U. S. Golfers Make Clean Sweep of Canadian Championships.

The major champion season in Canada was brought to a brilliant conclusion last month with the Ladies' Open at Ancaster and the results make decidedly unpleasant reading from a Canadian standpoint as the Americans have made a decisive sweep of all our principal events.

Starting with the British Columbia Open Amateur Championship last April, at Victoria, which was won by "Chuck" Hunter, brilliant young Tacoma player, the professionals from across the Border next proceeded to make a clean-up of our Canadian Open at Kanawaki, Montreal. That, however, was expected, as since the war a Canadian Open has never been won by a Canadian. More's the pity.

Then came the rather rude shock at Jasper Park, when in the Amateur, two Americans, neither of them of particularly high ranking standard, played off in the final. Subsequently, the U.S. Seniors at Ottawa, once again proved their superiority over the Canadian Seniors.

And to top it all, now comes the Ladies' Open, with four U.S. ladies playing off for titular honours, which is by way of being a bit of a debacle.

There is no good of mincing matters. Leading American players, professional, amateur, women and seniors if you like, have still the edge by some strokes on players in this country. They of course have more than ten times as many players to draw upon, which is a serious handicap and always will be.

But the lesson. Our young players, both girls and boys, must be given more encouragement to play and perfect their game. The winning of our coveted Ladies' Open title last month by Miss "Billy" Hicks, the altogether charming 18-year-old lass from Long Island, N.Y., is an exemplification of this fact. She learned to hit hard and long as a result of playing as a very young girl on a high school boys team. Yes, a boys team, not a girls team. The hope for the perfecting of championship golf in Canada entirely rests with the rising generation. "The Old Brigade" is not quite good enough to cope with the Americans any time they choose to send to Canada the pick of their players. And that, in the vernacular, "holds good" as regards men, women or juniors.

A Personal But Sincere Suggestion to the C. L. G. U. That admirably managed organization, the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, is being subjected to a good deal of criticism these days because they stage their Close and Open Championships one week following another, or virtually for the finalists in all the flights, twelve days of continuous and strenuous golf. Now, your hardened professional would never for a moment consider playing two weeks of continuous competitive golf but that is what the C. L. G. U. demands of its lady players. It is unquestionably not right. Miss Ada Mackenzie, the ranking Canadian woman player, for instance, won the Close Championship at Scarboro after five days of strenuous golf, and then she was asked a day or so after to match mashies with the pick of the U.S. lady players in the Open Championship at Ancaster. She, as a result, was unquestionably more or less played out and early faded out of the picture. The C. L. G. U. would be well advised next year to give a week or more breathing space between its two major championships. Or if that is not possible owing to distance dividing Eastern and Western entrants, at least to stage the Open Championship the first week and the Close the second.

Mr. Bogert Again Consents to Take Presidency of C.S.G.A. It was only after a great deal of pressure brought to bear upon him, both by the Board of Governors and members of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association that Mr. C. A. Bogert, Toronto, consented to again take the Presidency of the Association for the ensuing year.

In 1930 not only the Canadian Seniors will be holding their annual tournament at the Toronto Golf Club, but the British Seniors team will be also a visitor and the United States Seniors team, too, has graciously decided to again come to Canada, although they were here only this season at Ottawa, and therefore the Canadians should pay the return visit at Apawamis, Rye, N.Y. As a result of these visits the triangular Senior match, Great Britain, United States and Canada, will be staged at the Toronto Club.

As an ex-president of the Toronto Golf Club and as one of its most prominent members for many years, Mr. Bogert was the logical head executive to look after and supervise all the arrangements of this one of the most important fixtures of the whole 1930 golfing season.

Fortunate indeed are the Seniors to have him again in the saddle during this coming important year. He is not only an eminent banker of marked executive ability, but he is too, a golfing executive of outstanding excellence.

The C.S.G.A. under his presidency the last two years has enjoyed its greatest prosperity in every department of its activities.

A FINE TRIBUTE TO CYRIL TOLLEY

MR. H. T. (MIKE) GARDNER, a particularly capable golfer and golf writer from San Francisco, formerly of Vancouver, B.C., writes the Editor:—

While none of their representatives won the event it must be a source of considerable satisfaction to the British golfing public to know that each acquitted himself as the highest type of sportsman. Naturally the outstanding figure was Cyril Tolley and no visitor seeking the title ever captured the imagination of the vast throngs of spectators as he did. Bobby Jones was undoubtedly the idol and it was a severe disappointment when he met with defeat, but I feel that had he suffered this defeat at Tolley's hands it would have been hailed as a great achievement for a fine golfer and it speaks highly for Tolley's popularity when one heard on all sides the hope that he would win the title.

No greater golf was shown throughout the match play of the tournament than Tolley's first two rounds. In his opening game he was opposed by E. E. Held, recent winner of the Canadian Championship, and who he defeated by 7 and 6, being out in 34. In the following round against Fay Coleman, the Southern California champion, he went out the first nine holes in 33 and was six up and won by 8 and 6. In these rounds he lived up to his reputation as a prodigious hitter.

Unfortunately the following day in his game against Dr. Willing, Tolley was finding the trouble that so often afflicts the long hitter and was continually off direction and was beaten by 4 and 3 over 36 holes.

Tolley lends colour to any tournament not alone as a golfer but by his pleasing personality.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

A much appreciated letter from Mrs. Lake, wife of Dr. Walter E. Lake, Ridgetown, Ont. :—

"Last year through your generosity and my luck in making a "hole-in-one" I have had the pleasure of reading your splendid magazine for the past year. Please find enclosed cheque for $4.00 as I want to read it this year, too, as I do enjoy the articles."

Mr. A. J. Hills, Montreal, assistant to Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways and a well known golfer :—

"I feel that the Championship at Jasper was a very good thing for golf in Canada. It brought the East and West together as never before, and in this the unique situation existing at Jasper for social contact was an important factor. I compliment you on the excellent way in which the Championship is written up."

Competing at the championship meeting of the Royal Air Force Officers' G.A., at Sunningdale, Group Captain the Prince of Wales secured the nine holes second division handicap award with a return of 45 less 6—39. With Squad Leader D. S. Don he was successful in the medal foursomes with 89-14—75. In the 18 holes bogey competition, playing with a handicap of 12 on the old course, he finished 6 down.

Two of the best known players in French tennis and golf circles, Rene Lacoste and Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, are engaged to be married. Mlle. de la Chaume, who is 20, won the British Women's Open Golf Championship at Newcastle, Co. Down, in 1927, defeating Miss Dorothy Peavson in the final. She also won the British Girls' Championship in 1924, again beating Miss Pearson in the final. Rene Lacoste, who is 24, won the Wimbledon Championship in 1925, but was beaten when he next competed in 1927. A year later, however, he regained the title. In 1926 he won the American Championship and beat Tilden in the Davis Cup challenge round, while, with very little practice, he secured the French tennis championship this year.

Mr. E. A. Macnutt, ex-president of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, won the championship of the premier golf club of America last month, showing that he is still capable of playing a sterling game. He has for the past two decades or more been a very prominent figure in Canadian golfdom. Fourteen years ago he won the championship of the Royal Montreal and now he repeats. Hearty congratulations from golfing friends from all over the Dominion in which expression the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" begs leave to be associated.

Miss Margaret Gourley, the well-known English Internationalist, last week won the English Women's Golf Championship. In the 36-hole final she defeated 18-year-old Diana Fishwich, of North Fosland, by 6 and 5. Miss Gourley is one of the ranking players of Great Britain and has championships ad galore to her credit. It is a good omen for British golf that there as well as in Canada and the United States that the young players like Miss Fishwich are coming to the fore. The latter was never heard of until this championship.

And now "Jimmie" Murphy, of Toronto, best beloved of sportsmen, has played the last game of all. For many years he was an outstanding authority on lacrosse and hockey and during his twenty-odd years or more with the A. G. Spalding & Bros., Toronto, came in close touch with all the golfers of Canada, both amateur and professional, with whom he was exceptionally popular. Mr. Murphy always "played the game" in sports and in business and of him it can truly be said that his place will indeed be hard to fill in the many walks of life which he graced with his genial presence.

* * *

Quite one of the most interesting features in connection with the 83 starters at the French Open Championship was that this number included Mlle. Genevieve le Deoff. There have been a few cases of women taking part in open tournaments since the war, but this is the first time one has played in a national championship. Mlle. le Deoff showed no signs of nervousness at being in a competition that included some of the best golfers in the world, but her return of 92 for the first round was 22 strokes more than that of the leader. Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer with 283 tied for the championship. In the play-off the latter won.

* * *

Mr. L. G. Gusa, captain of the Citizens Golf Club, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes the Editor:—

"The following incident might be of interest to you:—

Playing in a competition mixed two-ball foursome over the Citizens Golf Club the following players battled to the seventy-second hole before deciding the winners. Handicap competition. Miss F. Reid and H. Balfour vs. T. S. and Mrs. Price (winners). The last putt on the seventy-second green decided the issue in favour of the last named couple."

This is certainly a most remarkable incident—it must be a record for Canada as the "Canadian Golfer" has nothing on its files showing such a long drawn out encounter—a regular marathon.

It is announced by the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews that H.R.H. the Duke of York has consented to become captain of the club. He will take office for the year 1930-31, which means that he will play himself in at the autumn meeting next year. The Prince of Wales was captain of the club in 1922. For some years the Duke of York has been an honorary member of the club. The captaincy of the R. and A. is recognized as the greatest golfing office in the world. The past century or more the position has been held by some of the greatest men of the Empire. King Edward himself was once captain. The occupant of the position is given precedence at all golf functions the world over.

BRANTFORD GOLF CLUB'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

Is Made Memorable by the Burning of the Mortgage. Fourth Oldest Golf Club in America, Has a memorable Fifty Year Celebration, Including a Dinner Dance and a Two Days Tournament.

QUITE the feature of the wonderful two days jubilee celebration of the Brantford Golf and Country Club (September 20th and 21st) was when the chairman of the Finance Committee, Mr. W. B. Preston, announced that the club this season would have a surplus of over $4,000 and as a result they were burn-ford has three prosperous golf clubs, with a total playing membership of well onto one thousand.

The Jubilee started on Friday morning, September 20th, when the ladies of the club held an interesting tournament with a large number of players competing. The following were the prize winners:—

Mrs. C. M. Sheppard, best gross for 18 holes; Miss I. Adams, the best nett ing that night at the annual dinner the last of the mortgage, namely, $1,500, which was done with appropriate ceremonies. This announcement came as an absolute and most agreeable surprise to the hundreds of members present. The Brantford Golf and Country Club now has a club house and course worth in the neighbourhood of $125,000 and not a cent of indebtedness. The fathers of golf in the Telephone City of fifty years ago certainly builded better than they could have possibly dreamed when the first little club was started with a membership of less than a dozen and with a total revenue for the first year of ninety odd dollars. Now it is over $20,000 per annum. To-day, Brantford for 18 holes; Mrs. A. Werlich, the best gross for the first nine holes; Mrs. E. M. Pilkey, the best nett for the first nine holes; Miss K. Bishop, the best gross for the second nine holes; Miss M. Bier, the best nett for the second nine holes, and Miss C. Jones, first, and Mrs. A. Werlich, second, in the putting competition.

Friday afternoon the men foregathered in record numbers, the players ranging all the way from seventeen to seventy years of age. Some excellent scores were handed in. The following were the winners of the many extremely handsome prizes, donated by the club and members:—

fine score of 74. In the play-off the latter won, so he took the first gross prize and the former the second. Winner of the handsome Ontario Jewellers Trophy, Stanley Forbes, with a most excellent nett of 61; best nett for first nine holes, R. Houlding, with 32½; best gross for second nine holes, H. Garner, with 37; best nett for second nine holes, C. Robertson with 28½. The prize for the best nett for men 40 to 50 years of age went to Dr. L. Coates, the best gross for men over 50 years of age to J. Ogilvie, and the best nett for men over 50 to R. E. Haire, while three other prizes went to Eddie Gould, J. Watson and Dr. C. Chapin.

The Jubilee Dinner-Dance in the evening was easily the greatest event in the fifty years history of the club. There was an attendance of over three hundred of the leading golfers of Brantford with many out-of-town visitors.

Arranged in long rows in the handsome and spacious dining room the tables at which the guests sat down, were exquisitely decorated with autumn flowers and candles. Following a most excellent dinner—the menus, by the way, were quite a work of art and will be always preserved as souvenirs—an enjoyable programme was held during which Mrs. Dorothy Belle Jones and Walter Carpenter sang several numbers individually and finally a duet, that received merited applause.

Under the very capable chairmanship of Lt.-Col. W. C. Brooks, the president of the Club, a programme of toasts was introduced by "The King". "The Royal and Ancient", a toast to the game of golf, as it has been played for hundreds of years and as it is being played on courses throughout the world to-day, was proposed by W. B. Race, vice-president of the Brantford Golf and Country Club. Mr. Race gave a short synopsis of the growth of the local club, pointing out the splendid opportunities offered by it to those who had become associated with it as an organization for recreation, both in physical and social lines.

He paid tribute to the men whose enterprise had been instrumental in founding the club and the work of the executives since that time, who had been untiring in their efforts to make the Brantford Golf and Country Club an organization rivalling the greatest on the continent.

W. F. Cockshutt, ex-M.P., in a well-worded and enlightening address, replied to the toast. Mr. Cockshutt spoke of the fine spirit of co-operation and real fellowship that has followed the club since 1879, the year of its birth. He believed that it was a remarkable thing that Brantford should have been able to be the centre of such an organization that is looked upon as "one of the first" and that the club had come to be such a valuable asset to the city and community. He told of the vast capital that is tied up in golf clubs and courses the continent over, placing the figures in the billions.

"The game of golf," said the speaker, "is a game that is carried on by each succeeding generation and will always be continued to be played. It has become popular and deservedly so, too, in the recreational life of many peoples of the earth."

To Lt.-Col. W. C. Brooks, president of the club, fell the task of proposing a toast to "The Brantford Golf and Country Club", and he did it in admirable style. In his address the speaker hoped that the club would continue to show the progress that has marked it as a live organization in the past. The committees that have worked with him during the last year were warmly eulogised by him. He paid tribute to the staff of officers with which he was connected and was pleased to note such a material increase in membership.

Ralph H. Reville, well-known golf authority and prominent member of the club, in reply to the toast, gave a detailed account of the changes through which the club has gone since first organized in 1879. He outlined the policies of the club when first it began to show its colors, and associated with it the names of many men whose work had placed the club on a foundation from where it was a comparatively easy matter to carry on. He especially paid a tribute to Mr. E. L. Cockshutt, who in 1906 had advanced $10,000 to the club to enable it to acquire the present handsome links. Mr. Reville's address, as a response to Lt.-Col. Brooks, was entirely interesting and placed before the members information about their club that gave a new and instructive angle on the growth and expansion of the organization.

A toast "To the success and prosperity of the next 50 years" was the finale to W. B. Preston's address on the finances of the club. It was taken up eagerly by everyone whose interest in the club was evident from the manner in which they listened to and applauded the speakers. Although Mr. Preston's main announcement was to the effect that the club was now free of debt, he reported that the financial condition of the club was better this year than it has been since its inception, there being a balance this year in the treasury of more than double that of last year.

The burning of the mortgage then followed with impressive ceremonies and to the accompaniment of hearty cheers.

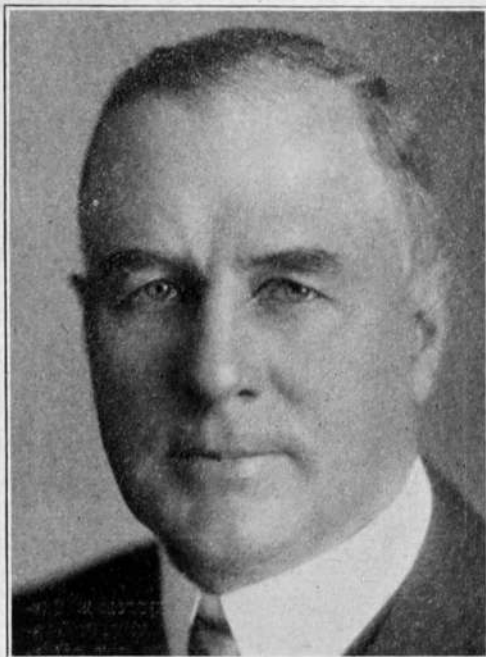

Mrs. Duncan, president of the Ladies' Section of the Club, and Mr. George P. Nixon, captain of the Men's Section, in a particularly happy manner then presented the prizes won at the two tournaments held during the day. The dance which followed was thoroughly enjoyed by the members and their guests. It went with a "great swing and follow through."

During the evening Mr. K. V. Bunnell, hon. secretary, read congratulatory telegrams from the following outstanding golf executives:—Charles E. Harvey, Winnipeg, president Royal Canadian Golf Association; T. S. Gillespie, president, and E. A. Macnutt, past president Royal Montreal Golf Club (the oldest golf organization in America); R. C. H. Cassels, president of Toronto Golf Club (the oldest golf club in Ontario); C. A. Bogert, Toronto, president Canadian Seniors' Golf Association; G. P. Murphy, president Royal Ottawa Golf Club; James Moodie, president Hamilton Golf and Country Club; H. L. Doble, vice-president Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal; Miss Jean Haslett, Hamilton, president Ontario Branch, Canadian Ladies' Golf Union.

On Saturday, September 21, the club completed its notable golden anniversary by an invitation tournament which was participated in by some 200 of the leading golfers of Ontario headed by Mr. George S. Lyon and star players from Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. Catharines, Stratford, Paris, Kitchener, Windsor, Welland, Peterborough, Guelph, Galt, Tillsonburg and other cities and towns.

And young Nicol Thompson, fresh from winning the Ontario Fall Tournament at Oshawa, starred to the extent of easily leading the field with a 74 and 76 for 150, which, under the circumstances, cold and a

Following the completion of the tournament, which was run off without a hitch, thanks to Fred Hunt, the Brantford pro, and a strong committee of local men, a banquet was held in the evening, when the prizes were awarded to the winners.

Lieut.-Col. W. C. Brooks, president of the club, presided, and expressed satisfaction at the manner in which the tournament had been conducted. He remarked that it was a fitting climax to a splendid season, and a splendid way to close the celebration of the club's 50 years of existence. He was pleased that there had been so large a number of entries from outside Brantford, noting that this total had reached 125.

And so the curtain rang down on a memorable fifty-year anniversary of a club old in years but virile still in every department of its varied activities with a future stretching ahead of it replete with promise.

Fifty Years Ago

(By the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer". Reprinted from the Jubilee Dinner Menu Card).

Although Brantford only claims to be celebrating its 50th anniversary of golf this year, as a matter of fact, the Royal and Ancient game was first played here in 1873, which was the same year in which the Royal Montreal Golf Club was established, giving it the proud claim of being the oldest organized golf club in America. The Quebec Golf Club was founded in 1874 and the Toronto Club in 1876. Brantford in 1879.

It was in 1873 that the late Mr. Alexander Robertson, manager of the Bank of British North America, and the late Mr. James G. Darling and the late Mr. Cran, then young clerks in the Bank, imported some clubs and balls from Scotland and laid out a crude four-hole course on "Vinegar Hill", now the centre of the populous East Ward of the city. Here they were joined once and a while by Messrs. John H. Stratford and George H. Wilkes, who is still with us, and therefore the oldest living golfer in Brantford and possibly on the continent.

However, the club was never properly organized, and therefore Brantford loses the honour of vieing with Montreal for premier position in the golfing world of Canada.

In 1879 a golf club was formed with Mr. A. Robertson as captain, Mr. W. L. Creighton, manager of the Bank of Montreal, as secretary, with whom were associated, in addition to those previously mentioned, the following well-known residents of Brantford of days lang syne, the "fathers of golf in this vicinity": Hon. A. S. Hardy (former Premier of Ontario), Henry Yates, J. Y. Morton, A. J. Wilkes and J. K. Osborne. A little later on there were elected to membership: J. E. Lees, L. T. Whitehead, W. C. Hately, E. L. Gould, G. C. Patton, Dr. J. W. Digby, S. W. McMichael, John Clay, Jr., F. T. Wilkes, J. R. Thompson, C. Moore, Harry Whitehead, George Hately, S. Kead and Rev. Robert Ashton. With very few exceptions they have all played "the last game of all."

