Look what SPALDING has done to the STEEL SHAFT

1. removed vibration—making its use desirable in irons
2. given it, for the first time, the sweet feel of the finest hickory and here's the secret of its sweetness

PERHAPS, like thousands of golfers, you have found that the steel shaft has a very sweet feel in a wooden club—and a very sour feel in an iron. Perhaps you have also found that a steel shaft drives a ball straighter. If so, you have probably prayed for a set of steel-shafted irons that would have the same sweet feel as your woods. Until now, however, you have never been able to find such irons. Do you know why?

Here is the reason. When the head of a steel-shafted iron hits a golf ball, the vibration from the shock of the blow must go somewhere. If the metal of a steel shaft is in direct contact with the metal of the clubhead, a perfect conductor is formed for this vibration. So it races up the shaft, into your fingers, and kills all sweetness of feel.

Every golf expert has recognized this one weakness of the steel-shafted iron. But it remained for Spalding to overcome it. And after two years of effort, Spalding now offers to the golfing world the first set of irons with steel shafts that are as sweet in feel as the finest hickory. There's not a trace of vibration in them, thanks to Spalding's exclusive new construction, the "Cushion-Neck."

How the "Cushion-Neck" Baffles Vibration

At no point, in the new "Cushion-Neck" irons, does the metal of the clubhead touch the metal of the shaft. For the end of the shaft that fits into the hosel of the clubhead is cushioned in rubber—surrounded by a rubber sleeve. Vibrations can no more pass through this rubber sleeve than can electric current pass through the insulation on a wire.

Then the rim of the hosel is crimped around the rubber—sealing it forever from the air—retaining its liveliness for the life of the club. And you'll never realize what perfect feel and sweetness that cushioning layer of rubber puts into a golf club until you hit a ball with one of these new "Cushion-Neck" irons.

You'll be asked about the "Cushion-Neck." We'll be glad to give you the complete story. Write to A. G. Spalding & Bros., 105 Nassau Street, New York City.

Golf Courses Hard Hit by the Drought. The prolonged drought throughout Canada this season has not only been disastrous to the farming community but it has hit the golf clubs hard, very hard. On some of the Western courses the fairways are literally burned to a cinder and as a result good golf is almost impossible. Many Ontario and Quebec courses are also in very bad shape indeed. It would be hard to estimate in dollars and cents the damage done to many fine courses. It will run into quite large figures.

It is many years since similar unfavourable golfing conditions have been recorded literally from Coast to Coast. As a result of this season's experience, some of the larger and richer clubs are seriously considering the advisability of piping water to the fairways as well as to the greens. The only course in Canada so far enjoying this luxury is Jasper Park, Alberta, where the Amateur Championship was held last month. Here fairways and greens are always an emerald green.

Encourage the Youngsters to Play the Game. It is a very hopeful sign indeed that in the Junior Championships, both girls and boys, now being held throughout the country, that very excellent scores indeed are being returned. At the recent Manitoba Junior Championship held at Winnipeg, 15-year-old "Bud" Donovan won the event with the very fine card of 75. This is a score that many seasoned golfers of repute might well envy. There were also two scores of 77 registered at Winnipeg. These youngsters in a few years to come will unquestionably be playing a brand of golf much superior to that of the leading players of to-day. They are the "white hopes" of Canadian golfdom. Every club should encourage and not discourage them as was the unfortunate practice in the past in this country in contra-distinction to the States, where for years now the youngsters have been given every opportunity to perfect their game, with the result that that country is now supreme in golf, alike from an amateur and professional standpoint.

Jasper, Chief Jewel in Golfinas Crown. It is a pretty hard matter to compare one golf course with another and venture an opinion, which is the best or most beautiful. Conditions of environment and terrain are so different in various countries that an almost insuperable situation arises in making a decision. Pine Valley, near Philadelphia, is generally conceded to be the most difficult in America if not in the world. There is a standing offer of $100 that the eighties can't be beaten there by any professional or amateur who plays it for the first time.

Gleneagles, in Scotland, has generally been given the palm for beauty, but Jasper Park in Sunny Alberta, where the Canadian Amateur and Western Championships were held last month, is to-day a serious rival to the famous Scottish resort. The course, which was laid out by Mr. Stanley Thompson, golf architect, Toronto, nestles a ribbon of green between the frowning Rockies and from nearly every tee the views are simply ravishing. Then, too, the links are a real test of championship golf, many of the celebrated holes at Pine Valley and other noted courses having been more or less duplicated. An added thrill and attraction. It is nothing unusual for bears to be seen loping along the fairways, whilst deers and fawns often spring gracefully ahead of the players and make for the nearby woods which fringe both sides of the course. Oh, yes, Jasper is a Golfer's Paradise and deserves to be crowned Queen of the whole golfing world.

FORMER OLD COUNTRY GOLFERS WIN ALL THREE CHAMPIONSHIPS

AS A result of the three principal professional championships of the Canadian 1929 season, former Old Country golfers have been very much in the picture. Willie Lamb, professional of the Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, former Scottish amateur, but who joined the ranks of the paid brigade on coming to this country, won the Canadian Professional Championship for the second time in succession. Ernie Wakelam, of Brockville, Ontario, a product of famous Hoylake, Liverpool, was the leading Canadian professional in the Canadian Open and incidentally the members of his club presented him with a purse of $250 in recognition of the feat, and it was a well deserved tribute as Wakelam is not only a fine player but a conscientious instructor and is doing much for golf in the Brockville District. Then along comes Arthur Hunt, younger brother of Fred Hunt, pro at Brantford, and Sid Hunt, pro at Niagara-on-the-Lake, assistant to Andy Kay at Lambton, who learned his game in the Manchester District, and who recently annexed the Canadian Assistants professional championship. There are a lot of sterling young Canadian assistants and caddies who are fast learning to play a good game but this season none of them have shown out in front. With more experience, however, they are bound to do so in future. Efficiency in golf cannot be learned in a season or so. It requires years of play and painstaking practice, to hope to attain to the heights.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

A notable address at the Canadian Bar Association's annual meeting at Quebec this month was made by Dr. W. P. M. Kennedy, professor of law at the University of Toronto. Here is “a shot right on the flag”:—

“It is better to be a Dominion under the crown in a great empire, than some republic, decked in sovereign peacock's feathers, and enjoying International ‘status’ through the condescension of over-mighty neighbours.”

The appearance of an 1874 putter in a 1929 tournament, is one of the most interesting things noted in golf for some time. Even the most tried and trusted golf friends of the majority of golf bags hardly go so far back as that. The club in question was wielded in the Cruden Bay Tournament by the veteran Perth minister, the Rev. H. M. Drummond, who at 71 is as keen on his round as the average school boy. His heavy, long-headed putter was bought in St. Andrews when he was a student there in 1874 and it was made there at some earlier date. George S. Lyon, the many times Canadian amateur and Senior champion, still carries one or two rusty, trusty old clubs in his bag which he calls upon in emergencies, but they are mere babes compared to this 55-year-old Drummond weapon.

Six years ago the Royal Montreal Golf Club with becoming ceremonies celebrated the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the club, the oldest in America. One year later the Quebec Golf Club observed its jubilee, and three years ago the Toronto Golf Club. Now this month the Brantford Golf and Country Club is celebrating its 50th anniversary with an Invitation Tournament and Field Day September 20th and 21st. As golf goes, these jubilees are, comparatively speaking, youthful stepping stones in the history of the Royal and Ancient, although from a North American standpoint most interesting. The Royal Blackheath Club is 321 years old. The Edinburgh Burgess Golfing Society was instituted in 1735, the Royal and Ancient of St. Andrews in 1744, and so on. A little over half a century ago golfers in Canada were numbered by the few score. To-day a total of 125,000 is a conservative estimate of the men and women playing the game of games.

Despatch from Winnipeg, August 21st:—

A life-size portrait of Edward Hamilton Macklin, who for many years has been president and general manager of the Manitoba Free Press Company, was hung in the board room of the Free Press Building at Winnipeg to-day. The presentation took place in the presence of Mr. Macklin, the entire staff of the Winnipeg Free Press, and a distinguished company of friends of the Winnipeg newspaper publisher, who came from all parts of Canada and the United States for the unique occasion. The painting is the work of a well-known Canadian artist, E. Wyly Grier, of Toronto.

The occasion was the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Mr. Macklin's entrance into the newspaper profession, of which he is such an outstanding ornament. For many years now he has been a warm supporter of golf in Winnipeg and the West, occupying many important executive positions in clubs there. He is also a charter member and Governor of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association. Most loveable of men, the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" and countless other friends throughout the Dominion will join in wishing Mr. Macklin many, many more years of active participation in journalism, plus health and happiness aplenty.

QUEBEC LADIES STAGE A RECORD FIELD DAY

GIFTED with ideal weather the field day, fifth of the season, staged last month by the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union at Beaconsfield, Montreal, brought out the remarkable field of 215 entrants which is by way of being a record for a Canadian ladies' event. The ladies of Canada's oldest Province certainly do love their golf and play it extremely well, too.

Miss Dora Virtue, the brilliant young Whitlock golfer, led this wonderful field, but only after a nine-hole play-off with Miss E. Mills, of the Royal Ottawa Club. The players went over the course together and almost matched strokes, each finishing with 87. In a play-off Miss Virtue was two up on her opponent at the ninth hole.

Low nett honours in the silver division went to Miss Phyllis Abbott, of Beaconsfield. Playing over her home course, Miss Abbott scored an 89, and a handicap of 17 brought her nett to 72.

Miss Dorothy Mowat, of Beaconsfield, captured the prize for the best gross in the silver division with 96. Her score was matched by that of Miss Marion Taylor, of Summerlea, who took nett honours by virtue of a handicap of 26, bringing her nett score to 70.

The special 36 handicap prize was won by Miss C. Bernier, of Forest Hills. Miss Bernier turned in a card of 106, and a 36 handicap brought the nett total to 70.

Former prize-winners in field days failed to score at Beaconsfield. Miss Eileen Kinsella, of Senneville, was three strokes behind the leader with a 90, while her partner, Miss Kate Robertson, followed with 92. Both are 7-handicap players.

Notwithstanding the record field of entrants there was no delay and the last players were out early in the afternoon, thanks to splendid work on the part of the Quebec Branch Committee in charge of the Tournament.

SENIORS ON THE PACIFIC COAST

Stage a Wonderful Tournament. Mr. J. E. Wilson by Steady and Consistent Golf Again Annexes the Major Championship. One Hundred and Seventy-eight of the Leading Men of the Leading Cities on the Pacific Coast Participate in a Record-Making Championship.

THE Seniors' Northwest Golf Association certainly does know how to stage a colourful championship. For the seventh year in succession Victoria, B.C., last month was the scene of this quite remarkable event, the celebrated Oak Bay course being the venue. One hundred and seventy-eight veterans participated, representing no fewer than seventeen important cities on the Pacific Coast. The parent organization, the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, has never equalled these figures.

With the fine card of 79, Mr. L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, in his day one of the greatest amateur lacrosse players in Canada, and a former Senior champion, led the large and classy field. Others to qualify for the Grand Championship were:—

J. E. Wilson, Victoria (the defending champion), 82; F. T. McCollough, Spokane, 82; Joshua Green, Seattle, 83; R. W. Gibson, Victoria, 83; Jim Sobey, Seattle, 84; E. E. Todd, Seattle, 85; H. G. Wilson, Victoria, 85; J. W. Morris, Victoria, 86; A. Sheret, Victoria, 86; A. H. Daugharty, Seattle, 86; R. H. Swinerton, Victoria, 86; J. R. Stirrat, Seattle, 87; C. H. Jones, Spokane, 87; F. A. Byerley, Portland, 87; Judge Rigg, Yakima, 87.

Dr. O. J. West, Seattle, 86; F. H. Brownell, Seattle, 84; W. C. Worsfold, New Westminster, 86, and G. H. Barnard, 86, each had scores good enough to qualify, but elected to play in their class championships and each entered the "C" class.

Despite the fact that several stepped down from the Grand Championship flight to contest their individual class events, a play-off was necessary among six to decide the rest of the field for the association's biggest prize. This resulted in J. R. Stirrat, C. H. Jones, F. A. Byerley and Judge Rigg winning the right to enter the Grand Championship after four holes had been played.

Vide the Victoria "Colonist Old Man Upset" was the most conspicuous person noticeable during the opening rounds of the Tournament at match play. In the first place, L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, original champion and medalist, met defeat at the hands of James R. Stirrat, of Seattle, the sturdy Scot, in the second round of the championship flight played in the afternoon, 3-2. Then in the second place, Judge Rigg, of Yakima, came home victorious by defeating F. T. McCollough, who was tied with J. E. Wilson for second medal score, 2-1.

Judge H. B. Rigg, Yakima, Wash., runner-up in the Grand Championship.

The defeat of L. A. Lewis was the most outstanding upset of the day, but McCollough's setback was nearly on a par with it. Lewis, who had his clubs working to perfection when he captured the medal honours, could not cope with the excellent playing of the Sound City veteran. Although the British Columbian had no alibis to offer, it was plainly evident that the heavy wind that swept the links from early morning to late on in the evening, effected his game. Stirrat's putter was working like a charm and many times he took the heart out of his opponent by dropping putts from the edge of the greens. The winner was two up at the turn and cunningly jumped at every opportunity offered to him on the homeward journey to end the match on the sixteenth green.

Judge Rigg, the sole entry from Yakima, continued his brilliant game by ousting F. T. McCollough, of Spokane, in the second round, after a great struggle, two up. The visiting jurist was hitting a long straight drive and was deadly with his mashie and putter.

Lewis advanced through the initial round by putting out H. G. Wilson, 5-4, while McCollough put out A. H. Daugharty, of Seattle, 4-3. J. W. Morris, of the Victoria Golf Club, also fell by the wayside in the first round when Judge Rigg added him to his list by a one up margin.

In the semi-finals some sturdy golf was played.

Wilson entered the final round for the fourth successive year by putting out R. W. Gibson, a clubmate, over the eighteen-hole distance, 4-3, while Judge Rigg, the stocky jurist from Yakima, advanced by his victory over James R. Stirrat, of Seattle in a similar manner. Both winners disposed of his opponent on the fifteenth green after keen struggles.

Rigg and Wilson thoroughly earned their way to the final as both played consistently throughout the tournament and crushed some stubborn opponents. J. W. Morris, of Victoria, and last year's medalist, was Judge Rigg's first victim by way of the one-up margin, while F. T. McCollough, of Spokane, was next to fall by the roadside before the splendid playing of the United States veteran, 4-3. His victory over Stirrat was somewhat of an upset, as the Seattleite had accounted for L. A. Lewis, a former champion and medalist, in the second round.

Wilson had an easy time in his first round match when he beat A. Sheret, of Uplands, 7-6, and then went to work and spoilt the hopes of F. A. Byerly, of Portland, 3-2. Gibson's de-

Grand Championship by defeating Judge H. B. Rigg, of Yakima, in the final over eighteen holes, 4 up and 3 to play. Wilson's path to victory was not strewn with roses by any means, feat at the hands of the defending champion was probably expected, but that he put a spirited fight was indicated by the result.

In the final, wielding a magic putter, Mr. Wilson, who is a member of the Victoria Golf Club, retained his Seniors' Northwest Golf Association for the popular American jurist was in the fight from the first hole until his opponent dropped a twenty-foot putt on the fifteenth green for a half to win the match.

By his victory Wilson takes possession of the Barnard Cup, symbolic of the Championship, and presented by Senator G. H. Barnard, of Victoria, one of the founders of the association, for the next twelve months. The champion also received a miniature, which he retains as his permanent award.

Mr. W. MacMaster, Portland, Oregon, elected to the Presidency of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association.

Thanks to Mr. Wilson, one at least of the many Canadian championships does not cross the border this season. Thanks be for that. He was a very popular visitor at the Canadian Seniors' Golf Championship at Lambton, Toronto, last September, where he made a host of friends. He has a particularly sound game of golf in his bag. Mr. L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, the winner of the Qualifying Round at Victoria last month, was also a popular visitor at Lambton last September.

Canada Wins International Match

Mr. J. A. Sayward, skipper of the Canadian team in the International Match, brought his stalwarts home to victory in the annual match by a 25½ to 19½ victory. It was a closely contested match. The score:—

The United States (Pacific Coast) has now four victories to its credit and the Canadians three. In this respect the B.C. Seniors have made a much better showing than the Canadian Seniors, the parent body, which in eleven years has only defeated the U.S. twice.

Annual Dinner and Meeting

The annual dinner held during the Tournament was as usual the jolliest kind of affair. Bright speeches and sayings were greatly enjoyed, those participating in this part of the programme being Messrs. J. E. Wilson, the champion; D. J. Zan, of Portland; Ralph W. Wilbur, skipper of the American team; Joshua Green, of Seattle; C. F. Swigert, Portland; J. B. Kerr, Portland; W. E. Burns, Vancouver (the youngest member of the Association); F. T. McCollough, Spokane; W. McMaster, Portland.

Judge P. S. Lampman, of Victoria, the capable retiring President, assisted by Captain J. V. Perks, ever since its inception the particularly capable Hon. Secretary of the Association, during the dinner presented the many handsome prizes.

At the annual meeting of the Association held at the Victoria Club during Tournament week, Mr. William McMaster, of Portland, Ore., was unanimously elected as president. Mr. McMaster succeeds Judge P. S. Lampman, of the Victoria Golf Club.

H. S. Griggs, of Tacoma, was chosen as first vice-president, succeeding the new president, while W. A. Ward, of Vancouver, was elected as second vice-president.

Captain J. V. Perks, of the Victoria Golf Club, who has been secretary of the association since its inception seven years ago, was once again appointed to that position by an unanimous vote. Captain Perks, who is without doubt the hardest-working secretary in the Province, was re-elected to office amidst great applause from those present.

During the gathering the secretary was instructed to send invitations to the various Seniors' Associations throughout Great Britain, Canada and the United States, urging their members to compete in the tournament. Although they will be eligible to compete in the tourney they will not be permitted to play for any of the championships.

The 1929 officers are as follows: Hon. R. R. Bruce, honorary president; William McMaster, president; H. S. Griggs, first vice-president; W. A. Ward, second vice-president; board of governors to serve three years, Josiah Collins, A. Baillie, A. F. Albertson, C. F. Adams, C. H. Jones; board of governors appointed to serve two years, C. R. MacNeill, G. H. Barnard, F. F. Coulthard, J. R. Stirrat, W. C. Butler; board of governors to serve one year, J. P. Babeock, mittee, a post which he has in the past so acceptably filled.

Phil Taylor, professional of the Victoria Golf Club, assisted by his young son, Allan Taylor, Bob Johnston, pro of the Seattle Club, and George Johnson, J. M. Hedley and James Hunter were all largely responsible for the smooth running of the Tournament under the direction of Captain Perks.

"You have the best disciplined caddies in the world," was the remark of one of the American Seniors, while praising Hughie

Mackenzie, caddie master and assistant to Taylor. His remarks are nothing but the truth, as each day they go through certain training rules and therefore know how to act when sent out on a job, and that is deidedly unique in both Canadian and U.S. clubs.

That the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association is one of the most popular organizations on the Pacific Slope was plainly shown by Captain J. V. Perks, secretary of the Association, when he checked up on the waiting list of veterans anxious to be placed on the roll.

As the membership is limited to 300, the eighty veterans of the links on the waiting list will be placed on the eligible books, either when members hand in their resignation or in case of a death. Seattle, Portland, Port Angeles, Tacoma, Vancouver, Yakima and Victoria have players anxiously waiting to play in future tournaments.

Seventy-eight years of age and still going strong, is the honour held by James Ogden Grahame, of the Victoria Golf Club, who was amongst the entrants.

E. C. Blanchard, of the Tacoma Golf and Country Club, is runner-up to Mr. Grahame, having reached his seventy-fifth year. Scoring a 102 in the qualifying round the Tacoman did remarkably well, considering his age. With his handicap of twenty-five deducted, his nett total was 77.

Charles F. Todd, president of the Victoria Golf Club for several years, is right on Blanchard's heels, with seventy-three opposite his name. Mr. Todd is one of the most genial and most-liked members of the Oak Bay Club, and can hold his own with many of the younger members over the eighteen-hole route.

