Marvellous Growth of Municipal Golf Courses.

Demonstrating the marvellous growth in golf amongst the masses in the United States, the list just issued by the United States Golf Association of the municipal golf courses in that country shows a total of 272 such clubs and even then "it is not claimed that this list is complete."

It is not so many years ago, that the first municipal course was established in New York with more or less fear and trembling by the Parks Board of that metropolis. The majority of the public courses have been opened within the past five or six years.

To Illinois goes the credit of having more municipal links than any other State. The total is 27. New York boasts 21, closely followed by Michigan with 18. Then comes Indiana with 15, California 14, Wisconsin 13, Ohio 13, Florida 12, Texas 12, Iowa 11, Pennsylvania 11, Minnesota 10, and then on down to 1 course only in Delaware, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

Chicago is the banner municipal golf city with 8 clubs, followed by Detroit with 5, Grand Rapids in the same State has also 4 public links. New York, rather strange to state, has only 3 municipal courses and in this respect is outdone by Buffalo, N.Y., which has four.

Almost without exception all the courses are reported as "self sustaining". The revenue and upkeep of these links vary all the way from $65,000 reported by Long Beach Municipal Course, California, to $2,500, Watertown, South Dakota. Generally speaking, $10,000 would be a very fair average indeed of the annual revenues of these municipal courses which compare most favourably with private clubs. The cost of operating the three Los Angeles courses, all reported by the U.S.G.A. as "self-sustaining", comes to the huge sum of $142,138. New York only, on the other hand, expended approximately $50,000. The enormous total of 266,110 rounds were played on the trio of Los Angeles courses last year.

Canada to-day has 21 public courses, which after all, does not compare so unfavourably as it would seem, considering population, with the U.S. total. Toronto and Montreal, however, with only one public golf course each certainly do "look small" when measured up with Buffalo's 5 and Grand Rapids' 4 courses. Our chief Canadian cities lag far behind when it comes to providing their ratepayers with opportunities for playing the Royal and Ancient Game. It is about time city fathers and public park commissioners "woke up and got busy" and rectified this sad lack of golfing facilities in our larger centres.

The United States Golf Association has of late years taken a paternal interest in the public golf phase of the game and it is a matter for congratulation that this year the Royal Canadian Golf Association has also appointed a special committee to encourage and foster the pastime from the municipal standpoint. "Golf for everyone" should be the slogan of all golfing associations, whether National or Provincial and also of every municipality with a population of 20,000 or more.

The Lot of the Caddie
Not An Unhappy One.

A member of the Toronto Golf Club has figured it out that members of the Toronto Golf Club and the nearby golf clubs of Lakeview and Mississauga pay $15,000 at least every season in caddie fees. This means a substantial increase in income to many families living along the Lake Shore Road. A really good caddie during the week-end and holidays can earn $100 in a season. In addition to the financial side of caddying is the healthful side. A boy trudging along the links, physically is all the better for the exercise and should also benefit mentally.

Golf has been a great thing for many a boy and many a poor home especially when situated in the vicinity of a course with a large and influential membership. Then, too, it must not be forgotten that with hardly an exception the ranks of the professionals are recruited from caddies and professional golf is a well paid profession now-a-days—very few better. "By large and small" a caddie's lot, generally speaking, unlike that of the proverbial policeman's "taking one consideration with another, is not an unhappy one."

French Women
Golfers' Fine Showing.

The U.S. women golfers touring Europe scored their first victory when in their International match with the French ladies they won out 10½ matches to 4½ matches. It was generally thought that Miss Collett's very strong aggregation would make a clean sweep of the event but the French girls displayed unexpected strength.

It is only quite recently that the fair Frenchwomen have taken up golf seriously. If they continue to improve and develop their game the next few years as they have done in the past decade, they will have to be seriously reckoned with in the International ladies' matches which are to be shortly inaugurated, and in which Great Britain, the United States, Canada and France will participate. France is to-day supreme in tennis. It is quite on the cards that golf will be the next game her representatives, both men and women, will master. In Montreal the French-Canadians are rapidly forging to the fore on the links and a French-Canadian woman, Madame Dagenais, of Montreal, is the lady champion of Quebec.

On their showing against the U.S. stars, and comparing that showing with the results of the Canadian Ladies' Open Championship, the past few years more or less dominated by American entrants, it would seem that the French women to-day would give Canadian women a stiff argument indeed in an International match.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

Mr. Harry P. Hermance, Miami, Fla.:—

"It's great to get your smart sheet. It's read from "kiver to kiver" monthly and lots of the boys down here like to see it, too."

The death is announced in Toronto at the age of 60 of Dr. John Murray McFarlane, the eminent eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. Dr. McFarlane was a member of the Thornhill Golf Club, Toronto.

Mr. Herbert Strong, golf architect, New York:—

"I returned from a two week trip to various parts of Quebec recently and was glad to see how unusually well the golf courses had wintered up there. The Manoir course at Murray Bay is more of a picture than ever."

Miniature, or what are now generally dubbed, "Tom Thumb" courses, are becoming very popular in the States. A chain of forty are being built alone in Chicago and vicinity. It is the intention to instal electric lights on these courses so the game can be played at night as well as in the daytime.

Cable from Byfleet, England:—

"Miss Joyce Wethered defeated Cyril J. H. Tolley two up and one to play, in a novel match at Byfleet, when teams of British stars opposed well-known players. The women were started two up and drove from the forward tees. Neither Miss Wethered nor Tolley played outstanding golf. Miss Wethered retained her two-hole lead at the turn and was still two up when 17 holes had been played."

Before the final in the British Ladies' Championship, Miss Diana Fishwick is reported to have said "I am England's last hope. What a lark!" And then she proceeded to trounce the much advertised "Glorious Glenna" Collett by 4 and 3. This 19-year-old stripling of a girl has the right golfing temperament "all right."

Mr. G. Champion, superintendent of the Public Parks Board, Winnipeg, writes June 7th:—

Both golf courses are in fine condition and we are getting very good patronage indeed, much better during week days than last year and, of course, a record crowd on week-ends. The week-end of the 24th of May, Kildonan showed a total of 1,025 for the two holidays, and Windsor 956.

It is rather interesting to note that Bobby Jones is one great golfer at any rate who has not succumbed to the fetish of the steel shaft. On his visit to the Old Country he carried in his bag twenty clubs in all but everyone is hickory-shafted. On the other hand, the other American members of the Walker Cup team all carry one or more steel-shafted clubs. In Great Britain where the steel shaft was banned until this season "steel" has become quite the fashion and manufacturers are finding it hard to keep up with the demand.

General G. S. Tuxford, of Moose Jaw, Sask., in the course of an interesting letter to the Editor, writes:—

"I do not agree with the article in your May issue, "Golfing on the Shady Side of Fifty Brings its Greatest Joy", at all. I can quite see the writer's point, though in my own case I have played at nearly all forms of athletics, but did not take up golf till I was 50. I have gradually acquired a presentable number of cups and trophies, and in the 3 years of the organized Saskatchewan-Seniors, have held the trophy twice—the third year I was absent. But I am bound to say, that having now passed the 60 limit, golf is just as enticing to me as at the start, and I am just as keen as ever on improving my game, which I feel—such as it is—is better now than it ever was. I do not feel that I am at all out of ordinary golf competition yet. How about George Lyon?"

Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, of New York, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, one of the world's greatest insurance and financial positions, and a leading U.S. Senior golfer, was in Toronto last week with a party of prominent officials of his company on a business trip, but found time to play golf over the Rosedale and Toronto courses. At the Toronto Club, Mr. Ecker and his party were guests at lunch with a round of golf afterwards of Mr. C. A. Bogert, President of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association. Mr. Ecker was on the U.S. team at Ottawa last September and secured three points for his team which helped them to again win the Duke of Devonshire Cup by the close score of 18 points to 16.

Congratulations to Mr. George E. Fraser, of Montreal, on his "International Golf Year Book", just off the press for 1930. This 8th edition is easily the best edited and most comprehensive yet published by Mr. Fraser's firm. It is really "International" covering the golf field not only in the United States and Canada, but in Great Britain and other countries. There is not a phase of the game's activities which is not intelligently and reliably covered. Altogether a valuable golfing compendium. Mr. Fraser has always had the warm support of the "Canadian Golfer". And he deserves it. The Book is published by the Fraser Publishing Company, 1070 Bleury Street, Montreal, and the modest sum of $2.50 brings it to you.

Guests of Col. R. J. Moodie, president, 300 members of the Central School Old Boys' Association gathered in the Royal Connaught Hotel last month in Hamilton, the occasion being the annual meeting. Col. Moodie was again returned to the office of president. Major-General S. C. Mewburn, a Central "old boy", spoke and congratulated the association on its membership and referred to the many prominent members, not alone in Hamilton, but in various parts of the world, who attended the school. Mention was made of the fact that Sir George McLaren Brown, European manager of the C.P.R., and C. N. Smith, European manager of the C.N.R., were former pupils. Since the last meeting 11 members have died. Plans for the alterations to Central School were submitted by W. A. Walsh, architect, and the improvements will be undertaken without delay. Col. Moodie is a Governor of the Canadian Seniors Golf Association and a very prominent member of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club.

Gardiner White Speaks Highly of Canadian Golf

IN a course of a very interesting letter to the Editor, Mr. Gardiner White, the well known New York amateur golfer and financier, runner-up at Jasper Park last year in the Canadian Amateur, writes:—

"I do not know whether I shall be able to play in the Canadian Amateur again this year, but I sincerely hope so, as I think it is one of the most interesting and well run championships I have ever played in. If I can arrange it I shall certainly do so and will look forward to seeing you at that time."

Mr. White has played in championships galore the past ten years throughout the States and praise from him about our Canadian Amateur is "praise indeed". It is sincerely hoped that he can make London next August. He is assured of a royal welcome there as he is an extremely finished and most likeable golfer.

Mrs. Hutchings, it will be seen, won the Qualifying Medal notwithstanding a terrible 8 on the short 120 yard hole.

Miss K. Farrell, husky expert from the Jericho Golf and Country Club, Vancouver, provided most of the fireworks in the first two rounds of match play.

Miss Farrell created a sensation in the morning when she eliminated Mrs. S. C. Sweeny, the defending champion, on the nineteenth green in one of the most thrilling finishes ever recorded in the competition. Just to show that her play in the morning round was no fluke the Jericho girl set up a record for the first nine holes in the afternoon with a brilliant 40, the lowest of the tourney.

Mrs. Hutchings in the upper bracket easily defeated her opponents to reach the final, whilst Miss Farrell following up her good work in the initial rounds also worked her way through to the deciding match. Here, however, she weakened and Mrs. Hutchings had little difficulty in again winning the championship, defeating her Jericho team-mate by a commanding 13 and 12 verdict. The weather conditions were very adverse and Miss Farrell suffered a complete reversal of her brilliant form of the previous day. Mrs. Hutchings, who also won the championship in 1925 and 1926, played superbly. Although a little erratic on the tee, she corrected this fault by spectacular recoveries, and consequently, was seldom below par figures. Three birdies and nine pars were collected by her as she toured the first 18 holes in 83 strokes, while in the afternoon she secured one birdie and three pars.

Results of this most interesting ladies' championship—the first of the Canadian season:—

Championship flight—Mrs. Vera Hutchings, Jericho, beat Miss K. Farrell, Jericho, 13 and 12.

First flight—Mrs. S. C. Sweeny, Jericho, beat Mrs. R. P. Baker, Jericho, 4 and 3.

Second flight—Mrs. W. G. Mackenzie, Jericho, beat Miss J. Drysdale, Jericho, 3 and 2.

Third flight—Mrs. J. G. McNab, Vancouver, beat Mrs. T. G. Moody, Marine Drive, 2 and 1.

Fourth flight—Mrs. A. M. Boyd, Victoria, beat Mrs. C. Tweedale, Shaughnessy, on nineteenth green.

Fifth flight—Mrs. R. Bell, Jericho, beat Mrs. W. J. LeSage, Shaughnessy, 3 and 2.

Sixth flight—Mrs. S. C. Fawcus, Jericho, beat Miss K. Danks, Jericho, 4 and 2.

Seventh flight—Miss H. F. Johnson, Jericho, beat Mrs. R. W. C. Blair, Shaughnessy, 4 and 3.

Eighth flight—Miss Enid McEwen, New Westminster, beat Mrs. P. Traill, Jericho, 3 and 2.

Ninth flight—Mrs. C. E. Wilson, Victoria, beat Mrs. H. A. Robertson, Vancouver, 9 and 7.

Driving—Won by Mrs. H. P. Baker, Jericho.

Approaching—Won by Mrs. J. Gibson, Marine Drive.

Miss Joyce a Match for Most Men

MISS JOYCE WETHERED, former British women's golf champion, and generally acclaimed the greatest woman player of all time, last month played a four-ball match with Bobby Jones, T. A. Bourn and her brother, Roger Wethered, at St. Andrews, Scotland. Miss Wethered finished with a score of 76, winning from her brother, four up and two to play and losing to Jones and Bourn, the English champion, by one hole.

The woman star, who has withdrawn from championship competition, but plays in lesser golfing events, showed excellent form throughout.

At the ninth she was one up over Jones, square with Bourn and her brother. At the fifteenth she became dormie three on her brother and two up on Jones and Bourn. She won the next hole from Roger Wethered to win this match, but lost the last three holes to Jones and Bourn.

Jones and Bourn each took 75 for the round, while Roger Wethered's total was 80.

Jones Annexes Another Championship

Great Georgian Golfer, After a Nip and Tuck Struggle in the 18-hole Rounds in British Championship Easily Defeats Roger Wethered in the 36-hole Final. Jones' Wonderful Record.

BOBBY JONES has at last attained to the heights of his ambition and annexed the British Amateur, which is the only major championship (with the exception of the Canadian Amateur and Open Championships) which he had not previously won, defeating in the final at historic St. Andrews, Roger Wethered, former British title-holder, 7 and 6. Jones is on record as stating that he considers St. Andrews the finest test of golf in the world. At any rate it certainly seems to favour his particular type of game because it was here that he won the British Open in 1926 and 1927, the last time with the record score for the Open, 285.

The "Great Georgian" is now absolutely in a class by himself and can be rightly acclaimed, "champion of champions." Here is a carefully compiled record of this greatest amateur golfer of all time:—

The only time Jones competed in a Canadian championship was in 1919 in the Open at Hamilton. He was then 18 years of age but tied with "Long Jim" Barnes, then in the zenith of his fame, and Karl Keffer, of Ottawa, the defending Canadian Open champion, for second place. He also played in Hamilton in the International match, U.S. vs. Canada, in 1919 but had to be content with 10th, or last place on the team. However, in the singles he defeated 5 and 3 E. S. McDougall, Montreal, and in the foursomes paired with W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, defeated F. G. Hoblitzel, of Sarnia, now of Lambton, and John Haddon, Toronto Golf Club. He has never participated in the Canadian Amateur, although unquestionably if he had done so, it would have been his more or less "hands-down". It would be a great thing if he could be induced to enter for the Canadian Open next month at Hamilton. He is playing in the British Open the week of June 16th, the U.S. Open July 10-12, and U.S. Amateur, next August. And he is already installed a warm favourite for all three championships. Jones has won the U.S. Amateur four times, the U.S. Open three times, British Open twice, and the British Amateur once.

The following is the record of Jones and Wethered in the Championship at St. Andrews last month:—

Jones:—

Bye in first round.

Defeated Sidney Roper, Wollaton Park, in second round, 3 and 2.

Defeated Cowan Shankland, St. George's Hill, in third round, 5 and 3.

Defeated Cyril J. H. Tolley, defending champion, in fourth round, at 19th hole.

Defeated G. O. Watt, Broughty Ferry, in fifth round, 4 and 2.

Defeated Harrison R. Johnston, amateur champion of the United States, in sixth round, one up.

Defeated Eric W. Fiddian, Stourbridge, in seventh round, 4 and 3.

Defeated George Voigt, New York, in eighth round, one up.

Final, defeated Roger Wethered, former British Amateur Champion, 7 and 6.

Wethered:—

Bye in first round.

Defeated R. D. Mathieson, Burgess, in second round, 5 and 4.

Defeated D. A. Fiddian, Stourbridge, in third round, 7 and 5.

Defeated Harry Brower, Dinard, France, in fourth round, 5 and 3.

Defeated R. H. Oppenheimer, London, in fifth round, one up.

Defeated Gordon Simpson, St. Andrews, in sixth round, at 21st hole.

Defeated Henry Howell, Wales, in seventh round, 4 and 3.

Defeated Lister Hartley, Chislehurst, in semi-final, 2 and 1.

Final, lost to Bobbie Jones, U. S. Open Champion, 7 and 6.

Jones, it will be seen, had a stubborn fight to reach the final. Cyril Tolley, the defending British champion, took him to the 19th hole in the fourth round, and his Walker Cup team-mate, Voigt, in the eighth round, carried him to the 18th hole. Both Tolley and Voigt had an excellent chance to put him out of the running. It was only a remarkably fine putt at the 17th, the famous Road Hole at St. Andrews, which saved Jones from being defeated by Tolley, who on the extra hole, the 19th, was stymied. Great crowds gathered to see the matches throughout the week—estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000 almost every day.

In the Walker Cup matches a week or so previous to the Amateur Cham-the seventeenth to win and go to luncheon four down when he had been five behind.

The Briton won the first hole in the afternoon when the American was stymied and seemed about to win the second when Jones made one of his few bad drives of the week. It was also his last. The visitor, however, seemed always to have a great shot in his bag when needed, and he recovered with an iron good enough to put him in position to win the hole after it seemed lost.

Jones is here seen playing out of difficulties during a practice round in Scotland before the Championship.

pionship, Jones defeated Wethered 9 and 8 and it was generally conceded that the Britisher in the 36-hole final at St. Andrews had not a chance against the sturdy Georgian, and he hadn't.

The following gives a synopsis of the final in the Championship:—

Wethered proved himself a courageous opponent, although the tide was against him all the way. He never seemed worried or harassed, and played his normal game, which was good, but not good enough.

The former British Amateur Champion held the American Open Champion level for the first nine holes, with each one under par. Jones won five of the next seven holes and Wethered rallied with a great birdie at Wethered reduced the lead to three at the sixth, but it was the last chance he had against the machine-like precision of the American's game.

The home player's wild tee shots cost him dearly in the morning, and forced him to struggle to keep within reasonable distance of his opponent. In the afternoon his long game steadied, but his loose play on the green ruined his chances, and play ended on the thirtieth with a missed putt by Wethered from three feet.