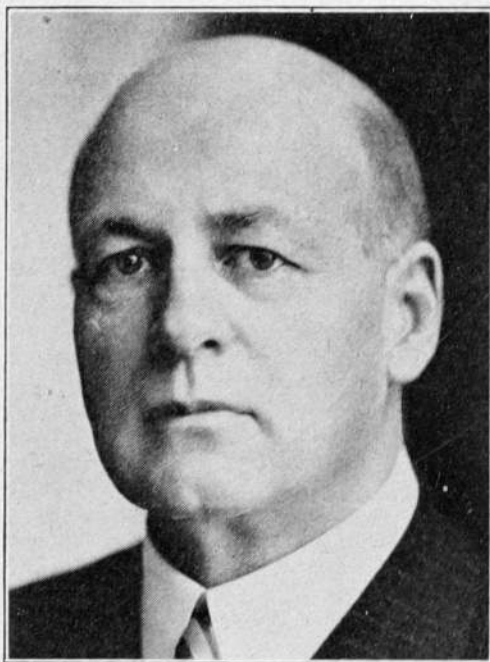

The first links were on Terrace Hill, now on the site of the Brantford Hospital. The second course was on the outskirts of the East Ward, not far from the present Municipal course. Then for many years the Buck property, known as Glenmount, a mile or so from the city and just off West Street, was the scene of the game's activities. In 1906 the Watts Farm was acquired on the Ava Road, and here the club, with a present virile membership of over 500, after vicissitudes many, has found an abiding place with an 18-hole course and a commodious clubhouse which places it in the front ranks of golf in Canada.

Just a little financial "side-slant" from the past. The secretary-treasurer of the Brantford Golf Club, in his first annual statement, 1880, reported total receipts $92, disbursements $96.67. "Balance due Treasurer $4.67." Did he ever get it?

Editorial from Brantford Expositor, September 21st

"It is a long call to fifty years ago when the Brantford Golf and Country Club was first founded, and devotees of the sport, for a period, used the grounds in which the

Mr. W. B. Race, vice-president Brantford Golf and Country Club, who proposed the toast of the Royal and Ancient game at the Jubilee Dinner.

Brantford Hospital now stands. No doubt the late John H. Stratford, one of the earlier players, became impressed at the time with the beauty of a location, which he afterwards presented to the city in such a generous manner. In those days it was one of the cardinal principles—cardinal in more senses than one—for devotees of the Royal and Ancient to wear red coats with brass buttons, and many were the good-natured comments, which they had to sustain with the best grace possible, as they sallied forth in their vivid attire. The pastime was then regarded as more or less of a harmless diversion for those too old to indulge in anything of a more active nature. Now it belongs to youth as well as to those of more advanced vintage, and has taken a foremost place in the affections of people of all ages the world around.

The great value of the pastime is not only as a vehicle for skill, but also for the reason that its devotees are lured to the open spaces, thus making it one of the most healthy of modern diversions. Since the far off days when "fore" was first heard on the environs of this community, many well known citizens have followed the elusive sphere around constantly improved links, until the culmination was reached in the splendid property of to-day. The local exponents in 1879 could not, of course, have had the slightest premonition of the fact that, in 1929, there would be three golf courses to serve the wants of this municipality, or of the further incident that Brantford would in another sense be the golfing centre of Canada—the headquarters for the production of the implements of the game (A. G. Spalding & Bros., Wright & Ditson, and A. J. Reach & Co. Ltd.) and the home of the only magazine devoted to this sport in the entire Dominion (The "Canadian Golfer"). Had the handful of red-coated Brantfordites, of half a century ago, been thus enabled to envisage these things, they would in all likelihood have received a thrill such as that caused by the making of a hole-in-one."

Ladies, Too, Have Invitation Tournament

The Ladies' Section of the Brantford Golf and Country Club also had a Jubilee Invitation Tournament on Oct. 3rd, which was a huge success. There were over seventy entries including players from Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Stratford, Paris, Welland, Niagara Falls, and St. Catharines.

Much interest was shown in the events of the day. There was an 18-hole contest, 9-hole, putting, driving and approaching. The play began about 9.30 and continued until 4.30. Luncheon was served from 12 o'clock on, and afternoon tea was served in the lounge after the game.

Miss Jean Haslett, president of the Ontario Ladies' Golf Union, Miss Grace Morrison (a member of the executive), and Mrs. Murray Hendrie, Hamilton, were among the interested visitors.

The prizes at the end of the tournament were presented by Mrs. G. C. Duncan, president of the Ladies' Section, and were as follows: Best gross, 18 holes, Miss Cecil Smith, Toronto Golf; second best gross, 18 holes, Mrs. Copus, Stratford; first nett, 18 holes, Miss Suckling, Toronto Ladies; second nett, 18 holes, Miss Gibson, Brantford; best gross, first 9 holes, Mrs. H. K. Stevens, Galt; best nett, first 9 holes, Mrs. R. W. Digby, Brantford; best gross, second nine, Miss Honor Bright, Lookout; best nett, second nine, Miss Maude Cockshutt, Brantford; silver drive aggregate, Miss Honor Bright, Lookout; silver longest drive, Miss I. Hunter, Galt; bronze long drive, Mrs. R. W. Digby, Brantford; bronze aggregate drive, Mrs. Ferguson, Brantford; approaching and putting, Mrs. S. Coate, Brantford; putting, first, Miss C. Jones, Brantford; putting, second, Miss Robinson, St. Catharines.

Teams, nett, Brantford, Miss M. Cockshutt, 79; Mrs. R. W. Digby, 78; Mrs. E. M. Pilkey, 83; Miss C. Jones, 83; total 323.

Teams, gross, Brantford, Mrs. C. Sheppard, 93; Mrs. A. A. Werlich, 98; Miss K. Bishop, 93; Miss L. Gibson, 99; total 383.

THE LINKS O'TAY GOLF CLUB HAS MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

THE Links O'Tay Golf and Country Club held their closing banquet at the links O'Tay club house in Perth on Thursday evening, October 3rd.

President C. A. Campbell acted as host and the lady president, Mrs. J. L. P. McLaren, as hostess. Following a delightful banquet, which was served by the ladies, the trophies for 1929 were presented to the several winners, as follows:—

The Geddess Cup was won by Mrs. J. L. P. McLaren; runner-up, Mrs. Malcolm Hope. Bettrice Maloney Cup won by Mrs. F. C. Clayton; runner-up, Miss H. Michel. Thirty-six Handicap Cup won by Miss Mary Shaw. The Sealed Hole, Mrs. J. L. P. McLaren; the Clayton Shield, mixed foursomes, won by Miss Gertie Code and Mr. Howard Watson. Among the men the Club Championship was won by Mr. Howard Watson; the Campbell Cup won by Mr. R. Walker, and the O'Donnell Cup by Dr. J. J. Thompson.

A number of suggestions and addresses were delivered on the benefits of golf and the improvements that may be made on the local course and the property of the club. Among the most interesting suggestions was the securing of services of a club professional for 1930. The speakers comprised C. A. Campbell, president of the club; Mrs. J. L. P. McLaren, president of the Ladies' Branch; Messrs. T. A. Code, W. E. Danner, T. B. Caldwell, Alan Code, Hugh O'Donnell, J. E. Maloney, H. M. Shaw, Geo. S. James, F. C. Clayton, of Smith Falls, and Mr. J. V. Watson.

Mr. Campbell stated that the membership of the club had exceeded that of any previous year and that the finances were in excellent shape. Over five hundred visitors took the opportunity of playing on the course as guests and that many improvements had been brought about the past year. Mr. Clayton, of Smiths Falls, stressed the fact that as there was no golf club in his home town, a large number of members had enrolled from Smiths Falls. The club records show some twenty-five members from Smiths Falls and he hoped that the number would increase each year.

As the Links O'Tay will be the host to the St. Lawrence district clubs in 1930, which comprises Cataraqui Golf Club, Kingston, Brockville Golf and Country Club, Gananoque Golf Club, Carleton Place Golf Club, and Potsdam, N.Y., Golf Club, and Links O'Tay Golf and Country Club, Perth, a large number of improvements will be necessary and effected before the playing season of 1930. Perth now has one of the best nine-hole golf courses in Eastern Canada, if not the whole Dominion and when contemplated improvements are made the Links O'Tay course will be the equal of any in the Dominion of Canada.

LORNE PARK, NEAR TORONTO, TO HAVE A GOLF COURSE

A SYNDICATE composed of several wealthy and influential Americans have about completed negotiations for the purchase of the Lodge Hotel together with an adjoining eighty acres of land, located close to Lorne Park on the Hamilton Highway and when such negotiations have been completed work on the remodeling of the Lodge into a strictly high class club will be immediately commenced.

As an additional attraction a nine-hole golf course will be built, work to commence early in the spring, if not this fall.

Messrs. Cumming and Millar, of Toronto, who are looking after this part of the programme, and who have already mapped out the property set aside for the course, advise that for scenic beauty there is not another piece of land adjacent to Toronto that compares with it.

ONE HARMONIOUS MOVEMENT

(Charles Herndon)

THE GOLF swing is a very complicated affair. In a full, vigorous swing, the hands and feet, arms and legs, knees and hips, shoulders and, in short, every part of the body play a part. About forty movements have been noted. Attempting to teach a portion of these movements helps to prolong the professional's instructions, and sometimes has the effect of confusing the pupil.

It is a satisfaction that some of the body and limb movements in the golf swing are unknown to us. Those we do know about are far too numerous for us to give conscious thought and direction to during the two seconds of the swing. We should avoid, as far as possible, the teaching, the learning, or the swing in sections.

Virtually all of the movements in the golf swing are purely responsive—responsive to the swing of the arms. So, in actual play, all we need to do is to conceive of and endeavour to execute the swing as one harmonious movement, for that is virtually what it is.

"MAKES IT THREE IN A ROW"

Miss Ada Mackenzie Again Wins the Close Championship of Canada. Miss Honor Bright is the Medallist, and Mrs. S. G. Bennett Runner-up. Scarborough Provides a Splendid Setting for this Important Championship.

BY WINNING the Canadian Ladies' Close Championship for the third time in succession, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of the Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, Toronto, unquestionably proved that she deserves to rank as the leading woman golfer of the Dominion, both from the standpoint of the past and present. She has three times also won the Canadian Open Championship and other tournaments by the score, besides having on more than one occasion made a splendid showing in the British and American Opens. It is true that a quarter of a century ago, Miss Mabel Thompson, of St. John, N.B., won the title five times (1902, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908), but the competition then was not to be compared with that of to-day. Miss Mackenzie still dominates Canadian ladies' golf although in Miss Honor Bright, of Lookout Point Club, Welland, winner of the Qualifying Medal, and Mrs. Stuart Bennett, who was only defeated in the final by Miss Mackenzie 2 up, two dangerous rivals were developed last month at Scarborough.

Scarboro, Toronto, certainly provided a fine test for the championship. This leading Ontario club has of recent years completely altered the contour of its links—fairways have been greatly improved, whilst the greens have been reconstructed and to-day are unequalled in Canada. The result is a very fine but hard test of golf and scores were not nearly as low as had been predicted. Very few shots can be wasted in order to break into the nineties at Scarborough.

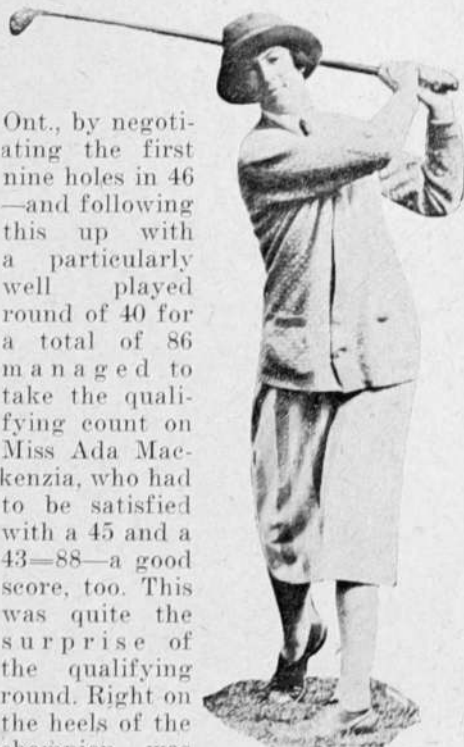

The Qualifying Round attracted a brilliant field of one hundred and eighteen entrants, representing all the foremost players of Ontario and Quebec with the welcome addition of some of the Western experts, including the well known Winnipeg player, Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, Mrs. R. K. Beairsto, also of Winnipeg, and Mrs. R. S. Rideout, of Regina. Mrs. Beairsto subsequently won the Championship

Consolation as a result of particularly good golf.

Two young players quite featured the play the first day—Miss Honor Bright, who played under the colours of Lookout Point Golf Club, Welland, Ont., by negotiating the first nine holes in 46—and following this up with a particularly well played round of 40 for a total of 86 managed to take the qualifying count on Miss Ada Mackenzie, who had to be satisfied with a 45 and a 43—88—a good score, too. This was quite the surprise of the qualifying round. Right on the heels of the champion was that stirring Toronto representative, Mrs. E. W. Whittington, who had 89, as had also Miss Evelyn Mills, of the Royal Ottawa. Then Miss Edna Cumming, of Islington, daughter of the veteran pro at the Toronto Golf Club, came in with a 99, which, with her handicap of 27, gave her a nett score of 72, which gave her the prize in that competition. There were several features in the day's play that were of more than passing interest. Perhaps the greatest upset was the failure of Mrs. Ronald Holmes, of the Royal Ottawa Club, to qualify. Mrs.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Canada's foremost woman player, who again wins Canadian Close Championship.

Holmes, formerly Miss Helen Paget, of Ottawa, is a former holder of the championship, but the best she could do was to tie with four others for the last three places in the championship flight, and in the play-off was eliminated. The following were the 32 players qualifying to play off for the championship:—

Miss Mackenzie was one stroke in front, with a 45, at the end of the first nine holes, but a birdie two on the eleventh and an eagle three on the twelfth, against two pars by Miss Mackenzie, enabled the medalist to gain three strokes and she was able to hold it to the end. Miss Bright's 40 for the last nine holes was only one over par, she finishing with a birdie four on the home hole.

Miss Cumming, by turning in the low nett will hold the silver bowl, presented to the C. L. G. U. by the British L. G. U., for one year, and will also receive the prize donated by the ladies' section of the Scarboro Club for the low nett in the bronze division, while Mrs. E. E. Firth, of Scarboro, and Mrs. J. G. Mackenzie, of the Toronto Golf Club, tied for the low nett in the silver division. The Toronto Golf Club won the team prize, easily outdistancing their nearest rivals. The members of the winning team and their scores were: Mrs. Whittington, 89; Mrs. Mulqueen, 90; Mrs. Weld, 92; and Miss M. Elmsley or Mrs. J. G. Mackenzie, 96.

The results of the first round:—

Miss Myriam Elmsley, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. R. S. Rideout, Wascana, Regina, 2 up.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies, defeated Mrs. H. A. Clarke, Lake Shore, 7 and 5.

Of the three Western players, Mrs. Pellenz, the seasoned Winnipeg player, was the only one to come through. She defeated Mrs. Rougvie, of the Royal Ottawa, quite handily by 4 and 3.

Mrs. Beairsto, of the St. Charles Club, Winnipeg, had to bow the knee to Mrs. S. G. Bennett, the stirring Lambton representative, by 4 and 3, whilst Mrs. Rideout, of the Wascana Club, Regina, was defeated by Miss Miriam Elmsley, but not until the home hole had been reached. Miss Ada Mackenzie and the other favourites all came through with flying colors.

In the afternoon the driving competition was held and the event was undoubtedly the best that has been conducted by the C. L. G. U. The best drivers in each division were:—

Silver Division, Miss Ada Mackenzie, 212, 234, 220—666; Miss Evelyn Mills, 215, 193, 229—637; Miss D. McIlwraith, 205, 208, 212—625; Miss Mary Donald, 186, 228, 210—624; longest drive, Miss Mackenzie, 234 yards.

Mrs. A. B. Fisher, Lambton, defeated Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, one up.

Mrs. S. G. Bennett, Lambton, defeated Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto Golf, 4 and 3.

Miss Evelyn Mills, Royal Ottawa, defeated Mrs. H. C. Macklem, Toronto Golf, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Eric Phillips, Oshawa, defeated Mrs. J. H. Riddel, Scarborough, 7 and 6.

Miss Helen Reid, Rosedale, defeated Mrs. Douglas Weld, Toronto Golf, 2 and 1.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies, defeated Miss Myriam Elmsley, Toronto Golf, 5 and 3.

There were upsets aplenty in this round. One of the biggest features of the day was the manner in which players from the Toronto Golf Club dropped out of the contention. Five of them entered the second round and not one reached the third, the vanquished including Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, 1923 champion; Mrs. E. W. Whittington, former Provincial champion; Mrs. Douglas Weld, Mrs. H. C. Macklem and Miss Myriam Elmsley. Mrs. Mulqueen fell before Mrs. A. B. Fisher, of Lambton, by the smallest possible margin. Mrs. Whittington was eliminated by another Lambton player, Mrs. S. G. Bennett; Mrs. Weld was beaten by Miss Helen Reid, of Rosedale; Mrs. Macklem fell before Miss Evelyn Mills, of Royal Ottawa, and Miss Mackenzie accounted for Miss Elmsley.

In the third round Miss Bright defeated Mrs. Pellenz 4 and 3 and Miss Mackenzie Miss Helen Reid 6 and 5. Mrs. Bennett won from Mrs. A. B. Fisher, of Lambton, and Mrs. Phillips from Miss Evelyn Mills, of Ottawa.

The semi-final matches were well contested. The steady play of Mrs. Bennett was a little too much for the brilliant young Miss Bright, the medalist, who it was generally predicted would reach the final.

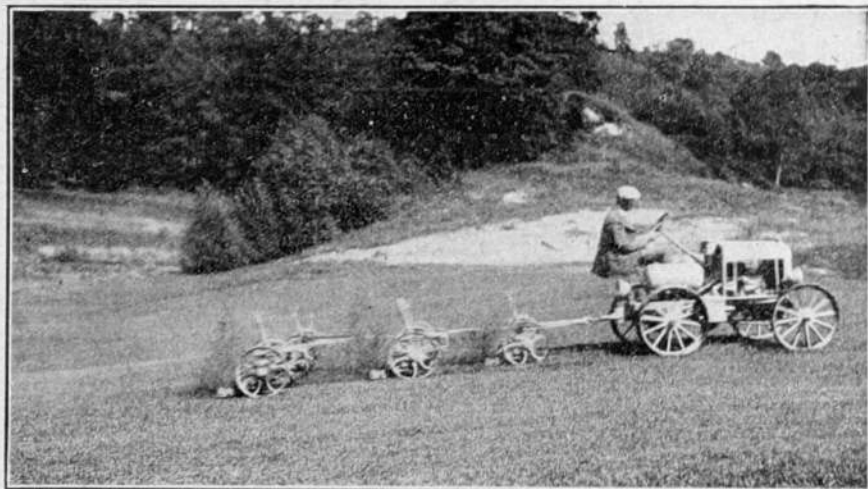

Miss Ada Mackenzie, as expected, was a little too experienced for Mrs. Eric Phillips, of Oshawa, who is to be heartily congratulated on the splendid showing she made throughout the championship, stamping her (as it did) one of the leading players of Ontario.

As a result of the final, Miss Ada Mackenzie retained the crown, which she won in 1926 and 1927. There was no competition in 1928. The match, which attracted a large gallery, developed into an unexpectedly keen struggle, and it was not until the eighteenth green was reached that the winner was able to dispose of the determined challenge of her rival, Mrs. S. G. Bennett, of the Lambton Golf Club. Stymied near the cup at the eighteenth Mrs. Bennett conceded the putt that meant victory and the championship to her opponent, 2 up.

