a card of 90 the same as in the qualifying round. Mrs. White came in for all sorts of congratulations as a result of the capital fight she put up against the U. S. expert.

Other close matches were those of Mrs. Ridout vs. Mrs. Pinhey, Miss Martha Allan vs. Miss Hazel Kennedy, Mrs. Lesueur vs. Miss F. Sharpe. Miss Mackenzie, Mrs. K. Robertson, Miss McBride, Mrs. Gavin, Miss Bosworth and Miss Sydney Pepler all had comparatively easy victories. In her match however with Mrs. Ahearn, last year's Quebec champion, Miss Edith Leitch had to extend herself to register a 3 and 2 win. The best score of the day was Miss Sydney Pepler's 83. The Toronto player was out in a wonderful 38 and came home in 45. Regular Championship figures these.

And so the 32 became 16 and the 16 dwindled to 8 by Wednesday at the completion of the second round. The story:

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mississauga, won from Miss M. Elmsley, Toronto, 3 and 2.

Miss Edith Leitch, Silloth, won from Mrs. J. C. Ridout, Lambton, 6 and 4.

Miss Molie McBride, Beaconsfield, won from Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield, 2 up.

Miss Helen Lesueur, Royal Ottawa, won from Miss Martha Allan, Mount Bruno 5 and 3.

Miss Alexa Stirling, Atlanta, won from Mrs. F. Rowe, Hamilton, 3 and 2.

Mrs. W. A. Gavin, New York, won from Miss Joyce Hutton, Toronto, 3 and 2.

Miss Cecil Leitch, Silloth, won from Miss Doris Chambers, Wirrel, 6 and 5.

Miss Sydney Pepler, Toronto, won from Miss Bosworth, Chislehurst, 2 up.

No particular unlooked-for reverses here, possibly with the exception of the McBride-Robertson match. The two young Montrealers were about equally fancied, although Miss Robertson's greater experience it was generally thought was in her favour. All square at the 9th, Miss McBride played the better game coming in and eventually won on the 18th, 2 up with a par 4. She had the excellent card of 88.

Out in 41, notwithstanding a disagreeable rain and wind, Miss Cecil Leitch never allowed her fellow-countrywoman to win a hole, and the end came at the 13th when Miss Chambers had to admit defeat to the tune of 6 and 5. It was a very one-sided contest. Miss Chambers, it will be remembered, put Miss Mackenzie out of the British Championship in the 3rd round on the 20th hole last summer.

Mrs. Rowe, the well-known Hamilton player, took Miss Stirling to the 15th before she was defeated 3 and 2. Mrs. Gavin accounted for Miss Joyce Hutton by the same figures. The Metropolitan champion had to play her best golf to do this, registering a very fine 39 going out.

The third round of an epoch-making Championship found Miss Ada Mackenzie drawn against Miss Edith Leitch; Miss Mollie McBride against Miss Lesueur, and in the lower bracket Miss Stirling vs. Mrs. W. A. Gavin and Miss Cecil Leitch vs. Miss Sydney Pepler. The field was at last getting down to class plus, and enthusiasts from all parts of the country were on the tip-toe of expectancy awaiting the Thursday games, and they were not disappointed, as some very excellent golf was played by all the contestants.

The meeting of Miss Stirling and Mrs. Gavin for the 'steenth time of their notable career on the links ended as it has always done in the past, in a victory for the Atlanta girl over the charming Anglo-American matron by 4 and 3. The metropolitan champion started off merrily and, by winning the first two holes had a decided advantage over the Canadian title-holder. However, Miss Stirling possesses a sound golf temperament and did not allow herself to be ruffled by her early reverse. She eventually squared matters, then went ahead and remained in front until the contest terminated on the sixteenth green. Miss Stirling let herself go with excellent effect when using her wooden clubs, but the real feature of her play was in the effectiveness of her short approaches. Both players displayed occasional weakness on the greens, but twice when set the difficult task of playing stymies, the Atlantan produced putts with a cut, absolutely professional strokes, and in each instance was successful in holing out. Each had cards going out of 41.

Miss Pepler has a much better game of golf in her bag than she displayed against Miss Leitch, but like many another, she undoubtedly felt the strain of entering the lists against such a formidable player. Miss Leitch, who was out in 40, had at the 9th established a 6 hole lead. Winning the 10th and halving the 11th and 12th the triple-champion ended the match 7 and 6.

Miss Mollie McBride disposed of the last representative of Ottawa, Miss Lesueur, 5 and 3.

In her match with Miss Edith Leitch, Miss Ada Mackenzie was off to a good start, winning the first hole in 4. She increased her lead to 2 up at the 5th. A "birdie" 2 at the short 6th by Miss Edith and a 4 at the 7th, however, squared the game. The 8th was halved and then at the 9th Miss Leitch, for the first time went into the lead, making it 3 up at the 11th. The ex-lady champion, however, came back at the 12th and 13th only to lose the 14th. The 15th was halved and Miss Mackenzie, winning the difficult 16th, still had a fighting chance. The 555 yard, 17th, however, was her undoing. This went to the Britisher in a 6 and the Mississauga went down to a 2 and 1 defeat.

And Then the Thrilling Semi-Finals

Friday saw the staging of the semi-finals and the meeting once again of the two brilliant "Queens of Golf," as Miss Leitch and Miss Stirling have been dubbed by a golf writer of the typical U.S. lurid school. It was a golfing day long to be remembered in the Capital. Possibly the greatest gallery ever recorded at a Canadian championship turned out to see this battle royal of the two leading women devotees of the Royal and Ancient whose styles are so diverse, but yet who in many respects have each grace and skill alike personified. There were many estimates of the size of that gallery. A well-known Montreal writer figured it at 4,000. Others computed it conservatively at 2,000. Probably there really were 3,000 enthusiasts in attendance representing every walk of life in the Capital. It was a gallery which followed every shot of the two champion semifinalists and applause most impartially rewarded every good shot made. Miss Stirling and Miss Leitch shared equally alike in the acclaim.

To treat first of the semi-finalists in the upper bracket, Miss Mollie McBride of Beaconsfield was called upon to meet Miss Edith Leitch, the vanquisher of Miss Ada Mackenzie and other good players. Miss Leitch has figured in many hard-fought fights and has had a diversified experience in major championships. The clever little left-handed player from Montreal, however, nothing daunted, proceeded to tackle the job in hand, and tackled it, too, most successfully, thereby delighting her numerous friends throughout the Montreal District where she is immensely popular. She quite made golfing history at Rivermead when she emerged from what looked like an uneven struggle by registering a 2 and 1 defeat to the well-known English girl. It was a keen contest. The first two holes were won by Miss McBride, this lead only to be wiped out at the 3rd and 4th which were taken by Miss Leitch. The Beaconsfield player won the 5th, but the match was all square at the 7th. At the 9th, however, the Montrealer was again 1 up, only to lose the 10th. Miss Edith captured the 11th and for the first time was in the lead. Miss McBride squared at the 12th and then won the 13th, as a result of a magnificent brassie shot. The 14th she also annexed, but lost the short 15th. The 16th was halved and then a win for Miss Mollie at the 17th ended the struggle and she had the honour of going into the finals of the 1921 championship by a 2 and 1 victory over one of England's best-known women golfers. All of which was perhaps honour enough for one championship. Miss McBride had a 44 going out, Miss Leitch 47. Coming in for 8 holes they were respectively 39 and 40.

At Turnberry, the end of last May, Miss Cecil Leitch met Miss Alexa Stirling in the first round of the British Championship and defeated the U.S. and Canadian champion, 3 and 2. In the semi-finals at Rivermead the two again met and upon this occasion Miss Leitch accounted for her rival by almost the same figure, namely 3 and 1—and that would seem to be about the margin of her superiority in an 18-hole encounter over the U. S. representative. In a 36-hole match it would probably be even more pronounced.

The Rivermead match was in every sense of the word worthy of the record gallery which followed every unfolding phase of the struggle. As stated before, it was a thoroughly impartial hugely delighted crowd. Many had travelled hundreds of miles to see the encounter and they were not disappointed, as a genuine golfing treat was afforded them.

The first hole at Rivermead is 405 yards, par 4. This was divided by the two champions in 5. Second hole 410 yards par 4 won by Miss Leitch in a par 4. Third hole 245 yards par 4 won by Miss Leitch in a "birdie" 3. Fourth hole 390 yards par 4, won by Miss Leitch with a 5. Miss Leitch 3 up. Fifth hole 270 yards par 4, halved in fours. Sixth hole 135 yards par 4, won by Miss Stirling 3 to 5. Seventh hole 310 yards par 4. Miss Leitch, after outdriving her opponent, took 3 putts on the green and lost the hole 5 to 3. Eighth hole 475 yards par 5. Halved in fives as a result of a wonderful putt by Miss Stirling. 9th hole 230 yards par 3, divided in fours. Miss Leitch 1 up at the turn. Tenth hole 255 yards par 4, won by Miss Stirling in a "birdie" 3 to her opponent's 4. Match all square, Miss Stirling coming in for hearty cheers from the gallery. Eleventh hole 525 yards par 5, won by Miss Leitch in a par 5 after laying the U.S. champion a stymie. Twelfth hole par 4, also won by Miss Leitch with a par 4 after a glorious recovery with her niblick from a bunker. Miss Leitch 2 up. Thirteenth hole 425 yards par 4, divided in 6, each taking three putts on the green. Fourteenth hole 355 yards par 4 divided in fives. Fifteenth hole 140 yards par 3, divided in threes. Sixteenth hole 325 yards par 3. Miss Stirling laid Miss Leitch a stymie which probably prevented her securing a 3 and ending the match. Hole divided in fours. Seventeenth hole 555 yards par 5. Here

Miss Leitch, by superb play, made a par 5 and Miss Stirling, taking a 6, the Canadian champion, was dethroned by her English rival, 3 up and 1 to go. The eighteenth hole 390 yards par 4, was played out and this was won by Miss Stirling with a 4 to a 5.

The heartiest kind of applause greeted both victor and vanquished at the conclusion of the match. The accompanying cards show the quality of golf played by these wonderful women exponents of the game:—

Miss Leitch, out. . . . 5,4,3, 5,4,4, 5,5,4—39 In. . . . 4,5,4, 6,5,3, 4,5,5—41—80
Miss Stirling, out. . . 5,6,5, 6,4,3, 4,5,4—42 In. . . . 3,6,5, 6,5,3, 4,6,4—42—84

Miss Stirling lost a great match but she won a large wager from her doughty opponent in the playing of the bye. When preparing to play her fourth shot on the eighteenth a twenty-foot putt, she said, "I'm going to hole this one, Cecil!" "Go you a penny you don't—no, I'll give you fourpence if you do," was the retort. "Fourpence is a dime, you know," said the champion of 1920. "Well then, I'll be generous and make it a quarter," replied Miss Leitch, whereupon Miss Stirling holed the putt, and Miss Leitch passed over the shilling.

Speaking of Miss Stirling's game, after the match, Miss Leitch said:—"It was wonderful the way she got those holes back so quickly, winning the sixth, seventh and tenth after being three down so early in the match, but then, that's Alexa all over. She's a wonderful opponent."

The following is the remarkable career on the links of Miss Charlotte Cecelia Pitcairn Leitch (to give her her full patronymic), who was 30 years of age last April the 13th, and who is Canada's 16th lady champion:

Handicap, L.G.U., scratch. Club Handicap plus 5. Won Ladies' Championship of France, 1912, 1914, 1920, 1921. British Championship 1914, 1920, 1921. Semi-Finalist 1908 and 1912. Won the Ladies' English Championship 1914, 1919. Runner-up 1920. Won the Canadian Lady Championship 1921. Represented England in the International Matches 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1920. In 1909, 1911, 1920 won the stroke competition preceding the Championship, and was second in 1912. Won Gold Vase (outright), Tournament 1912, 1913, 1914. In Feb., 1910, over Blundelsands, received a half and beat Tom Ball by one hole. In a 72 holes match over Walton Heath and Sunningdale, with a half handicap, beat Mr. H. H. Hilton by 2 and 1. Won Stoke Poges and Burnham Tournaments 1920 and has scores of lesser events to her credit. Holds ladies' records for over 20 different courses. Favourite shot, brassie. Playing level has defeated several British scratch players and is generally credited with being the world's longest woman player both with wood and iron.

Watching Her Opponent's Drive. Miss Cecil Leitch, British, French and Canadian Champion

The Triumph of the Great Overseas Golfer

Saturday morning, September 24th was staged the closing scenes of the great International event which had the whole of the golfing fraternity of the world more or less in its grip, for there is no gainsaying the fact that for a week Rivermead had been more or less in the spot-light, not only as regards the golfers of Canada, but of the United States and Great Britain whilst far-away Australia and India were also manifesting an interest in the final scenes.

It was a final where a young and almost untried representative of Canada met the wonderfully equipped and experienced representative of the Motherland steeped in golfing tradition. There was never any question of what the ultimate outcome would be. It was a foregone conclusion that Miss Cecil Leitch would add the golfing crown of Canada to that of Great Britain and France. And she did, in a most convincing manner.

Miss McBride pluckily stuck to her guns but what could she do against such super-golf as that displayed by Miss Leitch who, out in 40, came back with a 38 for a total of 78 and that, too, with a ball out of bounds at the long 17th which cost her a stroke and distance! Very few of the best men amateurs in Canada could have taken the measure of the triple champion on the last day at Rivermead, either in the championship game or the wonderful exhibition match which followed in the afternoon.

Again there was a large gallery on the first tee Saturday morning when the finalists started out for what was scheduled to be a 36-hole match, but which ended shortly before the lunch hour at the 21st hole. The first time, by the way, that the testing 36-hole final was ever played in a Canadian women's championship, although for many years now it has been the vogue in Great Britain.

Miss Leitch started at once to demonstrate her superiority. She won the first six holes outright, divided the 7th, won the 8th and then proceeded to lose the 9th with a 5 to a 4. The 10th was won by the Britisher; the 11th was divided, whilst the 12th was also annexed by the many-times champion. "Vimy Ridge," the 425 yard 13th, was won by Miss Leitch by as spectacular golf as was ever seen on the Rivermead course. A finely-placed drive was followed up by a screaming brassie dead on the pin. The putt for a very possible 3 was missed but an easy 4 resulted. No woman had a chance against such golf as this. A par 4 at the 14th, a par 3 at the 15th, and another par 4 at the 16th and it looked as though the marvel woman of golf was due to register a 36 coming in or 1 below par. But as stated before, a beautifully long ball from the 17th was just out of bounds and she had to be content with a 7 here. A four at the 18th, as a result of her opponent knocking her ball in, and Miss Leitch ended up a round of 78 with a score of 14 up, the 9th being the only hole won by the little lady from Beaconsfield.

It was decided there and then to finish the match. With a 5 at the 19th, a 5 at the 20th and a 4 at the 21st, Miss Leitch was 17 up and 15 to go, and the 1921 ladies' championship was at an end, both players being warmly applauded by the remnants of the gallery which had followed the unequal struggle to a conclusion and then returned shortly after to the club house. There isn't a woman in the world who could have given Miss Leitch "a run for the money" at Rivermead that Saturday. Miss McBride was defeated, but she was not by any means disgraced. She is a splendid little golfer, imbued with a thorough sporting spirit and she will be heard of yet in many a major event. She has a lot of fine shots in her bag and, with more experience, will be found a formidable opponent in any first-class company.

Congratulated by the "Canadian Golfer" immediately after her victory, the newly-crowned Canadian champion was asked if she had any message to give to the golfers of the Dominion. "Yes," she replied immediately. "Tell them that I am glad I have won the Canadian Women's Championship because that means I shall have to come over here again to defend my title next year."

As a result of the championship being concluded in the morning, an opportunity was found to stage a most delightful four-ball match in the afternoon—the Misses Leitch vs. Mrs. W. A. Gavin and Miss Alexa Stirling. Could a more charming quartette of golfing stars be imagined? It is safe to say that the very large gallery headed by Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, and his staff and a number of the leading members of the official life of the Capital will vote that it would not be possible.

Again the triple champion was in great fettle. Going out, she received no support at all from her sister but, thanks to a marvellous 37 "England" was 2 up on the "States." A perfect 3 at the 10th increased the lead to 3 up. The 11th was halved in fives and the 12th in fours. At the 13th a 20-foot putt by Mrs. Gavin scored for the United States. At the 14th, Miss Edith Leitch with a "birdie" 3, scored the only hole for her side. The short 15th was divided in threes and then the end came at the difficult 16th where the sisters both secured fours to their opponents fives, and the International four-ball match came to an end with a victory for England 4 up and 3. Miss Cecil herself accounted for the U.S. representatives by a score of 3 and 2. Out in 37 she had 28 for the 7 holes coming in and at the pace she was going it is not pulling a long bow when it is estimated that she would also have had a 37 for the home trip or a total of 74 for the 18 holes. And that is superlative golf, the par of Rivermead being 72. No wonder the gallery of some 2,000 which followed this exhibition game were thrilled with such a feminine exhibiton of tremendous skill and power. It was a revelation of what a woman champion is capable of to-day on a well-trapped course. The best ball scores:—

Many Other Interesting Events

The Championship, although the outstanding feature of the week, was not by any means the only interesting event run off at Rivermead. There were large fields and keen contests in the Championship Consolation and four other Consolations. In the Championship Consolation Miss H. Kennedy of Montreal in the finals defeated Mrs. F. Ahearn, Royal Ottawa.

Mrs. Harold Soper won from Miss Effie Nesbitt in the first Consolation by 4 and 3.

In the second Consolation Miss M. Langmuir won from Miss Annable by 4 and 3.