Gives Jones Credit

"I didn't drive or putt well to-day," said Wethered to-night. "Somehow or other, I seemed to pull every ball off line; but Bobby Jones is a great golfer, and may put any one off his driving. Every one does it, and I had my bad lapse in the morning. But I did not play so badly, and would have won from many other golfers. All day Jones drove magnificently, and I envy him his long game and his fine touch on the greens."

"I was lucky to win," was Bobby's comment.

Jones received the Cup he wanted most of all from the hands of Colonel P. G. M. Skene, captain of the Royal and Ancient Club, who called attention to the fact that the new champion is an honorary member of the Royal and Ancient.

Bobby told again of his love for "old St. Andrews," in accepting the trophy.

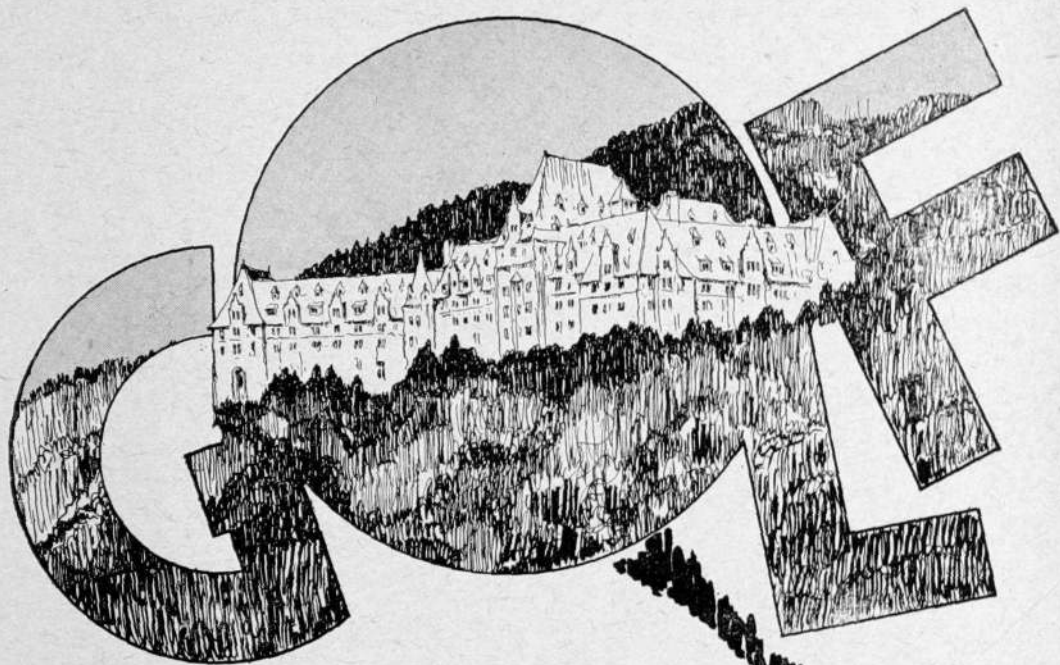

"I never have been happier to get any cup," he said, adding, "and I never worked so hard, nor suffered so much, either."

The Walker Cup Debacle

BRITISH golfing and other papers were certainly not sparing in their criticism of the deplorable showing—and it was deplorable—made by the British Walker Cup team against the Americans. Here is a sample "broadside" from "Golf Illustrated", London:—

"To be wise after an event is the easiest thing in the world. No one, however, may lay that charge at our door. We have been among the fiercest critics of practically everything connected with this year's Walker Cup match which ended in such a debacle at Sandwich last week. We have criticised those who appointed the Selection Committee, and the Selection Committee for the team it chose and the method of the choosing. Time and again we have raised our voice against the unpreparedness of our team, especially where the foursomes pairings were concerned. We were scoffed at and stigmatised as Jeremiahs. We wish to heaven that events had proved us such. Gladly we would have eaten our words. Much rather we had been humiliated than to have seen, as we saw, the honour of British amateur golf buried in the sandhills of Sandwich. That may sound theatrical. It is not. Every British golfer at this moment should be feeling thoroughly ashamed of the Sandwich debacle. It was a ghastly tragedy. It is time that public opinion in this country woke up to the fact that there is much that is seriously wrong with British amateur golf. And it is the duty of every responsible golf writer to the best of his ability to enlighten the public in this matter.

Much that we have read on this subject is sheer bunkum. All this talk about the will to win, the ability to play superlative shots, the rigorous training, is superficial nonsense. The Britisher has not lost his will to win. It is the British golfer and not the American who plays the vast majority of superlative shots. The American golfer's game is built on such lines that he does not leave himself the necessity for playing superlative shots. That is his winning point. The American golfer is not our superior in any one department of the game or in the execution of any one shot. He is our superior in the consistency with which he refrains from playing bad or loose shots. That is the first and most important fact that we have to appreciate. The next is to find the reason for the greater consistency of the American players, and it is to be found in the method of swinging a golf club. We have got to discard this 'Handsome is as handsome does' theory. We have got to abolish the idea that a hooked tee shot into the rough, an iron shot somewhere on to the green, and one long putt, represents a fine achievement at a par four hole. There were many such achievements at Sandwich on our part, and yet we were beaten by 10 matches to 2. Simply and solely because such achievements by their nature must be few and far between.

The next step is for our amateurs to realize that in a serious match they are some six strokes a round inferior to our leading professionals, and it is up to them to find out from the professionals why this is so. And the best way of finding out is to play with them. Then we have got to impress our golf architects into tightening up our courses. Such a course as Sandwich is child's play to the Americans. In spite of our traditionalists we must evolve or continue to be beaten. Finally, the appointment of our Selection Committees and the method of selection must be scrutinized. We have got to make up our mind that if we are to win against our American friends in these matches the one qualification for selection must be the ability to play consistent high-class golf. Social qualifications and past reputations must be scrapped when picking these International sides. And in this matter of social qualifications, we are already on the wrong road with regard to the training of our young golfers by permitting the introduction into the government of the Boys' Championship of a rule which stinks so much of snobbery as to pollute the nostrils of every sportsman. There are four points that must be examined in detail, and we propose to examine them in further articles. Meanwhile, let us congratulate the Americans on their handsome victory. Nobody will be more pleased than they if the lesson they taught us at Sandwich will lead to a reformation in our methods of play, our methods of selection, and our golf architecture.'

United States Ladies Win

THE U.S. ladies' golf team touring Europe found the French ladies a much easier proposition to tackle than their British golfing cousins. In the International match at the Saint Germain Country Club, they defeated the French women 10½ matches to 4½ matches. The victory was the first scored by the American women during their present invasion. They previously lost a team match to England and were defeated individually in the British Women's Golf Championship.

France won two of the five Scotch foursome matches and two of the singles, halving another.

Miss Collett defeated Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, French champion, and 1927 British women's champion, in single competition, 2 and 1. The French star, fiancée of Rene Lacoste, Davis Cup tennis player, teamed with Mme. A. M. Gagliamo to defeat Miss Collett and Miss Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., in the foursome play, two and one.

Miss Helen Hicks, Canadian lady champion, won both in the foursomes and singles. Many of the matches were very close and the Americans had anything but "a walk-over" as was generally predicted.

Von Elm Wins French Amateur

Mr. George Von Elm, of Detroit, who wins the French Amateur Championship.

GEORGE VON ELM, who has just won the French Amateur Championship, started golf as a caddie in Los Angeles and for some years more or less dominated the game in California. Then in 1926 he sprang into national fame by defeating "Bobby" Jones in the U.S. Amateur Championship. Since then he has not made much golfing history, although generally ranked as the third best American amateur. George Voigt, of New York, now usually being accorded runner-up honours to Jones. Von Elm of recent years has lived in Detroit. In 1928 in the Canadian Open at Rosedale he was the leading amateur. Last year at Montreal he was also an entrant but was beaten for first place and the R.C.G.A. gold medal by Ross Somerville, who had a total of 293, whilst Von Elm had to be content with 296. He will play again in the Canadian Open, it is understood, next month at Ancaster. The French Amateur Championship does not rank very high. R. G. Morrison, of England, who Von Elm defeated in the final by 9 and 8, is virtually unknown. It sometimes attracts the star players but not often. Bobby Jones, who was in France at the time, did not enter for the event, neither did the other members of the U.S. Walker Cup team. Last year it was also won by an American, Jack Westland, of Chicago, a second-rate golfer.

Cameron is Off to a Good Start

THE greens and fairways of the newly-constructed St. Andrew's Golf Course, some forty miles from Montreal, resisted the efforts of some of the best amateurs in the Province June 1st, when the invitation tournament marking the opening of the P.Q.G.A. competitive season was held. The skilful stroking of Jack Cameron, brilliant Rivermead, Ottawa, golfer, led the field of 50 at the end of the day's play. Cameron's score of 82 won for him the cup awarded by the club for the best gross of the day. J. W. Yuile, of Royal Montreal, was close behind the winner with a gross of 84.

Following Cameron and Yuile came the Royal Montreal player, W. J. Bott, and G. B. Taylor, of Summerlea. They turned in grosses of 87. The cup offered for the best nett score went to G. B. Taylor, whose handicap of seven gave him a nett of 80. W. R. Vining, also of Summerlea, was tied with Taylor with a card of 90-10—80, but took second prize after the toss of a coin. The third prize for nett scores went to H. W. Maxson, of the Country Club, with an 88-7—81.

"Bright-eyed Beauties" Busy in Winnipeg Too

MR. GEORGE CHAMPION, Superintendent of the Public Parks Board, Winnipeg, writes the Editor:—

"I read with great interest the story in your May issue of the cache of golf balls found on the Islesmere Course, near Montreal, as it reminded me of a similar incident which happened at our Kildonan Park Municipal Course in 1926.

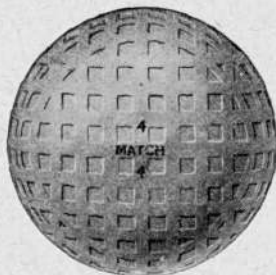

"Just inside the Park itself, next the 13th fairway, a large elm log had lain for several years. In the autumn it was cut up by some of the Park workmen for firewood and a cache of exactly 137 golf balls of very similar appearance to those shown in your picture were discovered.

"Much discussion arose as to whether the cache had been made by squirrels or gophers as the Park abounds in both varieties, but most of us who know the habits of the perky squirrel were fairly sure that a mistaken zeal for a winter supply on the part of a pair of these bright-eyed beauties was responsible for the collection."

The Seniors of Great Britain, United States and Canada

Have a Wonderful Programme the Week of September 1st at the Toronto Golf Club. His Excellency the Governor-General Expects to be at the Annual Dinner and Play in the Foursomes.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Governors of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association was held last month at the president's office, Toronto, when a number of very important matters were disputed and decided upon in connection with the important tournament and championships to be held next September at the Toronto Golf Club.

Tuesday, Sept. 2nd: 18 holes medal play—members of Canadian Seniors' Golf Ass'n. Putting competition.

(It was suggested that members of the British Senior Golfers' Society, who will be in Toronto at that time, be invited to take part in the medal competitions if they desire to do so—special prizes to be provided—but such members are not to be eligible for Canadian Seniors' Championship.)

Tuesday evening: Annual meeting of Canadian Seniors' Golf Ass'n. at the Toronto Golf Club at 6 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 3rd: United States team will arrive in morning. Foursomes competition—Canadian Seniors' Ass'n. Triangular matches between the British, United States and Canadian Seniors' teams—probably twelve to a side (foursomes).

Wednesday evening: Annual dinner of Canadian Seniors' Golf Ass'n., at the Toronto Golf Club, to be attended by the British and U.S. players. (The president suggested that His Excellency the Governor-General be invited to take part in the foursomes competition and to attend the dinner.)

Thursday, Sept. 4th: Triangular matches between British, United States and Canadian teams—probably twelve to a side (singles). Driving, approaching and putting competitions—members Canadian Seniors' Golf Ass'n'.

Friday, Sept. 5th: International match for the Duke of Devonshire Trophy between teams from the United States Seniors' Ass'n. and Canadian Seniors' Association (fifteen to a side).

Saturday morning, Sept. 6th: Individual championship for Cup presented by the United States Seniors' Ass'n.

The programme as outlined above was adopted. Following a suggestion made at the last annual meeting that medal play competitions be discontinued and match play, in classes, introduced, Mr. Geo. S. Lyon and Mr. George L. Robinson were appointed to consider the matter and had advised that the change was not feasible.

The president made reference to the unavoidable absence this year from the annual tournament of Mr. R. H. Greene and Mr. H. H. Williams, which is very much regretted, and recommended the selection of the following committees for tournament week, which was approved:—

Tournament Committee—Geo. L. Robinson (chairman), John Littlejohn, Geo. S. Lyon, Col. J. B. Miller, Paul J. Myler, P. D. Ross, with power to add to their numbers.

Mr. Caldwell suggested that a replica, or some memento, be given to each of the players of the golf club team winning the trophy presented by the British Senior Golfers' Society for the lowest total nett scores in the medal competition; this was approved.

The present membership of the Association is now 409, being 9 over the authorized number. Advices of 9 deaths have been received since the annual tournament and 12 resignations have been tendered. Twenty-three applications have been received and dealt with in the interval. Reference was also made to the favourable financial position of the Association.

After the meeting adjourned, Mr. C. A. Bogert entertained the Governors most delightfully at luncheon at the Toronto Golf Club.

The Seniors are especially under a very deep debt of gratitude to the president, officers and members of the Toronto Golf Club, in virtually for a whole week placing their magnificent course and club house at their disposal. It is a most magnanimous attitude to take in the interest of Senior golf.

Under recent date Mr. C. A. Bogert writes the Editor:—

You will observe that we have a very full week ahead of us and the time will be fully occupied from Monday morning, September 1st, until Saturday midday, the 6th.

This will be, as you know, the first occasion on which the triangular International matches between Great Britain, the United States and Canadian Seniors have been held in this country—the British Seniors, of course, visited us in 1928 and played friendly matches on several occasions.

The U.S. team expects to arrive on Wednesday morning and the intention is to play the triangular matches (foursomes and singles) on Wednesday and Thursday, and the International match between the United States and Canada for the Devonshire Cup on Friday. The Individual Championship, for competition between U.S. and Canadian Seniors, will probably be played on Saturday morning.

The British team expects to sail by C. P. R. S.S. "Duchess of York" on August 15th, arriving in Montreal about the 22nd. Arrangements will be made for them to spend two or three days in Montreal and Ottawa, where they will be entertained and given an opportunity to play on some of the different courses in those cities. They should reach Toronto about the 29th of August and will stay at the Toronto Golf Club while they are in this city.

I am sorry that I cannot as yet give you the names of the British team. Col. Popham tells me that it will be headed by J. Beaumont Pease, "Ted" Blackwell, Major Stephens and probably Lord Morison, who was very kind and hospitable to the Canadian Seniors when they were in Scotland last year. Lord Alness some time ago expressed his intention of coming along but now states that he will be unable to do so.

Since the Governors meeting was held, I have been in communication with the Governor-General's secretary, who states that His Excellency will be delighted to attend our annual dinner on the night of September 3rd if it is at all possible for him to do so. He also wishes to take part in the foursomes competition that day.

"Don" Carrick Will Again Seriously Take Up Golf

THIS month Mr. "Don" Carrick, former Canadian Amateur Champion, 1925-27, is back at his home course, Scarboro Golf and Country Club, Toronto, preparing for the season's golf tournaments and championships. He has just completed his second of a three year course at the Harvard Law School where the past winter he distinguished himself by winning both the heavyweight and 175-pound boxing championships. Carrick intends besides minor events to participate in both the Canadian and American Amateur Championships.

Last season he never quite "got into his stride" but this year it is the hope of many friends that he will be playing the game which made him such an outstanding figure on the links in 1925 and 1927 when he quite dominated amateur golf in Canada.

Alberta Seniors' Tournament

Is Taken Part in by Many Notable Men of Alberta. Mr. J. H. Dowdell, of Edmonton, Wins the Championship.

THE fifth annual competition of the Alberta Seniors, sponsored by the Alberta Provincial Golf Association, was played over the course of the Calgary Golf and Country Club on the 30th and 31st of May and was in every sense most successful. The entries numbered 46, there being 14 from Edmonton, 2 from Drumheller, and 30 from Calgary. The championship event is framed on the plan of the Canadian Seniors, 36 rounds of medal play, 18 on each of the two days, the winner being declared the champion and entitled to hold the Walsh Trophy for a year, receiving as well a handsome individual prize. To the holder of the lowest nett score another prize is given. A putting competition was initiated this year, 18 holes on each of the two days.

Play was started at 2 p.m. on the 30th by His Honour Lieut.-Governor Egbert, paired with Mr. Justice

Walsh, of Calgary. Amongst the other contestants were a chief justice and four judges of the Supreme Court of Alberta, a member of the Legislature, several Kings Counsel and others drawn from every rank and condition of life. The weather was ideal except for a 30 minute shower on Saturday morning.

Mr. J. H. Dowdell, of the Edmonton Country Club, proved himself the outstanding player. He turned in the low gross score of 162 (86 on Friday and 76 on Saturday), he tied for the lowest nett score at 138 and was low in putting at 71. Under the rules of the competition he could only take one prize and that for the low gross was awarded him, carrying with it the championship and the possession of the trophy for a year. To Mr. Walter Ripley, of the Regal Club, Calgary, went the prize for the low nett, he having tied with Mr. Dowdell, while Mr. A. T. Burns, of the Calgary Golf and Country Club, was awarded the putting prize, he being but one stroke behind Mr. Dowdell with 72.

At the conclusion of play the contestants were entertained to lunch by Mr. Justice Walsh, after which Mr. H. Milton Martin, the well-known Edmonton golfer and Royal Canadian Golf Association official, took charge of the proceedings, the prizes being presented by Chief Justice Simmons. An informal discussion took place as to future competitions, as a result of which it was decided to let them be conducted for the future time. The tournament was a pronounced success in every way.

The Golfing Record of Miss Diana Fishwick

J. H. TAYLOR, five times British Open Champion, writes:—

At the moment when the British men were being crushed at Sandwich by the Americans, a 19-year-old English girl, Miss Diana Fishwick, scored a glorious victory by 4 and 3 over Miss Glenna Collett, the 27-year-old holder of the U.S.A. title, in the final of the British Women's Open Championship on the Formby links. Miss Collett was a strong favourite, but the English girl, the coolest person on the links, led all the way, and refused to crack up when the American challenger made a big effort to snatch victory.

"I am so glad," cried Miss Fishwick to the cheering 4,000 spectators after the match, "I did so want Great Britain to retain the title."

Before the final started the fearless girl had exclaimed, "I am England's last hope. What a lark!"