The champion won the first two holes, but then lost the fourth, fifth and sixth, but squared the match at the seventh. She won the eighth and made the turn one up when the ninth was halved. Coming in Mrs. Bennett won the 10th and 11th, and after halving the 12th lost the 13th when the match was squared for the fourth time. Miss Mackenzie took the lead for the final time by winning the fourteenth and added to her margin by taking the 15th. She lost the 16th but halved the 17th and won the home hole.

The golf displayed by the two players was good considering the close struggle all the way and both showed signs of the strain. Mrs. Bennett, who is a newcomer in championship golf in Canada, certainly deserves the highest praise for not only coming through to the final but in giving her doughty opponent such a splendid "run for her money". It was one of the best wind-ups in the history of the championship and winner and vanquished both came in for unstinted praise.

In addition to the championship competition was very close in the championship consolation and other flights, all of which were keenly contested.

Following the playing of the final the prizes were presented to the winners of the various flights and competitions staged during the week. Miss Jean Haslett, of Hamilton, acting president in the absence of Mrs. J. M. Lyle abroad, presided and she was assisted by Mrs. L. F. Krueger, president of the ladies' section of the Scarborough Club, and W. J. Carnahan, president of the club. The various prize winners were:—

Championship flight—C. L. G. U. Trophy and replica, Miss Ada Maekenzie, Toronto

Ladies' Club; runner-up, Scarboro Golf Club prize, Mrs. S. G. Bennett, Lambton; semi-finalists, Mrs. Eric Phillips, Oshawa, and Miss Honor Bright, Lookout Point, Welland.

Championship Consolation—Winner, Mrs. R. K. Beairsto, St. Charles Club, Winnipeg; runner-up, Miss Margaret Lockhart, Royal Montreal.

First Flight—Winner, Mrs. Ronald Holmes, Royal Ottawa; runner-up, Mrs. W. S. Ware, Lakeview.

Second Flight—Winner, Mrs. H. Sedgewick, Cedar Brook; runner-up, Mrs. W. E. Young, Scarborough.

Third Flight—Winner, Miss Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines; runner-up, Mrs. H. L. Kerr, Scarborough.

Fourth Flight—Winner, Miss Heather Cassels, Beaconsfield, Montreal; runner-up, Mrs. C. W. Somers, Lambton.

Fifth Flight—Winner, Mrs. W. E. Pepali, York Downs; runner-up, Mrs. John Miln, Rosedale.

Qualifying Round, best gross score—Miss Honor Bright, Lookout Point, 86.

Best nett score, both divisions—British L. G. U. Bowl, Miss Edna Cumming, Islington; silver division, Mrs. E. E. Firth, Scarborough; best nett score, bronze division, Miss Edna Cumming, Islington; the latter two prizes presented by the ladies' section of the Scarboro Club.

Team prize: R. C. G. A. Shield, Toronto Golf Club (Mrs. Whittington, Mrs. Mulqueen, Mrs. Weld and Miss Elmsley).

Driving Competition—Silver Division—Aggregate for three drives, Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies; individual drive, Miss Evelyn Mills, Royal Ottawa.

Bronze Division—Aggregate for three drives, Mrs. G. S. McCord, Scarboro; individual drive, Miss Edna Cumming, Islington.

The Scarboro Club has always been noted for its unbounded hospitality and the directors, members and officials certainly lived up to this reputation during the Close Championship week. The entrants are a unit in bearing testimony to the fact from every angle the 1929 tournament was unexcelled both as regards playing and social conditions.

DR. PRICE GIVES MOST SUCCESSFUL TOURNEY ON HIS PRIVATE COURSE, MONCTON, N.B.

(Special Correspondence Canadian Golfer)

TO CONSTRUCT and maintain a public golf course and stage a golf tournament of his own following his first participation in the Maritime Seniors' Tournament at Halifax this year, illustrates to some extent the enthusiasm with which Dr. C. H. Price, of Moncton, N.B., has taken up golf after having reached the sixty-year mark in life. Dr. Price is the owner of the Lakeside Golf Course, situated nearly midway between Moncton and the summer resort of Shedioe, and upon his return from the Seniors' Tourney decided to stage a one day's meet on his own links, extending invitations to more than two hundred golfers, including members of the Maritime Seniors' Golf Association and the Riverdale Club, of Moncton. About seventy-five golfers and others attended this tournament held on Saturday, Sept. 21st, and some sixty players participated in the competitions on this day, which included a "hidden hole" contest and the lowest nett score for eighteen holes. Geo. Belliveau, of the Lakeside course, won the five "hidden holes" match with a score of 19, while the lowest nett score was turned in by Frank C. Doyle, of the Riverside Club, with a score of 65. Dr. Beckwith, of Halifax, won second prize in the Hidden Holes contest, and Captain Gordon F. Steeves, of the Ottawa Hunt Club, won the second prize for low nett score. A dozen balls was the first prize for this Hidden Holes winner, while the low nett scorer received a driver, and iron clubs were presented for second prize.

Dinner was served in the club house following the close of the afternoon's play, and the guests before taking their departure expressed to Dr. Price their hearty appreciation for the invitation to attend the tournament and voted it a great success.

The tournament at the Lakeside course will be an annual affair and next year will probably be on a more elaborate scale.

Members of the Maritime Seniors' Golf Association from outside points attending the tourney included: Dr. Beckwith, of Halifax; H. B. McLaughlin, of Truro, and Dr. R. A. Hughes, of Saint John.

Much of Dr. Price's enthusiasm for the advancement of golf, it may be explained, comes from his being a constant reader of the "Canadian Golfer", from the pages of which he has gleaned much of very practical benefit to him in laying out and putting into shape his golf course, as well as aiding him very materially in developing his game, which is regarded as remarkably proficient, taking into consideration the very short time he has been at it, and especially in view of the fact that he began to play at the tender age of sixty.

In the conduct of his course, Dr. Price is quite up to date, having very comfortable club house quarters for both ladies and gentlemen and having as a professional the genial Tom Tonks, who has been in charge of the course for the past two years, and giving good satisfaction.

SENIORS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED AT OTTAWA

Annual Tournament is Most Successful in the History of the Association.

Again Wins International Match. Governor-General Takes Active

Interest in the Tournament. Mr. C. A. Bogert Again Elected President. Presentation to Retiring Secretary.

(By W. H. Webling)

THE TWELFTH Annual Tournament of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association was played this year at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club and judging from the list of entries, which has only once been surpassed, namely, at the Lambton Golf Club, the attractive qualities of Ottawa as a city, the charm of the Royal Ottawa as a club, together with the pleasure and convenience of dwelling at one of Canada's finest hotels, proved an irresistible magnet to most of the members of the Canadian Seniors' Association, who found it at all possible to be present. And well were these fortunate ones rewarded, not only by weather that was about as perfect as one could desire, but by the hospitality and utmost consideration and service cheerfully rendered by Col. C. P. Murphy, the popular president of the Royal Ottawa, Col. R. J. Orde, the honorary secretary, together with the house staff and those responsible for the excellent condition of the course. Neither must one forget the capable assistance of Karl Keiffer, the club's efficient professional, and his assistants.

The feature of the first day's play was, of course, the fine performance of J. E. Caldwell, of the Rivermead Golf Club, who has ever been a tower of strength to the International team, both on this side and on his first visit to Great Britain. It was indeed a source of satisfaction to all to see him maintain his game on the second day and thus achieve the honour of tying with Canada's grand old golfer, Geo. S. Lyon. Unfortunately Capt. George had to attend another important event on the day following, where he was more interested in seeing a "tie" consummated rather than breaking one; in other words, being present at the wedding of his only surviving son. Hence the Shaughnessy Cup was awarded to J. E. Caldwell, together with the laurels of championship—all of which is calculated to put Rivermead on the golfing map of Canada for all time to come.

Among the many contestants who turned in scores worthy of special commendation were P. D. Ross, who, by the way, was the only Canadian to figure prominently in the International Championship competition; J. Dix Fraser, of Rosedale; R. Gamble, of Rivermead; Col. Seymour and G. F. James, of Hamilton; George Heintzman and Frank Parker, of Lambton; Dr. Cecil Chapin, James Ogilvie, Brantford; Col. J. D. Courtney, Ottawa, and many others.

Another result of supreme interest was the finish of the foursome competition, where once again His Excellency, the Governor-General and C. A. Bogert proved their perpetual proress by tying with Col. J. R. Moodie, of Hamilton, and Thomas Rennie, of Rosedale, for first prize. His Excellency, however, graciously suggested that as he and his astute partner had won this competition last year, that Col. Moodie and Thomas Rennie should be awarded the cups presented for first prize and that he and Mr. Bogert should receive the cups for second prize. This sporting offer was, of course, promptly accepted, adding greatly to the affectionate regard and popularity of His Excellency among all members of the Association, who honour him as their Patron, and the first among the exalted holders of this position to take an active part in the annual tournaments of the Association.

Once more it was the duty of Jerome A. Peck, chairman of the Tournament Committee of the United States Seniors' Association, to take back to his beloved "Apawamis" the gold cup presented by the Duke of Devonshire for competition between the United States and Canadian teams. The victory, however, was only secured by the very close margin of two points, in spite of the fact that the U. S. team was admittedly the strongest that has represented their Association to date. The full result of this interesting match will be found in the following:—

his well merited success by winning the "Individual Championship" with a capital 77, closely followed by C. D. Cooke, also of the United States, with a 79. P. D. Ross turned in a well played 81, the best of the Canadian scores.

To the Rivermead Club fell the honour of winning the handsome a waiting list. The secretary referred to the recent visit of the Canadian team to Great Britain, to the hospitality extended by their British hosts, and to the deeply interesting experience of their visit to Muirfield, Fife and to the Royal and Ancient Club of classic St. Andrews, where the second International triangular matches be-silver cup presented by the British Seniors' Society, and which was scheduled for competition this year for the first time. Another honour for Rivermead!

The twelfth annual meeting was held at the Royal Ottawa, with the president, C. A. Bogert, in the chair. The secretary-treasurer read his annual report, which showed the Association in a sound financial position. Over 43 new members had joined this year, the limit allowed by the constitution, namely, 400 members, had been reached, and already there was tween Great Britain, the United States and Canada were played.

After four years service as honorary secretary-treasurer, Mr. Webling reluctantly tendered his resignation, and thanked the president for his kind co-operation and sympathetic assistance at all times. He also recorded his gratitude to Vice-President R. H. Greene, H. H. Williams, John Littlejohn, Col. J. B. Miller, and S. R. Hart for their invaluable assistance at the annual tournaments.

The president in his address expressed his sincere appreciation for the work that had so successfully been carried out by the Tournament Committee, Mr. R. H. Greene (chairman), P. D. Ross, Geo. S. Lyon, J. A. Jackson, John Littlejohn, and George L. Robinson. He also expressed, on behalf of the Association, most hearty thanks to the officials of the Royal Ottawa not only for their kind invitation to have this tournament held at their splendid club, but for the great care and attention they had given to ensure its complete success. Mr. Bogert further referred to the excellent and unselfish service rendered by the honorary president of the Seniors, P. D. Ross, who was so largely responsible for the success of the annual dinner and many other matters in connection with the annual reunion.

In referring to the recent visit of the Canadian Seniors team to Great Britain Mr. Bogert expressed his indebtedness to the Hon. Martin Burrell, who kindly and unselfishly agreed to take the official leadership of the party, and to Messrs. Geo. S. Lyon and Geo. L. Robinson, who were responsible for the various arrangements and for the selection of the players. Mr. Webbing accompanied the party as a recording secretary and most of you have doubtless read his most interesting article on the trip which appeared in a recent number of the "Canadian Golfer".

After consulting with some of the officials of the United States Seniors'

Association, it was agreed that we should extend to the British Senior Golfers' Society a hearty invitation to visit us again next year, which was enthusiastically accepted. Triangular International matches were held first in England in 1927, and in the United States in 1928. The annual match between U. S. and Canadian Seniors, for the Duke of Devonshire Cup is to be played here Friday next, and in the ordinary course of events it would be the turn of the Canadian Seniors to send a team to Apawamis, N.Y., in 1930, but, with great courtesy and consideration, the U. S. Seniors' Association has agreed to return again to Canada next year, which means that both the annual tournament, the Devonshire Cup match and the triangular matches will be played in Canada—and on the links of the Toronto Golf Club—some time in September, 1930—the definite dates to be arranged later. The Toronto Golf Club sent us an invitation some months ago, which was accepted by the Governors; since then we have also received very cordial invitations from the Mount Bruno Country Club, Montreal, and from the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, to hold our tournament in 1930 on their links.

It is with profound regret that I refer to the irreparable loss sustained by this Association in the passing of our Founder, Walter Reginald Baker, C.V.O., who occupied the position of president from its inception until ill-health compelled him to retire in 1927, but whose devoted interest and moral support continued until the hour of his last fatal illness. There is no doubt whatever that the success achieved by our Association is almost wholly due to the organizing ability, sportsmanship and sound judgment of our Founder and first president—as long as the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association survives, the name of Walter R. Baker will remain an honoured memory.

The lamentable passing of another beloved member and Governor of our Association, W. G. Ross (Willie Ross) creates a vacancy which will be indeed difficult to fill. A rare sportsman was he, of International reputation, a tower of strength to our Association, a fine golfer and a loyal friend. His best services were always at our disposal. We all have personal knowledge of his kindness and hospitality. It is indeed a deep sorrow to us that such a personality should be removed, but in passing he leaves a memory which will continue an inspiration to those who knew him best.

I also have to record, with deep regret, the deaths of three active and prominent members: Mr. S. T. Creet, Mr. Robert Gill, Mr. L. C. Lawford.

In conclusion I desire to express to my fellow-Governors my deep appreciation of the assistance and support that I have received from them during the past year. We have had a number of meetings, well attended and no matter what the nature of the business or how exacting, everyone was always willing to give his time and attention to your interests.

The president reported during the year a vacancy arose on the Board, which was filled by the appointment of Mr. Alfred B. Evans, of the Mount Bruno Country Club.

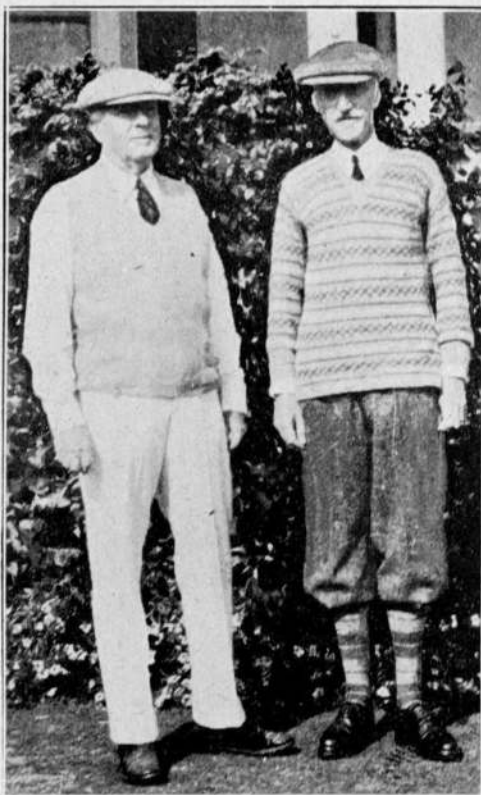

It was moved by the Hon. Martin Burrell, seconded by the Hon. Mr. Justice Orde:—

That this meeting extend its sympathy to the members of the United States Senior Golfers' Association on the loss they have sustained by the death of Mr. Horace Hotchkiss. Founder and friend of all Senior Golfers' Associations, Mr. Hotchkiss placed all of them in his debt, and by them his name will be honoured.

Mr. P. D. Ross, in moving a resolution to the retiring secretary-treasurer, said:—

"I would like, Mr. President, to move a resolution of thanks to Mr.

Lord Willingdon (right), Governor-General of Canada, who won the Foursome Cup last year and tied this year again with Mr. C. A. Bogert (left), president of the C.S.G.A., for the cups with Col. J. R. Moodie, of Hamilton, and Mr. T. Rennie, of Toronto.

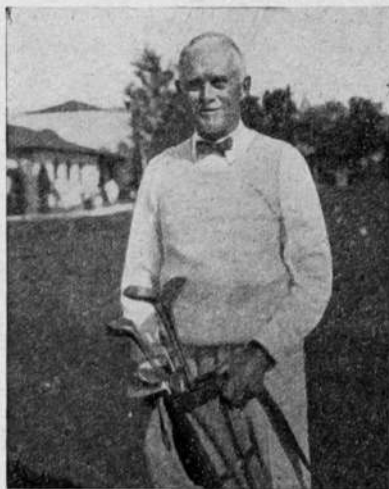

Webbing for the splendid service he has given us for some years. He has not only given us valuable service as secretary, but it has been a great pleasure to see his cheery face and he has contributed a lot in this way at our meetings."

The motion was seconded by Mr. R. H. Greene.

It was moved by the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, seconded by the Hon. Frank Carrel, and carried:—

That the following be elected officers of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association for the ensuing year:—

Patron, His Excellency the Viscount Willingdon, G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.B.E., Governor-General of Canada; Honorary President, P. D. Ross, the Royal Ottawa Golf Club; President, C. A. Bogert, the Toronto Golf Club; First Vice-President, the Hon. Martin Burrell, the Royal Ottawa Golf Club; Second Vice-President, R. H. Greene, Lambton Golf and Country Club;

W. H. Webling, Hon. Secretary of the Canadian Seniors, who has relinquished his office this year to become a Governor of the Association.

Chairman of Tournament Committee, R. H. Greene; Secretary-Treasurer, A. C. Ashforth.

On the motion of Mr. S. R. Hart, seconded by Col. G. P. Murphy, it was unanimously carried:—

That the following be elected Governors of the Association for the ensuing year:—

The question of a change in the programme for the annual tournaments was suggested by Mr. J. Gardner Thompson, which was further commented on by Mr. E. L. Horwood and the Hon. Mr. Justice Orde. The president was authorized to appoint a committee to consider this and report at a later meeting.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Orde moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the president for his untiring efforts in the Association's interests, which was seconded by Col. J. P. Murphy.

Hon. Frank Carrel extended an invitation to hold the 1930 tournament in "the historic City of Quebec" at the Kent Golf Links, Montmorency Falls. As the invitation of the Toronto Golf Club had been accepted, Mr. Carrel's kind offer was reluctantly declined.

The meeting then adjourned.

After the meeting the president asked the Governors to remain and in a few well chosen remarks he presented Mr. Webling, the retiring secretary-treasurer with a handsome engraved silver cigar box and as a slight appreciation from the Governors, an honour and kindness most deeply appreciated by the proud recipient.

The twelfth annual dinner was held at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, the scene of so many brilliant events. President Bogert, prefacing the toast to His Excellency, declared that two or three rounds of golf indicated a man's character, so the Governor-General in his game exemplified that he was “always straight, self contained, and very seldom in difficulty.” When His Excellency arose to reply he was accorded a magnificent reception and once more delighted his fellow Seniors with the democratic charm of his manner, his refreshing wit, and the sincere pleasure he inspires as an after-dinner speaker.

The toast to the winning American team was proposed by the Rt. Hon. George P. Graham in a speech pregnant with patriotic fervour, droll humour, and quaint philosophy. The next speaker was Frank Woodward, the recently elected president of the United States Seniors' Association, who, responding to the toast to the visitors, declared, during his speech, that “he could never admit that a Canadian is anything but a brother”, a remark that met with most enthusiastic acclaim. Others who spoke briefly were the Hon. Martin Burrell, Frederick Snare, the gallant captain of the U.S. team, and Col. Murphy. Of course the absence of Captain Geo. Lyon was felt, not so much perhaps on account of his power as a speaker, but as a singer, in which role the genial George stands in a class by himself—and there was no one who could so well lead the songful Seniors in their favourite chorus, "My Wild Irish Rose", as George. However, that is for the future, and the gathering finally dispersed with Auld Lang Syne on their lips, three hearty cheers for the Governor-General and a fervent hope in the heart of each one that all might meet again next year in Toronto.