In the third Consolation Miss Tooke won from Mrs. Allan Horwood.

In the fourth Consolation Mrs. J. S. Irvin won by 3 and 2 from Mrs. Carpenter.

The championship competition between players representing the East and West was won by the latter by a score of 6 to 2. The contestants and scores:

On Thursday afternoon the 22nd one of the largest entries that ever marked a tournament in Canada turned out for the mixed foursomes. Unfortunately for the large gallery that occupied strategic seats by the first tee, the match featuring Miss Cecil Leitch, British champion, and George S. Lyon, senior champion, did not take place. Miss Leitch, who had already gone one round in the morning decided to save her strength for her match with Miss Alexa Stirling in the semi-finals. Miss Stirling and Max Skead also defaulted.

The three leading scores follow:

Best nett score: Miss Doris Chambers of England, and B. L. Anderson, 85 minus 8=77; best nett score, second prize, Mrs. Harold Pinhey and Charles Reid, jr., 96 minus 16=80.

Best gross score, Miss Ada Mackenzie and Mr. John Hadden.

Other interesting scores included Mrs. Rowe and Mr. C. S. Smith, 84 nett; J. J. Cowie and Mrs. C. S. Smith, 85 nett; Miss Bernard and Mr. J. E. Caldwell, 85 nett; Mrs. J. S. Irvin and Colonel G. P. Murphy, 84 nett; Miss Bosworth and Mr. W. H. Dwyer, 84 nett; Miss E. Brownlee and Mr. C. R. Morphy, 82 nett; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Law, 87 nett; Miss M. Beck and Colonel H. D. Crerar, 82 nett; Miss Wanklyn and Mr. M. F. Rogers, 81 nett; Miss Masten and Mr. F. Macklin, 81 nett; Mrs. W. A. Gavin and Mr. E. L. Foley, 87 net; Mrs. Franklyn Ahearn and Mr. H. C. Monk, 83 nett.

Then there was a Driving competition and an Approaching and Putting competition which created no end of interest. In the former event Mrs. J. J. Ashworth of the Toronto Club, was the winner. Miss M. Beck, also of the Toronto Club, capturing second prize. The driving competition was won by Mrs. Gavin of New York, with three drives measuring respectively 199 yards, 190 yards and 173 yards. Miss Mackenzie of Mississauga was second with a total distance of 559 yards for her trio, followed by Miss Edith Leitch at 535 yards. Miss Cecil Leitch tried her hand first and, after a fine shot of 211 yards, she topped her second and hooked a long third outside the flag. Miss Stirling succeeded in keeping only one shot within bounds, a fine effort well past the two hundred mark.

The Club Team match was won by the Toronto Golf Club represented by Misses Pepler, Hutton, Elmsley and Beck—certainly a strong quartette of young golfers. The full list of prize winners will be found on Page 387.

On Saturday afternoon, to the clicking of movie-machines and cameras, and in the presence of a large crowd of interested spectators the prizes were distributed on the lawn in front of the Club house by the Governor-General, who was accompanied by Lady Byng. In a most gracious manner His Excellency presented the many trophies, the recipients all coming in for hearty applause, especially the champion, Miss Cecil Leitch and the runner-up, Miss Mollie McBride. Speeches were made by Messrs. Dwyer and Soper respectively, the Presidents of the Rivermead and Royal Ottawa Golf Clubs, and then the curtain rang down on the Canadian Ladies' Championship of 1921—easily the most enjoyable and educational from every standpoint of any similar event held in the Dominion.

Notes of Record Championship

Throughout the busy week of golf at the Rivermead, an interested onlooker was Mr. Warren Y. Soper, President of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, and it is to this effect that he writes congratulations to the Rivermead executive, expressing gratitude for members of his club as well as for himself. The following letter is self-explanatory:

Mr. W. H. Dwyer, President, Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa.

Dear Mr. Dwyer: May I be permitted to offer to you and the officials of the Rivermead Club my very sincere congratulations upon the successful conclusion of the Canadian Ladies' Championship matches? Through your kindness, which was much appreciated, the members of the Royal Ottawa Club, had the opportunity of witnessing the competitions, and of observing the thoughtful and competent manner in which the many details of the organization for conducting the meet were carried out. I imagine the task was not an easy one. That your officials were so successful, and that their onerous duties were performed with such constant courtesy, resulted in making the tournament a delightful and memorable event in the history of golf in Canada. Your sincerely, WARREN Y. SOPER, President, Royal Ottawa Golf Club. September 24th, 1921.

Mrs. Leonard Murray of Toronto and Miss Dora G. Faulkner of Toronto, the energetic President and Hon. Secretary respectively of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, were indefatigable in their attentions to the players and members throughout the Tournament. Mr. B. L. Anderson, Secretary of the R.C.G.A. was also a very busy official all through the week.

The following were the energetic committees of the Rivermead and other Ottawa golf clubs to whom much of the smooth running of the Championship must be attributed: General Committee, Mrs. Bryson, Miss Wallace, Mrs. Lough and Messrs. Dwyer, Gamble, Skead and Corrigan. Reception and Entertainment Committee—Mesdames Bryson, Taggart, Johnson, Moffatt Ross, A. H. Sharpe, W. E. Matthews, Skead, Smith, Brownlee, Chamberlain, J. J. Allan and Lough. Messrs. Skead, Shanks, Cochrane, D. E. Johnson, Brownlee, H. Rosenthal, S. McClenaghan, R. G. Cameron, Rev. G. D. Kilpatrick, Gray, Masson, W. Beckett, T. Morphy, Dr. Valin. Accommodation and Transportation Committee—Miss Brownlee, Mrs. H. Skinner, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mr. D. E. Johnson, Mr. H. Skinner, Mr. Frank Jarman, Mr. J. Moffatt Ross. Mr. W. H. Dwyer was Chairman of the Tournament Committee and Mr. R. Gamble, Secretary.

* * *

The Misses Leitch and Miss Chambers, whilst in Ottawa, were the guests of Mrs. W. E. Matthews. They also had rooms in the Bungalow which they used when convenient. Mrs. Gavin also put up at the Club House Bungalow. Miss Stirling stopped at the Chateau Laurier.

* * *

The statement made in an Ottawa paper that Miss Cecil Leitch "smokes at least three packages of cigarettes going round the 18 holes" is not correct. The champion, in common with nearly all lady golfers, nowadays, does take an occasional "smoke" as an antidote to nervousness.

* * *

Mrs. Robert Gill, President of the ladies' committee of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, and Lady Borden presided at a very enjoyable tea during Championship week for the contestants.

* * *

Miss Gwynneth Wanklyn of Montreal, at whose home Miss Cecil Leitch visited in Montreal, caddied for the champion throughout nearly the whole Tournament. And a right good caddie she was, too. Miss Leitch's bag of clubs is a most formidable one. Woods and irons alike are polished up to the nines.

* * *

and "Jimmie" Black were among the well-known professionals who attended the Championship and looked after the starting of the contestants.

Mr. George Lyon, a member of the R.C.G.A. Executive was among the visitors to Rivermead during Championship week. He engaged in several friendly games whilst in the Capital, and refereed the big match Miss Leitch vs. Miss Stirling. He was very much impressed with the play of both the champions. He considers the English expert the best player of the two, although he does not think the margin between them is so great as many followers of the game fancy—probably 2 to 3 strokes on an 18-hole round.

Ottawa Journal:—"How to be well dressed while golfing," seems to have been readily solved by the visitors. Their clothes are at once sensible and attractive, the bright colors make oases of color on the fairways."

During Championship week some very heavy cross winds blew across Rivermead militating most adversely against low scores. On the whole, however, weather conditions were most delightful.

The referee in the principal matches of the Championship was Mr. Harry Rosenthal. He officiated with great acceptance.

A very jolly dinner was given on Thursday night by the President and Officials of Rivermead to the Misses Leitch, Miss Sterling, Miss Chambers, Mrs. Gavin and other distinguished visitors together with the officers of the different clubs and associations. At the head table were Hon. Arthur Meighen, Mrs. Meighen, Mr. W. H. Dwyer, President of the Rivermead Club, Mrs. John Bryson, Miss Cecil Leitch, Mrs. W. A. Gavin, Miss Dora Faulkner, Secretary of the C.L.G.U., Miss Doris Chambers, Mr. B. L. Anderson, Mr. W. Y. Soper, Miss Edith Leitch, Mrs. Murray, President of the C.L.G.U. Brief addresses were made by Mr. Dwyer, Miss Cecil Leitch, Mr. Meighen, Mrs. John Bryson, Mr. Soper and Mrs. Murray.

During some of the matches the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, was an interested spectator, together with Mrs. Meighen.

One of the hardest-fought games in the whole Tournament was that between Mrs. Hope Gibson, Ontario champion, of Hamilton, and Miss Hazel Kennedy of Montreal, in the first round of the Championship Consolation. Mrs. Gibson was only defeated on the 21st green by Miss Kennedy who eventually won the Consolation.

BOND DEALERS ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Golfing members of the Central Section of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada took part in the Fourth Annual Tournament at Scarborough, Toronto, October 5th. Mr. Thos. McNair of the firm of Stewart, McNair, Reid & Co. won the handsome silver Challenge Cup by turning in the best net score, being 96 less handicap 27—69 net. The second net score was a three-corner tie between T.S.G. Pepler of the firm of T.S.G. Pepler & Co., 84 less handicap 12—72 net; W. J. Mitchell of the firm of Dominion Securities Corporation, 90 less handicap 18—72 net; W. A. Woodecock of the firm of C. H. Burgess & Co., 99 less handicap 27—72 net. Mr. T. S. G. Pepler won the prize for the best gross score with 84, and the second gross score was won by Mr. W. J. Mitchell with 90. There were sixty players competed, and seventy-five attended the Annual Dinner.

AT FAIR ST. ANDREWS'

The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association holds its Fourth Annual Tournament under most ideal conditions—Outing generally voted a great success—
 Mr. George S. Lyon again wins the Championship with Mr. F. A. Parker Runner-up—Presentation to Mr. Baker, C.V.O., President and Founder—Enjoyable steamboat trip and luncheon provided by the Canadian Pacific Railway—International Match at Apawamis won by the U. S. Seniors who entertain their Canadian confreres as usual in a most lavish manner.

FORSAKING their usual custom of holding the yearly tournament at Montreal, Toronto or Ottawa, the members of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association last September went far afield, travelling down some six hundred miles or so to St. Andrews, New Brunswick, for their annual outing. And a very jolly party it was of some one hundred of the worthy Seniors and their wives, and a very jolly week indeed was spent at fair St. Andrews with its wonderful hotel—one of the best on the far famed C.P.R. circuit—and its charming links situated on the picturesque Pasamaquoddy Bay.

St. Andrews has the enviable reputation of being one of the "show places" of the continent, and reputation for once, belied not herself. Here come season after season, representatives of the leading families of Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, New York, Montreal and other centres. Here are to be found some of the most beautiful summer homes in Canada. Here are superb roads for motoring and a seascape and a landscape ravishing in their beauty. Flowers run riot. Whilst the air—well the air, if it is permissible to use such a term in these drab prohibition times, is like a glass of champagne. Happy he, who can afford the time and money to spend a vacation in this veritable Garden of Canada.

The Seniors of a surety thoroughly enjoyed their yearly outing under these ideal conditions. They played their golf, and very good golf too, they enjoyed their morning swim in "Kitty's Cove," their motor rides to places of interest in the neighborhood, and they made themselves thoroughly at home at the Algonquin Hotel with its sun-kissed rooms and the dining room tables literally groaning with all the good things of sea and land and air. In brief, the annual outing of 1921 was generally voted the most enjoyable of any previous jaunt, and "St. Andrews, fair St. Andrews-by-the-Sea" has made for herself a hundred or so more converts, who will loudly sing her praises from coast to coast, and deservedly so, too.

Saturday, September the tenth saw the opening of the Tournament and in all 76 Seniors tied up in the various classes—41 in Class 1 (55 years to 60 years); 21 in Class B (sixty years to 64 years, and 14 in Class C (65 years and upwards). Not a bad representation all said and done, considering the long distances to be travelled to take part in the Tournament. At Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa the entry lists always go well over the one hundred mark, and next year in Toronto, where the 1922 meeting will be held, the chances are that a century and a half and more will be the total. But then, the Queen City is more or less, at present at any rate, the golfing hub of the Dominion.

The course of the Algonquin Club is a most interesting one, the 18 holes accounting for a length of 6,100 yards, and an admirable feature is that the first tee and the "home" hole are at the very attractive little clubhouse. The outstanding feature, perhaps of the St. Andrews course, is the excellent springy turf which prevails throughout the fairway. No cuppy lies here from start to finish, but the ball fairly inviting a "swatting" through the green, even with a driver.

There are many feature holes on these superb sea-side links. One of the best is No. 2 "Cedar Lane," 420 yards. It is a slightly elbowed hole, laid out for a nice pull. The fairway is some forty yards in width, with an out-of-bound road on the left, and "rough" and trees for a sliced ball, and the ground naturally breaking away into this direction. It requires a carefully placed cleek or brassie shot to get on the green in two, as the terrain narrows towards the hole, with the ground breaking away sharply to the left, and "rough" about ten to fifteen yards beyond the green.

The tee to the 8th hole, "Joe's Point," is situated on the water's edge. The view from the ninth tee, situated on "Joe's Point," is sweepingly superb, taking in the full view of Passamaquoddy Bay, the town of St. Andrews, Navy Island, and far East, also, Robinson's Cove in Maine. The 9th, "The Grove," is an excellent hole of some 400 yards, requiring a carefully placed second to get the green. The par going out is 36, and everything must break right to get it. The incoming nine are also, many of them, holes of outstanding merit, notably the 10th, 15th and 16th—the latter especially a good 'un.

Ordinarily speaking the greens at St. Andrews are a pure delight, but this year New Brunswick suffered a severe drought which spelled loss to the agriculturalist and was the despair of the golf greenkeeper. As a result the Seniors found at St. Andrews greens which were parched and "fiery," and the regulation two putts often became three and even four. Hence scores in the eighties were rare, very rare and eards of really very good players mounted ominously into the nineties.

Herewith the scores on the first day of the Tournament participated in by representative members of the bench and bar and the military and medical profession; captains of finance and industry—men prominent in all walks of life:—

It will be noticed by the above scores that Mr. George S. Lyon was the only player to get into the "seventies". There were quite a number however in the "eighties" notwithstanding the slippery greens which played sad havoc with many otherwise good scores.

THE PLAY ON MONDAY

Weather conditions on Monday, September 12th, the second day of the Tournament, were most unfavourable. A nasty cold rain greeted the Seniors, but nothing daunted, they made their rounds of 18 holes and stuck gamely to the task of trying to beat bogey and incidentally annex one of the score or so of beautiful silver cups which made a glistening array in the lobby of the hotel, where they were greatly admired.

Once again Mr. Lyon had the best score of the day, an 81, which with his Saturday's score of 79 gave him a total of 160 and again won for him the Shaughnessy Cup, emblematic of the Championship of the Association. This is the fourth year the Lambton expert has captured the trophy.

The runner-up to Mr. Lyon was another Lambtonian, Mr. F. A. Parker, who with two well put together cards of 85 and 83 for a total of 168, won the Nesbitt Cup. The other Championship cup of the Association, the W. R. Baker Cup for the best gross in Class C, was won by Mr. H. L. Putnam of the Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal. Thursday morning, Sept. 13th, foursomes were the feature and they were thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. C. A. Bogert and Mr. A. T. Reid "paired up" exceedingly well together and won the cups for the best net score. For second place there was a tie between Messrs. H. H. Williams (Lambton) and Dr. Hayes, and Messrs. C. S. Harding (Beaconsfield) and Sidney Jones (Toronto). In the play-off Messrs. Williams and Hayes won out. Then of course on Saturday and Monday there was a putting contest, the cups being won by Messrs. Ralph H. Reville, Brantford, W. Robins, Mississauga, A. F. Rodger, Lambton and Lt.-Col. P. J. Myler, Hamilton.

The full list of prize winners at this thoroughly successful Tournament will be found on Page 396. As usual, Lambton golfers, it will be seen, were very much to the fore, capturing seven of the prizes. Other clubs represented in the prize list were Kanawaki, Waterloo Golf and Country Club, Galt, Brightwood, N.S.; Rosedale, Toronto, Beaconsfield, Brantford, Mississauga, Royal Ottawa, Hamilton and Sarnia.

The fourth annual meeting and dinner of the Association was held on Monday evening, September 12th in the spacious dining room of the hotel. Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., the President, in the chair. Seated at the head table were Messrs. C. R. Hosmer, Hon. Martin Burrell, E. L. Pease, Sir George Garneau, G. R. Hargratt, G. S. Lyon, J. J. McGill, Lt.-Col. P. J. Myler, C. H. Peters, W. G. Ross, P. D. Ross, H. H. Williams, C. A. Bogert, J. T. Burchell, J. E. Caldwell, R. H. Greene and Ralph H. Reville. A large number of the Seniors wore the historic red coat and this gave a splash of colour to the surroundings which was favourably commented upon by a number of the ladies who, after the dinner came into the Banqueting Room to listen to the musical programme.

Mine Host Brennan of the Algonquin Hotel had prepared a very dainty menu for the edification of his golfing guests. The tables were most artistically decorated with flowers and the whole arrangements were most complete and satisfactory. The Seniors don't believe in lengthy speeches and a long drawn out toast list. Instead they like lots of music, and at St. Andrews a particularly good programme was provided for their enjoyment by the Algonquin Hotel Orchestra and three clever vocalists from Ottawa—Mr. and Mrs. Underwood and Mr. H. Clarke.

