Eminent Doctors Talk on Health and Games.

At the British Medical Convention in Winnipeg last month, some notable addresses were made by distinguished doctors. Herewith a couple of pronouncements of especial interest to golfers and other followers of amateur sport:—

"Never sit down to a meal if your hands or feet are cold." This is the admonition of Lord Dawson of Penn, physician to King George, offered to a distinguished gathering at the sectional session on medicine in connection with the British Medical Association Convention. Unpleasant, sometimes serious results may ensue, he mentioned.

"If a man comes home after a hard day's work, cold and tired, and sits down and eats a good square meal, he is going to have trouble," warned Lord Dawson. "Before eating, he should toast his feet in front of the fire and warm his hands in a basin of water." Eating when the extremities are cold, he said, often causes indigestion and nearly always induces constipation the following day.

Business men would be well advised, he stated, to take a day or a half-day in bed once a week—reading, perhaps, keeping warm; eating lightly.

The man who guided England's King from the shadow of threatened death discouraged the talk of week-end exercise in a big way. Folks who play a round of golf Saturday and two on Sunday, "to get in their exercise", would be better off to go to bed Saturday afternoon for a good nap, forgetting his worries of the week, and possibly playing a game of golf Sunday."

"Take up golf" is in danger of becoming a tabloid preparation; too easily prescribed, readily swallowed, and not always producing the required results," said Sir F. Farquhar Buzzard, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University, speaking during an address on "Rest, Work and Play in Health and Disease."

Referring to various diseases, Sir Farquhar said he believed that, without proper interest, the benefit of recreative pursuits is greatly discounted. "We should be well advised not to make a fetish of games as the only means of securing relaxation from work," he said. "It is sometimes alleged, and the allegation sounds sensible, that the crowds of people who watch a football or baseball game on Saturday afternoon would be better employed playing some game themselves. As their interest cannot be doubted, and as they spend their time in the open air, the conditions favouring relaxation and recreation appear to be adequately fulfilled.

"On the other hand," he continued, "it must be admitted that their interest is often more financial than sporting, and therefore predisposes to the development of neurosis which may yield to the recuperative influence of the next week's work.

"The player of a game," the physician continued, "is refreshed by following his favourite ball because his centre of interest is altered, other reactions are initiated and his mind is preoccupied with problems entirely different from those associated with his work. It is probably not an exaggeration to say that these factors are of much greater importance than the physical exercise the game involves in promoting a state of good health."

British Lady Golfers Appeal for £12,000. The Ladies' Golf Union of Great Britain has issued an appeal for £12,000 as a permanent fund to finance the International teams it proposes to send in the future to the Dominions and the United States. So far the response has been rather lukewarm, only £2,000 having been subscribed.

In this connection "Fairway and Hazard", London, England, the official organ of the Ladies' Golf Union, in a recent issue states:—

"Almost more than in the U.S.A., disappointment will be keenly felt in Canada if Britain is unable to enter into these matches, for Canadians, realizing that in a golfing sense they are not strong enough to challenge this country to match at golf, have been pinning their hopes on the British-American matches materializing, so that when a British team made the journey across the Atlantic to the U.S.A., it would extend its visit to Canada. Mrs. Lyle, the president of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, has emphasized the fact that all Canadian golfers are keenly interested in the progress of the L.G.U. International match fund, which they hope will be the means of giving them an opportunity to welcome a team of British women golfers over there."

It is certainly to be hoped that the L.G.U. appeal will eventually reach its objective. It would be a splendid thing for Canadian women's golf if a representative British team visited this country next year. Such a team headed by the brilliant young champion, Miss Diana Fishwick, would be accorded a royal welcome in Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton—the cities which would in all probability be included in the itinerary.

Late advices from London are to the effect that if the committees of the two clubs concerned are agreeable, it is likely that the Ladies' Golf Union will charge admission money to spectators at the English Championship, which will be held at Aldeburgh (Suffolk) this month, and at the British Open Championship, which is to be decided at Portmarnock (Ireland) next summer. The executive committee of the L.G.U. is in favour of the scheme, and it is understood that the proceeds will be added to the fund which the Union is raising for the equipment of teams for International matches overseas.

Here is a useful hint to the executive of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union. It is only of very recent years that the Royal Canadian Golf Association has charged an admission fee to the Canadian Open and Canadian Amateur Championships. The C.L.G.U. will require ample funds to finance its International teams in the future, and an admission charge to its principal fixtures would be gladly paid by golfers generally. No one has objected to the R.C.G.A.'s admission fee of $1.00. No one will object if the C.L.G.U. in future also enacts a similar daily gallery charge.

Golf the Outstanding Game for All Ages. The extremes in golf battled for supremacy this month on three Toronto courses. At the Toronto Club Mr. George S. Lyon, in his 73rd year, for the tenth time won the Canadian Seniors' Golf Championship with two fine cards of 76 for a total of 152—marvellous golf for a seventy-two-year-old. No golfer in the seventies has ever before returned scores in the seventies on a championship course. True, Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, the famous London banker, had a 73 and 76 for 149, but then Mr. Pease is some 13 years younger than Mr. Lyon, he pleading guilty to "only 60". Mr. Pease was not eligible to win the Canadian Championship. He is in a class by himself when it comes to 60-year-old golfers. In fact, he can give any of the young champions a run for their money.

At the Lambton Golf Club the girls of Ontario had their Championship and Miss Winifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, with two marvellous scores of 83 for a total of 166 romped home an easy winner. This is one of the finest medal rounds ever recorded by a lady player at Lambton. Then at York Downs 18-year-old Phil Farley, of Cedar Brook Club, Toronto, registered a very fine 148, made up of rounds of 73 and 75, to head a big field of youngsters for the Ontario Boys' Championship.

There was a difference of nearly 55 years in age between the winner of the Senior Championship and the winners of the two Juvenile Championships. No other sport in the world but golf can show such a disparity in ages of players competing in and winning championships. It's the game, alike for old and young, all right.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that a stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered.)

Shafts made of alternate strips of hickory and bamboo have been banned by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club.

Every putt that is short is a wasted stroke; it never stood any earthly chance of going in. It is reasonable to say that the greatest number of putts that are missed fail because they never reach the hole.—C. J. H. Tolley.

Out in Chicago Judge H. Lyle says it isn't golf but it's disorderly conduct—playing on miniature golf courses in the early hours of the morning. The fine is $200 and costs for a misdemeanor of this kind when the neighbors are trying to sleep.

The death is announced in Toronto of Mr. A. D. Armour, K.C., prominent barrister, after a short illness. Mr. Armour, who was a graduate of Trinity College, saw service overseas and was invalided home with the rank of major. He was a member of the Toronto Golf Club.

The argument in favour of permitting the Tom Thumb golf courses to remain open on Sunday, chortles the Toronto "Mail", recalls Dean Swift's story of the unmarried woman who sought to minimize her moral lapse by saying, "But the baby was such a little one."

A chance suggestion of the Prince of Wales will result in putting greens on ocean liners. In attending the launching of the Empress of Britain the Prince suggested that the top of the liner would be a good place for a putting green. E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. for whom the ship was built, agreed, and provisions are being made for construction of a green.

* * *

The executive council of the Ladies' Golf Union has decided to introduce a 36-holes stroke-play qualification round into the British Women's Open Championship. Under the new rule the best 64 scores will qualify for the match-play stages. In Canada and the States in all championships a qualifying round has for many years been in order. Generally speaking, however here in all competitions the field is limited to 32 players.

* * *

Bobby Jones pays a glowing tribute to the great English woman golfer, Miss Joyce Wethered, in the "American Golfer". He says:—

"I have no hesitancy in saying that, accounting for the unavoidable handicap of a woman's lesser physical strength, she is the finest golfer I have ever seen.

"Throughout the round I found that when I hit a good one I was out ahead by about 20 yards—by not so much when I failed to connect.

"She went round St. Andrews from the championship tees in 75. She did not miss one shot; and when we finished I could not help saying that I had never played with anyone, man or woman, amateur or professional, who made me feel so utterly outclassed."

* * *

Don Bradman, the young Australian super-batsman, has been dubbed the "Bobby Jones of cricket". Perhaps later in life, he may yet become the "Bobby Jones of golf" in "way-down-under". He plays a very good game indeed as do the majority of the Australian cricketers. They played over several of the celebrated English and Scottish courses whilst in the Old Country. Bobby Jones, by the way, can tear a pack of cards in two with his hands. The average golfer, of course, is content to tear up his cards one at a time.

A subscriber writes asking for information in reference to the golfing career of Mr. J. "Woodie" Platt, of Philadelphia, runner-up to Mr. Ross Somerville in the Canadian Amateur Championship. Here it is as supplied by Mr. Lincoln A. Werden, golf editor of the New York Times:—

"Woodie" Platt was a member of the first Walker Cup team (informal team—fore-runner to the Walker Cup team matches) in the year 1921, but he suffered a sunstroke and could not play. He won the Philadelphia Amateur in 1928 defeating Mr. A. H. Kaye; he was runner-up in this tournament in 1926 and 1927. He also won the first Jess Sweetzer Victory Cup Tournament, and has played plenty of golf in the South."

London "Sporting and Dramatic News":—

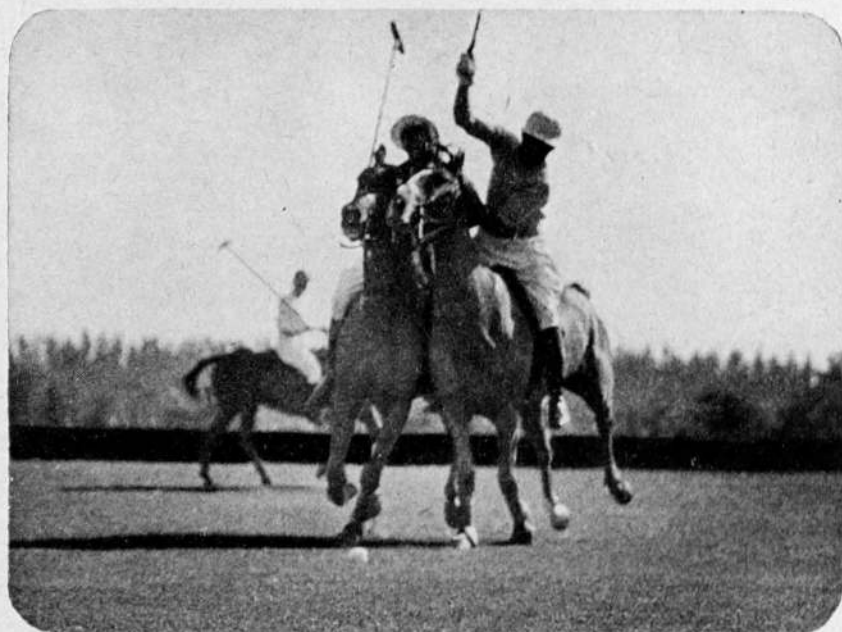

"Miniature golf the Tom Thumb type, which has swept its way from West to East across the American Continent, and is the biggest craze since the cross-word puzzle wave, has invaded New York, where ingeniously constructed courses of drain pipes, bricks, wooden planks and concrete slabs from demolished buildings are springing up like mushrooms in the night. A rich harvest is being reaped by the proprietors of these crazy putting courses, where the ball is to be steered through all manner of ridiculous contrivances and traps. Competitions are held nightly for money prizes, and a timely warning has been issued by the United States Golf Association that any one having played for, or accepted, a money prize on a pigmy links will automatically forfeit his amateur status. I am wondering whether Tom Thumb golf is a permanent addition to the field of entertainment."

* * *

It is a fact, although no generally known, that Mr. W. F. Reach, who is with the A. G. Spalding & Bros. factory in Chicopee, Mass., is "the father" of the matched and registered clubs which during recent years have revolutionized golf. It was his idea to manufacture graded clubs for every shot and as a result we have to-day irons numbering all the way from 1 to 7 and also matched wooden clubs. Mr. Reach has probably done more to make golf more enjoyable and reduce a player's handicap than any other expert in the club manufacturing business. Golf owes a lot to this clever, unassuming student of the game, who has placed all golfers under a lasting debt of gratitude.

Despatch from Garden City, L.I.:—

"While demonstrating how Bobby Jones drives a golf ball, Fred Reuter, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Reuter, of 208 Kilburn Road, swung his golf club at his playmate, Argyle Astrito, 5½ years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. J. Astrito, killing the child instantly. Argyle, whose father is a manufacturer of upholstery, with offices in New York, received the full force of the blow below the right ear. The base of his skull was fractured and examining physicians said he was dead when he dropped to the ground. The horror-stricken Reuter boy, whose father is a Garden City builder, was freed after an inquest by Coroner Edward T. Neu, who said the death was accidental."

Extracts from editorial, "The Family at Play" in Toronto "Globe":—

"One of the most noticeable trends of the present day is well illustrated in a despatch from the Sault announcing that a mother and her daughter are pitted against each other in the final game for the ladies' golf championship of the local country club. It is doubtful that ever before there has been such a contest on the links. The delightful feature of the incident is the evidence that families are joining together in their outdoor sports. It is the bright spot in an age marked by a tendency toward weakening of home life. Of course, golf is not a domestic entertainment, but it is no longer the exclusive sport of the head of the house. Fathers and sons, brothers and sisters, mothers and daughters are going together to the club grounds and battling among themselves from the tee-off to the last hole."

* * *

The hot season is generally responsible for some bizarre suggestion or another. This time golf clubs come in for discussion. "Chick" Evans, ex-amateur and open champion of the United States, wants the number of clubs permissible in competitions to be reduced to seven, and Mr. John Ball, a former British amateur and Open champion, is backing up the idea in the Old Country. Of recent years, stars both amateur and professional, often carry a bagful of twenty or so wooden and iron weapons. It is safe to say that such a revolutionary enactment will never be made by the Royal and Ancient or the United States Golf Association. One thing is certain, however—every caddie the wide world over would vote for the change.

* * *

During a visit last month to several golf clubs in the Province of Quebec with a party of officials of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, Mrs. W. Garth Thomson, of Montreal, who is also hon. secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Women's Senior Golf Association, took the opportunity of addressing the lady members of the clubs and urging on them the importance of a thorough knowledge of the etiquette, definitions and rules of golf. She strongly advised every player to secure a copy of the "Canadian Golfer's" "Little Red Book". Mrs. Thomson is to be heartily congratulated on the splendid missionary work she is doing. Generally speaking, the lack of knowledge of the rules amongst both men and women players on Canadian courses is nothing short of shocking. Would there were a Mrs. Thomson in every Province. It would make alike for the good of the game and its better enjoyment.

The Sum of $125,000,000 in "Two-Bit" Courses

Toronto Spending $15,000 a Day on Golf

IT seems simply incredible, but the Department of Commerce, Washington, which government-like is always careful in giving out estimates, publishes the statement that since last January $125,000,000 has been invested in Tom Thumb golf courses, of which there are now over 30,000 in the United States. How much money has been expended in Canada in these little layouts it is impossible to ascertain but they have been built literally by the hundred during the past few months and millions of dollars must have been expended in putting them into play.

In Toronto, according to Gordon A. Sinclair, of the "Star", 30,000 people a day are playing over the 75 "two-bit" courses on the sand lots in that city. He estimates that with the money spent by members of private courses, municipal courses and pay-as-you-play courses golf and near golf, the game is costing the citizens of Toronto $15,000 a day, which is more than they spend on any other six sports combined. The whole world seems to have gone "golf goofy"—and that too in the face of hard times.

Victoria Boy Stars in Old Country

MR. GEORGE W. GREENWOOD, the well known British golf writer, in his account of the International match between the youths of England and Scotland, says some very nice things about Alan Taylor, son of Phil Taylor, the well known professional of the Victoria Golf Club, Victoria, B.C.:—

"For the second year in succession, the Scottish youths beat the English youths in the annual International match, which is a prelude to the Boys' Open Championship, at Fulwell. The margin in Scotland's favour was 8 matches to 4, a definite superiority being shown by the winning side in the singles, of which they captured six out of the eight, after halving the foursomes.

The outstanding figures of the day's play, conducted with appropriate keenness, and in the true team spirit, were the two leading Scottish youths, James Lindsay, of Falkirk, the holder of the championship, and N. J. Scott Riddell, of Aberdeen, and Alan Taylor, of Victoria, who, because he was born in London, was deemed eligible to play for England.

Taylor, a tall boy, 17 years of age, is the son of the late Fulwell professional, who took up a similar post in Canada about ten years ago. The boy's golfing style is typically American—a rather flat, "round-the-corner" swing with the club face slightly shut at the top, producing the shot which swings in from right to left. Taylor is a pure "swinger", whereas Lindsay, as a hitter, typifies the British method.

Full of confidence, Taylor gives the impression of being a seasoned player in possession of a full range of golfing shots. He is 4 handicap at Victoria, which, based on the strict par system, is about equal to scratch in a men's club in England. The boy certainly lives up to his handicap. He and his partner, J. V. Todd, of Darlington, who, inspired by the Canadian youth's dashing golf, played extremely well, especially at the critical stages, were out in 36 against a scratch score of 38, and three up on their Scottish opponents, E. L. Thomson, of Edinburgh, and R. H. R. McGill, of Oundle School.

The English pair were still three up with four holes to play, but the Scottish side, ramming in a miraculous putt at the fifteen for a 3, and winning the next in a perfect 4, were one down with one to play. When Taylor cut his tee shot at the last hole into the hummocks it looked as if the Scottish boys would square the match after all, but Todd came gallantly to the rescue with a beautiful pitch to the hole and the hole was halved."

In the singles Taylor, who was fourth on the team, won his match with E. L. Thomson, Scotland, 3 and 2. He and H. Bowen were the only ones to win for England in the singles. In the foursomes the score was even, 2 matches for each side. In the singles Scotland scored 6 matches to 2. Taylor should be heard from in Canada in the years to come.

Port Arthur's Successful Public Course

AND this is the story as told by Mr. G. T. A. McNeil, secretary of the club, of the way Port Arthur has successfully solved the public golf course problem. The club is known as the Strathcona Golf Club and is to-day one of the assets of the progressive city at "The Gateway of the West". And what Port Arthur has done every city in Canada can also do:—

"In January, 1924, a plebiscite was submitted by the City Council to the ratepayers asking their authority to construct a municipal golf course and, at the ensuing election, it went down to defeat. In the spring of 1924, the Board of Parks Management, under authority granted them by the Parks Act of Ontario, decided to proceed with the construction of a municipal golf course out of their own funds and in July, the City Council granted them perpetual lease of two hundred acres of land known as the Strathcona Property and overlooking Lake Superior. This land was very heavily timbered and contained quite a lot of muskeg, but by August of 1926 the Board were able to open to the public play over nine holes. You will readily understand that, due to the nature of the ground, a considerable amount of drainage had to be provided for in order to bring it into playing condition. They then proceeded to construct the second nine holes which were completed in 1928, giving to the citizens of Port Arthur a full 18-hole course measuring approximately sixty-five hundred yards. The shortest hole on the course is one hundred and seventy-seven yards and, with the exception of one other hole, the lengths vary from two hundred to five hundred and fifty yards. The total capital expenditure made by the Board including the construction of a small club house, workshop and tractor house is forty thousand dollars to date, and the charges for playing are forty cents per game or season tickets may be procured at the following rates:—Gentlemen $12.50, combination gentleman and wife $20.00; ladies $10.00, and juveniles $5.00.

After three years of operation, interest is so keen and the membership has increased so rapidly that the course is now in the happy position of paying its way in spite of the fact that a great deal of work has been done which might properly have been charged to capital expenditure but which has been absorbed by the revenue for the year. A club comprising the season ticket holders was formed with the sanction of the Parks Board to act in an advisory capacity to take charge of and conduct all competitions over the course and several public spirited citizens have been good enough to donate cups for competition yearly which we believe has been one of the main reasons for the rapid growth of games played over the course each season."