Diana's father, Mr. F. W. Fishwick, is a Midland Bank manager in London, and resides in Reading-street Broadstairs. "When it was decided that Diana should have a run in the Open Championship this year it was only a try out in our opinion," he explained, "and in our wildest dreams we never supposed that she would walk off with the championship. Diana joined the North Foreland Golf Club when she was about 14, and any coaching she has had has been by Tom Buckland, the assistant pro. In almost her first 12 months she carried off the Peace Cup presented by Lord Northcliffe. She plays a good game of tennis, although, of course, she does not devote anything like the time to this game as to golf. She has a devastating overarm service. She also rides and can drive a car—either mine or those belonging to my friends. But to revert to golf, although she won so many pots for a youngster, I think she is a little keener on the sweepstakes which accompany these competitions, as they provide her with her extra chocolates and other little things which girls like."

Diana's house is alongside the golf links, and as a child she used to sit for hours on the fence watching the golfers. She had the happy knack of mimicking the best styles. Early in her 'teens she played seriously, and won several North Foreland open competitions in mixed fields of over 100 players. Miss Fishwick won the Girls' Championship in 1927 and 1928, and she gave an indication of her greatness by running-up to Miss Molly Gourlay in the English Women's Close Championship last autumn. The remarkable victory of Miss Fishwick caused the greatest surprise in New York, where critics state that a girl who can defeat Miss Collett in a 36-hole championship match must be a very skilful and stout-hearted golfer.

Appropos of the winning of the Championship an enthusiastic English-woman golfer now resident in the States, wrote the Editor the day after the event, "Thank God for Diana Fishwick."

National Association of Greenkeepers

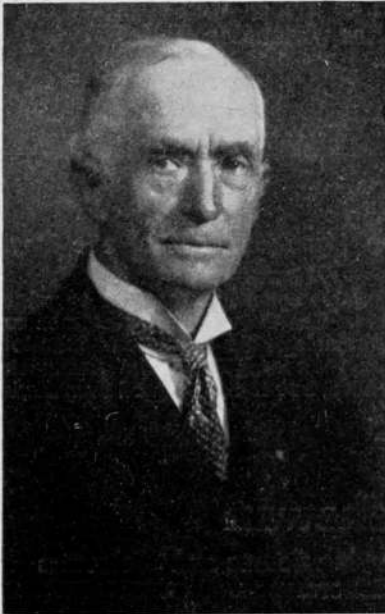

For the First Time in its History the Executive of this Important Organization Will Meet in Toronto This Month.

FOR the first time in its history the executive of the very important organization, "The National Association of Greenkeepers of America", is holding a meeting in Canada, at the Royal York Hotel, ham, N.Y.; Christopher Bain, Oakwood Country Club, Cleveland; Alfred E. Landstrom, Crescent Athletic Club, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Robert Power, president and editor The National Greenkeeper, will also attend the meeting.

Mr. Sansom (third vice-president), of the Toronto Golf Club, writes the Editor:—

"I have not yet received from John Morley the time or day of the business meeting. But we are making arrangements to entertain our visitors by taking them to the several clubs around Toronto. They have never seen any of our Canadian courses so that we hope to make the best of their short stay with us by visiting as many courses as possible. We shall also hold a meeting of our own local organization so as to give the greenkeepers an opportunity of meeting up with the execu-

As no doubt you are aware that the annual meeting takes place in February each year with the executive meeting summer and fall. The convention and golf show each year are very educational to greenkeepers and in my opinion Canadian clubs should see to it that their greenkeepers attend these meetings. The different subjects discussed at the educational conference are well chosen and treated in a masterly way. No greenkeeper can afford to miss these lectures. The golf show gives one the opportunity to see all the different and up-to-date machinery and golf course equipment so that a greenkeeper can be in a better position to advise his club the best machinery to buy for his particular purpose. The Association Seed Trade Convention are holding their annual convention at the Royal York Hotel June 23 to 27. They have extended an invitation to us to have dinner with them at the Granite Club and also are providing cars for our use. We hope in the near future to bring the annual convention and golf show to Toronto."

(Mr. Sansom is quite right. Leading golf clubs in Canada would be well advised to have their greenkeepers identify themselves with the National Association of Greenkeepers and attend the annual convention. It would be money well spent to do so.—Editor "Canadian Golfer".)

No Western Canada Championship This Year

MR. H. MILTON MARTIN, of Edmonton (vice-president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association), writes the Editor:—

"With reference to the Western Canada Championship I regret to advise that there will be no such event this year at all events. The Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan feel that there would be but few entries outside of the Province of Manitoba and for that reason it is quite sufficient to carry on their own Provincial Association meets. It does not mean that the W.C.G.A. has disbanded, but it has stopped functioning for at least a year."

Golf in Saskatchewan

Prince Albert Boasts a Particularly Interesting Course and Welcomes Tourists and Other Visitors.

TO the visitor, the Prince Albert, Sask., Golf Course appeals mightily because of its unusual natural scenic beauty in so unexpected a location, and largely because of its equipment and up-to-date features. The touring golfer from the East, or the Far West, or indeed the traveller from other countries, expresses surprise at finding such an attractive course in a portion of Canada that is quite often considered off the main line of such admirable attractions as well-equipped golf courses. Many are the pleasing comments received by the Prince Albert Golf Club from its visitors. The amazing thing of all is the fact that local players can use the course for a comparatively small amount, and yet the club can carry on.

The course has at present nine holes, although indeed before the year is out another nine will be added.

Most of the preparation for this addition has been already undertaken. An attractive club house is at the service of the players, and here refreshments are obtainable, and comfortable verandahs and sitting room, cosily furnished, add much to the enjoyment of a game.

All this is situated on a hill overlooking Prince Albert, which, as many people know, is one of the beauty spots of the West, also the gateway to that wonderful new scenic empire known as the Prince Albert National Park. So that the touring golfer, out on a holiday and to see Canada's newest playground, can pause at Prince Albert and enjoy a real game of golf before proceeding to the park, and upon returning from it. Naturally, a great many tourists will find the attractions of the golf course too strong to proceed to the

"AYRES"

Milton J. French, a member of Locust Hill Country Club here, will probably never forget his recent trip to Erie Downs playing the tricky Canadian course in company of two Rochesterians. Mr. French stepped up to the seventh tee, selected his No. 4 iron and cracked the ball 200 yards down the fairway, across the green and into the cup.

Besides Mr. French, the threesome was composed of Dr. D. B. Doran and Foster Yawger.

Rochester Times Union,

Now he gets a Dozen
"AYRES" Balls Free!

It is a surprising feat to make a hole in one, but Mr. French's "oner" is even more remarkable in that he drove a 200-yard hole with a No. 4 iron. Surely this will prove what is already known to expert golfers throughout the world, that the F. H. AYRES is one of the longest-driving balls made . . . and that it has the most accurate centre of any golf ball.

When next you purchase golf balls, try AYRES and watch your own driving improve both in distance and in straighter flight. 75c at all good sporting stores.

park; that, of course, rests with the discretion of the tourist.

However, there is a professional in attendance. He is Hubert Cooke, who came here five years ago from Winnipeg, and is a great friend and help to those wishing to know how to play a better game. He, of course, is always available and carries a stock of clubs, balls, etc., and renders a first-class service to all. Under his care the course is always the attractive place a keen golfer expects it to be.

This is not a prairie course by any means. There are trees, beautifully kept and watered grass greens, clean, clipped, and interesting fairways, hills, and all those features that combine to make a course interesting and playable. All around you are the fine attractions of scenic beauty, and the bracing atmosphere of the real outdoors, made the more enjoyable by near-distant views of spruce and jack pine which bespeak the romance of the northland. And yet, the course is little more than a five-minute drive from the city.

Started in 1910, the club went through the usual period of war-time suspension. The year 1919 saw a re-organization process. Up to 1925 the progress of the club, while rapid, was somewhat retarded by the ownership of the land changing hands. However, all that being settled, and satisfactory arrangements having been made with the city which leases the land from the Provincial Government, and who in turn leases it to the club, the latter is preparing to make the course the peer of any in Western Canada. Nature has endowed it with all the necessary advantages, so there is nothing artificial about it.

Already there is established a Northern Saskatchewan Championship, which has been played for eight years. This had an entry of 85 last year, seven more than the Provincial tournament. There were five flights, the outstanding feature being there was only one defaulted game in all the flights. The future of the course is certainly bright, and touring golfers intending to pass through Saskatchewan this year, are cordially invited to pay the course a visit. We shall try to make you feel thoroughly at home. This year's president is A. S. Petterson, who has already shown, although only elected a few weeks ago, a spirit of enterprise and energy that will carry the club through much of the way toward its ultimate goal, and that is, to make the Prince Albert Golf Course the main attraction in the West. He is following the lead of those who started the Club, and who worked hard to lay the foundation for this ideal.

Humber Valley Golfer Wins Uplands Tournament

THE annual invitation tournament at Uplands, Toronto, was a great success attracting a very large and splendid field of players, both young and old. With steady rounds of 38-36 for an excellent 74 Ben Gordon, of the Humber Valley Club, Toronto, rather easily led the field. Stanley Thompson, possibly the best player of the famous brothers if he only had more time to devote to the game and played it more seriously, returned a 78, but was close pressed for second place, the Taylor brothers of York Downs, Gordon and Don, tying for third place with 79's, while five were on even terms with 80's. The prize winners were:—

Gross scores—1, Ben Gordon, Humber Valley, 74; 2, Stan Thompson, Mississauga, 78; Don Taylor, York Downs, and Gordon Taylor, Jr., York Downs, 79.

Nett scores—1, W. K. Taylor, Pine Point, 68; 2, W. Taylor, Humber Valley, 69; 3, Ed. Fee, Uplands, 69.

Insulation Quiets a Noisy Grill Room

THE Ozaukee Country Club near Milwaukee has solved a noise problem which may be troubling the directors and members of many clubs elsewhere.

The men's grill at Ozaukee was noisy. Conversations at the end of an 18-hole game were naturally rollicking in nature. Added to this enthusiasm of members were all sorts of annoying and distracting echoes, caused by a vaulted construction of the roof. The result was a constant noise and din that drowned out ordinary conversation.

Ozaukee's board of directors worried about this condition for many months. Finally, they found a solution that surprised them in its effectiveness and simplicity.

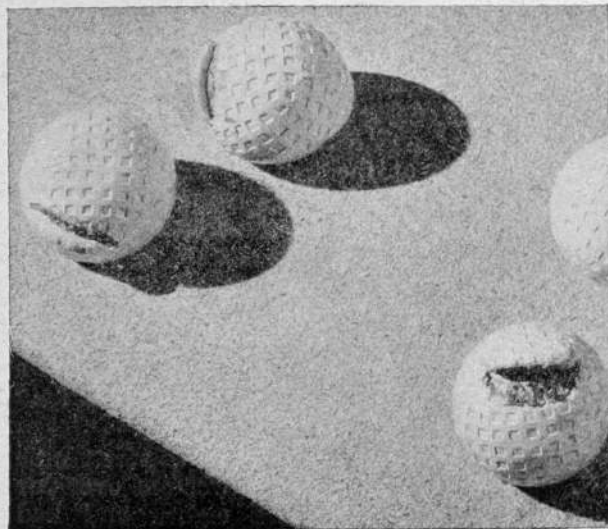

An installation of flexible insulating material made by the Flax-li-num Insulating Co. of St. Paul, was made on the ceiling. This insulation was left exposed to serve as an acoustic. It was found that this material absorbed all the noise and din which had previously been reflected in the form of echoes.

"Our men's grill is at last mentally comfortable and quiet," says A. H. Bentley, president of the club. "The reverberations have disappeared and conversations may be carried on without undue strain. Not only were the objectionable conditions entirely removed, but the appearance of the room was greatly improved."

Mr. Bentley says further that members of the club and the board of directors "have been enthusiastic in their approval of this simple and economical method of sound control."

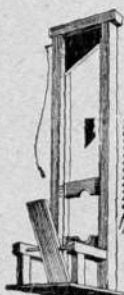

Of course in Canada "grill rooms are never noisy." Oh no! But we pass on the Ozaukee idea anyway. It looks useful.

Here's what the guillotine did to five famous golf balls

And here's what it didn't do to the KRO-FLITE

THESE six golf balls all have a place in the sun. All are famous... all cost about the same... all have some claim to greatness. The purpose of this advertisement is not to dispute or disparage those claims. It is to prove that in the KRO-FLITE the golfing world sees the first ball to combine first-grade distance with maximum durability.

The Guillotine is a laboratory device—a heavily weighted steel knife that drops on a golf ball, hitting it exactly as a clubhead does on a badly topped iron shot.

On five of them, the falling blade cut completely through the cover and left a hopeless ruin. But on the stout cover of the KRO-FLITE, the Guillotine left a barely visible dent. In thousands of tests, the Guillotine never yet has been able to cut a KRO-FLITE Ball. It has never failed to cut any other.

Now as to distance

The KRO-FLITE has been proved in tests with the famous "Spalding" Ball—which is considered, by the majority of golf's greatest players, the longest ball in the world—to be only a trifling distance behind this longest of all balls, a fact established time after time in Driving Machine tests at Chicopee, Mass., Pinehurst, N. C., and Putney, England.

The KRO-FLITE comes either in Multidot Marking or in plain white—dimple and mesh. It's the only ball that can give the average player distance—yet withstand the mistreatment of his iron.

Davie Spittal in Great Form

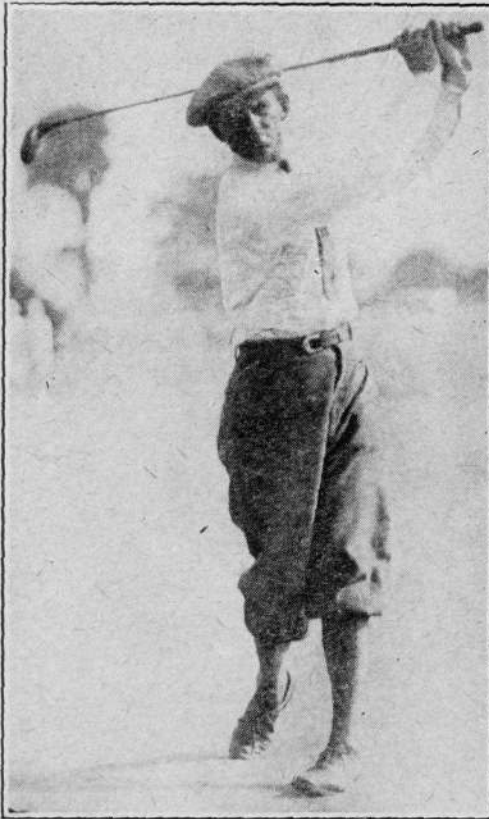

Wins Royal York Golf Club Professional Event With the Brilliant Score of 143. Has Four Rounds "in the Thirties."

DAVIE SPITTAL, brilliant professional at the Royal York Club, simply spread-eagled the field in the second competition of the season of the Ontario Professional Golfers' Association over the Royal it will compare favourably with the best in the Toronto District.

Spittal set the pace all the way and a pair of 35's in the morning gave him the course record with a 70, two under par, and a lead of five strokes over Kay at the halfway mark. On the first nine holes Spittal and Kay each had 35's and on the second nine Spittal's 35 was two strokes better than Jimmie Johnstone, of Rosedale. On the outward trip in the afternoon the winner had a 34 and the next best was Willie Lamb's 36. Coming in Bob Cunningham and Harold Marsh held Spittal even with 39's.

In equalling par for the first nine the Royal York pro was one over par on the first and eighth and had birdies on the fourth and ninth. Coming in he had birdies on the tenth and eleventh and then seven successive pars. Three birdies, including a pair of twos, on the third, eighth and ninth, enabled him to be one under par on the outward journey in the afternoon, as he was one over on the second and fourth. Coming in he took a six, two over par, on the twelfth, and was one over on the sixteenth, but a birdie on the home hole enabled him to keep under 40. On the eighth in the afternoon he almost scored an ace as his tee shot stopped just a couple of inches short of the pin. His cards:—

Dave Spittal, who wins Royal York Tournament with the splendid score of 143.

York course last month, when he turned in a total of 143 for the 36 holes against 154 by Andy Kay, of Lambton, his nearest rival. This was the first real test of the course and the players were playing from the back tees and found that there was plenty of trouble for those who failed in venturesome shots or strayed from the straight line. The course was in fine condition, considering that it has only been open for play for a couple of weeks, and it won't be long before

Four players from each city shall constitute its Harding Cup Team, whose names shall be handed to the U.S.G.A. secretary by the team captain before the Championship commences, Tuesday, August 5th, 1930.

Entrants in this Championship may accept their travelling expenses to and from Jacksonville plus $6.00 per day while there from the city they represent without violating the Amateur Definition.

Secretaries Must in Future Forward Address of the Player Performing the Feat or Otherwise it Will not be Recorded.

SECRETARIES of clubs in some instances are still omitting when forwarding performances of holes-in-one to give the business or residential address of the player. This is absolutely necessary. In future unless this rule is observed, no notice will be taken of the performance. Here is the list since the May issue:—

Always so delighted to welcome to our Club a lady player. Miss J. Godfrey, playing over the Thornhill Golf and Country Club course, Toronto, made the snappy little 5th hole, 77 yards, in one.

Toronto again. At the Humber Valley Golf Club, Mr. George Rae, playing with Miss M. Palmer, joined the elect—a mighty drive on the first hole of 265 yards. Some swat, Mr. Rae.

Mr. W. O. Lewis is the president of the golf club at Granby, Que. He set his members a good example 'tother day when playing with Mr. J. B. Travers he made the 8th hole, 155 yards, in one.

Toronto once more. Mr. G. N. McArthur, playing over the course of the Uplands Golf and Country Club, registered the feat.

The scene shifts to Drumheller, Alberta, and again a ladye fayre. Mrs. James Weir accomplished the dream of every golfer when she found the tin-from-the-tee at the second hole, while playing a threesome with Mrs. Constantine and Mrs. McArthur. This is the first time that the much-coveted “hole-in-one” has been made by a lady on the Drumheller course. Congratulations!

Mr. H. G. Turner, of the Bank of Montreal, Medicine Hat, Alberta, whilst playing with the Rev. M. S. Blackburn, bagged a "oneer" at the 9th hole, 203 yards, on the Medicine Hat Links.

The Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal, is in the limelight this month. Playing with Messrs. Wm. McLuekie (former Canadian Amateur Champion), F. R. Daniels and A. R. Hatfield, Mr. W. A. Clark found the cup from the tee on the 11th hole at Kanawaki, 125 yards.

Playing with Mr. J. Beveridge, Mr. R. White, of Nordegg, Alberta, joined the immortals when he negotiated the 13th hole in one shot.