Next in order comes A. C. Flumerfelt, Alex J. Fraser, of the Victoria Golf Club, and Charles H. Bebb, of the Seattle Golf Club, all over the three score and ten mark by two years.

Well deserved editorial tribute from the Victoria Colonist:—

"All golfers in this and in other communities which sent their quota of competitors to the Grand Championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association will extend cordial congratulations to Mr. J. E. Wilson, of Victoria, on his well-merited victory for the second year in succession. Mr. Wilson again has demonstrated that he is not only in the lead among Senior golfers in the Pacific Northwest, but, judging from his low scoring ability, he is better than the vast majority of the youngsters. Consistency seems to be the feature of his game and this is coupled with imperturbable good humour, which is an essential asset in winning games.

Among the Senior golfers who competed in the Tournament there could have been no more popular victory than that in the Grand Championship. It is especially popular in Victoria, where Mr. Wilson is so much liked and esteemed for his sportsmanship, and, indeed, for that matter, for all his characteristics. The Senior Golfers' Championship grows in attractive power each year. It is a matter of particular satisfaction that it should be held in this city, and, to Victorians, that the main event should have been won twice by a Victorian. The feat has not hitherto been accomplished in this Seniors' Tournament, a fact which stamps Mr. Wilson as a golfer of distinct merit."

The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" has very much pleasure in testifying to the fact that Mr. Wilson is alike a credit to golf in Canada both from a Senior and every other standpoint. He well deserves to be crowned again the Senior Champion of the Pacific Coast. May he make it "three in a row."

Golf Sweaters in the Modern Spirit

THE PASSING OF A LOVEABLE SENIOR GOLFER

THE Canadian Seniors have lost one of their oldest members, both in years and in his connection with the Association, in the person of Mr. Lindsay Crawford Lawford, who passed away suddenly on the 25th August.

Mr. Lawford, who belonged to an English family well known in cricket and tennis, was an accountant by profession and was educated at the well known Marlborough School in England. After spending many years in New Zealand, Australia and South America, he came to Montreal in 1914, where he practised his profession until retiring from active work some five years ago.

Mr. Lawford had recently returned after spending three months in England and was staying at Murray Bay, Que., at the time of his death. He had made all arrangements for joining the Seniors at Ottawa this month and was in excellent spirits and looking forward to what he always considered to be the greatest event of the year.

The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer", who was for many years a personal friend, begs leave to be associated with many warm Montreal and other acquaintances in extending sincerest sympathy to the bereaved widow and relatives. Mr. Lawford was in the very best sense of sometimes a very much abused term, "a golfer and a gentleman". His passing will be mourned in golfing and other circles for many a day.

SASKATCHEWAN PROVINCIAL LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP

(Special Contribution to "Canadian Golfer")

THE Saskatchewan Branch C. L. G. U. held their annual Provincial Golf Tournament in Moose Jaw over the Moose Jaw Golf Club course the week of August 12th.

Perhaps nowhere in the Province is there a course as interesting or as strenuous as the Moose Jaw golf course so that the forty-six ladies who entered the Tournament felt golfers indeed by the end of the week, after eighteen holes each morning, driving, putting and foursomes in the afternoon, and the usual social entertainments at night.

It was a most enjoyable week, full of keenly contested games which resulted in the following winners:—

MANITOBA JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Is Won by "Bud" Donovan, of the Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, with the Very Excellent Card of 75.

BUD DONOVAN, youthful member of the Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, turned in a brilliant victory to win the Junior Golf Championship on Saturday, August 31st, when he returned a card of 75 at the Assiniboine Golf Club. Considering that the championship was played when the course was saturated with a heavy smoke from the bush fires, making judgment of distance very difficult, the feat was all the more remarkable.

Right on Bud's heels were two cards of 77. These were turned in by D. Critchley, a most promising player, and F. Macrovicz. They were sent out to play off the tie and the latter won the runner-up honour at the 19th hole. Following the completion of play the boys were brought together for the presentation of prizes, which was handled by T. J. Lytle and Robert Jacob, past president and vice-president of the Manitoba Golf Association.

Fred Tod, manager of The Beaches Golf Club, and one of the originators of the Junior Golf Championship, was in his old place again in charge of the incoming cards and handled his end of the affair in his usual characteristic thoroughness. Mr. Tod always has been one of the strongest supporters of this competition.

The championship was run off without a slip. The boys were all on hand when their names were called and played fast enough golf for the five-minute allowance to be cut down. Starting at eight o'clock the pairs were sent away until half-past eleven, and the lads would all have gone around again had they been given the opportunity.

There was only one bit of unpleasantness. E. Northwood turned in a card of 77, but he didn't hole his putt on the 18th green. He missed a short putt, running two feet past the cup. He then reached over and batted the ball to his hand, picked it up and walked off the green, giving himself a six for the hole.

"Bud" Donovan, Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg, who with a record score of 75 wins the Manitoba Junior Championship.

This is strictly against medal play rules and a special note on the score card drew attention to the fact that all putts must be holed, even if on the lip of the cup, otherwise disqualification would follow. The officials had no other action to take than to disqualify the player. The same thing happened at Southwood a few years ago when the offending player lost the championship by putting the ball into his hand.

The championship drew 97 entries, the largest number that ever competed for the Matt Thompson Trophy and incidentally the winner's card of 75 was the lowest score ever turned in since the inception of the competition. The large entry shows the increasing interest in the championship and next year it is a foregone conclusion that more than 100 boys will tee off for the championship.

Donovan was paired with Bobby Reith, who made such a name for himself in the Manitoba Amateur Championship by getting to the semi-finals. They attracted quite a gallery as they started on their journey. They played good golf going out and both reached the turn in even fours, one over par. Donovan kept up his steady stroking on the inward journey to come home in 39, while Reith showed a streak of unsteadiness and took 44 for an even 80.

Donovan's card, which makes junior golfing history, was:—

Out443 454 536—36
In455 544 345—39—75

There were two outstanding games for the wee chaps. A. Cotton, 11 years old, turned in a great card of 85, while little H. Dawson, 9 years old, left his tricycle long enough to go around the course with his miniature clubs in 115, a very respectable performance.

There were prizes for the winners of the various age classes. The winner and runner-up received wrist watches from the association, while the age class prizes were donated by George Daniel, Assiniboine Golf Club; Alerest Golf Club; Donald McDonald, pro at Southwood; Southwood Golf Club; Eric Bannister, at St. Charles, St. Charles Country Club; Norwood Golf Club, Winnipeg Golf Club, Niakwa Golf Club, Pine Ridge Golf Club, Elmhurst Golf Club, Winnipeg Canoe Club, The Beaches Golf Club; Sandy Middleton, pro at The Beaches Golf Club; Harry Shaw and Bruce Boreham.

The Manitoba Golf Association is indebted to the officials of the Assiniboine Golf Club and especially to George Daniel, the capable professional, for his splendid assistance during the tournament.

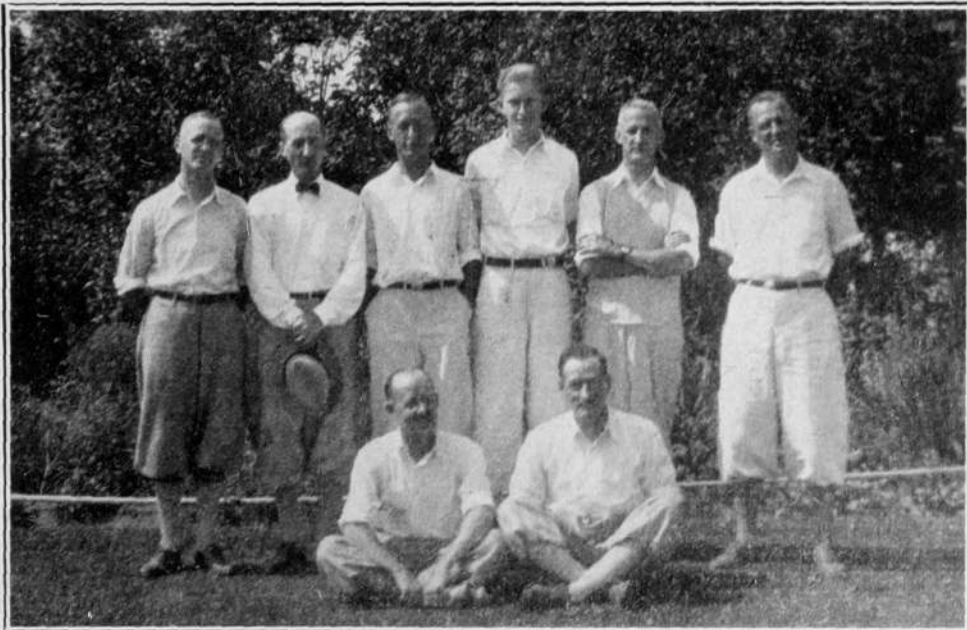

PRINCE OF WALES' NEW COUNTRY HOME IN FAMOUS GOLFING DISTRICT

IT HAS just been announced that a new home for the Prince of Wales right in the heart of probably the most famous golfing district near London, has been acquired. This month His Royal Highness will take possession of Fort Belvedere, Sunningdale, Berkshire, which he has acquired as a permanent country residence. Fort Belvedere, which is Crown property, is a fine old residence built after the Stuart rebellion of 1745. It is still surrounded by guns dating from Jacobite times, and has many royal associations. In recent times it has been brought up to date. Only the Ascot road separates the estate from Virginia Water, one of the most famous courses in the London District, where George Duncan, until recently, was the professional. It is within a mile of both the Wentworth and the Sunningdale golf links and not much further from the Swinley Forest course, one of the most exclusive golf clubs in England. Sir Frederic Williams-Taylor, who has just retired from the General Managership of the Bank of Montreal, is a member, by the way, of Swinley Forest. The Prince, since giving up steeple-chasing and point to point racing, is devoting much more time to golf in which sport he is really becoming quite proficient. It is nothing unusual now for him to go round testing courses in the eighties. He is very keen on the game and takes every opportunity to enjoy a round or so.

A DISTINGUISHED GOLFING FAMILY

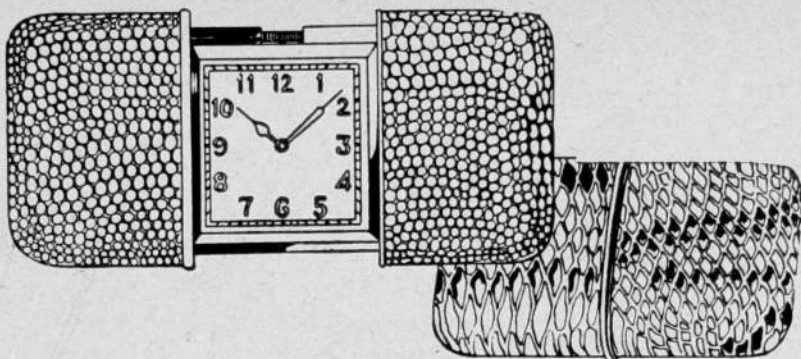

A VERY unique and interesting golfing event took place at the Lambton Golf and Country Club on Saturday, August 24th, when seven Mitchell brothers (born at Port Elgin, Ontario) together with the 18-year-old son of one, participated in a British Empire vs. United States match, won by the latter.

All are shown in the above photograph, the four Americans (who are proprietors of the Mitchell Knitting Mills, Inc., of Buffalo, N.Y.) being H. L., his son, F. L., who incidentally produced the low score with a 77, R. E. and L. S. The Canadians are J. W., vice-president of the Dominion Securities Corporation, L. W., general auditor of the T. Eaton Co., F. O., director Canada Packers Ltd., and C. S., resident manager London, England, for A. E. Ames & Co. The occasion marked the visit of the London, England, brother to Canada after nearly 3 years' absence.

The brothers are all very prominent in manufacturing and financial circles. Years ago in England the Walker family, father and ten sons, used to be able to field a strong eleven on the cricket field. That, of course, was a record which has never been equalled. As regards golf, the Editor is inclined to think that "the Mitchell Brothers seven" must be accorded first place.

THE STATUS OF THE CANADIAN OPEN PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

MR. A. G. B. CLAXTON, K.C., Montreal, writes the Editor in reference to a question which has often been discussed quite seriously in golfing circles in Canada.

Sir:—

Ever since the Canadian Open Professional Championship was played at Dixie, probably four or five years ago, I have waited for some of the principals of the Dominion or various Provincial golfing associations to take up the question as to whether we should permit players who might be called “exhibition” players to participate in the professional championships.

To my mind those championships were organized to encourage and reward the professionals who pass most of their time in giving instruction to club members and in looking after golf courses, and not for exhibition players.

The professional who six days a week gives lessons and administers a golf course is the man whom we should encourage. I would give no Dominion or Provincial Championship to the man who is nominally attached to a club as a professional, who travels around the country with his manager, who demands club privileges, and struts about the courses with the intention of making us poor dubs feel humble.

I would not debar from the Canadian Championship any U.S.A. pro that spends six days a week in giving lessons and administering his course, but I certainly would debar “exhibition” players.

Of course, it will be said that it is a very fine thing to see Diegel and Hagen play. By this time all of us have seen them once, and those of us who have are quite sure that our own pros can inform us how each of the strokes are made. Fortunately, our pros have so much to do in looking after the members of the club that they have not time to perfect themselves and to play each stroke accurately each time they try to play it.

I sincerely trust that the Canadian Golfers Association will seriously consider the debarring from Canadian Championships, Dominion and Provincial, of all “exhibition” players.

Fourth Annual Tournament Staged at Iroquois Falls is an Unqualified Success. Course in Splendid Condition and the Cream of Northern Ontario Golfers Participate.

ate enough to have almost perfect weather for the entire three days. It rained slightly in the afternoon of the first day, but not enough to be considered as having rained.

The players from the different clubs started to arrive the Tuesday before the tournament and honourable mention should be made of the zeal and untiring efforts of Geo. W. Lee in contributing to its ultimate success. Under his auspices a Pullman was arranged for at Sudbury which picked up the players of that town and then proceeded to North Bay where the members from that Railway Commission, following the presentation of prizes, when he gave both these gentlemen credit for the success of the meeting.

It is the opinion of the golfers at the meet that "Ellie" Little proved himself the ideal secretary and although entered in the tournament, yet the manifold duties that developed upon him in his official position prevented him from doing full justice to his "game". As a result he did not qualify for the select sixteen, although doing so last year.

There were forty-three entrants from the various towns including Sudbury, Haileybury, North Bay, Kirkland Lake, Timmins, Cochrane and Iroquois Falls. These players participated in the 36-hole qualifying medal play. The sixteen players to qualify with really most excellent scores were as follows:—J. Stokes, Timmins, 147; Keith Little, Iroquois Falls, 150; E. L. Trumper, Kirkland Lake, 150; R. G. Lee, North Bay, 150; H. Teskey, North Bay, 151; D. Davis, Iroquois Falls, 153; R. M. Drummond, Iroquois Falls, 155; W. Woodman, Iroquois Falls, 160; A. McKenzie, North Bay, 161; Geo. Lake, Timmins, 161; W. B. Tait, Iroquois Falls, 164; A. R. Mobbs, Iroquois Falls, 165; H. J. Mutz, Sudbury, 166; H. J. Reynolds, North Bay, 166; Dr. B. F. Nott, North Bay, 166, and N. S. McTaggart, 166.

The first round saw A. A. McKenzie, of the North Bay Club, spring a surprise when he defeated J. Stokes, of the Timmins Club, and last year's runner-up, by one up on the eighteenth hole when he stymied his opponent unintentionally. Had Stokes been able to make this putt he would have won. It was a bad break for Stokes. H. Teskey, also of North Bay, defeated H. J. Mutz, of Sudbury; Dr. B. F. Nott defeated Bob Drummond, of Iroquois Falls, while E. L. Trumper won from B. F. Tait, also of Iroquois Falls; R. G. Lee won from A. R. Mobbs, 3 and 2; W. Woodman, of Iroquois Falls, won from a teammate, N. S. McTaggart, one up at the end of the eighteenth hole; D. Davis, of the Falls, won from Harry Reynolds, North Bay, and Geo. Lake, Timmins, won from Keith Little three, up.

In the quarter-finals, Teskey won from his club-mate, A. McKenzie; Trumper eliminated Dr. Nott after a nip and tuck battle, and Lee won from Woodman. Lake was the fourth winner when he defeated Davis. The semi-finals saw a strenuous game between Teskey and Trumper, the former winning out, one up, at the eighteenth hole. This game was a thriller, and going into the sixteenth hole Trumper was one up with three to go. Trumper got into difficulty, however, when he drove into the gully and lost his ball. This gave Teskey the hole, and tied players with two to go. The seventeenth hole was halved, and Teskey won the eight-winning the championship for the third time in four seasons. In golf Teskey applies the exceptional attributes he possesses for practically all branches of athletic endeavour. During his early residence in North Bay he was regarded as the most capable athlete in Northern Ontario. He excelled as a hockey player and also as a baseball pitcher. These eenth. In the other semi-final Bobby Lee had little difficulty in defeating Geo. Lake seven up and six to go. Lake did not shoot the golf he exhibited in his previous rounds.

In the final between the two North Bay players, Teskey and Lee shot splendid golf. Teskey shot a par 34 in his first round of nine holes against Lee's 37. Up to and including the sixteenth hole in the second round when Teskey won out, three up and two to go, he was only two over par, while Lee was three. Teskey thus did sixteen holes in two over par, while Lee was six, but it indicates the brand of golf played. Teskey thereby added to his already notable golf career by games he forsook after acquiring an enviable reputation for ability and sportsmanship. The same attributes that carried him to fame in these sports, he is now applying to the more leisurely but skilful game of golf and with the same degree of success. The final was followed by the most enthusiastic and impartial gallery as regards awarding applause to every good shot made and the tournament was brought to a successful conclusion by the presentation of prizes by Mr. Geo. W. Lee. Howard Teskey retains the T. and N. O. Railway Commission Cup, Bobby Lee was presented with a cup by the Iroquois Falls Club as runner-up, Messrs. E. L. Trumper and Geo. Lee were presented with one dozen golf balls each from the Falls Club as the unsuccessful semi-finalists, while Messrs. W. Woodman, Dave Davis, Bobby Drummond and Keith Little were presented with beautiful shields, these prizes going to the four members of any club who had the four lowest scores in the qualifying round.

Northern Ontario Ladies' Golf Tournament

The Northern Ladies' Golf Association held their tournament at the Timmins Golf Club on August 15th,

A handsome young quartette—Messrs. Woodman, Drummond, Little and Davis, of Iroquois Falls, winners of the Club Championship.

Following the play on the first day a particularly jolly banquet was held in the Iroquois Hotel, where Manager J. D. Kingston outdid himself in the good things provided and was complimented on all sides. Geo. W. Lee acted as chairman and it was decided that the Fifth Annual Tournament should be held at Sudbury in 1930. Mr. Ben. Merwin was elected president and Fred Woods, secretary. A vote of regret was passed at the annual meeting at the absence of the president, J. E. Patterson, who is at present on a trip to the Old Country, and the board of directors and the active officials came in for unstinted praise for devoting their undivided attention to the smooth running of 16th and included members of the ladies' golf clubs from Haileybury, Iroquois Falls, North Bay, Cochrane and Timmins. Mrs. Buncke was the winner of the third flight, Miss Torrington the winner of the second flight, and the finals for the main competition was played on Friday afternoon. Considerable interest was evidenced in the keenly contested match between Mrs. A. E. Porter and Miss Fay Brigham, both of Timmins. Mrs. Porter defeated Miss Brigham three up and two to go, taking the lead at No. 3 and ending the first half three up.

The play was followed by quite a large gathering and well-merited applause was accorded the contestants on many occasions.