The toast to the King was loyally honoured. Then followed the reading of telegrams from Lord Shaughnessy, regretting his inability to be present at the dinner and wishing the Association every success, and also from the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick, also regretting a previous engagement prevented him from attending the event, much to his disappointment.

A delightful feature of the dinner was the presentation to Mr. Baker of a most artistic device in the form of a silver Maltese Cross with the word "Founder" inscribed upon it, in recognition of his invaluable services to the Association. In a particularly happy speech Mr. P. D. Ross, Vee-President of the Association, referred to the time and labour which from its inception Mr. Baker had given to the affairs of the Association. He was responsible for its formation some four years ago at the Royal Montreal Golf Club and the gratifying success which had attended the organization was largely owing to his fostering care.

Mr. J. J. McGill, who recently succeeded Mr. Baker in the Presidency of The Royal Montreal Golf Club, then presented Mr. Baker with the device which will be worn on the coat lapel. He, too, referred to his great work for golf in Canada. For years he had given lavishly of his time and great executive ability in the interests of the Royal and Ancient. Both The Royal Montreal Club and the Seniors' Association owed much, very much to him.

Mr. Baker made a very graceful reply. He would value the device most highly and would always wear it with pride at all golfing functions. He appreciated from the bottom of his heart the kindly sentiment which had prompted its bestowal.

The Hon Secretary-Treasurer's annual report showed total receipts of $2570.90 with expenditures of $2528.75, leaving a balance on hand as at August 31st of $42.15. Feeling reference was made to the death during the year of four valued members of the Association, viz. Lt.-Col. Hibbard, Montreal; J. W. Beatty, Toronto; Frank Curtis, Simcoe and J. G. Turnbull, Galt. The total membership of the Association is 300.

On motion of Mr. G. E. Moberley of The Royal Montreal Golf Club, seconded by General Mewburn of the Hamilton Golf Club, the following were unanimously elected officers of the Association and Board of Governors for the coming year:

President and Founder, Mr. W. R. Baker, C.V.O., Honorary President, The Royal Montreal Golf Club; 1st Vice-President, The Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., Toronto Golf Club; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. P. D. Ross, Royal Ottawa Golf Club; Chairman of Tournament Committee, Mr. George S. Lyon, Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto; Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Ralph H. Reville, Brantford Golf and Country Club.

Board of Governors—W. R. Baker, C.V.O., The Royal Montreal Golf Club; Clarence A. Bogert, Toronto Hunt Club; Hon. Martin Burrell, The Royal Ottawa Golf Club; James T. Burchell, Lingan Golf Club, Sydney, N.S.; J. E. Caldwell, Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa; Major Cronyn, M.P., London Hunt and Country Club; Sir George Garneau, Quebec Golf Club; R. H. Greene, Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto; Geo. R. Hargraft, Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto; Judge A. D. Hardy, Brantford Golf and Country Club; George S. Lyon, Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto; J. J. McGill, President, The Royal Montreal Golf Club; E. H. Macklin, St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg; H. B. Mackenzie, Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal; Lt.-Col. Miller, Scarborough Golf Club, Toronto; Lt.-Col. Moodie, Hamilton Golf and Country Club; Lt.-Col. Paul Myler, Hamilton Golf and Country Club; J. L. McCulloch, Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal; Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., Toronto Golf Club; C. H. Peters, Riverside Golf and Country Club, St. John, N.B.; E. L. Pease, President, The Mount Bruno Country Club, Montreal; Ralph H. Reville, Brantford Golf and Country Club; Frank A. Rolph, Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto; P. D. Ross, The Royal Ottawa Golf Club; W. G. Ross, Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal; H. H. Williams, Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto.

The following resolution was carried with cheers and the Secretary instructed to send copies to Lord Shaughnessy, Mr. Ussher, Mr. Allerton and Mr. Brennan.

The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association at this meeting desires to record its satisfaction at having had the opportunity of holding its Fourth Annual Tournament on the links of the Algonquin Hotel Golf Club. This course with the greens in proper condition, which could easily be accomplished, would, in the opinion of this Association be one of the finest, if not the finest, in the Dominion, and with such an attractive and admirably managed hotel so contiguous, would form an ideal spot for a golfer's holiday.

This Association desires further to express its warm thanks to Lord Shaughnessy, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, for his practical interest in the success of the Tournament; to Mr. C. E. Ussher and the officials of the Passenger Department; and to Mr. Brennan, Manager of the Algonquin Hotel, for the really remarkably arranged and most enjoyable picnic, and to him and to his staff for their unfailing courtesy and attention."

The singing of Auld Lang Syne by the hundred odd guests present brought one of the most enjoyable annual dinners ever held by the C.S.G.A. to a fitting conclusion.

A Delightful Steamboat Excursion

One of the most delightful experiences of the Seniors' outing of 1921 was the steamboat trip tendered the members and their wives on Sunday, September 11th, by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Motors took the guests to the wharf at 10.30 a.m. Here the spacious steamer, the "Grand Mannan" was boarded and then followed a most enjoyable ocean trip. The beautiful coast of Maine was skirted, a peep being had of the thriving fishing towns of Eastport and Lubeck. The destination of the steamer was Welshpool. Here the guests to the number of nearly one hundred disembarked and took to motor launches which immediately set out for the beautiful beach at Campobello, which some years ago was purchased by a prominent syndicate of Americans, many of them erecting lovely homes there, amongst them Mr. Franklin Roosevelt and other eminent bankers and lawyers. Here on the beach the Seniors were given a clam-bake by the management of the Algonquin Hotel. It was called a "clam bake" but it was more than that—it was a regular luncheon, with all the perquisites. A very merry time was spent discussing the good things provided by the expert chef of the Algonquin. Many of the Seniors strolled about the Island and inspected the beautiful homes to be found there with their lovely flower-laden gardens. Once again the launches were taken and the steamer "Grand Mannan" boarded for St. Andrews, which was reached in ample time for dinner. There was an orchestra on board which discoursed high-class music; there were also songs and choruses and altogether nothing was left undone by the C.P.R. management to make the outing a delightful one in every detail. Campobello will long be remembered by the hundred or so guests who were privileged to take part in this perfectly arranged excursion.

The Trip to Apawamis and the International Match

On Tuesday afternoon, September 13th at 5 o'clock the team of sixteen players selected to take part in the International Match for the Duke of Devonshire trophy left by special car for New York. The team was also accompanied by Mr. E. L. Pease, President of the Mount Bruno Golf Club, and the Editor and Associate Editor of "The Canadian Golfer," Messrs Reville and Webbing. The team dined at McAdam Junction at 7 o'clock, tables being reserved for them at the capital C.P.R. restaurant to be found here. Boston was reached at 7 o'clock next morning enabling the Seniors to spend a few hours motoring around that city and inspecting the many points of interest there. At noon a special car was boarded for Rye, N.Y., the fast New York train for the first time in its history being stopped at Rye to enable the Canadians to be the guests of honour at the annual dinner of The United States Senior Golf Association. Motors met the visitors at the station and hurried them off to the hospitable Apawamis Club house where already some three hundred or more of the American Seniors had assembled.

The U.S. Seniors know how to give good dinners and they know how to entertain in a princely manner. Everything went with a great swing and follow through. Mr. Frank Presbrey, President of the U.S. Seniors, having on his right Mr. Baker, President of the Canadian Seniors, made an ideal chairman and there was not a dull moment from start to finish of an admirably arranged programme. On the front of the menu card were handsomely embossed flags entwined of Great Britain and the United States and on the inside cover a cut of a Canadian and U. S. golfer clasping hands, with the inscription "Hands across the Border." Everything was done to make the Canadians feel thoroughly at home. The King was loyally toasted in addition to the President, the two National Anthems were heartily sung and altogether the evening was marked by unbounded good fellowship.

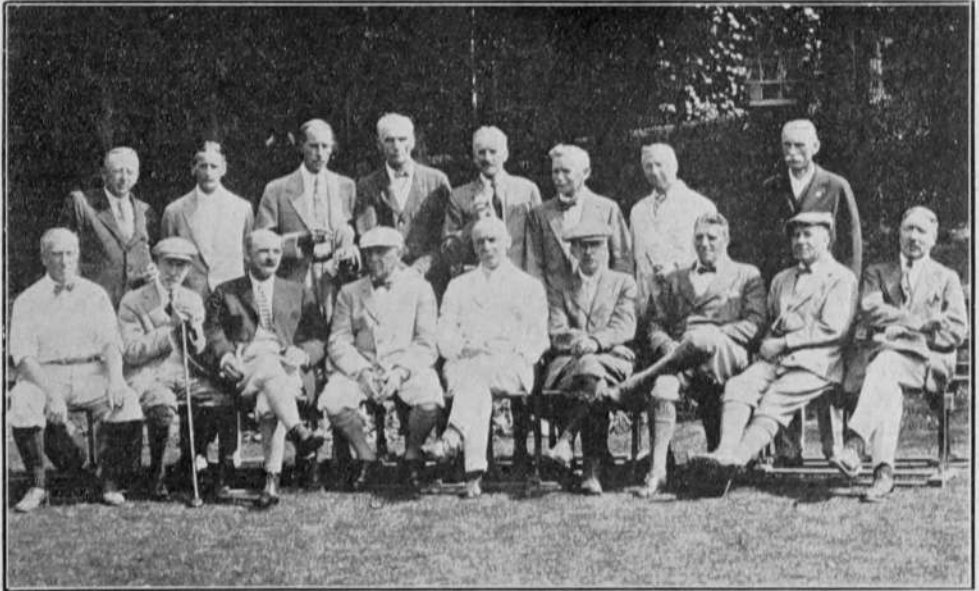

In a very clever speech Mr. Presbrey toasted the Canadian Seniors and Mr. Baker in turn in felicitous terms proposed the health of the U. S. Seniors. As is usual at these International Golf functions the chief speech of the evening was made by the Hon. Martin Burrell of Ottawa, ex-Secretary of State.

"It was one of your countrymen, Mr. Chairman" Mr. Burrell commenced, "who remarked that the two faculties of speech and speech-making were wholly diverse in their natures. By the first we made ourselves intelligible, by the last unintelligible to our fellows. (laughter) Indeed it is far from an easy job in these modern and critical days to address your fellow mortals, the majority of whom present usually feel—not without justification—that they could do vastly better than the wretched victim before them. However, my task is rendered easier by the consciousness that Americans are the most generous and indulgent of hosts, and still more easy in knowing that we are all crazy devotees of that great sport which Mr. Balfour once said had all the excitement of deer-stalking without the inconveniences and dangers. A sport whose history is rooted in the East and invested with an almost canonical authority. It may be true that no direct Biblical reference to golf can be cited. Yet to the minds of the few present who have any familiarity with Scripture there will naturally be recalled that indirect allusion when we were told that Ananias after a bad lie fell dead, and Sapphira after a worse lie halved the hole. (laughter)

Scotchmen will repudiate this and indeed the game seems soaked with Scotch characteristics, even if they didn't invent it. I sympathize with the case of a chap who in a recent inter-club match was paired with a young Scotch artisan. He felt he was licked when he heard that fine Scotch burr on the first tee, and then said he, "At the third I was lying fourteen inches from the hole. I looked up expecting him to concede it. I got a dour glance and 'pit it doon,' said he, and damn it. I missed the putt and never made a decent shot the rest of the game." Fine fellows and fine golfers, the Scotch! Tight-fisted? Not a bit of it. That occasional reluctance to part with anything is simply the defect of a quality, to wit, that great virtue of thrift which has made them the merchant princes of the earth and caused one philosopher to define an extreme optimist as a person who bought something from a Jew with the expectation of selling it at a profit to a Scotchman. (laughter) Mr. Burrell humorously pointed out that it was as difficult to say anything new about golf as it was to find a man who would admit that he was 'on his game.' He indicated the good that golf had done and in touching the reverse side quoted that excellent fooling of McEvoy's in "The Stranger."

"After all," continued the speaker, "the whole-hearted love of good clean sport is a pretty good leaven in the national life. The atmosphere of the golf course does not breed Lenines, Trotskys and others of that ilk. Show me the man who plays the game of golf and the great game of life with feet firmly planted on the ground, head steady and a scrupulous fairness to his opponents and I'll show you a pretty good citizen." (applause) Turning to his American hosts, Mr. Burrell laid stress on the increasing good-will between the two countries. "We hope you find us pretty good neighbors, but don't forget that Pepler, Toronto Golf Club; C. A. Bogert, Toronto Golf Club; Ralph H. Reville (Hon Secretary), Brantford. Back row—T. E. Merrett, The Royal Montreal; W. G. Ross, Kanawaki, Montreal; P. D. we are also your best customers. You have sold us your products to the value of $3,765,000,000 during the past five years and what is more significant a million dollars' worth every day of the year more than you buy from us. We trust that your attack of Fordneyitis will not become so acute as to impede that mutual flow of commerce so healthy to both countries." (laughter and applause).

"We can cordially rejoice in your progress and prosperity. We noticed with interest that three weeks ago you at last concluded peace with Germany and will doubtless now rapidly turn your swords into plowshares and your bayonets into mashie-niblicks. I can say with profound seriousness how deeply we rejoice in the action of your President in calling the great Powers to a Disarmament Conference. We look hopefully to your great country with its idealism coupled to a vast common sense to exercise a powerful influence in the deliberations, and pray that some large good may emerge from the wreckage, the chaos and the miseries of the past seven years." (applause)

Referring to the pleasure of being again with U.S. Seniors, Mr. Burrell said,

"I am not sure that we veterans do not get a rarer and finer enjoyment from these meetings than the younger men. Even the men in Class C are justified in rosy views of the future, for I have noted the recent research work of a French savant which promises length of years beyond our wildest dreams. He managed to keep a fragment of tissue of a chicken's heart alive for 104 days disassociated from its parent organism. It's only a question of attending to every tissue and co-ordinating all of them. He declares that a properly organized health practice maintaining the balancing and functioning of all tissues and you can live as long as you want to. Human immortality becomes thus a theoretic possibility. I translated this into terms of golf. With a properly organized golf practice maintaining the balance and functioning of all my clubs, I realized the splendour of successive rounds with nothing but "birdies." And then, as I viewed the awful isolation if others should fail to find the road, I instinctively said, 'God send me back to the rough and the bunkers where the good fellows are and most of my friends spend their time.' (laughter) Tomorrow we enter again our yearly contest for that fine trophy which even if it swells the already excessive volume of our import will not seriously affect exchange, as we pay nothing for it if we are fortunate in the fight. If we lose then we say with Moneton Milner:

'If what shone afar so grand melt to nothing in your hand,

On again—the virtue lies in the struggle, not the prize.'

In any case, gentlemen, we get that fine comradeship which is the joy of these gatherings and in thanking you on behalf of Canadian Seniors, present and absent, for your abounding hospitality, I assure you of an equally warm welcome when next year you return our visit.' (cheers)

The ex-Secretary of State was given a regular ovation at the conclusion of his oration.

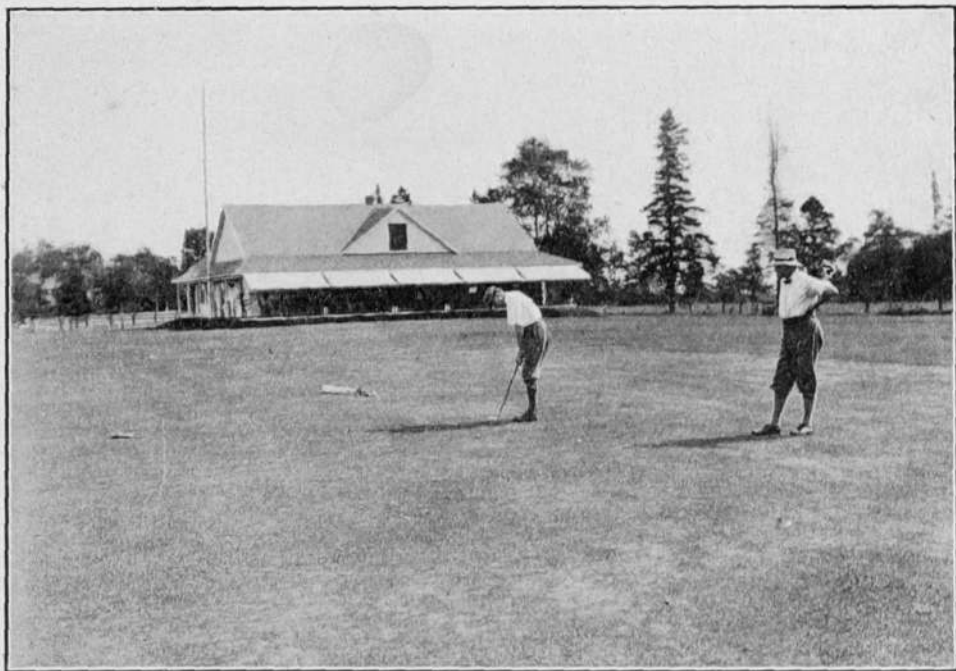

Mr. W. H. Conroy, President of the Apawamis Golf Club followed in a very hearty speech of welcome to the Canadians. The club house and course at Apawamis were always open, wide open, to the Seniors from the Dominion.

After the dinner, which was enlivened with good music all the way through, the Canadians were motored to Greenwich a few miles away where they were the guests of the U.S. Seniors at a capital Inn where they were accorded every comfort. Next morning the International team was early astir and proceeded to Apawamis to get in a practice round of the links. They found the course in superb shape. Two years ago, owing to unprecedented wet weather, the greens and fairgreens were more or less water-logged. This year they were in wonderful condition—manicured right up to the last minute, providing the fairest kind of a test of good golf. At 1 o'clock both teams sat down to a perfectly appointed lunch and then at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large gallery, Presidents Presbey and Baker drove off the first balls of the Fourth International encounter for Senior supremacy.