London Banquets Champions

Ross Somerville and Jack Nash Given Complimentary Dinner and Presented With Gifts by Enthusiastic London Golfers.

LONDON golfers honoured Ross Somerville and Jack Nash last month and honoured themselves when they gave a "victory dinner" to them in tribute of their winning respectively the Canadian and Ontario Amateur Championships. This is the first time in the history of the game that two residents in any one city have the same year won these outstanding championships and Londoners naturally feel proud of their townsmen and rightly so, too.

The London Hunt Club provided the setting for the banquet which was attended by all the leading golfers of the Forest City and representatives from Windsor, Hamilton, Brantford and other clubs. It was the jolliest kind of a dinner presided over very ably by Mr. E. H. Nelles, vice-president of the London Hunt, in the absence of the president of the club, Dr. Claude Brown. During the evening the three times amateur champion of Canada was presented with a handsome case of studs and links and the young Ontario champion with a golf bag of most generous dimensions.

They both made happy little speeches in reply, Ross quite making a record in this respect, he covering the course in 58 (words). Other speakers were: G. W. Wigle, president of the Hamilton Club, and A. A. Adams, captain; Ralph H. Reville, Editor of the "Canadian Golfer", J. J. Hurley and Iden Champion, Brantford; Dr. George Laing, of Windsor; J. G. Richter, representing the London Highlands Golf Club; T. W. McFarland, the Thames Valley Golf Club; T. A. Browne, captain, and J. M. Hunt, vice-captain, London Hunt; A. W. White, member of the Royal Canadian Golf Association and a past president of the London Hunt, and the fathers of the respective champions, C. R. Somerville and John A. Nash.

Quite one of the features of the dinner was the auctioneering off of a golf bag donated to Norman Bell, well known Toronto professional, who has been ill now for many months. A sum of nearly $200 was raised for this deserving player.

During the afternoon the annual captain vs. vice-captain match of the London Hunt Club had been played off with a record number of entrants, the vice-captain's team winning, and at the conclusion of the dinner Dr. W. J. Brown, chairman of the golf committee of the Hunt Club, presented the prizes in a very happy and entertaining manner. The list:—

18 or under handicap—Best gross, C. Ross Somerville (73); best nett, Colin Brown (66).

Over 18 handicap—Dr. Art Smith (90); best nett, Col. Eric Reid.

Best nett first nine—Len Biddell (39).

Best gross, second nine—Jack Nash, Jr. (36).

Best nett, over 18 handicap—J. C. Seybold.

Best nett, over 18 handicap—G. F. Pearson.

Best gross for visitor—Gerald Wigle, Ancaster (74).

Best holes—Dr. George Laing, Windsor (3's on 13th and 16th).

The A. W. White Trophy goes to Jack Nash, Jr., for the best score in president

Interesting Letter in Reference to the Rules

MR. A. J. HILLS, of Montreal, who has always taken a keen interest in the Rules of Golf and their interpretation, writes the Editor:—

"In the 'Canadian Golfer' for August you refer to the incident of a player losing a hole in the Manitoba Championship for asking his caddie to support him whilst taking his stance and state there was a double breach of the rules because the caddie did so and 'dropped the bag in the bunker.'

I find Decision 320 of 1921 of the Rules of Golf Committee which states:—

'A player may not support his weight on a club or other artificial prop when playing a stroke.'

The assistance rendered by the caddie in the case mentioned was, I think, obviously contrary to the spirit of the rules.

As to the bag dropped in the bunker I am of opinion that this was not a violation of Rule 25 and would refer you to Decisions Nos. 202 and 327. In one decision a bag of clubs was placed in the bunker and in the other a single club but under circumstances which led the Rules of Golf Committee to decide that Rule 25 had not been violated. I had occasion to decide in a match when referee that a player had not lost the hole when his ball lay on a path because his caddie went up and stood near his ball resting his bag of clubs on the path but at a distance which could not be held to have in any way assisted the player in making his stroke.

In the case of Decision No. 182 the Committee decided against the player whose partner had struck the sand in a demonstration shot because Rule 25 among other things was designed to 'prevent a player from testing the consistency of the soil.' Perhaps this was the ground for the double breach at Winnipeg, but in view of Decisions Nos. 202 and 327 it seems far fetched."

(Note—Mr. R. C. S. Bruce, of Winnipeg, a very well known authority on the game, was the referee in the Manitoba match referred to by Mr. Hills. His views on the incident would be alike welcome and interesting.—Editor "Canadian Golfer".)

The Seniors' Northwest Tournament

U.S. Players Win the Championship and the Majority of the Flights and Events. Highly Successful Event is Staged at Beautiful Colwood, Victoria, B.C.

OUT on the Coast, the Seniors of British Columbia, Oregon and Washington had a wonderful tournament last month staged on the beautiful Colwood course, Victoria, B.C. Prominent professional and business men by the score from Victoria, Vancouver, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and other Pacific Coast cities competed in a week's friendly and International rivalry and honours rested with the United States representatives, two of whom, J. A. Byerly, of Portland, Oregon, and J. H. Fuller, of Aberdeen, Wash., fought it out for championship honours, the former winning. The title for two years had been held by J. E. Wilson, of Victoria, B.C. Thus another Canadian golf title crosses the border.

Showing the virility of Pacific Coast golfers. Many of the contestants were over 70 years of age, whilst one, Charles Hyde, of Tacoma, pleaded guilty to still enjoying the Royal and Ancient game, although he recently celebrated his 80th birthday. This popular Pacific Coast Tournament is always held in British Columbia where the 19th hole holds sway. That perhaps is the reason, although the veterans themselves would probably be the last to admit it.

Over 150 American and Canadian Seniors participated in the championship and in the various flights, play in which held sway throughout the week, besides putting contests and other events. There was never a dull moment. Three players tied for honours in the qualifying round with 87's. W. A. Ward and J. R. Waghorn, of Vancouver, and J. H. Fuller, the lone entrant from Aberdeen, Wash. Others to qualify for the championship were:—J. E. Wilson, the defending champion, 88; R. S. Farrell, 88; J. N. Morris, 89; H. B. Rigg, 89; W. W. Miller, 89; L. A. Lewis, 89; J. A. Sayward, 90; Josiah Collins, 91; A. D. Katz, 91; C. H. McCoy, 91; J. A. Byerly, 91; C. M. Birnie, 92; R. W. Gibson, 92.

Two of the upsets of the first round at match play were the defeat of the defending champion, J. E. Wilson, Victoria, by Josiah Collins, of Seattle, 3 and 1, and L. A. Lewis, New Westminster, who was the second champion of the Association, by J. H. Fuller, of Aberdeen.

Mr. J. A. Byerly, Portland, Oregon, winner of the Grand Championship.

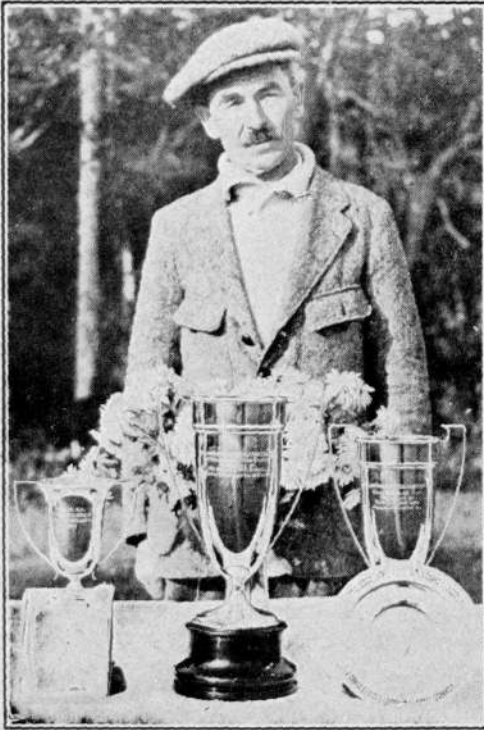

In the second round W. W. Miller defeated A. D. Katz, 4 and 3. J. A. Byerly defeated J. A. Sayward, 3 and 2. J. H. Fuller defeated R. W. Gibson, 2 and 1. C. M. Birnie defeated Josiah Collins, 1 up.

Then in the semi-finals Byerly, Portland, beat Miller, Seattle, 3 and 2, and J. H. Fuller, Aberdeen, beat C. M. Birnie, Victoria, 4 and 3, thus assuring an all-American final.

Sinking a forty-five-foot putt on the seventeenth green for a beautiful birdie three, after he had slapped a great brassie shot to the carpet, and gaining a half on the last hole, gave J. A. Byerly, of Portland, the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Association, over James H.

Fuller, of Aberdeen, Washington, by one up in the final eighteen. Byerley's victory over Fuller brought to a climax one of the greatest championship battles in the history of the tournament.

Eugene Enloe, Spokane, walked off with the class "A" championship by his victory over E. J. Roberts, from the same city, two up. Class "B" honours fell to H. S. Griggs, Tacoma, when he displayed fine form to win from W. L. Bilger, Seattle, one up. W. L. Rhodes, Seattle, rode to victory in the finals of the class "C" championship by winning from G. R. Cartier, Ashford, Washington, one up. Scoring a decisive victory, B. E. Buckmaster, Tacoma, walked off with the class "D" title by sending Wells Gilbert, Portland, down to defeat. 7 and 5.

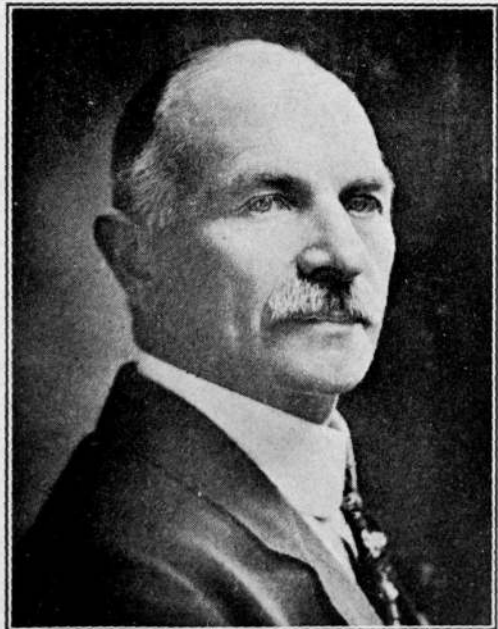

Playing beautiful golf from the start to the finish, L. A. Lewis, New Westminster, carried off the first flight laurels by defeating W. A. Ward, Vancouver, in the finals, 3 and 2. Lewis was putting and approaching with great accuracy, and jumped at every opportunity offered by his opponent. A. T. Goward and R. H. Swinerton were the lone Victorians to come through in the finals of the various flights. Goward won from E. J. Anderson, Seattle, in the third flight, while Swinerton beat D. J. Myers, another Sound city veteran, in the sixth flight.

Altogether the U.S. Seniors made pretty much of a clean-up in the Tournament. The full final results:

A most successful tournament was brought to a close at the Union Club, Victoria, when the annual banquet took place with more than a hundred members in attendance. Occupying prominent seats at the head of the table were the executive and board of governors of the association, and the retiring president, W. McMaster, Portland, who acted as the toastmaster for the evening.

The after-dinner festivities were given a rousing send-off with the singing of the popular Scot, Jim Stirrat, Seattle. W. A. Ward, Vancouver, spoke for the Canadian team in the International match, and J. A. Byerly, Vancouver, replied. Mr. Ward praised the sportsmanship of his opponents, and the zeal of his own team. Mr. Byerly said that his winning of the championship was caused through the failure of his ball to find as many hazards as his opponent.

C. S. Swigert proposed the toast to the association, and touched upon the need of close co-operation between the people on both sides of the line.

Mr. W. MacMaster, Portland, Oregon, who as president of the Association was responsible for much of the success of the Tournament.

The fine singing of Don Zan, one of whose renderings was "On the Road to Mandalay," was greatly appreciated. He came in for two encores.

One of the most popular toasts of the evening was that to Charles Hyde, Tacoma, the oldest member of the association, who is eighty years of age. Mr. Hyde, in reply, said that he hoped to be with all his friends next year, and was deeply moved by the honour rendered him.

W. A. Ward proposed the toast to the retiring president, W. McMaster, Portland, who replied in a few fitting words. The last toast of the evening was the one to Judge Lampman, popular Victorian, who was characterized as one of the hardest workers the association had. The judge replied that, after all the hard work he and his helpers had gone through, it was trying to see no better score made than 87 in the qualifying round.

The meeting closed before midnight with the singing of the National Anthem.

For the success of the tournament, great credit goes to Captain J. V. Perks, genial secretary-treasurer since the association was formed, the co-operation received from Captain Walter Parry and his staff at the Colwood Golf Club, and also from Alex Marling and Bob Johnstone, official starters and professionals at the Colwood and Seattle clubs, respectively. J. M. Hedley and N. F. Ferris, official scorers, also worked untiringly throughout the meet and deserve high praise.

P. H. Douglas Wins Hamilton and District

IN an exceptionally large field, P. H. Douglas, of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, won the Hamilton and District Amateur Championship over the Ancaster course. Douglas, who has been playing from a ten handicap, returned a particularly fine card of 74. He just nosed out by a stroke John S. Lewis, of Brantford and Hamilton, Jack Armitage, of Glendale, and young Joe Thompson, of Waterdown.

With the course tricky, but the day ideal for the test, only eight starters came in with cards under 80. All were outstanding amateurs, including Fred Howe, son of the Burlington Golf and Country Club star, G. W. Wigle and A. A. Adams, of the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, and J. W. MacDonald, of Glendale. Only 65 of the original starters returned cards to the scorer, so severely did the lightning fast fairways and greens affect the entrants.

The championship cup, defended by the previous holder, Dr. Bruce Sutherland, went to the winner, together with a handsome suitcase for best gross. Other prize winners were: Second, best gross, J. S. Lewis, Hamilton; third gross, J. Armitage, Glendale; fourth gross, Fred Howe, Burlington; fifth gross, G. W. Wigle, Hamilton; sixth gross, A. A. Adams, Hamilton; best nett, James Turney, Chedoke; second nett, Joe Thompson; third nett, George Powell, Waterdown; fourth nett, Dr. Leeming Carr, Hamilton; fifth nett, I. W. Champion, Hamilton; sixth nett, S. H. Lees, Hamilton.

The Ladies of St. Thomas

Stage a Very Successful Fall Tournament. Mrs. Gordon Porter for the Second Year in Succession Wins the Club Championship.

Mrs. Gordon Porter, clever St. Thomas player, who for the second year in succession win the ladies' club championship.

THE ladies' section of the St. Thomas Golf and Country Club had a particularly successful fall tournament this month. Great interest was taken by a large field of entrants in all the events, which resulted as follows:—

Championship, Mrs. Gordon Porter; runner-up, Mrs. J. M. McIntyre.

Consolation, Mrs. C. T. Boughner; runner-up, Mrs. C. S. Gilbert.

Lowest nett score, Mrs. A. W. Hayman; approaching and putting, Mrs. C. T. Boughner; aggregate driving, Mrs. D. E. Gerrard; longest drive, Mrs. Gordon Porter; putting on the greens, Miss Ethel Tate; sealed holes, Mrs. D. E. Gerrard; monkey golf, Mrs. J. M. McIntyre; "beaten fours", Mrs. A. W. Hayman.

Nine-hole championship, Miss W. Graham; runner-up, Mrs. G. T. Kennedy.

Lowest nett score, Mrs. J. Stewart; approaching and putting, Mrs. George Davey; aggregate driving, Mrs. G. T. Kennedy; longest drive, Mrs. George Davey; sealed holes, Mrs. J. Stewart; monkey golf, Mrs. George Davey.

Mrs. Gordon Porter for the second year in succession won the club championship, Mrs. J. M. McIntyre being the runner-up. Both played very fine golf to secure premier honours.

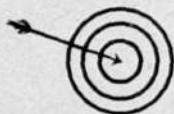

The St. Thomas Club both in the men and women's section has had a wonderful season. The course has been in particularly fine shape, even the dry weather, which took its toll of many courses throughout Ontario, not appreciably effecting the St. Thomas links, both fairways and greens standing up well under the

Lord Dufferin Accepts Hon. Presidency of Ava Club, Brantford

THE Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, who succeeded to the title on the recent tragic death of his father, has written to Mr. S. Alfred Jones, K.C., of the Ava Golf Club, Brantford, accepting the honorary presidency of the Club, in succession to his father, the late Marquis, who held that position since the formation of the club. His letter, which follows, shows that he has inherited the deep interest in Canada which was held by his father and his grandfather, the late dearly beloved Governor-General of the Dominion.

Dear Mr. Jones:

8, Little College Street, Westminster, S.W. 1.
August 10th, 1930.

Thank you so much for your letter of sympathy in this great calamity. My father, as you know, loved Canada and had many friends there, and I know he was looking forward to returning there some time and seeing them again. But although that cannot be, I am glad to think that he is not forgotten by them.

I should be very pleased to follow in his footsteps as your honorary president, and I hope to visit your club when I come over to Canada, which I hope will be soon.

Please convey my thanks to the other members of the club, and let me do, as my father did—“wish you all good luck”. Yours sincerely, “Dufferin”.

The Championships of Quebec

Amateur is Won by Norman M. Scott, of the Royal Montreal, and the Open by Albert H. Murray, of Beaconsfield, After 36-hole Play-off with Willie Lamb, Uplands, Toronto. Record Fields and Splendid Golf in Both Events.

THE Open Championship of Quebec and the Amateur Championship of Quebec, which were decided last month on the attractive Country Club course at Montreal, brought out the cream of the amateur and professional talent of the Province and in the Open several of the outstanding professionals of Canada. Both events drew record fields and both events witnessed "the comeback" of players who were making a golfing name for themselves when many of the entrants were in their early 'teens.

Especially was this the case in the Open. Albert H. Murray, professional at the Beaconsfield Golf Club, won his first Canadian Open Championship 'way back in 1908, or 22 years ago. He repeated in 1913. Of recent years owing more or less to foot troubles he has not figured very prominently in the picture. At Montreal last month he certainly demonstrated that he is still to be reckoned with. During his long and brilliant career he never played better golf than he did in the Open Championship when he carded 138, which tied for the title with Willie Lamb, of the Uplands Golf Club, three times Canadian Professional Champion. Now a score of 138 is six under fours per hole and that is mighty fine golf. In the play-off which was necessary, Lamb and Murray were all square at the 18th and another 18 holes in a cold, chilly rain was decided upon by the Quebec Executive but "the veteran" rose to the occasion and registering a sparkling 71 annexed the Championship by two strokes. It was a great triumph for Murray, who has now been playing in championship golf for a quarter of a century or so.

Then the Amateur Championship the following day witnessed Norman M. Scott, all-round Montreal athlete, at the top of his game and with a score of 146 he led all the old and young experts of the Province. Scott, a prominent Montreal stock broker, like Murray has for many years been "playing the game" and playing it well. Eight years ago he was runner-up in the Canadian Amateur Championship at Hamilton to C. C.

An outstanding all-round athlete, Mr. Norman M. Scott, Royal Montreal Golf Club, winner of the Amateur Championship of Quebec.

Fraser and he has many Provincial and other titles to his credit. The moral of the Quebec Championships at Montreal. The twenty-year-olders have not always the major titles in their bag. There is a kick yet in some of the stars of yester-year, praise be!

The Country Club course was in splendid shape for the stellar events of the Quebec season, whilst weather conditions were ideal. A record field of 66 professionals and amateurs participated in the Open Championship, medal play 36 holes. A strong contingent of Ontario pros were amongst the entrants including Willie Lamb, Arthur Hulbert (last year's champion), Ernie Wakelam, Davie Spittal, Willie Spittal, Frank Loeke and Bob Cunningham, whilst all the leading Quebec players were on hand to seek the title.