At the annual general meeting of the Northern Ontario Ladies' Golf Association held in the Timmins Golf Club House on Thursday afternoon it was decided to hold the next tournament on the Idylwyld course at Sudbury. Mrs. A. F. Brigham made a

MR. H. B. MACKENZIE APPOINTED GENERAL MANAGER BANK OF MONTREAL

MR. HUGH MACKENZIE, who has recently been appointed General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, thus rounding out a particularly brilliant banking career, was in his younger days a well known tennis player, but of more recent years has been a warm supporter of the Royal and Ancient Game. He was president of the Kanawaki Golf Club in 1916 and 1917 and did very much to place that club in the prominent place it occupies today in the Montreal District. He is also a charter member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, of which he was formerly a Governor. He is a member of the Kanawaki, Mount Bruno and Royal Montreal Golf Clubs. The following are the stepping stones in Mr. Mackenzie's outstanding banking career:—

Entered the Bank of Commerce, Brantford, and served in that institution 1884-7. With Bank of British North America, Brantford, St. John and Montreal 1887-1892; secretary to general manager, 1893; accountant, London, Ont., 1894; assistant inspector, 1895; chief inspector, 1903; manager, Victoria, B.C., 1905; superintendent of central branches, Winnipeg, 1907; superintendent of branches, Montreal, 1909; general manager of the Bank of British North America from November, 1912, until October, 1918, when the bank was amalgamated with the Bank of Montreal; assistant general manager Bank of Montreal, 1918, until appointed general manager of the Royal Trust Company, Montreal, in September, 1920; August, 1929, appointed general manager of the Bank of Montreal, one of the most important financial positions in the British Empire.

Exceedingly popular in banking and other circles from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Mr. Mackenzie will prove an invaluable successor to Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, Bart., for so many years the general manager of the Bank of Montreal. Sir Frederick, who is also a well known golfer, a member of several of the most prominent golf clubs in Canada and in England, has been worthily honoured by the Bank, he having been recently appointed vice-president of the institution.

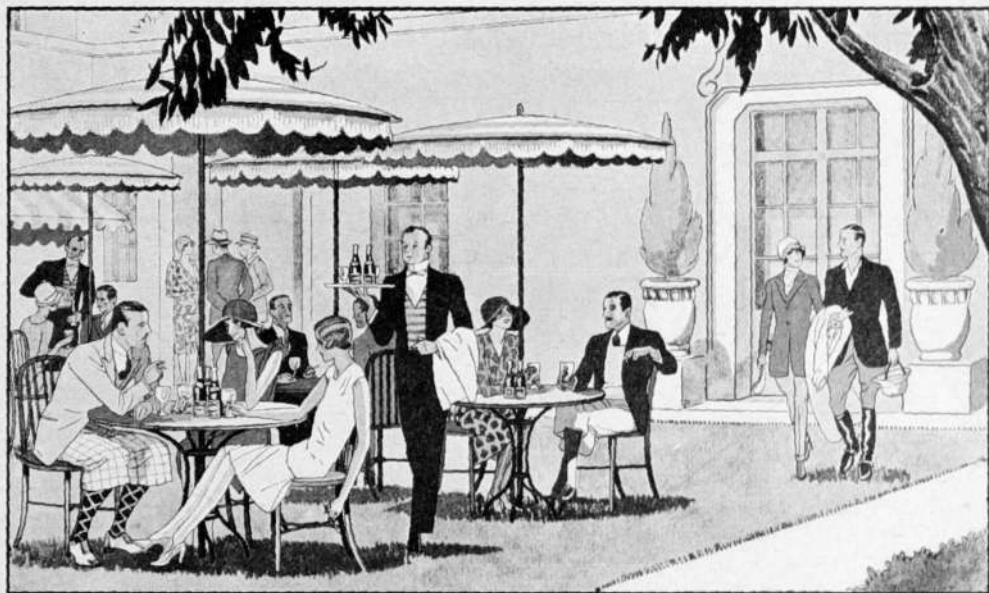

Well earned preferment. Mr. H. B. Mackenzie appointed General Manager of the Bank of Montreal.

LADIES' CLUB WINS TORONTO TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP

(By C. W. MacQueen)

BY AVERAGING only 3½ strokes over their handicaps, the team from the Toronto Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, led by Miss Ada Mackenzie and including a number of young players, won the sixth annual competition for the Toronto and District intermediate team championship and The Mail and Empire Trophy by a margin of seven strokes, and thereby achieved a triumph for the younger generation of feminine golfers. In second place was the Scarboro Club, and in close attendance, in order, were the teams from the Toronto Golf, York Downs and Lambton Clubs, the fifth team being but 22 points behind the winners.

The method of conducting the championship this year was somewhat different from previous year. It was an 18-hole medal competition for teams of ten players, and was played on five different courses, no team playing on its own course. The aggregate nett score of each team was taken, and the standing of the clubs was determined by subtracting ten times the par of the course on which the team played from the aggregate nett. This made the event more even than any of the previous methods, and the championship was a great success in every way.

The Ladies' Club team, with three players better than their handicaps and Miss Mackenzie even, led the way, but the runners-up, Scarboro, made the most consistent showing, none of the ten being more than 11 strokes over their handicaps. Toronto had the best gross score with 955, while Lambton was but 11 strokes more. The youngest player of the 184 who competed, Miss M. Garrick, 14 years of age, was but one stroke worse than her handicap over the Lambton course. The aggregate above handicaps of the clubs competing were as follows:—Ladies' Golf Club, 35; Scarboro Club, 42; Toronto Golf Club, 49; York Downs, 50; Lambton, 57; Cedar Brook, 73; Thornhill, 86; Rosedale, 86; Summit, 90; Lake Shore, 98; Bayview, 99; Islington, 103; Weston, 108; Mississauga, 110; Uplands, 115; Humber Valley, 125; Thistledown, 128; Lakeview, 151. In all, 170 of the leading women players of Toronto took part in this interesting competition.

"OUR HOLE-IN-ONE-CLUB"

They are Busily Tickling up the Tin from the Tee, from Coast to Coast. "Men, Women and Children" are Registering the Stunt.

THESE "oneders" of golf in Canada, undeterred by burnt-up courses and greens which as a result of the prolonged drought, from Coast to Coast are hard even to keep green, are still registering the one-shot stunt in increasing numbers. Here is the latest list from the publication of the August issue until September 10th:—

It is not often that champion golfers register the feat, but Miss Maud Eustace Smith, Ontario Lady Champion, who with her sister, Miss Cecil, have dominated ladies' golf in Ontario the past two years, decided to add further to her laurels by bagging a one at the tricky 14th hole at the Toronto Golf Club. Hearty congratulations to one of the most charming and accomplished young golfers in the whole of Canada.

Mr. F. B. Hopkirk, manager of the Rideau t. Branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, playing a round on Monday, August 12th, at the Royal Ottawa, of which he is a member, with his confrere, Mr. O. B. Sharpe, manager of the Sparks St. Branch of the Bank of Montreal, negotiated the second hole in one. The distance is charted at 205 yards. Mr. Hopkirk did the honours most appropriately at the 19th.

Another Royal Ottawa performance. Mr. J. G. Fleck, of Vancouver, playing over the course with Messrs. Ainslie, W. Green and F. B. Hogg, copped the cup at the 6th hole, 150 yards.

The very charming summer resort course of St. Patrick, Temiscenta County, Que., also reports a dual performance this month. Mr. Roger Ward, of Montreal, playing with Mr. J. des R. Tessier, of Quebec, negotiated the 2nd hole, 105 yards in one. The very next day, Mrs. M. Ross, of Ottawa, a particularly well known tournament and championship player, with many trophies to her credit, playing with Col. F. F. M. Codville, of British Columbia, also turned the trick at the same hole. It is interesting to note that both these aces were scored in a club competition of 18 holes match play.

The 17th hole on the new sporting course of the Essex County Golf and Country Club, near Windsor, Ont., is 187 yards, but that had no fears for Mrs. C. H. Smith, who recently promptly proceeded to sink her tee-shot thereat and therewith.

It's a long call to Qualicum Beach Golf Club, Qualicum Beach, Vancouver Island, but from all accounts there is a very delightful course at this very delightful resort. Mr. H. A. Robertson, of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, was a recent visitor and he promptly proceeded to "put one over" at the 7th hole, 142 yards. Mr. Kennedy, manager of the club, quite naively remarks,

"Seeing that Mr. Robertson provided the usual bottle of Scotch whiskey to the professional as all good holers-in-one should do (they certainly should) I trust he will get the recognition from your end that the occasion deserves." (He shall.)

R. Elder, Jr., assistant pro at Whitlock Golf and Country Club, who followed up the feat of making a "hole-in-one" by winning shortly afterwards the Assistant Professional Championship of Quebec.

Back to Ontario, all said and done, still the golfing hub of Canada. Mr. E. M. Raney, of the Lakeview Golf and Country Club, Toronto, found the "tin from the tee" on the 3rd hole at Lakeview.

Then the Thames Valley Golf Club, London. Mr. C. D. Anderson put over a perfect mashie shot on the 114 yard 12th hole of this particularly popular municipal course.

The 6th hole at the Cornwall Club, Cornwall, Ont., is 140 yards. Mr. John H. Brewin registered a perfect "oneer" here.

The Briars Golf and Country Club at Jackson's Point is a particularly favourite resort of Torontonians and many visitors from the States. Mr. F. H. Anson, William-son, N.Y., was a recent guest and decided to "celebrate" and very properly so, too. He "done it" at the 4th hole, 155 yards.

Still another popular Ontario summer resort is in the picture. Ted Davis is the professional at the Beaumaris Golf and Tennis Club, Muskoka, largely patronized by prominent Pittsburghers. Whilst playing with Mr. John Bain, of Toronto, he tickled the tin from the tee on the 216-yard 17th. Davis was playing a great game as he had a card of 64 for the 18-hole round. Fine work.

Uplands Golf and Country Club is very much in the limelight. Three members from this interesting Toronto club are now eligible for the Hall of Fame—T. Roy Banbury, E. H. Dewart and R. G. Barnes. "Three in one and one in three". Good luck to all of 'em.

Playing with Mr. G. B. Fuller, Mr. W. N. F. McKee over the Humber Valley course, Toronto, accomplished the feat at the 200-yard 8th—the first time this difficult hole has ever been made in one.

Bigwin Inn, the popular Lake of Bays resort, is in the limelight every season. The tenth hole on this sporting course is 85 yards. Two visitors from the States before their return left their "one-hole cards" here. They were Messrs. Kulp, Buffalo, and A. Coburn, Jr., Indianapolis.

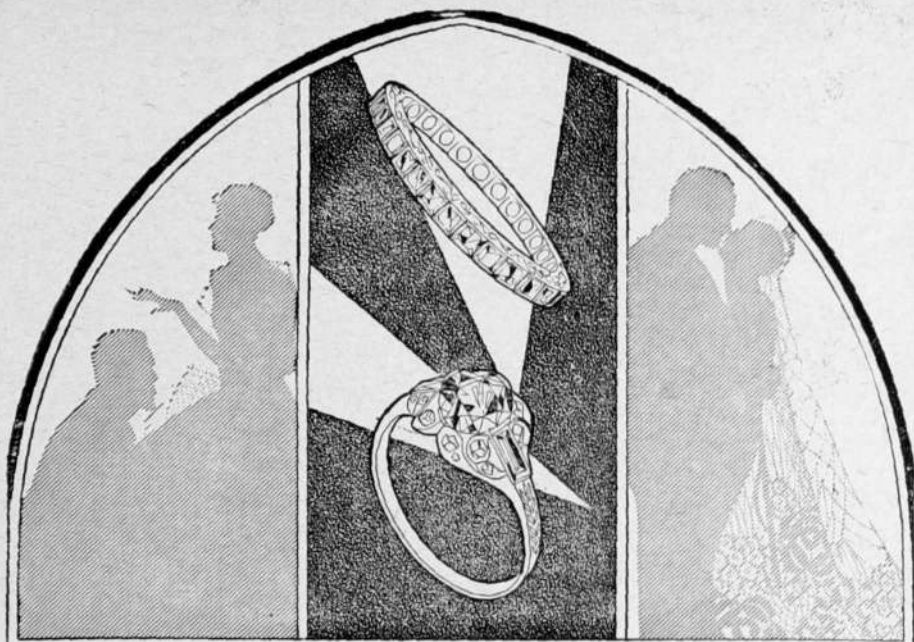

The 7th hole, 135 yards, at the Thistle-down Golf and Country Club, Toronto, seems to particularly lend itself to the one-hole stunt. Mr. J. W. Dunlop and Mr. J. C. Millar both rang the bell here recently.

Again Uplands, Toronto. Mr. T. Roy Banbury, a former captain of the club, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Mr. J. D. Landell, president of the club, put over a perfect shot at the very tricky up-hill No. 8 hole.

The Thornhill Golf and Country Club, Toronto, reports two welcome candidates this month, Mrs. N. Smart, who made the 3rd hole in one, and J. R. Buller, who "got his" at No. 5.

The fifth hole at the Quilehena Golf Club, Vancouver, B.C., is going to be our undoing. It is 128 yards and hard to negotiate, but Messrs. J. W. Weleh, E. A. Sharpe and Dr. E. Fraser Allen did not find it so. All three this season have recorded "oneers" here.

Mr. Arthur E. Rowland, a member of the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, one of the famous clubs of the West, playing with Mr. John Holroyde, of Montreal, and Mr. T. Bruce, of Winnipeg, made the 15th hole in one.

York Downs Golf Club, Toronto. Mr. Ross Pollock chose the 14th hole, 160 yards, for the stunt.

Mr. R. C. Blyth, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, whilst playing over the course of the Collingwood Golf and Country Club, Collingwood, Ont., bagged a one at the 3rd hole, 142 yards. Good fishing!

The interesting Boule Rock Golf Club, Metis Beach, Que., is next heard from. The hardest short hole on the course is No. 17, calling for a perfectly played shot over pine and fir trees. Miss P. M. Calvert negotiated it successfully, however, in one.

Mr. B. S. MacFarlane, a prominent member of the Kanawaki Golf Club, Montreal, joined the immortals when he recently made the third hole on that championship course in one "eagle"!

Our old friend Langara, of Vancouver, B.C. Playing with Dr. F. O'Neill, Mr. Jantz chose the 210-yard 16th hole for the feat.

The 9th hole at the Medicine Hat Municipal Golf Course is 203 yards, but it had no terrors for Mr. E. F. Perrin. Playing with the Rev. M. S. Blackburn, C. D. Weeks and

C. P. Reader, the popular secretary of the club, he made a perfect bulls-eye. "And what more could one desire?"

An interesting little club near Owen Sound Ont., is the Leith Golf Club, in the vicinity of which are many summer cottages. Mrs. James Wright, of Toronto, got the golfing thrill, which only comes once in a lifetime, when she put over a perfect shot at the second hole. The ball landed within a foot of the pin and then rolled into the cup much to the delight of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Douglas and Mrs. James T. Clark, who were playing with Mrs. Wright.

Donald Fleming, of Owen Sound, also is a Leith Club player. He slapped a mid-iron from the tee into the tin at the 9th hole, 150 yards.

Still another Bigwin Inn performance. Mrs. George F. Crum, of Toronto, is in the limelight this time. This is not her first offence. Some years ago she also registered a "oneer".

R. Elder Junior, assistant professional at the Whitlock Golf Club, near Montreal, where so many Quebec champions come from, put a beautiful spoon shot over at the 9th hole, 195 yards, and found the cup. He was playing with Messrs. F. Webber and B. Dancy at the time. Good work.

Napanee, Ontario, is next heard from. Mr. H. W. Huffman turned the trick here at the 7th hole, 140 yards, and put Napanee in the spotlight.

B. E. T. Ellis, one of the original members of the Oakville Golf Club, Oakville, Ont., and holder of the club title for the last four years, scored a hole-in-one recently when he dropped his tee shot on the 190-yard eighth hole. The ace also enabled him to equal par for the nine-hole course with a 37. He was playing in a foursome with R. O. Bull, Dr. Wilkinson and E. W. Paynter.

Playing over the Shawbridge Golf and Country Club course at Shawbridge, Que., Mr. E. J. Pope, of Montreal, got a one at the 210-yard 8th hole.

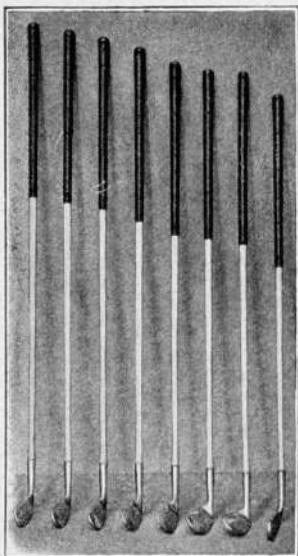

Mr. W. W. Murray, of the Gorsebrook Golf Club, Halifax, playing with Mrs. R. E. McBride chose the 5th hole, 100 yards, at Gorsebrook to register the stunt.

Mr. N. A. Campbell, of Calgary, was a recent visitor to Qualicum Beach Golf Club, Vancouver Island. Playing with Messrs. T. M. Turnbull, of Toronto, and W. C. Turnbull, of Calgary, he bagged a "oneer" at the first hole of this popular B.C. course.

Two performances are next reported from the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, Ont. James Edward Gibson, a junior member, son of Dr. Wm. Gibson, negotiated the 6th hole in one, 135 yards, and Dr. Geo. W. Runnels, of Granby, Que., the 9th hole, also 135 yards, in one. He was playing at the time with his brother, the Rev. Dr. Runnels, of Windsor, Ont., and Dr. A. McCausland, of Kingston.

The 9th hole at Frenchman's Bay Golf Course, a summer resort course near Toronto, is 185 yards. Mr. Gilbert Brereton negotiated it in one and joined the elect.

The Hermitage Country Club, a popular resort with Montrealeers and others at Magog, Que., is in the spotlight. Mr. Lionel O. P. Walsh, of Montreal, recently chosed the 4th hole, 170 yards, for the performance.

Two Weston Club golfers made golfing history this month. Mr. L. McGibbon, playing with Messrs. W. G. Douglas and W. E. Stothers over the course on Sunday, September 1st, 1929, holed his tee shot at the 15th hole, which measures 170 yards. Dr. W. H. Robertson also had this "hole in one" while playing in the L. R. Young Shield Competition on Monday, Sept. 2nd.

From the Belmont Manor course, Bermuda, where Nicol Thompson, of Hamilton, is the professional during the winter months, comes word of the feat. Mr. Carlton H. Gilbert, of the J. C. Bull Advertising Co., New York, turned the trick there on the 8th hole, 136 yards. The hole is known as "Perfection". Mr. Gilbert certainly made a shot in keeping with the name.

Playing over the course of the Guelph Golf and Country Club on September 8th, Mr. R. Stewart Clark, barrister, made a hole-in-one on the 260-yard eighth hole. Mr. Clark was playing at the time with Mr. Jack Purcell, the Canadian badminton champion, and his drive from the eighth tee carried about 225 yards and continued on to the green, where it rolled into the cup, much to the amazement of two other players who were putting on the green at the time. This was the first time that this hole has been made in one stroke and it requires an extremely long drive to make the green. What makes the performance more remarkable was that on the seventh hole Mr. Clark had scored a two and on the sixth a three, having made the three holes in six strokes, or four under par.

Total holes to date this season up to September 10th, 135.

H. SHAW WINS EDMONTON CHAMPIONSHIP

IN WHAT was, without question, the most interesting golf final ever played in Edmonton—and that goes for city, Provincial and Western Canada tournaments—Harry Shaw, Jr., of Edmonton, won the Edmonton Championship at the Mayfair Golf and Country Club links by defeating Jim Mountfield, 1928 holder of the Western Canada title, at the 37th hole. Golf that was considerably above the average, and that was nothing short of being brilliant in spots, featured the match, which was witnessed by one of the biggest Edmonton galleries in years. There were enough thrills to keep the big crowd of spectators keyed up to a high pitch, and as each player in turn had the lead, the interest was held until the deciding putt dropped into the cup at the extra hole. Both Shaw and Mountfield competed in the Canadian Amateur Championship at Jasper Park last month. They are young players quite above the average, capable of giving the best amateurs in Canada a run for their money. Shaw, the winner, had a medal score of 153, and Mountfield, 154.

ANOTHER CHURCH CATERS TO GOLFERS

IN ORDER to accommodate people who wish to play golf on Sunday, the Presbyterian Church at Itasco, Ill., has established special services at 7.30 a.m. The Sunday School class for caddies is held at a corresponding hour. This is not the first time, however, that a church has catered to golfers. At the pretty little church of St. Nicholas, at Wallesley, near Liverpool, England, the rector, the Rev. A. E. Reschamp has for some time now conducted a 20 minute service for golfers Sunday morning at 9.30. These short services have been so appreciated by the golfers of the district that they presented to the Church two memorial windows depicting golfing scenes, which were unveiled with becoming ceremonies. This is the only church anywhere boasting such windows and they are quite a source of attraction, many visitors coming to inspect and admire them.