Col. C. C. Bennett, a member of the Victoria Golf Club of many years standing, playing over the famous Oak Bay course, Victoria, B.C., with Mr. Justice W. A. Galliher, Dr. A. J. Garesche and E. C. Senkler, recorded the stunt at the 14th hole, 192 yards.

It was Mr. J. M. Dunlop, not Mr. H. M. Dunlop who as reported in the May issue, made a hole-in-one on the Kelowna course. This is the second time he has registered the notable performance, the first time a few years ago.

H. W. Wright, manager of the Imperial Bank, Westaskiwin, Alberta, put the club of that town on the map when he "tickled up the tin" from the tee at the 9th hole. He was playing with Messrs. Chalmers and Manley at the time.

And here is the record "hole-in-one" of the season, which has deservedly received recognition in the press throughout Canada. Dr. James Wardlaw, who is in his 79th year, and who is the leading family physician of Galt, whilst playing the newly constructed 18-hole course of the club in that city on June 5th with Mr. John Blake, police magistrate of Galt, accomplished the feat at the difficult 195-yard 7th hole. Mr. Blake was asked by the Editor to forward full particulars of the notable performance. Herewith in characteristic vein his letter:—

"You ask me for an account of Dr. Ward-law's hole-in-one. There isn't any. A hole-in-one either happens or it doesn't. In this case it happened.

"The doctor and I were puttering around as usual, as good democrats, carefully ob-fact that there was a foursome on the seventh green and said, 'Jim, you had better wait,' to which he replied, 'Oh, I can't drive that far,' and with a most delightfully easy swing drove off. Standing in to make me think I made a hole-in-one.' However, when we got up later to the green the foursome met us and congratulated the doctor, assuring him that the ball had hit the pin and dropped into the hole.

The hole is 195 yards and the doctor and myself have not the eagle eyes of our halcyon youth and at that distance could not see the ball drop into the hole. However, the foursome which did see it contained two members of the Seniors' Golf Association, Mr. J. N. McKendrick and Dr. J. F. McKendrick, and you know it is an impossibility for a Senior to tell a lie, so I think you can accept their statement as being correct."

Doctor Wardlaw has been a prominent member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association since its inception. This is the first time, the Editor rather thinks, that a Senior has made a hole-in-one. "Doctor Jim" is one of the best beloved men in Galt.

Fellow golfers when advised of his notable performance, secured a band and serenaded him at his home. The Doctor is a charter subscriber of the "Canadian Golfer". He won't have to send along his $4 cheque this year. He is the oldest member of our "Hole-in-One Club" and thrice welcome.

Some years ago the late Dr. Vardon—good golfing name that—also in his seventies, made the old 9th hole in Galt in one. The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" was on this occasion a witness of the feat.

The second "Hole-in-One" on the Humber Valley Course (Toronto) this season was made by Mr. M. R. Green. Playing with Messrs. W. S. Morris and C. S. Irwin, he performed the stunt at the 15th hole, 160 yards.

Mr. D. N. McLean, of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, put over a perfect shot from the tee at the sporting 18th hole on the Country Club course and the ball gently nestled into the cup.

Paris, Ontario, "the most picturesque town in Ontario" the highway signs say and say truly, has also a very picturesque 9-hole course. Here it was that F. A. Von Zuben, playing with Mr. A. C. H. Ryding turned the trick at the particularly well placed 7th hole, a distance of 200 yards. "Von" played left wing on the Paris hockey team, intermediate champions O.H.A., 1930. Some of the best golfers to-day in Canada were former hockey players. Here's hoping that the young Parisian is going to follow in the footsteps of Ross Somerville, Jack Cameron and other hockey stars who are now golfers of renown.

Letter from Mr. E. J. Clendenning, of the Bank of Montreal, Red Deer, Alberta, who joined our "Hole-in-One" Club this season:—

"The 'Canadian Golfer' is both interesting and instructive. Thank you for your generous prize. I can assure you I shall look forward to each issue of your magazine with pleasure."

The ladies more and more every season are becoming expert "one-shotters". Mrs. A. L. W. Glass, of the Weston Golf and Country Club, chose the 8th hole, 135 yards, for the stunt.

The Municipal Golf Links at Edmonton are again in the limelight. Mr. W. Wood bagged a "oneer" at the 7th hole there—135 yards.

The Arrowdale Municipal Golf Club, Brantford, "the hub of golf in Canada", is getting famous for the holes-in-one that are being recorded there. The latest aspirant for fame is John Hall—16-year-old golfer who registered the feat at the 4th hole.

Mr. James F. Freure, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Espanola, playing with Dr. H. H. Harvie, "got his" at the 189-yard hole on the Espanola course. Our good banking friends all over the country are very much in evidence this season in our competition.

What ho, for Vancouver again, and the Point Grey Golf and Country Club of that city. Playing the 17th hole, 165 yards, with Messrs. R. F. Howden, J. A. McLuckie and R. T. Buxton, Mr. F. G. Evans performed the "worth-while stunt."

Then the Thames Valley Course at London, Ont.—one of the most successful public golf clubs in Canada. Mr. J. W. Stockton secured an ace at the 3rd hole, 144 yards, on this interesting course.

Two Toronto clubs end up the reports for this month. Mr. T. H. Gooch on the Thornhill Golf and Country Club course "tickled up the tin" at the 7th hole for a one, whilst S. W. Skinner, a junior of the Thistle-down Golf and Country Club, when playing with W. Hart, Jimmy Good and C. H. Good, turned the trick at the 17th hole at Thistledown, 155 yards.

Total holes to date this season on Canadian courses, 40.

"The Plea of a Duffer"

I've never made a hole-in-one,
Nor do I know just how it's done,
A ninety-nine, must be confest,
Of all my recent scores is best.
On every green, as sure as fate,
At least three putts I seem to take;
But afterwards, when play is done—
Lor', bless my soul, ain't we got fun?

For then around the nineteenth hole
We sit and stimulate the soul
And all the pain, so long our lot,
Is banished, at this sacred spot.
So change your course; or change the ball,
It's really immaterial.
But you, who still such things control—
We pray you spare, the nineteenth hole!

Tragic Passing of Fine Tennis Player and Golfer

THE news of the sudden passing of Mr. A. J. Vesey of Montreal June 6th came as a great shock to tennis and golfing friends both in Quebec and Ontario.

The circumstances surrounding Mr. Vesey's death were most tragic. Two men walking along a road in St. Genevieve, some 20 miles west of Montreal, saw a man lying on his coat at the rear of an automobile. The engine was running and they approached to find that the man, who was identified as Mr. Vesey, was dead: Apparently he had been taken ill when driving and had got out to rest for a moment. A physician found that he had died of a heart attack.

Mr. Vesey who was 49 years of age was formerly Head Master of King's School, Westmount Que. until he retired a year ago. He was for many years the outstanding tennis player of Montreal but more recently had taken up golf and was a very capable exponent indeed, of the game. The Editor of the Canadian Golfer counts as some of the most enjoyable days spent on the links, games with this very versatile and charming Englishman, a decade or so ago.

Ontario Ladies' Championship

Miss Cecil Smith, of the Toronto Golf Club, for the Second Time Annexes the Title, With Mrs. Whittington Runner-up. Miss Ada Mackenzie Wins Qualifying Round but Drops Out of the Championship. Miss Haslett Re-elected President.

TORONTO, and especially the Toronto Golf Club, more or less, and that is perhaps to some extent a pity, dominate ladies' championship golf in Ontario these days. But the larger centres naturally have more players to draw upon and the law of average in golf, as in everything else, must hold good.

Once again, Miss Cecil Smith, of the Toronto Golf Club, at Oshawa this month was acclaimed Ontario Lady Champion, defeating in the final her club-mate, Mrs. Whittington, a very stylish player who learned her game in the Old Country, also a former Ontario champion. Miss Smith had previously won the title in 1928. Her sister, Miss Maude, was 1929 champion it will be remembered, when she defeated Miss Cecil in the final. The only other Ontario women champions have registered from Toronto, with the lone exception for some time of Mrs. Gordon Ferrie, of Hamilton. Years ago, Miss Florence Harvey, of the same city, now a resident of South Africa, was also much in the limelight. Toronto, however, is now supreme when it comes to women's golf. Thanks largely to Ross Somerville, of London, it now no longer is in a class by itself when men's golf is considered. It is a good thing for any amateur sport for chief honours to be distributed a bit. Miss Cecil is not only a fine young golfer but one of the world's greatest skaters. She and her sister are all-round athletes, a credit alike to Toronto and Canada. In golf, they are some strokes back yet of stars like Miss Joyce Wethered and Miss Diana Fishwick, but they are both young and if they "keep everlastingly at it" there is really no reason why they should not in the next few years become golfers of the first rank.

The links at Oshawa provided a splendid setting for Ontario's premier ladies' event of the season. The "Motor City" boasts and boasteth not unduly, that it has one of the finest 18-hole courses in the Province. Most centrally situated the course is not only picturesque but a fine test of golf. The river, running through the property, has to be crossed six times and there are other natural hazards which call for every shot in the bag. No. 6 hole is one of the prettiest No. 1 is especially a fine get-a-way one-shot holes to be found anywhere. Nos. 3 and 12 are long holes of character whilst there are three or four 400 yarders or upwards which provide a fine balance to the lay-out. Altogether Oshawa can be congratulated alike on its golf course and its most artistic club house.

One hundred and fourteen entrants teed-up on June 2nd, the opening day of the 21st Ontario Ladies' Championship, to find the fairways and greens alike in splendid condition for the qualifying round. The various prominent clubs of the Province were well represented from Windsor and Sarnia in the West, Port Hope in the East and Barrie in the North. Almost half the competitors were from Toronto clubs.

Three former winners of the title participated in the qualifying round, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mrs. E. W. Whittington, and Miss Cecil Smith, all from Toronto. Miss Mackenzie, however, informed the committee that she would not be able to play in the championship and was not a competitor therefore for any honours. These three former champions turned in cards of 86, a score also equalled by Mrs. T. J. Agar, the sterling Mississauga player. Later in the day the quartette played off at 18 holes, Miss Mackenzie had the best score, an 85. She came home with a sparkling 36. Mrs. Bennett carded an 88, Mrs. Whittington 90, Mrs. Agar 92. As a result of Miss Mackenzie dropping out, Mrs. Bennett was awarded first prize, and Mrs. Whittington second.

Four players with scores of 98 tied for sixteenth and last place in the championship flight and in the play-off Mrs. Donald Ross, of Rosedale, won with a four on the first hole, compared with fives by Mrs. Law, of Essex, and Miss Edith Ellis, of Hamilton, and a six by Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington. Four players from the Toronto Golf Club, Mrs. Whittington, Miss Cecil Smith, Miss Betty Wadsworth and Miss Myriam Emsley, won the team prize with an aggregate score of 370, sixteen strokes better than Rosedale's quartette. Miss Maisie Millichamp, of Oshawa, with a handicap of 36, turned in a gross of 107. She won the nett score prize with 71, three strokes better than Miss Cook, of Sarnia, and Mrs. H. A. Clarke, of Lake Shore.

The golf course at Windermere, designed by Mr. Geo. Cumming, has improved steadily each year and is now generally conceded to be the best course north of Toronto. Eighteen Holes! 6200 yds.! Open Amateur Championship competition, stating that out of 197 players 177 had handicaps of 9 or less, which is the limit for residents in Britain. She then proposed a vote of thanks to the Ontario executive, seconded by Mrs. Rodger, of Toronto, and passed with much applause.

The reports of the very capable secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. S. McCaughey, were read and adopted, showing a nice cash balance on hand. The president commented on one item in the secretary's report, namely, the transfer of two Ontario clubs to the Quebec Branch, explaining that this was owing to their being too far away to join in Ontario events.

In the absence of Miss McFarlane, the Provincial handicap manager, her excellent report was read by the secretary.

The chairman of the pars committee, Mrs. E. W. Whittington, read an interesting report.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Glendale Golf Club, Hamilton, extending an invitation to the Ontario Branch to hold the 1931 tournament over their course.

It was proposed by Mrs. Rodger, seconded by Mrs. Rowe and carried, that the decision be left to the committee.

During the course of her opening address, Miss Haslett referred to the resignation of Mrs. Ingersol Olmsted from the vice-presidency of the Association, which was received with expressions of most sincere regret. Mrs. Olmsted is a particularly able executive but other important interests for the next two years will preclude her from participating actively in the C.L.G.U.

The election of officers for 1930 resulted as follows:—

President, Miss Jean Haslett; vice-president, Mrs. H. V. Hamilton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. S. McCaughey; handicap manager, Miss J. McFarlane; chairman pars committee, Mrs. Whittington; Mrs. Rowe, hon. member; Mrs. Ferrie, Mrs. Hendrie, Mrs. Coulson.

This is a very strong executive indeed guaranteeing another successful year for the Ontario Branch of the C.L.G.U. The Branch is fortunate indeed in having Miss Haslett again in the presidential chair—alike a most charming and capable presiding officer, who devotes a great deal of time, plus experience to the affairs of this very important Ontario organization.

During tournament week the officers of the Association and players were delightfully entertained by a number of the prominent hostesses of Oshawa. The captain of the ladies' section of the club, Mrs. Caldwell, and her committee were perfectly splendid and were of great help in contributing to the smooth running of the tournament. The professional of the club, too, Jack Roberts, was of great assistance throughout the week.

At the conclusion of the championship final the prizes were presented on the pretty lawn in front of the club house by Miss Jean Haslett, pres-

Toronto Club's representative, however, early established a commanding lead of 6 up at the turn, thanks largely to brilliant work on the greens. Miss Smith was out in 39, three under par. Then Mrs. Bennett started to play the golf she really is capable of, and eventually carried Miss Cecil to the 17th before acknowledging a 3 and 1 defeat.

A large gallery witnessed the play-off on Friday for the championship between the club-mates, Mrs. Whittington (champion 1926) and Miss Smith (champion 1928). The latter, as on the previous day when pitted against Mrs. Bennett, was again very much on her short game and this proved the undoing of Mrs. Whittington, who driving well and approaching well, could not seem to get her putting touch going and lost hole after hole to her young opponent as a result. There is an old Scottish saying that a game is "won or lost fifty yards from the green" and it was here that Mrs. Whittington was outplayed. From the tee and through the green she matched or more than matched strokes with Miss Cecil, who did not secure the lead until the 9th hole. The 10th was won by Mrs. Whittington with a 4 to a 5, match all square. Miss Smith then one-putted the 11th to win. The 12th was divided. The young Toronto star again sank a longish putt on the 13th to take a 1-hole lead again. The 14th was halved. Playing the 15th perfectly, Miss Smith was 2 up and 3 to go, but Mrs. Whittington kept the match alive by halving the 16th, but the end came at the plateau hole, the 17th, where Miss Cecil secured a par 4 and once again the Ontario Ladies' Championship by 3 and 1 remained in the "Smith familiee". Three years in succession now have the charming young sisters annexed titular honours. Mrs. Whittington put up a splendid fight and both victor and vanquished were heartily, and deservedly congratulated on staging such an interesting final—one of the most interesting in the history of the Ontario Ladies' Championship.

All through the week the matches in the various flights were keenly contested and some very fine golf was displayed by many of the players. The results:—

First flight—Miss Edith Ellis, Hamilton, defeated Miss Mary Hunter, Glendale, 3 and 2.

Sir Henry Thornton and Vice-President Hungerford

Of the Canadian National Railways, Officially Open the New Course at St. Andrews, Que.

IN the presence of over 300 guests the St. Andrews golf course, situated on the outskirts of St. Andrews East, Que, about 40 miles from Montreal was officially opened on Saturday, June 7th. The course has been open for play for over a month and recently, the first invitation tournament of the Province was held over the course.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, and S. J. Hungerford, vice-president of the system were guests of honor, and officially opened the course by playing in a foursome with W. F. Drysdale and John Irwin, directors of the club. Sir Henry is honorary president of St. Andrews Golf Club.

Visitors were present in large numbers over the week-end. The opinion of officials and players in the P.Q.G.A. tourney as to the worth of the course was borne out by those who played over it at the official opening. The consensus was that it was of championship calibre.

Famous Hockeyists Play Golf

Jack Cameron, Olympic Goaltender, Leads a Big Field from Canada and the States With a Card of 77.

THE National Hockey League's Golf Tournament at the Forest Hills golf course, Montreal, on June 9th, brought out a record field of over 140 players, notwithstanding weather conditions were wet and disagreeable. Players and officials from almost every hockey circuit in the country were present, including New York, Toronto, Ottawa, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

The stocky Jack Cameron, who was goaltender of the Canadian Granites at the Hockey Olympics in 1924, and who of recent years has starred in golf both in Ontario and Quebec, winning many championships, led the large field with a well played 77 over the very tricky Forest Hills course and under very adverse weather conditions. He is playing great golf this season and should be a dangerous contender in the Canadian Amateur next August in London, Ontario. He was greeted with loud applause as he was presented with the Cantilever Shoe Trophy. The best gross honours for those directly connected with the National Hockey League went to Arthur Ross, manager of the Boston Bruins. Ross went over the course in 77.

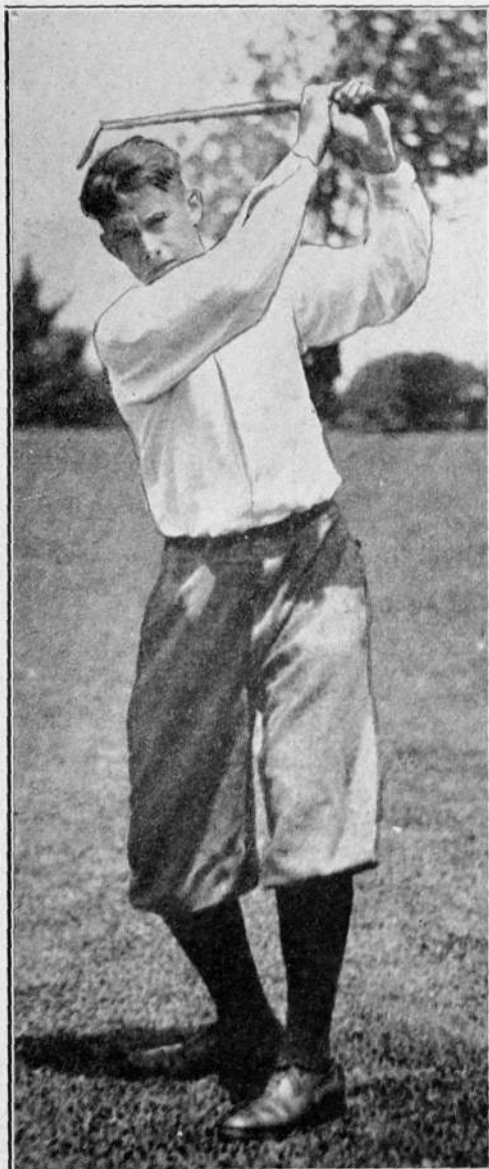

Among the out-of-town guests was Charles S. King, of Windsor, president of the International Hockey League, and a very prominent member of the Essex County Golf and Country Club. Mr. King drew prolonged applause as he stepped up to receive a prize for scoring the best nett for visitors.