At the head table were:—

Mr. Clarence A. Bogert, president; His Excellency the Viscount Willingdon, G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.B.E., Mr. E. C. Mieville, The Hon. Martin Burrell, The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, G.C.M.G., The Rt. Hon. George P. Graham, Sir Henry Thornton, The Hon. Ernest Lapointe, The Hon. Frank Carrel, Hon. Mr. Justice Orde, Mr. J. E. Caldwell, Mr. A. E. Dymont, Mr. A. B. Evans, Mr. R. H. Greene, Mr. J. J. McGill, Mr. S. L. McKay, Col. J. R. Moodie, Lt.-Col. Paul J. Myler, Mr. Ralph H. Reville, Mr. Geo. L. Robinson, Mr. P. D. Ross, Mr. H. H. Williams, Mr. W. Hastings Webbing, Col. G. P. Murphy, Col. R. J. Orde, Brig.-Gen. C. H. Maclaren, Mr. R. S. McLaughlin, Mr. Allan G. Gill, Mr. A. O. Beardmore,

Mr. C. P. Wilson, and the following members of the United States Seniors' Golf Association:—Mr. Frank Woodward, president, Mr. Frederick Snare, Mr. F. H. Ecker, Dr. George T. Gregg, Mr. Jerome A. Peck, Mr. Hugh Halsell, Mr. H. W. Croft, Mr. C. D. Cooke, Mr. Frank H. Hoyt, Mr. S. Clifton Mabon, Mr. Geo. E. Folk, Mr. D. N. Tallman, Dr. Charlton Wallace, Mr. A. B. Jenks, Mr. C. V. Drew, Mr. W. S. Adams, Mr. T. H. Linnell.

During tournament week Mr. C. A. Bogert, president, was host at a dinner to the Governors and officials of the Royal Ottawa. Mr. P. D. Ross also entertained at a most delightful dinner at the Country Club given in honour of the United States and Canadian International teams and Governors of the Association.

A special feature of the latter was the unique and dramatic singing of the Habitant Quartette, which met with wild applause, particularly appealing to American visitors.

EMBARRASSING POSITION FOR PRINCE

A CABLE from London:—

The Prince of Wales is very much embarrassed and Mr. Walter Hagen, the American golfer, is even more embarrassed because a bill for $325 was included in a gift package of golf clubs from Hagen to the Prince.

When Hagen played partner to the Prince at Sunningdale Golf Club last May he was so pleased with the Prince, whom he described as the "best sportsman I ever met," that he promised his partner a set of clubs.

The clubs recently arrived at St. James Palace, and with them was the bill. Hagen, when notified, cabled his apologies to the Prince and said he could not understand how the bill came to be included.

PORT COLBORNE, ONTARIO, FALLS INTO LINE

AT A meeting of the directors of the newly organized Port Colborne Country Club, of which Mr. E. P. Murphy, of the new Welland Canal staff, is president, Messrs. Cumming and Millar, of Toronto, were awarded the contract for the laying out of an eighteen-hole course and for the construction of nine holes with the idea of having same in play some time next season.

The site acquired is in close proximity to the town and adjacent to the main highway.

This new organization already has a membership sufficient to maintain a nine-hole course and it is anticipated that before spring opens up this membership will be greatly augmented.

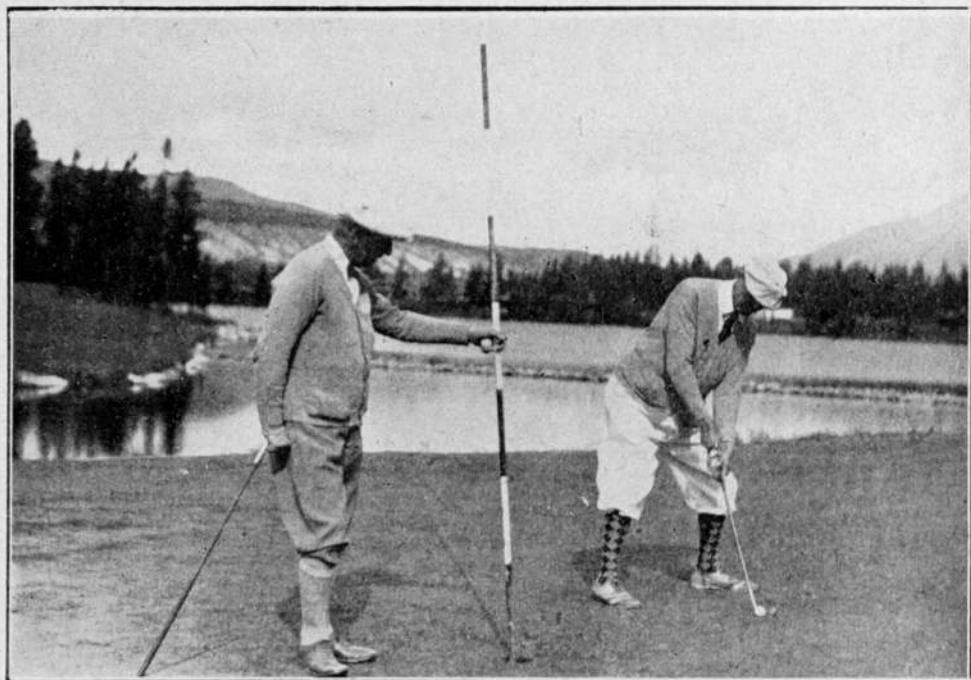

Messrs. Cumming and Millar laid out the course some weeks ago and commenced roughing it in immediately.

They anticipate having everything ready for seeding before the cold weather arrives.

GARDINER WHITE WINS TOTEM POLE TROPHY

Popular New Yorker Annexes Famous Jasper Park Event in a Record Field of Entrants. Miss Cecil Smith, of Toronto, Captures Ladies' Championship.

A SCENIC golf course, its emerald fairways nestling amid the snow-clad peaks of the towering Rocky Mountains, had long been the dream of Canadian golfers and four years ago this dream was realized when the Jasper Park Lodge course, in Jasper National Park, was officially opened. Laid out by Stanley Thompson, a foremost authority, the course itself is one that taxes the skill of experienced golfers and competes favourably with other famous courses on the continent. This year, for the first time, the Canadian Lt.-Governor Dr. Wm. Egbert, of Alberta, putting on the 16th green at Jasper Park. His Honour always takes a personal interest in this interesting event.

Amateur Championship was played west of Winnipeg and the Jasper Park Lodge course was selected for the honour.

With the opening of the Jasper Park Lodge course a new golf trophy was placed in the arena of competition. The Totem Pole Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Jasper Park Lodge Golf Week, at once occupied a unique place among various other awards offered at club and association competitions. Of solid silver, it takes the form of a totem pole, with a base of walnut, flanked by four bears, and shields on the sides of the base record the names of the winners, their clubs and date. A solid silver replica is held permanently by the victor of each tournament. An unusual trophy such as this was the magnet that quickly attracted noted golfers and in an unprecedented short time the Totem Pole Trophy sprang from the obscurity of infancy into the golf classic of Western Canada.

This year, despite the fact that the Canadian Amateur Championship was played on the same course and outstanding golfers from Canada and the United States travelled hundreds of miles to compete, Golf Week at Jasper Park Lodge set a new record for competitors and excellency of play. When Hon. Dr. W. Egbert, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, drove off the first ball, the entries showed that competitors from six out of the nine Provinces of the Dominion were present and that States of the Union were represented from the East, Middle West and the Pacific Coast.

There were approximately sixty-two entrants in the men's events and twenty-five in the ladies' and the prize list showed that the events were well selected and gave ample opportunity for diversity. Glorious Alberta weather, with warm sunny days, favoured the tourney and, as usual with such competitions, the social side was not neglected. His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor was also one of the competitors, and at the close graciously consented to present the prizes.

One of the features of the entries was the number of entrants from New York State and City, while other cities represented included Vancouver, Seattle, Minneapolis, Montreal, Toronto, Honolulu, Calgary, and Edmonton, and this intermingling of golfers from such widely separated sections of the continent undoubtedly does much to promote good fellowship and good sportsmanship.

Probably the three outstanding figures, among which the deepest interest was centered were, Gardiner W. White, of New York, who was the popular runner-up to Eddie Held, winner of the Canadian Amateur Championship; J. B. Starkey, of Edmonton, also a semi-finalist in the same competition; and B. Cool, of Calgary, runner-up in the Totem Pole Trophy competition.

For the first time in its history the Totem Pole Trophy was destined to pass from Canada to the United States, it being won this year by Gardiner White, who played his usual fine game and who but once had a hard struggle to win. From the first he was generally conceded to lead the finalists and he won the qualifying round with a score of 79 and then went through his succeeding match plays without being in serious difficulties, although in the elimination contests his game went to the 18th hole with J. B. Starkey. Against Ben Cool, of Calgary, in the final, the New Yorker took an early lead. He was three up at the turn and finished the match at the 14th green, five up and four to go.

An excellent type of golf also featured the ladies' events and here the chief interest centered around Miss Cecil Smith, of Toronto, and Mesdames J. A. MacKinnon and J. B. Starkey, of Edmonton. Both Edmonton ladies, however, were eliminated by Miss Smith, she defeating Mrs. MacKinnon in the finals by an eight and a seven. Miss Smith was playing at the top of her excellent form and never was in serious danger of losing any of her games.

The many other flights and events were not without their individual interest, and attracted large galleries, one flight, between Leigh A. Walsh, of Calgary, and A. Straith, of Victoria, not being decided until the 20th hole.

Following the conclusion of the tournament, the presentation of prizes took place in front of the main lodge, Walter Pratt, general manager of the Canadian National Railways Hotels, presiding. Both Mr. Pratt and Hon. Dr. Egbert, in making the presentations, stressed the growing popularity of the Jasper Park Lodge Golf Week and of the Totem Pole Trophy competition and pointed out that not only in its four years of existence has the Totem Pole Trophy become emblematic of the golf classic of Western Canada, but that it is now assuming an International importance. "As one who has watched this trophy competition grow from its inception," commented Hon. Dr. Egbert, "and followed it through the subsequent years, I believe sincerely that its importance on the golf calendar of events is steadily becoming greater and greater. This year has shown us that its fame has become known among our golf enthusiasts on the other side of the border. Next year, judging from what I hear, we shall have yet more competitors from American clubs; and I look forward to the not distant future when scores of American golfers will be with us every September to contest the ownership of this most unique trophy yet offered in such tournaments."

The presentations made by His Honour were as follows:—

The handicap match versus par: Winner, Gardiner W. White, of the Nassau Golf and Country Club, Long Island, two up, a tee silver cigarette box.

The ladies' handicap match versus C. L. G. U. par: Winner, Miss Cecil Smith, of Toronto, four down, a pair of vases.

Cool, of Calgary, individual gold medals; runners-up, the British Columbia team, of Dr. P. Margeison, of Nanaimo, and A. D. Straith, R. Symes, A. P. Porter, H. B. Leuty, and W. A. Whyte, of Vancouver, individual silver medals.

The mixed foursome against bogey: Winner, Mrs. F. Hopkins, of New York, and Martin Straith, of Victoria, cocktail shakers.

The qualifying round for the Totem Pole Trophy: Winner, Gardiner W. White, New York, a gold replica miniature medal.

The mixed foursomes versus C. L. G. U. par: Winners, Miss R. May, of Winnipeg, and A. J. Hills, of Montreal, individual silver medals.

The ladies' putting competition: Winner, Miss Maude Smith, of Toronto, china candlesticks badged; runner-up, Mrs. MacKinnon, of Edmonton, a golf figure in silver.

The ladies' championship: Winner, Miss Cecil Smith, of Toronto, a pair of silver Totem Pole candlesticks; runner-up, Mrs. MacKinnon, of Edmonton, a silver golf figure dresser piece.

The Totem Pole Trophy Competition:

Third flight: Winner, H. E. Molson, a silver vase; runner-up, Dr. S. Campbell, a silver cup.

Second flight: Winner, G. M. Black, Jr., a silver golf figure ash tray; runner-up, N. M. Cross, a golf figure in silver.

The Championship Trophy: Winner, Gardiner W. White, the Totem Pole Trophy to be held by Mr. White's Club, the Nassau Golf and Country Club, Long Island, for one year, and a reduced facsimile, in solid silver, to be his permanent property; runner-up, B. Cool, a pair of solid silver candlesticks.

The emoniums showered upon Mr. White upon his victory and the marked enthusiasm with which the presentation of the Totem Pole Trophy showed in no uncertain way the popularity of the winner and that the competitors were unanimous in their pleasure at the trophy being displayed in one of the foremost golf clubs of the continent. In the previous three years of its history the honour of holding the trophy fell to Vancouver clubs, it being won successively by E. A. Jones, R. F. Baker and Alfred Bull. Although this year British Columbia made a determined effort to hold it, fortune did not smile upon their entrants and, in some instances, persistent bad luck dogged them during the eliminations.

A retrospective glance over the general play during the Golf Week shows that a superior type of golf was played and that when the fourth annual tournament passed into history, it could be written down as the most successful yet held. So much for the past. For the future. Intimation has already been made that while Mr. White will be in Europe next summer and therefore will not be able to defend his title, other prominent golfers from New York will be present to try and retain the trophy; and Mr. White stated that in 1931 he will again try to regain it. From Canada has come yet another intimation that while Canadian golfers are pleased to see the trophy pass into the possession of such a noted golfer they have no idea of letting it remain across the border indefinitely and there is every indication that the Totem Pole Trophy will be the centre of a determined International struggle for its possession at the fifth annual tournament of the Jasper Park Lodge Golf Week, next September.

WINS EASTERN TOWNSHIPS CHAMPIONSHIP

A NEW Eastern Townships amateur golf champion was crowned last month when Mr. P. S. Ross, of Montreal (son of the late lamented Mr. W. G. Ross), playing under the colors of the Thetford Mines Club, headed a field of fifty-nine in the seventy-two holes medal play over the course of the Dufferin Heights Club, Stanstead, Que. Ross had a medal score of 299, a margin of six strokes over the three players who tied for second place, namely, Bobby McDonald, of Granby, the 1928 champion, Russell McCabe, of Windsor Mills, and R. Daniels, of Drummondville. In the nine-hole play-off for second place Bobby McDonald took the honours. The tournament was one of the most successful ever held in the Eastern Townships, eleven clubs being represented.

GOLF IN THE MARITIMES

Interesting Contest for the McDonald Shield—the Game in Prince Edward Island.

THE annual competition for the Dr. McDonald Shield, emblematic of the Club Championship of Pictou and Antigonish Counties, Nova Scotia, was played over the Abercrombie course, at New Glasgow. New Glasgow retained the handsome trophy by a comfortable margin and Antigonish finished in second place, and Pictou third. Thirty-six holes were played, and excellent weather prevailed. The feature of the day was the five-hole play-off of Tom McCaull, the New Glasgow champion, and Bill Kelly, of the Antigonish Club. On the day's play they had turned in identical cards, 38, 38, 39, 39, leading the field. Having a slightly bigger handicap than McCaull, Kelly thus won. To decide the championship on the gross score, it was necessary for McCaull and Kelly to play an extra hole and there followed a battle royal that delighted the large gallery of experts that saw it. Kelly's drive was stymied by an apple tree, so that he reached the edge of the green only in three. McCaull was down in four, and in order to hold him had to sink a twenty-foot putt, which he did. The gallery moved to number two. This looked like Kelly's big chance. He was on the green in two, while his opponent lay in the rough. McCaull seemed to throw the hole away by dubbing a shot, but his four was on the lip of the hole. Kelly's putt was short, but his next was a good try, and they both went down in five. At the third hole McCaull went down in four, while Kelly lay ten feet away for three. But he made the putt, but still the match was tied. On the fourth, McCaull's drive lay about ten feet short of the pin, while Kelly was off to one side in the rough. His second got him on the green with an eight-yard putt along the side of the hill absolutely necessary to hold the big Scot. He made it, and the gallery applauded. Then came the fifth. The New Glasgow champion sent his drive 250 yards up the hill, while Kelly put his 250 yards straight up in the air. McCaull's second was upon the green, but short. Kelly unlimbered his iron and ran his second up to within 10 feet of the pin. McCaull failed to sink the third but Kelly dropped his number three cleanly, winning the statuette for the low gross, and the inter-county championship. At the close Dr. McDonald presented the trophy to the Abercrombie team. Truly a great contest.

Golf at Charlottetown, P. E. I.

The last stage of the Wellner Trophy for ladies was played on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 5th, also the fifth and last stage of Wellner's Trophy for men. The tea hostesses at the links Saturday afternoon were Mrs. C. H. B. Longworth, Mrs. H. E. Miller, Mrs. N. H. DeBois, and Mrs. Buntain. Notwithstanding the enlargement and big improvements in the Charlottetown golf links, activity this summer was only moderate.

QUEBEC LADIES END UP A BRILLIANT SEASON

THE last of the Ladies' Field Days held under the auspices of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union was held last month over the testing course of the Laval-sur-le-Lac Club, Montreal. There was a wonderful entry from all the leading clubs of the Province.

Ending a brilliant season Miss Eileen Kinsella, of the Senneville Golf Club, Montreal, with a 46-41-87 headed the large field, five strokes ahead of Miss M. Hankin, of Rosemere, Montreal, who carded a 92.

The Mary Robinson Cup, presented to the Club gaining most points awarded for the two best nett scores made by silver division players, in the field days during the season was gained by representatives of the Laval-sur-le-Lac Golf Club. The Kate Campbell Cup, which goes to the club gaining the same distinction in the bronze division, went to Summerlea, Montreal.

This eminently successful field day brought to a close a season of similar events that has surpassed previous years by a wide margin both in point of the number participating and in the enthusiasm displayed. With few exceptions each successive field day broke previous records and the committee in charge of the events spent a hectic season of organizing the army of women golfers. Results, however, have been gratifying and marked improvement of the general scoring average has resulted.

This year Mrs. F. A. Mann was chairman of the ladies' field day committee of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union.

Following Miss Kinsella in the silver division was Miss M. Hankin, of Rosemere, who scored 92, and took nett honours in the division with a 72. Miss Hankin's play was a feature of the day, turning in a remarkably consistent score for a 20-handicap player.

Mrs. A. Stewart, of Cornwall, brought her club into the limelight of prominence by capturing gross honours in the bronze division. Mrs. Stewart scored a 97. The best nett prize in the bronze division went to Mrs. W. Jackson, of Islesmere. Mrs. Jackson, a 30-handicap player, turned in a good card of 100, to head the nett scores in her division with a 70.

The special 36-handicap prize was awarded on the best 14-hole score and went to Mrs. H. Hebert, of Ki-8-Eb, Three Rivers, with a card of 85. The length of the entry list was so great that the final pair did not tee off until late in the afternoon, so that it was decided to award the special 36-handicap prize on 14 holes.

In third place was Mrs. L. Papineau, Laval, with 93.

The Canadian Seniors Golf Association Championship, George S. Lyon, Toronto, and J. E. Caldwell, Ottawa, tied for the Championship, with scores of 157, but Mr. Lyon, who has won the championship 9 times, resigned in favour of Mr. Caldwell.

The U.S. Seniors team again won the International match but by the narrow margin of 2 points. The Canadian Women's Senior Championship, Mrs. Sidney Jones, Toronto, for the 4th time; runner-up, Mrs. Garth Thomson, Kanawaki, Montreal. In the International match the U.S. defeated the Canadian Seniors.

For the first time in the history of the competition the Lesley Cup matches were held in Canada at the Toronto Golf Club. The U.S. was represented by strong fields from the Metropolitan Golf Association, the Pennsylvania Golf Association and Massachusetts Golf Association, and Canada by an Eastern Canada team. In such strong company Eastern Canada players did good work to secure third place. The Metropolitan Association provided the winners, with Pennsylvania 2nd and Massachusetts 4th.