It is interesting to note, however, that in the future St. Nicholas will have a rival in New York. In the sports bay of the wonderful Cathedral of St. John the Divine in that city, golf with other games will be depicted in coloured windows which will adorn the bay.

A "CENTURY OF CENTURIANS"

Take Part in the Toronto Championship for Veterans at the Islington Golf and Country Club.

THE Islington Cup, emblematic of the Century Championship of Toronto, has found a new home for the fourth time in the five years that the competition has been held as a result of the success of A. L. Lindsay, of the Glen Stewart Club, in the fifth annual championship, held Sept. 7th, as usual, at the Islington Club, and which brought out a field of approximately a century of centurians, representing 12 of the local clubs.

The title and trophy go to the player returning the best nett score on century handicaps, and at the end it was found that A. L. Lindsay, of Glen Stewart, and Don Barelay, of Islington, had tied for first place with nett 88's, and a play-off was in prospect until the Islington player settled matters by surrendering his claim to the championship and electing to take the low gross score prize by means of his 91. This action was appreciated by all, as it saved a play-off and allowed the trophy to go to another club, it having been won by an Islington player in 1926 and 1928. Lake Shore was successful in 1925 and Humber Valley in 1927.

The tournament was undoubtedly the best in the five years' history of the event from every point of view.

At the conclusion of the competition the many exceedingly handsome prizes were presented by Vice-President Karl E. Barton, of the Islington Club, in the absence of President Pickup, to the following winners:—

Nett scores—1, A. L. Lindsay, Glen Stewart, 88; 2, E. A. Lindsay, Glen Stewart, 89; 3, F. B. Meyers, Humber Valley, 90; 4, H. Howat, Humber Valley, 91; 5, H. Perkins, Glen Stewart, 91.

Gross scores—1, L. D. Barelay, Islington, 91; 2, S. Lawson, Cedar Brook, 92; 3, H. J. Church, Weston, 93; 4, N. A. Faulkner, Humber Valley, 93; 5, R. Collinge, Weston, 97.

First nine—Low nett, N. MacNicol, Jr., Islington, 43; low gross, Dr. Bastow, Scarboro, 43.

Second nine—Low nett, M. L. Brown, Islington, 44; low gross, T. Russell, Islington, 50.

Sealed holes—No. 2, F. R. Baillie, Humber Valley, 9; No. 11, J. Newell, Glen Stewart, 17.

Hard luck prizes—18 holes, H. W. Fieberts, Humber Valley, 121; on any one hole, F. G. Wood, Humber Valley, 13 on No. 17.

WHITLOCK WINS BOYS' CHAMPIONSHIP OF QUEBEC

WHITLOCK Golf Club, Hudson Heights, Que., is very much in the limelight this season. The Club has still another Quebec Championship to its credit. Playing for the boys' golf crown of Quebec over the Beaconsfield course, Montreal, the Whitlock squad aggregating a total of 351 lead Laval-sur-le-Lac, the runners-up, by a margin of ten strokes. Rosemount, Montreal, the defending champions, were third, 17 strokes behind Laval, with a four-man total of 378.

All four Whitlock players scored under 100, their captain, A. W. Dancy, setting the pace with a splendid 80. J. W. Webber took 87, J. M. Mills had 91, and K. W. Shaw had 93.

At the conclusion of the tournament, the winners were presented with a silver cup, emblematic of the championship, and with individual prizes in the form of wrist watches. The Laval players won sets of military brushes and the Rosemount squad was presented with fountain pens.

JASPER PARK, ALTA., MAKES GOLF HISTORY

Canadian Amateur and Canadian Western Championships Bring Out the Highest Class Fields in the History of Golf in the Dominion. For the First Time Canadian Amateur Honours are Taken Across the Border, Eddie Held, of New York, Winning the Event. A. B. Darling, of Montreal, Captures Western Title. THERE are more or less many interesting side-slants, in connection with the holding of the Canadian Amateur Championship and the Canadian Western Championship at Jasper Park, Alberta, the latter

Jasper, too, provided a course which frankly as regards many features can not be duplicated in Canada. In fact "Ducky" Corkran, the well known U.S. amateur, in a speech at the presentation of prizes at the end days of last month. In the first place, pessimists by the hundreds, in the East, where golf is still supreme, although the pendulum is surely swinging Westward, were confident that two thousands miles and more from Toronto and Montreal, a successful championship could not be staged and at any rate course conditions would not be up to championship calibre. And Jasper, sun-kissed Jasper, jewel of the Rockies, answered with an entry of over one hundred of the cream of Canadian amateur golfdom and an American entrant, which has never been equalled before in the thirty-odd year history of the championship.

of the Tournament, went on record that Jasper provided one of the best if not the best test of championship golf in America. And he knows his courses from Coast to Coast, does "Ducky".

Then the East was again to get another surprise. The four former Canadian champions, Ross Somerville, Don Carrick, Frank Thompson and C. C. Fraser, looked upon as the hope of Canada, to stem the American invasion, all early had to bow the knee, in three cases to young Western golfers. Freddy Wood and C. Colville, of Vancouver, and Gordon MacWilliams, of Calgary, quite over-shadowed them. The only Easterner to make good at all was F. G. Hoblitzel, of Toronto, the Lambton ace, who with Wood, reached the semi-finals. The latter was the sensation of the week. He is a young clerk (Scottish by birth) in a department store in Vancouver, and can only play golf during the weekend, but Eddie Held, the brilliant young New Yorker, who eventually carried the Championship for the first time across the border, had to play at the top of his game in the semi-finals to take this inexperienced young Vancouverite into camp by 2 and 1. Wood started the fireworks by defeating Fraser, of Montreal, by 2 and 1. Then the next day he took into camp Don Carriek, another Canadian champion, when he sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 at the extra 37th hole. He followed this up in the third round by defeating, 7 and 6, Gordon MacWilliams, the brilliant young Calgarian, who the previous day had quite made golfing history when after being six down at the end of the morning round to W. K. Lanman, of Columbus, Ohio, he pulled out a remarkable victory by 3 and 1.

It is understood that as a result of his prowess at Jasper, young Wood, most unassuming of players, has already a chance of a worth-while position where he will have more time to perfect his game. He's worth it.

But to get down to details. Under perfect weather and course conditions on the opening day a field of over one hundred entrants teed off on the Qualifying Round which was to decide the coveted thirty-two places eligible to carry on for the Championship at 36-hole match play. (Note—Jack Pryke, Jasper Park, 165, lost in the play-off for 32nd place.)

It will be noticed in almost every case that the leaders improved on their morning round by several strokes in the afternoon. The greens at Jasper are all of the creeping bent variety and at first proved very tricky indeed to the majority of the players. They are inclined to be slippery one way with a decided grain against the putt coming back. However, the entrants, generally speaking, quickly mastered this rather tricky condition and putting as the championship progressed in many cases was decidedly up to or above the average.

It will be seen that Eddie Held, early installed one of the favourites for the championship, won the Qualifying Medal but he really should not have done so; "Ducky" Corkran, another U.S. player, who in 1919, then a youngster, at Beaconsfield, Montreal, looked like annexing the Canadian Championship until he was put and dropping into second place with 149.

All the favourites came through to play-off for titular honours with the exception of Jack Cameron, the Open Champion of Quebec last year, and one of the most determined and dogged players in Canada; Maurice Hodgson, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, and C. L. Hodgman, of Winnipeg. They all failed, thanks to bunker and other troubles on the stiffly-trapped Jasper course to make the charmed circle. Cards of 165 were the qualifying limit. The Qualifying Round also decided the Inter-Provincial match which was participated in by six Provinces—Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. This is the largest number of Provinces ever participating in this interesting event. The teams consisted of four men, and Ontario finished in front by a two stroke margin over British Columbia, for their second successive victory in the Lord Willingdon Trophy event. At the end of the morning round Ontario was fourth, nine strokes behind Alberta, which was leading, but Somerville, Carrick and Hoblitzel all came through with 75's to snatch a last minute victory. Quebec came up to third, while Alberta was fourth, Manitoba and Saskatchewan were distanced. The winning Ontario team consisted of Ross Somerville, London Hunt (captain), Don Carrick, Scarborough, Toronto, F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, Toronto, and Jack Cameron, Mississauga, Toronto.

out on the 19th hole by the veteran George S. Lyon, was on the 36th hole for a putt for a 3 to return a total of 147 or one better than Held, who had previously come in. He laid his ball on the lip of the cup and a tie for the medallist honours appeared inevitable, with half an inch putt to make. Corkran carelessly, however, made a one-handed stroke and fanned the ball completely, losing his chance of tying Players not making the Canadian Championship still had a chance to play in the Canadian Western Championship, which provided quite one of the features of the Jasper week.

Easterners and Westerners alike had thirteen representatives amongst the Qualifiers—unlucky 13's as the results were to prove. The United States responded with six players entitled to fight it out for the Championship, but a very formidable half dozen at that. All with Tournament and Championship experience ad galore.

And this is what happened on the first round:—

J. Mountifield, Edmonton, defeated Harry Shaw, Jr., Edmonton, 9 and 8.

W. K. Lanman, Columbus, O., defeated J. Starky, Edmonton, 12 and 11.

Jack Cuthbert, Edmonton, defeated Alfred Bull, Vancouver, 10 and 9.

Clarke Corkran, Nobla, Pa., defeated R. St. Germaine, Laval, Montreal, 7 and 6.

Frank Thompson, Mississauga, Toronto, defeated Harold Parker, Norwood, Winnipeg, 6 and 5.

M. W. Forest, Lowell, Mass., defeated Nicol Thompson, Cedarbrook, Toronto, 6 and 5.

Gordon MacWilliams, Bowness, Calgary, defeated A. C. Carrick, Scarborough, Toronto, 2 and 1.

F. G. Wood, Vancouver, defeated C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, 2 and 1.

D. D. Carrick, Scarborough, Toronto, defeated J. Nash, London, Ont., Hunt Club, 1 up.

Cecil Colville, Glen Oaks, Vancouver, defeated C. Ross Somerville, London Hunt Club, 1 up.

Norman Scott, Royal Montreal, defeated L. Ryan, Beaconsfield, Montreal, 6 and 5.

Fred Hoblitzel, Lambton, Toronto, defeated J. R. N. Bell, Marine Drive, Vancouver, 5 and 4.

J. D. Fraser, Vancouver, B.C., defeated Hugh Jacques, Laval, Montreal, 5 and 4.

Alex. Weir, Niakwa, Winnipeg, defeated Guy Carpenter, New York, 9 and 8.

Gardiner White, New York, defeated A. B. Darling, Whitlock, Montreal, 6 and 5.

Eddie Held, New York, defeated Monty Hill, Vancouver, 3 and 1.

The big upset, of course, in this round, was the defeat of Ross Somerville, of the London Hunt, the defending champion and prime favourite in the pools to win out for the third time. He had as his opponent young Cecil Coville, of Vancouver, who has had the unique experience of being a finalist the past two or three years in half a dozen events on the Coast and never coming through for a win. Somerville at lunch time was three holes to the good on the youthful Vancouverite and it looked all over but the hoisting of the champion's name on the score board. In the afternoon, however, Coville proceeded to get a grip on his game. He split the 19th and then managed to pull even with Somerville when he annexed the next three holes with a birdie and two pars. From there on it was a see-saw match, the Londoner being distinctly off in his tee and iron shots which he was pulling badly. However, he managed to square the match at the 35th, but he was in the rough to the left on the home hole and in a trap with his second, while Coville was pin high, 12 feet away, in two. Ross flubbed his third from the trap, was out in four, and missed his first putt after Coville was dead with his approach putt, and he conceded the hole and the match, and another champion and favourite faded out of the spotlight—just as Bobby Jones was shortly to do afterwards in the U.S. Amateur at California—at the hands of a young giant-killer. The elimination of Somerville came as a rude shock to the large gallery which followed the match, as he has been playing at the top of his game this season. He is, however, clearly over-golfed.

The Londoner was the favourite in the pools the night before, having been bought in by a Toronto syndicate for $565. Eddie Held was in second place, $360 being paid for him by another Torontonian, Mr. H. Phelan. The other qualifiers went from $200 down to as low as $20.

The only other upset was the defeat of C. C. Fraser, a former champion, by Freddie Wood, of Vancouver, afterwards destined to establish for himself quite a decided place in the golfing sun. The Montrealer has not been playing very well the past two or three years in major events and was not looked upon as a very serious contender.

Still another champion had to fight for his life to keep the flag flying in this round. Don Carrick found 17-year-old Jack Nash, of London, anything but an easy proposition to handle. The twice champion was, all said and done, rather lucky to win out against this sparkling youngster

1 up at the 36th, where he negotiated an 8-foot birdie 3 to qualify for the next day's play. It was a touch-and-go game throughout.

As a result of this first round the situation simmered down to seven Westerners being left in the field, five U.S. players and only four Easterners. The plot unexpectedly had commenced to thicken. And this is how it worked out on the second round:—

Eddie Held, New York, defeated M. W. Forrest, Lowell, Mass., at 39th hole.

Frank Thompson, Mississauga, Toronto, defeated A. J. Mountifield, Edmonton, 3 and 2.

Gordon MacWilliams, Calgary, defeated W. Lanman, Columbus, Ohio, 3 and 1.

Fred Wood, Vancouver, defeated Don Carrick, Scarborough, Toronto, 37th hole.

Jack Cuthbert, Edmonton, defeated Cecil Coville, Vancouver, 2 and 1.

D. Clarke Corkran, Nobla, Pa., defeated Norman M. Scott, Royal Montreal, 5 and 3.

Fred G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, Toronto, defeated Jack Fraser, Vancouver, 2 and 1.

Gardiner White, New York, defeated A. A. Weir, Winnipeg, 5 and 4.

The stellar games of this round were those between Don Carrick, twice Canadian Amateur Champion, and Fred Wood, and Eddie Held and M. W. Forrest, runner-up in the U.S. Intercollegiate Championship, and Gordon MacWilliams and W. Lanman.

Two of these matches went to extra holes, that between Held and his fellow-countryman to the 39th, and Carrick and Wood to the 37th. It looked as though "Held had lost his hold" entirely on the Championship when Forrest was dormy two at the 34th hole, after a gruelling struggle, and the owner of his ticket promptly offered to sell out his chances in the pool for $25 (eventually it netted him some $1700) with no takers. But Forrest cracked. He developed a nasty slice off the tee, to allow Held to square the match on the 36th. The 37th was halved and then on the 38th it looked as though the captain of the Yale University golf team was to nose out a victory but Held rising really to supreme putting heights sank a very tricky eleven footer for a par 4 and once again secured a half. As a result of another poor tee shot, the 5th in succession, Forrest became hopelessly entangled in a fringe of trees going to the 3rd hole or the 39th of the homeric struggle and Held with a four easily ended the hard-fought match. He deserved to win because for five holes in a row he had to display bulldog tenacity to shake off the young Yale athlete, whose lack of experience eventually undoubtedly was his undoing.

The greatest rally of the day was staged by Gordon MacWilliams against Lanman. The latter was six up at the end of the morning round, but in the afternoon he could win but one hole, the fourteenth. MacWilliams's second round was the most brilliant of the Tournament. He was out in 32, two under par, and this gave him wins at the first, third, seventh, eighth and ninth.

This enabled him to make the turn only one down and he kept up his winning streak by winning the tenth, eleventh and twelfth, a string of six successive holes, which made him two up. The thirteenth was halved, Lanman won the fourteenth and the fifteenth was split. MacWilliams then came through with wins on the sixteenth and seventeenth to annex the match, 3 and 1. They played out the home hole and MacWilliams missed a short putt for his four, turning in a par 70 for the round. Great golf by a great young golfer. Lanman, who was runner-up to Somerville last year at Montreal in the Championship, was a serious menace. The rangy young Calgarian was quite the hero of the second round and deservedly so, too. He comes of a celebrated golfing family, but none of his brothers have ever done anything quite so brilliant as that second round of Gordon's at Jasper.

Freddie Wood, of Vancouver, was two down to Don Carrick at the end of the morning round but that did not seem to bother this well poised young player very much. He played sterling golf in the afternoon to square the match at the 36th and then on the extra 37th proceeded to calmly sink a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 and the match. Wood seems to have a penchant for knocking out champions.

If he keeps it up he will soon be a champion himself and on the form shown at Jasper he deserves to be one and that soon.

Cecil Coville, who took Somerville into camp, faded out of the picture when he encountered the finish Scottish-Canadian player, Jack Cuthbert, of Edmonton, formerly of Winnipeg, a winner of some ten Western Open and Amateur Championships. He went out to the tune of 2 and 1, after putting up a game struggle.

Three Westerners, three United States and only two Eastern players earned the right to enter the third round of the most sparkling Amateur Championship ever staged in Canada. And this is how they fared:—

Eddie Held, New York, defeated Frank Thompson, Mississauga, Toronto, 12 and 11.

Fred J. Wood, Vancouver Country Club, defeated Gordon MacWilliams, Bowness, Calgary, 7 and 6.

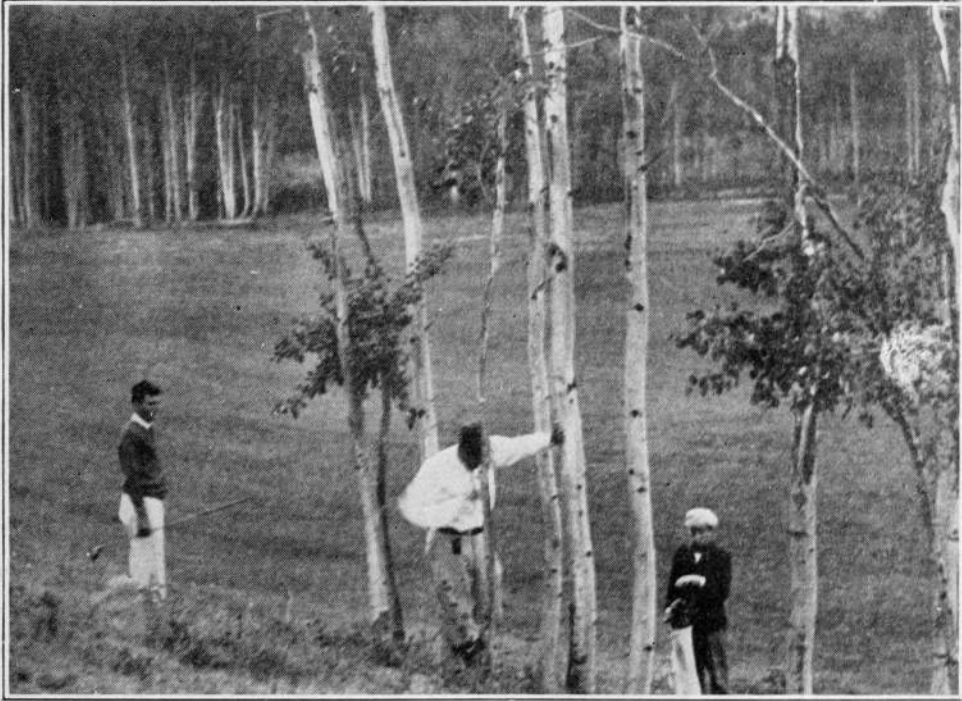

D. Clarke, Corkran, Noble, Pa., defeated Jack Cuthbert, Edmonton, 4 and 3.

Gardiner White, New York, defeated Fred G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, Toronto, one up.

Frank Thompson, the last of the former Canadian amateur champions to survive and generally looked upon as Canada's final hope, was distinctly off his game and Held now installed a warm favourite had no difficulty in accounting for the Mississaugan. Out in 35 and home in 35 in the morning, the New Yorker established the commanding lead of 10 holes. Continuing to play par golf in the afternoon the unequal struggle came to an end on the 25th green.

Of the 25 holes played in the match, Held won 13, lost one and halved seven. His wins were on the second, fifth, sixth, seventh, ninth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth in the morning, and on the first and sixth in the afternoon.