The Dudley Oliver Cup for the best nett score of league and club officials who were out of town was awarded to Joe Cattarinich, of the Canadiens, with a nett 71. Cattarinich forwarded the score from St. Louis, Mo., where he is looking after his racing interests.

The prize list was a record one for Canadian golf. Here it is:—

U. S. Western Institutes Caddy Scholarship

THE U.S. Western Open Championship this year will be held on the Indianwood Golf and Country Club, Detroit, August 20th-23rd, and as a result several Ontario professionals are making arrangements to participate. The Western apparently does not cater to amateurs. Professionals are only required to pay an entrance fee of $5.00, whilst amateurs with a handicap of 5 or less are required to dig down deep to the tune of $20. It is safe to say as a result there will be mighty few "amatoors" at Detroit.

The Western Association, by the way, has founded a "Chick" Evans Caddie Scholarship—a splendid idea. This is an annual scholarship of approximately $300 at the Northwestern University and will be awarded to the caddie who makes the best showing during the year. The competition is open to all regular caddies of member clubs of the Association. Each member club is entitled to nominate one candidate each year, and such nomination must be made on or before August 1st. The executive committee of the Western Golf Association will review the records of the boys nominated about September 1st, and the award made in time for the school year. Clubs must select their candidates on the following points:—Integrity of purpose (scholarship record in high school—desire to continue their education). Daily appearance (cleanliness to be considered more than good clothes). Attendance, conduct (both on and off club property). Service to the club. All contestants must meet the entrance requirements of the Northwestern University.

Any Canadian golfers wishing to enter for the Open must do so by August 13th with Mr. H. C. Gifford, secretary, 120 South La Salle St., Chicago.

Bally Haly Course at St. Johns

Mr. A. A. Werlich formerly manager at Brantford of the Bank of Montreal who was recently promoted to the very important branch of the bank at St. John's, Newfoundland, writes the Editor:—

"Both Mrs. Werlich and myself have joined the Bally Haly Golf Club, and as soon as we are settled in our house and can locate our clubs, we hope to have a round on this very fine course. It is most beautifully situated, is a scenic wonder, and here and there one sees glimpses of the sea. We hope to take up golf seriously again, and we are going to like St. John's very much. The scenery is simply magnificent and the roads excellent. In due time I hope to get some of the wonderful salmon and trout fishing. From the little I have seen of the country, I can readily understand why they call the Island "a sportsman's paradise." We are just entering our summer season, which is somewhat late this year. The course is open and most of the permanent greens are in play. The club house is very comfortable."

Amateur Championship, London Hunt Club

Links Are Being Whipped into Fine Shape for the Major Canadian Event the Week of August 4th. Description of the Eighteen-hole Course Which Will Provide a Fine Test for the Contestants.

FOR the first time in the history of the Canadian Amateur Championship, London, Ontario, will be the venue of this major fixture, which is being eagerly anticipated by the leading players of Canada and the States. The officials and members of the London Hunt are sparing neither expense nor effort to provide a course for the Championship in every way worthy of the stellar event and the outstanding amateurs who will participate therein. The following official programme has just been issued by the Royal Canadian Golf Association:—

The Amateur Golf Championship Tournament, open to amateur golfers (official club handicap limit 8), who are members of clubs belonging to the Royal Canadian Golf Association, also to all amateur players in good standing with their respective associations, will be played on the course of the London Hunt Club, London, Ont., from Monday, August 4th, to August 9th, inclusive, when the Championship Trophy, the Earl Grey Cup, and R.C.G.A. Gold and Silver Medals will be competed for under the following conditions, viz.:—

1. An amateur golfer is one who, after attaining the age of eighteen years; has not

(a) Carried clubs for hire; and who, after attaining the age of sixteen years, has not

(b) Received any consideration either directly or indirectly, for playing or for teaching the game, or for playing in a match or tournament.

(c) Because of his skill as a golfer, received after December 31st, 1922, a salary or remuneration, either directly or indirectly, from any firm dealing in goods relating to the playing of the game.

(d) Played for prize money in any competition.

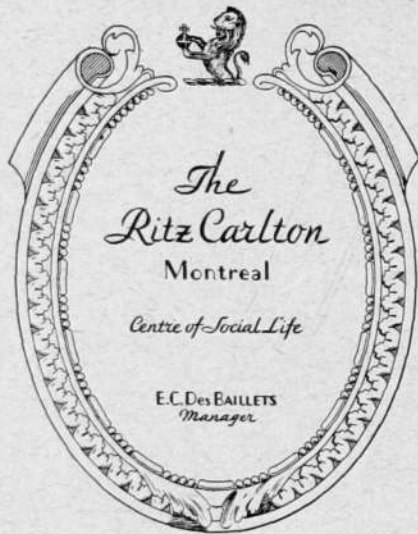

NOTE.—The acceptance without payment of golf balls, clubs or golf merchandise, will render a player ineligible to compete in the Amateur Championship.

2. Competitors shall enter on the form supplied through the secretaries of their respective clubs. A 36-hole qualifying round will be played on Monday, Aug. 4th, the 32 players returning the lowest scores to qualify for championship play. Following the qualifying rounds, each round will be 36 holes match play, commencing on Tuesday, with the semi-finals on Friday and the finals on Saturday.

“Kern” Marsh, professional of the London Hunt Club—the golfing mentor of Mr. Ross Somerville, twice Amateur Champion of Canada.

Any competitor entering from another country shall enter through the secretary of the recognized authority controlling golf in the country from which he elects to enter. A declaration, signed by the secretary, that the entrant is an amateur golfer in accordance with the foregoing definition, must accompany the entry.

3. All entries shall be subject to the approval of and must be accepted by the Executive Committee of the R.C.G.A.

4. The entrance fee shall be $5.00, and must be received by the secretary-treasurer, B. L. Anderson, 357 Bay Street, Toronto 2, not later than Monday, July 14th. No entries will be received after this date.

5. The competition shall be played in accordance with the Rules of Golf, as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, as approved or modified by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

6. In the event of a halved match, competitors shall continue to play until one shall gain a hole, when the match shall be won.

7. Any competitor who is not present at the first teeing ground when his name is called shall be disqualified.

8. All disputes shall be settled by the Executive Committee of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, whose decision shall be final.

9. The winner of the tournament shall be the champion amateur golfer for the year, and the trophy shall be held for that year by the club from which the winner shall have entered. The winner shall receive a gold medal and the Earl Grey Gold Cup; the runner-up, a silver medal.

Messrs. Eddie Held and Gardiner White, of New York, respectively champion and runner-up last year at Jasper Park, have stated their intention to be at London. In addition all the leading players of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, the Maritimes

(it is hoped), Ontario, Quebec and Saskatchewan and prominent amateurs from the United States will tee up at London which is flinging wide its golfing gates to welcome the galaxy of stars. Next August the Forest City will be the stage for what is confidently predicted will be the most successful Canadian Amateur Championship ever recorded since its inception thirty-five years ago.

The following very interesting description of the course has been furnished the "Canadian Golfer" by Dr. W. J. Brown, one of the leading officials and players of the London Hunt. It can be studied carefully and to advantage by intending entrants:—

Hole No. 1—330 yards, par 4. Tee shot at this hole carries across the elbow of the river. 200 yard carry well placed is necessary to make this hole easy. The green is bounded closely on the left by the river and on the right by boundary fence and is guarded by a trap on the right.

Hole No. 2—150 yards, par 3 (new hole this year). River close to left side of the green. Well trapped in front and on each side.

Hole No. 3—420 yards, par 4. The tee shot has to be straight to get between two large trees 200 yards from the tee. The green is on an elevated plateau and is trapped on each side; requires a fine second shot to carry and hold this green.

Hole No. 4—455 yards, par 4. Two good shots to a well trapped green. Difficult par 4.

Hole No. 5—185 yards, par 3. "What should a fellow use here?" This is the question that always comes up no matter how often you step on this tee. "Don" Carriek acknowledged that he was never so puzzled as to what club to use as when he first faced this green. Anything from a brassie to a spade mashie is used every day with varying success. The green is on top of a hill well guarded by traps. No "oneers" have yet been recorded.

Hole No. 7—370 yards, par 4. Green is situated on top of a hill and with sloping surface running up for a second shot. Well trapped. A well placed maple tree makes it a dog's leg to left.

Hole No. 8—370 yards, par 4. Two nice shots to a blind hole. Woods on the right, boundary fence behind. Narrow fairway.

Hole No. 9—435 yards, par 4. Boundary fence along right side all the way. Two long shots to a blind hole. Fine green; well trapped.

Hole No. 13—435 yards, par 4. Two nice shots to a beautiful green in a valley.

Hole No. 14—165 yards, par 3. Sloping foreground and traps on each side as well as behind. Makes perfect tee shot necessary.

Hole No. 15—350 yards, par 4. A well placed tee shot is necessary to open up this green which is guarded by a hill and trees on the left.

Hole No. 16—400 yards, par 4. Trees guard this green as well as tee shot. A well placed tee shot is necessary to open up this green.

Hole No. 17—316 yards, par 4. This is from the top of a hill and green is well guarded by deep sand traps.

Hole No. 18—255 yards, par 4. Many interesting putts for threes are witnessed by the gallery which lines the terrace of the important finishes. A long driver when he gets away lucky may get an occasional putt for a two.

Total yardage 6336, par 70.

Saskatchewan Provincial Tournament

(By Enthusiast)

AT one time it was intended to hold the Saskatchewan Provincial Tournament at Swift Current this year but word has been received that the Swift Current course, though in fair shape, is hardly up to championship standard. This being so the sporting members of the Moose Jaw Golf Club at once offered their course for the event and the association as quickly accepted the offer. The tournament will probably be held the week commencing Monday, 18th August. All Provincial golfers who know the Moose Jaw course are delighted at the prospect of a week's golf over that sporting course with its many ups and downs, deep ravines and valleys, and tricky one-shot holes. No one can teach the Moose Jaw boys anything about the art of entertaining visiting golfers and a right regular royal time is assured for all. The programme has not been fully arranged yet but will embrace the Open and Amateur Championships, a handicap event, a professional event, driving, putting and approaching competitions, and a boys as well as a junior championship.

Now that the Western Canadian Championship has been discontinued these Provincial tournaments will assume once again their old-time importance and enthusiasm. Golf will be provided not only for the comparatively few experts but for the average golfer—the backbone of the game and this as formerly will be accomplished by providing three if not four different flights following the qualifying rounds.

Phil Morse, present Provincial champion, will be on hand to defend his title and will have his work cut out for him against the redoubtable Jimmie Russell, who will be playing on his own course.

Let us hope that some dark horse will come along and be crowned champion. Come along you golfers from the other Provinces and show us how the game should be played.

In connection with the above championship, Mr. J. P. Runciman, hon. secretary of the Association, writes:—

"The tournament was fixed to commence on August 4 at Moose Jaw, but Mr. Byers, on the executive of the R.C.G.A., informs me that that is the date of the Dominion Amateur Championship. I have, therefore, written to-day to the Moose Jaw Golf Club suggesting that the date of the Saskatchewan Tournament should be changed, if at all possible. There are difficulties in the way I know, but these may be overcome.

The Saskatchewan Open and Amateur Championships will both be held at Moose Jaw, and I hope that the opening date may be fixed for either Monday, July 21, or Monday, July 28.

The winner of the Open last year was Eric Bannister, Winnipeg (149), and the runner-up was Joe Land, Winnipeg (151). The winner of the Amateur was Philip Morse, Saskatoon, who was also the winner in 1928. The runner-up was Fred Dorr, Regina.

TOURNAMENT DATES JULY 14th-17th

Since the above was in type Mr. Runciman advises the "Canadian Golfer" that the definite dates of the tournament have been decided upon, namely, July 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th, at the Moose Jaw Golf and Country Club, Moose, Jaw, Sask.

Mrs. Fraser Again to the Fore

MRS. W. G. FRASER, the former Alexa Stirling, of International golfing fame, won the ladies' championship of Ottawa City and District Golf Association, played over the Rivermead Golf Course, Ottawa, this month. Mrs. Fraser's score was 87, which taking into consideration the hard golfing conditions, owing to gusty winds, was very creditable. Miss Evelyn Mills, of Royal Ottawa, formerly of Toronto, was the runner-up. Miss Mills' card showed 93 and her handicap was nine strokes. They were followed by Mrs. Maude Ross, last year's winner, who turned in a card of 94, and by Mrs. Franklyn Ahearn, also of Royal Ottawa, with a score of 95.

Mrs. Fraser as Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, Ga., was one of the outstanding and dominating lady golfers of America. She won the U.S. Ladies' Championship in 1916, 1919 and 1920 and was runner-up in 1921, 1923 and 1925. In 1922 she annexed the Metropolitan Championship. In 1920 she won the Canadian Ladies' Open Championship and was runner-up to Mrs. Gavin in 1922 and to Miss Ada Mackenzie in 1925. She learned her game in Atlanta with Bobby Jones, both being pupils of the celebrated Scottish professional, Maiden, who is largely given credit for their outstanding development as golfers.

First Tournament of Season Won by Miss Ada Mackenzie

PLAYING true to form as the outstanding woman player of Canada, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of the Toronto Ladies' Golf Club, many times champion, won the opening event of the 1930 season—the Invitation Ladies' Tournament for the Toronto clubs at Rosedale.

Last year at Lambton Miss Ada won by a one stroke margin but last month at Rosedale she had a three stroke margin over Miss Cecil Smith and Mrs. Hedley Macklem, both of the Toronto Golf Club. A total of 106 players teed off but just less than half this number turned in cards, a feature that is seldom encountered in women's golf. The players found the greens lightning fast and many of them were bothered with the spasmodic bursts of rain that occurred during the day. The scoring was somewhat high although the rounds of the leading players were exceptionally good for the 5,975-yard test.

Miss Mackenzie started out at a great clip and at the turn had used up 38 strokes, two under par, as she had birdies on the third and ninth and pars on the other seven holes. But on the homeward trip her game became erratic and in addition to being two over par on the tenth and fifteenth she was one over on the eleventh, twelfth, seventeenth and eighteenth. Her 47 coming in, however, was sufficient to overtake the two Toronto Club players, who had turned in 88's early in the day. Her card:—

Out	5 5 4 3 5 3 5 5 3	—38
In	6 6 6 3 5 7 3 6 5	—47—85

Miss Smith, Ontario champion 1930, was out in 39 and was travelling along at a nice clip until she struck the 110-yard sixteenth. Here she was short with her first, over the green with her second tee shot and finally holed out with a big seven, which was her undoing. Mrs. Macklem put together two consistent nines, 43 going out and 45 coming in. Six players turned in scores of 90 or better, the other being Mrs. R. W. Gouinlock, last year's runner-up, with 89, and Mrs. Douglas Weld and Mrs. Whittington, each having 90's. All three are members of the Toronto Golf Club.

The latter club won the team event for any four players from one club returning the lowest handicap scores, the winning team being composed of Mrs. Macklem, 80; Miss Smith, 81; Mrs. Gouinlock, 81, and Mrs. Gerald Walker, 81, a total of 323.

Mrs. Gouinlock won the driving competition in the afternoon with an aggregate distance of 631 yards for three drives, with Mrs. C. S. Eddis, of Rosedale, second with 593 yards. Mrs. Gouinlock also had the longest individual drive with 223, but Miss Helen Reid, of Rosedale, won this prize, by elimination, with 217 yards. The other prize winners were:—

Gross scores—1, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Ladies' Club, 85; 2, Miss Cecil Smith, Toronto Golf, and Mrs. Hedley Macklem, Toronto Golf, 88.

Nett scores—1, Mrs. R. W. Gouinlock, Toronto Golf, 81, and Mrs. Gerald Walker, Toronto Golf, 81; 3, Mrs. Adair Gibson, Lambton, 82.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, winner with the score of 85 of the first ladies' tournament of the season.

Canadian Professional Golf Championship

Beautiful Course of the Burlington Golf and Country Club Selected as the Venue for this Important Event on Monday, July the 21st.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made this month that the Executive of the Canadian Professional Golf Association has accepted the kind invitation of the Burlington Golf and Country Club and will hold its Annual Championship over the Burlington course, one of the best in Ontario on Monday, July 21st or three days before the Open Championship of Canada at the Ancaster course of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, situated some fourteen miles away. The two events will therefore "dovetail" in very nicely.

The Professional is one of the most important championships of Canada. The prize list is a very liberal one and always attracts a large field of the leading professionals of Canada. This year it is understood that several of the prominent Western pros are making arrangements to come East and participate in both the Professional and Open Championships. They are assured of the heartiest kind of a welcome. The present holder of the title is Willie Lamb of the Uplands Golf and Country Club, Toronto who also won the event in 1928. The Runner-up last year was Arthur Hulbert of the Thornhill Golf Club, Toronto.

The officers of this particularly well run association are: Hon. Patron Mr. J. D. Montgomery, Toronto Golf Club; Captain, Wm. Lamb, Uplands Golf Club, Toronto; Vice-Captain, Frank Lock, St. Andrews Golf Club Toronto; Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, A. E. Cruttenden, Summit Golf Club, Toronto; (who last year succeeded Karl Keffer of The Royal Ottawa who occupied the position for nearly twenty years); executive committee, Wm. Lamb, F. Lock, Geo. Cumming, Toronto Golf Club; Wm. Freeman, York Downs Golf Club, Toronto; A. F. MacPherson, Marlborough Golf Club, Montreal; Arthur Desjardines, Laval-sur-le-Lac Golf Club, Montreal; J. R. Brown, Sumerlea Golf Club,

Montreal; Arthur Keeling, Lookout Point Golf Club, Welland, Ont.; Nicol Thompson, Hamilton Golf and Country Club; Karl Keffer, Royal

Willie Lamb, Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, who will defend his title of professional champion of Canada next month at Burlington, Ontario. He won the event both in 1927 and 1928.

Ottawa Golf Club, and A. E. Cruttenden.