The Jasper Park Totem Pole was won by Mr. Gardiner White, of New York. The British Columbia Amateur Championship was won by C. Hunter, University of Washington student; runner-up, Norman Wallace, Victoria, B.C.

THE VEXED QUESTION OF THE 36-HOLE ROUND IN CHAMPIONSHIPS

A DESPATCH from Pebble Beach, California:—

"Agitation for the abolishment again of the hazardous 18-hole matches seems likely to follow the thirty-third annual Amateur Golf Championship, which witnessed the crowing of Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, of St. Paul, as successor to the throne occupied in four of the five previous years by Bobby Jones. On the same theory by which championship tennis matches are decided by best three out of five sets and worlds series by the best four out of seven ball games, a substantial group of officials and experts consider that 36-holes represents a more convincing test of golf than the 18 which now prevails for the first two rounds of the Amateur Championship."

In Canada the Amateur Championship rounds are all run off at 36 holes and it is found this is decidedly the best test of championship golf. The United States Golf Association would be well advised to also introduce this system another year.

THE beautiful Ancaster course of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club has been the scene the past decade or so of many interesting and colourful championships, but none to equal or excel that of the annual Ladies' Open Championship which would be assured of such a right royal Royal and Ancient welcome.

Ancaster not only witnessed a record field of high class entrants and record galleries but it also witnessed the best ladies' golf ever seen in the Dominion. It was superlative golf held such successful sway there the last golden days of September.

Never before has there been gathered together such a galaxy of U.S. and Canadian women stars, the only regret being that Great Britain was not represented as she was in 1921 when the celebrated Miss Cecil Leitch, then at the height of her form, carried off titular honours at Rivermead, Ottawa, and again in 1922, Mrs. W. C. Gavin, another charming English woman, took the championship cup once again across the Atlantic. A determined effort should be made next year to again interest the British women in our championship. They which would have given even high ranking men players all they could do to equal let alone surpass, as "birdies" during the week flew in flocks, and lordly "eagles" were not at all uncommon visitors to the links. Scores in the 70's—many of them in the low 70's—were daily occurrences and that was the calibre of golf the galleries of Ancaster were privileged to witness from the first tee-shot on the first day until the last putt on the last day.

Under perfect course conditions, Monday, Sept. 23, saw one hundred and ten of the flower of American and Canadian ladies golfdom tee up in the qualifying round.

The favourite to win the medal was Miss Glenna Collett, U.S. lady champion, and winner of the Canadian championship in 1923 and 1924, but unexpectedly defeated in 1927 at Lambton by Miss Helen Paget, of Ottawa, now Mrs. Ronald Holmes, of Toronto. Miss Collett holds the ladies' record for the Hamilton course, 75. Miss Helen Hicks, the sensational 18-year-old Long Island school girl, fresh from winning in a most decisive manner the 72-hole Chicago Derby Tournament, was also greatly fancied to bring in the low score, together with Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, Miss Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, the defending champion, and Miss Helen Payson, of Portland, who was the 1927 champion.

Playing sparkling golf Miss Glenna justified the hopes of her supporters and carding a 77 headed the field. A dark horse was Miss Marjorie Kirkham, of the Marlborough Club, of Montreal, who on her return from a two years' visit to California has been going great guns, recently winning the Montreal ladies' championship. She was only two strokes behind Miss Collett, whilst Miss Ada Mackenzie was well up in front with an 80.

Miss Collett had a total of six birdies when compared with women's par for the course, beating perfect figures on the second, seventh and ninth going out and on the 13th, 15th and 18th coming home. While she had par figures on the 3rd, 5th and 8th on the outgoing nine and on the 11th, 12th, 14th, 16th and 17th coming in.

Par for the course is:

Until late in the afternoon it looked as if 92's would at least play off, but Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, 1928 Ontario junior champion, came in with a 91 to eliminate the 92's and when everything looked serene Mrs. Harry Sedgewick, of Cedar Brook, came in with a 90, which necessitated a play-off between the 91's. Then Mrs. H. K. Stevens, of Waterloo, reported a 91, and this left seven 91's to play off for five places. In the one-hole play-off Mrs. Stevens and Miss Edith Ellis, of Hamilton, were eliminated.

The 32 qualifiers to play off for this record championship were:—

Miss Glenna Collett, Pebble Beach, Cal.	40	37	77

Mrs. R. B. Pellenz, Elmhurst, Winnipeg	46	45	91
Mrs. John Arends, Kildur G.C., Chicago, Ill.	48	43	91

Of these 32 qualifiers Canada claimed 16 players and the United States an equal number, which was a much better showing than had been hoped for, and this is how they fared on the first round of the championship flight:—

Miss Glenna Collett, Pebble Beach, Cal., defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt, Hamilton, 6 and 4.

Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, Montreal, defeated Mrs. A. Harrison, Buffalo, 4 and 3.

Mrs. F. W. White, Hartford, Conn., defeated Mrs. T. J. Agar, Mississauga, Toronto, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Harley C. Higbie, Detroit C.C., defeated Mrs. H. Sedgewick, Cedar Brook, Toronto, 8 and 6.

Mrs. J. T. Mayo, Del Monte, Cal., defeated Mrs. H. A. Martelle, Hartford, Conn., one up.

Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto Golf, defeated Miss Honor Bright, Niagara Falls, N.Y., 5 and 4.

Miss Virginia Wilson, Onwentsia, Chicago, defeated Miss Myriam Elmsley, Toronto Golf, 3 and 2.

Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L.I., defeated Miss Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines, 7 and 6.

Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, Elmhurst, Winnipeg, defeated Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies, 3 and 1.

Miss Virginia Holzderber, Baltimore, Md., defeated Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., 5 and 4.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Lochmoor, Detroit, defeated Miss Cecil Smith, Toronto Golf, one up.

Miss Peggy Wattles, Buffalo C.C., defeated Mrs. Douglas Weld, Toronto Golf, 8 and 7.

Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Me., defeated Miss Margaret Lockhart, Royal Montreal, 4 and 3.

Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. Sidney Small, Detroit C.C., two up.

Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., defeated Mrs. A. B. Fisher, Lambton, Toronto, 4 and 3.

Miss Marjorie Kirkham, Marlborough, Montreal, defeated Mrs. John Arends, Chicago, 3 and 1.

The big upset of the day was the defeat of the Canadian Close Champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie, by the hard-fighting Mrs. Pellenz, of Winnipeg. Miss Mackenzie was looked upon, and rightly so, too, as Canada's main hope in the stemming of the U. S. invasion.

For the first nine holes the match was a close struggle, but Mrs. Pellenz, who was putting extremely well, was never behind. She won the second, lost the fifth, won the seventh, lost the eighth and won the ninth, to make the turn 1 up.

The margin was wiped out when Miss Mackenzie won the tenth, and after the eleventh had been halved Mrs. Pellenz placed herself in a strong position by taking the twelfth and thirteenth, and strengthened it by halving the fourteenth. Miss Mackenzie bit into the deficit with a win on the fifteenth, but lost the sixteenth to become two down with only the same number of holes to play. She lost her chance by sending her tee shot from the 17th tee into the trees to the right, and although the westerner took a seven she won the hole to end the match.

The passing of Miss Mackenzie was by the way of being a bit of a tragedy, but Mrs. Pellenz played the better game and well deserved to win out.

Mrs. Douglas Weld, Toronto Golf Club, found the brilliant young Miss Peggie Wattles in a particularly "winning" mood. She was out in a sparkling 35 but faltered somewhat coming in to register a 40. This 75, however, ties the ladies' record for the Ancaster course.

Miss Cecil Smith, the former Ontario champion, was 2 up and 4 to go on Mrs. Hanley, of Detroit. The Detroit player, however, staged a strong comeback and eventually won a most interesting match one up.

Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, 1927 Ontario junior champion, had little chance against the long hitting "Billie" Hicks.

The other Canadians, however, managed to keep the flag flying. Miss Dora Virtue, Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen and Miss Marjorie Kirkham all winning their matches. These four with Mrs. Pellenz made a total of five Canadians still left in the hunt against eleven Americans.

The driving competition was held and was won by Miss Edith Quier, of Reading, who had three drives of 215, 220 and 215 yards, while Mrs. Whittington had the longest individual effort with 236 yards. Mrs. H. A. Martelle, of Hartford, was second with 214, 215 and 185. Mrs. Hanley was third and Miss Winnifred Robinson fourth.

Second round:—

Miss Glenna Collett, Pebble Beach, Cal., defeated Miss Dora Virtue, Whitlock, Montreal, 6 and 4.

Mrs. H. C. Higbie, Detroit, defeated Mrs. F. W. White, Hartford, Conn., 5 and 4.

Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. T. J. Mayo, Del Monte, Cal., 2 up.

Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L.I., defeated Miss Virginia Wilson, Onwentsia, Chicago, one up.

Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, Elmhurst, Winnipeg, defeated Miss Virginia Holzderber, Baltimore, 2 up.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Lochmore, Detroit, defeated Miss Peggy Wattles, Buffalo C.C., one up.

Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, defeated Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Me., 5 and 4.

Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., defeated Miss Marjorie Kirkham, Marlborough, Montreal, 8 and 6.

This round witnessed the elimination of two more Canadian players. Miss Dora Virtue and Miss Kirkham, both of Montreal. They were unfortunate in coming against two of the strongest contenders of the American contingent, respectively, the favourite Miss Glenna Collett and Miss Edith Quier, who eventually went into the final. They both, however, put up a good fight.

The Canadian winners this round were Mrs. Mulqueen, who played brilliantly to take into camp by 5 and 4 Miss Helen Payson, winner of the Canadian championship in 1927. This was decidedly a notable victory. Then Mrs. Whittington defeated Mrs. Mayo 2 up and Mrs. Pellenz also had a 2 up margin on Miss Virginia Holzderber. So at the end of the second round there were still 3 Canadians to 5 Americans eligible to go into the third round to compete for our ladies' golfing crown. Mrs. E. W. Whittington carried Miss Helen Hicks, the sensation of the past winter season in the south, and one of the strongest of the pre-tournament favourites, to the seventeenth before losing, 3 and 1, while Mrs. Pellenz, of Winnipeg, the Manitoba expert, playing in her first national championship, was only beat-round. This was a decidedly good showing.

Third round:—

Miss Glenna Collett Pebble Beach, Cal., defeated Mrs. H. C. Higbie, Detroit C.C., 5 and 3.

Miss Helen Hicks, Inwood C.C., Long Island, defeated Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto Golf, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Oakland Hills, Detroit, defeated Mrs. P. B. Pellenz, Elmhurst, Winnipeg, 3 and 2.

Miss Edith Quier, Berkshire C.C., Reading, Pa., defeated Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, 5 and 4.

This round unfortunately saw the elimination of the last of the Canadians, making for the first time in the history of the championship the semi-finals an all-American affair—regrettable but not altogether unexpected considering the strong contingent which crossed the border to en 3 and 2 by Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit.

The other Canadian, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, was beaten 5 and 4, the biggest margin of the day, but there was no disgrace in this reverse, as Miss Quier carded the most sensational golf of the week on the first nine, during which she secured a commanding lead. The fourth match was between Miss Glenna Collett, the medalist and outstanding favourite to win the title for the third time, and Mrs. H. C. Higbie, of Detroit, the former winning 5 and 3.

In the Quier-Mulqueen match the Reading expert lost the first hole—then on the 3rd the fireworks started. Miss Quier proceeded to reel off the next six holes 4 under par, having five 3's, four in a row. Even a Bobby

 CLARENCE A. MINER, President

Jones could not have withstood such an onslaught.

The main interest in the semi-final centred round the game between Miss Collett and Miss Hicks. It was generally thought that this would be the match de luxe of the tournament week and so it proved. A very large gallery followed the players. Miss Hicks, who had established herself a warm favourite, possibly as the result of her youth and charm, was hardly fancied to win out against her more experienced opponent, but the gallery was decidedly "back of her" and a sympathetic gallery is always an asset. At the end of the first round Miss Collett, who was out in 36, had a lead of three holes on Miss "Billie"—and it looked as though she was headed for a rather easy victory. Coming home Miss Hicks won the 10th, halved the 11th and 12th but lost the 13th to become three down and five holes to play. The situation looked hopeless. She won the 14th, but could only halve the next two, leaving Miss Collett dormie. At this point many of the gallery left for the nearby club house considering the game over. The strain, however, apparently was commencing to tell even on the iron nerves of the many times champion. She played the five hundred yard 17th very badly indeed and eventually lost it 7 to 5. Both had about equal drives on the eighteenth, both balls resting on the dip before the creek. Miss Collett was off the line, and her second ended up below the shoulder of the hill to the left. Miss Hicks also had a hanging lie, but she got away a beautiful shot which placed her about eight feet from the pin. Miss Collett was on the green but still away in three, and was two feet short in four. Miss Hicks was dead in three, and the hole was conceded to square the match.

Going to the extra 19th hole both players registered 5's—so the match went to the 20th. Here Miss Glenna's second caught the trap to the right while Miss Helen was on the green. Miss Collett made a fine recovery from the trap but was left a lengthy putt for a half, while Miss Hicks was only inches from the pin in three. Miss Hicks won the hole 4 and 5 and the most exciting ladies' match ever witnessed on the Ancaster course, by one up.

The large gallery was well repaid for its 20-hole tramp. The match was replete with thrills throughout, whilst the class of woman's golf displayed has never been witnessed before in Canada. The dogged determination of Miss Hicks was tremendously admired, when after being two down and two to go she eventually took such a great fighter as Miss Collett to the 20th hole and defeat. Nothing finer has ever been done on the links of the Dominion.

Following the brilliantly-played and stubbornly fought semi-final on Friday afternoon the final was comparatively a dull affair and after the eleventh and twelfth holes in the morning there was no doubt as to the ultimate winner, if there had been before, as Miss Hicks was steady practically all the time, while Miss Quier was visibly affected by the strain of a championship match and her play in the final was not a true indication of her real ability.

The play in the championship was not the only feature in this most interesting tournament. During the week there were many interesting matches, the championship consolation and five other flights. Here, too, the American ladies were more or less in the ascendant—winning four out of the six events.

Miss Hicks playing on the third green during the Championship final, showing part of the large gallery which followed the match.

The finish came eventually at the thirtieth hole, when Miss Hicks ended the hopeless struggle by the margin of 7 and 6.

She is easily the youngest player that ever won the Canadian Championship. In fact, any national championship as she is only 18 years of age. She has all the hall marks of becoming not only one of the greatest golfers of America but of the world. She made herself by her unaffectedness and by her charming personality a tremendous favourite with the galleries at Hamilton which comprised leading men and women players from all parts of Ontario. Throughout championship week she was installed the favoured of the favourites and she never once belittled that estimation.

Immediately after the championship final a very pretty event was staged on the lawn in front of the beautiful new club house of the Hamilton Club, when the presentation of prizes took place. The occasion was graced by the presence of Mrs. W. D. Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, whilst on the verandah were Mrs. Lucas, the oldest lady member of the Hamilton Golf Club, Mrs. J. L. Counsel, president of the ladies' section of the Hamilton Club, Mrs. Leonard Murray, Toronto, ex-president of the C. L. G. U., and other well known officials. Miss Jean Haslett, president of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, in the absence of Mrs. Lyle, president of the C. L. G. U., was the presiding officer and she conducted a most interesting programme in a most capable and charming manner. She introduced all the prize winners in a most graceful manner to Mrs. Ross, who then presented the

A particularly interesting presentation took place after the prizes had been awarded. Miss Haslett in a very apt speech referred to the fact that they were honoured that afternoon by the presence of Mrs. Leonard Murray, who for ten years had been the president of the C. L. G. U. To Hamilton, in 1913, must be given the credit originally of the formation of the C. L. G. U., thanks to Miss Florence Harvey, a life member of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, but now a resident of Natal, Africa. During the war the Association became inactive, but in 1919 it was reorganized with 13 clubs only affiliated. Mrs. Murray was persuaded to take the presidency, a position she recently resigned after ten years' active work and as a result of her marvelous executive ability the organization very quickly started to loom large in the golfing activities in the Dominion. Mrs. Murray, who in these days, had the invaluable support of Mrs. A. F. Roger, Toronto, Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Toronto (now hon. secretary of the Association), Mrs. Gordon Ferrie, Hamilton, and other well known women golfers, was determined to make the Association not a Provincial but a Dominion wide one, and in this laudable ambition she succeeded beyond all expectations. The C. L. G. U. has now a membership of one hundred and eighty-five affiliated clubs (applause) stretching literally from Coast to Coast. Mrs. Murray's dream has come true, the C. L. G. U. is truly today a national golfing institution.

Miss Haslett then presented Mrs. Murray with a diamond wrist watch as an appreciation of her work for the betterment of women's golf in the Dominion, and the C. L. G. U. also presented a solid silver bowl for annual competition, starting in 1930, to be known as the "Ella Murray" Trophy and to be held for one year by the player returning the lowest gross score in the qualifying round of the annual Canadian Ladies' Close Championship.

Mrs. Murray in a most charming speech expressed her deep appreciation of such a notable presentation. Her work with the C. L. G. U. had always been a labour of love, but the results attained during her ten years' tenure of office would not have been possible had it not been for the loyal support of loyal executives. Mrs. Murray was cheered again and again.

Miss Haslett during the presentation ceremonies expressed the sincere thanks of the C. L. G. U. to the president, directors and members of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, who had so unselfishly placed throughout the week the facilities of the course and club house at the disposal of the entrants. She also gave a well deserved meed of praise to Nicol Thompson, the efficient professional of the club, and John Sutherland, superintendent of the course.

KARL KEFFER HIGHLY HONOURED

EIGHTY members of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club attended the annual dinner at the club Saturday evening, Oct. 14th, when the various cups won during the season in the members' competitions were presented to the winners by the president, Col. G. P. Murphy.

A particularly interesting feature of the evening was the unanimous election of Karl Keffer, who has been the Royal Ottawa professional for the past 20 years—except when he was in service at the front during the war—to be an honorary life member of the club.

Keffer has twice won the Canadian Open Championship and Provincial and other tournaments by the score. No one has done more for golf in Canada—only this year he resigned the honorary secretaryship of the Canadian Professional Golf Association and it is largely to his efforts that the organization is in such a flourishing condition to-day. In addition to his duties at the Royal Ottawa he every winter goes South, where he is professional to a very exclusive private club. A grand golfer and a sound instructor, he well deserves the honour now conferred upon him, and it is a very rare honour indeed. In Great Britain, Vardon, Taylor, Braid and one or two other outstanding professionals have been accorded such a compliment by their clubs, and in this country, George Cumming, of the Toronto Club, and Charlie Murray, of the Royal Montreal.

Keffer is very highly esteemed and rightly so, too, by the members of the Royal Ottawa, who hold him to be, as one member phrased it, "not only a great golfer but a fine Canadian, a man and a gentleman."

The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer", who has known him during the whole of his brilliant golfing career, joins with friends from Coast to Coast in congratulating this outstanding exponent of the game on the signal honour conferred upon him by the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, one of the outstanding clubs of the Dominion.

WHILST playing September 28 with Mr. J. W. Mullan, a member of the club, over the course of the Whitlock Golf Club, Hudson Heights, Que., George Elder, the very capable professional of the club, carded a superlatively fine 67, made up as follows:—

Out444 245 333—32
In543 254 435—35—67

The par of the course is a hard 71, so Elder cut four strokes off it. Previously the best score ever returned at Whitlock was 69, to the credit alike of Mr. A. B. Darling and Elder, who, by the way, has had a most successful season and is sailing Nov. 15th on the Duchess of Richmond to spend a well-earned holiday in Glasgow, his home town.