And things did not run smoothly for the visitors. The first great shock came when Mr. George S. Lyon was reported at the 17th hole to be defeated by Mr. C. D. Cooke of East Harwich, New Jersey, 2 and 1. Now the Canadian Senior champion has always had more or less of a primrose path to tread in International Senior matches and has always been conceded to have three points in his bag for the Dominion at any and all times. Mr. Cooke, using his irons exclusively—he has not a wooden club in his bag—playing heady and consistent golf held his opponent all square at the 9th and coming in with many a par hole for a total of 80 for the 18 holes, registered a well-earned victory over his doughty Canadian opponent who, as a result of a bad attack of hay fever which affected his eye sight, was finding trouble in guaging his approach shots and negotiating his putts. From the tee Lyon almost invariably was out 40 or 50 yards ahead of the clean-cut player from New Jersey.

The downfall of the Captain naturally threw gloom into the Canadian camp, and as results subsequently proved, the forebodings of a serious reverse were not unjustified. Man after man came in with the same story of defeat and when the last pair had played the beautiful 18th green it was found that the U.S. Seniors had registered a victory to the tune of 26 points to 2. Messrs. F. A. Parker of Lambton and P. D. Ross of The Royal Ottawa being the only Canadians to win their matches. These figures certainly take on a crushing complexion. They look like a walk-over, but as a matter of fact they were not. Match after match was only decided by a hole. With any kind of luck the Canadian Seniors would have had many more points to their credit. But the breaks went against them and a very bad defeat was the result. However, the representatives of the land of the Maple are not down-hearted. The U.S. Seniors have now a three to one margin in these International encounters, but next year on their own links there is really no reason at all why the Canadians should not reduce this lead and in 1922 make the score read 3 to 2. They can do it and they are going to do it!

In addition to the above team of 15, Mr. C. E. Evans of Halifax and Mr. Arthur V. Lee of Detroit played, but their scores do not count as the conditions of the trophy are that the teams shall be fifteen a side. An extra man, however, is always taken along to fill up any vacancy which might occur.

As showing the brand of golf the U.S. Seniors are capable of producing on a hard course like Apawamis, it might be mentioned that Mr. Frederick Snare, in his match with Mr. T. E. Merrett, had a medal of 78. Nearly all the U.S. players were around eighty to eighty-three, their putting especially being of a most uncanny description. Our U. S. cousins are certainly wizards on the greens.

After the match came the presentation once again by Mr. Baker to Mr. Presbrey of the beautiful Duke of Devonshire cup, and then after hearty cheers for the winners and losers, tea was partaken of on the spacious verandahs of alluring Apawamis, served by the ladies of the club, and another International match and delightful outing had again come to an end.

Tournament and Other Chip Shots

There is no better run hotel to-day on the Continent than the Algonquin. The C.P.R. certainly does understand the value of "service".

* * *

Mr. W. H. Snell, General Passenger Agent of the C.P.R., Montreal, was at St. Andrews throughout the Tournament. The Seniors are greatly indebted to him for courtesies without number.

* * *

Quite a feature of Sunday evening at the hotel was the singing of hymns. The Seniors joined in the heartiest kind of a manner in the rendering of a number of the grand old tunes so dear to the heart of everyone. It was quite impressive.

* * *

John Peacock and J. R. Skinner respectively, the professional and Superintendent of the Algonquin links were simply indefatigable in their attention to the Seniors and their golfing wants. St. Andrews is fortunate in having two such capable and courteous officials. The girl and boy caddies, too, at St. Andrews are quite above the ordinary. Many of the girls were especially good.

* * *

Sir Thomas Tait and Mr. Atherton Smith were responsible for several interesting little motor trips during the week. St. Andrews and its surroundings are redolent with romantic trips. More than one Senior is seriously considering joining the summer colony there and securing a site for a property. St. Andrews abounds in lovely homes.

The Hon. Secretary especially wants to thank Messrs. R. H. Greene and H. P. Pike for the loyal manner in which they assisted in running off the various events. Their help, so generously given, was simply invaluable. No trouble in running a Tournament with men of such calibre on a Committee. Miss Hatton, too, of Ottawa, who again looked after the typing wants of the Committee, discharged her duties in a thoroughly conscientious manner.

The following was the excellent vocal programme rendered during the annual dinner on Monday night at the Algonquin Hotel. "O, Canada", "Mary of Argyle," Mr. H. A. Underwood; "Friend of Mine," Mr. H. Clarke; "Excelsior", duet, Mr. H. A. Underwood and Mr. H. Clarke; "Break! Break!", Mrs. Underwood; "Songs of Araby," Mr. H. A. Underwood; "Shipmates of Mine", Mr. H. Clarke; "The Trumpeter", Mr. H. A. Underwood. The Algonquin Orchestra also played selections during dinner.

Showing the appreciation of the many courtesies extended to the Seniors during their stay at St. Andrews, Mr. Baker, President of the Association, the other day forwarded to Mr. Brennan, Manager of the Algonquin Hotel, a silver cigarette case with an inscription from "The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association." Mr. Brennan was unfailing in his attentions to the members throughout Tournament week. He did everything for their care and comfort.

* * *

And here is an interesting incident. Mr. F. C. Kimber of Sydney, N. S. and Mr. L. C. Lawford of Montreal were public school boys together at Marlborough nearly half a century ago, since which time they have never met. At St. Andrews they played together in the second day's draw and both had nett scores of 78. Needless to say the meeting between the two old school friends was hugely enjoyed after such a long lapse of time.

The following telegrams passed between the Presidents of the two Associations during Tournament week:

New York, September 8, 1921.

W. R. Baker, Algonquin Hotel, N.B.,

The United States Seniors' Golf Association sends to the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association its cordial felicitations and best wishes for a successful tournament. We are anticipating the great pleasure of meeting your team at Apawamis in friendly rivalry. Competitions of this sort between our good neighbor Canada and the United States add materially to the cordial good-will and friendships of these two great countries.

FRANK PRESBREY, President.

St. Andrews, N. B., September 9th, 1921

Frank Presbrey, New York,

The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association is much gratified by the receipt of your kind and thoughtful message and it cordially reciprocates the friendly sentiments expressed therein.

The receipt of such a message is the best possible proof that one of the objects of the formation of the Canadian Association, that is, the fostering of understanding and good fellowship between our two Countries is being accomplished.

We wish that if possible your Tournament may be even more successful than previous ones.

We, too, are looking forward with the greatest pleasure to meeting you next week and we only hope you will not suffer too many pangs at parting with the Cup.

W. R. BAKER, President.

As usual, "Governor" Burchell brought up a strong contingent from Sydney, N.S. Loyal supporters of the Seniors are the Sydneyites. For the first time also Halifax and Fredericton were represented. From St. John, as usual, came up Mr. C. H. Peters accompanied by Mrs. Peters and her sister. Mr. Peters met with quite a serious accident some months ago and was unable to play in the Tournament. Last year he was a cup winner. Lt.-Col. Paul Myler of Hamilton, President of The Royal Canadian Golf Association, was also unable to play very much. He has been spending several weeks at St. Andrews and as a result is again back to normal, friends throughout Canada will be glad to hear. The Colonel was very seriously ill this summer, it will be remembered, and had to cancel all his important golfing engagements as President of the R.C.G.A.

HAGEN AGAIN IN SPOTLIGHT

Wins the U. S. Professional Championship, defeating Barnes 3 and 2—The Spectacular defeat of "Jock" Hutchison.

WALTER Hagen seems to be coming into his own again with a vengeance this season. The U. S. Open Champion of 1914 and 1919 who made such a sorry showing last year in Great Britain is certainly going great guns this year. Not content with annexing the Western Open and Michigan Open Championships, on October 1st he added to his long list of victories the United States Professional Championship, played over the Inwood County Club course, defeating in the 36-hole final the U. S. Open Champion and old time rival, Jim Barnes, 3 and 2. And this is how Mr. W. E. Hicks, the golf editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, vividly describes the encounter of the champions:

"If there had ever faintly begun to enter the consciousness of Barnes the thought that

Hagen had the Indian sign on him, the vague belief must have assumed a certain definiteness at the start of the morning round, for Barnes saw Hagen win the first two holes in spectacular fashion.

On the first hole, 345 yards, Barnes's approach was far inside Hagen's, 15 feet against 40. But the latter rolled in the long one for the bird 3.

Barnes had scarcely got his breath back from that when on the second Hagen slipped in from a foot over the green for a bird 3. Thus in 2 holes Barnes was 2 down.

But Jim knew that a 36-hole match, like a stern chase, is a long one, and stuck to his knitting. And so well, too, that at the 6th he had the match at evens and at the 7th went into the lead, which he held till the 10th. Hagen squared on the first in hole, but Barnes came back to win on the 11th; but Hagen evened again on the 12th. Then the latter went to the front, to stay there the rest of the day.

Singularly enough, the start of the second round saw Hagen win the two openers, as in the morning for a 3 up lead, which was increased to 4 with a 30-foot putt on the one-shot

7th. This lead of 4 Barnes could not touch till Hagen trapped his drive, on the 32nd hole.

Barnes had a chance to keep the match alive at the 34th by dropping a 2-foot putt, but missed, and Hagen won his first purely pro. title.

The table analysis of the play, published elsewhere, shows that Barnes was consistently longer on the tee, but his tee direction was so much worse as alone to account for his defeat. as he had 10 long-hole tee troubles to Hagen's 3. Barnes, as the table shows, was bothered about equally by pulls and slices, while Hagen did not suffer once from a tee slice.

In getting to the greens in fewer strokes they were equal in both rounds. A striking reversal of accuracy is shown by the change in the figures for playing the odd on the greens. or the ball "away" when the strokes to the carpet were even. In the morning Hagen couldn't get his approaches; in the afternoon it was Barnes. In the morning Barnes won the more holes with putts, but in the afternoon he won none that way.

Hagen won 6 holes in the morning and Barnes 5. In the afternoon Barnes won only 1, the 14th, while Hagen captured 3. Hagen achieved his victory by greater steadiness on the tee and better putting, as shown by his 8 single putt greens to 7, and his 2 three putters to 3, not to speak of his holeout from off the green. Barnes' out of bounds showed he lacked the tee steadiness he had in the U. S. Open.

The play of the morning round, after Hagen's surprising hole-outs on the first two holes and the halving of the third, found Barnes capturing his first hole on the 4th, when, after two woods into the wind, he was 40 yards ahead of Hagen and so near the green he could trust a run-up. The ball stopped close to the cup, and as Hagen's high pitch was 20 feet away, it was Jim's hole, 4 to 5, and he squared on the short 6th when Hagen took 3 putts from 50 feet. Then Hagen repeated his triplet of putts on the 7th, this time from 15 feet. Barnes passed into the lead, which he held to the turn, leading in strokes also, 34 to 35.

It was Jim's turn to miss a dinky putt on the 10th, and Hagen squared; but on the next. Barnes was in front again by laying his long approach up dead. His tee out of bounds lost him his lead at the 12th, and Hagen got in front on the 13th when Barnes, from rough on a sliced drive, over-played the green to a trap and took 2 to get out. Another out of bounds tee slice cost Barnes the 14th, to put Hagen 2 up, but the latter lost the 16th by trapping his iron second out of rough, where Barnes used a brassie and got the green.

The 17th was an orthodox half, and into the wind on the 18th Hagen hooked his brassie hole high, but chipped up stone dead for a half, as Barnes was 20 feet short of the cup with his second wood. This left Hagen 1 up at lunch.

Trapped on a hooked drive and on his second at the green while Hagen was straight, Barnes, 1 down at noon, lost the first afternoon hole, 4-5. The second also went against him when Hagen's pitch was 3 feet from the cup and Barnes took 3 putts from 25 feet. Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 6 were halved. Barnes on the fifth after being trapped at the green on a sliced iron got down a 12-foot putt for a half.

Hagen was going to the one-shot seventh. There he made it 4 up by sinking down a hill slow rolling 30-foot putt for a bird 2.

The eighth saw Barnes play a spectacular second shot standing far down in a trap with the ball at the height of his chest up on the edge of the fairway. The shot was over the green to a fringe of rough, but he got back to 3 feet for a half in 4. Hagen being straight.

The ninth was a half in 4 Hagen after overplaying the green 6 feet to rough getting up to 3 feet for the 4. At the turn Hagen was 4 up.

The short pond 10th was a half in 3 with each on from the tee and the 11th was divided in par 4 by Barnes making a fine recovery to the green after pushing his drive to long grass. The 12th saw him again slicing his drive to rough and recovering to the carpet for a par half.

Straight drives and seconds at the 13th for another half left Hagen 4 up. Then Hagen slipped, giving the gallery hope of a home-green finish. Both hooked on the 14th tee. Barnes' ball stopped six feet short of the big trap, Hagen was in it. The latter's out was short and his third not on.

His chip was four feet over the pin, but he missed the putt for a half, Barnes' winning in 5 by getting on in 3. When the referee sang out, "Barnes wins, 5 to 6. Hagen, 3 up," there was applause.

It looked as if Hagen would end the match on the 133-yard 15th when his tee shot was only four feet from the pin with Barnes 20 feet away. The latter's long putt needed only one more roll to drop in and then Hagen tapped his short one. The ball ran into the cup and Hagen started to shake hands with Jim, but the ball came out again to sit on the lip.

Hagen was now dormy 3 and needed only a half to win. He was greatly favored by the parallel fairway of the 17th, where his drive on the 16th landed on a wild hook. He tried to get the green with a hard hit brassie, but was short by 30 yards. Barnes after a fine drive well over to the right, slammed an iron along the fringe of trees 20 feet past the cup.

Hagen's third was on 12 feet over and Barnes rolled his third only two feet past the pin. It seemed that Jim's 4 must win and keep the match going for Hagen missed his 4 by inches.

Then to the unspeakable horror of the gallery Barnes missed his little one, and the resultant half in 5 gave the match to Hagen by 3 and 2.

Allowing Hagen the par on the last two holes he was around in 33-37-70 and Barnes in 37-36-73.

that year and in 1919 Barnes won and last year Hutchison captured the final. Hagen in the Western open recently at Cleveland was tied with Hutchison at the start of the last round. He played the British champion off his feet, 71 to 76, and took the title. Now in the pro. title final he takes the measure of the American open champion. Last year Hagen was the French and Metropolitan champion and was tied with Fred McLeod for second place to Barnes in the United States open at Columbia last July.

In the match play for the pro. title which began last Tuesday, Hagen won all his matches up to the final by crushing margins. The first round saw him defeat Jack Forrester by 6 and 4, then he disposed of Tom Boyd by 6 and 5, John Golden by 9 and 7 and Cyril Walker by 5 and 4.

Barnes came through to the final by beating Clarence Hackney by 3 and 2, Robert Cruickshank by 8 and 7 and Emmet French by 5 and 4.

The weather was ideal for the finals and the gallery was full. Between 1,500 and 2,000 raced to see the play in the afternoon round.

One of the extraordinary features of the Championship was the spectacular elimination of "Jock" Hutchison. Rated as one of the world's greatest exponents of the historic Scottish pastime and winner of the majority of events at Florida last winter and the British Open this summer, the good-natured Scot, who hails from the Glen View Club, Chicago, had no particular reason to believe otherwise than that he would be an important factor in the Championship. So cogitating, the brilliant Highlander meandered out to the first tee, where he found awaiting his arrival one Gene Sarazen, who learned the fine points of the game as a youngster around the Apawamis Club course at Rye, N.Y., where the U.S. and Canadian Seniors foregather, in the vicinity of his boyhood home, but who now, at the age of 20, is the professional at the Titusville Country Club. After the inventory was taken at the 18th tee at noon the pupil enjoyed an advantage of eight up on the master. Before starting out in the afternoon round Sarazen, brimful of confidence, prophesied a 36 for the outward round, saying that a 36 would be good enough to hold his advantage. And that is just exactly what he got, one under par, while "Huch" was two under and had not decreased his liability. The tenth and eleventh holes were halved in threes and fours, and the match was over. Young David had again scored over Goliath; not with a slingshot this time, but with driver, brassie, mashie and putter, particularly putter. The final result was 8 and 7. Thus came about one of the greatest upsets of the year.

WHAT?

I often top my drives,
And miss a two-foot putt,
Foozling my mashies, too,
When I am out of luck.
But of one thing I'm certain,
On me you can rely,
To be a sure producer
Of the good old alibi.

How Glendale Solved its Water Problem

Well Known Hamilton Course Economically Installs a Fine System.

WHEN the Glendale Golf Club of Hamilton purchased its property, there was a spring on the highest point of the course which was supposed to have sufficient flow to take care of their water requirements, but as the middle of the summer approached, the flow decreased to such an extent that it was readily seen that it would not be sufficient.

It was then decided to bore a well near the club house, and after going down some three hundred feet, salt water was struck and the well was abandoned. After searching the property, two other springs were discovered and developed to such an extent that sufficient water was procured to take care of the club house, shower baths, etc. However, as the course neared completion, the question of watering the greens could not be further delayed, and a committee was appointed to look into the water situation, and after considering several plans, the committee decided, after consulting a geological map of the district, also the water supply of farmers and others in the vicinity, to bore a well on the top of the mountain. The location decided upon was 800 feet back from the brow, and after boring some 63 feet, a splendid flow of water was obtained which came to rest within two feet of the surface of the ground.