With two sparkling rounds of 69 for a total of 138, Albert Murray was leading the field with only Willie Lamb still to come in as a possible threat. Lamb had carded a sensational 67 in the morning but he slipped a bit in the afternoon and coming to the 36th 506 yards, had to negotiate a birdie 4 to nose Murray out. He sent two prodigious wood shots down the fairway and then placed his third on to the green, just 12 feet from the pin.

The large gallery that included Murray, stood deathly silent as Lamb considered the shot that meant the title. He stepped up to the ball briskly after a few moments and hit it a trifle too hard. Its direction was true and it hit the mouth of the cup but bounced off a few inches. Lamb then holed out for a 71 for a total of 138 tying with Murray.

In his record-making 67 Lamb had two birdies and an eagle—the latter at the long 18th where in the afternoon a birdie 4 would have won him the championship. Murray's 69 in the morning was featured by a brilliant homeward nine of 32. He notched no fewer than 4 birdies in this incoming nine. Hugh B. Jaques, the clever Whitlock player it will be noticed won the prize for the best amateur score with a well collected 144. Carrol Stuart, semi-finalist in the Canadian Amateur Championship, had 147 and Jack Cameron 148. These three well known amateurs were well up amongst the leaders.

The prizes were presented by H. W. Maxson, of the Country Club, after some short remarks by G. H. Forster, president of the P.Q.G.A.

In the play-off necessitated by the tie, which was held two days after the championship on the Country Club course, both Murray and Lamb again demonstrated that they are two of the best and most determined players in Canada. In the morning driving rain failed to materially effect the game of the rivals and once again at the 18th they were "all square" with cards of 73. The executive of the P.Q.G.A. decided another 18 holes should be played. Murray playing at the top of his game was four strokes to the good at the end of the 27th hole but Lamb staged a remarkable rally on the next nine which he negotiated in 34. However, even that was not good enough to stop the Beaconsfield star, who with a 35 and 36 for a 71 defeated the Canadian Professional Champion by 2 strokes, Lamb having a 39 and 34 for 73. It was a gamely fought match and both victor and vanquished deservedly came in for hearty congratulations when presented with their well-earned prizes by the president of the P.Q.G.A., Mr. G. H. Forster, and Mr. Harry Maxson, president of the Country Club. Insistent calls for Murray and Lamb brought the two champions to the front and their short speeches were cheered to the echo. Altogether one of the most remarkable and interesting championships ever staged in Montreal.

Scott Wins Amateur Championship

The day following the Open, the Amateur Championship of Quebec was held, also on the Country Club course. There was a splendid field of some sixty of the prominent amateurs of the Province including three former Canadian Amateur Champions. The weather conditions were not favourable for low scoring but notwithstanding some remarkably fine cards were returned.

With rounds of 71 and 75 Norman M. Scott for a total of 146 won the championship although right at his heels were W. D. Taylor 147, J. B. Mickles 148, Carrol M. Stuart 148, and C. C. Fraser 148. A closer finish has never been recorded in the history of the event. With a score of 153 the young Kanawaki player, T. G. Me-

Athey, last year's champion, had to be content with 13th place. Scott's victory was a particularly popular one. He is one of the best all round athletes in Canada and has figured prominently for years in golf and other sports. He is a member of the executive of the Royal Canadian Golf Association and has done much, very much, for the game in Montreal and District. The runner-up, W. D. Taylor, of Summerlea, is a young golfer of great promise, and last month at the Canadian Amateur at London reached the second round. The cards of the two leaders:—

Both drives put them in the money -- thanks to Kro-Flite

What a rotten drive! 21 feet 3 inches, from a shot that was topped so badly it would have split a 12-inch log cleanly. Sore? Sure he was! Who wouldn't be?

Yet there was one ray of sunshine in a round of darkness. McCluck was playing a Kro-Flite—so he was in the money. Yes—he was in the money a new ball of any other make would have cost. Any other ball would have been ruined—probably laid open to the rubber winding. But that Kro-Flite was uncut, unhurt, perfectly capable of taking McCluck's flailings for many more boles.

For the Kro-Flite cannot be cut. The Guillotine, the most murderous golf ball test ever devised, has proved that fact repeatedly.

In Guillotine tests with every good ball made, the Kro-Flite has always carried off first honors. In these tests, the brutal blade of the Guillotine never yet has won a decision from a Kro-Flite Ball. It never yet has lost a decision to any other.

What a sock this is! Off like a shooting star. Past the 200, the 250 yard mark, on to a point 280 yards from the tee.

And as McTavish watched that white comet streak through the air he said, "Man, that ball has wings."

Yes sir, Kro-Flite is a long, long ball.

In Driving Machine Tests at Chicopee, Mass., Pinhurst, N. C., and Putney, England, Kro-Flite has proved that it is one of the longest balls made. And it is the only ball ever made that combines first grade distance with maximum durability!

Next time out, try a Kro-Flite. Its ability to take punishment will astound you. And its distance will put joy in your heart. © 1930 . . . . .

The Ontario Junior Championship

Phil Farley, of Cedar Brook, with a Dashing 148 Leads a Big Field. Jack Nash, of London, Ontario Champion, Runner-up.

THE Ontario Junior Championship for youths 18 years or under, held at the York Downs Club, Toronto, this month, and attracting some sixty entries, conclusively demonstrated that Ontario has a crop of young golfers more or less in the making, but who in the years to come should nail the Canadian golf flag mast high.

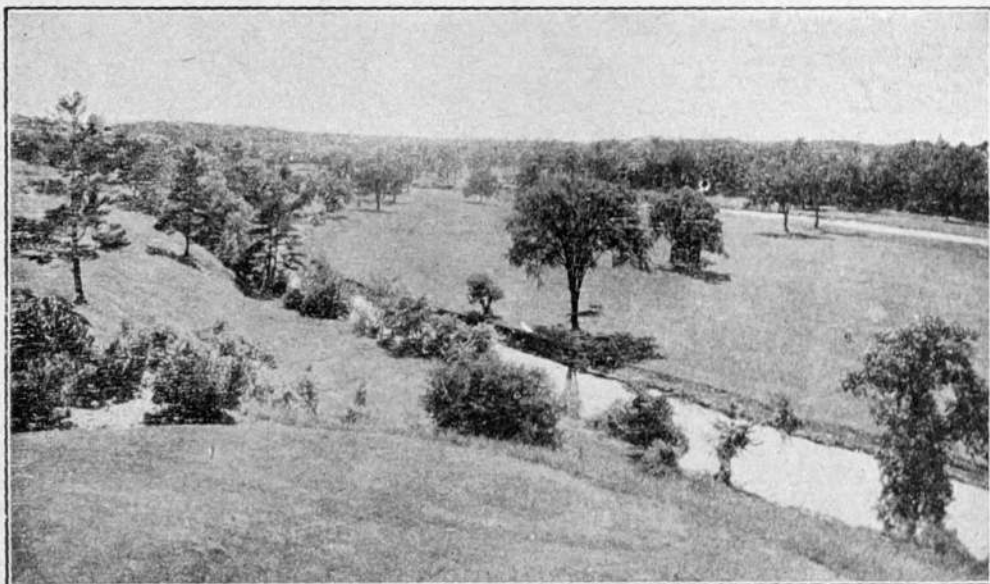

York Downs is not at all an easy course to score on but three of the eighteen-year-olders returned cards which would have loomed large in any major event. In the Amateur Championship at London last month scores of 156 qualified to play-off at match play. At York Downs three of the boys bettered this qualifying score. If they can produce cards like this at 18 they should and unquestionably will reduce them by many strokes during the next few years. All of which is most encouraging from the standpoint of "better Canadian golf" which is no longer "on the lap of the Gods" but in the bags of the younger generation of our players, both boys and girls.

As a result of his brilliant victory in the Ontario Amateur Championship a few weeks ago, Jack Nash, of London, was installed a strong favourite to add the junior championship to his belt but he ran against Phil Farley, of the Cedar Brook Golf Club, Toronto, at the very top of his game. Now Farley is not by any means a young unknown. He holds the championship of the Cedar Brook Club for one thing and that is no small honour for a player still in his 'teens. Then in the Junior Championship last year he was in 6th place with a score of 172. Eric Russell, son of Arthur Russell, popular professional of the Lakeview Golf Club, won the event, it will be remembered, with 160, but the Lakeview course is strokes harder than York Downs. In the Ontario Amateur Championship this summer at Scarboro he qualified in 8th place with a very creditable 78 but was put out in the second round at match play by the seasoned Hamilton player, J. Armitage, who learned a very good game of golf in the Old Country. So it will be seen that young Farley has not by any means been an unknown golfing quantity.

But at York Downs the young Cedar Brook star certainly uncorked the most brilliant golf in his brief career. Out in the morning with a 73 he came back in the afternoon with a 75 for a most remarkable total for any junior player of 148. This is easily the best score ever recorded in a junior championship and stamps Farley as a young golfer with really great potentialities.

At that, Jack Nash, Ontario Amateur Champion, was only three strokes back of the winner. He carded a 77 and 74 for 151 and only one stroke back of him again was Joe Thompson, of the Waterdown Golf Club, son of Nicol Thompson, Sr., of Hamilton. Ordinarily speaking, both Nash's and Thompson's scores would have won the championship and won it quite easily. The cards of the two leaders are well worth publishing. Here they are:—

Philip Farley, Cedar Brook—
 543 435 544 445 534 434—73
 653 324 534 455 445 544—75—148

 454 453 534 445 434 535—74—151

The par of the York Downs course is 71 so Farley was only 2 above that figure in his first round.

It will be noticed that Nash had three 6's in his morning round, and that more or less was the undoing of the Ontario champion and prevented him from duplicating Don Carriek's record of winning in his time both the Ontario Amateur and Junior Championships. Farley over the hard baked York Downs course played the steadier game of the whole field and deserved to win out. Incidentally his victory was a most popular one as he is deservedly liked not only amongst his fellow members of Cedar Brook but amongst golfers both old and young. This is the first time Cedar Brook has ever figured in the championship picture but it won't be the last if Farley continues to play under its colours.

The scores of the players, 175 or better, in addition to Farley and Nash:—

The three leaders in the Championship, Farley, Nash and Thompson, will not be eligible to play next year as they will be 19 years of age and the Ontario Golf Association has recently ruled that "a junior is a player who has not reached his nineteenth birthday." Mr. W. J. Thompson, former Amateur Champion of Canada and honorary secretary of the Association, in commenting on the change said he believed it was a step in the right direction because it would develop lads from twelve years to eighteen years of age, whose opportunities were limited when the junior championship was extended to 21 years, and Mr. Thompson is right.

At the conclusion of the tournaments the awards were presented in a very acceptable manner by Mr. Russell Grant, president of York Downs:—

Instead of giving prizes for nett scores the Ontario Golf Association decided this year to confine the prize list to gross scores and the entrants were divided into age-limit classes, the complete prize list being:—

Motion Pictures of British Championships

MR. A. A. WEIR, of Winnipeg, the well known Western amateur golfer, whilst in Great Britain this summer took two thousand feet of motion pictures of the British Amateur and Open Championships and also of the Walker Cup matches.

The pictures which have turned out splendidly illustrate completely these notable events. Mr. Weir also secured several hundred feet of prominent players on the practise grounds which are wonderful golf lessons. He has copyrighted the pictures both in Canada and the States and is prepared to sell copies to clubs. There is no question of the great educational value of these pictures and the "Canadian Golfer" strongly recommends golf clubs securing copies. They would prove a most entertaining and instructive feature at club functions. Mr. Weir's address is 9 Alloway Court, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

The Vogue of Miniature Golf

(Editorial Montreal Gazette)

The American and Canadian people, especially in the larger cities, have accepted miniature golf with that readiness and universality with which they have hitherto abandoned themselves to many another novelty n diversion. The result is that such courses are not only numbered by the thousand, but are increasing with amazing rapidity. As a practical demonstration of mass psychology they are apt and complete. The history of this newest invention will therefore be informative.

Garnet Carter had built an hotel at the summit of a mountain near Chattanooga, Tennessee, and, being an ardent golfer, he conceived the idea of attracting patronage by setting up a very small eighteen-hole course for the entertainment of his guests. This idea was a success. Then Mr. Carter tried the thing out in Chattanooga as a commercial venture, and once again he guessed right. Then he went into the business of manufacturing the equipment for these Tom Thumb golf courses, and, by means of advertising, he has put himself in the way of considerable riches.

The speculative observer of this latest success will see in it a fresh demonstration of human capriciousness. This miniature golf is precisely the thing that might have aroused scorn rather than interest. Why it appealed can no more be explained than why one play, an "Abie's Irish Rose," let us say, will run until its owner is tired of banking the earnings, while another of equal or even greater merit will fail utterly. Human nature has no limits to its freakishness.

Prince of Wales Tournament at Banff

W. J. Thompson Win Coveted Trophy in a Most Thrilling Final from D. Arnott, Manitoba Amateur Champion. Results of Other Competitions.

A TWO-INCH miss on a six-foot putt sent the Prince of Wales Golf Trophy to Toronto instead of to Winnipeg, where by all indications it was headed. Dave Arnott, Manitoba Amateur Champion, was one up at the 36th tee and W. J. "Smiling Bill" Thompson, of Toronto, had only one chance left—to win the hole and tie the game. Both were on the green with their third shots; Thompson 5 feet and Arnott 6 feet from the pin. Arnott was not required to win the hole—to halve it was sufficient. It seemed all over but the shouting as Arnott studied his lie while Thompson, still smiling, although seeming to face inevitable defeat, reclined on the green. Four hundred spectators held their breaths—four hundred prepared to cheer as Arnott's putter touched the ball, then four hundred stared, unable to credit their eyes as the ball passed by and less than two inches from the cup. "Smiling Bill" walked leisurely to his ball—without inspecting its lie he putted and holed out—the day's play was tied—a spectacular anti-climax in a spectacular setting had occurred.

Forty-four competitors entered the Prince of Wales Tournament; seven American States and four Canadian Provinces were represented. The qualifying round of Monday, August 16th; the sixteens of Tuesday, August 17th, and the eights of Wednesday, August 18th, reduced this number to the four semi-finalists, Jack Fraser, of Vancouver; W. J. "Bill" Thompson, of Toronto, Dave Arnott, of Winnipeg, Manitoba Amateur Golf Champion, and G. S. Lyon, of Toronto. The United States entrants had fallen by the wayside early in the series with the exception of O. P. Schaeffer, of Chicago, whom Bill Thompson had eliminated in the eights. On Thursday Bill Thompson defeated Fraser, of Vancouver, 4 and 3 to go; Lyon, of Toronto, was eliminated by Dave Arnott by 6 and 5 to go, and the stage was set for the unexpected anti-climax.

Betting, if there was any, was about even or perhaps Arnott was slightly favoured to win.

On Saturday the representatives of Eastern and Central Canada met at the first tee. The first drive is across the Spray River and the fairway is slightly dog's leg to the left. At the bend is a tall growth of trees and both tried to drive over them. Arnott's ball struck a tree and bounced on to the fairway but Thompson's proved lost entirely. Thompson conceded the hole and put Arnott one up. The second, a par 4 hole, found Arnott's second shot in the bunker and Thompson winning the hole to square the match. Arnott won the third, then on the fourth both made good drives of 260 yards. is a 545 yards one and the longest on the course. It has a dog's leg to the right and is also a blind hole due to the fact that the fairway turns around a jutting toe of Rundle Mountain. It is a difficult par 5 hole but both players were on the green in threes. Thompson holed out with two putts but Arnott missed one and failed to halve. The match was once more square. Both drove short on the sixth with their second shots, Arnott made a poor approach and Thompson landed in a bunker. They halved the hole with fives. On the sixth, a straight drive of 150 yards from tee to pin, both landed their first shots on the green but once more Arnott missed a putt and Thompson took the hole and one up. The seventh hole, a 450 yards one, is an interesting and pretty one; it has a dog's leg to the right and the impression is of driving at the slope of the mountain. Both men drove clear over the trees at the dog's leg and both reached the green in three. Arnott holed out in par 5 but it was Thompson's turn to mis-putt and Arnott squared the match. The eighth is known as the Devil's Cauldron on account of its bowl-like shape and small lake. It is only 105 yards from tee to pin but the ball must drop dead on the green. Both landed safely but once more Thompson missed his putt and Arnott stood one up. Again on the ninth, Thompson missed a putt while Arnott took a par 4 and stood 2 up. The tenth, a straight 330 yards from tee to green, went to Thompson with a par 4 for Arnott missed a putt.

On the 11th, with Arnott one up, Thompson drove into the rough and under a tree. He recovered but his shot landed on top of a bunker and his third was just short of the green. Arnott holed out in a birdie 4 and stood 2 up. A greens trap cost Arnott the 12th hole and a reduced lead, then Thompson got in the rough and also missed a putt on the 13th to restore it. On the fourteenth both struck trouble. The river curves into the direct line from tee to green and the fairway curves with the river. It is only a 120 yards hole so both men drove straight for the green. Thompson's ball landed in a trap but Arnott's headed for a watery finish, then struck a partly submerged rock and glanced off to land on the green. Arnott missed a putt that balanced Thompson's trouble with the trap, and they halved the hole in fours, one above par. The 15th began with Arnott still 2 up, then drove behind a tree and took three shots to reach the green, while Thompson was on in two and holed out in four. Arnott was thus one up at the 16th which they halved in par fours. Thompson took the 17th with a par 3 to Arnott's 4 and tied the game up. From the 18th tee both made 300 yard drives, had good seconds but Arnott's approach was weak. Thompson's ball lay four feet from the pin and Arnott's ten. The latter missed his putt and Thompson holed out to stand 1 up on the morning's round.

Commencing the second 18 in the afternoon with Thompson one up, both played carefully and made straight 200 yards on the first. Arnott was on in two but Thompson landed his ball caught the edge of the cup and was deflected to halve this hole also. Thompson won the 10th to stand one up, but lost the lead on the 11th when his ball stopped behind a tree and he lost one stroke in passing out to the fairway. On the 12th Arnott's drive landed eight feet from in the rough near the green. He got out nicely, cleared the bunker and lay within 8 feet of the cup. Arnott took two putts to hole, but Thompson missed one and the full game was squared again. On the second green which both reached in twos, Thompson's approach placed a full stymie on Arnott. Arnott's ball took Thompson's in with it and placed Thompson one up. The third hole was halved; on the fourth Thompson found a trap from which he recovered to land short and Arnott took the hole and squared the game. The fifth and sixth, seventh and eighth were halved. The ninth looked like being Arnott's but the pin and Thompson's 20 feet. Arnott laid down a full stymie and took the hole with a par 3. On the thirteenth Thompson squared the game with a birdie 4, although his second shot went over the green. The 14th was halved in par threes, then Thompson found a trap on the 15th and lost a stroke; Arnott took the hole and a lead of one up. The 16th put the Manitoba player two up, then in the 17th he drove into a trap while Thompson's landed on the green and his approach placed his ball within four inches of the pin. Arnott made a splendid recovery from the trap and looked like halving the hole. He missed his putt, however, and Thompson took the hole and reduced Arnott's lead to one.