23rd the Lambtonian proceeded to stage a great comeback later on in the afternoon and with a slight break of luck he might have entered the semi-finals. At the 34th he was two down. He, however, won the 35th. He had much the better drive at the home hole and he looked like squaring

A particularly interesting photograph taken at the 3rd hole or the 39th of the match showing Forrest studying how to play his ball on to the fairway from a clump of birch trees which he sliced into from the tee. On the left, Eddie Held, who won the hole and the match.

Wood, the sensation of the championship, also found MacWilliams had more or less shot his bolt the day before in defeating Lanman in such a sensational manner. He accounted for the Calgary expert rather easily, although in the morning round he was playing par golf or better to establish an early and commanding lead. The match ran out at the 30th hole with Woods 7 up and 6 to play.

The game of this third round, always one of the most crucial of a championship, was unquestionably that between Gardiner White and F. G. Hoblitzel. Three down at the end of the 18th and five to the bad on the the match but White played a brilliant iron to the green, 15 feet from the pin, but Hobby responded with a similar shot but was away by inches after a measure. He overran the cup five feet with his first putt, while White was two feet short. The Lambton player holed his putt for a four, but White made the shorter one for a half and the match. It was a great finish. White had a morning round of 71 and that tells the tale.

of 36 holes six days on end and edge. A bundle of muscles and nerves, he lasted well at Jasper and has every reason to be proud of the fact that he reached the last eight in the classiest field ever seen in a Canadian Amateur. He went down to defeat to "Ducky" Corkran but with colours flying. Cuthbert has done more for golf in the Middle West than any other man. He is a stylist and many a young Westerner has to thank him for first inculcating in him the love of the game. And what is more, instructing him in and laying the foundations of a sure and sound game.

And so on the fifth day of this fateful championship a lone young Canadian with very little tournament experience, which is absolutely essential when it comes down to the acid test of a major final in golf, was left to uphold the golfing honours of the Dominion. The semi-finals saw Held and White, of New York, Corkran, of Philadelphia, and Wood, of Vancouver, left to fight it out for the right to play on the last day for the title.

Wood during the week had shown that he was possessed of a sound game and a golfing temperament that left nothing to be desired but even the most optimistic had little hope that he could come through to the final against such an experienced golfer as Held, more especially as the New Yorker for days had indubitably been playing the best game of his career. As a matter of fact, the only championships of note he has ever won are the Public Links Championship, the first time it was played, in Toledo in 1922, and later on the Trans-Mississippi Championship. The ranking given him by the United States Golf Association this year is No. 16. A good rating, of course, which he may improve upon next year, although his showing in the recent U.S. Amateur Championship, where he was simply crushed by Cyril Tolley, the British Amateur Champion, was anything but impressive.

As a result of three experienced American golfers being pitted against one more or less inexperienced Canadian it was generally predicted that Saturday would see an all-American final. And so it proved.

Wood put up a gallant fight against Held and only went down to defeat by a 2 and 1 margin, which must be accounted a remarkably fine performance. In the morning they were all square. Held won the first hole of the afternoon round, and after losing the second won the third to take the lead, and he held it until the eighth, when he ran into lots of trouble, taking a six to Wood's four. The next two holes were halved, but Wood appeared to falter on the 29th and 30th, losing both when he was short. Wood came back to win the long 31st and the match became a grim affair when the next two holes were halved.

At the 34th Held had all the breaks and even his most ardent supporter admitted that fact. Wood had a fine shot from the tee. Held, playing his second shot, was too strong, the ball heading for the rough and rocks when it struck a woman spectator and dropped short of the rocks giving the New Yorker a good chance to play his 3rd shot dead to the pin, which he did. Winning the hole he was dormy 2. The 35th hole was split and Held emerged the victor over his opponent 2 up and 1 to go. The young Vancouverite during the week won golden opinions alike from the players and the hundreds who watched him in his various matches. "Unheralded and unsung" he came to Jasper. He left there virtually the uncrowned young golfing king of Canada.

As was generally anticipated, in the lower half White was too much for his younger fellow countryman, Corkran. He has a happy faculty of playing a sparkling morning round and with a 71 established the commanding lead of 4 holes up at lunch time. "Ducky" made a valiant effort to square the match in the afternoon but he, too, like Wood, had to shake hands at the 34th hole and the two New Yorkers went on to the finals both by 2 and 1 margins.

So for the first time in the 33 years of the history of the Canadian Amateur, two Americans fought it out for titular honours. Twice have they figured in the finals but were beaten. In 1914, the last championship before the war, George S. Lyon at Ottawa decisively accounted for Bruce S. Evans, of Boston, and last year Somerville defeated Lanman. Neither of these players, however, had anything like the reputation or standing of this year's finalists.

The absence of a Canadian player unquestionably militated against the interest in the final struggle but a large, enthusiastic and impartial gallery followed the last 36 holes of the 216 played during championship week by Messrs. White and Held. The latter has been several times a visitor to Canada the past few years at St. Andrews, N.B., and now at Jasper Park, where he and his family have had a cottage for some weeks. Extremely well liked, there is no question that it would have been a very popular win if he had annexed the Canadian Championship, more especially as, though he has had the past twenty years scores of golfing trophies to his credit, he has never won an International Championship.

However, as was generally predicted, Held, the younger player, had the slight edge on his doughty but older opponent. He had though to play one of his best games of the week to eventually come home the winner by a 3 and 2 margin. It was a great finish to a great Tournament. Jasper certainly made golfing history the last golden August days of 1929.

Darling Wins Western Canadian Championship

The Canadian Amateur was not the only stellar event at Jasper. During the week the Western Canada Amateur Championship was also run off and provoked a great deal of interest as automatically players defeated in the Canadian Amateur went into this Championship which therefore took on an International complexion before it was completed. There were some thrilling matches staged in this interesting event. One of the best was that between two former champions, Don Carriek and C. C. Fraser, which went to five extra holes before Carriek emerged the victor only, however, in the afternoon to be defeated by W. K. Lanman, of Columbus, Ohio, runner-up last year to Ross Somerville, who, by the way, scratched in this Western competition. Norman Scott, playing fine golf, reached the final eight by defeating young Coville, of Vancouver, the conqueror of Ross Somerville. Scott defaulted in the next round, however.

Harry Shaw, the young Edmonton expert, playing fine golf eventually reached the final by defeating Lanman 4 and 3. A. B. Darling, of the Whitlock Golf Club, Montreal, had been going great guns in the other bracket and he, too, reached the final after defeating Jack Cuthbert in the semi-finals, ending a most exciting match by 1 up.

The game between Darling and Shaw was of a ding-dong and uninteresting character in the morning, Darling being 2 up at lunch time. In the afternoon, however, the Montrealer, playing extremely well, reeled off hole after hole in par or near-par, and as a result, in the third nine-hole round Darling won seven holes and halved two to find himself in the comfortable position of being dormy nine. Shaw won the 28th hole but the end came at the 29th with a clean-cut victory for the Whitlock representative by 9 and 7. Thus for the first time in its history the Western Canada Amateur Championship comes East. Darling played sterling golf throughout the championship and well deserved to annex titular honours. He has for the past two or three years figured prominently in Quebec amateur golf. J. A. Mountfield, of Edmonton, was the 1928 champion.

The Presentation of Prizes

Immediately after the final in the two championships the numerous prizes were presented to the winners on the lawn in front of the picturesque main building at the Park. The setting was a particularly pretty one, as the lawn is surrounded by a wealth of flowers and shrubs with the blue waters of the lake in the background completing a perfect picture. The presentations were made by Mr. Charles E. Harvey, of Winnipeg, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, and Mr. C. W. Jackson, president of the Western Canada Golf Association, and also an executive of the R. C. G. A. They were assisted by Major Wilson, of Hamilton, president of the R.C.G.A. in 1928. Mr. Norman Scott, Montreal, member of the R. C. G. A. executive, Mr. A. J. Hills, of the C. N. R., Montreal, Mr. B. L. Anderson, Toronto, secretary of the R.C.G.A., and Mr. Innes Mackenzie, Winnipeg, secretary of the C. W. G. A.

Both Messrs. Harvey and Jackson, who, throughout the week, were unflagging in their efforts to make the championships so successful, referred in most appreciative terms to the wonderful co-operation they had all received from the officials of the Canadian National Railways and from the staff at Jasper Park, both in the club house and on the course. Clever little speeches were made by the newly crowned amateur champion, "Eddie" Held, "Ducky" Corkran, and other of the prize winners. Held was cheered to the echo when he announced that he was coming back next year to defend his title and therefore would leave the Earl Grey Gold Cup in the custody of the R. C. G. A. instead of taking it home with him.

Many Prominent Newspaper Men Attend

The most representative party of pressmen ever to attend a Canadian Championship was present at Jasper and as a result the event received the greatest publicity both in Canada and the States ever accorded the event.

The journalists travelled by special car over the C. N. R. to Jasper and throughout the trip were under the "sheltering wing" of Mr. C. J. Harratty, of the Publicity Department of the C.N.R., Montreal. He certainly was a perfect host. Mr. Walter J. Thompson, Montreal, Director of Publicity, was also a welcome visitor at Jasper for a day or so and assisted in the entertainment of the members of the Fourth Estate. The party consisted of:—

never will be equalled on Jasper's beautiful links. "Birdies", "eagles" and "bears" were recorded at nearly every hole and the amateur champion, Eddie Held, himself would have had a hard time to equal some of the scores handed in. Out of the stress and storm of a grimly fought Tournament

Quite one of the journalistic features of a most memorable week was the dinner given to the press by the C. N. R., presided over in the happiest kind of manner by Mr. J. Gill Gardner, of Brockville, Ont., a director of the C. N. R. and a prince of good fellows. He certainly has the happy faculty of making everything go with "a swing and follow through" which leaves nothing to be desired.

Many clever little speeches were contributed during the dinner by several of the leading U. S. and Canadian pressmen, all of whom paid unbounded and sincere tribute to the beauties of Jasper and its sporting championship course.

Still another interesting and enjoyable event was staged for the visiting journalists. The day after the championships the C. N. R. was host at a golf tournament in their honour. The brand of golf uncorked on this occasion has never been equalled and the following proudly emerged the victors:—

Bruce Boreham, Winnipeg Tribune; R. H. Parson, Montreal Star; Arthur Dingman, Vancouver Province; Webster Knowles, Toronto Evening Telegram, and C. W. MacQueen, Toronto Mail and Empire (who got a special prize for his abilities as the greatest left-hander in captivity).

On their way home, the "newsboys" stayed over at Winnipeg, where they were entertained at the St. Charles Golf Club most delightfully by Mr. Bruce Boreham, of the Winnipeg Tribune. Here Mr. Hanratty was worthily honoured when he was presented with a handsome silver flask, suitably inscribed (and filled) as a slight token of the appreciation of the members of the party which he had shepherded so faithfully and well during the five thousand mile or so trip which will always remain a fragrant memory with the participants.

A FOURSOME OF FOUR PRESIDENTS—PAST AND PRESENT

AN INTERESTING foursome took place on Saturday, the 7th September, 1929, among president and past presidents of Cedar Brook Golf Club, on the links of the club at Scarborough, near Toronto, Mr. McDougall and Mr. Edmonds defeating Mr. Ilsley and Mr. King in spite of the fact that Mr. King substituted a powder ball for Mr. Edmonds on the first tee.

The untiring efforts of these gentlemen during the past few years, coupled with the assistance of active Boards of Directors, have been largely instrumental in making Cedar Brook one of the outstanding clubs in the district. It is admitted freely by all who know them that the greens, built by Greenkeeper

Some of the holes are perfect golfing holes and test the skill of the most experienced players. Nature has favoured Cedar Brook. The property, consisting of 160 acres, lends itself to all that can be desired by golfers—variety and beauty.

The wisdom of the policy adopted by the early Directors, and followed to this day of finishing the course first, is quite apparent.

An interesting fact is that this Club has almost reached a state of completion without a single assessment being levied on the members—an accomplishment to be proud of. In May, 1924, (about two years after formation) the "Canadian Golfer" predicted that Cedar Brook had all the hall-marks of a most successful golf club. In this it was right.

The membership is now 490 and it is said that no other club has a greater spirit of bon comradship amongst its members.

The course is 6,563 yards and the par 70. The officers are:—

Past presidents, John J. Gibson, George R. McDougall, Isaac Ilsley, George E. Edmonds; president, Arthur E. King; vice-president, T. W. Learie; Hon. treasurer, Jos. Sedgewick; directors, F. A. Duffort, Jas. H. Hewitt, W. T. H.

QUEBEC FATHER AND SON TOURNAMENT

ONE of the most interesting fixtures of the Quebec Golf Association this season was the Pater et Filii Tournament, most successfully staged at the Marlborough Golf Club, Montreal, Saturday, September 14th. There was a record entry of "dads and boys".

After being deadlocked with 172 at the conclusion of the 18 holes with J. I. Rankin and his son, Colin, of Beaconsfield, Gordon McAthey, of Kanawaki, Montreal, brilliant young holder of the Quebec Amateur Championship, and his father, T. H. McAthey, in the play-off won out but had to go two extra holes to decide the championship against the hard-hitting and hard-fighting Rankins.

The other prize winners in this unique tournament were:—

Best combined nett, Dr. J. H. Laidley and W. Laidley, Marlborough, 142; second best combined nett, S. W. Tilden and S. F. Tilden, Marlborough, 148; best nett among fathers, R. Osborne, Rawdon Heights, 72; best nett among sons, E. Latulipe, Laval, 69.

MRS. R. H. HORNE WINS ALTA. CHAMPIONSHIP

Leading Edmonton Player Convincingly Annexes Both Qualifying Round and the Championship.

TURNING in some sparkling golf in the morning round of the scheduled 36-hole final for the ladies' championship of Alberta, played over the course of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, Edmonton, Alberta, Mrs. Roy Horne, of Edmonton, had sufficient left in the afternoon to win over Miss Peggy Armour, Jasper, on the twenty-seventh hole by the convincing score of 10 up and 9 to play.

The victory gave Mrs. Horne her third title of the present year, as she had previously won championship of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club and also annexed the title at the Municipal Links.

Mrs. Horne also won low medallist honours of the championship with the fine card of 86. In second place was Miss A. Mountifield, another well known Edmonton player.

A field of 65 teed-up for the championship, comprising all the leading players of Alberta. It was a thoroughly successful tournament throughout.

In addition to Mrs. Horne, winner of the championship and qualifying round, many other interesting events were decided during the week.

In the Ladies' Annual Handicap competition, Mrs. J. A. McKinnon was the winner, with Mrs. H. M. Martin runner-up.

Mrs. A. E. Flood and Mrs. Chapman were the winners in the foursome handicap, while Mrs. J. R. Henley and Miss Peggy Armour, of Jasper, were runners-up.

In the team match, which is composed of four ladies from associated clubs, "A" team of the Municipal Golf Course was the successful entry. The team is composed of Miss May Mountifield, Miss Agnes Mountifield, Mrs. R. H. Horne, Miss Greta Muir.

Miss Mary McIvor was the winner in the flag competition, while Mrs. Delbert MacFarlane was runner-up.

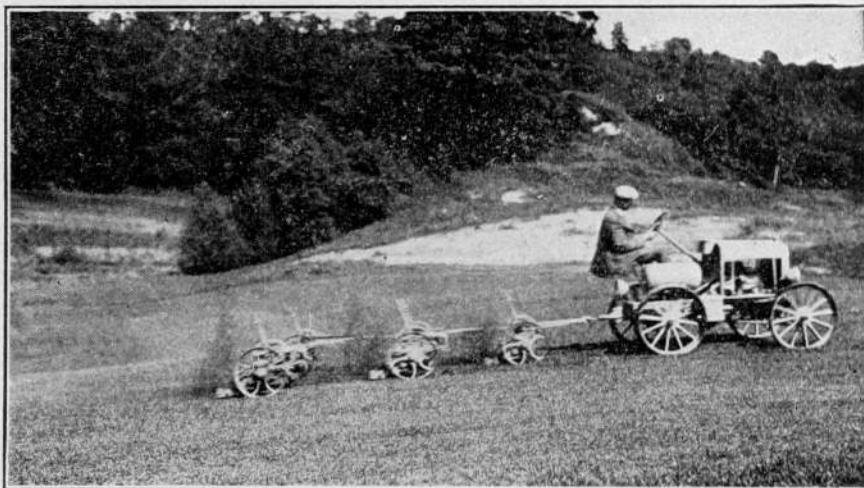

In the putting and approaching competition, Mrs. J. T. Gray, of Calgary, was the successful entry.

The best score in the qualifying round was turned in by Mrs. R. H. Horne.

The long driving competition was won by Miss N. Colville, with a drive of 183 yards into the wind.

The winners in the putting competitions, which were held every day, are Mrs. E. C.

The prize presented by Mrs. R. J. Henley to the player who turned in the most cards for handicapping purposes, was won by Mrs. D. M. Maclean.

Presentation of prizes took place at the club house immediately following the completion of the championship game. Mrs. J. R. Henley, of Edmonton, made the presentations, assisted by Mrs. J. A. McKinnon.

Much credit for the success of the first annual tournament of the Alberta Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union is due to the executive and committee in charge. Members of the retiring executive are: Mrs. J. R. Henley, president; Mrs. J. Leslie Bell, of Calgary, vice-president; Mrs. A. Blair Paterson, secretary-treasurer; Miss Janet Sparrow, of Calgary, pars committee; Miss Mary Patrick, of Calgary, handicap committee; Mrs. J. A. McKinnon, Mrs. W. A. Griesbach, and Mrs. George Beart, executive. Members of the tournament committee were: Mrs. H. M. E. Evans, Miss Ethel Egbert, Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, Miss G. Muir, Mrs. H. Nash, Mrs. R. Ghiselin, Mrs. Harvey Day, Mrs. T. E. Fletcher, Mrs. C. V. Jamieson, Mrs. F. B. Tapley, Miss N. Cox, Mrs. R. H. Horne, Mrs. W. O. Farquharson, Mrs. A. E. Flood, Mrs. F. H. Patzig, Mrs. J. R. N. Cooke, Mrs. E. C. May, Mrs. Egerton Pope, Mrs. E. C. Perry, Mrs. I. W. T. MeEachern, Mrs. J. R. Benson, Mrs. N. C. Legge, Miss M. Mountifield, Mrs. J. G. Savage, Mrs. W. C. Laidlaw, Mrs. H. M. Martin, Mrs. A. Patteson, Miss E. Carver, Miss A. Bain, Mrs. J. B. Starky, Mrs. H. Hawe, Mrs. S. A. Maddocks, and Mrs. D. N. Maclean.

Miss Mary Patrick, of Calgary, is the new president of the Alberta Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, it was announced at the annual meeting of the Union held at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, following the annual dinner. Other officers for the coming year are: Mrs. J. A. McKinnon, vice-president; Mrs. Norman Hindsley, of Calgary, secretary; Miss May Mountifield, Edmonton, chairman of the pars committee; Mrs. J. T. Gray, of Calgary, chairman of the handicap committee.

Mrs. J. Reginald Henley, retiring president of the Alberta Branch of the C.L.G.U., presided at the meeting. Mrs. Henley pronounced the tournament a wonderful success, the largest of any women's tournament ever held in Western Canada. The success was the result not only of an excellent committee in charge, but also of the fact that the golfers themselves came forward and entered all the events. Mrs. Henley also thanked the various clubs of Edmonton and their members who had helped to make the tournament a success.

On behalf of the golfers, Mrs. J. R. Benson, presented Mrs. Henley, who is leaving shortly for Vancouver, where she will reside, with a beautiful travelling case.

The secretary's report given by Mrs. A. Blair Paterson, retiring secretary, showed ten golf clubs in Alberta affiliated with the C.L.G.U., and a substantial balance for the year financially.

An invitation from Bowness Golf and Country Club, Calgary, for the 1930 C.L.G.U. tournament was accepted.

ONTARIO JUNIOR GIRLS' TOURNAMENT

Is Won by Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, the Championship Consolation by Miss Margaret Gordon, Brantford, and First Flight by Miss Muriel Bostwick, Hamilton.

THE third Ontario Junior Girls' Championship at the Toronto Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club this month did not attract such a large field as last year, but the entrants embraced all the leading young golfers of the Province and some really brilliant golf was witnessed during the week.