A strong committee was then appointed to complete the system, and they first put in a temporary syphon system by laying a 1¼ inch pipe on the surface of the ground from the well to the brow of the mountain with twenty-nine feet in the well and twenty-five to thirty feet over the brow. A one-half inch pipe was then connected and carried 100 feet down to a small tank for testing purposes. The syphon was then primed and put into operation. It ran steadily for a week giving between 10,000 and 11,000 gallons per day. The flow then ceased through air accumulating in the pipe. It was again primed and continued to flow for several days. This was continued until an ample supply of water was assured.

The committee then decided to put in a permanent installation, and in order to obtain a combination gravity and syphon system, it was decided to place the pipe underground 3 to 3½ feet from the well to the brow of the mountain, and after a complete survey of the ground, a drop of between five and six feet was obtained between the well and the brow. The 1¼ inch pipe was then continued just under the brow of the mountain on a gradual slope for about five hundred feet to the highest point of the playing course, where two large tanks each of 24,000 gallons capacity, were erected on a concrete foundation, and a three-quarter inch pipe was led into the tanks. This insured sufficient water lying in the pipe at all times to start the syphon flowing, even though the water in the well should get below the angle of the pipe.

This has now been in operation for over two months giving a flow of 22,000 to 24,000 gallons per day as required, simply by turning on the tap. These two tanks are at an elevation of approximately fifty feet above the top of the club house. A three inch asphalted pipe was then laid underground from the tank to the club house, some 2,600 feet and lateral lines of $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ and $1\frac{1}{4}$ inch pipes as required were led off to each of the greens and wherever possible, these were carried along the surface in the open to insure easy inspection and good drainage.

At the club house, a three inch hydrant was installed at each end which furnishes ample fire protection with a head sufficient to force the water through the fire hose thirty feet over the club house and with shower baths, lavatories, kitchen, etc., being connected up, the system was complete, and is, perhaps, one of the most unique and efficient systems to be found anywhere, doing away with all pumping and other expense.

The members are highly delighted with the success of the scheme especially as with an appropriation of $12,000 the committee established this most efficient system at a cost of less than $7,000.

The personnel of the committee assured success from its inception, being composed as follows: G. C. Martin, T. H. & B. Ry., Chairman; F. W. Paulin, C. E., Canadian Engineering Co.; Charles Hutton, C. E., Dominion Power and Transmission Co.; Harry Marsh, J. W. Westaway Co.; Harvey Crosthwaite, Patterson & Crosthwaite; James Armstrong, Contractor, all of whom are enthusiastic members of the club. The Canadian Engineering Co. furnished the men who carried on the work under the personal supervision of Mr. Paulin, and the work was completed in less than a month. The Gould, Shapley, Muir Co. of Brantford erected the tank.

THE SIEGE GUN GETS THE RANGE

Jesse P. Guildford, the big New Englander, wins the U. S. National Amateur Championship—The Fine showing made by the British Amateur Champion, W. J. Hunter, who defeats "Bobby" Jones and Reaches the Semi-Finals.

LIKE all other championships this year the United States Amateur at St. Louis last month saw the dethroning of the champion and the relegating into the discard of all the favourites.

Mr. Frank Thompson, in the company of many other stars failed to qualify. The British entrants, however, Messrs. "Willie" Hunter, the amateur champion, and T. D. Armour, made quite a brave showing, the former especially doing remarkably well, accounting in the third round for so formidable an opponent as "Bobbie" Jones, looked upon very generally as the ultimate National Champion. So Hunter justified his long trip and demonstrated that he is a very great golfer indeed.

Jones fought a brave fight, striving with all the cunning and determination in his golfing make-up to turn back the British invader, and for the half of their match it looked as if he were going to be successful. When they finished the first eighteen holes of their international struggle, the Atlanta youth enjoyed a lead of two holes on the British champion. Hunter had a lion heart, however, and catching Jones at the third hole in the afternoon, again at the ninth, and again at the fourteenth, the Briton took the lead at the fifteenth, forged in front at the sixteenth for the first time in the entire battle, and won out by a great shot at the seventeenth, 2 and 1.

In the semi-finals, in most adverse weather conditions all in favour of the long drivers, Hunter was defeated by R. Gardner, 5 and 4, whilst "Chick" Evans went down to an even more crushing defeat, 6 and 5 at the hands of Jesse Guildford, dubbed "the seige gun" as a tribute to his wonderful hitting powers off the tee. It was just the day for the big "swatters" and they took full advantage of their opportunity.

Over 10,000 enthusiasts witnessed the finals between Gardner and Guildford, the former being a strong favourite, as a result of his previous National victories in 1909 and 1915. But the "Siege Gun" was in great form and the Yale star, almost from the first, was outclassed, and found himself at the end of the morning round in the unenviable position of being six down. Only a miracle could have saved the day for him, but Guildford saw to it that a miracle did not eventuate. At the 27th he had still further increased his commanding position and then the the match ended on the twenty-fifth green. Drawn against Hunter, it was soon found that nearly every one present had badly underrated the versatility of the British champion's game. Hunter had already eliminated Hoover Bankard and Jimmy Manion, two fine match players, but he was conceded little chance against the spectacular Georgian.

It had been thought that the long, rolling course, none too well adapted to the pitch and run game, would work against the British star. And when Jones opened fire with perfect golf for ten holes it seemed as if Hunter must soon fall out of the frame. Jones was out in 34 and but for the mud-coated ball he might have easily been out in 31 or 32. But Hunter, a fine golfer and a grim, unruffled campaigner, hung on without turning a hair. He was two down at the turn, fighting desperately for a half on almost every hole.

And yet against this uphill start there was no sign of discouragement on his part. His clean driving was down the middle of the course, where markers placed the Union Jack above his ball, the Stars and Stripes indicating Jones' drive. Up to the green Hunter was playing a low run up shot that flicked away the mud and his putting touch was as certain as death.

On no less than seven greens he was farther away from the cup in three than Jones was in two, yet on these seven holes the British champion got his half without wavering at any turn.

Jones stood 2 up at the end of the morning round. He held this lead for seven holes in the afternoon until Hunter finally won the eighth and ninth. The two moved side by side along the par route until at the long thirteenth Jones topped his drive. But with a safe recovery shot and a long brassie to the green Bobby, in place of losing, won this hole when Hunter was first bunkered and then needed three putts for a 7.

This looked to be the break. But in place of weakening the British champion seemed to be inspired with even greater determination, and when his fifteen-foot putt for a 3 on the three hundred and eighty-yard fourteenth dropped in, the match was square again. On the four hundred and eighty-yard fifteenth or thirty-third hole Hunter became 1 up for the first time during the day. He became 1 up when Jones sliced his iron shot into the crowd at the right, pitched twenty feet past the pin and finally missed a two-footer for a half.

On the short thirty-fourth both were trapped, but Hunter camed his fifteen-footer for

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Annual Golf Match Between the Ross' and Hodgsons Results in a Victory for the Rossites.

THE Fourteenth Annual Golf Match between the Ross' and the Hodgsons took place on the Royal Montreal Golf Club Links at Dixie, on Monday morning, September 19th, 1921.

The day was ideal for golf, the Links were in splendid condition, and the greens perfect.

The individual games were closely contested, and the result of the match in doubt till the last team reported.

The self-constituted Referees, some ten or twelve in number, accompanied the teams and were in evidence from time to time, although their services were not seriously invoked. Their only real serious work was apparent at the subsequent luncheon.

The Hodgsons, winners at the last Annual Meeting, led off with a fierce onslaught which would have dismayed the hearts of less doughty opponents as they piled up hole after hole in an alarming manner, and it was not till the end of the first nine holes that matters assumed anything like an even aspect. The Ross' then counter-attacked, and from there on it was hammer and tongs up to the last hole.

The first team came in all square, and then sought two easy chairs on the club verandah to rest up in case they should be called upon to play off later.

The second team brought in the first win for Clan Ross, while the third team added a further win to their score.

The Hodgsons were not dismayed, however, and their confidence was justified when the fourth team arrived with a win to its credit.

One more win and these arm chair veterans would have to don their armour once more and take to the field again. It was not to be, however, as the last team, pursuing, as usual, the even tenor of their way, reached the eighteenth green in a leisurely and a friendly manner and when they were forced to divulge the result of their game it recorded a win for the Ross' and the final victory of their Clan.

The Matches resulted as follows:—

W. G. Ross, (85)	1	vs.	A. A. Hodgson, (86)	0
P. D. Ross, (86)	½	vs.	W. C. Hodgson, (87)	½
J. G. Ross, (98)	1	vs.	T. E. Hodgson, (109)	0
A. F. C. Ross, (99)	0	vs.	C. J. Hodgson, (84)	1

The Competition being held in the Province of Quebec, light refreshments were served on the verandah before adjourning to the luncheon proper, which was tendered the teams by the Referees and at which Mr. W. C. Finley presided, with Mr. Walter R. Baker, C.V.O., in the Vice-Chair.

In the afternoon the two families played four ball games, while the Referees also brought out their clubs and proceeded to put into practice some of the points they had picked up during the morning game.

The Annual Banquet was held at the Forest & Stream Club, with the Referees once more as hosts, after which they entertained their guests at indoor games, and then after a wee "Deoch an' Dorris" everybody went home happy.

The result of the Fourteenth Annual Match gives six wins to each family, with two matches drawn.

Amongst the referees and guests were—W. R. Baker, C.V.O., founder of the Canadian Senior Golf Association; A. D. Anderson, D. W. Campbell, W. C. Finley, James Gardner, A. J. Hodgson, J. H. Magor, Wm. McMaster, A. H. Scott, B. B. Stevenson, James Walker, F. H. Wilson.

Weston Golf Course and a Correction

Mr. F. Cancellor, Manager of the Weston Golf and Country Club, Ltd., writes:—

"I am sorry to find fault with your otherwise nice notice (on page 327) of our Opening Day on Sept. 10th, but your account makes out that we are only adding 6 holes to our course. The facts are that we are making an entirely new course of 6,600 yards with 18 new greens and only using one of the old fairways, the old 2nd, and even that is lengthened and a new green made. All the new 18 greens are looking splendid with a thick mat of Carter's finest golf green seed and have already been cut twice and rolled and could almost be played on now. The seed on the new fairways is coming up and given a week or two of the present weather should be in good shape to stand the Winter provided we get a good fall of snow.

I know the Canadian Golfer prides itself on being correct and therefore no doubt you will be able to correct your account in the October number as the September account is quite misleading."

Yours very truly,
F. Cancellor.

DECISION ON THE RULES

The following decisions have been handed down by the Rules of Golf Committee:—

From a member of the Toronto Golf Club:

"Please give your opinion as to the penalty the following would incur. The case came up in one of the matches at the Toronto Club this summer and not one of a dozen or more well known golfers, including two professionals, whom we asked, have had any experience in a similar case.

"In playing a brassie shot, the head of the club raised a wall of turf behind the ball, not moving the ball, but almost completely covering it. The player at once replaced the turf which had not been altogether severed from the ground. This naturally improved his lie, but otherwise his ball was covered. The questions arise, Should he have been disqualified? or what other penalty? if any."

Answer:—The player lost the hole as he replaced the sod before playing the ball. The ball must be played where it lies or the hole given up. The ball was not unplayable.

From a member of St. Catharines Golf Club:

"I wish to submit the following for your ruling: "A" and "B" are playing together in a medal score competition. "A" loses a ball in a ravine, which by local rule is considered a "water hazard." Not wishing to lose the ball, "A" assisted by "B" exceeded five minutes in an unsuccessful search. The match was not held up as two or three pairs or players were waved through while making the search for the lost ball. What is the penalty, and is "B" equally responsible with "A"?"

Answer: There is no penalty. The ball being lost in a water hazard, another should have been dropped at the loss of one stroke which was probably done. There was no necessity in looking five minutes, as the ball was in a water hazard, but there was no penalty for doing so. Had the ravine not been a water hazard there would be a penalty for not looking five minutes.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union—Mrs. Leonard Murray re-elected President—An Open and a Closed Competition to be held in 1922.

(Miss Dora G. Faulkner, Hon.-Secretary)

THE Annual Meeting of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union was held in the Palm Room of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, on Tuesday evening, September 20th. The President, Mrs. Murray, was in the chair and there was a large representation of both delegates and members. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer showed that as the result of the activity of the Provincial executives, and by means of propaganda, the membership had increased from 31 clubs in 1920 to 47 in 1921. The finances, too, were in a very satisfactory condition. The C.L.G.U. is offering to each affiliated province an annual trophy to be awarded to the winner of the provincial title. At the suggestion of the R.C.G.A. our organization this year contributed more largely to the Championship prizes, Mrs. Leonard Murray of Toronto—re-elected President of The Canadian Ladies' Golf Union.

Miss Dora G. Faulkner, Toronto, re-elected Hon. Secretary-Treasurer of The Canadian Ladies' Golf Union donating, in addition to the shield and challenge cup, a handsome silver cup to the Runner-up and prizes for the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Consolations.

The announcement that Her Excellency, Lady Byng had graciously consented to become Patroness of the C.L.G.U. was received with great applause.

The report of the President, a résumé of the work of the C.L.G.U. since its organization was enthusiastically received. Appreciative references were made to the presence of the three British golfers and to our own title-holder.

The chief topic of discussion was the old question of open and close cham-

GOLFERS SUMMER PROPERTY

The Owen Sound Golf and Country Club have about 2,000 feet of lake shore frontage adjoining their links which they are sub-dividing for Summer cottage property, and which should prove most attractive to Golfers who wish to summer with their families and at the same time have the privileges of a first-class golf course and club house.

The property offers the following advantages:—

1. Beautiful location on the water overlooking the bay to the East.
2. Splendid Course and Club House "at their door" (all building lots are from 50 to 500 yards from the first tee).
3. Cottages can be supplied with running water from the Club system and Hydro power for lighting and cooking.
4. Only three miles from the centre of the city and on a first-class road.
5. Reasonable building restrictions.
6. Good bathing and boating as well as golf. The Club house is also well-equipped for dances and other social gatherings, having some 1,600 square feet of veranda space.

The Owen Sound Course was designed by Nicol Thompson, constructed by Messrs. Thompson Cumming and Thompson, and is modern in every respect. Visitors claim that it surpasses in natural beauty any course in the Province. A view of Georgian Bay can be had from every tee and green.

Golfers wishing summer property with these advantages kindly write pionships. A resolution was passed that, if possible, two championships be held—an open preceded by a closed championship. The details were left to the executive to deal with.

The presence of Miss Cecil Leitch added greatly to the interest of the meeting. Miss Leitch made a happy little speech touching upon many interesting points in golf, and emphasizing the point that the chief concern of the true golfer is not to lower her handicap but rather to obtain a handicap that indicates her real form. The audience appreciated very much Miss Leitch's kind offer to answer questions, and queries, humorous and otherwise, were forthcoming.

Miss Leitch, Miss Stirling and Miss Chambers expressed their appreciation of the kindness and hospitality shown them.

The report of the nominating committee was unanimously adopted and the officers and executive were declared elected as follows:—

President—Mrs. Leonard Murray, Toronto.

Vice-Presidents—British Columbia, to be appointed. Manitoba—Mrs. Northwood, Winnipeg. New Brunswick, to be appointed. Nova Scotia—Mrs. McGregor Mitchell, Halifax. Quebec—Mrs. Beverley Robinson, Montreal.

Secretary-Treasurer—Miss D. G. Faulkner, Toronto.

Executive—Mrs. Hope Gibson, Hamilton; Miss Nesbitt, Woodstock; Mrs. Hewitt, Brantford; Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Hamilton; Mrs. Sidney Jones, Toronto; Mrs. A. N. Mitchell, Toronto; Mrs. A. F. Rodger, Toronto; Mrs. Deeks, Toronto; Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto; Miss Thursley, Toronto.

The Secretary-Treasurer expressed her indebtedness to Mr. Anderson, Secretary, R.C.G.A., and to Mr. Reville, Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" for their kindness in giving information and publicity to the C.L.G.U.

CENTURY HANDICAP

A member of Mississauga, Toronto, writes September 26th:—

"We had our first Century Handicap at Mississauga on Saturday and it was a wonderful success. Fifty-two players actually participated. Mr. Horsfall with a handicap of 20 turned in a gross score of 100. He, of course, won the first prize.

I think that you understand the idea. Only members whose scores are 100 or over can take part. 100 is par and the handicap is taken from the three best scores of each member, divided by three—thus, 105, 110, 115 would mean a handicap of 7.

This is changed every month. For instance, Horsfall who, with a handicap of 20 turned in a score of 100 par next month will be scratch and so on.

Next year matches will be arranged with other clubs for players in this class. It was great last Saturday to watch the performance. These chaps feel that something has been started which completely changes their club life. They have an active interest now where before they just simply plodded along playing with the same partner day after day in the same old careless way.

I think that if you give this idea a good place in your magazine that it will only be a question of consideration before it is adopted all over Canada.

The Summit Club commences this feature and other clubs in the city are going to adopt it.

It means in brief that 75% of our members are being looked after for the first time. As one of our members said to me, "This is the best thing ever started at Mississauga."

(The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" cannot too strongly endorse this "century" idea of Mississauga's. Every club in Canada next season should adopt it. As our correspondent very well puts it, such a handicap means that fully 75% of a club's membership is vitally interested in such events as described above. This "century" idea next season should have the heather on fire from coast to coast. Editor.)

U. S. WOMENS CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss Cecil Leitch defeated in Second round by Mrs. Letts. of Chicago—Miss Marion Hollins wins out in the Finals against Miss Alexa Stirling, who has held the title three successive times.