At the 18th tee then, Arnott needed merely to halve the hole to win the trophy while Thompson's only hope was an outright win that would take the game into the 37th hole or more. Both made good drives

Thompson's second landed on the green and dug dirt as it stopped. Arnott's landed in a trap slightly in front and to the left of the green. While spectators held their breaths Arnott's club went back then—a little cloud of sand arose from which the ball emerged to fall back into the trap. Again he played and again the

and their second shots lay Arnott on the right of the green and Thompson on the left. Arnott's approach placed his ball six feet from the pin and Thompson's lay five feet away. Judges carefully measured the distances then signalled Arnott to play. Still smiling as he had all day—no sign on his face or in his bearing that the short putt about to be played was almost certain to ruin his chances of winning the envied trophy—Bill Thompson "flopped" on the ground near the edge of the green. The scene and conclusion has been described—Arnott missed his putt and Thompson sank his.

The surprised and thrilled spectators followed the players to the first—37th fairway, where both men made good drives of about equal distances.

ball rolled back, then almost recklessly he hit it and it jumped on to the edge of the green. One putt placed it eight feet from the pin but the Manitoba champion did not follow it—he walked over to the "now not-smiling" Bill Thompson and shook hands. It was a heart-breaking game to lose—to have victory assured—as near as the results of a golf game can be assured—then have a two-inch miss snatch it away.

In the second flights also some spectacular golf was seen and the finals found C. Reid, of Banff, last year's holder of the cup, playing Andrew H. Brown, of New Rochelle, New York. The Banff player won 1 up in a very tight game. The first annual week of Golf at Banff was not confined to the Prince of Wales

Trophy event only; there were many other competitions including men's handicap and women's handicap games, driving contests and approaching and putting contests for both sexes and an exhibition game of golf-archery played between two Canadian pros—Phil Taylor, of Victoria, and Dave Black, of Vancouver—and two Stony Indian Chiefs—Lone Walker and Walking Caribou. The golfers won two up and one to go. The prizes were presented by Dr. Ernest Kennedy, president of the Banff Springs Golf Club, who was introduced by Mr. A. H. Devenish, manager of the Banff Springs Hotel, on Saturday evening, August 23rd, in the ballroom of the Banff Springs Hotel. Most of the competitors gave short addresses and all spoke in glowing terms of the game, the Banff Springs Golf Course and the pleasures had

Mr. G. S. Lyon Delighted with Banff Course

The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" is in receipt of the following particularly interesting letter from Mr. George S. Lyon, the world's greatest veteran golfer:—

"I am enclosing you a short description of what I consider one of the finest golf courses I have ever played over and as you know I have played over the best in Great Britain, the United States and Canada. I left here via the C.P.R. on August 13th, accompanied by Mr. Stanley Thompson and Mr. W. J. Thompson, the former being head of the well known firm of golf architects, the latter a well known golfer and an ex-champion of Canada, also a prominent barrister. We had a delightful trip out to Banff. We arrived there on Saturday morning at about 10.40 o'clock. This was my first visit to Banff and to tell you the truth I found it difficult to believe a good golf course could be laid out where nothing could be seen but mountains and the Bow River, and even when we arrived at the hotel it did not seem that anything but a mediocre course was in existence. In the afternoon the manager of the hotel, Mr. Devenish, joined us in a four-ball match and we proceeded to the first tee. I, of course, as well as "W. J.", was seeing the course for the first time and you can imagine our surprise at finding hole after hole in perfect condition. It was just like walking on a carpet, nice and soft under foot and every hole well bunkered but quite fairly, and the putting greens as good as I ever played on. I really was never so agreeably surprised.

I did not tell you earlier in my letter that we went to Banff to play in a tournament for the Prince of Wales Cup, which was being played for, for the first time the Prince having presented a cup for annual competition over the Banff Springs Hotel Course. There were a large number of entries including players from Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, and British Columbia. W. J. (Bill) Thompson and I were the only entrants from the East. We both qualified in the first sixteen. I just squeezed in in 14th place. Jack Fraser, of Victoria, won the medal, and if I remember his score was 77. There were some very well fought matches. Arnott, the Manitoba champion, defeated K. C. Allan on the last green, and Thompson had to display his best golf to defeat Fraser, from the Coast, who was favoured by many to win the cup. I succeeded in reaching the semi-finals by defeating Jack Hargraves, from the Coast, and Mr. Roenish, of Calgary, but was put out of the running by Arnott, of Winnipeg.

Thompson and Arnott reached the final and I never saw a more exciting match. It was at 36 holes and Thompson was 1 up at the lunch hour. In the afternoon final round it was ding dong all the way finally ending up all square, so they proceeded to the 37th. Both drives were about even, with Arnott away. His second found the bunker on the left and Thompson made no mistake, placing his long iron shot five feet from the pin and as Arnott took four to get on the green he shook hands and left W. J. Thompson, of Toronto, the first winner of the Prince of Wales Cup. Mr. Thompson's last round was made in 71, par for the course, which was the best single round of the tournament.

During our stay at the Banff Springs Hotel, Mr. H. F. Matthews, general manager of the C.P.R. Western Hotels, very kindly took a party of ten of us for a motor trip up to Lake Louise Hotel, a distance of over forty miles from Banff. The drive was a most delightful one and when half way there we detoured about five miles up the Windermere road to a camp called Caster Mountain Camp. There are a number of log cabins all well furnished and having every modern convenience and talk about playing golf on the roof of the world. We were 6,300 feet above sea level and we played golf on a miniature course for two prizes presented by Stanley Thompson. Phil Taylor, pro. of Victoria, B.C., won first and K. C. Allan second. We then adjourned to the main log cabin where we had tea and toast before proceeding to our destination, Lake Louise. We reached there just at sundown and what a lovely spot it is. After a ramble about viewing the sights we had a group photo taken of the party in front of the beautiful Hotel Lake Louise (herewith enclose you a copy of it). We had a sumptuous dinner provided by our host, Mr. H. F. Matthews, after which we attended a very good play in the theatre of the hotel. We left for Banff at 10 o'clock, reaching there a little after midnight. The outing was a delightful one and we are very much indebted to Mr. Matthews for his kindness to us. I might also add that Mr. Meredith, manager of Lake Louise Hotel, helped to make our visit very pleasant.

I want to say in conclusion that anyone paying a visit to the Banff Springs Hotel will be shown every attention and kindness by the genial manager, Mr. A. H. Devenish, and his good wife. There is no more beautiful spot in the world to spend a few weeks holidays. Golf, fishing, swimming, riding, in fact, every recreation one could wish for.

A number of friends came down to the station to see us off and expressed the hope that we would come back next year. We stopped off for a day in Winnipeg and I had a round over the St. Charles Country Club with my old friend of cricket and golfing fame, Mr. C. P. Wilson, K.C. Altogether one of the most delightful trips I have ever spent in my life."

Seniors of Great Britain, United States and Canada

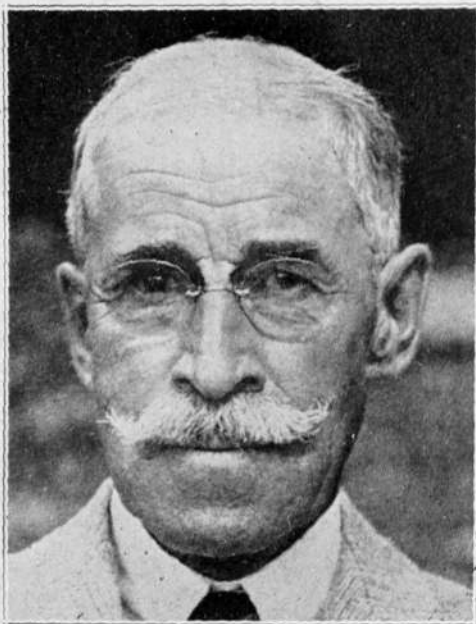

Stage a Memorable Tournament at the Toronto Golf Club. Some Two Hundred Leading Golfers of the Three Countries Participate. United States Wins Triangular International Match and Also Match with Canada. Mr. George S. Lyon Again Crowned Senior Champion of the Dominion and Individual Senior Champion of America. Mr. C. A. Bogert Resigns from Presidency, and Mr. P. D. Ross Elected in His Place. Brilliant Speech of Hon. Martin Burrell and Brilliant Golf by Mr. J. B. Pease

THAT very virile and vigorous veteran organization, the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, at the Toronto Golf Club, the first week of September, staged one of the most remarkable programmes ever registered in the history of the Royal and Ancient Game in Canada. For the first time the Association, which came into being in 1918, staged a six-day programme, this being necessitated owing to the fact that in addition to the regular three-day tournament for the Canadian Seniors, the triangular matches, Great Britain, the United States and Canada, the International match, United States vs. Canada for the Devonshire Gold Cup, and the Individual Senior Championship of America were all included in the schedule. Such a gargantuan programme of Senior golf has never before been run off in Canada, or for that matter, in any other country.

"It's always fair weather when Seniors get together" and at the Toronto Golf Club this condition as usual held sway, although a rakish rain storm which lasted only for an hour or so on the second day spoiled some of the afternoon scores. The Toronto course, notwithstanding the severe drought which had prevailed for some time throughout Ontario, was in superb condition. The hospitality of Mr. R. C. H. Cassels, K.C., president of the club, and his members was simply unbounded, and altogether the Tournament which lasted from Monday to Saturday went with a "swing and follow through" which left nothing to be desired.

Internationally, the results from a British and Canadian standpoint, were not particularly encouraging. Our good golfing cousins from across the Border not only won the Triangular match, Great Britain, the States and Canada, but also once again the Devonshire Cup, symbolic of American Senior golfing supremacy, and that, too, by rather an overwhelming score. There is no use side-stepping the fact that with its membership of six hundred or so the United States can field a Senior team that Canada can hardly even hope to cope with. Only twice have the representatives of the Dominion won the Cup, whilst the U.S. representatives have now eleven victories to their credit. The one solace from an International standpoint, was the fact that "the grandest Senior of them all", Mr. George S. Lyon, who pleads guilty to being in his 73rd "verdant" year, and nexed the Individual Senior Championship with the remarkable score of 75, two strokes ahead of D. A. Tallman, the leading U.S. player in this competition. Then, too, it must not be forgotten that Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, captain of the British team, topped all the scores made during the week. His double round of 73-76 for 149 in the Canadian Championship would have given him the title if he had been eligible to accept it. Then, too, he won all his individual matches during the Tournament. A very fine, polished golfer is the eminent London financier, as is also Mr. E. H. Blackwell, famous Scottish golfer, who also made a clean sweep in the Triangular foursomes and singles.

In the Canadian section of the Championship there was a record number of entries as follows:—Class A, 55 to 59 years, 35; Class B, 60 to 64 years, 52; Class C, 65 to 69 years, 27; Class D, 70 years and upwards, 29. In all a goodly company of 143 golfing gentlemen. The entry in Class D was especially remarkable. There were three players in this class "stepping on eighty or over" but they played 18 holes two days on end and "stepped" just as lively as many youths in the mere sixties and less. Altogether a wonderful tribute to the value and virtue of "the game of games" and its capacity to add to the span of life and to some extent at least do away with its dreariness and drabness.

The following prize list in a nutshell will tell what happened during the three days of the Canadian Tournament when some one hundred and fifty stalwarts strove for supremacy in the various classes and various fields:—

Best gross 36 holes (miniature of Shaughnessy Championship Cup), won by George S. Lyon, Lambton, 76-76—152.

Class D—Best nett 36 holes, won by Alfred Wright, Toronto, 184-36-148.

A very gratifying feature of the 1930 Tournament was that the cups were widely distributed. Heretofore, Toronto and Montreal players have more or less dominated the situation. It will be noticed this year that Perth, Simcoe, Sarnia, Haileybury, Brantford, Ottawa, Hamilton, Cornwall, Brampton and Galt golfers figure amongst the winners. 'Tis a good thing to have the honours go round a bit.

Once again the retiring president of the Association, Mr. C. A. Bogert, with his partner, Mr. A. E. Dymont, a fellow member of the Toronto Club, took the lead in the interesting foursome matches, which it is a great pity are not played more often in Canada, in Great Britain they are still the vogue in all competitions. In 1928 His Excellency the Governor-General partnered with Mr. Bogert won the cups and in 1929 they tied for them with Lt.-Col. Moodie, of Hamilton, and Mr. T. Rennie, of Toronto. A splendid spirit of comradeship and team-play is engendered in a foursome. Two well known Royal Montreal players, Messrs. A. B. Evans and T. E. Merrett, were the winners of the second prize foursome cups. Winners of the putting cups were D. Robertson, Ottawa; Dr. Beattie, Toronto; Col. Paul J. Myler, Hamilton, and

Mr. J. Dix Fraser, Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto, runner-up in the Canadian Championship and winner of the Nesbitt Cup.

J. A. Ogilvie, Brantford. H. C. F. Poste, of Cornwall, a new member, won the driving competition, and Mr. John Rennie the second prize. First and second prizes in the approaching and putting competition went to J. R. Fallis, Brampton, and H. J. Martin, Toronto. Mr. J. Dix Fraser, a well known Rosedale golfer, played fine golf to win the Nesbitt Cup, which ranks next to the Shaughnessy Cup.

Mr. George S. Lyon in winning for the tenth time the Championship of the Association, came in for all sorts of congratulations. It is getting to be a continuous performance with this "veteran of veterans" and the general hope is that he will not "weary of well doing"—not until he is eighty anyway. In all classes the competition was very keen, a stroke or so generally accounting for the winning or losing of the various coveted solid silver cups.

The result of the club competition for the beautiful trophy presented by the Seniors' Golfers Society of Great Britain was:—

Lambton Golf Club, 580—Geo. S. Lyon, 142; J. Powley, 144; G. L. Robinson, 146; J. A. Kilpatrick, 148—580.

Toronto Golf Club, 583—A. E. Dymment, 143; C. A. Ross, 143; A. Wright, 148; E. A. Begg, 149—583.

Last year Rivermead won the trophy with a score of 563.

Very keen interest was taken in the Triangular matches, Great Britain, United States and Canada. The United States won the event quite handily scoring 28½ points. Great Britain by the narrow margin of a ½ point nosed out Canada for second place. The scores:—

Great Britain has won this interesting match twice, 1927 and 1929, and the United States twice, 1928 and 1930.

Then the International match, the United States vs. Canada. It was rather thought that Canada would have a very good chance to annex this fixture but the United States fielded a particularly strong team. There was really very little to choose between the first man on their team and the last man. A combination like this is hard to beat and the U. S. registered one of the most crushing defeats of the series. The score:—

The Annual Meeting of the Association

On Tuesday evening during Tournament week the annual meeting of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association was held at the Toronto Golf Club, the president, Mr. C. A. Bogert, in the chair. There was a large attendance of members. The annual report of the very capable secretary-treasurer, Mr. A. C. Ashforth, was very satisfactory. Total receipts for the year were $4,078.69, whilst disbursements amounted to $3,272.27, leaving the very comfortable surplus of $806.42, whereas a year ago a slight deficit existed. The financial position attained was the best in the history of the Association.

Sir Herbert Walker, K.C.B., London, Sunningdale Golf Club, chairman of the Southern Railway.

The chief feature of the meeting was the admirable address of the retiring president, Mr. Bogert, who for virtually four years has presided in such a delightful and dignified manner over the destinies of the Association.

"The present Tournament," he said, is a particularly interesting one because we have the great pleasure of a visit from teams of British and U.S. Senior golfers, who are taking part in International matches during the next three days. We extend to them a most hearty welcome, with the hope that their stay in Canada will be interesting and enjoyable. This is the first occasion on which the triangular matches have been played in Canada, and, as I mentioned last September, it is wholly through the courtesy and consideration of the U.S. Seniors that this was brought about. A team from the U.S. visited Canada last year to play in the Devonshire Cup match and it was really our turn to play in the United States in 1930. They very kindly waived the usual procedure because the triangular matches had already been played in the United States in the year 1928.

With deep regret, I wish to make reference to the loss that has been sustained by your Association in the removal, by death, of several prominent members during the twelve months—all of them devoted to the interests of the Association, and some of them exceptionally active in its affairs:—

W. J. Barr, Toronto, a member since July, 1918. J. F. Edgar, Toronto, a member since Aug., 1923. T. G. McConkey, Toronto, Aug., 1926. H. B. Mackenzie, Montreal, a member since July, 1919. Dr. E. Meek, Port Rowan, a member since Sept., 1927. Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, Toronto, a member since July, 1918. F. G. Oliver, Toronto, a member since July, 1928. F. J. Shaw, Montreal, a member since Aug., 1926. W. C. Whitaker, London, a member since Aug., 1921. Geo. S. Deeks, Lambton, a member since Aug., 1928. J. H. McGregor, Lambton, a member since Aug., 1918.

The late Hon. Wallace Nesbitt was one of the original members of the Association, and at the first meeting, held at the Royal Montreal Golf Club on Saturday, May 18th, 1918, was elected first vice-president—a position he held until he retired in 1927.

I have pleasure in informing you that your Governors have continued to take a very earnest interest in the Association, and I am greatly indebted to them for their assistance and support during the year. Several meetings have been held, and we hope that the results of our efforts will meet with your approval.

Mr. E. H. Blackwell, Royal and Ancient Golf Club, and celebrated Scottish Amateur. He starred in the Triangular Matches.

The services of Mr. Ashforth, the secretary-treasurer, who was appointed to the position a year ago, have been of great value and I have constant personal knowledge of his successful labours on your behalf.

When my predecessor in office, the late W. R. Baker, the Founder of the Association, concluded about four years ago that the state of his health would not permit him to continue his duties, he asked me if I would consent to have my name presented to the members as his successor. While very sensible of this honour, with great reluctance I agreed to do so, and at the annual meeting held in Montreal on September 8th, 1927, when you were good enough to elect me to succeed Mr. Baker, I then stated that I considered that no one should occupy the position for more than two or three years at the outside. I also made reference to this at the last two annual meetings, and in 1929 agreed to carry on for another twelve months, chiefly because the Tournament and International matches were to be held on the links of the Toronto Golf Club, with which I am associated. As a matter of fact, I have practically been in office four years, for during 1926-27, a good many of Mr. Baker's duties fell on my shoulders on account of his indisposition.

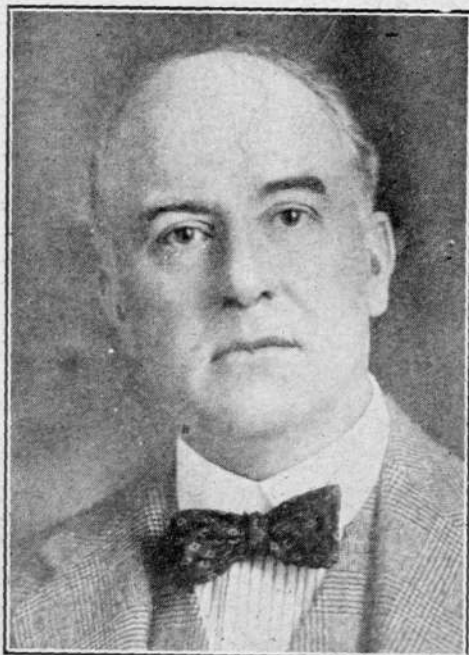

During the year I have discussed these matters with your Governors, as a result of which some changes will be suggested for your approval at this meeting, and will be covered by a resolution shortly to be submitted to you. Mr. P. D. Ross, who has been honorary president of the Association for six years, has always taken a most earnest interest in its welfare and has indeed done a great deal more work than is usual in the case of an honorary president, has agreed to accept the presidency and I have no hesitation in saying to the members present that you are extremely fortunate in having Mr. Ross's consent to his nomination, particularly as he is a man whose time is very fully occupied with many affairs.

I am glad to inform you that your Governors have obtained the acquiescence of the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert L. Borden, P.C., G.C.M.G., K.C., D.C.L., LL.D., to succeed Mr. Ross as the honorary president of the Association; it will indeed be gratifying to have such an outstanding Canadian as Sir Robert as honorary head of our Association. He is an enthusiastic golfer and a regular attendant at our Tournaments. He has asked me to express to you his great regret that he is unable to be in Toronto this week as he was suddenly obliged to leave the country on important affairs of state.