Acceptances from some of the most noted professional golfers of the United States have been received by the committee in charge of the annual Hawaii Open Golf Tournament to be played on the Waiialae course, Honolulu, November 15, 16 and 17. This line-up of acceptances shows that the $6,000 in prizes hung up for this year's contest will not be carried off without a struggle:—

Tommy Armour, Detroit, Michigan; William Mehlhorn, Fennimore Country Club, White Plains, N.Y.; Horton Smith, Joplin, Missouri; Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows Club, Flushing, N.Y.; Al Espinosa, Illinois Country Club, Glencoe, Illinois; Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N.J.; Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Delaware; Billy Burke, West Port, N.Y.; Ben Coltrin, Los Altos Country Club, San Francisco, Cal.

Duplicating his own 68 card, which established a new record for the Sunset Fields Course, Los Angeles, Fred Morrison, local professional, won the Southern California $1,000 Open Golf Championship, with a score of 283 for the 72 holes. The long-driving Midwick Club player's margin was destined to fall in short order, for along came Al Cameron with a dazzling 67 for the final 18 holes. The five-under par score put the Hillcrest professional just inside the money limit. He was tied for 13th. Morrison, by virtue of his two rounds at 68, led the field by three strokes. Close on his heels came Leo Diegel, U.S. national professional champion and favourite, as a result of a surprise 69, which placed him second with 286. Tom Stevens, of the California Country Club, Los Angeles, was third with 287. Stevens shot a 70 and 69. Wee Willie Hunter, defending champion, landed in eighth place, after a bad morning round for a 75. He shot one over par on the last 18 for a final 293.

A despatch from Salt Lake City Oct. 18th:—

“Walter Hagen, British Open Champion, after playing an exhibition match here today, the second since his arrival yesterday, announced that he will soon retire from active golf and devote his time to business.

“Hagen will complete his present barnstorming tour in about two weeks and expects that it will be his last journey around the country playing against local players here and there. He said to-day he will continue to play in the choice tournaments, but has decided to discontinue his annual playing tours.”

These “farewells” of Hagen's are commencing to be of yearly occurrence. It is understood that although he has made as high as $50,000 a year or more that “the Haig” has always lived pretty well up to his income and he will certainly still continue to take part in all events in which he can pick up much-needed money.

which featured a two-day tournament for Southern Ontario Professional Golfers' Association members. Bob Gray, Jr., was two up on McKelvie at the end of the first 18 holes and at the turn in the afternoon he had managed to increase the margin to three up and finally won from the Beach Grove professional at the 34th. It was one of the most exciting matches of the S.O.P.G.A. programme of the 1929 season and the Leamington professional found his work cut out to take the decision.

Seven members of the S.O.P.G.A. took part in the tournament. The participants were: Bob McKelvie, Beach Grove; Bob Gray, Jr., Leamington; Jack Burns, Essex; Bill Fox, St. Clair; H. F. Dixon, Kingsville; Bob Gray, Sr., Leamington, and Jimmy Boyle, Little River.

The golfing pendulum will soon be swinging towards the Sunny South. Some of the big professionals will be picking up more money than they did during the past summer in the north. The Ague Caliente Open Golf Championship will be worth $10,000 to the winner. This tournament, to be played January 1 to 17, over a course now under construction, will dole out prizes totalling $25,000 to competitors in it. This is easily the world's biggest money golf tournament. In addition to this glittering event there are also several $10,000 tournaments scheduled in California, Florida and other Southern States. All pretty good picking for the top-notch pro. In all it is estimated that $125,000 will be offered in tournaments this winter.

Eric Bannister, the professional of the St. Charles Club, Winnipeg, who this season won the Saskatchewan Championship, has been going "great guns" recently. On the Pine Ridge course Sept. 15 he put on 36 and a 33 for a very pretty 69. The par is 74. Then on his home course, Sept. 26, he was out in 35 and in with a marvelous 30 for a 65. In the last nine holes he had no fewer than seven 3's. This is certainly uncanny golf. Bannister is well known in the East and was selected to play on the last Canadian Ryder Cup team.

Joe Land, the well known Winnipeg professional, recently smashed the Southwood course record, formerly held by Archie Compston, the British professional, when he finished the round in 67, five under par. The old record was 68. Land was playing with Donald MacDonald, Chas. Reith and Chas. Harris. He recorded seven birdies and was one over par on only two holes. On the thirteenth he stubbed his putt in trying for a four and took a six. His other lapse came on the fourteenth hole.

THE FAMOUS LESLEY CUP MATCHES

New York Golfers Win First Place, Pennsylvania Second Place, Eastern Canada Third Place, Massachusetts Fourth Place. Several Former Champions on the Teams.

FOR the first time in the history of the very important Lesley Cup matches, they were played this year in Canada. Until two years ago this competition was entirely confined to the leading amateurs of the Metropolitan Golf Association, the Pennsylvania Golf Association and the Massachusetts Golf Association. Then very graciously a team from Eastern Canada was invited to join in the competition.

The Toronto Golf Club very appropriately was the venue of these matches the last week in September. They attracted many enthusiastic followers of the game who had the pleasure of seeing some of the finest amateurs in the U.S. and Canada participate in both foursomes and singles. The Metropolitan, or New York team was represented by such internationally known players as Jess Sweetser, ex-British and American amateur champion, George Voigt, one of the ranking players of the United States, J. G. Anderson, twice runner-up in the U.S. Amateur, Eddie Driggs and W. M. Reekie.

The Pennsylvania contingent was headed by Max Marston, former U.S. Amateur champion, whilst Massachusetts had a strong young team of players.

Without the assistance of Ross Somerville and Don Carriek, who is again attending his studies at Harvard, the Canadian contingent did extremely well to end up in third place.

The official standing for the series was as follows:—

	Met.	Pa.	E.C.	Mass.
Singles (Friday)	23	15	14	8
Singles (Saturday) ..	27	16	11	6
Foursomes (Fri.)	11½	10	4½	4
Foursomes (Sat.)	13	8	4	5
Totals	74½	49	33½	23

George Voigt, of New York, was the only player to appear in the full two days' play and he came out undefeated, winning all six singles and teaming with Jess Sweetser to win six matches in the foursomes. Sweetser had a close to perfect record, he losing a singles matches on Friday. R. W. Woolworth, also of New York, halved two singles and won in all his other matches. W. J. Thompson, of Eastern Canada, was the only other player in the 40 who competed, who made a clean sweep in the singles and in addition Thompson paired with Gordon Taylor to win three foursomes on Friday for a total of nine wins.

George Voigt with a 71 turned in the best score on Saturday afternoon and he shared with Sweetser the honours in the foursomes on Saturday morning, playing with the other three ranking pairs, including Fred Hoblitzel and Jack Cameron of the Canadian team. At the turn the Canadians were three up on Voigt and Sweetser, but the New York pair scored six birdies on the first seven holes coming home to win 3 and 2.

The Eastern Canadian team which gave such a good account of themselves was composed of the following: C. C. Fraser, Montreal; W. J. Thompson, Toronto; F. G. Hoblitzel, Toronto; Nicol Thompson, Jr., Toronto; T. G. McAthey, Montreal; J. Cameron, Ottawa; A. B. Darling, Montreal; J. Haddon, Toronto; Gordon Taylor, Jr., Toronto; J. H. Firstbrook, Toronto; M. Hodgson, Montreal.

The following were the records of the players:—

New York—George Voigt, 6 wins in singles and 6 in foursomes; Jess Sweetser, 5 and 6; E. H. Driggs, 5½ and 4½; J. G. Anderson, 5 and 5; E. Knowles, 4½ and 5; T. S. Tailer, 5 and 4½; L. Martin, 3 out of 3 and 6; M. Stuart, 5½ and 3; R. W. Woolworth, 5 and 6; P. M. Jones, 5 singles; W. Reekie, ½ out of 3 and 3.

Pennsylvania—S. L. Jones, 4 and 5; P. L. Corson, 3½ and 5; W. H. McCullough, Jr., 3½ and 4; A. H. Kaye, 5 and 2; M. R. Marston, 3½ and 3; J. Graham, 2½ and 4; J. W. Platt, 3½ and 3; H. Cross, Jr., 2 and 4; W. J. Platt, 3 and 2 out of six; J. A. Fownes, 4 out of 6 foursomes; C. A. Griscom 3rd, ½ out of six singles; E. H. Fitler, 0 in 3 foursomes.

Eastern Canada—W. J. Thompson, 6 and 3; J. Cameron, 4½ and 2½; G. Taylor, Jr., 3 and 3; T. G. McAthey, 2 and 2; C. C. Fraser, 3½ and 0; F. G. Hoblitzel, 1 and 2½; N. Thompson, Jr., 2½ and 0; A. D. Darling, 1 and 1; J. Hadden, 1 in 3 singles, 0 in 3 foursomes; W. M. Hodgson, 0 in 3 singles, 1 in 6 foursomes; J. H. Firstbrook, ½ in 6 singles, 2 in 3 foursomes.

Massachusetts—P. W. Simons, 4 and 3; R. M. Clough, 2 and 2; C. Hodder, 1½ and 2; E. E. Lowery, 0 and 3½; E. Ward, 0 and 3½; R. Goodale, 3 and 0; R. M. Gardiner, 3 in six foursomes; W. O. Blaney, 1½ and ½; A. P. Wade, 1 and ½; G. Henderson, 1 in six singles; W. A. Whitcomb, 0 and 0.

Quite one of the most enjoyable features of this high-class competition was the dinner given on Friday night by Mr. R. C. H. Cassels, K.C., president of the Toronto Golf Club, to the teams and a number of prominent U.S. and Canadian golfing officials, many of whom attended the matches. It was a regular International golfing dinner and went off with a great swing and follow through. Mr. Cassels occupied the chair in a very happy manner. There were many clever little speeches and lots of good music.

A BRILLIANT YOUNG HAMILTON ATHLETE

Ralph Adams, Canadian Champion, Wins the 100 Yard and 220 Yard Events for Varsity.

RALPH ADAMS, of Hamilton, the Olympic star, now attending Varsity, was very much in the limelight last week at the annual intercollegiate track and field championships, in which representatives from McGill, Queens and Varsity were on hand to compete for the various events. In the 100 yard dash the brilliant young Hamiltonian won first place in the finals in 10 seconds. This equalled the record held jointly by Frank Halbus, Lou Sebert, J. H. Russell and Johnny Fitzpatrick, of Toronto, and J. C. Hay, of McGill. It was a great race, in which Adams had about a yard at the finish.

Then in the 220-yard event Adams again breezed to the front. Time 22 $\frac{3}{5}$ seconds. This was also a great race and Adams repeated his fine effort of the 100 a little while before. Fitzpatrick took the early lead but Adams caught him, and beat him 2 yards at the finish.

It will be remembered that Ralph at the Canadian Championships at Banff a few weeks ago also won the Canadian 100 yards and 220 yards events. His record in the past four years has been quite wonderful. In 1926 he won the 100 yard and 220 yard Dominion interscholastic championships—also the 220 yard Ontario championship and was second in the Ontario 100 yard. In 1927 he annexed the 220 yard Ontario open championship and was also second in the 100 yard event. In 1928 he won the Ontario open indoor championship, 60 yards, 6 $\frac{2}{5}$ seconds, establishing a new record. The old indoor record 6 $\frac{3}{5}$ seconds had stood for seventeen years. In 1928 he was chosen a member of the Canadian Olympic team and also won the individual championship of the University of Toronto. This year in addition to winning the Dominion 100 yards and 220 yards championship, as already noted, he captured the Ontario 220 yards championship and was also second in the 100 yards Ontario championship.

This is certainly an outstanding record and stamps Ralph as one of the finest young athletes in the Dominion. He is the son of Mr. A. A. Adams, the well known captain of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, and popular throughout golfing circles in Ontario and Quebec. Ralph is certainly a worthy son of a worthy sire and later on, too, will, it is hoped, follow in the golfing footsteps of his father.

STILL ANOTHER GOLF COURSE FOR HAMILTON

SHOWING the increasing vogue of the game in the larger centres, the case of Hamilton may well be cited. It is not so many years ago that the Ambitious City had only one club. The Glendale was successfully launched, followed by the Burlington Golf and Country Club, and the Chedoke Civic Club. Then early this year a number of Hamiltonians and residents of Dundas started to layout a very fine eighteen-hole course near Dundas. And now this fall still another 18-hole course is being built by Nicol Thompson, the Ancaster expert, on the Dundas highway near Waterdown. By next year Hamiltonians will have six clubs catering to the wants of its ever-increasing golfers—all 18-hole courses of quite exceptional character and environment. There is no question that there is room for all these links, covering as they do all sections of the city and that in this respect Hamilton is not being over-golfed. In fact, the establishing of still another course in 1930 is already being seriously considered.

THE CLUB DINNER

(W. H. W.)

BETWEEN the soup and fish, I caught the eye of a stout, reddish man who sat at my right, a new member, whose name I did not recall, but who promptly opened up conversation by inquiring how I had fared in the usual closing tournament.

Always anxious to oblige, I commenced a graphic description of the sad fate that befell me at the fifth, but had hardly reached the green before my neighbour cut in, without even a fore! and demanded abruptly: If I had heard what happened to him at the eighteenth? I confessed I hadn't but listened as politely as possible while he described his game shot by shot from number one. Just as he was approaching the seventh, a pale-faced man with a glittering eye and a mop of unruly hair, suddenly appeared at the end of the room. It was the ubiquitous song leader. He commanded everyone to turn to number four on the song sheet ('Roamin' in the Gloamin'), to throw out our chests, to take the time from him, and let 'er go. This we did with rather poorish effect, and which the energetic leader cheerfully denounced as rotten, compelling us to try again. We did with some improvement, and with some relief—when it was over. By this time the fish, half cold, occupied our attention for a few minutes. After which my neighbour continued his piffling experiences of the afternoon, and dragged me to the tenth, when up bobs the leader again, evidently paid by the piece, shouting in stentorian tones, turn to number twelve on the song sheet, the Stein Song, and sing it as if you were drinking real beer, not malted milk! Now altogether, make it snappy!

"Blast that chap," growled my neighbour vindictively, "what in—well, never mind, to return to our mutton." "Lamb," I corrected gently, as the next course was placed before us, and which we attacked hungrily. Alas, we had hardly started when again the leader, and with mouths more or less occupied, attempted our best to "Pack up Our Troubles", although result, to put it mildly, was a trifle sour.

"I know where I would like to pack that bird," muttered my companion, who began to show serious signs of high blood pressure. Nevertheless, between the ice cream and coffee he succeeded in lugging me to the seventeenth and was just approaching the climax, that crowned his experience at the eighteenth, when—"Gentlemen, the King".

The loyal toast duly honoured, our chairman arose, and made a few cheery remarks, finally introducing the speaker of the evening. By this time my neighbour finding himself completely stymied, retired behind a big cigar, and relapsed into fragile silence for the remainder of the programme.

The proceedings were brought to a welcome close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne, and as we arose to disperse I heard my neighbour growl, "Hell of an evening, I call it," and was quickly lost in the crowd.

I did not see him again, and have often wondered exactly what did happen to him at the eighteenth, not that I care a continental—but, still—

CANADIAN WOMEN'S SENIOR GOLF ASS'N.

Notwithstanding the Most Depressing Weather Conditions Has a Most Successful Tournament at the Marlborough Golf Club, Montreal. Mrs.

Sidney Jones for the Fourth Time Wins the Championship.

U.S. Ladies Win International Match. Mrs. A.

E. Mussen Re-elected President.

MRS. SIDNEY JONES, of the Toronto Golf Club, has again earned the right to style herself Canadian Women's Senior Champion through her display in this year's title competition concluded Oct. 4th over the course of the Marlborough Golf and Country Club, Montreal. The defending titleholder proved too much for the balance of the field with a winning total of 201 for the thirty-six holes of medal play, four in advance of Mrs. W. Garth Thomson, Kanawaki, the runner-up.

The Montrealer tried desperately to overcome the four-stroke gap which separated her from Mrs. Jones, the first day leader, but like the rest of the field found the rain and cold too great a handicap for low scores. However, the Kanawaki player in finishing in second place accomplished quite an achievement, her play being one of the features of the tourney.

This year's championship was held under the most trying of conditions, the officials and competitors deserving special praise for playing in such wretched weather. At no time during the tournament did the rain let up during the three days, even the driving and putting being held in a steady drizzle.

Third in the result was Mrs. P. T. Handsomebody, of Quebec, who brought the Ancient Capital contingent into the limelight by scoring 219 to beat the hard-hitting Mrs. E. P. Clarkson, of Toronto, by two strokes. Mrs. John Dick, of Cobourg, was fourth.

Honours in the second division went to Quebec when Mrs. W. Dobell won the gross prize with 228; Mrs. Smith, of Toronto, with two steady rounds was runner-up. Mrs. Smith also scored a birdie with a four on the 500-yard thirteenth. Low nett honours were shared by two local ladies, Mrs. E. A. Mumford, of Whitlock putting wizard, and Mrs. E. L. Gnaedinger, of Kanawaki. Only three hardy players survived the trials of the wind, cold and rain in the third division, and to them all honour is due. Mrs. H. L. Peiler, Kanawaki, headed her club-mate, Mrs. Alexander Dick, by a margin of two strokes, while Mrs.

Mrs. A. E. Mussen, Montreal, founder of the C. W. S. G. A., and re-elected (for the seventh time) president of the Association.

Campbell Myers, of Toronto, was third.

Despite the weather the driving, approaching and putting competitions were held in divisions and some good results were turned in.

The much-coveted grandmothers prize went to Mrs. John Dick, of Cobourg (the mother of one of the best known golfing families in Ontario), while the nett prize to this class fell to the lot of Mrs. E. A.

Mumford, of Whitlock. The tourney, which will probably go down in history as that played in the worst weather, was by no means regarded as a failure. The players rose above all difficulties to play through their matches and a spirit of optimism and enthusiasm prevailed at all times. Much credit is due to Mrs. J. W. Ross and Mrs. W. A. Mann, tournament managers, who saw to the needs of the Seniors in excellent fashion. Mrs. Ross especially who had her share of work in the cold was deserving of and received the congratulations of every competitor.

The ladies' committee of the Marlborough Club helped in every possible way to make the tourney a success. Mrs. Mann was simply indefatigable and seemed to be everywhere at the same moment. Mr. Odie Cleghorn was also a very present help in time of trouble and assisted enormously in making the tournament the success it was in spite of appalling weather and Arthur MacPherson, the club professional, did everything possible to help in every way.

The annual meeting was held at the club house on the 3rd of October. Mrs. Musson was in the chair, and gave one of her inspiring addresses.

Mrs. Burns, hon. secretary-treasurer, gave her report of last year's activities and also the financial report which showed a good balance in the bank. Important amendments to the constitution were, after a good deal of discussion in some cases, carried. The entrance age was raised from 45 to 50. The limited membership was eliminated and the entrance fee was raised to $10. It was decided that the executive would be empowered to decide on the venue of the championship next year. Votes of thanks were proposed to the directors and the women's committee of the Marlborough Golf Club; to those who had presented prizes; to V. G. Cardy, of the Mount Royal Hotel; to Alec Rogers; to Geo. Chahoon; to Mrs. J. W. Ross and Mrs. F. A. Mann, tournament managers; to the convenor of the hospitality committee; and to Mrs. W. Hamilton Burns.

Officers elected for the coming year are: Honourary patron, Lady Willingdon; patronesses, Lady Meredith, Montreal, Lady Baillie, Toronto, Mrs. A. E. Whitehead, Montreal, Mrs. H. B. The presence of the president, Mrs. Barlow, and vice-president, Mrs. Payson, and twelve members of the United States Women's Senior Golf Association gave an added interest to the tournament this year. The International match was a victory for the visitors, 8 to 3. Mrs. Sidney Jones presented souvenirs to the players on both teams, silver bill clips, with the date engraved. We regretted that some of the U.S. Seniors were unable to remain for our annual dinner, but we were glad to have twelve of them with us.

Our dinner took place at the Mount Royal Hotel and was a huge success. The table was most artistically decorated with flowers, candles, and the whole space between the tables was covered with green sward and a model of the Marlborough Golf Club—a very clever idea. Toasts were drunk to the King, to the president of the United States, to our champion, to our visitors from the United States, and to our president. Mrs. Laing, convenor of the musical programme, had a very clever skit, which brought in Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Mussen, Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Laing herself, was arrayed in the kilts and led by a brave piper, she led her trope around the table. Miss Smart sang two lovely songs for us, and, of course, we had our own Senior song, and many others.