FRESH from her wonderful victories at Ottawa and followed by the heartfelt good wishes of thousands of Canadian golfers, Miss Cecil Leitch, accompanied by her sister, Miss Edith, Miss Chambers, Miss Alexa Stirling and Mrs. Gavin, left the Capital on her quest for the U.S. Ladies' Championship at Deal, N.J. which followed a week or so after the Canadian event.

It was generally conceded by Miss Stirling herself (the holder of the U.S. title) and experts generally, that barring some untoward event, nothing stood in the way of the great English-woman adding the U.S. Championship to that of Great Britain, France and Canada. But as results proved, Miss Leitch was never seriously in the running and quickly made her exit, again demonstrating the glorious uncertainty of the greatest of all games.

As at Rivermead, Ottawa, so at Hollywood, Deal, there was a record entry of International lady stars. No fewer than 164 competed. Instead of a haphazard draw it was decided to select the players on a handicap basis and Miss Leitch and Miss Stirling were placed respectively in the upper and lower bracket, it generally been forecasted that they would be the finalists.

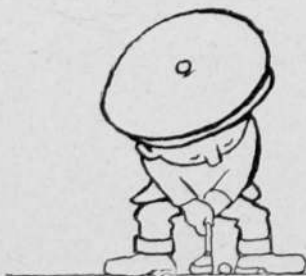

On a wet course, and in a heavy rain the qualifying round was played on October 3rd. Mrs. Latham Hall of Mid-Surrey, England, and Miss Glenna Collett, the 18-year-old star of Providence, R.I., tied for the best medal score with 85 each. (In the subsequent play-off Miss Collett won). In second place was Miss Cecil Leitch with 87. Miss Alexa Stirling had an 89 and Miss Edith Leitch 95. Miss Doris Chambers and the only two Canadian entrants, Misses Sybil and Hazel Kennedy of Montreal and Miss Willo Gage of Toronto, failed to qualify. Two former champions, Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Greenwich and Mrs. C. E. Stout (Miss Genevieve Hecker) also failed to make the charmed circle.

In the first round, Miss Leitch had no difficulty in smothering her opponent, Mrs. R. H. Hammer of New York, 8 and 7. Despite the fact that the British champion had no need to extend herself during the round, her trip to the turn in 41 against a head wind increased respect for her wonderful driving power. One of the greatest upsets of the day was the defeat of Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R.I., the 18-year-old phenomenon, who tied with Mrs. Hall for the qualifying medal, by Miss Edith Leitch, three and two. Miss Leitch played her usual steady game, while the Providence girl was off in her putting and made one bad shot into the ditch.

The battle royal of the day was the match between Mrs. Hall of Mid-Surrey, England, who tied Miss Collett in the qualifying round, and Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York, which went to 20 holes. Mrs. Hall won as the result of Mrs. Gavin smoothing away her footprints in a bunker with her club before she had played out. She made the same mistake in the qualifying round, and it cost her two strokes. Under match play rules she lost a hole as the result of this breach of the rules, and as it turned out, this hole cost her the match with Mrs. Hall.

Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, had no trouble in surviving. She eliminated Miss Harriette Shepherd, of Hartford, Conn., 7 and 5.

The second round saw the undoing of Miss Cecil Leitch, Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr. of Chicago, defeating her, one up.

The feature match of the day was a battle royal, although the scoring was anything but good, both players taking 92, which is 8 or 10 strokes beneath Miss Leitch's usual form. She simply had an off-day as is the case with so many great golfers. Mrs. Letts lost the first three holes and picking up at one of them she was two down at the turn. From that point, on, however, the Chicago woman, who is a former Western champion, gave a remarkable exhibition of grit. Although outdriven by the Britisher, her steady putting enabled Mrs. Letts to reach the home green all even with her opponent.

Miss Marion Hollins, Lady Champion of the United States

Then came the tug-of-war. Each of the balls lay on the green about forty feet from the pin. Miss Leitch over-ran by about fifteen feet with her approach putt, while Mrs. Letts was short by about ten feet. Miss Leitch missed her next putt. Mrs. Letts holed the second putt for a par four and the match was won.

Graceful, even in defeat, the British champion clasped her successful rival's hand warmly and congratulated her. Then several other Chicago players lifted Mrs. Letts to their shoulders and carried her to the club house.

"I had a wonderful opponent." In these words Miss Leitch later explained her defeat.

Whilst her sister was going down to defeat, Miss Edith Leitch, by the display of the best putting and approaching of the Tournament, accounted for the clever Miss Mildred Caverly, 4 and 3. Her recoveries and her chips from traps, dead to the pin, amazed the gallery. At one trap, Miss Edith played practically in the footprints of her noted sister and succeeded where she failed.

Mrs. Latham Hall, the other British entrant, increased respect for her ability by defeating in this round Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago, the Weston champion, 5 and 3.

Miss Alexa Stirling had no difficulty although playing anything but good golf, in defeating the grey-haired veteran, Mrs. Caleb Fox of Philadelphia, 5 and 4.

Other matches resulted:—

Miss Elaine Rosenthal, Chicago, defeated Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago, 2 and 1.

Miss Marion Hollins, New York, defeated Mrs. David Gautx, Memphis, 4 and 2.

Miss Sara Fownes, Pittsburg, defeated Miss Georgianna Bishop, Bridgeport, Conn., 2 up.

Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, Philadelphia defeated Miss Louise H. Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, 7 and 6.

The third round resulted disastrously for the British entrants. Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, the defending champion, defeated Mrs. Latham Hall, Mid-Surrey, England. The score was one up, the champion taking the match at the home green, as the result of a remarkable shot from the rough that carried thirty yards to within two yards of the pin. Miss Edith Leitch, sister of the defeated British champion, Miss Cecil Leitch, lost at the nineteenth hole to Miss Elaine Rosenthal of Chicago. An uphill battle when victory seemed doubtful and better putting in the pinch featured the winner's playing.

Miss Marion Hollins of New York defeated Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr. of Chicago, conquerer of Miss Cecil Leitch, 4 and 3. Mrs. Letts gave her best in eliminating the player who had been regarded as certain to capture the title, and was unsteady. The fourth survivor in the tournament was Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, who eliminated Miss Sarah Fownes of Pittsburg, 6 and 5.

Miss Stirling, in the semi-finals defeated her many times rival, Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, 1 up. Miss Hollins won over Miss Elaine Rosenthal of Chicago in the other semi-finals, the match going to the nineteenth hole.

In the finals on Saturday, for once Miss Stirling's mashie failed her and as a result she found herself at the end of the first 18-holes 4 down to her long-hitting opponent, Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook, L. I. A cold, drizzling rain prevailed after lunch when the concluding 18 holes were started. Physically not the equal of Miss Hollins, the champion, however, made a plucky effort to pull down her opponent's lead and going to the 23rd was only 1 to the bad. But a sliced drive by Miss Stirling to a trap there, while Miss Hollins had a glorious drive clear over the elbow of tall trees, enabled the Long Island girl to push her lead up to 2 and, winning the twenty-fourth and twenty-seventh while halving the others, Miss Hollins was able to turn for home with her noon lead of 4 intact. She lost the 28th, won the 29th and 30th, lost the 31st and winning the 32nd captured the coveted championship of the United States by the substantial margin of 5 and 4. The cards:—

On her way to the final, Miss Stirling put out these players: Miss Harriette Shepherd, 7 and 5; Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, 5 and 4; Mrs. Latham Hall, 1 up, and Mrs. Vanderbeck, 1 up. Miss Hollins disposed of Mrs. M. L. R. Spaulding, 9 and 7; Mrs. David Gaut, 4 and 2; Mrs. Fred C. Letts, Jr., 4 and 2; Miss Elaine Rosenthal, 1 up, 19 holes.

Notes of a Notable Tournament

This was the first time that the U.S. Ladies' Championship has ever been decided in the finals at 36 holes.

Miss Stirling three years in succession had won the title—1916 (no championships 1917 and 1918) 1919 and 1920. Once before, however, has this feat been accomplished, Miss Beatrice Hoyt winning in 1896, 1897 and 1898.

Miss Hollins has the reputation of being the longest woman driver in the States. She first appeared in first-class golf in 1912 when she was runner-up for the Metropolitan Championship. In 1913 she won this Championship and was also that year runner-up in the National Championship to Miss Gladys Ravenscroft (Mrs. Temple Dobell) being beaten on the home green 2 up. This year and last year she competed in the British and French Championships. In the former she took Miss Cecil Leitch to the 18th green before acknowledging defeat, 1 up.

Miss Cecil Leitch won a special driving competition in connection with the tournament. Her three shots were 160, 225 and 231 yards respectively.

Knickerboekers are taboo for women's national golf championship tournaments. Some visiting competitors admitted they had planned to array themselves for the course like their brothers, but were too timid. Their reticence was not diminished by the fact that some of the feminine gallery wore riding costume.

During Championship week the Misses Leitch defeated Mrs. Latham Hall and Mrs. W. A. Gavin in a foursome. The winners went round in 85.

"Mrs. Fred C. Letts, retiring, modest little woman from Chicago, accomplished, in defeating Miss Cecil Leitch in the United States Women's Golf Championship at Deal, what only one other woman has been able to do in the past seven years. Until Mrs. Letts eliminated England's superwoman, Miss Joyce was the only one who could claim the honor of having defeated Miss Leitch since 1914. Miss Joyce's victory was gained last year in the English women's closed championship tournament."

STILL THEY COME

Total to date of "Holes-in-One" now reaches a record total for any one season in Canada of Fifty-seven.

ONLY a few days more, to be exact, at "midnight" on Monday, October 31st, 1921, the "Canadian Golfer" competition for "Holes-in-one" comes to an end for another season and the Editor will then be denied the pleasure (and it has really been a pleasure) of handing out any more free yearly subscriptions to this great family golfing magazine. Here-with some more "One-er stunts":—

Playing over the Oshawa course, September 24th, in a foursome with Messrs. W. P. Knight, Fred Carswell and Fred Stone, Mr. H. Pounder of the Oshawa Club made the 118 yard 7th hole in one shot. Always a delight to chronicle a golfing feat at "Motoropolis".

And here is a new-comer—Macleod, Alberta, which possesses a golf club with many good players. On Friday, the 30th of September, while playing with Messrs. R. F. Barnes, G. R. Johnston and T. B. Martin, Mr. J. W. McDonald holed the fourth hole measuring 130 yards, in one stroke. The tee for this hole is at the top of a bank 40 feet high and the green is surrounded by bunkers so that an accurate mashie shot is necessary to even stay on the putting green. This is the first time that any hole on the Macleod course has been done in one and naturally, Mr. McDonald who has only been playing golf since 1920, is very proud of having accomplished the feat.

Once again our old friend the "Punch Bowl" (that hole really will drive us to drink) on the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, is to the fore. Mr. R. G. Wood, playing with Messrs. G. S. Pettypiece, H. C. Martin and F. B. Lewis the other day found the cup from the tee at this hole. The "P. B.", the hoary-headed old sinner, has cost the "C. G." over a dozen subscriptions the past 2 or 3 years. Won't it kindly turn Prohibition and "dry-up"?

On October 9th, playing over the well-known St. Charles Country Club course at Winnipeg, Mr. H. R. Drummond-Hay bagged a "one-er" at the 12th hole. Messrs. C. B. Jackson and Arthur Jukes saw the turning of the trick and were the first to congratulate Mr. Drummond-Hay.

And here are Lakeview, Toronto, golfers with a couple of contributions, both at the new 17th hole, 102 yards, generally reported to be one of the best one-shot holes in Canada. Mr. John Clarke, playing with Messrs. Halligan, Rogers and Burns, was the first to record a "one" here, whilst three days later Mr. A. Jeffreys, playing with Mr. L. H. Biddell, repeated.

Fredericton, N.B. has in No. 4 a short hole of 145 yards. In last month's issue it was reported how Miss Florence Sharpe of Ottawa found the tin from the tee here and now Major W. R. Caldwell duplicates the feat. The Major was playing in a competition at the time with Mr. G. N. C. Hawkins, the Treasurer of the club. The hole is a blind one and is known as "The Periscope."

Crowbrooke, B.C. has a very interesting club and many enthusiastic golfers, but a "Hole-in-one" had never been recorded on the present course there. Mr. Watson Hall, however, decided to make good the deficiency the other day and recorded the feat at No. 7, 150 yards. Mr. Chester O. Staples, the Captain of the Club and Dr. Green, were witnesses of the crime. The latter had the pleasure of making a 2 and losing the hole.

The Royal Montreal, the premier golf club of Canada, the past few years has boasted many a "one-shotter." The latest member to turn the trick is Mr. C. G. Greenshields of Greenshields, Greenshields, Lanquedoc & Parkins. Mr. Kenneth Archibald was his opponent when his tee shot found the cup at the 15th which is a particularly tricky hole guarded by a water hazard.

A "Hole-in-one" made early in the season, but not previously reported, goes to the credit of Mr. W. S. McLennan, General Sales Manager of Brandram-Henderson, Ltd., Montreal, who made the 7th hole at Senneville in the record figure.

Once again a lady scores, making the fourth this season. September 30th, playing over the Winnipeg Canoe Club Golf Course, Mrs. H. K. Stevens, playing with Mrs. A. E. Armstrong, at the 6th hole registered a one-shot. Very appropriately this hole is called the "Horse Shoe." The Editor is always particularly glad to award an annual subscription for a Hole-in-one to a fair golfer.

Mr. T. N. Sampson of Weston, joined the immortals on October 8th. Playing round with Mr. E. Hawes he found the 15th cup with his tee shot. Congratulations to Mr. Sampson and Weston.

Total one-shot-holes to date this season on Canadian courses—57.

Please note once again, October 31st the competition absolutely closes for 1921.

Another Royal Montreal Golf Club "Hole-in-one". Mr. C. G. Greenshields

MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY

THE course of the Beach Grove Golf and Country Club, 8 miles from Windsor on Lake St. Clair, facing Belle Isle, and Detroit only some 4 miles distant, will be ready for play next season, the greens and fairways all having been seeded down this year. The 18 holes, which were constructed under the charge of Mr. Stanley Thompson and his firm, are full of character, and Beach Grove members in a year or so will have one of the finest courses in Canada. The Club has been capitalized at $350,000. Mr. Harrington Walker of Walkerville is the President and associated with him are a number of the leading men of the Border Cities. The course is 6,250 yards in length. A handsome club house will be erected later on, in the meantime temporary quarters being provided for the members.

A GREAT RECORD

Duncan and Mitchell sail for Home—"George" has the wonderful average of 72.17 per round, and "Abe" 72.19.

HAVING crowded 105 rounds of golf into 98 days, having travelled thousands of miles and given exhibitions against the leading American professional and amateur players in at least sixteen States of the Union and in Canada, George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, the great British golfing team, sailed on the Olympic from New York on Saturday, Oct. 15th, homeward bound, leaving behind them a host of admirers and a record of achievement that future visitors from the other side will find hard to equal.

During their sojourn in America the British team engaged seventy-two pairs of opponents and their record shows fifty-one victories, seventeen defeats and four drawn battles. This is not as imposing an array as that piled up by Harry Vardon and Ted Ray last year, although the latter pair had a preponderance of 18-hole matches, while most of Duncan and Mitchell's engagements were thirty-six, but the superlative quality of golf played by the departing pair undoubtedly sets a new record. In fifty-one of their matches Duncan and Mitchell had individual scores of 70 or better. Their best ball in all of the matches averaged 65.6, Duncan having an individual average of 72.17 and Mitchell 72.19.

On eight courses the Britons broke existing records—at Edgewater, Yahun-dasis, Lake Placid; Lambton, Toronto; Brantford, Ont.; Winnipeg, Man.; White Bear Club, Minn.; Woodmere Country Club and Westchester Hills. On more than a dozen the Scottish-English combination equalled the course record. Duncan had three 66's during the trip and Mitchell two 65's.

KIRKWOOD IN CALGARY

Beautiful golfing weather favoured the visit to the Calgary Golf & Country Club, Saturday, 24th Sept., of the famous Australian golfers, Jos. Kirkwood and Victor East. Fresh from their triumphant visit to Great Britain and the United States these two players gave a wonderful exhibition of their prowess, in two four-ball matches.

In the morning they were opposed by T. Morrison, Alberta Amateur Champion, and W. Devereaux, professional of the Country Club. In the afternoon Chas. Hague, finalist in the Dominion championship at Winnipeg last month, was partnered with J. Monroe Hunter.

In the morning game Kirkwood, without seeming to extend himself, scored a 70, which some called a 69. The game was not in the least one-sided, and at the end of the 9th hole was all square. Morrison and Devereaux were 2 up at the end of the 3rd and after halving the 4th and 5th in par figures, Kirkwood squared the match by holing long putts for birdies on both the 6th and 7th holes. The following holes were halved until Kirkwood won the 13th in another birdie and was 1 up. East took the 16th, which made them dormie and Kirkwood won the match with a beautiful three on the 17th after being in trouble on his tee shot.

In the afternoon game the golf was not of such a high order on the part of the visitors. After assuming a point lead by winning the first three holes the match was more or less of a dingdong affair, until the 15th, where Hunter, by a beautiful putt, registered a birdie 2 and the champions lead had been reduced to 1. On the 16th hole Kirkwood displayed his class by placing his second shot dead after both Hunter and Hague were off the green, and followed it up with another fine putt for another birdie and making the match once more dormie as in the morning. The 17th was halved by East and Hague in par 3 so the second match had been won.

At the end of this match Kirkwood gave an exhibition of trick shots and it was this part of the programme which appealed to the large gallery, for although some of them had seen great professionals in action before, they had never seen such feats performed.