In retiring from the presidency, I desire to record my deep gratitude to the Governors who have been associated with me since I took office. I have found them at all times ready to assist me in conducting the affairs of the Association, unselfishly giving their time and services whenever it was necessary. My relations with the members as a whole have been most cordial and even though my retirement will not bring me so closely in contact with them as during the past, I hope we shall have many opportunities of friendly intercourse during the years to come.

In relinquishing office, I would like to express—in a more tangible way than some inadequate words—my appreciation of very happy relations with the members of this Association since I became one of your Governors, and particularly since you did me the honour of electing me to the presidency.

In casting my eye over the very lengthy trophy and prize list, it occurs to me that he is a very indifferent player indeed who cannot during the course of a few years appropriate at least one of the numerous prizes which are provided annually for competition. I find, however, that for some reason or other—it may have been overlooked—there is no special trophy given for the player who makes the best total nett score in all classes during the two days of our medal round competition. We have, of course, the Shaughnessy Trophy for the two best gross scores, and the winner is the champion for the year, but it seems to me that the member—no matter what his age or handicap may be—who, by his skill, steadiness and determination—makes the two lowest nett scores, is entitled to almost, if not as much credit as the champion. It would, therefore, give me great pleasure to donate a trophy to the Canadian

Seniors' Golf Association, to be played for annually, and to be held for one year by the member who distinguishes himself in the way I have described. If this suggestion is approved, I shall gladly make such arrangements as are necessary under which the winner of the trophy will be given each year a miniature replica of the Cup.

If your Governors are of the opinion that some more suitable purpose can be suggested for a trophy, I will only too gladly fall in with their wishes, but make the suggestion that this be left to them for their decision.

During the three years that I have been your chairman, I have, naturally, had many opportunities of observing very closely the activities and wide-spreading influence of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, and I am convinced that no athletic organization in the Dominion of Canada does more to uphold, and further, true amateur sport; I think that we can, and do, set an example to all other organizations. It is undoubtedly, and unfortunately, true that in some lines of athletics, methods and practices exist which are justly open to criticism. We have on our membership list representative men from all parts of Canada who have at one time or another engaged in other games, and who have the highest ideals in sport traditions. Let the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association be a synonym for everything that is of the best! Let us continue to select as our members men who will firmly uphold the best interests of real amateurism and carry on the ambitions and aims of the Founder of this Association, the late W. R. Baker, and those who assisted him in its organization."

On motion of Mr. George Lyman, seconded by Mr. R. Gamble, the following Board of Governors was unanimously elected:—

Clarence A. Bogert, Rt. Hon. Sir Robert L. Borden, Hon. Martin Burrell, J. E. Caldwell, A. E. Dymont, A. B. Evans, Sir George Garneau, R. H. Greene, George S. Lyon, E. H. Macklin, J. L. McCulloch, J. J. McGill, S. L. McKay, Lt.-Col. J. B. Miller, Col. J. R. Moodie, Paul J. Myler, E. L. Pease, Ralph H. Reville, Geo. L. Robinson, Frank A. Rolph, P. D. Ross, W. Hastings Webbling, H. H. Williams, C. P. Wilson, K.C.

It was moved by Mr. H. O. McCulloch, seconded by Mr. J. A. Kilpatrick, and unanimously carried:—

That the following be elected officers of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association for the ensuing year:—

Patron, His Excellency The Viscount Willingdon, G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.B.E., Governor-General of Canada; honorary president, The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert L. Borden, P.C., G.C.M.G., K.C., D.C.L., LL.D., the Royal Ottawa Golf Club; president, P. D. Ross, the Royal Ottawa Golf Club; first vice-president, The Hon. Martin Burrell, the Royal Ottawa Golf Club; second vice-president, R. H. Greene, Lambton Golf and Country Club; chairman of tournament committee, Geo. L. Robinson, Lambton Golf and Country Club; secretary-treasurer, A. C. Ashforth.

Mr. P. D. Ross in a few well chosen words thanked the members for the honour conferred upon him in his election to the presidency.

A vote of thanks to the president, officers and members of the Toronto Golf Club for the privileges accorded the Association during the annual tournament, was moved by the Hon. Frank Carroll and carried by a standing vote.

The Annual Dinner of the Association

As usual the Association's annual dinner was quite one of the outstanding features of Tournament Week, more especially as the Hon. Martin Burrell was once again the speaker of the evening. Last year at Ottawa he for the first time in many years, was sorely missed from the toast list.

Mr. P. D. Ross, the newly elected president, made an admirable chairman and presided over a brilliant gathering of prominent British, United States and Canadian Seniors. Regrettable absentees were His Excellency the Governor-General and Sir Robert Laird Borden. Lord Willingdon, who is hon. patron of the Association and who for the past two years has participated in the Tournament and attended the dinner, was unable to be present owing to important matters of state requiring his presence at the capital. Sir Robert, the hon. president, is attending the League of Nations Council and Assembly at Geneva—a most worthy Canadian representative.

After the enthusiastic drinking of the toasts to "The King" and the "President of the United States" the chairman called upon Mr. Burrell to propose the toast to "Our Guests" which he did in the following incomparable manner:—

Mr. Chairman, gentlemen from Great Britain and the United States, and Canadian Seniors.

Facing an audience composed of those who have long overcome the inanities and follies of extreme youth and who look upon life with the wisdom acquired of long experience, there is a temptation to give a certain philosophical cast to one's words. It may be true that man came originally from a microscopic dab of mud and will in the far distant future be a toothless, hairless, stiff-limbed being incapable of extended locomotion. Some are interested in the remote past, some in the remote future. The majority, no doubt, are those simple souls who believe that now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation.

It is certain that each generation conceives itself to be wiser and better than those of former days and looking at this—to use a well-worked word—distinguished gathering I have no doubt that most of you complacently comfort yourselves with the belief that man has at last 'arrived', that the last word in culture has been spoken, and that the past is a 'wash-out!' But I am not sure that the manner in which the modern world expresses itself in its large gatherings is very different from that which characterized the state of primitive man. So-called civilized progress repeats the fashions of the barbarians. For when our ancestors in the dim twilight of history celebrated tribally there was first of all the feast, then the orations, and then the dance. A little variation, perhaps in the form. The meat was probably not then so well cooked, usually, indeed, uncooked; the speeches were possibly more guttural in delivery, though probably of the same ghastly length; and the dancers had less clothes on, though looking about me at some recent gatherings I am not so sure of this. But man, after all, remains an eating, talking, and dancing animal.

But it is pleasant, indeed to be here again in this gathering of good fellows which marks once more the reunion of old friends in the commemoration of a great sport; a sport which is a comparatively modern invention, at least we have no record of it back of that great occasion when Ananias, after a bad lie, fell dead, and Sapphira, after a worse lie, halved the hole.

We regret that Lord Willingdon is not here. I know that there was no lack of desire on his part. But the King's Government must be carried on, and it is obvious that there are times when the King's representative must be on hand to manifest and exemplify, as His Excellency so well does, the continuity of those great traditions which are associated with the Throne, the symbol of those bonds, imponderable yet so strong, which tie the component parts of our far-flung Empire together.

When Mr. W. R. Baker, the Founder and for many years president of our Association, retired from office we were fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Bogert, whose labours have been conspicuously successful, and reluctant we are to lose him. I am told that the bank with which he has been associated for so many years has forged its way to the front rank of our financial institutions, and I use the word forge without any double or sinister meaning. But it was a happy thing that a gentleman so well equipped for the duties should have turned his administrative talents to the affairs of our Senior Golfers' Association and placed it in such an excellent position as it occupies to-day. We are sorry to see him relinquish a post whose duties he performed in so able a way, and he leaves with us a debt of gratitude which we trust will be at least some satisfaction to him, and the more so because of the sincerity of our feelings. (Applause).

And if we regret the termination of his tenure of office we are delighted to know that that true sportsman and public-spirited friend of us all, Mr. P. D. Ross, has consented to take the presidency of our association. If I may use the expression I would characterize Mr. Ross as a whole-hogger. He is none of your Laodicean fellows, neither hot nor cold, but one who, having undertaken to do a thing, does it with all his might. And we have had evidence of this when, throwing aside the great game which he is so devoted to, he thrust all his energies and time this summer into the performance of a fine public service, and, free from all skimpiness of spirit, has in his large and generous way not boggled at a few millions more or less in his recommendations. We are lucky, indeed, to salute him as our head. (Hear Hear).

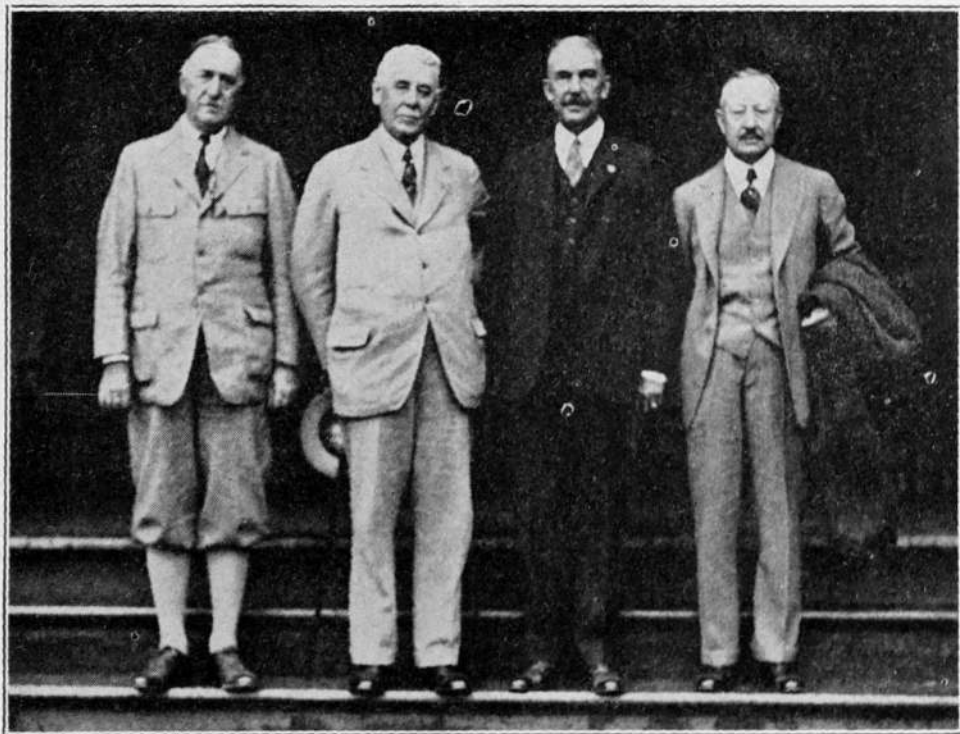

Then there will be unanimous approval of the election of my old chief, Sir Robert Borden, to the office of hon. president. We had hoped to have had him with us tonight to propose the toast to our golfing visitors. But he felt it right to accede to the wish of the Prime Minister, and I do not know any man who is so worthily equipped to represent Canada at the League of Nations' Council and Assembly at Geneva as that distinguished son of Nova Scotia. I saw him off at the station recently and he particularly desired me to convey his good wishes to this gathering and to express his regret that he could not be with us. (Applause).

The oftener I come to those meetings—and I have attended most of them—the more I am struck with the youthfulness of the atmosphere. And this is in accordance with the spirit of the age. Gone are the days when grandmother and grandfather dozed by the fireside, the one knitting and the other pretending to read the newspapers. We have changed all that. I am even told that in an old ladies' home in Georgia the inmates have recently discarded their cards and knitting and are taking lessons in boxing. This seems rather an extreme effort to recapture youth. But I know of an old lady of 79 who learnt to drive a motor car when 76, and quite recently I stopped on the street to speak to a much-respected member of our own golf club who was waiting for the bus to take him to the course, having the day before played eighteen holes. And he was approaching his eighty-sixth birthday. More power to his elbow! It is true that an eminent physician at the Winnipeg Conference the other day warned his hearers not to make a fetish of golf and pointed out that in all forms of recreation the value is in the fact that the centre of interest is altered, other reactions are initiated and the mind is preoccupied with problems entirely different from those associated with work. And the moral is that golf should be play, and not, as some make it, work, and sometimes hard and depressing work. Yet what a restorer and sustainer of health the great game is!

Well, Sir, you will say that, as usual, I am a long time coming to our friends of the British and American teams. But they have been in my thoughts all the time. So quickly do the years pass that it seems only the other day, in this very room, we were greeting Mr. Pease and his colleagues, and ing of your much-loved former president, Lord Balfour. Statesman, philosopher, writer, lover of great games, he was eminent in all spheres. Devoting long years of his life to the service of his country, his fine example was a rebuke to those who selfishly keep aloof from all participation in public affairs. Ever believing that health must consist in a having a sound mind in a sound body he set high store on recreation and was long a devotee of the glad we are to welcome them again. We miss some of those who were here formerly, but we extend the right hand of fellowship to those who have come in their place. Those of us who were fortunate enough to be in England last year have not forgotten your courtesies and hospitality. We recall that memorable dinner in the Royal and Ancient clubhouse when the strongest whiskey I ever tasted washed down the strongest haggis that was ever piped round a table. Nor do we forget that equally memorable banquet at which that fine sportsman and genial speaker, Lord Derby, presided, and we congratulate you on having him as your president.

And here, Mr. Pease, I want on behalf of all our members to express our sense of the great loss you experienced in the pass-great game we are now celebrating. In the arena of sport, as in the great arena of politics, victory never disturbed his poise, and—greater still—defeat never left a vestige of rancour or bitterness. All who met him were impressed by his unflinching charm and courtesy, a courtesy which was but the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace. One who knew him well said that when he entered a room the atmosphere seemed to change for the better, that it was like the appearance of the sun on an April day. No higher tribute could be paid to any man, and again I desire to express to you, Sir, something of the feeling that springs from our hearts as we note your loss. (Hear, Hear).

One hears occasionally that England is passing through some sorely trying days.

An eminent economist, member of an advisory committee appointed by the government, has published a book suggesting a series of remedies which another distinguished Englishman has criticized as containing proposals calculated to curdle the blood of bankers, business men and even trade unionists. I am not frightened. The banners that have flown so gallantly through many a storm in the past will still fly, I venture to think, after we are gathered to our fathers. The old sturdy spirit of independence is still there, though

Mr. R. C. H. Cassels, K.C., president of the Toronto Golf Club, and chairman of the Rules Committee of the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

I do not like a recent definition of that word put upon it when a man went to a friend of Lord Dawson's and remarked that he hardly knew what to do as he was offered a job which would give five shillings a week more than he was getting from the dole, but that, after thinking it over, he had decided not to take it as he preferred to be independent! But if dark days are yours, Gentlemen of England, you have seen dark days before and have fought your way to the sunshine and will again.

Besides, Sir, when the chairman of one of England's greatest banks can come across the seas on pleasure bent I am reassured about the soundness of her financial institutions. And I am sure that Scotch litigation must be at the minimum, and the Scottish Bar and Bench be working smoothly, or Lord Morison would not be amongst us. And the representatives of England's great commercial life who are with us do not have the haggard look of the unemployed, or if unemployed only temporarily so. Mr. Pease is not less courteous or skillful than he was on his last visit. Mr. Clayton shows no signs of anaemia. Colonel Popham is still the most affable and unselfish of fellows, and as the mellow tones of Mr. Hewitt's voice come floating across the fairways and the greens I detect no evidence of depression and certainly none of taciturnity. And so I conclude that England is still safe and that the great heart of the Empire is still sound.

I turn to our American friends who, as I have always insisted, are the best possible missionaries from their country for the spreading of the gospel of International goodwill. The years have made changes in their team, too, but we are glad to shake hands with the old friends and welcome the new. We must perforce watch with peculiar interest the doings and developments of our neighbouring country. For some years we have noted with amazement your tremendous progress. It has been said that you were so gorged with wealth that there were not wanting signs of rather acute individual and national indigestion. Physical indigestion is, we know, accompanied not infrequently by a certain flatulence, and, in bad cases, by colic. And I am told that fasting is the best cure. It is possible that you are trying the remedy at the present time (laughter). Many people and many things in your country we like greatly, some not so greatly. Little things sometimes in life annoy more than big ones. I have wished occasionally that your very competent but rather flamboyant journalists would not use so freely the word shot and shooting when describing the golfer's stroke. Is it that those two words are required so frequently in the reporting of the daily happenings in your great Republic that they have been unconsciously incorporated into the language of a more innocent form of sport?

You gentlemen, too, I am told have been suffering from hard times. Indeed I heard one of your more pessimistic countrymen recently say that if things didn't improve the very Republic itself was in danger of busting. I am not so gloomy. You have emerged from testing times before, and I have the profoundest faith in your ability to survive those which may be troubling you now. We are convinced that there is in your people a basic strength and sanity that will enable you to weather any storms that come your way. And we prefer to judge you, not by the Aimee Semple Macphersons, Bill Thompsons, et hoc genus omne that float up to the surface of your national life, but rather by the Bobby Joneses, the Lindberghs, and Admiral Byrds who so happily combine fine performance with fine character. (Applause).

You are happy in having retained as captain so fine a golfer and so genial a comrade as Mr. Snare whom we are always glad to meet. We, too, are rather proud of our own George Lyon, the Nestor of Canadian golfers, and for my own part I hope these two will continue in their present offices for many long years to come.

*In great hotels and clubs they're saying,
"Have you tried this remarkable new table water,
'CANADA DRY'S SPARKLING SODA'?"*

WHEN the waiter flips the cap off the bottle, it comes gushing forth in a clear, crystal stream. And as you drink it, mixed with fruit juices or other beverages, you'll explain, "This is it, the best drink I've had in many and many a day!" Sharp and crisp in taste, Canada Dry's Sparkling Soda cools and refreshes. Used alone it is delicious as a table water. Could you doubt its purity? It is made by the same company which makes the world-famous "Canada Dry", the finest ginger ale on the market. The same care in mixing, the same exact standards, the same secret and exclusive process of carbonation result in a beverage equal in quality in every way to "Canada Dry." Inevitably this remarkable beverage will appeal to people who naturally prefer the best. Inevitably, you'll want it. *Order today. # CANADA DRY'S SPARKLING SODA

I haven't the faintest idea what is going to happen in these triangular matches. As for us we shall tackle you both blithely again, but I put it to you, our American friends, have you ever met anybody whom you have licked so soundly so many times so cheery about the welcome they give you?

It is pleasant that this tournament should be held here. Doubtless it is inconvenient to the members of the Toronto Golf Club, who find themselves dispossessed of their links for a whole week. But they are generous people, and to them, as well as to those who have looked so well after the course, and to those who have so admirably catered to our comfort in the club house we owe a debt of gratitude which we here gladly record. (Hear, Hear).

I shall couple the toast which I am about to propose with the name of our good friend, Mr. Pease, and our other good friend, Mr. Woodward. Gentlemen, I ask you to rise and to drink very heartily and cordially to the health of our English and American visitors!

Mr. Burrell was cheered again and again at the conclusion of his inspiring speech, generally conceded to be perhaps the best of the many, he has delivered at the dinners of the Seniors' Association.

Very delightful and dignified replies to the toast were made by Mr. J. B. Pease, captain of the British Seniors; Mr. Woodward, president of the U.S. Seniors; Mr. Snare, captain of the U.S. team, and Lord Morison. They one and all stressed the fact that golf and especially Senior golf, was a great factor in bringing together the people of Great Britain, the United States and Canada, and cementing amongst them the bonds of good fellowship, good will and better understanding.