An added feature of the Championship last year and one that is destined to become a fixture was the match the day following the Championship between teams of 12 professionals representing Ontario and Quebec along the same lines as the celebrated Ryder Cup matches competed for

Regina Club Has a Monthly Bulletin

“THE Barrack Bulletin” is a very interesting monthly bulletin issued in connection with the Regina Golf Club. Extracts from the May issue:—

The greens are improving daily and have already been cut and it is hoped that they will be in use, owing to favourable weather conditions, at a much earlier date than usual.

In spite of the very dry season last year the tree plantations have done well and promise to improve the appearance of the course in years to come. In the last few weeks from our own nursery 1,200 poplar trees and 600 maples have been transplanted. A carragana hedge has been planted on the boundary line north of the 11th green. 2,000 poplar cuttings have also been put in nursery rows. All trees have been pruned.

G. H. Burns, who was previously connected with the club for six years, has been re-engaged as professional and has been available at the shop for the past six weeks. Burns is an experienced club maker and instructor and has a good stock of clubs and other equipment on hand. Members are requested to extend him their patronage. Attention is also called to his season cleaning contract. The price is $5.00 and in addition to cleaning, minor repairs such as stringing, keeping grips in order, facing, etc., are included. Members are invited to avail themselves of this contract and they will find that the price charged is reasonable for the services given. The professional is provided by the club for the use of all members, and they are asked to make

The world over Forgan clubs are famous for their balance and perfect finish. They are manufactured at St. Andrews within a few yards of the home green of the St. Andrews old course. The men making them are themselves keen and competent golfers, who appreciate thoroughly everything that can be expected from a club.

The Forgan business was founded in 1819 by Hugh Philip, who was appointed club maker to the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews. Robert Forgan succeeded Philip in 1856, and since 1883 the business has been carried on by Robert Forgan & Son. The traditions of St. Andrews, the centre of the golfing world, have been faithfully maintained in club making by Robert Forgan & Son, Limited.

Forgan Clubs are sold by professionals and Forgan depots in all parts of Canada.

full use of his services at all times. The shop telephone is 91420.

Members are asked to enter as many competitions as they can and to hand in their names for the club matches arranged with the Moose Jaw, Wascana and Gyo Clubs prior to each match. Watch the notice boards for announcements.

The best magazines of interest to golfers will be placed in the club house. The dining room will be run along much the same lines as last year and the prices will remain the same. Members are urged to make more use of the facilities provided on the main floor of the club house and to help in making the dining room meet the expense of operation by extending their patronage.

A number of dances will be put on during the season and members who have not attended any of these functions are invited to attend the next dance.

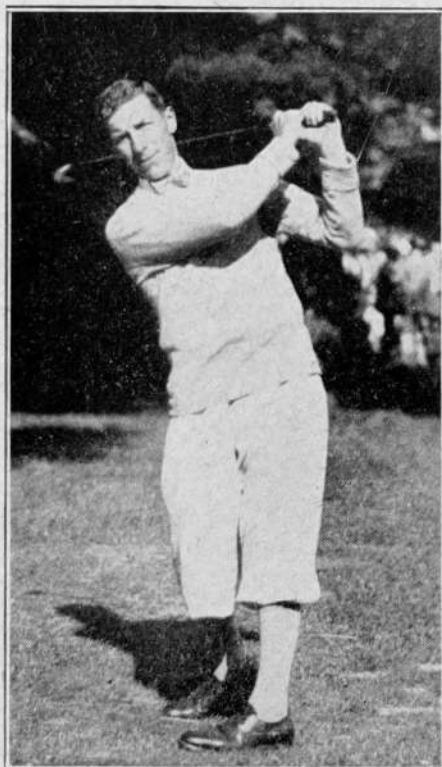

St. Clair Becomes Lakewood Golf and Country Club

AT a meeting last month the well known St. Clair Country Club, Windsor, Ont. (links at Tecumseh), was thoroughly re-organized and the name changed to the Lakewood Golf and Country Club, Ltd. The officers of the new organization are:—President, W. J. Moore; vice-president, J. P. Kelso; hon. secretary, Wilfred Roach; manager, Harry Scrivens; chairman green committee, J. P. Kelso; other directors, Messrs. Rovell, Poisson, St. Louis, Johnston, Andries, Clark, Bridge, Cronin, Sterling, Dr. Morand and Cross.

The club has a membership of 250 including many leading residents of Detroit and a very interesting course of 6,005 yards. It is the intention this season to greatly improve the course and club house. The capable professional is Wm. Fox, who holds the course record—a remarkable 63.

Ross Somerville in Top-Hole Form

THAT Ross Somerville will have to be seriously reckoned with again for Amateur Championship honours on his home course next August is demonstrated by the splendid score he put on this month at An-

Ross Somerville, twice Canadian Amateur Champion, who the past few months has been playing at the top of his game.

caster, where he carded a 68 in the first round of the Somerville Cup competition between London and Hamilton. His approaching and putting was deadly. Incidentally, the London team won, 40½ points to 19½ points. The Somerville Cup was donated in 1928 by Mr. C. R. Somerville, father of Ross, for competition every year between 4-men teams from London, Hamilton, Windsor and Brantford, and provokes much interest. Brantford and London have each won the competition, the former in 1928 and the latter last year.

Somerville, it will be remembered, last winter at Pinehurst defeated in the semi-final in the North and South Championship George Voigt, possibly the second ranking amateur in the United States, who nearly eliminated Bobby Jones last month in the British Amateur at St. Andrews. Ross in the final of the North and South was defeated, however, by Eugene Homans. Somerville has always been unbeatable on his home course. Last year he was not playing at the top of his form. This season he is. He has already been installed a warm favourite for Canadian Championship honours at the London Hunt the week of August 4th.

The following was his fine card at Ancaster in the first round of the Somerville Cup competition for 1930:

Par—
Out	454	543	434—36
In	454	344	354—36—72
Somerville
Out	354	433	434—33
In	444	335	354—35—68

In the afternoon Somerville scored a 74 and his opponent, A. A. Adams, 75. The latter was 1 stroke back of the ex-champion but defeated him 1 up match play. The London team was composed of Somerville, Nash, Browne, and Morris, and Hamilton was represented by A. A. Adams, G. Wigle, Dr. Bruce Sutherland, and Major Wilson.

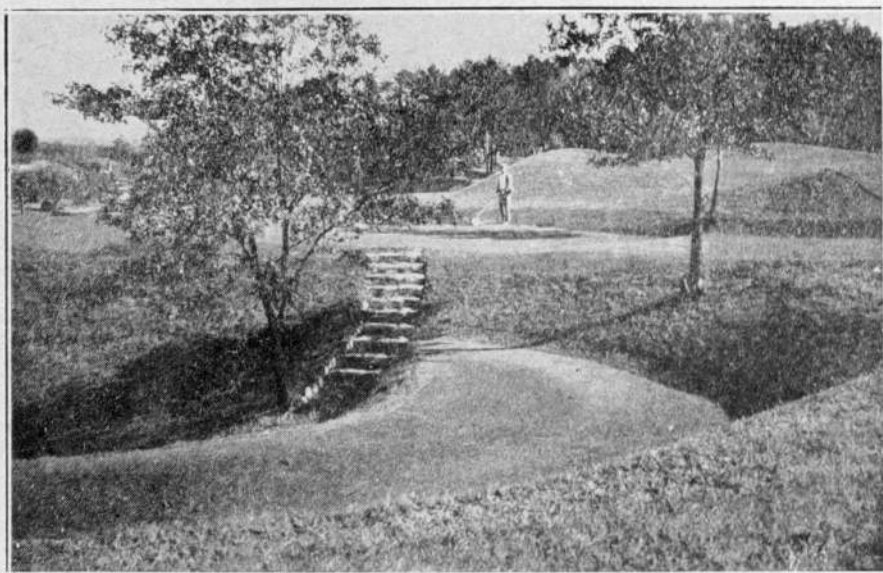

Dates of the Maritime Championships

GOLF is booming this season in the Maritime and much interest is being taken in the 1930 championships.

Mr. Gerald Mielke, of Halifax the leading Amateur golfer of the Provinces "down by the Sounding Seas" writes the Editor;—

"The Ladies Provincial Tournament is to be held at the Gorsebrook Golf Club in Halifax on July 17th and 18th.

The Ladies' Maritime Meet is to be held at Fredericton, N. B., the last week in August.

Then Men's Provincial Tournament is to be held at Truro, August 16th. By the way, Truro are improving their course considerably this season for the Mens Provincial meet.

In regards to the Maritime, we believed all along that Amherst, N. S. was going to hold this meet, but according to Press despatches they have found they can not stage this important event. Therefore, in the meantime, we have not set dates for this meet, unless possibly we could arrange to have it held at St. Andrew's, N. B. in September after the Tourist season is over.

Canadian Women Seniors

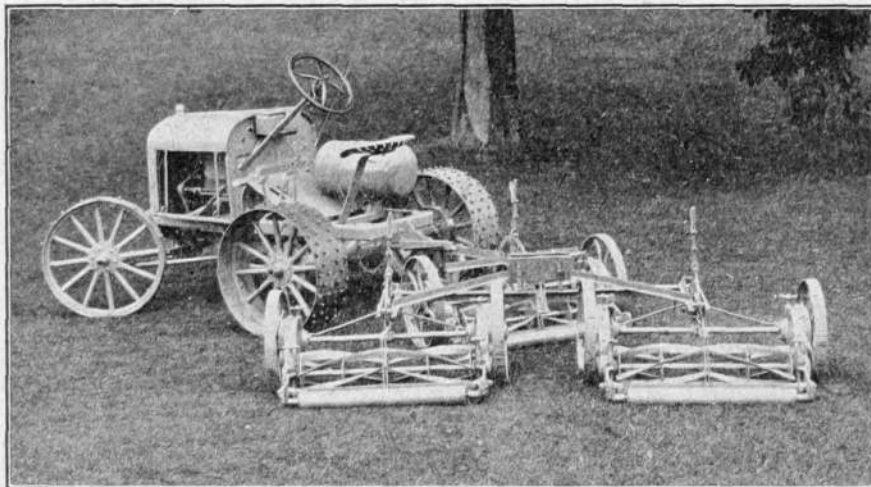

Annual Tournament to be Held at Lambton Golf and Country Club September 30th-October 1st and 2nd. Mrs. Hamilton Burns Resigns from Secretaryship After Eight Years Splendid Service.

MRS. A. E. Mussen of Montreal, President of the Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association, was in Toronto recently attending an important meeting of the Executive of the Association.

It was decided to accept the kind invitation of the President and Governors of the Lambton Golf and Country Club to hold the eighth annual Tournament of the Association at the Lambton Golf and Country Club on Tuesday, September 30th and Wednesday and Thursday, October 1st and 2nd. As it was at Lambton that the C.W.S.G.A. was organized, it is the intention to make the "eighth birthday" celebration a memorable one in every respect. It is hoped to have again a team from the United States Senior Women's Golf Association present at the Tournament and participate in an International Match. Last year at Montreal the ladies from "Across the Border" won the event 8 points to 3.

Strong committees were appointed to take charge of the various events and ensure the success and smooth running of the Tournament. The annual meeting of the Association will be held on Wednesday afternoon October 1st and the Annual Dinner which is always the jolliest kind of an affair on Thursday evening October 2nd. The privilege of staying at the delightful club house of the Lambton Club will be especially appreciated and enjoyed by the entrants. The association has now a membership of over 160 of the prominent women golfers of Canada. Mrs. Sidney Jones of the Toronto Golf Club won the Championship last year.

It will be heard with genuine regret that Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns of Toronto the Hon-Secretary Treasurer of the Association, since its inception eight years ago has resigned from office the resignation taking effect June 15th. Without any fulsome flattery it can be stated that much of the success of the C.W.S.G.A. goes to the credit of its charming Secretary ever since its organization. It is satisfactory to know that in future she will still take a keen interest in the Association and play in the Tournaments. Mrs. Burns is succeeded by Mrs. W. Garth Thomson of the Kanawaki Golf Club, an exceedingly well known and popular Montreal golfer. Mrs. Thomson was Runner-up in the Championship last year to Mrs. Sidney Jones.

With the Professionals

Interesting News of the Men Who Do So Much for the Royal and Ancient Game, from Coast to Coast.

Professional appointments have now all been made in Canada for the season of 1930 and the grand total comes to 253, made up by Provinces as follows:—Alberta 15, British Columbia 19, Manitoba 17, New Brunswick 8, Nova Scotia 11, Ontario 116, Quebec 55, Saskatchewan 12. There are no professionals listed in Prince Edward Island. Ontario as the golfiest Province in the Dominion, it will be seen is easily in the van. By cities the record is as follows:—Toronto 27, Montreal 16, Winnipeg 14, Ottawa 6, Vancouver 6, Victoria 5, Hamilton 5, Calgary 4, Edmonton, London, Brantford, Halifax, and Quebec 3. There are several cities with two professionals. Adding assistant professionals to the roll, the "mentors of golf" in the Dominion now number all told three hundred and more. Showing the wonderful growth of the game, a few years ago, comparatively speaking, there were not more than a score of professionals in the whole of the Dominion.

Despatch from Chicago:—

"An embryonic professional golf league has been organized for intercity team play along the lines of professional baseball, it was announced by James Carzerry, captain of the Chicago Club. Teams have been assembled in Cleveland, St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit.

To avoid the semblance of commercialization, the first games will be played for charity, receipts from the first meet going to the Michigan Society for Crippled Children."

He is in fine fettle this season.

Cable from Portrush, Ireland, June 6th:—

“Charles Whitcombe, English professional, won the Irish Open golf championship to-day with a 72-hole total of 289. The veteran Abe Mitchell was runner-up with 297.”

Whitcombe, who is pro at Crews Golf Club, near London, is a member of a famous golfing family, he and his brothers, Ernest R. and R. A., having been in the forefront of British golf for some years. This, however, is his first major championship. He won the West of England Professional Championship in 1921 and 1924, “Daily Mail” Tournament in 1924, Gleneagles Tournament in 1927, and many other important events. In the Ryder Cup matches last year he defeated Johnny Farrell, former U.S. Open Champion, most decisively by 8 and 6. He is the youngest of the famous triumvirate of brothers—he is 34 years of age.

Whitcombe was a member of the British Ryder Cup team which visited Toronto and Montreal in 1927. He did not play very well at Toronto, where he had rounds of 80 and 74. At Montreal he carded a 77 and 70, the latter score winning him $150 for the best score of the day.

Johnnie Lawrence, pro at the Dauphin Golf and Country Club, Dauphin, Man., is entering for the U.S. professional qualifying round at St. Paul, Minn. He is a Winnipeg boy but has been professional at the Dauphin Club for the past three seasons. He has been playing consistently in the low 70's this season and is a very clean-cut young professional.

Twice within a year has Henry Cotton, the 23-year-old English professional, beaten Horton Smith, the famous American, who is 12 months his junior. A year ago Cotton beat the American by 6 and 5 on the Coulsdon Court course, Surrey, and at the same venue he again triumphed by 4 and 3.

* * *

Abe Mitchell amply avenged his one-hole defeat at Moor Park, when, in a 36 holes challenge match against Leo Diegel, the American professional champion, at Blackwell, near Birmingham, he won by 3 and 2. Throughout the Englishman held the lead. He finished the first round three up, having a score of 71 against 74.

Cable from Nottingham, June 12th: “Archie Compston, big British pro, today defeated Leo Diegel, United States professional golf champion, in an 18-hole match 7 and 6. Compston set a record of 67 for the course.

Horton Smith, United States, beat C. A. Whitcombe, one up.

Diegel and Smith beat Compston and Whitcombe in a four-ball match in the morning at the Beeston Fields course, 3 up and 2 to play."

Yarmouth, N.S., Telegram:—

On Tuesday evening, June 3rd, Ben Kerr, professional at the Yarmouth Golf and Country Club, in play with his assistant, James Amiro, shot a fine new low score of 34—3 under par—composed of the following "eagles" and "birdies":—

6 2 4 3 2 4 3 6 4—34—Mr. Kerr.
6 4 3 5 2 4 3 6 6—39—Mr. Amiro.

The course is in perfectly topping condition for excellent scoring and the many competitions under way should see some keen rivalry.

A unique event took place at the club's recent initial banquet dance of the season, when the president, Dr. G. W. T. Farish, formally announced that the three-week-old son of Ben Kerr, the professional, Benjamin Rodney, had been made an honorary member in appreciation of his father's valuable reconstructive work, together with his successful and popular methods of tuition of the Royal and Ancient game of golf.

A number of Canadian golf professionals who had received invitations to compete in the St. Louis Open tournament at the Sunset Hill Country Club, have been advised that the dates have been postponed from July 18, 19 and 20 to Sept. 19, 20 and 21, so as not to interfere with other championships and tournaments previously arranged.

The Canadian Open at Hamilton

Record Field of Entrants and Record Galleries are Assured for the Big Show Next Month at the Beautiful Course of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club at Ancaster, Ontario.

A RECENT visit by the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" to Ancaster demonstrated that the course of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club is in superb shape for the Open Championship of Canada, to be held there next month on the 24th, 25th and 26th. Leo Diegel, the defending champion, and the other stars who will participate in the event will not be able to complain of course conditions if they do not register record-making scores. The fairways throughout are a ribbon of green, simply inviting shots with the wood, whilst every green is well nigh puttingly perfect.

Several minor improvements and changes are being made to the course. Extra traps are in process of construction around the third, sixth, thirteenth and seventeenth greens which will stiffen up these holes. Twenty yards has been added to the length of the first hole, thirty yards on the twelfth and fifty yards to the fourteenth. The yardage of the Grand Total—6470 yards, par 72.

This length of 6,470 yards is an excellent one, although about 200 to 250 yards less than the average championship courses in Great Britain and the States. There is, however, a particularly fine balance of holes. Mr. Henry Colt, the famous British golf architect, never did a better job than his creation at Ancaster. It ranks as one of his outstanding courses. The magnificent new club house with its ing entrants will come on to Hamilton for the Canadian Open. The majority of them have not played the Ancaster course, having risen to fame since 1919. Diegel, however, then a mere youth, took part in the Championship on that occasion and was in fifth place with a score of 295, or 17 strokes back of Edgar, the winner. artistic surroundings of sloping lawns, gay with flowers and shrubs, is a fitting crown to the glorious course.

The last time the Canadian Open was played in Hamilton was in 1919, when the late J. Douglas Edgar made the record-making score of 278 for the course. This was the best score ever recorded in the Canadian Open until last year at Kanawaki, Montreal, Diegel registered 274. If the weather conditions are favourable on July 25th and 26th at Ancaster, with the great galaxy of stars who have signified their intention of entering it would not be at all surprising if Edgar's score is not equalled, although the course to-day is both longer and stiffer than when he collected his glittering total.