He had the admiration of the gallery all the time and will certainly be long remembered by those who saw him. He said he would be coming back this way again next year and if he does come he will receive a warm welcome, for the followers of the royal and ancient game here are always willing to recognize and pay homage to such genius as possessed by Kirkwood.

THE LEAPING TUNA

Or the Big Fish that Surprised and Delighted the Members of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association on the C. P. R. Steamboat trip from St. Andrews to Campobello.

(By Stuart McCawley, Glace Bay, N.S.)

AND then a mighty splash close to the bow of the steamer! "Oh! Oh!" and "Look!" Golf stories were forgotten; the beauties of the brown shore line went out of focus as every eye watched the churning whirlpools lashed into the green sheen and silver by the mighty tail of the sea giant.

The ladies thought it was a whale; old ocean travellers were sure that some par dolphin had been commanded by the C.P.R. to disport for the entertainment of the Seniors. But the whale spouts when it breaks water (or used to before Prohibition) and the dolphin is round and roley-poley-like and makes a motion something resembling the cart-wheel we used to turn when we got out of school for an unexpected half-holiday.

This chap broke like a salmon—clean up and out and then again and again about every hundred yards, until he was satisfied the steamer with its noisy screw was an enemy passed. Men who can judge a chip-shot to the foot, or a brassie to the inch, guessed that Mr. Tuna measured anywhere from thirty feet to ten feet. It was really about twelve feet long and weighed in the vicinity of five hundred pounds.

The Leaping Tuna, or Horse Mackerel, is a well-known visitor to the Atlantic waters. It follows the herring school and is the King of all game fish. Mr. Vanderbilt of New York has a party fishing Tuna on the Nova Scotia coast this season and is trying to land one by rod and reel. He hooked several, but his gear did not hold.

Mr. J. K. L. Ross of Montreal landed several at St. Ann's Bay, in lovely Cape Breton, several years ago. One weighed over six hundred pounds. He played one monster for fourteen hours and had to cut his line. Sometimes they will tow a large motor boat for a hundred miles and then break away. They fight the good fight better than any animal—sea, land or air—that we know of, and very few have ever been played to a win for the fisherman.

Sometimes the shore fishers go after them for bait and tell me they have seen them leap ten feet out of the water. They launch a well-lashed barrel to which they attach their stout line and a big steel hook baited with a herring. From the barrel plenty of rope is played from the schooner. When the Tuna strikes and is hooked, he has a big fight with the barrel which keeps his position marked. The old-timer follows in a small boat and harpoons the fish.

He is splendid eating, tasting something of the flavor of halibut, the meat being darker and a trifle stronger. In Italy, Tuna fishing for table food is a thriving industry. Our Atlantic Tuna is much larger than the fish that inhabits the Pacific that is the pride of the U.S. Tuna Club. He can be found from St. Andrews-By-the-Sea all along the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Coast to St. Ann's Bay and the Mira in Cape Breton and the interest in capturing him with rod and line is increasing. It is the sport for a fishing champion matched with the fish champion. The fishing champion must be on his game and keen and below par to enter the game. If he is he will have a wonderful experience.

BRANDON GOLFERS IN WINNIPEG

Several close matches resulted in victory of Winnipeg Clubs

Last month the Winnipeg Canoe Club entertained the Brandon golfers in a friendly inter-club match. The weather turned out ideal for a good match and the course was in fine condition. The Canoe club members managed to reverse the defeat which they suffered in Brandon, winning their match by 7 to 5.

At the conclusion of the matches at the Canoe Club the Brandon visitors were the guests of the club at dinner, and fraternized with members of the Canoe Club and Winnipeg Golf Club teams, stories of divers nature and hues being recounted. Vice-President Thatcher, of the Brandon Country Club, expressed the appreciation of the Wheat City golfers for these opportunities of exchanging friendly visits, and invited all Winnipeg clubs to make Brandon trips next season. The Country Club has at present a good nine-hole course, but hope to be playing over the 18-hole route next year. Dr. McDiarmid, president of the Manitoba Hockey Association, dropped in during the evening.

On Sunday the Elmhurst club won a very close match from the Brandon players 6 to 5. The results:—

The End of the Season

All the major golfing events have now been run off, both in Great Britain and the United States and as a result of the season's activities, the final summing up is undoubtedly slightly in favour of the U.S. The British amateurs were defeated in the team match by the U.S. representatives at Hoylake, but successfully defended their amateur title. The U.S. professionals in the team match, went down to defeat at the hands of the British pros., but "Joek" Hutchison won the British Open and for the first time the cup emblematic of the golfing championship of the World crossed the Atlantic. The U.S. amateurs successfully defended at St. Louis the onslaught made on their title by Messrs. Hunter, the British Champion, and T. D. Armour, whilst the U.S. ladies rather decisively stemmed the formidable invasion of their British golfing sisters at Deal, N.J. last week, thereby duplicating the Britishers' victory in June at Turnberry. So in 1921 the Eagle can afford legitimately to do a bit of golf screaming. There is, of course, the solace that Hutchison is a Scot and learned the rudiments of golf at old grey St. Andrews, but on the other hand, he is now an American citizen and unquestionably perfected his game in the States. By large and small, the Americans have the edge on the home of golf in 1921 thereby offsetting the victory of Ted Ray in 1920 at the U.S. Open at Toledo. This year in tennis, polo and golf, the honours are with the land of the Stars and Stripes.

High Praise for the Late Douglas Edgar

Mr. Frank Adair, Secretary of the Druid Hills Golf Club, Atlanta, in a letter to the Editor in reference to the tragic death of Douglas Edgar, ex-Canadian Open Champion, writes:—

“Edgar was hit by a speeding automobile at twelve o'clock at night, as he was crossing the street.

“The blow severed an artery in his left leg and he bled to death before anyone could reach him. We are very sorry to state that the guilty parties have never been apprehended.

“We regret his loss down here more than we can tell you. We consider him the greatest teacher of golf in the world and I think the profession as a whole will miss him very much.”

AND STILL THEY COME

AND here comes another Golf Club in Ontario—there seems to be no limit to their number. This time it is North Bay which has decided to get on the golfing map. A number of enthusiasts there, headed by His Honour, Judge Leask, having formed a club and acquired a suitable property which is being laid out as a 9-hole course of 2,800 yards, by Mr. Stanley Thompson of Toronto. The location is an ideal one, only some 3 miles from the centre of the town, and next season residents of North Bay will have a capital links at their disposal. Golf clubs throughout Canada are certainly springing up on the right hand and on the left.

ANOTHER CLUB FOR TORONTO

Formation of a new golf club a few miles east of Toronto, with the possibility of one of the finest of local 18-hole courses, is at present being considered by Toronto enthusiasts. Prominent players of clubs in Toronto and district foresee the urgent necessity of extension, owing to the increasing popularity of the game during this season. At a preliminary meeting in East Toronto it was pointed out that the best opportunity was to the east. Proposed property of 110 acres can be purchased reasonably, it was stated, and the site is beautifully situated on Lake Ontario, with Highland Creek the eastern boundary. Most of the property is pasture and meadow land, and very little clearing will be necessary. The course would be more than 6,000 yards in length, and, with the ground in fair condition now, would be made available for playing by May 24, 1922. Prospective shareholders and members are to visit the site within a few days before reaching a definite decision, and a second meeting will be held in Harris' Hotel, Kingston Road and Main Street.

GLORIOUS UNCERTAINTY . .

We heard the news with deep regret,
Miss Leitch “one down” to Mrs. Letts,
Which certainly must serve to teach
That golf's uncertain, e'en Miss Leitch
Must bow at times to Fate's decree,
But Letts, next time, be there to C.

ANOTHER CLUB FOR WINNIPEG

A despatch from Winnipeg, October 8th, says:—

Plans for the completion of an up-to-date course by the newly organized Windsor Park Golf Club are going ahead and it is expected that work on the new course will start next week. A high class golf course, commodious club house, tennis courts, bowling green, swimming pool is planned. The 160 odd acres required is situated in beautiful St. Vital, on St. Annes Road.

There will be two golf courses, a full 18-hole course, about 6,000 yards long, and a "Lilliput" 9-hole course for ladies and beginners, about 1,300 yards long. Lady players will receive the privilege of being able to play at all times, without restrictions, especially holidays and weekends. The sporting proclivities of the 18-hole course, the undulating greens, and fairways, water hazards of the river, driving over the trees, trickily placed bunkers and sand holes, will test the abilities of the best, while wide, well kept fairways give enjoyable playing to the less ambitious.

A bowling green of more than ordinary size, constructed on modern lines, to meet the needs of players who wish the less strenuous game, will be an added attraction. Many tennis courts will be made for the devotees of this popular open air pastime, which has a considerable following in this district. A further source of enjoyment to the members will be the large swimming pool. "Ye pool of Salome", situated between the locker rooms, one side ladies, the other gentlemen. Players will have the pleasure of a cooling plunge previous to donning their ordinary attire. The environment of the clubhouse will be of the character of an all the year round club; it is fully expected there will be a considerable residential population living in the district and using the club for skating, snowshoeing and other winter sports.

The International Cup

Interesting Correspondence between the Presidents of the two Seniors' Golf Associations on this Continent.

The following interesting correspondence has passed between the Presidents of the U.S. Seniors' and the Canadian Seniors' Golf Associations:—

United States Seniors' Golf Association,
456 Fourth Avenue,
New York, Sept, 19th, 1921

My dear Mr. Baker:

Now that the fourth annual international match for the Duke of Devonshire Cup is a matter of history, I want, as President of the U. S. Seniors' Golf Association, to officially convey to you and through you to the members of your team an expression of the pleasure we had in welcoming you and your associates to Apawamis.

There was only one note of regret expressed by the members of our team and the members of our Association, and that was, that the fates decreed that we should win the Cup this year by so large a margin. It would have been far more satisfactory to us if we could have won by the last putt on the last hole. The feeling is quite generally expressed that the competition is unfair to you in view of the fact that we have six hundred members to select from, while you have only about one-third that many.

I am quite sure that our Association would be glad to amend the terms of the competition, were it possible to do so, so that you would have more of an advantage in this respect. The competition, however, is not for a prize of intrinsic value but for the crossing of clubs in friendly companionship, and I know I voice the hearty feeling of every member of our team—that we never met a finer, more sportsmanlike bunch of good fellows than those you brought down to compete with us in the contest just completed.

Personally I very much hope, and I know the others do, that you will win the Cup next year, when we will have the pleasure of going to Canada to compete for it. At any rate we all hope for a close competition, and, if we are fortunate enough to win again, we hope that it will be by the closest possible margin.

With cordial regards to your good self and each member of the team, Believe me,
Very truly yours,

(Sgd.)

U.S. SENIORS' GOLF ASSOCIATION.
Frank Presbrey,
President.

W. R. Baker, Esq.,
President, Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 26th, 1921

Dear Mr. Presbrey;

Your very kind letter of the 19th inst. I found here on my return to-day.

Let me say that every word of your appreciation of our International Matches is most cordially reciprocated. Although we were so badly beaten (but I must say that the score looks worse on paper than it really was) we enjoyed every minute of our stay, and only regret that we could not remain longer to have some more games at Apawamis, which certainly was in the most beautiful condition I have ever seen a golf course, and, as you know, I have played in a good many parts of the world.

Don't for a moment think that we are downhearted on the contrary, we are bracing up for our contest next year, which, as far as we know at present, will take place at Scarboro, Toronto, a very fine course, although possibly a bit on the severe side for the "old boys," but I am sure they will all tackle it with courage, and I hope you will have no reason to regret another visit to Canada.

With kind regards, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

(Sgd.) W. R. Baker,

President, C.S.G.A.

Frank Presbery, Esq.,

CLOSED LADIES CHAMPIONSHIP

Executive of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union wisely decides to hold such an event.

Miss Dora G. Faulkner, Hon. Secretary of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, writes:—

A meeting of the new Executive of the C. L. G. U. was held on Monday evening, October 10th. In regard to the ladies championship the following resolution was passed: "That the C. L. G. U. hold next September a Closed Canadian Championship, open to all Canadians; that the first 16 play for the championship proper and the other competitors in consolations; that this Championship be followed by another Championship held at another club, in the same town if possible, an Open Championship with notice to club secretaries advising that entries must be not made of members whose handicap is over 15."

Two years ago the R. C. G. A. thought it advisable in the best interests of sport, to open the Canadian Championship. The Tournament Committee appointed by the C. L. G. U. heartily endorsed this action and this policy has been approved of at successive annual meetings. But while concurring in this view that an open tournament must be held, the better Canadian players and their lesser sisters, think that a closed tournament will improve the status of the national players. They are quite willing to concede the first honours and laurels to the British and American players at this stage in Canadian golf history. Every onlooker at the Ottawa games will agree that when a Canadian golfer met one of the outside players her game was materially affected—the Canadian golf suffered paralysis and was a far less worthy exhibition than the golf shown at London, Ont, in the June Tournament. Theoretically the Open Championship has a most stimulating effect on the women's golf, but practically playing through a closed Tournament would do much more for their game. Only the picked players would aspire to the Open and the experience would be invaluable to them. The limiting of the handicap would do away with the medal qualifying round. 32 in the Open would be about as many as Canada could account for allowing 5 to 10 places for British and American players.

The C. L. G. U. feel that as an Open is the avowed policy of the R. C. G. A. that they could not look to the latter body for support, financial or otherwise, and therefore, they propose to run the closed Championship themselves. The Open is the prerogative of the men. Of late the R. C. G. A. has very kindly asked for and received our co-operation. We have contributed money for the prizes, etc.

A suggestion has been made that if the expenses are largely affected by the expenditure for prizes, the English plan be adopted of limiting the prizes to medals, etc. However, at this stage in Canadian golf such a plan might not be heartily endorsed. People who come all the way from Winnipeg, for example, like to play for a prize of some sort.

It is proposed to notify the secretaries of the clubs of the suggested plans for a closed Championship. May I rely upon you to give our scheme some publicity through your periodical so widely read?

The Editor warmly endorses this idea of a Closed Championship. It is a step in the right direction.

BIG SUCCESS

The field day at Mississauga Golf Club on Saturday, Oct. 15th, was an unqualified success. The weather was ideal for golf and there were a large number of entries in all the competitions. The ladies held a nine-hole handicap match in the morning, the best gross score for which was made by Miss Peggy Langmuir, and the best net score by Mrs. Witchall, and a putting and approaching contest in the afternoon. The winners in the latter event were: first, Miss Winnie Ross; second, Mrs. Peppall.

The men's handicap tournament in the afternoon drew a very large entry list. There were so many players that they had to be sent off in foursomes. The best gross score was made by Frank Thompson, who went the eighteen holes in 76, and W. J. Thompson was second. The best net scores were turned in by G. Rankin, Ken Welton and Tuck Skaith.

So many motored out for the dance in the evening that the large club house was uncomfortably crowded. The spacious lounge rooms had been beautifully decorated, and the northern verandah had been closed in with tarpaulin, so as to afford maximum room. About nine o'clock the club president, J. Monte Lowndes, called the dancers to order, and after a felicitous address of welcome, presented the prizes and trophies won during the day. These were as follows:—

First flight championship — L. Hammill; runner-up, Harry Coulson.

Second Flight Championship—J. L. Lewis; runner-up, J. McNeill.

Third flight championship — B. Lowndes; runner-up, George Valentine.

Highlands Trophy—W. J. Thompson; second, L. Hammill.

Forrester Trophy—W. E. Hume.

Robins Trophy—H. Gunn and Frank Morrison.

Herbert Trophy—J. W. Ritch.

Consolation prizes of a humorous character were afterwards presented by A. G. Donaldson to A. Sprott, Bruce Langmuir, Dug. Higgins, Darby Foster, C. H. Kneuth, "Bud" Fisher, Wm. Irving, W. J. Bowman, Wm. Argue, Mrs. Arthur Sprott, Miss Wardlaw, Mrs. Victor Tyrrell, Mrs. J. M. Lowndes and Miss Iapscombe. The festivities came to an end with a "Paul Jones" dance and a shower of confetti, the dance room being quickly converted into a maze of entanglement with paper ribbons and various Hallowe'en novelties.

CHAMPIONSHIP OF SIMCOE COUNTY

The Open Championship of the County of Simcoe between the four clubs, Barrie, Collingwood, Orillia and Midland represented by the four best players from each club took place on the interesting Midland course, September 20th and 21st. It was a thoroughly enjoyable event. In the first round, Lewis of Collingwood defeated Downey of Orillia; Col. Syer of Midland, Stewart of Collingwood; Tulley of Midland, Westcott of Barrie; Stewart of Barrie, George of Orillia; McLean of Orillia, Pratt of Midland; Johnstone of Collingwood, Grassette of Barrie; Connolly of Collingwood, Cope land of Midland; Jory of Barrie, Dr. Wainwright of Orillia.

In the second round Col. Syers defeated Lewis, Stewart defeated Tulley, Johnston defeated McLean, Connolly defeated Jory.

In the semi-finals Stewart defeated Col. Syers whilst Johnston defaulted to Connolly.

In the finals D. M. Stewart of Barrie won from Dr. Connolly of Collingwood. This is the second time Mr. Stewart has won the Championship of Simcoe County. He and the runner-up both played excellent golf throughout the event.

An added feature was a match between A. Sims, pro. of Midland, and Harold Wells, pro. of Orillia for a special prize given by Mr. F. W. Grant of Midland. Sims, playing fine golf, was 8 up and 6 to play. All the players were particularly pleased with the greens and fairgreens of the Midland course.