Lord Morison, who is a Privy Councillor and Judge of the High Court of Scotland, thanked Mr. Burrell especially for his gracious remarks about Lord Balfour—a brother Scot. He recalled during a particularly bright address an amusing incident in connection with the late Lord Balfour's visit to Prestwick some years ago. He was then Prime Minister of Great Britain, and was enjoying a week's relaxation on these famous links. A dour old Scottish caddie named Chadwick had been assigned to look after him. Towards the end of the week the Prime Minister informed Chadwick that he was going to play a round with a Mr. MacPherson, whom he had met for the first time the evening previously. "What sort of player is Mr. MacPherson?" he asked. "A damned poor player," said the caddie. Lord Balfour replied, "What sort of handicap then should I give him?" "None at all, sir," answered the candid caddie, "he won't require any". Lord Balfour, stated Lord Morison, always retailed with great gusto this little humbling story at his own expense. It will be remembered that Lord Balfour is generally given credit for introducing golf into England, some forty years ago and starting it on the amazing vogue it is to-day. He learned the game in Scotland as a young man.

Presentation to Mr. Bogert

A particularly happy incident occurred during the dinner when the president, Mr. P. D. Ross, on behalf of the Association presented the retiring president with a very handsome silver cigarette box bearing the inscription:—

To
C. A. Bogert
from

Canadian Senior Golfers

In grateful recognition of his Presidency,
1928-30

Mr. Ross, in fitting terms referred to the invaluable services rendered the Association by Mr. Bogert from its inception, first as Governor and Vice-President and for the past three years as president. He had contributed most unselfishly, both of his time and energy to the welfare and upbuilding of the organization, and its notable success the past few years, was largely attributable to him. It was with the genuine regret of the Governors and every member of the Association that Mr. Bogert's resignation as president which he had insisted on had been received but his services as Governor would be retained and that was a source for congratulation.

Mr. Bogert, who was visibly affected, in reply to Mr. Ross' well deserved tribute, stated that his association with the Seniors, both Governors and members, had at all times been of the most cordial and enjoyable character. He would always treasure the handsome gift presented to him and always treasure the memory of the happy years of his presidency. Round after round of applause was accorded Mr. Bogert before and after his very apt speech. He has done wonderful work for the Seniors' Association, as the Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" can testify, ever since its organization in 1918. It is a particularly happy augury for the future and continued success of the organization that he remains on the Board of Governors.

The C.S.G.A. is to be heartily congratulated on the fact that Mr. P. D. Ross succeeds Mr. Bogert in the presidential chair. An outstanding journalist, an outstanding citizen of Ottawa, and of the Province of Ontario, "P.D.", as he is affectionately known from Coast to Coast, is a most worthy successor to a most worthy predecessor. A former president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, a lover of golf and all amateur sport in many departments of which he has excelled, his presidency of the Seniors will be acclaimed by every member of that representative and august body who have at heart first and foremost the best traditions of the Royal and Ancient game which they love so well and of which Mr. Ross is such an outstanding exponent.

A unique feature of the annual dinner was the singing of a French-Canadian quartette which gained golden opinions, especially from the British and U.S. guests. They made a great hit.

A particularly enjoyable feature of tournament week was the dinner given on Friday evening, September 5th, by Mr. Bogert, the retiring president of the Seniors, at the Toronto Hunt Club, to members of the British, United States and Canadian teams, the Governors of the C.S.G.A.

Lord Willingdon and his partner, Col. Popham, "got busy" and playing the last five holes one under par won a most exciting and interesting match 1 up on the 18th green. At Montreal the Britishers were entertained delightfully at the Royal Montreal and Mount Bruno Golf Clubs. Mr. Ted Blackwell, who ranked equal with Mr. Pease on the British team, both playing from scratch, left Toronto for Jasper Park, Alberta, to spend several days golfing there. He was accompanied by his and a few other guests. There were no formal speeches but several impromptu toasts and lots of good music. It was a thoroughly jolly evening—one that the guests of the popular host will not soon forget.

During their brief visit to Canada—all too brief from the standpoint of their hosts, the members of the British Seniors' Society were entertained at Ottawa and Montreal before coming to Toronto by leading members of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association. At Ottawa friendly games were played at the Royal Ottawa Club and the Ottawa Hunt Club. At the latter club a particularly interesting foursome was participated in by His Excellency the Governor-General and Colonel Popham, D.S.O., hon. secretary of the British Seniors, and Her Excellency Lady Willingdon and Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, captain of the British team. Lady Willingdon, who plays a very good game indeed, and her partner, Mr. Pease, who ranks as one of the leading amateurs in Great Britain, were leading one or two up most of the round but then charming wife, who made hosts of friends in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa.

The thanks of all the participants in the tournament go out to Mr. F. C. Armitage, manager of the Toronto Golf Club, and Mrs. Armitage, and to George Cumming, the professional of the club, and his assistant, Gordon Brydson, and to the very capable staff of the club. They were one and all simply indefatigable in their efforts for the comfort and enjoyment of all those participating in a record golfing week. From an Association standpoint, the work of Mr. A. C. Ashforth, the secretary, absolutely left nothing to be desired.

The Death of Mr. T. A. Brown, Former Lambton President

IN the sudden passing of Mr. T. Albert Brown this month, Toronto loses one of the leaders in her commercial life, and golf a prominent supporter. He had been in poor health for the past three months, but had made such good progress towards recovery that he was contemplating returning to business within the next few days.

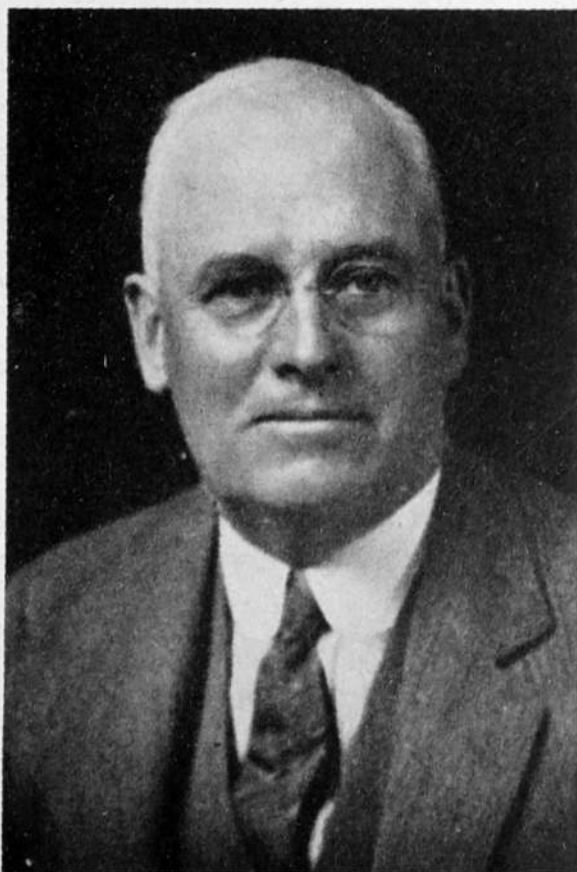

He was born in Toronto on Dec. 24, 1867, the son of Richard Brown, founder of the business which had its origin in England in the 18th century, and was established in Toronto in 1846. He was educated in the public schools and Jarvis Collegiate, entering the business as a junior in 1885. He became a vice-president of the company in 1893. He was elected president on the death of his father in 1920. During the nearly four decades he had been actively connected with the business, it had grown and expanded until it was generally recognized as the largest manufacturing stationery establishment in Canada and a leading industrial institution of Toronto.

Mr. Brown, keenly interested in church, philanthropic and welfare work, was a prominent member of Sherbourne United Church and of the Y.M.C.A. During the Great War period he was active in patriotic endeavours and was chairman of the committee in charge of Y.M.C.A. military camp work for Ontario.

Mr. Brown was for many years a prominent member of the Lambton Golf and Country Club and in 1921-2 was president of the club, filling the chair with great acceptance. He was also a member of the Summit Golf Club from its beginning, and vice-president and captain of the Rosedale Walking Club, which is largely composed of prominent golfers.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Jennie Bickell; two daughters, Mrs. Clifford Beatty and Mrs. J. H. Chipman; one son, John L. His other son, Captain Richard A. Brown, of the 15th Battalion, C.E.F., was killed at Passchendaele in November, 1917.

His native city and the Province of Ontario are all the poorer for the passing of an outstanding citizen and Canadian in every sense of the term. His memory will long be cherished in the home, in the church, in commercial, golfing and other circles, all of which he adorned by his gracious personality.

The late Mr. T. Albert Brown, prominent in the Commercial and Golf Life of Toronto and the Province of Ontario.

The funeral service, which was conducted at the Sherbourne United Church, was very dignified and impressive and was attended by hundreds of former business associates and friends—leaders in the commercial life of Toronto. The honorary pallbearers were: Sir Joseph Flavelle, E. T. Malone, K.C., Frank Rolph, S. R. Parsons, George Warwick, S. R. Hart, R. C. Donald, F. S. Corrigan, W. E. Rundle, Atwell Fleming, J. P. Rolland, C. A. Withers and C. H. McFarlane. The floral tributes were perfectly magnificent.

Jack Nash Wins Mississauga Tournament George S. Lyon Runner-up

JACK NASH, of London, recently crowned Ontario Amateur Champion, led a classy field with 76, but right at his heels with 77 was George S. Lyon, fresh from winning the Seniors' Tournament for the 10th time, and also the Seniors Individual Championship. There was a spread of 54 years between the two leaders.

One hundred and seventy prominent golfers competed in this Invitation Tournament at the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, on September 10th, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Club. The course came in for unstinted praise from all the contestants.

The big surprise of the day to the players was not the way in which Mississauga has been lengthened and tightened up into a real championship test, but the remarkable condition of the course. The greens are well-nigh perfect, but it was the condition of the fairways which brought out the most praise. Some six weeks ago the Mississauga directors decided to install a sprinkling system for the fairways, and this has had wonderful results, practically all of the 12 lower fairways being green, in comparison to the burnt condition of those on most of the other Toronto courses, and it was the opinion of all that Mississauga is in better shape at present than those of any other club. The prize-winners were:—

Gross scores—1, Jack Nash, London Hunt, 76; 2, George S. Lyon, Lambton, 77; 3, Philip Farley, Cedar Brook, 79.

Nett scores—1, Murray Rutherford, Lambton, 70; 2, T. Adams, Thistledown, 73; 3, Joe Cameron, Mississauga, 73.

Team prize—1, Mississauga (W. J. Thompson 80, J. Cameron 81, W. Eckhardt 81, and A. Muirhead 84), 326; 2, Lambton (G. S. Lyon 77, F. G. Hoblitzel 81, M. Rutherford 81, and J. H. Firstbrook 88), 336.

Don Carrick's Brilliant Golf

Breaks Par at Weston to Win the Willie Park Trophy in a Field of Nearly Two Hundred of the Leading Amateurs of Toronto and District.

PLAYING the golf which made him famous two or three years ago, Don Carrick, Scarboro, Toronto, twice Canadian Amateur Champion, in a field which numbered nearly two hundred of the leading amateurs of Toronto and District at the Weston Golf and Country Club annexed the beautiful Willie Park Trophy. This Weston event is recognized as one of the outstanding fixtures of the season. The Trophy is named for the late Willie Park, the celebrated professional and golf architect who laid out the Weston course.

Carrick was out with a 37, which put him four strokes back of Jack Chipman and George Boeckh for the first nine holes and it looked as though he was out of the running but then the former champion on the homeward journey proceeded to "go great guns". The Weston par for the last nine is 36. Carrick proceeded to reel off hole after hole in perfect figures or better and eventually holed out on the 18th hole with a scintillating 69. He had come in with a record-breaking 32. Better golf no amateur or professional could play. Two strokes back of Carrick was Jack Chipman with a 34 and 37 for 71, whilst tied for third place were three 75's, George Boeckh, York Downs, George Howlett, Weston, and Fred Hoblitzel, Lambton. The cards of Carrick and Chipman:—

In .....	435 443 544—36—71
Carrick—
Out .....	454 355 524—37

Chipman—

Last year the trophy was won by J. MacLean, of Weston, with a 71, which was the record score for the trophy. Carrick cut two strokes off and also tied for the amateur record of Weston. W. Douglas on Labour Day registering a 69 in the first round of the 36-hole competition for the L. R. Young Shield.

The three-cornered tie for third gross score was played off between Boeckh and Howlett, Hoblitzel having left and being unable to return. They started off to play the first, eighth and ninth holes to decide the winner, but they played these in 5-3-4. Then they went to the tenth, which was halved in fours, but at the fourteenth Boeckh was down in four to Howlett's five.

The team event was won by Lambton with Jack Chipman 71, F. G. Hoblitzel 75, Jack Firstbrook 77 and Doug Wood 78, a total of 301, against Weston's 305, and Lakeview's 310. There were a number of ties for the various prizes owing to the rule that a player could take but one, and the prize winners were:—

Gross scores—1, Don Carrick, Scarborough, 69; 2, J. H. Chipman, Lambton, 71; 3, George Boeckh, York Downs, 75.

Nett scores—1, L. D. Bickford, Summit, 67; 2, D. Roe, Lake Shore, 67; 3, Joe Cressy, Uplands, 68.

Best gross, first nine holes—F. G. Hoblitzel, Lambton, 37.

Best gross, second nine holes—Alex. C. Carrick, Scarborough, 35.

Best gross scores, Weston members only—1, G. Howlett, 75; 2, W. Douglas, 76; 3, J. M. Sheldon, 76.

Best nett scores, Weston members only—1, C. Neilson, 70; 2, J. S. Dill, 72; 3, C. S. Barthe, 72.

Our Hole-in-One Club

"Tinkling the Tin" is a Favourite Pastime from Coast to Coast. A Thirteen-year-old Girl Champion, Miss Philemon McSweeney, Joins the Elect.

AS another impending issue of the "Great Family Golfing Journal" faces us, we of the executive of the "Canadian Golfer Hole-in-One Club" find ourselves literally inundated by a torrent of new applications for membership in the "charmed circle". This club, we believe, has the most cosmopolitan membership and yet the most select clientele of any club in the world. It lays claim to being cosmopolitan because on its rolls are inscribed the names of men and women in every walk of life and yet despite the diversity of its members' activities its selectivity cannot be challenged, for a membership is open, and open only, to the man or woman, regardless of wealth and influence, who has scaled the golfer's Olympus—who has made a hole-in-one. Throw wide the doors! Sound the fan fare of trumpets! Proffer congratulations to the new members!

First this month is the application of Mr. J. A. McGeer, a member of the Point Grey Golf and Country Club, Vancouver, B.C. Mr. McGeer, while playing on this course of storied fame in the company of Messrs. R. Cleat, R. Strain, and T. Sorenson, was inspired by the example of numerous successful Point Grey "one-shotters" to emulate their prowess. This he did at the 150-yard 7th hole.

Our Muse—Golfiana—directs us to the Atlantic Main. Here, within the sound of the surging surf and with the sea's salt tang inspiring him, Mr. L. D. Spence, of the Aeme Glove Works, Ltd., Halifax, N.S., while playing over the Gorsebrook golf links with Mr. F. E. Hiseler, sank his tee shot at the deceptive 140-yard sixth hole. We do not know whether Mr. Spence was wearing one of his firm's famous golf coats at the time or not, but if so, his feat will do much to heighten the already great popularity of their most estimable garments.

Mr. Arnold Edmonds, of Calgary, Alberta, playing over the beautiful Earl Grey Golf Links, found "tin from tee" on the tricky 5th hole.

At Windermere, Mr. N. D. MacFadyen, vice-president of the Riverview Golf and Country Club, Galt, and a former president of the Summit Golf and Country Club, Toronto, amply proved that his golfing ability equalled his banking skill when he "sent home a scorcher" to make the 210 yard 5th hole in one.

Quite one of the most interesting entries this month for membership in our "Hall of Fame" comes from a "wee lass". Miss Philemon McSweeney, of Toronto. Miss Philemon, a young lady of thirteen summers, celebrated her thirteenth summer by winning the girls' junior championship of the Briars Golf and Country Club, Jackson's Point, Ont. Now, having already displayed the earmarks of a future "Joyce Wethered" or "Glenna Collett", she gains additional glory by negotiating the 110-yard 7th hole in one. Hats off to a future champion!

Dr. Charles G. Cox, playing on the sporting links of the Riverside Country Club, Saskatoon, Sask., made an "eagle" when he pitched a perfect shot to the pin at the 17th hole. The hole in question is a particularly difficult one as it is situated on a high knoll, surrounded by bunkers and trees. Dr. Cox at the time of his success was playing under the eagle eye of a member of the executive of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, Mr. N. C. Byers, of Saskatoon.

From the Pine Point Golf and Country Club, Toronto, comes the tidings of another miraculous performance. Mr. J. P. Swalm, Toronto, drove "straight and true" to make a "oneer" at the lengthy 8th hole, a distance of 210 yards.

Mr. Percy Scott, whilst playing with Mr. J. P. Boyd on the Merritt Golf Links, Merritt, B.C., attained the golfer's paradise when he sank his tee shot on the 115-yard 2nd hole.

Two "oneers" are reported from St. Thomas, Ont. Mr. W. E. Gibbs chose the 112-yard No. 3 hole of the Public Golf Course, St. Thomas, for his one-shot performance, while Mr. R. F. Dailey selected the 200-yard 11th hole for his "tour de force".

Mr. C. H. Markham, Kansas City, while playing over the Bigwin Inn Golf Links, gained "name and fame" by securing an "ace" at the 17th hole.

Mr. B. W. Whitside, president of the Simeoe Mitt & Glove Co. Ltd., while playing with Dave Noble, popular professional, on the Simeoe links, placed his ball with unflinching precision in the cup of the 154-yard 9th hole in one shot.

Mr. L. W. Shaw, of Portland, Ore., has the honour of making the first hole-in-one on the public golf course situated in the grounds of the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. He "turned the trick" at the 135-yard 6th hole.

A few days later Dr. Gordon Burke, followed the example of Mr. Shaw and thrilled his partner Mr. M. Cameron by "sinking a sweet one" at the 120-yard 10th hole.

Mr. J. E. Riggs, of Cowansville, Que., while playing in a team match at Waterville, P.Q., drove a mighty ball to its ultimate resting place in the cup of the 240-yard 3rd "hill" hole. Certainly a "hill of a shot".

Dr. M. F. Jamieson, of the "Beach Grove Club", Walkerville, while playing with Mrs. Jamieson and Mr. C. Simpson over the Barrie links, "got his" at the 146-yard 6th hole.

Mr. C. R. Moore, general superintendent of transportation, Canadian National Railways, Toronto, proved conclusively that he has as great a mastery of the intricacies of golf as he had of a railway timetable, when he sank his tee shot at the 150-yard 15th hole of the Lake Shore Golf and Country Club, Toronto. Mr. Needham, Mr. W. E. Miller and Mr. W. E. Miller, Jr., witnessed the outstanding stunt.

Mr. C. E. Huston, Montreal, playing over the charming links of the Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal, made a hole-in-one at the 175-yard 8th hole.

Mr. Jack Armitage, of the Glendale Golf Club, Hamilton, while playing with Messrs. S. W. MacDonald, N. A. Anderson and E. McVicar, secured for himself a place in the annals of golfdom, when he "holed out" his tee shot at the 150-yard 2nd hole of the Niagara-on-the-Lake links.

Mr. Edward Root, of Ottawa, gained golfing immortality when he "tickled up the tin" at the 100-yard 17th hole of the Chaudiere Golf Club, Ottawa.

Mr. J. D. Arnold, Regina, Sask., is entitled to our congratulations and the "Canadian Golfer" for one year. He was successful in making a hole-in-one at the 168-yard 7th hole at the Gyro Citizens Club, Regina, Sask.