The prizes which the United States Senior Golf Association presented were much admired and were won by Mrs. Sidney Jones and Mrs. Garth Thomson.

After dinner the prizes were presented by Mrs. Mussen. The singing of God Save the King brought to a conclusion our most successful—apart from weather—tournament.

It took the presence of Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, of Peterborough, to help make the Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association Tournament a complete success. Mrs. Aylmer is the oldest member of the association. This lady has yet to miss a championship medal play of her association.

In planning for the entertainment of the competitors, Mrs. F. A. Mann, convenor of the Marlborough House Committee, had arranged for every detail that could be of convenience and comfort for the players.

Hot coffee and biscuits were served every morning before the players started out to play, afternoon tea was served every day to those wishing to remain for bridge, and all was gratis!

Great waving British and American flags were hung along the verandahs, and throughout the entrance hall and dining room; as one entered the club house, the large, varied coloured flags draped against the dark oak panelling made a lovely, warm blending of autumn colours. In the main lounge beyond, crackling log fires, great silver bowls of flowers, and branches of autumn leaves, with numerous shaded lamps, made one feel a cheery welcome.

Ladies of the Marlborough Committee were always on duty to arrange bridge games at any time. The ladies private lounge upstairs, which is made into a most attractive living room, with its open fireplace, seemed to be a general meeting place to discuss scores, while served with anything the heart might wish, "weak or strong".

On leaving, expressions of gratitude and appreciation were heard on all sides for the unsurpassed hospitality extended by the Marlborough executive.

The task of making the draw, taking charge at the starting tee, and superintending the scoreboard is always one of the most arduous duties in running a tournament or championship. This work was all most satisfactorily done by Mrs. J. W. Ross, assisted by Mr. O. Cleghorn. For many years Mrs. Ross has taken a very active interest in golf, and has been of indispensable value on the C. L. G. U. executive, and was the originator of the field days for lady golfers in the Province of Quebec.

Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Mann, although neither eligible for the Senior Association, spared no efforts, under the direction of Mrs. Mussen, in helping to make the championship meet a success.

IMPORTANCE OF AN EARLY BEGINNING

(By J. H. Taylor, Five Times British Open Champion)

LIKE many other competitions started in recent years, the Boys' Championship, being played over the course of the Edinburgh Burgess G.C. at Barnton, has grown very much in popular favour. When the idea was first conceived I remember that it was received with a certain amount of coldness. The reasons given were that yet another championship was added to the list, that boys still at school were better employed in playing football and cricket, and that golf could wait until they had finished, the critics implying that the latter game should come as a sort of stop-gap.

I have never been able to subscribe to this line of reasoning because there is no sense of justice in relegating golf to a subordinate position. The critics seem to forget that golf is played by a far greater number of people than either football or cricket, and if this be the test, golf is undoubtedly the national game of this country. It is recognized as such in America, and it is due to this recognition that America in recent years has become the premier golfing nation of the world.

The best golfer in the world to-day, Bobby Jones, commenced to lay the foundation of his superb game when he was quite a youngster. It is well-nigh impossible for any player to reach the full height of golfing eminence unless he learns to fashion his game as a boy.

Old champions like John Ball and Harold Hilton, and modern ones such as Sir Ernest Holderness, Cyril Tolley, Roger Wethered, and Robert Harris, learnt their game as schoolboys. It is unnecessary to point to the old school of professionals or to the younger ones to prove the truth of this assertion. The greatest triumph of what I may call post-boy golf was when the late Charles Hutchings and Sidney Fry reached the final of the Amateur Championship at Hoylake in 1902. It was this remarkable circumstance that made that year's championship unique. I have always held the firm conviction that it is impossible for a child to commence learning the game too young. Even when just emerging from the toddling stage it may be of great ultimate advantage that the child be given a club and a ball to knock about and to kindle the ball sense. This "ball sense", it seems to me, is of more importance in golf than in any other game. In golf the club and the ball have to perform certain definite functions if any degree of success is to be attained. Control of the ball can only be exercised if control of the club be assured, and this by no means simple proposition can also only be attained by years of practice. Success cannot be achieved by haphazard methods, as many would-be golfers have found to their cost, and after years of useless endeavour. It requires patient and diligent study, and the sooner the boy or girl commences to worry it out for themselves the sooner will they obtain full satisfaction. A self-taught golfer—that is, one who has commenced wrestling with its many problems from an early age—is much more likely to arrive at proficiency than one taught by the most expert and painstaking teacher. Eminent players of the past recognize this basic principle. I notice that the two sons of the Hon. O. Scott entered for the championship. I taught their father when he was a student at Winchester College.

"OUR HOLE-IN-ONE-CLUB"

September Witnesses a Record Number of "One-Shot" Stunts Throughout the Dominion.

THE past four weeks the golfing weather has been ideal and as a result the courses throughout the Dominion have been crowded with players and as a further result, hole-in-one performances have reached the peak of the season. Herewith the reports received at the "Canadian

Let the Swift Current Sun tell about the next feat:—

"Plop! A little, white, round object commonly designated as a 'golf ball' and the elusive little spheroid which has altered the English language, sank with a smack into a little round receptacle known as a 'cup' and history was made in Swift Current. The first lady golfer to achieve the greatest golfing thrill in the annals of golf in Swift Golfer" office since the September issue.

Don McInnes, the popular professional of the Gyro Golf Course, Regina, Sask., sank his tee-shot on the second hole, 211 yards. He was playing with Don Buchanan at the time.

Mr. Dave Dickson, of the Drumheller Golf Club, Alberta, learned his game in Scotland 35 years ago, but it was only last month, playing over the Drumheller links, that he secured his first hole-in-one. The second, 123 yards.

Comes Sarnia with three performances, Mr. N. B. Forbes, Sarnia, and Dr. Adams, of Windsor, the 14th, 136 yards, and Mr. C. E. Woodrow, Sarnia, the 7th, 140 yards.

Mr. P. B. Yancy, of the Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal, found the tin from the tee on the 13th hole, 160 yards.

Current had accomplished the feat. It all happened on Friday afternoon at the Elmwood links and Mrs. J. P. Rooney was the lucky golfer. The 'hole in one' was accomplished on the tricky eighth green known as the 'drop shot'. The feat was witnessed by several ladies in the proximity. Mrs. James Clements was Mrs. Rooney's partner in the game. Pete Rooney, one of Swift Current's foremost golf enthusiasts and a constant addict of the game, is now small fry in the Rooney family.'

To Judge Gregory Barrett, of the Central Judicial District of Manitoba, goes the distinction of making the first hole-in-one on the C.N.R. Minaki Lodge Course, Minaki, Ont. The hole was the 8th, 180 yards. His Honour was playing at the time with Judge Howard Wheeler, St. Paul, Minn., and Mr. H. H. Hooper, of Carberry, Man. It is a great pleasure to welcome to our select "Hole-in-One Club" distinguished members of the Bench.

Major N. D. Theobald, Chilliwack Golf Club, B.C., put Chilliwack on the map when he made a "oneer" at the 7th hole, 127 yards. The Major is the first golfer in Chilliwack to register the stunt although the course has been five years in play.

Playing at the 17th hole on the interesting Beaumaris Golf Course, Muskoka, Mr. E. Davis, of Toronto, "tickled up the cup" for a one.

Playing in the Spalding Trophy on the St. Thomas golf course, Mr. R. D. Emslie "got his" at the 14th—a corking fine shot of 260 yards. And that will take a bit of beating.

The story swings to Truro, Nova Scotia. Playing the course there, Mr. D. R. Henderson, negotiated the 7th hole, 79 yards, in one.

Playing with Mrs. R. E. Macbride, Mr. W. W. Murray, of the Gorsebrook Golf Club, Halifax, N.S., at the home hole plunked in his tee shot.

The first hole-in-one this season on the Citizens Golf Club, Moose Jaw, Sask., goes to the credit of Mr. Bert Peachell. A tidy swat on the first hole, 260 yards.

Particularly pleased to hear of a one-shot performance from the Ladies Golf and Tennis Club, Toronto. Mrs. E. P. Lewis secured golfing fame when she put over a perfect shot at the 3rd hole, 125 yards.

Lookout Point Golf and Country Club when it does a thing "does it good and proper". Here are 3 "hole-in-ones" from this sporting club. F. Upper, Niagara Falls, Ont., 2nd hole, 127 yards; L. R. Baker, Niagara Falls, Ont., the 5th hole, 158 yards; J. W. Broderick, Niagara Falls, N.Y., the 11th hole, 183 yards.

Frank Lock, the particularly well known professional of the St. Andrews golf course, Toronto, is in the picture at last. He negotiated the 10th hole, the sportiest hole on his home course, 160 yards, in one. Frank has many tournaments to his credit but nothing he has ever done in his long and brilliant career thrilled him as much as this "tee-from-cup" performance. The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer", who in the past played with him in many a four-ball match, extends hearty congratulations.

Again Gorsebrook, Halifax, N.S. But let the Halifax "Evening Mail" tell the story:

"Most people associate the number '13' with bad luck, but it has often been shown No. '13' also brings good luck. G. M. Wood, well known Halifax business man and ardent golfer, is one of those at least, who will admit that the number brought him happiness.

"It so happened that Mr. Wood made a hole-in-one at the thirteenth hole at Gorsebrook golf links—the realization of a golfer's pet dream. He was playing with F. O. Robertson at the time. His tee shot to the green (130 yards away from the tee and surrounded by a wide sand trap) was a high one, the ball dropping to the 'carpet' and lodging in the cup on its first rebound."

Mr. Jacques Archambault, one of the young players of the Laval-sur-le-Lac Golf Club, Montreal, hit off a screamer at the 17th hole, 210 yards, and found the tin.

Again Lookout Point Golf Club, Welland, Ont., this time 'a lidy', Mrs. R. D. Law, found the 2nd hole, 127 yards, much to her liking. Result, a "oneer".

Mr. J. G. Parker playing over the Scarborough course put over a perfect shot to the 11th green and the ball rolled slowly into the cup.

Then Lakeview, another Toronto club. Dr. A. B. James gained fame immortal on the 3rd hole, 142 yards.

The Rossland-Trail Country Club reports two performances, the first ever recorded at Trail, B.C. Mr. R. G. Anderson negotiated the 9th hole, 200 yards, in one, and Mr. L. S. Piper the 6th hole, 168 yards, in one.

Whilst playing with Messrs. William Dowling (who also made a hole-in-one this season), L. Moffat and H. Gratten, Mr. J. Hawson, of the Brandon Golf and Country Club, negotiated the third hole, 215 yards, from the tee. Good work!

And here comes the Champion Piper of Canada (1927-1928). Pipe Major Neil Sutherland, of Regina, cannot only play the pipes but also can play golf, as witness his hole-in-one at the 7th, 168 yards, at the Regina, Gyro, Citizens Golf Club. The "champion piper" of Canada is a particularly welcome member to our "Hole-in-One Club".

Dr. D. S. Coons accomplished the feat on the Glendale Golf Course, Hamilton, the 5th hole, 140 yards. He was playing with Dr. W. Mitchell and Messrs. C. R. Macbride and L. Craven.

Mr. C. G. Drinkwater, well known Montrealer, playing over the Mount Bruno Country Club, made the 10th hole in one.

The Briars Golf and Country Club, Jacksons Point, popular Ontario summer resort, reports two performances. Captain W. H. Wallace, of Jacksons Point, the 7th, 110 yards, and Mr. H. Treloar, the 4th, 155 yards.

The president of the Wetaskiwin Golf Club, Alberta, is Mr. Jas. S. Orr. He set his members a good example when he negotiated the 4th hole, 154 yards, in one.

Mr. Harry Pryke, a very well known Vancouver golfer, playing in the championships at Jasper Park, Alberta, during the third round of the Western Canada Championship made the difficult 7th hole in one shot. Perhaps needless to say this was the only "oneer" recorded during the whole week of championship play.

Lookout Point Golf and Country Club, Welland, is certainly going great guns. Mr. G. D. Troupe, Niagara Falls, Ont., turned the trick at the 11th hole, 189 yards, and Stanley Horne, assistant to A. Keeling, the professional at Lookout, the 5th hole, 158 yards.

Mrs. Robert Morewood, of the Grand Mere Golf Club, Quebec, negotiated the 5th hole, 137 yards, in one. Always glad to have the ladies join our club.

Dr. W. G. Grey, well known resident of Sarnia, Ont., who has only recently taken up golf, playing over the Sarnia course, got an ace at the 14th hole, 176 yards.

Mr. Harry Rosenthal, of the Brockville Country Club, made the 6th hole, 127 yards, known as "Little Misery", in one. "Little Misery" had no terrors for Mr. Rosenthal.

The Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, B.C., can always be depended upon for a monthly report. Mr. James A. Benzie, playing a foursome with Messrs. F. L. Townley, D. G. Brison and A. L. Mercer, plunked a perfect tee shot into the tin at the 10th hole, 150 yards.

Mr. F. R. Begg, playing with Mr. E. Hodges, also negotiated this hole in one.

Mr. G. W. Yewdall, playing over the Windsor Park Municipal Golf Course, Winnipeg, got an ace at the 9th hole, 160 yards.

Victoria, B.C. Mr. Eric Birch Jones, playing in a four-ball match with Messrs. T. H. Woolison, N. W. Pirrie and F. Colpman, registered a one-shotter at the 4th hole, 202 yards, at the Uplands Golf Club.

Mr. Douglas Mire, of the Elmridge Country Club, Dorval, Que., whilst visiting the Indole Golf Club, Ausable Forks, N.Y., got a one at the 3rd hole.

Macauley Point Golf Club, Esquimaux, B.C., reports the stunt this month. Mr. D. Jackson being the performer.

And this is a "cruel one". Mr. W. B. Thomson, secretary of the Assiniboine, writes:—

"On October 6th, 1928, Mr. T. S. Minton, of 270 Conway Street, St. James, having become tired of football, tennis, cricket and other minor games, joined the Assiniboine Golf Club here and made a hole in '1' during his first round. As a special prize for this performance he received one year's subscription to the "Canadian Golfer". During the winter months this magazine gave him so much pleasure that he was determined to renew his subscription at the first opportunity. He started to play in 1929 just before the snow had all disappeared and whacked at the ball ever since in an endeavour to earn another year's subscription to his favourite magazine. As he drives off his right foot, hooks his left arm, raises his head just previous to the impact he has found that this feat is not an easy one. However, on the 6th day of October of this year, exactly one year after he started golf, and after he had made a hole-in-one, he repeated the performance, holing out on his first shot on the 16th hole, 175 yards, while playing with G. F. Richards, J.P., and R. McCallum, court reporter."

Playing with Mr. R. S. Smith over the Moose Jaw golf course, Mr. S. D. Boylan, of the Sun Life, rapped out a beauty at the 14th hole, 257 yards, which found the cup.

Glendale, Hamilton, again. Mr. G. F. Clark, playing with Messrs. C. McDonald, J. H. Taylor and H. H. McDonald, negotiated the 5th hole, 140 yards, in one.

Again St. Andrews, Toronto. At the 4th hole, 130 yards, Mr. A. R. Harper made a hole-in-one.

Total holes-in-one reported up to and including Oct. 15th, 184.

BIG CLUBS CONTEMPLATE PIPING FAIRWAYS

THE greenkeepers throughout Canada are now commencing to take toll of the "Big Drought" of the past season, and they all agree that it will cost thousands, tens of thousands to bring the courses back next spring into condition. The financial statement this season of all of the principal clubs, too, will show the heaviest expenditures ever recorded in connection with green upkeep, water having had to be lavishly used and much extra labour required, to keep them in good putting shape—and then it was hard to do so.

The statement made in this column recently that the Jasper Park course in Alberta was the only one in Canada where water was piped to the fairways, it appears is not correct. The secretary of the Langara Golf Club, a C.P.R. course in Vancouver, writes that their fairways, too, are supplied with water. As a result of this season's experience several of the larger and richer clubs are seriously considering piping water to the fairways. One of the most expert greenkeepers in Canada informs me that he has figured it out that an eighteen-hole course can be piped at an expense of from twenty thousand to thirty thousand dollars, it all, of course, depending upon the layout. He thinks that any club that can afford such an expenditure would in the course of years as a result be money in pocket.

ABE MITCHELL COMES INTO HIS OWN

Abe Mitchell, who ends British season by winning the Professional Championship.

ABE MITCHELL, the outstanding British professional, who until this year was always known as the greatest golfer who had never won a major championship, has certainly come into his own this season. He won the Irish Open Championship and now has just followed this up by annexing the "News of the World" Tournament, which is recognized in the Old Country as the greatest professional event of the year and stamps the winner as the leading pro of the year, and rightly so, too, because the event is run off in sections embracing every regional district throughout Great Britain, the winners in these sections eventually coming together in London in the final competition. This means that the very cream of the players fight it out for the finish.

Mitchell, who is 42 years of age, and who was as a young man an amateur, reaching the final in the Amateur Championship 1912, when he was defeated by the redoubtable Mr. John Ball at the 38th hole, is unquestionably one of the world's greatest golfers, but heretofore has lacked the necessary punch, nerve, temperament, or whatever you like to call it, to carry him through in the pinches, in a major championship. He is a mighty driver and a polished player with all his irons. He has twice toured Canada and the United States with George Duncan, the brilliant Scot, and by his unassuming manner made hosts of friends. Mitchell, who the past few years has not enjoyed robust health, is private professional to Mr. S. Ryder, a rich Englishman, donor of the Ryder Cup, played for between teams of professionals from Great Britain and the United States, which was one of the few International trophies won this year by golfers of the Empire, Abe contributing his share towards the victory. Nineteen hundred and twenty-nine must certainly be marked down as a Mitchell year and many warm and sincere friends throughout the golfing world including Canada and the United States will unite in extending warm congratulations.

U. S. PROFESSIONALS HAVE GRIEVANCES AGAINST U. S. G. A.

THE golf professionals of the United States are planning a revolt against the United States Golf Association. The draw for the pairings of the Open Championship is supposed to be done blindly from the hat. The professionals charge that of recent years that the draw has neither been blind nor from a hat. They claim that more or less that Bobby Jones is always given a favourable opponent and at the coming winter meeting of the U.S.G.A. they are going to demand through their own association that in future the draw will be made in the presence of one of the professionals.

A number of other complaints more personal in character are set forth in a bill of particulars that is being prepared for presentation at the December meeting. Specifically indictments charging discrimination are returned against Mr. H. H. Ramsay and Mr. Herbert Jacques, very prominent members of the executive committee of the U.S.G.A. Altogether a rather rebellious attitude of the professionals against the governing body of golf in the U.S.

QUEEN OF AMERICAN GOLF

Miss Glenna Collett for the Fourth Time Wins U.S. Women's Championship. Miss Helen Hicks, Canadian Champion, is Defeated by Miss Orcutt by the Most Brilliant Golf Ever Seen in America.

FOLLOWING the brilliant Canadian Ladies' Open Championship at Ancaster, all the leading stars of the continent foregathered at the Oaklands Hills course, near Detroit, for the United States Women's Annual Championship. It was a wonderful galaxy of feminine golfing stars including six prominent Canadian players. The Oaklands Hills course is considered one of the hardest in the Detroit district, but it had no terrors for the majority of the long hitting women. So completely was this championship course conquered that 88 was necessary to qualify. The former qualifying record for the U.S. Championship was 91 on a much easier course than Oaklands. The recently crowned Canadian champion, Miss Helen Hicks, burned up the first nine holes with a remarkable 36. Coming in she took 43 and therefore totalled 79. Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, another of the younger school, was out in 38 and in in 41 for another remarkable 79. Well up amongst the leaders was Mrs. A. S. Fraser, of the Royal Ottawa, who carded an 81. As Miss Alexa Sterling, of Atlanta, Georgia, she won the U.S. Championship three times in a row and also the Canadian Championship in 1920. In her day she was undoubtedly the finest woman golfer in America. Mrs. D. C. Hurd, three times Canadian Open Champion and three times U.S. Champion, had an 82, the same as Miss Glenna Collett, the defending champion. Miss Marjorie Kirkham, of Montreal, qualified with an 87, whilst Miss Ada Mackenzie just managed to get into the charmed circle with an 87. Three others failed to qualify.