CHAMPION OF VANCOUVER

Mr. H. T. Gardner won the Club championship of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club when he defeated Mr. L. A. Lewis in handy fashion in the final match, played at Burquitlam, October 8th. The match was thirty-six holes. In the first eighteen Gardner had things pretty much his own way, being nine up at lunch-time. In the afternoon he continued to draw away, and the match ended in Gardner's favour on the 25th green, 12 up and 11 to go. The club championship thus passes into the hands of one of the finest exponents of golf on the Pacific coast. Following is a list of the winners since 1911: 1911, J. A. Yellowlees; 1912, A. C. Stewart; 1913, J. A. Yellowlees; 1914, J. A. Yellowlees; 1915, Robert Gelletly; 1916, Robert Gelletly; 1917, V. L. McAdam; 1918, Robert Gelletly; 1919, A. C. Stewart; 1920, Robert Bone; 1921, H. T. Gardner.

Twenty-five members of the Hamilton Golf Club visited the Toronto Golf Club and an interesting match resulted in a win for the Toronto Club by the close margin of one point.

In a foursome match at the Alcrest Golf Club, Winnipeg, with a capital card of 77, Messrs. A. J. Wilson and Wm. Dunn won first prize.

Mrs. G. Koester, the brilliant Winni-peg Elmhurst lady golfer, added to her laurels lately by winning the Eclectic competition by turning in a well-played 94—one of the best of the season.

A. C. Woodward, Vice-President of the Elmwood Golf and Country Club, Chatham, Ontario, and Dr. C. B. Oliver have each donated a silver cup for competition among the local players.

John A. Scott, pro. of the Weyburn Golf Club, Sask.:—

“Our course this season has been in fine shape. We have both oil and sand greens which stand up very well in this locality. Visitors from other parts of the West say we have the makings of really a first-class course.”

A Toronto golfer, a visitor this season to the Windermere Golf and Country Club, Muskoka, writes:—

“Windermere, for a new course, is particularly good. The turf on many of the fairways is far above the average and the view from the ninth and eleventh tees particularly is remarkably fine.”

In the Annual Match The Royal Montreal vs. Beaconsfield, the premier club won by nineteen games to eight, three being divided. In the feature games, G. H. Turpin and Norman M.

Scott of The Royal Montreal defeated W. McLuckie, ex-amateur champion, and Dr. Novinger.

Mr. “Willie” Hunter, the British Amateur Champion, with an 83, Oct. 13th at Shawnee-on-Delaware led the field in the 18-hole qualifying round of the Autumn Tournament. The weather conditions were very adverse to good scoring.

That very sound golfer, Major L. Hammill, won this month the championship of Missisauga. None of the Thompson brothers competed, they having had the event many times to their credit.

The Canada Steamship Lines are laying out a new golf course at St. Andrews in Quebec, having secured an option on three farms. James Black, the well-known Beaconsfield pro. has gone over the property and it is hoped to have 9 holes in play next summer.

The golf section of that enterprising organization, the Winnipeg Canoe Club, will put into commission an eighteen-hole course next season. According to report the new course will be unique in that two of the tees will be out in the river—on stilts.

Jackson Point next year is going to have a first-class 9-hole course, work having been started this Autumn in seeding and preparing the links. Wm. Gunn left last week to superintend construction work for Stanley Thompson & Co. of Toronto, which firm has the contract.

Writing from Moncton, N.B., O. Brault, the professional of the Riverdale Golf Club, speaks enthusiastically of golfing prospects there. He intends to start a winter school in Moncton and already has a fine membership list.

John A. Scott, for the past two years professional at Weyburn, Sask., has been appointed for the coming season pro. at Yorkton, Sask. which this year inaugurated a most successful club. Scott is a thoroughly well-equipped professional and will unquestionably do much for the game in Yorkton.

In the inter-club golf fixture of the Vancouver season, played on Saturday, October 8th, Shaughnessy Heights triumphed over Jericho by a score of 18½ points to 11½, thereby completing the 1921 schedule with a clear lead over the other clubs in the competition. Fine weather conditions prevailed and greens and fairways were in excellent condition. Shaughnessy Heights has a very strong number of players in its ranks this season and deservedly won the premier club position.

A fashionable wedding took place in Toronto on Saturday, October 15th, when the nuptials took place of Miss Gladys, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gurney, to Mr. A. A. Allan, a popular member of the Lambton Golf Club. The "Canadian Golfer" joins in all good wishes, with friends throughout Ontario to Mr. and Mrs. Allan.

The Winnipeg Southwood Ladies' Club Championship final was played off recently, Mrs. Smart gaining a victory over Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, 2 up and 1 to play. The match was well-contested. Mrs. Smart got a 2 lead over Mrs. Ritchie in the first nine holes which she held until the end of the game. In the ladies' monthly handicap Mrs. Gordon Ritchie won with a capital 91.

Country Club in his victorious match with Abe Mitchell against Charles H. Paul of the West Chester Club and Jack Dowling, Scarsdale professional. Par is 71. Two 18-hole matches were played, the British players winning in the morning, 6 up and in the afternoon 2 up, playing out the bye holes.

Despatch from Belleville, Ont.:—

“The Bay of Quinte Country Club will be proceeded with at once. This comes as a result of the Belleville Golf Club, Limited, voting in favor of amalgamation with the proposed Country Club. The latter has elected permanent directors as follows: S. Robertson, S. R. Burrows, Jamieson Bone, R. D. Ponton, George K. Graham, J. S. McKeown, G. H. Gillespie, W. J. Hume and Henry Taylor. The new golf course is three miles west of the city. The land is 70 acres in extent along the shore of the Bay of Quinte and will make an ideal 9-hole course.”

At Lytham, on October 7th, Miss Joyce Wetherel again won the English closed championship, defeating Mrs. Mudford decisively by 12 up and 11 to play. Miss Wetherel won this same championship last year by defeating Miss Cecil Leitch 2 and 1. Many critics consider Miss Wetherel even a greater player than Miss Leitch.

Mr. L. C. Lawford, a member of the Seniors, in the October handicap at Outremont, Montreal, won first prize with a nett score of 78—rather oddly, the exact figure he had on the second day at St. Andrews in the Seniors' Tournament there.

Laurie Ayton, brother of George Ayton of Kanawaki, recently lowered the record of the Evanston course, Chicago by 3 strokes going round in 65, despite the fact that he missed a foot putt on the 11th green. His card read: Out—4,4,3, 3,3,4, 3,3,4,—32. In—3,5,3, 4,3,4, 4,3,4=33. Total 65.

Jim Barnes, national open golf champion, and Walter Hagen, professional title holder, October 5th defeated Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, British professionals, for the second time in two days. The United States players won 3 up and 1 to play, over the course of the Belle Claire Golf and Country Club at Bayside, N.Y.

In a keenly contested match 25 a side the match at Summit, Scarboro, won out from the home team by the narrow margin of 13 to 12. Messrs. George S. Lyon and Stanley Thompson headed the Summit team and accounted for Messrs. C. M. Jones and H. T. Fairley, the two leading Scarboro players.

Playing in brilliant form, despite the high wind, Percy Barrett, the Weston Golf Club pro., a week or so ago put the mark for the new temporary course from the recently-opened club house at 69. Barrett was playing Mr. Walter Caldecott, a member of the Weston Club team, in a friendly game. He made no less than three “twos.” The Weston pro. has been playing in fine form for the past few weeks.

The Rotarians of Toronto and Hamilton played their return match at Lakeview, Toronto, this month, 20 players a side. Toronto Rotarians again won by a score of 7 matches to 3. At Hamilton the score was 6 to 3. The visitors were loud in their praises of the new greens at Lakeview, which they consider to-day the most scientifically constructed in Canada.

Mr. J. J. Morrison, Director of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, who with his family has been touring Europe for several months, has returned to Hamilton, where he again intends to take up his residence. Mr. Morrison has been actively associated with the Hamilton Club ever since its organization and has held every office in the gift of the club.

The Calcutta Cup which is the coveted trophy for foursomes at St. Andrews has just been won by Messrs. Shewan and Playfair who defeated Mr. Taylor and Mr. Weaver who conceded them three strokes over the new course. Earlier in the same week Everard Martin Smith, by brilliant golf defeat-

Roy Donald, Royal Norwich Golf Club, and Tom King, Jr., of Royal West Norfolk Golf Club, Brancaster, secured the two places in the Eastern Section Qualifying Competition, News of the World Tournament. Both played with a "WHY NOT."

J. W. Moffat, Professional, Ulverston Golf Club, broke the record for the Course on July 19, with a score of 67. He played with a "WHY NOT."

Five days previously A. E. Hallam, Professional, Charlton-cum-Hardy Golf Club, broke the record for the course also with a score of 67. He played with a "WHY NOT."

In the golf championship for girls at Stoke Poges, one of the most beautiful courses in England, Mrs. Winnifred Sarson, a slashing young player who has evidently modelled her style on that of Miss Cecil Leitch, won out, defeating Miss Audrey Croft. There was a large field of entries and some splendid golf was played throughout the Tournament.

The last of the Thursday night dances for the season has been held at Senneville, Montreal. During the evening the W. S. Fallis trophy was presented to Miss Kinsella, winner of the Ladies' Championship of the Club.

Miss Cecil Leitch, the new lady champion of Canada, has rather a crouching way of negotiating her long tee-shots (many of them well onto 250 yards) but, as one enthusiastic Toronto woman in the gallery remarked, "She reminds me of a beautiful panther—full of grace and power."

Outremont, one of the oldest and best-known Montreal clubs, as a result of the encroachment of the builders, is going out of existence the end of this season. Many members are joining other clubs, but others again are contemplating acquiring a course in the north end of the city and perpetuating the name.

In the play off for the Brandon Golf Club championship, Oct. 3rd, Mr. R. E. Unicom won from Mr. W. J. Miller, 5 up in a 36-hole match. This is the second successive year that Unicom has annexed the title. Miller, however, captured the Cole cup from Hatcher in a close game, having to play an extra hole.

Hugh Fletcher and Ernest Penfold, professionals to the Elmhurst and Winnipeg clubs respectively, engaged Eric Bannister, of the Country Club, and George Daniel, the Assiniboine pro., in two 18-hole matches over the Country Club course Oct. 6th. The morning round was won by the "Hillmen," Penfold and Fletcher, 2 and 1, their best ball score being 68, while the afternoon match went to the "West-enders," Bannister and Daniel, also by a 2 and 1 margin, with a best ball of 67.

In the Open Ladies' Championship events at Elmwood Golf Links, Swift Current, Sask., which were concluded Saturday afternoon, Oct. 1st, Mrs. W. J. Boyton Coffee, turned in the best card, and has been awarded the Fyfe and Park gold medal. A silver medal goes to Mrs. W. J. Bertin, winner of the second flight, and a bronze medal to Mrs. T. P. Dohan, winner of the third flight.

The final for the Norwood cup, to which only those who had qualified by winning the regular competitions held at intervals throughout the season, were eligible, was decided during the week-end of Oct. 2nd at the Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, and was won by Harrison Dysart, with a nett total of 160 for the 36 holes. L. Affleck, holder of the course record, was runner-up, with a nett score of 168 off the 2 mark; F. F. Chisholm being third with 172.

W. S. Dunlop defeated T. R. Booker 2 up on the seventeenth hole in the finals of the Winnipeg druggists' competition for the Agnew cup on the Elmhurst course. Both contenders, handicapped at 5 and 7 for the winner and vanquished, played a close game, ending with a score of 96 and 98. This is the first contest for the Agnew cup, donated by Cecil Agnew, of the Toronto Pharmacal Co. Mr. Dunlop will retain a miniature replica and defend the trophy next year. Thirty-five players were entered in the preliminary match.

The caddies of the Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto, held their annual match on Saturday, Oct. 9th, for which the prizes were contributed by the members, Mr. R. H. Greene adding a handsome club bag for the best score. The winner was C. Oliver with a score of 106. G. Hutchinson was second with 111, and E. Stansfield third with 116. Other scores were as follows: 18 holes, B. French, 127; G. Moore, 128; A. Wood, 140; H. Weaver, 141; G. Avery, 143; J. Self, 154; H. Butcher, 163; C. Taylor, 164; and L. Butcher, 186. For 9 holes: J. Clarke, 52; Ted Coomber, 64; A. Peck, 65; J. Peabody, 66; M. Freeman, 67; J. Fryer, 68; A. Fryer, 73; J. Stapleton, 74; E. Avery, 76; H. Peabody, 76; A. Atkins, 76; S. Oliver 83; N. French, 85; G. Stapleton, 86; H. Avery, 87; A. Sampson, 87; P. Smith, 114; and J. Ashdown 117.

At a special meeting of shareholders of the Brantford Golf and Country Club held last week, by-laws were passed making the voting for directors by ballot through the mail and confirming the action of the Directors in agreeing with the Township and other property holders to bear part of the cost of a new boulevard on Ava Avenue which runs along the club property. It is the intention to widen the Avenue and pave it. The Golf Club share will be $300 per annum for 15 years. This improvement will be a great boon to members and all motorists using Ava Avenue.

This month Mr. R. Mackie, Captain of the Lakeview Golf Club and Mr. Fred Armitage, Manager of the club, entertained Messrs. Frank Thompson and W. J. Thompson over the week-end at the Lakeview Club. It was the first occasion the visitors had played on the new course, and they were simply delighted with it. The greens are in very good condition, and the general layout of the course demands skilled shots from tee to green. Direction and accuracy are at a premium, and wildness justly penalized. W. J. Thompson was especially in good form, negotiating the course in 73, five strokes better than the old record, notwithstanding an eight on the fifth hole due to bad putting.

In a four ball best exhibition match at Philadelphia, Oct. 12th, Miss Leitch and her sister, Miss Edith Leitch, defeated D. Clarke Corkran, former national semi-finalist, and Geo. W. Elkins, Jr. 3 up and 2 to play. The men allowed their visiting opponents four bisques, three being used to win a hole and one to halve. Clarke Corkran is the young American who made such a favourable showing at the Canadian Amateur at Beaconsfield last year. He is generally considered the longest amateur driver in the United States.

In a record club match of over 40 players a side, Weston, Toronto, defeated Mississauga last week by 5 points, being six up on the 19 games at home and losing by one point on the Mississauga course. Each club was represented by 26 players at Mississauga and the home players, led by W. J., Frank and Stanley Thompson, all of whom won their games, defeated the visitors, but the Weston team had much the better of the argument on their own course. In all 90 players competed—45 a side.

At the California Fourteenth Annual Amateur Championship at Del Monte, with a record number of entrants of 305, Dr. Paul Hunter, who put California golf on the map both at Hoylake and St. Andrews, won both the medal and the championship, the latter for the second successive year. He captured the medal by a single stroke from John F. Neville, three times title-holder. Hunter's rounds were 78 and 75; Neville's 79 and 75. The first round was played at Pebble Beach and the second at Del Monte.

After leading the field in the competition for the Berthelilyn Golf Cup at Philadelphia last week with a 43 and 39 for an 82, Miss Cecil Leitch the following day was defeated in the first round of match play by the Providence young phenomenon, Miss Glenna Collette, who actually outdrove the triple champion at nearly every hole and who registered a 1 up victory. Miss Edith Leitch, also was eliminated in the first round, being defeated by Mrs. W. A. Gavin, New York, 3 up and 1 to play. Mrs. Gavin's card of 81 was a new woman's record for the course. Miss Collette eventually won the event.

Simcoe Reformer, October 6th:—

"A presentation and farewell tea was accorded Miss McKiee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. McKiee, by the Ladies' Golf and Tennis Sections of the Norfolk Golf and Country Club, on Saturday, October 1st. Miss McKiee's marriage to Mr. John Jackson of Victoria takes place the latter part of the month and the popular bride-to-be will be very much missed. She has been an ardent golfer, following closely in the footsteps of her father, who is one of the original Simcoe golf enthusiasts. Numerous members from both sections of the club were present and the room looked very gay indeed with all the smart costumes and a profusion of flowers. Mrs. A. T. Boles, president of the ladies' section of the club, and Mrs. McKiee, were in charge of the tea table. In conclusion, Mrs. Boles made a most sincere and touching speech relative to Miss McKiee's approaching marriage and departure for the west, and on behalf of the two sections, presented her with a handsome silver basket full of pale pink roses."

The Editor of the 'Canadian Golfer' joins with golfing friends throughout Ontario in heartiest good wishes for a happy married life to the fair bride and groom to be.

The "Why Not" golf balls, the product of the famous Henley Tire & Rubber Co. Ltd., of London, England, have met with a fine sale this season in Canada where golfers are rapidly appreciating their worth both as regards flight and durability. The Canadian representative, Mr. W. C. B. Wade, 76 Bay St., Toronto, is enthusiastic about the reception the ball is being accorded in the Dominion from Coast to Coast and reports prospects for 1922 are of the brightest. The "Why Not" is bound to be a "big seller" next season in Canada. It is deserving of every recognition at the hands of amateurs and professionals alike.

The Maritime Ladies' Golf Association's annual tournament held on the beautiful links of the Riverside Golf and Country Club was an unqualified success in every particular, the entries being numerous and the golf excellent, whilst the hospitality of Riverside was unbounded. In the semi-finals, Miss Bauld, Halifax Golf Club, beat Miss Mabel Thomson, Riverside Golf Club (several times champion of Canada) and Miss Francis Stetson. Riverside Golf Club defeated Mrs. W. T. Allen, Halifax Golf Club. In the finals, Miss Bauld defeated Miss Stetson. The best gross score of the qualifying round was made by Miss Mabel Thomson.