Mr. Ross Richardson, Gananoque, Ont., while playing over the picturesque Gananoque course, which skirts the mighty St. Lawrence, received the thrill of his golfing career when he made an eagle one at the 145-yard 6th hole. Mr. W. D. Sargent, New York, and Dr. E. S. Bird, Gananoque, shared his excitement.

Mr. W. B. Christopher, Sidney, B.C., playing on the North Saanich Golf Links, Sidney, B.C., made a hole-in-one at the 110-yard 4th hole.

Mr. Jack E. Stothers negotiated the 135-yard 8th hole of the Weston Golf and Country Club, Toronto, in one stroke, to gain entrance to the golfers' Utopia.

From Powell River, B.C., comes the tale of another marvel. Mr. Charles A. Murray chose the 180-yard 6th hole to record his "stunt". Incidentally Mr. Murray returned a snappy card of 34.

Once more the Point Grey Golf and Country Club, Vancouver, B.C. Mr. J.

Welsh, of Red Deer, Alta., secured a "oneer" at the 100-yard 11th hole of the Point Grey Links, whilst a visitor to the links.

Again we are called upon to welcome a youthful member to our club. A. J. Reith, aged 15 years, showed he was no tyro in the world's most popular game when he "pitched a pipin'" to land in the cup of the 139-yard 7th hole of the Winnipeg Golf Club, Winnipeg. In addition "Bobby" Reith had the phenomenal score of 71, one under par. Once more we welcome a champion in embryo. Why not the "Bobby Jones of Canada"?

Mr. W. McIntyre, of Listowel, Ont., was fortunate enough to make the 110-yard 6th hole in one shot.

Mr. J. E. Cather, while playing with Mr. W. Reeves over the Belleville Golf Club, played a perfect shot to the 3rd hole, a distance of 220 yards, which found the cup. This is only the second time in two years that the feat has been recorded on the Belleville links, Crown Attorney Bryson Donnan being the other culprit. Mr. Cather was playing with one of the famous Ayres championship balls and as a result secures a dozen of 'em from G. S. Whitaker, Toronto, the Canadian distributors.

Dr. Edward Spence, London, Ont., playing over the Highland Golf Club, sank his tee shot at the 165-yard 15th hole. Congratulations, Doctor dear.

Mr. J. E. B. Dickson, of Victoria, B.C., playing on the famous links of the Victoria Golf Club with Mr. M. B. Jackson, won golfing laurels when he found the "tin from tee" in one shot at the 185-yard 9th hole.

Harry Yorke, formerly a well known Montreal professional, and a pupil of Charlie Murray's, now with the Ogdensburg Golf Club, Ogdensburg, N.Y., bagged a "oneer" on the 9th hole at Ogdensburg, 150 yards. In cricket parlance it was "a Yorker" all right.

From good old Sarnia comes the report of two performances. Mr. K. P. Jeffrey chose the 18th hole, a nice little swat of 252 yards, for the feat, and Mr. Alex Hayes the 14th, 136 yards.

Then Picton, Ontario. Playing over the course there Mr. J. P. Browne "got his" at the 5th hole, 196 yards. This is only the second time the stunt has been recorded on the Picton links in 18 years.

Total holes in Canada, reported up to and including September 10th, 145.

And here is a fine example for other of our members to follow. Mr. Alan McPherson, of the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, early in the season made a hole-in-one, so he decided to stage a one-shot tournament, to which 175 members of Mississauga were invited. It was the jolliest kind of a gathering. The popular host of this unique party presented a number of handsome prizes which were awarded on the basis of nett scores. There was a close contest in each flight. In the third flight John E. Hall, vice-captain, and President J. W. McFadden were the contenders for the first prize, with Mr. Hall winning by one stroke. The low gross of the day was returned by Gordon Kelk, who had a card of 78. The prize-winners were:—

Class A—Boyd A. Caldwell, 84-13—71; H. W. Batten, 84-12—72, and Gordon Kelk, 78-6—72.

Class B—A. Robertson, 89-19—68; Frank Scott, 88-16—72; J. Witchall, 88-16—72.

Class C—John E. Hall, 102-32—70; J. W. McFadden, 92-21—71; H. Beemer, 94-32—72; P. N. Hay, 93-21—72.

High gross score—C. G. Clatworthy, 122.

Lt.-Col. Betts, O.B.E., Former Well Known Golfer

MANY friends will be sorry to hear that it has been definitely established that the body found in a rocky cave near Lake Tahoe recently, was that of Lt.-Col. H. H. Betts, son of the late Mr. F. P. Betts, K.C., London, and brother of Ald. F. Betts, of that city. He had been missing since July, 1929, when he went to Nevada to take up his residence there. Previous to that he had been residing in Spain.

Col. Betts, who was an eminent engineer, had a brilliant military career. Entering the Imperial Army as a private he was promoted to a Colonelcy in the Royal Engineers before the end of the war and awarded the O.B.E. He was a very fine golfer indeed and when at Toronto University on more than one occasion made a fine showing in the Canadian Amateur Championship. Going to Spain to assume a responsible engineering position there he founded the Barcelona Golf Club and was its first president. He won several golf tournaments whilst living in Spain. The Editor always considers, more than one match played with Colonel Betts in his younger days, as the most enjoyable of his golfing experience. He was a brilliant Canadian and his untimely passing will be sincerely regretted by many friends in London, his birthplace, and other cities.

Ontario Girls' Junior Championship

Miss Winnifred Robinson, of St. Catharines, With Two Sparkling Rounds of 83 Easily Captures the Title. Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, Last Year's Champion, Runner-up.

PLAYING remarkably fine golf Miss Winnifred Robinson, the charming young St. Catharines player, spread-eagled the field in the 36-hole medal competition for the Ontario Girls' Junior Championship at the Lambton Golf and Country Club. Miss Winnifred carded an 83 the first day and again registered the same quite sensational figures the second day for a total for the 36 holes of 166. This championship brand of golf was altogether too much for the rest of the field, Miss Robinson winning the C. Q. Ellis Trophy and the title by a margin of no less than 16 strokes over her nearest competitor, Miss Mary Donald, of Burlington, the defending champion. Last year the championship was decided by match play and not by medal play. Miss Robinson may yet prove to be the "Diana Fishwick of Canada". The British champion, it will be remembered, started her remarkable career as a junior champion.

Misses M. Plummer and Mary Hunter tied for the lowest nett scores, with 161, and the former won the first prize by having the lowest nett for the first round. Miss Yeates, of Hamilton, won the special prize for the low gross score for 18 holes with a 93 on Monday, while Miss Edna Cumming, of Islington, won the 18-hole nett score prize with a 77 on the first day.

Miss Robinson's remarkable cards, the ladies' par of the course at Lambton is 78:—

Manitoba Junior Championship

Is Won by Brilliant 15-year-old Bobbie Reith. Unfortunate Incident is Again Recorded in the Final.

BOBBIE REITH, the clever 15-year-old son of Charlie Reith, Winnipeg professional, is the newly crowned Manitoba Junior Champion, but for the second time this season in Winnipeg an unfortunate incident occurred in the final of a championship.

Young Reith as a result of his brilliant golf this year was looked upon as an easy winner amongst the one hundred or so entrants but he found unexpected opposition in Dick Critchley, the young Assiniboine player. Both boys carded 76's over the exacting Southwood course, which placed them two strokes ahead of their nearest opponent, Bud Donovan, the defending champion, who had 78. In the play-off for the tie Critchley's drive nestled fairly behind a tree, while Reith's also went into the rough. The unfortunate part of the championship came on the next shot, when Critchley's pitch out hit his caddie. They completed the hole, both getting down in five, but Referee Bruce was forced to add an extra stroke to young Critchley's score in accordance with rule 9 of stroke play, which states that this shall be done if a player's ball strike or be stopped by himself or his caddie, or his partner or either of their caddies or their clubs. Reith was therefore awarded the championship.

First place in the 11 and 10 age class went to A. Cotton, Deer Lodge, with 94, while B. Milne, Assiniboine, placed ahead of the twelve-year-old youths with 92. H. Critchley, brother to the boy who tied with Reith, turned in an 86 to capture the thirteen age prize, while F. Dye gave a remarkable performance in the fourteen age event to carry off the laurels. Dye registered a 78. G. Bain, Canoe Club, won a prize in the fifteen age class with his 78, while in the sixteen-year-old division Bud Donovan's 78 was far ahead of the field.

The tournament proved an outstanding success, and was capably handled by Secretary Charlie Harris, assisted by R. C. S. Bruce. Immediately following the completion of play the prizes were presented, with R. Jacob, president Manitoba Golf Association, officiating.

The valuable prizes were donated by the following:—Eric Bannister, St. Charles Country Club; Donald McDonald, Southwood; George Daniel, Niakwa; William Brazier, Norwood; Charles Reith, Winnipeg; H. Baker, Canoe Club; William Gunn, Assiniboine; Pine Ridge, Marshall Wells; A. G. Spaulding, and the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Company Limited.

The Maritimes Championships

Gerald Mielke, of Halifax, for the Seventh Time Wins Amateur Event. Syd. Lingard, of St. John, Captures Professional Title. Tournament is a Great Success.

THE Mielke brothers of Halifax, Gerald and Frank, have once again demonstrated that they dominate Maritime amateur golf. For the seventh time Gerald won the championship this month on the Ashburn course of the Halifax Golf Club, defeating his brother, Frank, decisively by 7 and 6 in the 36-hole and without doubt, one of the best amateurs of the Dominion.

In 1919, when only 17 years of age, he participated in the Canadian Open Championship at Rivermead, Ottawa, and made a particularly good showing in this major event. It is a very great pity that business has prevented him from coming East every year to participate in the big championships. He is altogether too good a player to confine his golf to the Maritimes.

final. Gerald first won the Maritime Championship in 1920, and since that time, with the exception of the meet at Woodstock in 1926, won by T. A. McAvity, of St. John, and last year's meet at Riverside, won by Don McNaughton, of Moncton, the Mielke brothers have monopolized the Maritime Championships. Truly a wonderful record.

All the leading players of the Maritimes teed up for the qualifying round on the opening day of the championship. With a splendid 146 Frank Mielke led the field, his brother, Gerald, being in second place with 150, followed by Don McNaughton, Moncton, defending champion, with 152. Of the sixteen to qualify twelve were from Nova Scotia and four from New Brunswick. The summaries at match play for the championship.

Gerald Mielke was not present at either Woodstock or Fredericton, so he has won seven of the nine championships in which he has participated. His brother, Frank, has won the title twice. Throughout the meet he displayed sterling golf and his brilliant win firmly establishes him as the premier golfer of the Maritimes,

First round—
F. C. Mielke, Brightwood, defeated E. R. Graham, Ashburn, 6 and 5.

Jack Harris, Wolfville, defeated R. L. Davison, Fredericton, 5 and 4.

J. H. L. Johnstone, Ashburn, defeated A. H. Creighton, Brightwood, 3 and 2.

W. D. McNaughton, Moncton, defeated A. R. Lamy, Amherst, 2 and 1.

E. T. Turner, Fredericton, defeated C. J. Jones, Woodstock, 3 and 1.

D. Raymond, Yarmouth, defeated W. Dickson, Gorsebrook, 3 and 2.

G. P. Laidlaw, Gorsebrook, defeated W. H. Bouffier, Ashburn, 7 and 5.

G. C. Mielke, Brightwood, defeated W. A. Curry, Ashburn, 7 and 6.

Second round—

F. C. Mielke defeated Jack Harrison, 5 and 4.

Don McNaughton defeated J. H. L. Johnstone, 5 and 4.

E. O. Turner defeated D. Raymond, 7 and 5.

G. C. Mielke defeated G. P. Laidlaw, 5 and 4.

Semi-finals—

Frank Mielke defeated Don McNaughton. Gerald Mielke defeated E. O. Turner.

Final—Gerald Mielke defeated Frank Mielke, 7 and 6.

In defeating his brother, Frank, by the somewhat wide margin of seven holes up and six to play, Gerald Mielke became champion for the seventh time. Frank's game was somewhat below average, and breaks were rather against him in being stymied on several occasions. Nevertheless Gerald played superlative golf. He had a morning round of 73 and in the twelve holes in the afternoon, which was all that it was necessary to play, he had a score of 45, or three under 4's. And that really is championship golf.

Toronto Ladies' Inter-Club Championship

Toronto Golf Club Representatives Again Win Mail and Empire Trophy, with Scarborough in Second Place.

(By C. W. MacQueen, Golf Editor Mail & Empire)

THE seventh annual competition for the ladies' Toronto inter-club team championship and The Mail and Empire Trophy was played over the courses of the Lakeview, Islington, York Downs, Ladies' and Cedar Brook Clubs, which brought out 18 teams, totalling 180 players, and was productive of some fine scoring, some formful play by individuals and teams and two surprises which were produced by the Lakeview and Uplands teams. The Toronto Golf Club, admittedly the strongest club in the city, if not in the Dominion, as far as teams are concerned, won the event, the victory being their fifth in the seven years, while Scarborough, which has been consistent in filling the runners-up place, was again second. The big surprises were the showing of Lakeview and Uplands. Last year, when the competition was played for the first time under the system in vogue now, Lakeview was 18th and last, while Uplands was 15th. This month Lakeview finished third, only one stroke behind Scarborough, while Uplands was fourth, six strokes behind Lakeview and ten in front of Rosedale.

The competition was decided by an 18-hole medal round, each team fielding ten players, and the winner was determined by deducting ten times the C.L.G.U. par of the course over which the respective teams played from the aggregate nett score of the team, using their club handicaps. Islington, where this year's winners played along with last year's champions, the Toronto Ladies' Club, had a par of 80, while Lakeview and Cedar Brook are parred at 79, York Downs at 78, and the Ladies' Club at 75.

Toronto finished with a total of 42 strokes over the mark, the same total as Scarborough had in finishing second last year. This latter team took 66 over at the Ladies' Club, while Lakeview had a surplus of 67. The defending champions finished in sixth place with 88, being preceded by Uplands and Rosedale.

The Toronto Club had the lowest aggregate gross score, 941, over the par 80 Islington course and the smallest aggregate handicap with 99 for the ten players. Individually, Miss Helen Reid, of Rosedale, had the lowest gross score with an 83 at the Ladies' Club, which is parred five strokes under Islington, where Miss Maude Smith had an 88. Mrs. J. H. Riddell, of Scarborough, and Mrs. E. F. Coke, of York Downs, each had 89's at the Ladies' Club, while Mrs. A. G. Northway, of Lambton, had a 91 at York Downs. Miss Edna Cumming, of Islington, had the best gross at Cedar Brook with a 98, while at Lakeview Mrs. T. J. Agar, of Mississauga, carded a 95. Other good gross scores included Misses

Cecil Smith and Betsy Wadsworth, of the Toronto Club, at Islington, with 90's, where a team-mate Mrs. Gouinlock, had a 91. At the Ladies' Club, Miss Williamson, of

The handsome "Mail and Empire" Trophy won for the fifth time by the Ladies' Team of the Toronto Golf Club.

Cedar Brook, had a 91; Mrs. S. Brandham, of Scarborough, a 93, and Mrs. Page, of Rosedale, a 90, while at Cedar Brook, Mrs. H. A. Clark, of Lake Shore, had a 99, as did Miss Copp and Mrs. Biggar, both of Summit.

Altogether, nine players played to better than their handicaps and four others played to them. The Uplands Club had three players improving their handicaps. Mrs. Richardson being three under, Mrs. Belfry two under and Mrs. McLatchy one under, while Mrs. Sykes was even. Miss Grace Northwood, of the Ladies' Club, was three under at Islington, and Miss Gillespie was two under. Mrs. Ashworth, of the Toronto Club, was one under and Miss Wadsworth played right to her handicap. Mrs. Kinsella, of Lake Shore, was two under. Miss Helen Reid, of Rosedale, and Mrs. Goudy, of Islington, were one under, while Mrs. S. Brandham, of Scarboro, and Mrs. Coke, of York Downs, were even.

With a Record 69 in the St. Andrews Tournament Captures First Honours. George S. Lyon Again Scores.

ANDY KAY, the Lambton ace, who on account of ill-health has been more or less handicapped this season, came back strong in the tournament on the St. Andrews links, Toronto, Sept. 15th, when he headed a representative field of professionals with the very fine score of 74-69-143. His second round of 69 constitutes a record for St. Andrews. The scores, 160 or better, were:—

Armour Wins Professional Championship

Middle-aged Scot Captures Big Event After Gruelling Rounds of Match Play, Defeating Gene Sarazen in the Final by 1 up.

IT looks as though the stepping stone to winning the U.S. professional golf championship is to first annex the Canadian Open which always precedes it by a month or so. In 1928 Diegel won the Canadian Open and then went on to capture the big professional event. He did the same thing over again last year and now along comes Tommy Armour and wins both the Canadian Open and the P.G.A. championship in a dashing manner, defeating Gene Sarazen, a former titleholder, by 1 up as a result of a 14-foot putt on the 36th green.

All the big professional events of the 1930 season have now been run off and as a result Armour, the middle-aged Scot, will be acclaimed the leading professional of the year, this honour being conferred upon him as a result of his winning the Canadian Open and now the P.G.A. championship. He held the same position in 1927 when he won the U.S. and Canadian Opens. Diegel, who was crowned the leading professional of 1929, this year fades out of the picture. Second place honours in 1930 go to another Scot, MacDonald Smith, by virtue of the fact that he was runner-up to Bobby Jones both in the British and U.S. Open Championships. Young Horton Smith has been a distinct disappointment this season whilst Hagen, Farrell and other stars have been very much "also rans".

But to hark back to the P.G.A. Championship, which next to the U.S. and Canadian Opens, ranks as the most important fixture of the American season. With scores of 145, Johnny Farrell and Horton Smith tied in the qualifying round at Flushing, N.Y. Others to qualify were:—

Harry Cooper, Glen Ellyn.....	75-71-146
Charles Guest, Pontiac, Mich.....	71-75-146
Mark Fry, Oakland, Cal.....	73-74-147
Charles Lacey, Pine Valley.....	74-73-147
Tommy Armour, Detroit.....	75-72-147
Henry Ciuci, Mill River.....	75-75-150
D. Shute, Worthington, Ohio.....	76-74-150
Al Espinosa, Northbrook, Ill.....	76-74-150
J. S. Collins, Dayton.....	75-75-150
Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente.....	81-69-150
C. Schneider, Cheltenham, Pa.....	77-74-151
H. Sampson, Burlingame, Cal.....	77-74-151

Tommy Armour, professional golfing king of America.

"Wiffy" Cox, Dyker Beach.....	75-76-151
John Golden, Wee Burn.....	76-76-152
Earl Fry, Alameda, Cal.....	72-80-152
Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow.....	77-76-153
Erie Seavall, Culver City.....	76-77-153
Bill Mehlhorn (unattached).....	76-77-153
Joe Frank, Kenosha, Wis.....	78-76-154
Gunnard Johnson, St. Paul.....	78-78-156
Joseph Kenney, Sylvania, Ohio.....	81-75-156

Al Watrous, Detroit.....	78-78—156
Dave Hackney, Lowell, Mass....	81-75—156
Bob Shave, Aurora, Ohio.....	78-78—156
L. Ayton, Evanston, Ill. ....	82-74—156
C. Ershman, Bala, Pa. ....	80-77—157
Joe Kirkwood (unattached).....	77-80—157
Norman Smith, Yakima, Wash....	79-78—157
Billy Burke, Roundhill .....	81-77—158

In the first round at match play there were no upsets, all the favourites coming through, although Gene Sarazen, who was playing on his home course, and who has twice won the championship, was taken to the 36th green before he defeated the young Philadelphian player, Carl Scheinder, 1 up. Tommy Armour had an especially easy round, defeating Dave Hackney 11 and 10.