The U.S. Open Championship is to be held July 10th-11th and 12th at the Interlachen Club, Minneapolis, and the greater number of the leading entrants will come on to Hamilton for the Canadian Open. The majority of them have not played the Ancaster course, having risen to fame since 1919. Diegel, however, then a mere youth, took part in the Championship on that occasion and was in fifth place with a score of 295, or 17 strokes back of Edgar, the winner. All the outstanding Canadian professionals and amateurs will be at An-castle next month and it is rather hoped that Bobby Jones, too, may decide to go after the only great Championship he has not annexed. He would be a stellar attraction. Record galleries in any event are assured as Hamilton is most accessible to leading golf centres both in Canada and the States.

Nicol Thompson, Internationally known player, has for many years now been the professional at Ancaster. He will, of course, be exceedingly busy during Championship week, but it is hoped that he will be able to spare time to seriously enter into the competition. He has many scores in the sixties to his credit over his home course the past few years and a "sixty or so" round will have to be carded at least once at Ancaster to capture the blue riband of Canadian golfdom next month. Make no mistake about that. There was over a dozen of 'em last year at Montreal.

Golf is Popular in Japan

MR. R. H. GREENE, of Toronto, the well known golfer, vice-president of the Seniors' Golf Association, who with Mrs. Greene is making an extensive tour of the Orient, in a most interesting letter to our Assistant Editor from Yokohama, Japan, under date of May 30th writes:—

"I had an interesting afternoon yesterday at the Tokyo Golf Club seeing an exhibition match, Hagen and Kirkwood versus two Jap pros, and thought you would be interested reading an account of the match, so am mailing copy of the Japan Advertiser, as well as a pamphlet 'Golf Links in Japan'.

"Was quite surprised to find so much enthusiasm in this country about sport of nearly every description.

"The Jap pros, as you see by the score, were no slouches.

"Mrs. Greene and I are having quite a wonderful trip thus far and have still some very interesting countries on our itinerary—China, Hong Kong, Phillipines, Java, Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand, before reaching San Francisco and home around Christmas if all goes well."

As Mr. Greene states, Hagen and Kirkwood had anything but a walk-over with the Japanese pros, K. Yasuda and T. Miyamoto. The Japan "Advertiser" in its account of the game says:—

"The match was characterized by ragged second shots and marvellous recoveries from all kinds of trouble. Although the men finished out the round after the match ended on the 16th green, Kirkwood was the only one to turn in a complete card. He turned in an even par of 72."

The brochure referred to by Mr. Greene, "Golf Links in Japan", shows that there are now 40 golf clubs in "the Land of the Chrysanthemum", whilst in Manchuria and China there are 10 clubs. Several of the courses are 18 holes of over 6,000 yards.

In the introductory to the Guide it is stated:—

"Golf is nowise a novelty in Japan, because it was in 1904 that the game was introduced on Mt. Rokko, Kobe, by Mr. Arthur H. Groom, an Englishman, with links of his own planning, and a few years afterwards the Negishi course of Yokohama was constructed by foreign settlers. The game was, however, but little played among Japanese, so long as the idea that it was only for the aged and wealthy people was generally held. Later on, under the influence of the spreading popularity of golf in other countries, it gained ground in Japan in an astonishing manner, having made phenomenal progress during the past several years.

"To-day there are 40 courses in Japan and her colonies, including some not fully completed, and one has a wide choice of courses: mountain, inland or seaside, and suited for summer or winter. It goes without saying that the courses have been laid out by experienced foreign or Japanese golf enthusiasts, so as to fulfil the most exacting requirements of golf-amateurs."

Jones Paired with Hutchison for U. S. Open

The pairings for the first round of the U.S. Open Championship at the Interlachen Country Club, Minneapolis, on July 10th and 11th, have been announced by the United States Golf Association. No Canadians have qualified for the Championship. It is interesting to note that Mr. Robert Jones, Jr., is paired with "Jock" Hutchison, and Mr. Cyril Tolley with G. M. Smith, pro of the Onwentsia Club, Chicago.

Minaki Lodge, Ontario

In the Lake District, 115 Miles East of Winnipeg, There's a Golf Course, at Minaki, in Such Ideal Surroundings That It Lures Even Indifferent Players to the Links.

IN a land where daring adventurers once pitched their tents, golfers found recreation in a diversity of interests and activities at Minaki, June 14, on which date the Canadian National resort hotel, Minaki Lodge, and the golf course, were re-opened for the 1930 season.

two well played shots to get home. The river is on the left, the fairways sloping in that direction with high wooded land to the right. The greens are boldly contoured and well trapped. Another pair that can be grouped are the second and sixth, both fine two-shot holes with the tee

A particularly beautiful and well placed green on the golf Club, Minaki Lodge, Ontario.

On this course, where the greens are well trapped, but the bunkers not exceptionally severe, only twice has par (33 for 9 holes) been broken—once by a professional, the other time by one who was many times champion of Canada. The opening week-end was a busy one for "Pro" Fred Riddy, when scores of foursomes endeavoured to make records, but none of the latter were established. Riddy was for many years assistant to Dave Spittal, of the Royal York Golf Club, Toronto, and is a particularly clean-cut young professional.

The first and ninth holes are of distinct individuality, each requiring shots over the brow of the hill and undulating fairways sloping down to nicely shaped greens.

The third is long and straight from a high tee over the fairway to an elevated green. This is partly paralleled by the seventh, which is the longest of the one-shot holes.

The fourth is a good drive and well-placed pitch. The other two holes are spoon and iron shots, so that there is a fine variety. The fairways are of ample width, but being generally through the woods, put a premium on direction.

Happy the golfer who spends his summers at fair Minaki.

The members of the Royal Blackheath Golf Club conferred one of the highest honours of the golfing world upon Mr. Christian Hamilton Gray, when they elected him Field-Marshal of the club in succession to Mr. Robert Whyte, who was for many years so well-known a figure in golfing circles. A very good golfer, Mr. Whyte was also a generous donor to the Eltham Club prior to the amalgamation with Blackheath, and three of the challenge cups now competed for annually by the joint membership bear his name. He was Captain of Blackheath in the years 1889-90 and 1890-91; and on the death of Lt.-Col. E. H. Kennard, M. P., in 1913, Mr. Whyte was elected to the office of Field-Marshal.

It is a significant fact according to Tee Topics that over 70 per cent of the qualifiers in the recent Southport Tournament were using steel-shafted wooden clubs. By 8 games to 4, with three halved, England beat Scotland in the Amateur International match at St. Andrews. The biggest surprise was the 4 and 3 victory of J. T. Bookless, the Scottish champion over Cyril Tolley.

Amazing scenes, said the "News of the World" were witnessed at St. Andrews when Jones, the American and ultimate champion, defeated the holder, Cyril Tolley, at the 19th, in the fourth round of the British Open Amateur championship. A half-holiday in Dundee and surrounding district brought thousands of people to the links, and so frenzied did the crowd become that other matches nearing home were held up. The golf balls of these unfortunate players were trampled on and kicked anywhere. Nothing else was considered by the majority of the on-lookers, for the actors in the play were Jones and Tolley. Either one or the other player hit the spectators at almost every hole, and it was a task beyond the power of the stewards to control the people, many of whom ran indiscriminately all over the course. Not for many years has such a thrilling game been seen, but neither player showed outward sign of the terrific strain.

For instance, she favours the interlocking grip which has been made famous by the Whitcombes and Gene Sarazen, but which is not used, as far as I can recollect, by any other first-class lady player. I am told, too, that one of the secrets of her success lies in her use of the magic word, "Oompah!", not by way of invoking the aid of any of the genii of the links, but as a guide to the rythm of the swing. The "OO-oo-co*m," long drawn out, represents the slow swing back, the "pah," the snap with which the club is brought down. In her early days of practice I understand, the key-word was spoken aloud to the accompaniment of the swinging club, but nowadays Miss Hicks is content to "think" the magic pass-word instead of saying it. It is not a bad plan, nor, in fact, a new one. I have heard of at least one player who improved his game 100 per cent. by teaching himself to take his club back with a slow "God-save-the" and bringing it down with a bang on the final "King!"

Meeting of the R. C. G. A. Executive

AN important meeting of the executive of the Royal Canadian Golf Association will be held June 21st at the summer home of the president, Mr. Alfred Collyer, Knowlton, Que., when arrangements for the two major championships, the Open at Hamilton in July, and the Amateur at London in August, will be discussed and decided upon. Also the Inter-Provincial at Toronto, August 2nd. The executive will be the guests of Mr. Collyer over the week-end.

Mr. B. L. Anderson, the secretary of the Association, writes the Editor:—

"I have been over the Royal York Golf Course and am well pleased with its general condition and layout and think it will be a good test for the Inter-Provincial match, August 2nd. The fact of its being a commercial course and the fact of it being a real estate proposition, both of which it is, are entirely overcome and over-balanced by the splendid job they have made of the course. It is a beautiful place and a real championship course.

"I hope to visit the London and Hamilton courses very soon. I hear the changes at London have improved it very much. Hamilton, of course, is always up to championship form."

Royal Montreal Ladies Make it 'All Square' with 'All Montreal'

ONE of the most interesting ladies fixtures of the season in Montreal is the annual match The Royal Montreal vs. "All Montreal". On June 12th for the second time in the history of this event the result was "All Square". Since its inauguration in 1926 the Royal Montreal has won twice, All Montreal once and two ties. The results in this month's matches:—

Mrs. H. W. Soper, Royal Montreal, defeated Mde. J. Dagenais, Laval, (Quebec Lady Champion).

Miss M. Kirkham, Forest Hills, defeated Mrs. D. Wanklyn, Royal Montreal.

Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, defeated Mrs. S. T. Blaiklock, Royal Montreal.

Mrs. J. P. MacIntosh, Royal Montreal, defeated Miss Eileen Kinsella, Senneville.

Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield, defeated Miss Helen Bernard, Royal Montreal.

Miss Betty Molson, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. Garth Thomson, Kanawaki.

Mrs. R. Lawson, Royal Montreal, defeated Miss H. Cushing, Kanawaki.

Mrs. K. C. Patton, Country Club, defeated Mrs. L. Williams, Royal Montreal.

Mrs. S. D. Dobell, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. E. Deering, Islesmere.

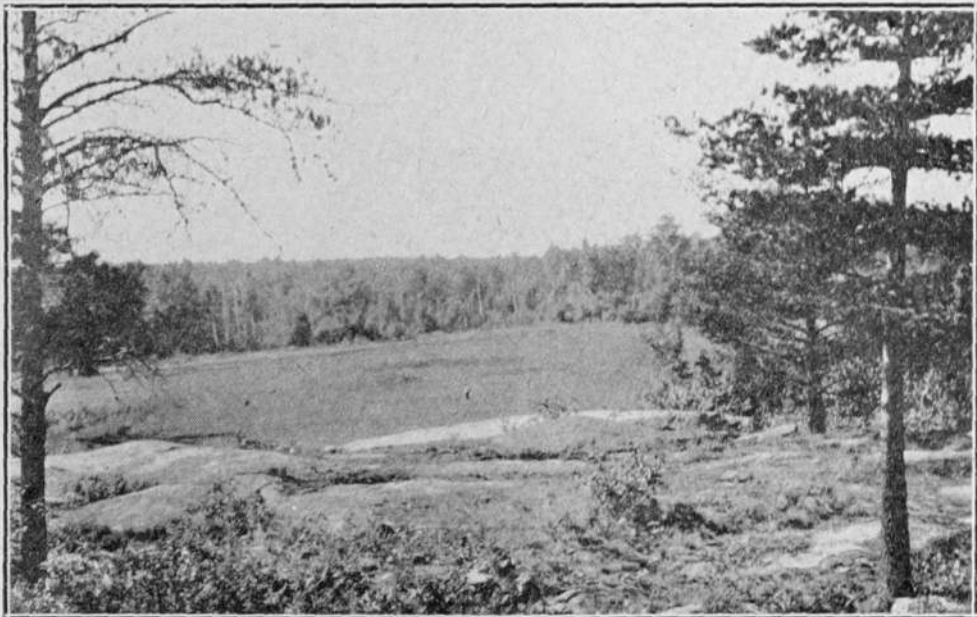

Mrs. Gerald Hanson, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. E. P. Magowan, Rosemount.

The "All Montreal" team looked at first as though they were going to annex the event as their leading players had established a commanding lead but "the tail" wagged effectually to record wins and even up the contest.

Fine Golf Course Hewed Out of Rock and Rubble

THE French River Bungalow Camp, 215 miles north of Toronto and 60 miles from Parry Sound, is a particularly popular C.P.R. camp, noted for its superb fishing facilities.

But French River not content with a piscatorial reputation second to none now boasts a 9-hole course which is greatly enjoyed by the ardent disciples of Isaak Walton, and their friends, when they are not following possibly their favourite sport, although now-a-days the Royal and Ancient game is more or less the favourite pastime of everyone who loves "the great out-doors".

Mr. J. G. Strathdee, manager of the Bungalow, writes the "Canadian Golfer":—

"When one considers that four years ago our golf course was nothing but a valley covered with underbrush, full of stumps and rocks, some of which weighed two tons. I think that we have reason to feel rather proud of our achievement. A prominent golf architect when he looked the place over four years ago told Mr. E. Seagram (the well known sportsman and owner of race horses who is much interested in the Camp) and myself that it was an impossibility to build a golf course of any kind on the site and anyone would have thought he was justified in the assertion. However, we knew something that he did not, and that was the ability these Northern lumbermen to accomplish anything they set their hands to. We built the course with the aid of six lumbermen and a yoke of oxen, and good golfers are really astounded what has been done. Our "Punchbowl" No. 6 is one of the prettiest holes I have ever seen on a golf course. The tee is back in the bush—then there is rough and rock for about forty feet and the green is 160 yards away. The course is attracting more guests each year, and our Camp is the only place that I know of on fresh water where good fishing and good golf can be had. The fairways are as good as many city courses and the greens notwithstanding the rigorous winters up here are in surprisingly good shape."

Golf at Powell River, B.C.

(Powell River Digester)

THE new seventh green is now in operation. It is the pride of Maurice Boxall's susceptible heart, and a source of grief and disaster to many aspirants seeking the elusive par. There is something diabolical in the ingenuity with which our golf pro has devised that almost impenetrable circle of bunkers ringing this hole.

As we write, the men's two-ball has been completed, with Ed. Peacock and J. Simpson, winners, two up, from Curly Woodward and Cecil Kelly, winners of the men's four-ball. The handicap singles are under way as we write.

Mrs. G. Schuler, playing in the ladies' Tombstone Competition last month came through with a record score for the new course. Mrs. Schuler turned in an 88, the best ladies' score to date. Ladies' par for the course is 80.

An interesting plan of this season's play has been the competitions for junior boys. Frank MacDonald now holds the enviable title of junior champion of Powell River, a title gained by his defeat of his younger brother, John, one of our community's coming golfers.

George Gauthier was narrowly defeated by Tommy Gardener, who is the undisputed flyweight champ of the golfing fraternity. Six boys entered this year. Nice work, boys, keep it up!

Maurice Boxall's 70 (Boxall is pro at Powell River, formerly at the Erie Downs Golf and Country Club, Bridgeburg, Ont.) is a record for the new course, whose par is 72. Ed. Peacock and Steve Brynjolfson on other occasions have turned in pars. A strong trio, these three.

"For These Kind Words Thanks, Many"

THE Editor is in receipt of many expressions of appreciation in connection with the Sixteenth May Anniversary Number of the "Canadian Golfer". Herewith a few of 'em:—

Lord Alness, writing from Abden House, Edinburgh, Scotland:—

"The 'Canadian Golfer' is really an admirable production. If I may say so, a model which many of our British golf papers might well imitate."

Dr. P. D. Ross, president of the Ottawa "Journal," one of the outstanding journalists of Canada, Hon. President of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, and a former president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association:—

"The Canadian Golfer is a great paper, the best news golf paper published anywhere. To a newspaper man like myself who knows the ropes, the marvel is how you keep it up to the standard you do. Certainly it is of the greatest value to Canadian golf and all interested in it."

Mr. R. C. S. Bruce, of Winnipeg, one of the prominent golfers and golf executives of the West:—

"Your Anniversary Number came duly to hand and was very much enjoyed as per usual. It is surprising how old the magazine is getting and more surprising the way you manage to keep up such an increasing interest for your readers. Canada is to be congratulated on having such an excellent golf magazine and its Editor must not be omitted when these congratulations are going. Here's wishing you and the paper continued success and prosperity."

Editorial note, Toronto Globe:—

"With its May issue the Canadian Golfer completes fifteen years of publication, and commemorates the occasion by a handsome 'sixteenth anniversary number.' The Canadian Golfer, the pioneer paper in this Dominion of a game which has become perhaps the most popular of pastimes, has been steadily expanded and developed as it has grown in the regard and esteem of players everywhere. To its publisher and Editor, Mr. Ralph H. Reville, of Brantford, one of the veterans of the game, who has so successfully devoted time and effort to the building up of the magazine, The Globe extends hearty congratulations."

Editorial note, Brantford Expositor:—

"The Expositor has just received the sixteenth anniversary number of the Canadian Golfer, published by its esteemed confrere, Ralph H. Reville, of this city, in commemoration of its existence for fifteen years. The Canadian Golfer was a pioneer in this field, and it has contributed greatly to the promotion of the keen interest which is manifested in golf throughout Canada to-day. The anniversary number is a splendid edition, and reflects credit on the editor and publisher. In addition to the numerous private clubs all over the Dominion, there are now twenty-one public golf courses in the leading cities from Halifax to Vancouver. It can be truly said that golf has become the most popular pastime in the Dominion."

Editorial Note, Toronto "Star":—

"The Canadian Golfer, with its May number, celebrates its sixteenth anniversary, and the success of this magazine reflects credit on the founder, Mr. Ralph H. Reville, of Brantford, who at the outset was supposed to be embarking on a hazardous enterprise. But the excellence of the magazine and the tremendous growth of golf in Canada in the past sixteen years have combined to make possible a notable success."

Mr. N. C. Byers, Saskatoon, Sask., leading Western golf executive, a member of the executive of the Royal Canadian Golf Association:—

"We, Western golfers, appreciate your interest in our events and also your effort to give golfers live news in a golfing way covering the whole of Canada and elsewhere. This, you certainly accomplish. I wish you continued success."