With a capital card of 50-42-92, Miss Eileen Carrick, of Sault Ste. Marie, champion of Northern Ontario, led the Qualifying Field. Back of her two strokes was Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, the 1928 champion. Another favourite, Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, was in 3rd place with 96. The following were the results of the Championship rounds:—First round:—

Eileen Carrick, Sault Ste. Marie, defeated Mary Armstrong, Hamilton, 9 and 7.

Edna Cumming, Islington, defeated Audrey Graham, Scarborough, at 19th hole.

Roselma Lake, The Briars, defeated Evelyn Hart, Hamilton, 6 and 5.

Eileen Williamson, The Briars, defeated Eldred Plaxton, Eastbourne, 6 and 5.

Mary Donald, Burlington, defeated Marion Wallace, Thornhill, 5 and 4.

Douglas McIlwraith, Hamilton, defeated Grace Beatty, Rosedale, 7 and 5.

Mary Hunter, Glendale, defeated Margaret Gordon, Brantford, 4 and 2.

Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines, defeated Eleanor Williams, Ladies' Club, 5 and 4.

Second round:—

Edna Cumming, Islington, defeated Eileen Carrick, Sault Ste. Marie, 4 and 3.

Roselma Lake, The Briars, defeated Eileen Williamson, The Briars, 3 and 2.

Mary Donald, Burlington, defeated Douglas McIlwraith, Hamilton, 7 and 6.

Mary Hunter, Glendale, defeated Winnifred Robinson, St. Catharines, one up.

Semi-finals:—

Roselma Lake, The Briars, defeated Edna Cumming, Islington, 5 and 4.

Mary Donald, Burlington, defeated Mary Hunter, Glendale, 4 and 2.

Final:—Miss Mary Donald defeated Miss Roselma Lake, 3 and 2.

Miss Donald, who is a most promising young player, was in fine form throughout the championship and well deserved to win titular honours.

There were a number of interesting matches in the Championship Consolation and in the First Flight event. The former was won by Miss Margaret Gordon, of Brantford, who only recently took up the game. Miss Margaret, who should be heard from in the future, defeated in the final at the 19th hole Miss Audrey Graham, of Scarborough. In the First Flight Miss Muriel Bostwick, Hamilton, another very promising young player, defeated in the final Miss M. Gibson, of Hamilton.

The following is the prize list in this interesting Tournament:—

Champion, Miss Mary Donald, Burlington; runner-up, Miss Roselma Lake, The Briars. Championship consolation, Miss Margaret Gordon, Brantford; runner-up, Miss Audrey Graham, Scarborough. First flight winner, Miss Muriel Bostwick, Hamilton; runner-up, Miss M. Gibson, Eastbourne. Longest drive, Miss Audrey Graham (189 yards), Scarborough; 3 longest drives, Miss W. Robinson (511 yards), St. Catharines. Approaching and putting, Miss Grace Beatty, Rosedale. Best gross score (92), Miss Eileen Carrick, Sault Ste. Marie. Semi-finalists, Miss E. Cumming, Islington, Miss Mary Hunter, Glendale.

Miss Ada Mackenzie was delighted with the results of the championship and the improved play of many of the young girls, who, as she very well states, are the future hope for Canadian ladies' golf. The course of the Ladies' Club was in superb shape for this fascinating championship.

Entries this year were restricted to clubs with membership in the C.L.G.U. Next year it is expected the championship will be thrown open to all clubs, thus materially adding to the number of entries.

WINDSOR PARK CLUB HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

THE exceedingly pretty club house of the Windsor Park Golf Club, Winnipeg (a course conducted under the auspices of the Public Parks Board of Winnipeg) was burned to the ground on the morning of August 24th. Mr. J. H. Blackwood, Secretary of the Parks Board, who has done so much for public golf in Winnipeg, writes:—

"The fire started sometime between 3.00 and 3.30 a.m., but no information is available at the present time inasmuch as no one lived on the premises. A thorough investigation is being made to determine whether or not the fire was caused by incendiarism or by defective wiring, or from some other cause.

Windsor Park Golf Club House destroyed by fire. This photo was taken just after the building was erected and does not do it justice. Lawns, shrubbery and flowers in profusion had recently made a beauty spot of the surroundings.

"The club house was perhaps one of the best buildings of its kind on the Continent and was spoken of very highly by residents and visitors alike. It is most unfortunate inasmuch as we have been having a record season with an average of 252 players each day since the opening on the 15th April.

"The building and contents were practically fully covered by insurance, but the inconvenience and dislocation of business is annoying, although on Saturday we had 241 players and on Sunday 356. More would have played but for the fact that their clubs were burned. We estimate that 130 sets of clubs were burned with the club house.

"Arrangements have been made for the erection of a temporary building which will be opened by Wednesday, the 28th."

It is understood that the Parks Board has already made arrangements to see that the club house will rise phoenix-like from its ashes bigger and better than ever.

WINS NOVA SCOTIA CHAMPIONSHIP

GEORGE P. LAIDLAW, of the Gorsebrook Club, Halifax, was crowned king of Nova Scotia golfers this month after he completed the 72 holes in the Provincial Championship play in 340, 16 strokes under the score of his nearest opponent, Nesbitt Ross, the youthful New Glasgow player, who was runner-up with a gross score of 356. The event was held on the interesting course of the Lingan course, Sydney, N.S., and was marked by a fine field of entrants from all parts of Nova Scotia.

Following the conclusion of play the prizes were presented to the winners by Judge Crowe, who bespoke for the members of the Lingan Club sympathy for the Meilke brothers, the famous Halifax players, in the loss of their father. Mr. Laidlaw, the new champion, replied on behalf of the Brightwood Club players and sympathy for the bereaved family was also expressed by other speakers.

The prizes were presented to the winners as follows:—

George P. Laidlaw, Gorsebrook Club, Halifax, 340, Halifax Herald Shield, emblematic of the championship and a special prize of a silver service, presented on behalf of the Lingan Country Club. Nesbitt Ross, New Glasgow, runner-up, gross 356, silver pitcher. O. P. Stensrud, Sydney, lowest nett, 295, silver cocktail shaker. Bill Kelley, Sydney, runner-up, lowest nett, 301, silver pitcher. A. H. Creighton, Halifax, sealed hole contest, first day, 2 boxes cigarettes. Bill Kelley, sealed hole, second day, 2 boxes cigarettes. Gerald Meilke, long driving on No. 4 hole, 280 yards, pewter stein. G. P. Laidlaw, birdies, first day, 2 boxes cigars. J. Neville, Dominion, birdies, second day, 2 boxes cigars. J. Murphy, Halifax, accuracy on No. 9, 23 feet, 10 inches—2 boxes cigars. O. P. Stensrud, best nett score for handicaps of twenty and up, 2 boxes cigars.

JOHNSTON WINS THE U. S. AMATEUR

Jones, the Incomparable, is Beaten the First Round. Fine Showing by Cyril Tolley, British Amateur Champion.

THE defeat of Bobby Jones so early in the U.S. Amateur Championship at Pebble Beach, California, this month, has temporarily brought to an end possibly the most brilliant career in the history of the game. So confident were his hosts of admirers that he would again win the event that thousands of dollars were wagered on him at Pebble Beach against the whole field. But the great Georgian was snuffed out by a mere youth (20-year-old Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, Neb.) and for the first time in his brilliant career was, after the first round, relegated to the gallery.

It is perhaps in the best interests of golf that Jones was dethroned. It is a bad thing for any sport, for one man or one woman year after year to dominate it. His prestige was so great that generally speaking his opponent was licked before he left the first tee. Jones will undoubtedly come back, but he has received a rude jolt which may even affect his wonderful golfing temperament. In the realms of the Royal and Ancient, Miss Joyce Wethered, the outstanding Englishwoman, generally acknowledged the world's greatest woman golfer, now remains the only undefeated champion. She has won every championship in which she has entered since 1922. And that is easily a record.

The final in the championship between Jimmie Johnston, the well known St. Paul amateur, and Dr. O. F. Willing, won by the former, was one of the most interesting in the history of the U.S. stellar event. Johnston is not known at all in Canadian golfing circles. Willing, dubbed "the battling dentist", is, however. He has frequently competed in British Columbia events and once was a visitor to Toronto, playing Lambton and one or two other courses in that city.

A regrettable feature in the final, which was won by Johnston, 4 and 3, was the rather hostile attitude all through by the gallery to Dr. Willing, who is, unfortunately, a slow and deliberative player and that kind of play does not appeal to the followers of the game.

Neither the two Canadian entrants, Ross Somerville and Don Carrick, qualified to play off for the championship. On their showing for the week previous at the Canadian Championship at Jasper Park this was rather expected. Neither just now are registering the game they are really capable of playing.

All three of the visiting Britishers, Cyril Tolley, British Amateur Champion, T. A. Bourn, French Amateur Champion, and E. F. Storey, of Cambridge, qualified for the championship and Tolley quite distinguished himself the first round at match play by decisively defeating Eddie Held, of New York, fresh from winning the Canadian Amateur at Jasper Park, by the decisive margin of 7 and 6. The big Britisher by playing par golf then proceeded to eliminate Fay Coleman by the crushing margin of 8 and 6 and it was generally conceded that he was headed for the final. However, in the third round he ran across the slow and rather irritating Dr. Willing and went down to defeat by a 4 and 3 margin.

There were record galleries and the holding of a U.S. Amateur Championship for the first time in California was a distinct success and thoroughly justified, notwithstanding that it was a "Jonesless" championship. There is no question that the tens of thousands of golfing enthusiasts who visited the Pebble Beach course during championship week would like to have seen a "Jones-Tolley" wind-up.

YOUNG GORDON McATHEY

In a Large and Representative Field Wins the Amateur Championship of Quebec, Defeating in the Play-off Jack Cowans, Another Young Montreal Player.

TWO promising young golfers of Montreal, Jack Cowans, of the Royal Montreal, and T. Gordon McAthey, of the Kanawaki Golf Club, showed their heels to a strong field on Sept. 7th in the Province of Quebec Amateur Golf Championship at Laval-sur-le-Lac, Montreal. There was a record entrant of 140 players, including three former Canadian Amateur champions, but Cowans and McAthey with scores of 154 headed the pack. Close behind them with 155 were G.

B. Taylor, Summerlea, and W. McLuckie, who carded 155. In the play-off for third position, McLuckie defeated Taylor and added another trophy to his already lengthy list.

The officials of the Quebec Golf Association decided that a sudden-death verdict was not commensurable with the importance of the Quebec Amateur Championship and therefore decided and wisely so, too, that the leaders who had tied should play off on the following Monday at 18 holes medal play at Laval. This resulted in Gordon McAthey, who is 20 years old, winning the championship, he defeating Cowans 78 to 81.

The large field, a record for any championship event under the jurisdiction of the P.Q.G.A., necessitated the first pair leaving the first tee at 7.30 in the morning. Despite the early start, however, the last to come in in the evening were forced to play in such darkness that it was almost impossible to see the ball.

The four-man team championship event, in which teams from eight clubs were entered, which was played in conjunction with the amateur tourney, was won by the Kanawaki quartette of C. C. Fraser, McAthey, McLuckie and G. M. Somerville, whose aggregate gross total was 632, one stroke better than Summerlea, who won the runner-up position. Royal Montreal took third place in this event with a score of 635.

The prize for best nett in the handicap competition was won by W. G. Fenwick, of Summerlea, whose 159-28—131 topped A. A. Haggerty, of Hampstead, who took second place, by a four-stroke margin. Third place was captured by A. Savard, of Laval, with 159-22—137. The prize for best gross in this event was won by J. W. Meloche, of Marlborough, while the 18-hole nett award went to George Salter, of Marlborough, and the 18-hole gross to J. P. Levee, of Elm Ridge.

The prize for the best nett score in the championship competition was won by Robert Cowans, of Royal Montreal, with a score of 158-18—140. The award for the best 18-hole gross went to W. D. Taylor, of Summerlea, while the best 18-hole nett was taken by R. MacKenzie, of Marlborough.

Good scores in the championship besides those of the leaders already mentioned were:—C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, 156; W. M. Hodgson, Royal Montreal, 156; Robert Cowans, Royal Montreal, 158; C. Villiers, Summerlea, 158; Jack Cameron, Rivermead, 158; J. O. Cleghorn, Marlborough, 159; R. B. Shaw, Kanawaki, 159; E. A. Innes, Rosemont, 160; E. W. Elton, Summerlea, 160; W. D. Taylor, Summerlea, 160.

Altogether the most successful Amateur Championship ever held in the Province of Quebec.

THE COSTS OF RUNNING CHAMPIONSHIPS

THE majority of entrants to a major championship, either amateur or professional, appreciating as they do the smooth running of the event, little realize the amount of work and money that is entailed some times months before in successfully catering to their wants both as regards course and club house conditions.

It is understood for instance that a club which sometimes after keen competition is awarded a championship in the States, expends anywhere in the neighbourhood of $20,000 or so, to take care of a national event. There is no question at Jasper Park last month the Canadian National Railways, the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the Canadian Western Association had to dig quite deep down in their financial pockets in order to guarantee the smooth running of these dual events.

But this, all said and done, was a mere bagatelle compared to the grooming of the Pebble Beach course, California, where the U.S. Amateur was recently held. In addition to tens of thousands of dollars spent in bringing the course up to super-championship calibre, it is on record that 50 chief marshalls were pressed into service, 300 marshalls, 50 fore-caddies, 300 miscellaneous employees, 50 messengers and 50 ticket sellers, a total of 800 persons. A big championship to-day is a heavy drain on any club sponsoring it but such an event draws the crowds and to that extent reimburses in some degree in money and reputation the city, association and club sponsoring it.

WITH THE PROFESSIONALS

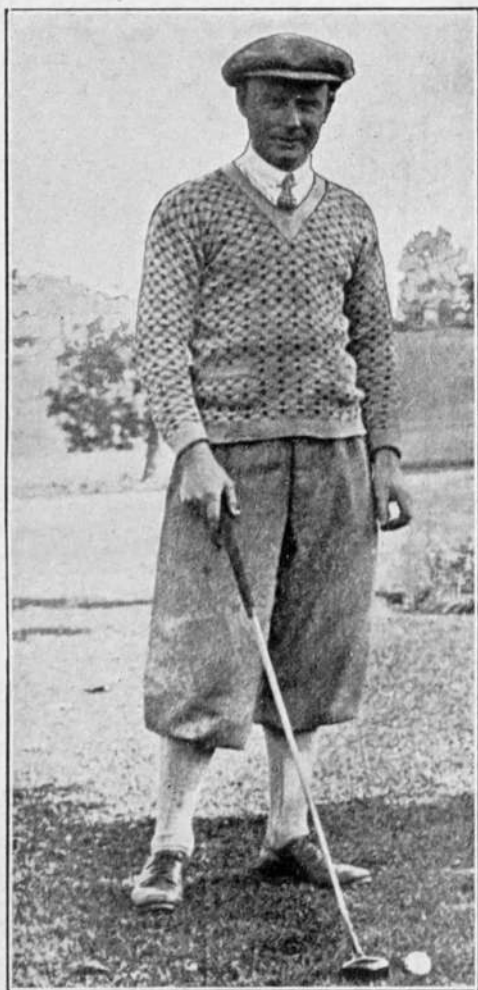

Interesting News of the Men Who Do So Much for the Royal and Ancient Game, from Coast to Coast

AUBREY BOOMER, the British professional, has an uncanny habit of hanging up cards in the sixties. It will be remembered that a month or so ago in the French Open Championship he carded one round of 61 at St. Cloud, a course over 6400 yards, easily a world's record.

Recently he won the Evian Course Professional Tournament, 36 holes, with the remarkable score of 130, made up of a 67 and a 63. This game of golf is getting altogether too easy. Instead of enlarging the size of the hole from the regulation $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches to $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches, as is being strongly urged in many quarters, if the experts continue to make even championship courses look easy, it will be perhaps necessary in addition to making the ball larger and lighter, to lop off the odd quarter of an inch and standardize the hole at an even four inches. Such a reduction, slight as it may seem, would make putting a greater science than ever. Rather strange, although golf is centuries old it will be news to the ordinary golfer to know that it was only as late as 1891 that the present hole $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches in diameter by at least four inches in depth was standardized. Previous to then, holes at St. Andrews and other famous courses, not to mention the earlier courses in Canada and the States, were unquestionably of varying size, being more or less cut in a haphazard manner by the greenkeepers, who in those days were not equipped with an authorized $4\frac{1}{4}$ -inch hole-cutter.

Jimmy Johnstone, the Rosedale star, former Canadian and Ontario champion, came into his own this month, when in the 36-hole medal event staged at the St. Andrews Club, Toronto, with consistent rounds of 72 and 74 for 146, he headed by two strokes his many-time rivals, Andy Kay, of Lambton, and Bob Cunningham, of Mississauga, who tied for second place with 148.

The pros played in singles in the morning and in the afternoon participated in four-ball matches with members of the club and a number of invited guests, there being a special prize list for the amateurs. The ever-green George S. Lyon led the amateurs with an 80, while E. C. Bowyer, of Rosedale, and A. Siddall, of Bayview, tied for second place with 81's. In the nett score division Mr. Siddall was the winner with a nett 66, followed by Charlie Good with a 67.

Walter Smithers, the particularly clever young assistant to Karl Keffer, of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, recently registered a quite remarkable card over the Royal Ottawa course, where the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association is holding its Tournament this month. The Royal Ottawa is not by any means an easy course to score upon. The card:—

Par, out	534	443	444—35
Smithers, out	433	343	434—31
Par, in	433	555	446—38
Smithers, in	333	544	445—35

Total, par 73. Total, Smithers 66.

It will be noticed that Smithers has no fewer than eight 3's. He hadn't one lucky two and there are three short holes at the Royal Ottawa. He cut seven strokes off par of the course, and that in the vernacular is "going some". Last year he won the Assistant Professional Championship of Canada.

Tommy Armour, who was runner-up to Leo Diegel at the Canadian Open, is playing wonderful golf this season. The former Scot recently won the U.S. Western Open title with a total of 273, one stroke lower than Diegel's winning aggregate at Kanawaki. Armour finished eight strokes in advance of Horton Smith, the bril-

Last season it will be remembered that Jimmie Johnstone, of Rosedale, and Andy Kay, of Lambton, took on several challenges for $500. a side from a number of other leading professionals and made a clean sweep of the series to their golfing prestige and financial advantage. It is understood that next month several ambitious pairs will again go gunning for the Rosedale and Lambton experts who team up admirably together, and who are a hard combination to beat.

H. P. "Bunny" Dixon, professional at Kingsville Golf and Country Club, established a new low total for his home course when he registered a 70, one under par. Dixon had an eagle three at the par five sixth hole on the out trip and a birdie four at the seventh. He was out in 34 and back in 36. Par for the Kingsville course is 35 out and 36 in.

Stuart Murray, who this year came out from England and who was at the Boule Rock Golf Club, Metis Beach, Que., a very popular summer resort, reports a most successful season there. The course was in excellent condition and there were a large number of visitors from all parts of Canada and the States. Murray will make his headquarters in Hamilton, Ontario, during the winter months.

The Assistants Golf Championship of the Canadian Professional Golf Association was played last month over the course of the Forest Hills Golf Club, Montreal, with all the young leading pros-to-be of Ontario and Quebec competing. The weather conditions were anything but ideal, wind and rain militating against good scores, but Arthur Hunt, assistant to Andy Kay, professional of the Lambton Golf and Country Club, Toronto, managed to collect an 80 and 77 for the 36-hole route or a total of 157, which was rather good going under the circumstances, and which gave him the coveted championship. Since coming to this country from England young Hunt has been three seasons at Lambton with Kay. A clean cut young Englishman with a most agreeable manner and a sound grounding in the game, he should go far in the years to come in his chosen profession.

One stroke back of Hunt was Sid Fry, of Summerlea, Montreal, another promising youngster. In third place was N. Young, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club. R. Latuliffe, of Laval-sur-le-Lac, Montreal, slipped into fourth position, whilst K. Murray, son of the famous Royal Montreal professional, C. R. Murray, was fifth. In the years to come these young assistants will be more or less the hope of Canadian professional golfdom. Their future careers are fraught therefore with very much interest indeed.