The second day saw the elimination of all the Canadians. Mrs. Fraser was defeated by a comparative unknown Jeannette Hunter, of Pittsburg, who caught the ex-champion decidedly off her game. Miss Ada Mackenzie met defeat at the hands of Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, an old-time friend and rival, by 4 and 3.

Miss Kirkham was eliminated by Mrs. S. Hanley, of Detroit.

The sensation of the day was the play of Miss Moreen Orcutt, of White Beaches, New Jersey, who was at the Miss Glenna Collett, who for the fourth time is the lady champion of the United States.

Ancaster Championship, but did not compete, as she was representing a New York newspaper there.

Sweeping over the trap-sliced Oakland Hills course with probably the most meteoric round of golf ever carded by a woman, Maureen Orcutt, of White Beeches, N.J., not only halted the march of Helen Hicks but took practically all of the glory of the initial match play skirmishes of the women's national championship, Miss Orcutt gave old man par a merciless thrashing on her triumphant round, and her rival just couldn't match it even though she did fall fighting with better than perfect golf.

The New Jersey miss strode over the first nine holes in 35 strokes, the equal to men's par, and six strokes better than women's perfect figures, and then breezed out to end the struggle on the sixteenth green by playing some more super-perfect golf. Miss Orcutt bagged five birdies and an eagle during her sensational outgoing spurt, and even though Miss Hicks carded a 39, two under par, she was unable to stop such a rush. On only one hole, the 431-yard first, where she took a six, was Miss Orcutt over par. Chip shots that ran long and straight, and spectacular putting were responsible for her meteoric round. She was three up at the turn and held Miss Hicks even on the next nine. Miss Hicks fresh from her triumph in the Canadian women's championship, was favoured by many to capture the national crown.

It was easily the best round registered in the national event's 33 years of play, and because of the reputation of Oakland Hills, probably a record for the distance for feminine golf. It was the third straight time she turned the trick of defeating Miss Hicks in match play this year.

Miss Orcutt's fame was short lived. She came up against the great and only Glenna Collett next day and was swamped by a 7 and 5 margin. With Miss Hicks and Miss Orcutt out of the way it was generally thought that Miss Collett would go through to the finish and so it proved. In the other bracket another Californian, Mrs. Leona Pressler, of Los Angeles, marched through to meet Miss Glenna in the 36-hole final.

Fully 3,000 spectators witnessed the 27-year-old Rhode Island girl, now a resident of California, make golf history with as fine a brand of championship golf as any one ever has played.

Miss Collett and Mrs. Pressler stood on the thirty-third tee to drive off on the dog's-leg hole. The match was dormie. To carry on, Mrs. Pressler had to win the next hole. Both hit fine tee shots past the traps that jut out from the left. Miss Collett was just a trifle longer than Mrs. Pressler, and when the latter hit a superb pitch up to within nine yards of the hole there was just a possibility that the match might go on.

Miss Collett's approach was almost as good, but two feet further away from the pin and to the right of the hole. No one expected she would hole that one and end the match as suddenly as she did, but it disappeared into the cup and the struggle was over. Mrs. Pressler didn't even try to hole out, but she was conceded a 3 for a half, as even if she sank the putt it would have availed her nothing.

Miss Collett's victory enabled her to break the tie existing among four golfers, Miss Beatrice Hoyt, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser and herself, in number of championships won, each having three to her credit previously. It also continued her record of having been victorious in every championship final in which she has played.

Miss Collett this month played the steadiest and most sterling golf of her whole colourful career and deserves to be crowned the golfing queen of America.

NEWS OF THE MIDDLE WEST

Mrs. Collie Defeats Mrs. Gordon Ritchie for the Ladies' Municipal Championship of Winnipeg, and Danny Stack Wins the Men's Championship from 'Denny' Dennehy.

MURRAY BOULTON defeated J. M. De C. O'Grady in the 36-hole play-off for the first flight of the ringer board competition at Pine Ridge, Winnipeg, winner's eclectic score being 74 against his opponent's 76.

This completes the club's competitions for the season, the list of prize winners being as follows: Club championship, winner, A. J. Wilson; runner-up, A. R. Murray; second flight, winner, R. M. Macleod; C. N. Bawlf handicap, winner, J. Y. Woods; runner-up, Murray Boulton; E. W. Kneeland Scratch Cup, A. J. Wilson; C. C. Fields Handicap Cup, H. S. De C. O'Grady; W. H. McWilliams Handicap Cup, Seniors, E. M. Duncan; Ringer Board competition, first flight, Murray Boulton; second flight, H. S. De C. O'Grady.

Foster Woolley won the Norwood Club championship, Winnipeg, when he defeated Tom Tribe in the final, five and three. Woolley drove a long ball throughout the day and turned in cards of 75 and 76 to repel the repeated challenges of Tribe who was also in splendid form. Foster has enjoyed a great season and his success is a matter of satisfaction to his club-mates. The final of the Norwood Cup was also played with Bill Beath turning in his usual consistent game for a clean-cut victory. His scores were 78 and 76 for a nett 142.

Dan Kennedy captured the St. Charles Country Club championship, Winnipeg, with a decisive victory over Gordon Konantz. Kennedy was at the peak of his hard-hitting game and, although Konantz battled gamely, the youthful star won by a wide margin. Clarence Jackson took first flight honours by eliminating C. Y. Stanier in the final, two and one.

Twenty-four members aside participated in the inter-club competition between the Assiniboine and Alerest.

The Alerest won an interesting match by 6 to 3—three games being halved.

The second annual goodwill tournament played at the Southwood Club, Winnipeg, brought out a record entry of 100 players. President Frank Sutton lead off with a foursome composed of past president of the club, J. H. Parkhill, C. Rice-Jones and E. J. Townsend. The course and the weather were perfect, and both the game and the dinner afterwards were thoroughly enjoyed by everybody. Special prizes were won by Newton Brett, low nett score; J. G. Mundle, second nett; low gross, George Haston; best first nine holes, E. J. Whitaker; best second nine holes, D. J. Graham; hidden holes, P. Millar; hidden holes, Prof. F. W. Clark and J. A. Gray; neatest score card, E. H. Wilson. The tournament winds up the season's fixture card.

D. A. Cuthbert won the first flight in the club championship, playing the final against R. C. Robertson. The final of the second flight was played between W. P. Fillmore and F. E. Martin, Fillmore winning. These games concluding the regular club fixtures.

There were very large fields of entries this month for the Municipal Golf Championships. Danny Stack and Mrs. F. H. Collie were the survivors of the Kildonan eliminations, they then met the champions of the Windsor public course. Stack found little trouble in defeating "Denny" Dennehy, and after gaining a lead of nine holes in the morning round at Windsor, the youthful star finished the match on the eighth green in the afternoon session at Kildonan and won 11 up and 10 to go. Mrs. Collie was given more opposition by Mrs. Gordon Ritchie, Municipal champion in 1928, but after being five up in the first eighteen holes, she maintained this lead and finally won, 7 and 6.

Ted Whalen, of Port Arthur, at the Thunder Bay Country Club won the amateur golf championship for the District of Thunder Bay, beating John Henry, three and two in 36 holes of very close to par golf.

Dr. N. S. Bailey captured the Armstrong Golf Cup, Portage la Prairie, when he defeated J. R. Robertson in the 36-hole final by a margin of 5 and 4. The match was remarkably close throughout and at the end of the first 18 holes the contestants had each taken 78 strokes. Robertson scored two birdies during the match.

Both players were excellent on the fairways but their putters failed them on a number of greens. Dr. Bailey found his putting touch during the second round to earn his victory.

Golf honours continue to come to that popular and capable young Kenora golfer, Larry Johnson, Jr., and this month he won the club championship for the second successive year, defeating a hard-hitting opponent in Bert Potts to win the title in decisive manner.

Larry has been most consistent in his performances, and he has also captured the President's Trophy for the second successive year, being easily one of the finest golfers developed in local circles in years.

The youthful champion has the happy faculty of playing a fine sporting game, and his excessive modesty in view of his outstanding achievements has made him a popular member of the club. Larry should be heard from to greater advantage in a few years from now, if he continues to improve at his present rate of progress.

St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, won the ladies' inter-club golf championship by defeating Elmhurst in five out of the nine matches played at the Niakwa course. Chilly weather made good golf impossible but nevertheless there were several interesting games. The closest of the day being that between Mrs. Laird and Mrs. Stuart Campbell. The match went to the nineteenth green where Mrs. Campbell achieved triumph.

The Souris party comprised Messrs. Wenman, Williams, Brindee, Prest, Evans, McShane, Collier, Croll, McMullen, Lockhart, Curtis, Sanderson, Crane and Penrose.

Cyril Evans, the Free Press medalist for the district, was drawn against H. Richards, Killarney, and tied with scores of 86. Penrose, of Souris, was the only other player who turned in as low a score. On the aggregate, Souris players won out by 36 points.

The Yorkton (Sask.) Club championship trophy, symbolic of highest golf honours at the Yorkton Golf and Country Club, was again won in 1929 by Charlie Beck, Jr., Northeastern Saskatchewan champion and runner-up for the past two years for the Free Press Trophy.

This year Beck received more strenuous opposition than ever before and only after a nip and tuck tussle with Dr. A. F. Laird, over a distance of 34 holes was he finally declared a winner.

It was to have been a 36-hole match but the match ended two holes before when the Yorkton doctor failed to

For the second year in succession, Mrs. Charles Kreger is the Manitoba Senior Ladies' golf champion. Mrs. Kreger re-captured the honour this month at the St. Charles Country Club by defeating Mrs. Newton Wallis on the nineteenth green in the deciding match. The game was well played throughout and was a nip and tuck fight to the finish.

Mrs. Bruce Hill won the consolation event from Mrs. W. M. Toothill on the sixteenth hole. The match was all-square at the turn but Mrs. Toothill struck difficulties on the inward trip, while her opponent played steadily.

After the completion of the final matches, President Mrs. J. G. Cory, with a few well chosen words, presented the prizes.

The 1929 tournament has been one of the most successful so far. The entry list was more than double that of last year, this being largely due to the untiring efforts of handicap manager, Mrs. W. J. Faulkner. The fine weather combined with the splendid condition of the St. Charles Country Club course and not forgetting the capable work of Mrs. J. W. Alves, Mrs. J. G. Cory and the remaining executive members, all played a big part in making the annual classic a huge success.

Alerest Golf Club, Winnipeg (ladies' section), at their annual meeting had a goodly attendance. A vote of appreciation was accorded the retiring captain, Mrs. L. Rumford, and the retiring secretary, Mrs. G. Thomas. This was followed by the election of officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Mrs. S. Mackie, captain; Mrs. G. V. Tryon, vice-captain; Mrs. P. D. Evans, secretary; Mrs. N. F. Leslie, handicap-captain; Mrs. A. C. Glennie, chairman of the house-committee; Mrs. Thomas Faulkner, chairman of the social committee; Miss Edythe Bellingham, publicity; Mrs. G. S. Lytle and Mrs. J. W. Wheatcroft, councillors.

Great satisfaction was expressed in the interest taken in new members, particularly inexperienced golfers.

A lively programme is mapped out for the winter with many get-together events.

The Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, this month celebrated its seventh annual Hoof and Horn Thanksgiving competition, where every player gives a prize and every player gets a prize. Eighty-three players took part and besides their prizes there were specials donated by the club professional, Geo. Cawkwell, Swift Canadian Company, Harris Abattoir, Western Packing Company, P. Burns Company Limited, T. Eaton Company Limited, Hudson's Bay Company, Grey's Wholesale, Dunlop Rubber Company, Marshall-Wells, Kiewel's, McPherson's, Shea's, Labatt's, Harris and Chisholm.

The day was not conducive to good scoring owing to the high wind, but D. J. Dyson was good enough to come home in front with a neat 71, being one stroke better than W. Minty, the club secretary, and Jack Baker, of the Winnipeg Golf Club, who finished in second place.

There were several visitors from other clubs taking part in the competition, but it took one of the senior members of the old Norwood Golf Club to show the way.

The club house was gaily decked out in autumn leaves and berries and the whole day was a great success.

WILLIE SPITTAL AND ANDY KAY PLAY GREAT GOLF

WILLIE SPITTAL, of the Oakdale Club, Toronto, playing superb golf with a score of 143 for 36 holes, won the professional tournament at the Burlington Golf and Country Club this month. Tied for second place with 147 were Frank Lock, St. Andrews, Arthur Huibert, Thornhill, and Kern Marsh, London Hunt.

Willie Spittal was out in 73, and came back with a sparkling 70, to head a field of some fifty of the leading pros of Ontario. It was a very fine performance indeed, as weather conditions were anything but favourable for good scoring. He and his brother, Davie, Royal York Club, have both been playing fine golf this season.

Gordio Brysdon, Toronto Golf Club, proved the best of the assistants with a 155 count, being two better than Jack Littler, Scarboro, and Dick Borthwick, Thornhill. Borthwick needed a five on the last hole to beat Brysdon but he got into trouble on the home hole and required an eight, four over par figures.

There were many handsome money prizes, Spittal drawing down $50.00 as the result of his prowess. All professionals were loud in their praises of the Burlington course. It is in superb condition this season and its fairways and greens are unsurpassed in Ontario.

Andy Kay Wins with Wonderful Score

The Rouge Hills Club was the scene of possibly the last of the Ontario professional tournaments when over fifty pros were the guests of A. G. Spalding & Bros. of Canada, Ltd. It was a most delightful affair, as "the Spaldings" are certainly great hosts. A 36-hole medal competition produced a close struggle.

At the luncheon interval Bob Cunningham, Mississauga, winner of the O.P.G.A. match play championship, was leading by one stroke over Willie Lamb, of Uplands, Canadian P.G.A. champion, while Lou Cumming, runner-up for the Ontario Open, and Fred Hunt, of Brantford, were on even terms with 71's, while Andy Kay, of Lambton, Tom McGrath, of Hamilton, former Western Canada Open titleholder, and Bill Crompton, of Weston, assistant to Davie Ferguson, were all deadlocked with 72's.

In the afternoon Lou Cumming was the first home with a low score, he duplicating his 71 of the morning for 142, while Cunningham followed soon afterwards with a 73 to tie for the lead. Cunningham had a chance to set the pace but missed a comparative short putt for a 72. This pair shared the lead until Kay came along. The Lambton professional was out in 33 and came home with a 34 for a 67, one under par for the 5,562 yard course, to take the lead with 139 and he held the lead despite the attacks of the other low scorers of the first 18 holes. Jimmy Johnstone, of Rosedale, who was paired with Kay, came in with a 70 in the afternoon to make a total of 145. Kay's afternoon round, which equalled the course record set by Eli Hitchcock, the Rouge Hills pro, included birdies on the second, third, fourth, eleventh and fourteenth, while he was one over par on the seventh, thirteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth. His card was:—

Out434 343 534—33 In433 523 554—34—67

The prize money, which amounted to $280, was distributed as follows—1, A. Kay, Lambton, $100; 2, R. Cunningham, Mississauga, and L. Cumming, Toronto Ladies, $50 each; 4, J. Johnstone, Rosedale, $25; 5, W. Spittal, Oakdale, $15, and 6, A. E. Cruttenden, Summit, $10; assistants, W. P. Crompton, Weston; W. MacWilliams, Thornhill, and J. Littler, Scarboro, $10 each.

In the 18-hole two-ball foursomes on the second day Toronto won all six matches, while McGill won three from Queens, the final standing being Toronto 15, McGill 11, and Queens 1. IN AND ROUND THE CLUB HOUSE

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Overseas Dominions

GOLFING friends throughout Canada will be glad to hear that "Joe" Thompson, outstanding young golfer, son of Nicol Thompson, the famous Hamilton professional, was this month acquitted on a charge of manslaughter at the Assizes, he having unfortunately been the driver in a fatal motor car accident in that city. It is understood that the father has generously agreed to pay $5,000 to the widow of the man who was killed.

Mr. R. H. Greene, Toronto, Governor of the Canadian Seniors' Association and chairman of the Tournament Committee, and Mrs. Greene have left to spend the next year or so at Tutiula, Samoa.

The Renfrew Golf Club, notwithstanding the unprecedented dry weather conditions ever since seeding was completed, hopes to start the ball rolling this month but it is understood that the official opening of their course will not take place until next spring.

Many Ontario golfers who have visited the course during the summer are loud in their praise of not only the layout of the course, but of its scenic beauty as well.

The club house has been completed in every respect and is now being furnished.

The firm of Cumming and Millar supervised the construction of this new course and from all accounts they left nothing undone that would go towards making one of the most attractive nine-hole courses in Canada.

Messrs. Cumming and Millar have been offered the contract for an 18-hole course located in Fort Wayne, Indiana, but as they thought best to confine their efforts to Ontario so far as possible they did not accept the commission.

The recent purchase by a Toronto syndicate of valley property on the east side of Yonge St., in Hogg's Hollow, and an announcement that this property would be developed as a quiet but complete amusement centre, has given rise to much curiosity amongst the residents of the vicinity as to the nature of the development and the date of its probable commencement.

Recently the broad outline of the scheme was made known by Capt. Charles W. Wilson and W. E. Cox, York Mills, who are leading members of the purchasing syndicate.

The plans for this development have been prepared by Messrs. Molesworth, West and Secord, architects, and include, at the south end of the property, a magnificent double swimming pool.

To the north of the swimming pool, and in the rear of the old inn that fronts on Yonge St., a nine-hole golf course is planned. This will be carefully landscaped and admirably suited for the practice of iron and mashie shots and putting. To the north of the miniature golf course it is planned to erect a large modern tea room and restaurant.

Murray Stewart won the Weston Club, Toronto, championship, when he defeated W. G. Howlett by 3 and 2. The morning round was not good, but in the afternoon Stewart went around in 76 and Howlett in 78.

The London Hunt and Country Club golfers won the Somerville Trophy by defeating Windsor 40½ points to 19½. The victory enabled London to compile a total of 191½ points on the season's play and thus finish 1½ points ahead of Brantford, last year's winners. Hamilton and Windsor finished in that order in the competition which was started last year between the four clubs. Four players from each club met in regularly scheduled matches using the Nassau system of scoring and the total points scored on all matches in the season decided the title.

Ross Somerville, John Nash, Jr., Dr. W. J. Brown, Tom Browne, R. L. Wright, C. W. Morris, Dr. Hutchinson and Geo. Cogden were the players who at various times during the summer represented the London Hunt. The narrow victory by 1½ points over Brantford marks this competition one of the most sensational in 1929 events.

Now the Orient is bidding for fame on the links! An International aspect of extraordinary interest has been given to the Hawaii Open Golf Tournament to be played in Honolulu November 15, 16 and 17, by the entrance of two famous Japanese professionals and a leading professional of the Philippines. The committee in charge of the $6,000 event on the Waialae course has just received from Japan the entries of Miyamoto, of Tokio, and Yasuda, of Osaka, Japan's two best known players. Miyamoto was winner of the recent tournament at Ibaraki with a score of 298, while Yasuda was runner-up with 299. They have excellent style and are very accurate, but their chief fame lies in their long driving. Both are said to drive 280 to 300 yards consistently. The Filipino entrant is Larry Montes,

We really had thought that when school and other autumn activities started again, the number of prize winners would, to borrow an expression from the financial page, suffer a sharp decline.

This was a decided mistake, we are pleased to admit. Judging from the letters we receive, ladies are keeping up their game in remarkable fashion and seem determined to win a beautiful set of Mercury Full Fashioned Hosiery and Lingerie before J. Frost Esq. takes possession of the links over which he exercises his frigid authority.