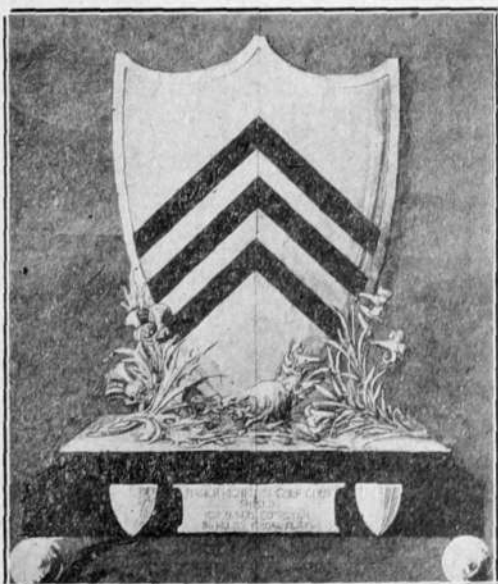

Golf at Murray Bay

Splendid List of Attractions Arranged for the Enjoyment of Visitors This Season.

A SPECIAL week has been set aside for golf features at Murray Bay this summer. There will be driving competitions and putting competitions on the new 18-hole putting green throughout the week beginning July 7 and on Friday, July 11, there will be a ladies' competition with prizes for gross and nett scores. On Saturday, July 12, the climax to the week's events will be the annual competition for the Manoir Richelieu Golf Club Shield which is held each year under the auspices of the Province of Quebec Golf Association. The Shield is now held by Hugh Jaques, of Whitlock Golf Club. This tournament has become one of the major events of the summer season in the Province of Quebec.

"The course has wintered remarkably well and the fairways are in particularly good condition," said Herbert Strong, golf architect, on his return from Murray Bay, where he has been making an early season examination of the Manoir Richelieu Golf Course.

"The fairways are thick with New Zealand fescue, and the putting greens are showing no winter kill owing to the fact that early in the winter snow was cleared from each green until the soil became frozen tight. The removal of a one foot strip of sod through the low sections allowed the melting snow to disappear from the green locations. Nap creeping bent has been removed and the greens sown with Prince Edward Island and Seaside Bent which will by the time of the opening of the course have a true putting surface, in fact, even to-day the course is in better shape than in July of last year.

Mr. Strong explained some of the changes which have been made in the Manoir course. The short first hole has been eliminated to secure more space at the top of the hole for the erection of a new club house. This gives ample room for a congregation of players at this spot as well as more generous parking space. The change in hole 12 will bring into play a series of lakes that must be carried on the second shot and a beautiful location has been selected for the green which I am sure will be enjoyed by players. This hole will be brought into play about June 10th.

"A short hole built to replace the old No. 1 which will be No. 12 on the re-arrangement is a splendid full shot hole measuring 235 yards and the green nestles into the hillside around the old 12th green. The scenic effect adds much to the grandeur of the course. An extra tee has been built on hole 18, making this now 322 yards and the walk to this tee has been graded, making it an easy climb. There is a new ladies tee on hole 16 which I am sure will be appreciated. These changes have been made in such a way that they will fit into a larger scheme for the future. The whole course has been measured and is now 6,114 yards and the par is 71."

Just west of the Manoir a two-acre undulating putting green has been constructed which will be ready about the middle of July. The construction of this green has opened new vistas from the hotel dining room windows and casual play there will be appreciated by ladies and juniors.

"Retrospects" by Dr. P. D. Ross

The Remarkable History of Two Montreal Families—the Ross' and Hodgson's, Prominent Alike in Sporting, Business and Financial Circles.

AS previously mentioned in the "Canadian Golfer", Dr. P. D. Ross, the well-known journalist, has been publishing in the Ottawa Journal a most delightful series of retrospects. The final reminiscence is LXXXI. and is called "A Story of Friendship", and will be read with particular interest by golfers and all followers of amateur sport:—

"The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel."

—Shakespeare: Hamlet.

This is the last of my retrospects.

From sixty to fifty years ago, ten boys were passing through Montreal schools in successive ranks, friends and allies, two squads of five brothers each.

A long time afterwards, when indeed the ten averaged much past middle age, they happened to get together in a golf game at a Montreal club. They decided then to have an annual golf match every summer, an annual curling match every winter, family versus family.

These annual encounters, five brothers on each side, duly proceeded without a break for twenty-five years afterward, each meet followed by a dinner at which a number of friends joined in.

The matches were abandoned last year, death having stepped into the game.

Before that time the combined age of the ten brothers numbered more than six hundred years.

The morals begin in this way: All these ten were keenly addicted to athletic sport in their early days—indeed, in their later days, too. All of the ten figured in Canadian amateur championship sport. They contributed at one time or another members to teams or crews holding Canadian championships in lacrosse, football, hockey, rowing, and paddling, and they held several individual athletic championships of Canada.

The morals I deduce are these:—

A passion for athletic sport in youth and later does not hurt health. All these ten have had long and vigorous lives; all save two have vigorous life still.

A passion for athletics does not interfere with business success. All ten have been successful business men.

A love for athletics does not knock out public spirit. Several of the ten have given exceptional public service at their own expense.

A love for athletics does not interfere with domestic happiness. All ten have found that.

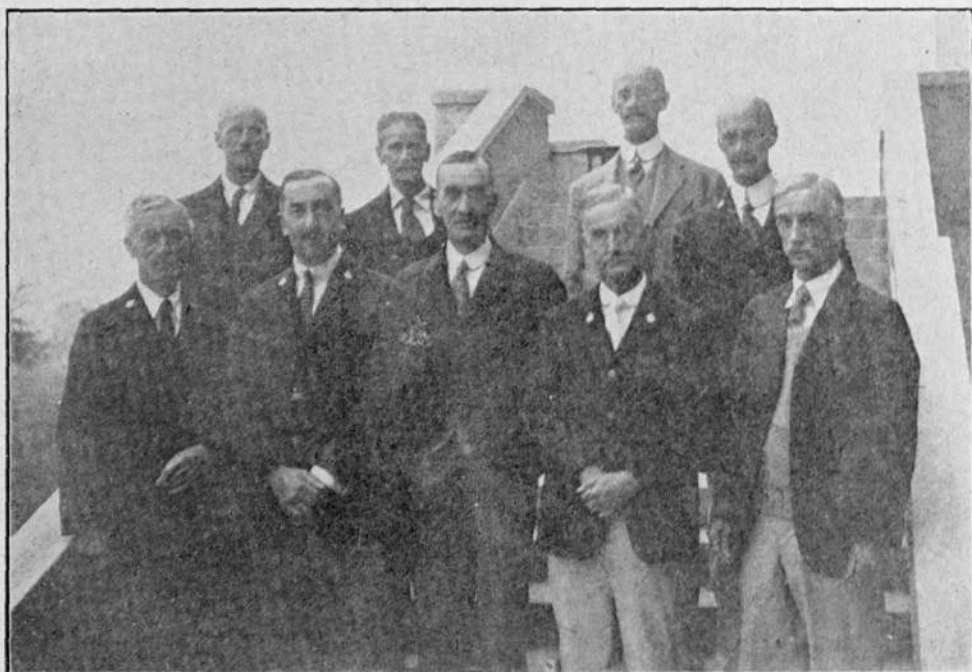

In a love for athletic sport splendid friends are found, who last through life.

Five of the brothers were named Hodgson; five, including myself, Ross.

It will be noticed that Dr. Ross states that the golf and curling matches were abandoned last year, death having stepped into the game."

The two members of the famous families who have passed out were Mr. Tom Hodgson, son of the very prominent Liberal leader of Montreal, Senator Hodgson. He was in his 73rd year and former head of the big Mon-

He, too, was a noted athlete. In his younger days he was champion bicycle rider of Canada and also was an expert in almost every other sport. Mr. Ross was latterly keenly interested in golf and was a former president of the Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal, and a Governor of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association at the time of his demise. For the first time in the history of navigation a perfect bridge hand of thirteen spades was dealt in a bridge game aboard the steamship Shawnee, en route from New York to Florida, in which three well-known Toronto men, Fred J. Smith, W. F. Houston, and Harry P. Hermance, vice-president of the Mississauga Golf Club and vice-president of the Canadian Woolworth Co., were playing.

"It almost caused a riot among the bridge fiends on board, the ship newspaper states. "The phenomena occurs about once in every 2,000,000 hands, and has never occurred before on any steamship that the officers know of."

Frank Harris, captain of the Mississauga Golf and Country Club, very appropriately captured the T. C. Herbert Trophy from a field composed of the club's best players. The Herbert Trophy is the first of the important fixtures to be decided at Mississauga, which is to celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary this year with special events for its veterans, and an invitation tournament in the fall to golfers of the district. Harris won the event by two strokes, defeating C. R. Young, who returned the low gross for the day. The winner and runner-up were the only entrants to break 80.

A despatch from Minneapolis:—
“Here is proof of the increasing popularity of golf.

In 1916 the Open golf tourney was held here and 300 persons saw the finish. This year it is to be held here and preparations are being made to handle galleries of 15,000.

Fourteen years ago Minikahda was host. Interlachen will greet the golfers July 10, 11 and 12. Interlachen is trying the experiment this year of building a grandstand at a point where the start and finish of the 18 holes may be seen.

Old golfers here are arguing that 288 will win the Open, with the more conservative holding to 290.

“Any tournament that includes Bobby Jones will seldom be won with a score higher than 290,” remarked Robert Taylor, veteran pro at Minikahda. “Not to mention Horton Smith, George Von Elm, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Bill Mehlhorn, Maedonald Smith, Harry Cooper, Al

Bobby Jones, making his first competitive appearance as British Amateur golf champion, paired with Harrison Johnston, United States Amateur champion, to defeat Pierre Vagliano, French amateur star, and Paul Dallemagne, professional, one up in an 18-hole exhibition match at St. Germain links, near Paris.

Jones was tired after his hard week of play in the British tourney and consented to play only in order that the gallery of 1,000 fans, the largest which ever witnessed a golf match in France, would not be disappointed. He made no attempt to score well, merely "going through the motions" and letting Johnston carry the burden. The lead see-sawed until the seventeenth, where the Americans went one up. They halved the final hole to take the match.

In his younger days he was a famous cricketer and on more than one occasion played against Mr. George S. Lyon in International cricket matches.

The oldest golfing fixture in America, that between teams from the Royal Montreal Club, the premier golf club of the Continent, and the Quebec Golf Club, the second oldest club, was played this month in Montreal, and resulted in a victory for the home team. fifty years now they have "battled on the greens" with the majority of victories going to the credit of the Royal Montreal players.

One of the freakiest golf matches ever played—a match in which one competitor was in an airplane and the other on terra firma—resulted in a victory for the aerial competitor over eighteen holes at Sonning, Berkshire, England, by a score of 29 strokes to 69. The victor was Captain G. A. R. Pennington, commandant of the National Flying Service Airdome at Reading. He vanquished A. J. Young, a local professional, whose 69, incidentally was 3 under par.

The task for Pennington was to find the green by dropping balls as he flew over the course in his machine. The balls were swathed with white cloth to ensure non-bouncing when they struck the ground. Naturally, he was not required to hole out as his opponent had to do. In forty minutes the airman had completed the course in 29 strokes. On several of the greens he required only one shot. At the eighteenth his first ball fell on one of the cars of the London Railway express train. At times he hovered as low as 100 feet, the lowest he could safely attempt. The match was for £25 sterling.

Herewith a very interesting item from the report presented at Oshawa at the annual meeting of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, by Mrs. Whittington, chairman of the pars committee. The ladies are asking few favours nowadays from "mere man" and rightly so, too, as their game warrants it:—

"Our committee is endeavouring to discourage as far as possible the use of too many ladies' tees. Only where there is too long a carry over, some hazzard, or where a short tee makes a better hole for ladies, are they advised. There is a regrettable tendency in many clubs to feel that the ladies must be allowed a few yards leeway on every hole. This, we consider, does not encourage the players to lengthen their games."

It is to be sincerely hoped that the Royal Canadian Golf Association will take the necessary steps to get the Cambridge players to visit Canada during their tour for at least a match or so.

The Canada Dry Ginger Ale Co. Ltd. of Toronto, Edmonton and Montreal, the manufacturers of the finest dry ginger ale in America, has this season added a sparkling soda to its list of delectable and refreshing beverages. This product is a worthy companion drink to the celebrated ginger ale which has made the firm famous. Heretofore imported sodas unquestionably were in a class by themselves. Not so now. Canada Dry's sparkling soda is the equal if not the superior of any of the imported brands. The Canada Dry Company has scored again and scored heavily. No golf club, no golfer could ask for a soda water with a better boquet and a more brilliant carbonation.

And here is a fine example that might well be followed successfully in other clubs in Canada. Col. E. C. Spicer, a member of the Yarmouth Golf Club, N.S., has donated 1,000 young evergreens to the club there and they have been planted on the links at advantageous points.

On Wednesday, June the 18th, the president and directors of the Mississauga Golf and Country Club, Toronto, held a tournament for the veterans of 1906. Mr. James Ryrie put in an appearance after his long illness. George J. McLeod was in New York and A. S. Macrae was too busy to get away from his office. Mr. Frank Harris, captain of Mississauga, took charge of the game and was most assiduous in his attention to the veterans. He made everyone happy with his great and kind attentions. After the game the directors entertained the guests to dinner and presented each participant with a souvenir of the occasion. Mr. J. W. LADIES' QUEBEC FIELD DAY

Over 100 of the leading lady players competed in the first field day of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union at the Marlborough Golf Club, Montreal, June 15th. Out in 41 and home in 39 for a fine gross of 80, that sterling player Miss Marjorie Kirkham, of the Forest Hills Golf Club, Montreal, led the field. Runner-up to her was Miss Dorothy Virtue, Whitlock Golf Club, former Quebec champion, with 85. In third place, Miss M. Hankin, Rosemere, 87; fourth, Mrs. D. Wanklyn, Royal Montreal, 90; fifth, Mrs. S. T. Blaiklock, Royal Montreal, 92; sixth, Miss D. Nicoll, Beaconsfield, 94. The feature of the field day was provided by the Hankin family, Mrs. Frances Hankin and her two daughters, Molly and Nora, of the Rosemere Golf Club. Scoring a gross 105 and a nett 75, Mrs. Hankin captured the prize for the best nett in the bronze division; Miss Molly Hankin gained the award for the best nett in the silver division with a 69; but the most sensational performance of the season was that provided by Miss Nora Hankin, a slip of a girl, playing in her first inter-club tournament. Accorded a handicap of 33, Miss Nora Hankin negotiated the outward nine in 52 despite a disastrous hole that cost her nine strokes. On the home nine she took a 45 for a gross of 97 and a nett of 64. The gross prize in the bronze division went to her for a showing that gave the entire gallery a genuine thrill.

The special prize for 36 handicap players went to Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, of Marlborough, who turned in a gross of 117.

LONDON INVITATION TOURNAMENT

London, Ont., June 18.—Ross Somerville with a 72 led the field in the annual invitation tourney of the London Hunt Club here to-day. The event was pared down from 36 to 18 holes owing to a heavy downpour of rain which delayed the scheduled start over an hour and to another young cloudburst which punctuated the afternoon schedule for a good hour and definitely deflated any hopes there were at that time that the full programme might yet be adhered to.

The prize winners:—

Best gross team prize—London Hunt Club (Dr. W. J. Brown, C. R. Somerville, T. A. Browne and J. B. Nash, Jr.), score, 317.

Best nett team score—London Hunt Club (C. W. Morris, George Robinson, W. F. Elgert and K. C. Greene), score 308.

Gross scores—1, C. R. Somerville, London Hunt, 72; 2, J. B. Nash, Jr., London Hunt, and F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, 73.

Nett scores—1, G. B. Heintzman, Lambton, 69; 2, Dr. C. A. Cline, London Hunt, and R. Wilkinson, Sarnia, 69.

Gross scores, first nine holes—W. Sutherland, London Highlands; 2, J. J. Hurley, Brantford.

Gross scores, second nine holes—G. Edwards, Galt; 2, D'Arcy Doherty, Mississauga.

Nett scores, first nine—George Robinson, London Hunt.

Nett scores, second nine—1, C. E. Keene, London Hunt; 2, A. K. Wilkes, Uplands.

THE SAME SAD STORY!

Hoyleake, Eng., June 20.—Bobby Jones, scoring 291, and holding a two-stroke lead over Leo Diegel and Macdonald Smith, tied for second place, to-day won his third British Open golf championship crown after one of the great battles of the golfing centuries.

Horton Smith and Fred Robson, veteran British pro, tied for fourth place with scores of 296 for the 72 holes of the championship competition. "Long Jim" Barnes, with 297, tied for sixth.

Britain's glory in to-day's thrilling fight went to Compston, whose third round of 68 broke the Hoyleake record by two strokes and revived British hopes by giving the blond giant a three-round aggregate of 215 and a one-stroke lead over the American amateur. As Jones, paired with Pierre Hirigoyen, of the Chantilly Club, France, finished his morning round in 74 the handclapping applause floating out over Hoyleake was disturbed by the roars for Compston, who was thundering along to finish with his brilliant 68.

British hopes rested in him this afternoon, but he floundered out in 43 and stumbled home in 39 for an 82. Jones, giving promise of great things with a birdie three at the second hole, shooting from a bunker 100 yards to the green and leaving himself a holeable putt, played steady Jones golf until disaster visited him at the eighth. So appalling was the downfall that the mighty Bobby marked a seven on his card after being within a few yards of the green with his second shot. He missed a run up the sloping bank and then chipped feebly and was three yards short of the pin in four. His putt slipped past the can and from eight or ten inches away he moved his putter to tap the ball in—and was short of the hole.

Compston had "blown up" and Jones seemed likely to clinch the title in easy fashion until this surprising hole, the first he has ever scored in seven in all his illustrious golfing career in this country.

Scores of the leaders:—

Don't say you'll "never make a hole-in-two"

This lady did— (much to her surprise)

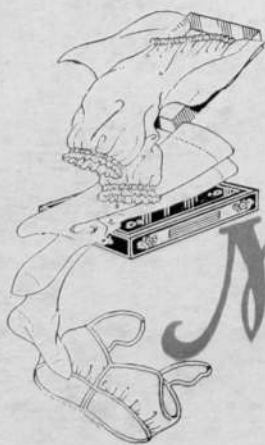

It isn't only champions who make a hole-in-two—and thereby win the lovely silken prizes offered by Mercury. Read this letter:

"It was entirely unexpected," writes a lucky lady who won a Mercury prize. "I drove onto the green. Then the ball rolled away off . . . but my approach shot landed very near the cup, and rolled in."

As often as not that's how holes are made in two from the tee. A good, true drive—and a lucky approach. You may do it on your next round.

And here's good news for those who have put off registering in the competition. The registration date has been advanced to July 15th. If you haven't yet registered, see your Club Secretary now. You must be registered to win a prize of dainty Silk Lingerie and Full Fashioned Hose.