Walter Kozak, won the Metropolitan P.G.A. Championship at Flushing, N.Y., this month, defeating Joe Turnesa in the 36-hole final, three up and one to play. Kozak, who is only 20 years of age, played great golf all week to score his victory. Kozak was four up at the end of the first nine but Turnesa won three back coming home and was only one down at the end of 27 holes.

Maurice Boxall, formerly professional at the Erie Downs Golf Club, Bridgeburg, Ont., now with the Powell River Golf Club, Powell River, B.C., has been seriously ill and confined to the hospital for some weeks at Powell River. Friends, however, will be glad to hear that he is recovering nicely and will soon be on the links again.

R. Elder, Jr., brother of George Elder, pro at Whitlock Heights, Hudson Heights, near Montreal, to whom he is acting as assistant, this month won the Annual Assistant Professional Tournament of the Province of Quebec Golf Association, turning in an excellent card of 159 for the 36 holes of medal play. The runner-up was F. McPherson, of the Country Club, Montreal. The scores:—

R. Elder, Whitlock	79 80—159

Elder only arrived in Montreal this spring from the Old Country, so he has not taken long to win his first championship in Canada.

PENALTIES FOR SUNDAY PLAY

(Edinburgh Scotsman)

I HAVE been dipping very pleasantly into the newly published volumes on "Castle and Town," compiled from official documents by Mr. Robertson, the Depute Town-Clerk, and Miss Marguerite Wood, and have been surprised to find that Sunday play is not a modern innovation, even in Edinburgh.

In 1592 the Magistrates made a proclamation ordering that "na inhabitants . . . be themselfis, thair children, servants of fameleis be sene at ony pastymes or gammis within or without the toun upoun the Sabbath day, sic as golf, archerie, row-bowlis (bowls), penny stane, kaichpullis, or sic other pastymes . . . and also that thair dochters and wemen servandis be nocht fund playing at the ball nor singing profane songs upon the same day, under sic paynes as the magestratts sall lay to their charge."

Obviously there would have been no need for the proclamation if the game had not been played on the Sabbath, and even the proclamation did not stop it, for a year later a fresh edict was levelled against those who resorted to the town of Leith for "pastymes upon the lynks," placing them "under the payne of warding their persouns quhill they pay ane unlay of fourty schillings and utherways be punist in thair persouns."

"JACK" CAMERON HAS FINE SEASON

Wins Championship of St. Andrews, N.B., the Ottawa City and District Championship and Stars in Quebec Open.

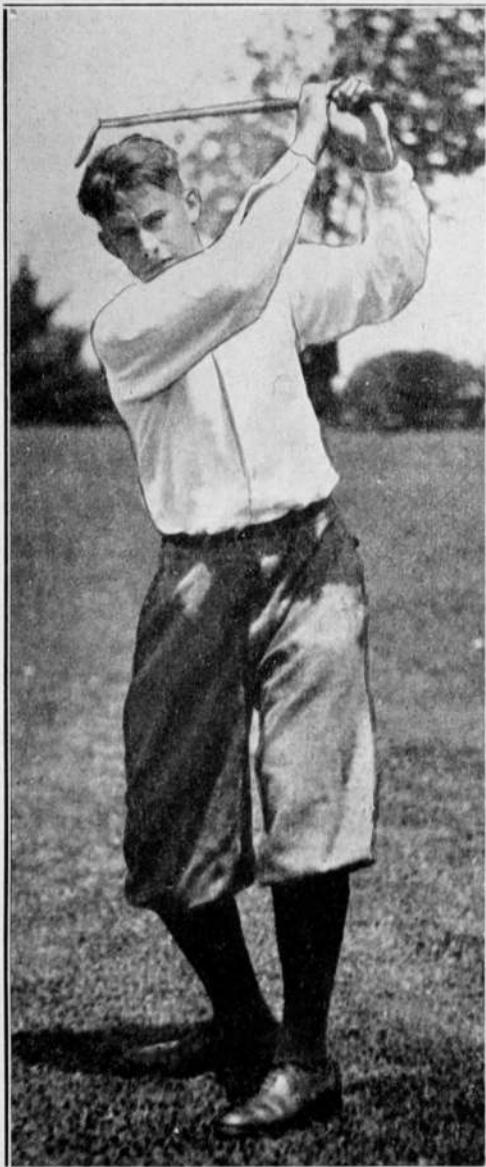

MR. "JACK" A. CAMERON, of the Rivermead Golf Club, Ottawa, and the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, certainly will be able to look back upon the 1929 season with a considerable measure of satisfaction. He was on the Ontario team at Jasper Park last month which won the Inter-Provincial Championship of Canada.

Just previously at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, at St. Andrews, N.B., he had won the Shaughnessy Cup, emblematic of the championship of that popular C. P. R. summer resort, defeating in the final Kim Halligan, of Montelare. In the morning round Cameron equalled the par of the course, which is 70. He carded a 35 going out and a 35 coming in, which is beautiful golf. In the afternoon he was out in 34 and the match ended on the 28th hole, where he ran down his putt for a 3. In all, he scored 107 strokes for 28 holes or five under fours. A remarkable showing, as the St. Andrews course is anything but an easy one to negotiate. Cameron also won the Qualifying medal with a 73-76-149, so he fairly mopped-up St. Andrews.

In the Ottawa and District Championship he also starred. Dropping his ball neatly into the cup on the 18th green for a score of 71—two under par—at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club Cameron won the championship and the Gerald Lees Trophy for the second year in succession.

His wonderful performance in the afternoon followed a poor morning round. A luckless start on the first 18 holes brought that card up to 79 but his 71 in the afternoon giving him a gross score of 150 to provide him with a lead, at the end of 36 holes, was good enough by two strokes over his nearest competitor, and club-mate, Melville Rogers, who finished second with 76's both morning and afternoon.

A. C. Bethune, of Royal Ottawa, leading the field in the morning round with a 75 loomed up as Cameron's Fine all round athlete. Mr. "Jack" Cameron, who has had a most successful golfing season.

most dangerous opponent, but an 81 in the afternoon put him out of the running. However, he won the prize for the best gross score of the morning round. Since neither Cameron nor Rogers could take two prizes, M. B. Bonnell, of Royal Ottawa, who had the third best score of the 18 holes played in the afternoon round, took the prize with a 77.

A few days ago Cameron with 150 led all the amateurs in the Quebec Open Championship at Laval-sur-le-Lac, Montreal, so it will be seen that this fine all-round athlete has quite made golfing history this season.

The Shaughnessy Cup is especially a valued trophy. It has been won in the past by such well known golfers as Gardiner White, New York (twice), runner-up in the Canadian Amateur at Jasper Park last month, J. Woodie Platt, of Philadelphia, Grats Joseph, Royal Montreal, and Alex Wilson, Mount Bruno.

MARITIME WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE

DESPATCH from Truro, N.S., August 30th:—

Miss Dorothy Holmes, of Truro, won the Maritime Women's Golf Championship here to-day, defeating Mrs. B. E. Goodwin, of Amherst, by 6 up and 4 to go in the eighteen-hole match.

Miss Holmes' consistent scoring proved entirely too much for the Amherst woman, although the runner-up gave the new champion plenty of trouble through the match. Mrs. Goodwin had an edge on approaching and putting but her margin was not large and Miss Holmes more than made up for it by her long and accurate driving.

In a special match, Mrs. D. L. Dolan, 1928 Nova Scotia champion, defeated Miss McLeod, St. John, New Brunswick, titleholder, by 3 and 2.

In the championship consolation, Mrs. A. D. Smith defeated Mrs. Allen. In the first flight final Mrs. Guest was the victor while in the first flight consolation Mrs. Sponagle took the honours. The second flight title was captured by Mrs. W. C. Ross and the second flight consolation by Mrs. F. L. Snook.

Mrs. Dolan, Halifax, the 1928 champion, was defeated by Mrs. Goodwin in the semi-finals. Mrs. Dolan was generally looked upon to repeat this year. Miss McLeod, the St. John Star, also went down to defeat in the semi-finals at the hands of Miss Holmes, the eventual winner of the event. She, too, was greatly fancied to win. Upsets throughout the Tournament were quite numerous.

ERIC RUSSELL WINS PROVINCIAL JUNIOR

Clever Young Son of Arthur Russell, of Lakeview, Heads Big Field with Fine Card of 160.

ERIC RUSSELL, son of Arthur Russell, professional for many years at the Lakeview Golf and Country Club, Toronto, worthy golfing son of a worthy golfing sire, is the 1929 junior champion of Ontario, winning out from a large and classy field at Lakeview Sept. 16th. He headed out by 3 strokes J. Nash, Jr., of the London Hunt, who has been quite one of the sensations of the season.

At the end of the first 18 holes Russell was leading with an 80, with Livingstone and Norman Cumming, of Riverside in close attendance with 81's, while Nash and Phil Farley, of Cedar Brook, had turned in an 82 each. At the 27th Nash had taken the lead with a 38 for the outgoing nine, being one stroke in front of Russell, while Livingstone was two strokes further back, and George Boeckh had crept up to fourth place with 124 against Nash's 120. Coming in it looked as if the London Hunt player had the title in his grasp without any dispute, as he played the first five holes in one over par, but just when victory seemed certain it slipped from his grasp. On the last four holes he counted 6-6-5-5, six over par, and Russell, keeping up his steady brand of golf, passed him.

Scores of 180 or better were as follows:—

POPULAR JOURNALIST-GOLFER HONOURED

MR. BRUCE BOREHAM, the very popular secretary of the Manitoba Golf Association, has severed his connection with the Winnipeg "Tribune" and starting next week will join the publicity forces of the Canadian National Railways with headquarters in Vancouver.

Mr. Boreham celebrated his departure from Winnipeg by winning the bronze statue for the low gross in a golf tournament held there and picking off the low nett as well as captaining the left-handers in a victory against the right-handers, which is just about enough golf honours for one day, for one man.

Subsequently he was given a dinner and presentation of golf clubs by the "Tribune" staff, a silver flask, suitably inscribed, by a number of personal friends, and then a bang-up banquet by the sporting organizations of Winnipeg on which occasion he was the recipient of a magnificent solid silver tea service consisting of a salver and four pieces. Mrs. Boreham and the two children were also remembered with handsome presents.

INTERESTING GOLFING RE-UNION IN MONTREAL

A SMALL but select body of International golfers, notable possibly more for their congenial companionship rather than for any particular pretention to plus playing, recently celebrated their eleventh annual re-union in Montreal, where they had the privilege of playing the Royal Montreal, Laval-sur-le-Lac and Mount Bruno Golf Clubs, concluding the three days programme with their usual annual dinner at the Mount Royal Hotel, where the visitors from across the line acted as hosts. Those participating were Parker Sloane, Charles L. Sicard, Hugh A. Sicard, New York; T. H. McGraw, Pittsburg; Edgar Thorne, Cecil T. Gordon, H. H. Vaughan and Joseph Lapointe, Montreal, and W. H. Webling.

CLINTON, ONTARIO, IS NOW ON THE MAP

CLINTON, another progressive town of Ontario, has decided to get into the golfing sun and provide golfing facilities for its members. Although in close proximity to several other links, a number of leading Clintonites recently acquired the lease of a very attractive farm near the outskirts of the town and Jack Fraser, the professional at the Maitland Golf Club, Goderich, has laid out an interesting 9-hole course on the property. Work will be started this autumn and it is expected to have the course in play early next season. Fraser is quite enthusiastic about the lay-out. It is understood that some sixty residents of Clinton have already enrolled as members of the new club. An excellent start.

OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP OF QUEBEC

Is Won by Arthur Hulbert, of Thornhill, Toronto. Mr. Jack Cameron, of Toronto and Ottawa, is the Leading Amateur.

A NUMBER of the leading professionals of Ontario took part on September 6th in the Open Championship of Quebec and more or less swept the boards.

Heading a representative field of professionals and amateurs, Arthur Hulbert, the classy professional from the Thornhill Golf Club, Toronto, registered a 72 and 75 for a total of 147 over the testing course at Laval-sur-le-Lac, to bring the Quebec title back to Toronto. Right on his heels were two other well known Ontario professionals, R. Cunningham, of Mississauga, Toronto, and Andy Kay, of Lambton, with cards respectively, of 73-75—148, 75-73—148. H. Marsh, Islesmere, Montreal, also registered 148, made up of a 75 and 73. Then in 5th place was Davie Spittal, of the Royal York, Toronto, with 149. In 6th place was still another Ontario pro, Willie Spittal, of Oakdale, Toronto, younger brother of Davie's, who carded 150. The leading amateur was Mr. Jack Cameron, of Ottawa and Toronto, who also had 150. It will thus be seen that Ontario's representatives were very much in the picture. Last year Mr. Cameron won the event, the first time an amateur ever annexed the Quebec Open. Other scores, 160 or better, were:—

WINS MONTREAL CHAMPIONSHIP WITH A BRILLIANT SCORE

MISS MARGERY KIRKHAM, of the Marlborough Golf Club, is the newly crowned lady golf champion of Montreal and District. Miss Kirkham followed up an 89 the first day over the Royal Montreal course with a brilliant 81 the second day for a total of 170. In second place was Miss Dora Virtue, of Whitlock.

The new titleholder has been a resident of California for the past two years. She learned her golf locally, however, at the Rosemount course, Montreal, and constant play during her southern sojourn improved her game considerably. She returned to Montreal in time to forward her entry for the event which she won in so brilliant a manner. Her play in the final eighteen was one of the most skilful golfing exhibits a full season of ladies' play has produced.

The new champion received the Lord Atholstan Cup and the special prize presented by the Ladies' Branch of the Royal Montreal Golf Club. Miss Virtue, of Whitlock, as runner-up, captured the prize presented by G. Cohoon.

Mrs. J. L. Weir, of Summerlea, and Miss H. Hutchison, Royal Montreal, tied for the gross honours in the bronze division with 205. Miss Helen Hague, Royal Montreal, was the low nett scorer in the silver division with 152. Miss Yolande Moisan, Summerlea, took low nett honours in the bronze division with 155.

Prizes were presented for gross and nett honours in both divisions for each day of play. Miss Virtue won the prize for the low gross, with an 86, while Miss Kirkham took the same award on the second day with her 81. Mrs. E. Savard and Mrs. J. L. Weir were bronze division gross leaders on each day, while Miss Helen Bernard and Miss Barbara Tooke shared low nett honours for the silver division. The first day's low nett in the bronze division was scored by Miss Hutchison, while the second day's award went to Miss Yolande Moisan.

WINNIPEG FREE PRESS GOLF TOURNAMENT

THE FOURTH annual Winnipeg Free Press golf tournament came to a most happy conclusion when the sixteen finalists were the guests of honour at a banquet tendered by the executive. J. W. Sifton, secretary-treasurer of the Free Press, acted as chairman and toastmaster. During the evening the prizes and trophies were presented to the victorious golfers.

The keynote of all the speeches found the guests loud in praise of the Free Press tournament idea and firmly vouchsafed the annual renewal just concluded the best yet. Courses had been improved in the rural districts through this incentive, a younger generation of golfers had been encouraged to enter wholeheartedly into the great game, and it had made for the building up of friendly relationships with neighbouring towns through this medium, the various visiting speakers maintained.

Mr. Sifton formally welcomed and congratulated the guests on their achievements in their districts and in the three-day tournament. He expressed the regrets of Mr. E. H. Macklin, president and general manager, who had found it impossible to attend. Special mention was made at this time of the just and well merited recognition that had been tendered Mr. Macklin on completing 50 years of service in the newspaper profession. The admiration and affection which he was held by those present was quickly expressed. Mr. Sifton read a letter from Major A. M. Pratt, of Russell, a finalist in 1926 and 1927, pointing out the great benefits of the annual tournament as he saw it within his district.

J. W. Daffoe, editor-in-chief, brought greetings on behalf of the executive officers of the company and pointed out the desire of the Free Press to encourage the wholesome game of golf as a medium for inculcating the best principles of sport in the rural districts embraced in the tournament. He expressed the hope that the success that had attended the third renewal would continue indefinitely.

Paying tribute to the splendid work done and assistance given by J. M. Campbell, judge of play, Mr. Sifton called on the popular Winnipeg sportsman for his impressions of the championships. Mr. Campbell was candid and stated that it had been an enlightening experience for him and he had been amazed at the surprisingly good golf played in the three days. He congratulated the winners warmly for he considered a flight champion in the Free Press tournament one worthy of the highest praise for it was indeed an achievement. Others who expressed their feelings of pleasure were Dr. Irvine Fryer, Virden; J. G. Crawford, Gladstone; James Wedderspoon, Estevan, as well as Charles Reith, professional of the Winnipeg course, who maintained that the scores turned in had proven how well the contenders had survived the test of golf on the difficult course.

Mr. Dafoe then presented the various prizes with the championship and miniature trophy going to D. C. Walker, Sherritt-Gordon mines; qualifying round prize to Charlie Beck, Jr., Yorkton, who turned in a card with 165 strokes for the 36 holes; the first flight trophy to Talbot Criddle, Treesbank, Man.; the consolation trophy to H. R. Daniels, Pine Falls. Each of the sixteen district winners received a handsome silver engraved cigarette humidor with a mounted miniature golfer.

The curtain was then rung down on the 1929 tournament.

MRS. GORDON KONANTZ WINS MANITOBA CHAMPIONSHIP

Record Number of Entrants and Many Interesting Events Decided During the Four Days Play.

UNDER ideal weather conditions the Manitoba Ladies' Golf Championship was staged at the beautiful Niakwa Golf Club, Winnipeg. All the leading lady players teed-up for the Qualifying Round on August 26th.

Mrs. George Koester, who is a member of the Niakwa Club, turned in a well played 93 to head the players in the Qualifying Round. Mrs. Gordon Konantz, of the St. Charles Country Club, recorded a score of 94 to finish in second place, while Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, defending champion, and Mrs. R. M. Simpson required but one stroke more than Mrs. Konantz.

The score of 93 gave Mrs. Koester the low gross honours in the silver, while Mrs. Konantz, with a 94-16-78, won the low nett in this section. Mrs. R. M. Simpson, with a 95, won the low gross in the bronze, and Miss Enid Rogers, with 111-36-75, captured the low nett.

The qualifiers for the Championship were:—

Mrs. George Koester, Mrs. J. Beveridge, Mrs. Irene Bridges, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. R. M. Balmer, Mrs. T. Kipp, Mrs. F. Hart, Mrs. R. M. Simpson, Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, Mrs. N. Wallis, Mrs. F. H. Collie, Mrs. J. L. Hewitt, Mrs. Stuart Campbell, Mrs. C. C. Balfour.

Some intensely interesting matches followed. Mesdames Koester, R. M. Simpson, B. P. Pellenz and Gordon

Konantz eventually getting into the semi-finals. Here Mrs. Simpson, of the St. Charles Club, eliminated Mrs. George Koester, and Mrs. Konantz, Mrs. B. P. Pellenz, the 1928 title holder, and one of the best known players in the Winnipeg District.

In the final Mrs. Konantz, of the St. Charles Country Club, defeated Mrs. Simpson, of the St. Charles and Winnipeg Club, by 2 up. The match was a stubbornly fought one, the players being all square at the 16th, but then Mrs. Konantz won the next two holes and the championship. It was a splendid final, played in the friendliest of feeling and good sportsmanship and enjoyed by the players as much as by the gallery. It was a final that will be well and favourably remembered for a long time by the local golfing fraternity.

At the conclusion of the grand final, the trophies and prizes were presented to the various winners by Mrs. J. G. Cory, president of the Manitoba Branch of the C. L. G. U.

Mrs. Newton Wallis and Mrs. F. G. Bowser won the driving events in the silver and bronze divisions, respectively, while Mrs. Rupert Morrow and Mrs. J. C. Ellis captured the putting prizes in the two divisions, respectively.

The list of the various flight champions follows:—

Championship flight—Mrs. Gordon Konantz.

Consolation flight—Mrs. Stuart Campbell.

First flight—Mrs. Gordon Ritchie.

Second flight—Mrs. D. P. Allen.

Third flight—Mrs. F. G. Bowser.

Fourth flight—Mrs. D. R. McIntyre.

Following the presentation of prizes the ladies of Niakwa Country Club served tea and dainties, which were thoroughly enjoyed. This work was carefully arranged through Mrs. Salberg, president of the ladies' section, and Mrs. A. F. McKinnon, ladies' captain, who worked splendidly to make the closing ceremonies a great success.

The officials of the Manitoba Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union expressed great pleasure at the success of the Tournament, which ran with its usual smoothness through the machinery operated by Mrs. J. W. Alves, branch secretary.

The winning by Mr. MacLean, of the beautiful and unique trophy was a particularly popular one. He is probably playing the best golf this season of his quite notable career. Previous winners have been Dr. J. A. Sullivan, Rosedale, 1925 and 1927; Alex Gooderham, of Rosedale, 1926, and George Boeckh, York Downs, last year. NICOL THOMPSON JR. PLAYS GREAT GOLF UNCORKING a wonderful brand of golf, Nicol Thompson, Jr., youthful star of the Cedar Brook Club, Toronto, spread-eagled the field Saturday, September 14th, in the Ontario Golf Association's fall Tournament at Oshawa to win by four strokes. The winner was by far the best of 140 or so would-be par breakers who tramped over the Oshawa fairways.

The sturdy youngster, as pointed out by the Toronto Star, was the only competitor to break par for the course, which is set at 70. He found the difficult out-going nine greatly to his liking, jotting down a smart 33 on his card, three strokes under par. Coming back on what is considered the easiest half of the course, he yielded a couple of strokes to Old Man Par, taking 36.

Thompson played bang-up golf all the way, having complete mastery over every club in his bag. He was getting a nice ball off the tee, finding the green regularly with his approaches and getting down in the regulation putts.

Thompson's card was:—

Out454 342 443—33
In455 434 344—36—69

John Haddon, of Toronto Golf Club, who had been leading for the early part of the day with a 73, found himself confronted with a play-off when George Boeckh, York Downs, and Hugh Borthwick, Weston, came in around five o'clock with 73's.

The Toronto player made no mistake in the extra hole, which was played as soon as all competitors were in, carding a par four to Borthwick's five and Boeckh's six. Haddon's mashie-niblick second found the green, ten feet from the pin, while Boeckh was short and Borthwick found the rough to the right. Haddon was down in two putts for his four and second place. Borthwick saved third position by also taking two putts and Boeckh, who lost his putting touch just when needed, required three strokes of his putter, and had to be content with fourth.

Philip Farley, Cedar Brook, and F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, tied for fifth place with 74's. These two elected to spin a coin for the honour and Farley was the lucky one. The field was representative of the best amateur talent in Ontario, the only notable absentees being Ross Somerville, of London, and Don Carrick, Scarboro.

Cedar Brook also won the team prize with a total of 306. The east end club is rapidly coming to the front in the golfing world, having under its banner some of the most promising youngsters around Toronto.

The Oshawa course proved a real test of golfing skill, demanding every shot in a player's repertoire. The first nine had the Oshawa creek, a good-sized stream, winding a devious path through fairways, in front of greens and cutting into the tees. The greens are all slightly undulating and the cups often as not were placed on the crest of a slight roll, making many a well-meant putt fall off or go past a couple of feet. The putts had to be "dead on the centre"; there was no side entrance.

Officials had the course groomed to the last inch and competitors were loud in praise of the playing conditions. "Young Nicol" the following Saturday also won the big Jubilee Tournament at Brantford with a very fine card of 150.

MARRIAGE OF OUTSTANDING AND POPULAR YOUNG GOLFER

A DESPATCH from Windsor, Ont., Sept. 15th:—

"One of the most important fall weddings in the Border Cities took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when Miss Dorothy Kathleen Rason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ernest Rason, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Martin Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Seymour Lyon, of Toronto, with the Rev. H. M. Paulin officiating. The chancel was beautified with a profusion of dahlias, asters, gladioli and fern, and cathedral tapers burned in tall standards.

"The bride was gowned in ivory satin made on princess lines. The train, which fell from a yoke of rose pointe lace, was edged with the same lovely lace and lined with ivory chiffon. Her veil of ivory tulle was draped from a cap of rose pointe caught on either side with orange blossoms. She also wore a tulle face veil extending to her waist. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

"Mrs. James Ernest Zeron, who attended the bride as matron of honour, wore panne velvet of a dahlia shade, fashioned along princess lines with an ecru lace yoke, with a hat of the same shade. Her bouquet was of ophelia roses and cosmos. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Lewis Alfred McHugh, Mrs. Seymour Lyon, and Mrs. Deyell, of Toronto, wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honour, and carried bouquets of pernet roses and cosmos.

"Mr. Howard Deyell assisted Mr. Lyon as best man. The ushers were Mr. Allan Findley, Mr. Arthur Hillary and Mr. Crauford Martin, of Toronto.

"Mrs. Rason wore a Lelong model of black Chantilly lace and chiffon, with a hat of black lace. Her flowers were ophelia roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Lyon was in beige embroidered chiffon with hat and shoes to match and carried sunset roses and lilies of the valley.

"After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Victoria Avenue. The house was lovely with flowers, the bride's table being laid with a lace cloth and centred with a crystal bowl of pale pink roses and tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra.

"After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Lyon left for Yama Farms, New York, to be gone for three weeks. For her going away costume, Mrs. Lyon wore a brown tweed ensemble trimmed with beaver. Her hat and shoes were also brown. They will return by way of Montreal to Toronto, where they will make their home in Larratt Avenue, Forest Hill Village."

Golfers and other friends throughout Ontario will join in hearty congratulations and good wishes to the popular young couple. Mr. Fred Lyon is the son of Mr. G. S. Lyon, and like his father is an all-round athlete and a young golfer of the greatest promise. It is hoped next season he will be seen frequently on the links. This year owing to business reasons he has been able to play but seldom, which is regrettable, as Canada can illspare players of his ability.

IN AND ROUND THE CLUB HOUSE

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Overseas Dominions

MRS. O. S. HILL, of Kansas City, won the Women's Western golf championship at Cleveland in seven weary hours and 36 tortuous minutes over the hilly Mayfield course. She defeated Mrs. Gregg Lifur, of Los Angeles, one up on the 37th hole, by scoring a woman's eagle three on the 385-yard first hole. Had it not been for the stalling tactics of both women the match would have been one of the greatest in women's golf, but by the time it reached the extra hole, the gallery was groggy. Mrs. Lifur had made a great fight to come from behind and take the lead after trailing for 25 holes, and Mrs. Hill's second bid was as game a finish as any thoroughbred ever made. Two hours less in playing time and it would have been an historic match, as it was, the drama fell on jaded sensibilities. It was the slowest kind of a championship final from start to finish. Both players were most irritatingly slow and the gallery was literally bored to death.

W. A. Eckhardt, with a 76, recently won the Mississauga (Toronto) Junior Championship by a decisive 10-stroke margin over Gordon Gunn and Boyd A. Caldwell, who were tied for second place with 86. T. J. Agar and J. P. Agar won the Hugh Johnston Trophy for the father-and-son competition with a nett of 61, one stroke better than their nearest rivals. The scores of the leading pairs were:—

	G.	H. Net
T. J. and J. P. Agar.....	85	24—61
Hugh and Mer. Johnston....	81	19—62
B. L. and G. L. Symmes.....	86	18—68
Boyd A. and Boyd Caldwell	81	13—68

For the second year in succession S. E. Cassan defeated H. J. Ayris in the final for the Islington (Toronto) Club's Championship. Results leading up to the final were: Second round, H. J. Ayris defeated Theo. Morrow, Don Collinge defeated Herb Cross; semi-finals, H. J. Ayris defeated Walter Adams, S. E. Cassan defeated Don Collinge. Final, Cassan defeated Ayris.

Dr. R. H. Henderson won his third Grand River Country Club golf championship at Kitchener, Ontario, when he defeated Geo. W. Lang, Jr., also a former titleholder, six up and five to play in a 36-hole match. Dr. Henderson, who won the club crown previously in 1925 and 1927, played consistent golf all day.

The morning round was even, the two men being all square at the seventh hole. The new champion improved after that, finishing three up. In the afternoon he ran his advantage to six up by taking the first three holes and keeping pace with his opponent after strong rallies which Lang staged. The match ended at the 31st hole, which they halved.

A despatch from Jackson, Mich.:—

"While playing golf on the municipal course at Sharp Park, Howard Foster, 18-year-old high school student, was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning. Robert Burek, 17 years old, Foster's companion, said he was about five feet from Foster when he was knocked flat by what appeared to be a puff of wind. When he looked up he saw Foster lying face downward. Burek was uninjured.

Coroner John Pulling, who investigated, said the lightning burned an exact replica of a spray of leaves between the boy's shoulders."

W. D. Taylor defeated J. Ireland, two and one, in the 36-hole final round of the Arthur D. Purvis Cup competition played over the Marlborough course, Montreal. The cup, emblematic of the golf title of the Canadian Industries Limited, was donated by the president of the C. I. L. for annual competition among the various districts throughout Canada. W. D. Taylor defeated C. A. Kirkegaard and E. Walmsley in the earlier play. The latter offered extremely torrid competition, taking the ultimate winner to 45 holes. J. Ireland, of Windsor, had met and defeated K. A. Eldridge, Toronto, and C. S. Cradock, Vancouver. W. D. Taylor is a member of the Summerlea Golf Club, Montreal.

Despatch from Windsor, Ont., August 30th:—

“Joe Bialkowski, St. Clair caddie, whose playing has been the sensation of the five-day boys' golf tournament at the Roseland Golf and Country Club here, ended his battle for the Harry J. Neal Cup and the championship on the twelfth hole this afternoon when a birdie four gave him a victory over Paul Cantin, of Essex, after 30 holes of brilliant golf, 7 up and 6 to go.

Bialkowski outdrove the usual hard-hitting Cantin at almost every tee and the Essex Club caddie was dogged by bad breaks all through the round. Champions were decided in the consolation, first, second and third flights this morning.

F. Haines, of Essex, defeated A. Labutte, of Roseland, at the 19th hole for the first flight honours. It was a grand match from beginning to end.

M. Shurks brought the second flight championship to the same club when he defeated A. Baxter, also of Essex, 3 and 2.

W. Cooney brought the St. Clair Club into the limelight in the flights by defeating young Bob McCreery, of Roseland, by the overwhelming score of 8 and 7. Cooney had too much experience for the lad who was playing on his home course.

In the championship consolation flight A. Segar, of St. Clair brought another championship to that club by eliminating R. Christian, of Beach Grove, 1 up.”

Through the purchase of the property situated between Rawdon, Maitland, Alice and Campbell Streets immediately adjoining the present golf course, the Brantford Parks Board has rounded out the municipal course property so that it extends to the street line on three sides. Since the course was originally laid out, there has been one area, immediately adjoining the ninth fairway and green, which cut into the block. It was originally offered to the Parks Board for $12,000, but this price was considered altogether excessive. Thanks largely to the activity of Mr. James Douglas, chairman of the Board, the property has now been acquired for $2,000. The Brantford Municipal Course is proving a great success in every way.

At a get-together night of the members of Bathurst Golf and Country Club, Toronto, Mr. J. M. Innes was presented with a silver cup for making the first hole in one on the course. The presentation was made by Mr. A. M. Adams, the captain of the Club, and assisted by Mr. L. H. Kingsley, the vice-captain. In replying, Mr. Innes, who is quite a capable golfer, stated that he had been playing golf nearly ever since he had been able to walk and believed that Bathurst was destined to be one of the finest. He expressed his surprise in how well the course had done in this, its first year. Eighteen holes are already in play and the club has almost its quota of five hundred members. Mr. Chas. Gilbert was the winner of a Persian Tournament of five holes, while C. Wickson won the approach tournament. In a putting competition, Miss M. Case was the winner for the ladies and J. C. Green for the men. After refreshments were served there was a program consisting of pipe and drum selections, dancing and vocal selections by Mrs. R. L. Shank.

Word comes from Bridgewater, N.S., that Mrs. Olive while playing with a Kro-Flite golf ball made a very good drive off No. 8 tee. The ball rolled near a flock of crows, and to her great surprise one of them picked the ball up and flew away with it. It is rather her feeling in the matter that the crow recognized the ball as a Kro-Flite, so made off with it to its nearby nest.

On Saturday, September 14th, the St. Jerome Golf Club, Saint Jerome, Que., held their annual contest between professional and business men, the latter winning, 5 matches to 3, the order of play being four ball four-somes. After the match, a perfect dinner was served during which the cup given by Mr. Joseph Fortier, the president of the club, was handed over to the captain of the winning side for the period of one year. Amongst the other attractions of the day was a prize for the best gross score which was won by Mr. Hermann Barrette, with a score of 77. Mr. Clement Fortier won the handicap prize with a nett score of 75. The best outward 9 holes was won by Mr. C. E. Marchand, with a nett score of 36, and the inward 9 were completed by Mr. F. A. Lorrain, also with a nett score of 36. The Tombstone competition was won by Mr. Alfred Lapointe, who carried his burden a considerable distance before making up his mind that it would not make a suitable ornament for his hotel. The sealed hole proved to be a very lengthy affair, for no less than 11 players tied for this prize, so it was decided to play it after the dinner, by the aid of all cars lining the fairway, and making full use of their headlights to show the competitors the way to get home. The hole finally being won by Mr. Edouard Rinfret, who was awarded a rousing cheer for the excellent battle he put up. The consolation prize was won by a two-day-old golfer, and Mr. Leopold Nantel, has consented to publish his name.

The club since its reorganization has made great progress and promises by next season to be able to offer to all golfers a real first class 9-hole course, although the present temporary course which is being played while the new course is being constructed, offers quite a sporting layout and is enjoyed by all who visit the course and are also attracted by the beautiful new club house.

Miss Barbara Took, of the Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal, is the charming young girls' champion of the Province of Quebec. She had the very excellent 36-hole total of 183 on the Country Club course, Montreal, where the championship was held. Second place went to Lucille Rolland, of Laval-sur-le-Lac, whose 95 and 94 gave her an aggregate of 189, six strokes behind the leader. Miss Osra Gault, of Ste. Agathe, won third place with a 97-94—191, and Miss Dorothy Nicoll, Beaconsfield, was fourth, one stroke behind Miss Gault. It was such a delightful Tournament.

Col. J. J. Carrick, of Scarborough, Toronto, in partnership with his son, Jack, now living in Chicago, brought more honours to the Carrick family, when in the big Pater et Filins Tournament at the Midlothian Club, Chicago, one of the prominent clubs in the West, they tied with Ward S. Perry and his son with nett scores of 141. There was a very large field of entrants.

Golf instructions were a part of the programme at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, Montreal, recently in the Windsor Hotel, and they were given by Rev. Dr. Leslie Pidgeon, of Montreal, once International president of the Rotary Club. Dr. Pidgeon, an ardent golf enthusiast and a valued contributor to the "Canadian" Golfer, discussed what he considered the salutary features of the game for a business man, then explained how it should be played, removing his coat and illustrating his points with a brassie as he stood on the stage at the end of the hall.

His address began with amusing anecdotes about his early interest in the game, and an explanation of his first attempts to learn, then the doctor, illustrating his lecture with a golf ball, explained the scientific laws governing the flight of a ball, and how best its action in the air could be controlled.

"No better insight of a man's character can be had than through watching him play golf," Dr. Pidgeon said, "and in his game all that is best expresses itself." He was standing on the platform at the end of the hall, his coat lying on a nearby chair, a golf club whinnying through the air as he paused, now and then, to illustrate his point with a swing. "Isn't it typical of human nature," he concluded, "that when one plays badly, he is always 'off his game'? We consider the ideal real, and everything that doesn't measure up to it only transient bad luck. One may play one good game in 50, but he will consider that his normal and the rest unfortunate variations."

The Fredericton Golf Club, one of the most progressive in New Brunswick, is preparing plans for a new club house to be erected next season. Fredericton now has an enthusiastic membership of two hundred.

RECENT EVENTS IN TABLOID FORM

(The next issue of the "Canadian Golfer" will contain detailed reports of these interesting events.)

The Canadian Seniors' Tournament at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, Sept. 11th to Sept. 14th, will go down in history as one of the most successful events of an outstanding golfing season. It was graced by the presence of His Excellency the Governor-General, Lady Willingdon also taking quite an interest in the Tournament whilst many of the leading men of the Dominion, prominent in banking, finance, manufacturing and the professions, participated in the various events.

The Championship resulted in a tie between Mr. George S. Lyon, of Toronto, who has won it nine times, and Mr. J. E. Caldwell, of Ottawa, a Governor of the Association. Mr. Lyon very graciously retired in favour of Mr. Caldwell, who is thus the 1929 champion—a very popular one, too.

Once again the U.S. Seniors were victorious in the International Match, but by the narrow margin of three points only, so the Devonshire Golf Cup again goes back to the Apawamis Club, Rye, N.Y., the home of the U.S. Seniors.

The American Seniors are "hard nuts to crack". As a matter of fact, they rarely if ever "crack". The majority of them are very wealthy men and play golf throughout the year and thus have a distinct advantage over their Canadian cousins who have to be content with six months of golf. That unquestionably explains to some extent their ascendancy in these annual International matches.

Next year the Tournament will be held in Toronto at the Toronto Club and the tri-angular match, Great Britain, the United States and Canada, will be played for the first time on Canadian soil. Altogether a very notable event. The record in this interesting encounter now stands, Great Britain twice winners, and the U.S. once.

Still another Canadian trophy crosses the Border to join the Open Championship Cup, the Amateur Championship Cup and the Seniors' Championship Cup. The latest trophy to be annexed by a representative of the Stars and Stripes is the famous Totem Pole of Jasper Park, Alberta. In a record field, as was generally expected, Gardiner White, of New York, runner-up in the Canadian Amateur at Jasper, had rather an easy time of it in winning this interesting fixture. This is the first time the trophy has left Canada. In the ladies' championship, Miss Cecil Smith, of Toronto, last year's Ontario champion, quite dominated the play, although her sister, Miss "Jim" Smith, and her mother, Mrs. Eustace Smith, were also amongst the prize winners. The Inter-Provincial, and State match was won by the Alberta team, composed of J. B. Starkey, Edmonton, and J. L. Bell, H. Black, V. A. Newhall, A. J. Toole and B. Coal, of Calgary. Uncle Sam this season is certainly demonstrating his golfing superiority both on the courses of Canada and Great Britain.

By winning the Canadian Ladies Close Championship for the third time in succession, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of the Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, Toronto, unquestionably proved that she deserves to rank as the leading woman golfer of the Dominion, both from the standpoint of the past and the present. She has three times also won the Canadian Open Championship and other Tournaments by the score besides having on more than one occasion made a splendid showing in the British and American Opens. It is true that a quarter of a century ago Miss Mabel Thompson, of St. John, N.B., won the title five times (1902, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908) but the competition then was not to be compared with that of to-day. Miss Mackenzie still dominates Canadian ladies' golf although in Miss Honor Bright, of Lookout Point Club, Welland, winner of the qualifying medal, and Mrs. Stuart Bennett, of the Lambton Club, who was only defeated in the final by Miss Mackenzie, 2 up, two dangerous rivals were developed last week at Scarboro.

Quite the feature of the wonderful two days Jubilee celebration of the Brantford Golf and Country Club (September 20th and 21st) was when the chairman of the finance committee, Mr. W. B. Preston, announced that the club this season would have a surplus of over $4,000 and as a result they were burning that night at the annual dinner the last of the mortgage, namely, $1,500, which was done with appropriate ceremonies. This announcement came as an absolute and most agreeable surprise to the hundreds of members present. The Brantford Golf and Country Club now has a club house and course worth considerably over $100,000 and not a cent of indebtedness. The fathers of golf in the Telephone City of fifty years ago certainly builded better than they could have possibly dreamed when the first little club was started with a membership of less than a dozen and with a total revenue for the first year of eighty odd dollars. To-day Brantford has three prosperous golf clubs, with a total playing membership of well onto one thousand.

At the Canadian Ladies Open Championship, now in progress at Ancaster, Miss Glenna Collett, U.S. champion, won the qualifying round with 77. Miss Kirkham, Montreal, was second with 79, followed by Miss Helen Hicks, another U.S. entrant, and Miss Ada Mackenzie with cards of 80.