The second day saw the elimination of the defending titleholder, Leo Diegel, by Harold Sampson, a tall, slight Californian, who cannot hit a ball very far but is very, very straight. He put out Diegel on the 38th hole, thus providing the sensation of the Tournament.

The third day saw the championship narrow down to three former British subjects and one American, Armour, a native of Scotland, the young Englishman, Lacey, and the former Australian, Joe Kirkwood. In the semi-finals Sarazen had little difficulty in defeating Kirkwood, 5 and 4, but Armour had his own troubles in defeating young Lacey, 1 up on the 36th.

In the final Armour and Sarazen had a ding-dong struggle. The fortunes of the fight ebbed and flowed throughout the day. For years the doughty Scot has been dubbed a poor putter and a great iron player. With the match all square on the thirty-sixth green, he holed a 14-foot putt for a 4, and when Sarazen missed his bid from a few inches under 14 feet, Armour was the P.G.A. champion for the first time. Sarazen has held the title twice before, in 1922 and 1923.

Leo Diegel, acting as referee, who has held the championship for the last two years, but was beaten in the second round, called the match "the greatest golf match I ever saw."

Manitoba Girls' Championship

Is Won by Miss Francis Fletcher, of the Niakwa Golf Club, Winnipeg.

IN a record field Miss Francis Fletcher, of the Niakwa Country Club, Winnipeg, not only won the qualifying medal but the Junior Girls' Championship of Manitoba, over the course of the Southwood Golf Club, Winnipeg. In the match-play final she defeated 14-year-old Miss Verna Henning, Sandy Hook Golf Club, by 6 and 4. Miss Henning was the runner-up to Miss Fletcher in the qualifying round.

Miss Elizabeth Baird, St. Charles Country Club, defeated her club mate, Miss Betty Sifton, to win the first flight title after an interesting match. Second flight honours went to Miss Geraldine Faulkner, Alerest, who took the measure of Miss Jane Ryan, while Miss Rosamund Northwood, St. Charles, captured the consolation event from little Miss Heather Leslie, Alerest.

Miss Barbara Northwood, St. Charles Country Club, won the driving, while Miss Elizabeth Baird was the victor over Miss Verna Henning in a tie play-off for the approaching and putting competitions.

The tournament under the capable supervision of Mrs. George Northwood, assisted by the Provincial honorary secretary, Mrs. James Alves, was a very great success notwithstanding terrific heat conditions, which, however, did not seem to bother the young participants very much.

The Passing of Colonel A. J. Wilkes

Probably the Oldest Golfer in Canada, He Having Played the Game Over Half a Century Ago.

IN the passing September 4th, of Lt.-Col. A. J. Wilkes, K.C., who was born in Brantford 82 years ago, that city lost one of its oldest and most prominent residents and the Province of Ontario a brilliant and outstanding citizen. Col. Wilkes was a leader at the Bar. He was associated in practise for many years with the former Premier of Ontario, the Hon. A. S. Hardy, and in his time was City Solicitor of Brantford and Crown Attorney. He also was a director of several important insurance and financial companies and always took a keen interest in military matters.

He was perhaps the oldest golfer in Canada. He played the game in Brantford over fifty years ago and until quite recently thoroughly enjoyed a round of the links. In the eighties he more than once played on the Inter-Provincial golf team, Ontario vs. Quebec, and was the winner of more than one medal and trophy in the early days of the Brantford Club of which he was the popular captain for several years. The sympathy of friends throughout Ontario will go out to the bereaved widow and the two sons and two daughters, Dr. A. Burton Wilkes,

The late Lt.-Col. A. J. Wilkes, K.C., prominent barrister and golfer.

Ottawa; F. Hilton Wilkes, Toronto; Mrs. F. Logie Armstrong, Winnipeg; and Mrs. Shirley Coate, Brantford. He has "played the last game of all" deeply mourned and regretted.

Golf Course Machinery Demonstration

Most Successful Show is Staged by the Ontario Greenkeepers' Association on the Royal York Golf Course. Leading Firms Represented.

MESSRS. W. J. Sansom, president of the Ontario section of the National Greenkeepers' Association of America, H. Hawkins, secretary, and members of their committee are to be heartily congratulated on the great success which attended the demonstration this month of golf course machinery and equipment.

The demonstration was held on the course of the Royal York Club, Toronto, on Tuesday, September 9th, and was participated in by a large number of the leading firms in Canada and the United States manufacturing golf equipment. Among the prominent experts present were Messrs. E. Worthington, of Stroudsburg, Pa., and J. C. Russell, Montreal, of the Worthington Mower Co.; "Scotty" McClean and Alan Bland, of the Toro Tractor Company; Mr. Paul, demonstrator of the Jacobsen power machine, and C. A. Tregillus, of Chicago, the former secretary of the green section of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, and an authority on golf turf and seeds.

The Pennsylvania, the Worthington, the Toro, the Jacobsen, the Roseman machines, the MacGregor compost distributor, the Universal compost mixer, the Whitehurst Company's rollers, the Buckner Company's sprinklers, the Royer compost mixer, the Ideal power lawn mowers, the Hardie Manufacturing Company's sprayer, the Superior sprayer and the Staude golf course tractor, were shown to the large gathering, operated by representatives of the firms manufacturing them.

The exhibition had the support of the William Rennie Co., the Andrewes, Mountain Company, Canadian Industries Ltd., Fertilizer Division; Steele-Briggs Seed Company, the Sherwin-Williams Company, the Steel Company of Canada, Gunn's Ltd., the Goodyear Company, Crane Ltd., Page-Hersey, Ltd., and United States firms distributing their products through Canadian agencies.

It is simply marvellous what golf course machinery and equipment can accomplish now-a-days. The practical demonstrations at the Royal York were watched with intense interest by the large number of greenkeepers and others in attendance and invaluable lessons were learned. The work of many of the machines was simply uncanny. It is an absolute fact that with the aid of tractor and mower an acre of fairway can now be cut in four minutes.

There was everything exhibited in the way of tractors, power mowers and hand machines, sprinklers, compost mixers and sprayers.

The exhibition, which lasted from 10 o'clock a.m. to 6 o'clock p.m., was alike a most successful and profitable one.

Directly after the demonstrations a meeting of the Ontario Greenkeepers' Association was held. One particularly important item came up for discussion—the advisability of putting on a golf show each year, in other words, make it an annual event. After taking the consensus of the opinion of the manufacturers and the different agents handling golf equipment it was decided to put on the show every other year. The agents felt that owing to the fact that golf equipment did not change to any great extent over the period of one year that it would be a much better show held once in two years and also it would be much better to hold the demonstrations in the spring, about the first week in June.

The Association decided to continue its activities again this winter by holding monthly meetings in Toronto. Several new members were elected. Greenkeepers were present at the demonstrations from Hamilton, London, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto, and several members of green committees from various clubs.

Again Wins Montreal and District Championship

Miss Marjorie Kirkham, Brilliant Montreal Golfer, for Second Year in Succession Annexes Title with the Exceptionally Fine Score of 166.

ONCE more is that outstanding Montrealer, Miss Marjorie Kirkham, of the Forest Hills Club, lady champion of Montreal and District, again winning the title this month against the strongest opposition. The Forest Hills expert carded two superb 83's for a total of 166 over the testing Kanawaki course, or no fewer than 12 strokes ahead of Miss Doris Taylor, of Summerlea, her nearest rival. The City and District Tournament ranks only second to the Quebec Ladies' Provincial Championship. There were nearly one hundred competitors, comprising the cream of the fair players of Montreal and vicinity.

Following the champion and runner-up was Eileen Kinsella, of Senneville, with a total of 180. Dorothy Nicoll, the newly-crowned Provincial Junior Champion, was fourth with 183, and she was Gene Sarazen, swarthy son of Italy, led a par-shelling brigade over the Indianwood Club trail at Orion, Mich., with such an astounding burst of marksmanship that he ran away with the Western Open Golf Championship by a lop-sided margin of 7 strokes.

Finding the range of birdies and eagles with remarkable spade shots, the roly-poly New York sharpshooter blasted old man par right out of his strongholds, his cards of 69 and 67, which, added to his leading 36-hole event of 142, gave him the 278 strokes for the long 72-hole struggle.

Al Espinosa, Chicago professional, who lost to Bobby Jones in the 1929 play-off for the U.S. Open title, landed in second place, behind the high-flying Sarazen, with 285 strokes. The Chicago star eventually staged a great comeback. Tied for fifteenth, after 36 holes, Espinosa whizzed over the final two rounds with cards of 70 and 67.

record-smashing 65 on his final jaunt, tied for third-place money and honours with 286's.

Eric Green, professional at the Picton Golf and Country Club, Picton, Ontario, recently carded a remarkable 62 over his home course. Par is 70, so Green beat perfect figures by no fewer than 8 strokes.

Kenneth C. Murray, assistant professional at the Royal Montreal Golf Club, captured major honours in the Province of Quebec Golf Association Championship for assistants at Senneville last month. Murray turned in two rounds of 82 to lead the field with a total score of 164 for the 36 holes of medal play.

E. Brunette, of Beaconsfield, was second with a total of 172, made up of rounds of 89 and 83. F. McPherson, of the Country Club, had 89-84-173 and E. Miles, of Forest Hills, and T. Mallette, of Whitlock, had 174's. Miles won the play-off.

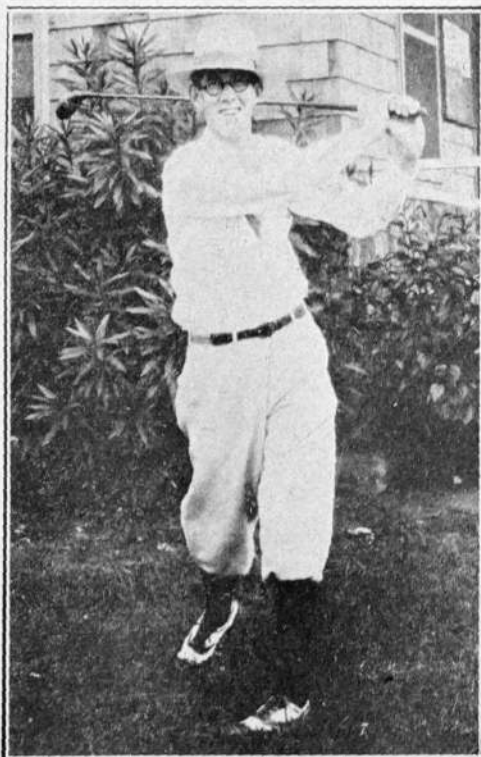

The scores follow:

K. C. Murray, Royal Montreal, 82-82-164; E. Brunette, Beaconsfield, 89-83-172; F. McPherson, Country Club, 89-84-173; E. Miles, Forest Hills, 90-84-174; T. Mallette, Whitlock, 83-91-174; D. Cushing, 89-92-181; L. Ross, Hampstead, 93-88-181; George Boothman, Laval, 90-92-182; J. Wethered, Summerlea, 95-90-185; L. Harman, Royal Montreal, 99-90-189; G. Stewart, Whitlock, 95-96-191; S. Wilson, Sherbrooke, 97-97-194; V. Proulx, Rosemere, 104-101-205.

Kenneth, it will be seen, was quite an easy winner. Possessed of a rhythmic swing and with a good short game in his bag he should go far in the years to come. He is a son of C. R. Murray, the professional at the Royal Montreal Golf Club, and twice Open Champion of Canada. It looks as though he is going to follow in "the footsteps of Dad" all right. Here's hoping he will.

It is with extreme personal regret that the Editor is called upon to record the death of John Fraser, professional of the Maitland Golf Club, Goderich, Ontario, at the Marine and General Hospital, Goderich, on Sunday, August 31st. He was a native of Leith, Scotland, where his mother still resides. For two years he was head salesman in the golf department of T. Eaton Ltd., Toronto, but for the past three seasons he has acted as pro at the Maitland Golf Club, and was held in the highest esteem by members both as a golfer and gentleman. He served in the Great War in Mesopotamia with the Imperial Forces, contracting rheumatic fever, from which he never fully recovered. Eight weeks ago he was seized with a heart attack, from which he failed to rally. Interment was made in Maitland cemetery, Goderich, under Masonic auspices, the war veterans, too, being well represented. Beautiful wreaths from the Masons, the Canadian Legion and the Maitland Golf Club rested on top of the casket, draped with the Union Jack. There were also many floral tokens from friends in Goderich and different parts of the Province, two from pro-

FOR SALE

9-Hole Course and Club House

Here is a splendid opportunity to acquire a golf course near one of the most prosperous and progressive cities of Ontario. The Grand River Country Club offers for sale its splendidly equipped 9-hole course at Bridgeport, adjoining the city of Kitchener with fine club house containing all conveniences. This is one of the best golfing properties in Ontario and could be made a big paying investment if handled by the right parties. For full particulars regarding terms, etc., write Drawer 760, "Canadian Golfer", Brantford, Ontario.

professional golfers in Toronto and Galt, who attended in person. Mr. D. D. Mooney, secretary of the Maitland Golf Club, writes the Editor: "His death was certainly a sad shock to all our members, as everyone thought so much of John." Yes, everyone liked him and thought well of him and to the bereaved mother in far-away Scotland will go out the genuine sympathy of many, many Canadians who too knew and admired "her boy".

Alf Sims, for many years now the efficient professional at the Chedoke Golf Club, Hamilton, this month broke all records for the course. Playing with Messrs. D. Wilson and F. W. Nutt he was out in 34 and home in 32 for the scintillating score of 66. And this is how it was done:—

Par—

Out .....	544	334	454	—36
In .....	444	434	334	—33—69

Sims—

Out .....	434	433	544	—34
In .....	435	424	334	—32—66

Sims, it will be seen, beat the difficult Chedoke par by 3 strokes. Good work.

J. Bowles is the professional at the new Algoma Golf Club, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, which is largely sponsored by the Algoma Steel Corporation. The club has already a membership of 225. The course is a particularly interesting one of 3,120 yards. The following is the excellent balance. No. one, 490 yards; No. two, 405 yards; No. three, 295 yards; No. four, 390 yards; No. five, 390 yards; No. six, 470 yards; No. seven, 160 yards; No. eight, 395 yards; No. nine, 125 yards.

Jack Madash, who was professional at Boule Rock, Metis Beach, Que., reports a very successful season although unfortunately he was stricken with appendicitis last month and had to be operated on in a Montreal hospital. He has made a rapid and satisfactory recovery. Madash is a particularly well equipped young pro.

Extracts from an interesting letter received by the Editor from Davie Black, of the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Rivermead, Ottawa, and four times winner of the Canadian Professional Championship. Davie was born in famous old Troon and learned his golf under the celebrated Willie Fernie:—

"I saw where Willie Lamb had won the P. D. Ross Trophy and the Canadian Professional Championship for the third time. I certainly appreciate my cup and you can be sure it has a very prominent place in my home, and has been admired by many golfers from all over, and the history of the cup talked over. I have just returned from a trip to Banff where I spent a very pleasant week on one of the finest golf courses in America. Stanley Thompson certainly made a good job of Banff. I had the pleasure of meeting my old friend, Geo. S. Lyon, and "Bill" Thompson, and we talked of old times. Unfortunately the distance is so far to attend the championships in the East, I think they ought to have the Open out this way in the near future, as I would like to meet some of the old boys again. Trusting this finds you in the best of health and wishing you every success."

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Overseas Dominions

A very interesting advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue announcing the sale of the 9-hole course and club house of the Grand River Golf and Country Club, on the outskirts of the progressive city of Kitchener, one of the finest properties in Ontario. Here is a splendid opportunity for an enterprising company to take over a money-making property.

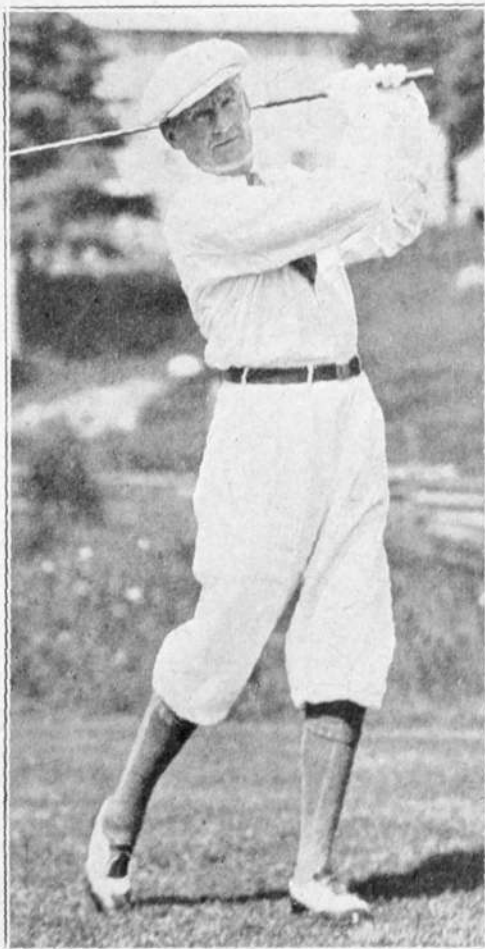

The annual competition for the H. P. Long Trophy was held at the Paris Golf and Country Club, Paris, Ontario, last week. The following clubs participated: Galt, Kitchener, Brantford, Woodstock, Simcoe and Paris. There was a fine attendance, 70 players taking part, Miss K. Bishop, Brantford, winning the trophy with 84 gross. Miss Gladys Stewart Jones, Paris, being second with 87 gross. For a team prize Brantford were first and Paris second.

Two fall cup competitions, the Dr. Nicol Cup for the best gross score, and the Detrouiter's Cup Labour Day for the best nett score, were combined in an 18-hole match Labour Day by the Sarnia Golf Club. J. M. Hunt won the Dr. Nicol Cup by turning in a 77 for the best gross score, while N. Duff won the Detrouiter's Cup for the best nett score with a 63.

Runners-up in the Dr. Nicol competition were W. Twaites, Jr., with a 78, and W. P. Doohan with a 79. B. C. Phippen, with a 64, was runner-up to N. Duff in the Detrouiter contest, while G. W. Prangle, J. H. Danner and H. M. Hueston, with netts of 65, followed.

Mr. Frederick Watt, K.C., police magistrate of Guelph, and one of the best known golfers in the Royal City, was last week elected president of the Ontario Magistrates' Association, which held its seventh annual convention in Brantford. During the meeting the delegates were guests at the Ava Golf Club, golf being the order of the afternoon for the delegates, and golf, bridge and tea for the ladies. Mrs. S. A. Jones, wife of Mr. Jones, police magistrate of Brantford, and Mrs. Ross Beckett, wife of Mayor Beckett, received, and Mrs. H. P. Moore, wife of the past president of the association, Magistrate H. P. Moore, Acton, and Mrs. R. H. Reville, wife of the president of the Ava Golf Club, poured tea.

Mr. J. W. McConnell, Montreal financier and former president of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, is here seen driving off on the beautiful Manoir Richelieu Golf Course, Murray Bay, Que.

The following were the results of the principal tournaments this season at the Beaumaris Golf Club—one of Muskoka's popular summer clubs:—

July 28th, Open Handicap—Mr. R. Quaille, winner; Mr. J. B. Rhodes, runner-up. August 4th, President's Cup Tournament—Mr. H. G. Everett, winner; Mr. R. D. Hume, runner-up. August 14th, Men's Beaumaris Championship—Mr. W. F. Witherow, winner; Mr. L. N. Ryan, runner-up. Ladies' Beaumaris Championship—Mrs. Thomas Hiltiard, winner; Mrs. H. L. Kerr, runner-up.

Next year Bathurst Golf and Country Club, Toronto, is to consist of 27 holes. The present 18-hole layout will not be changed in any way, but another nine will be built, which will not interfere with the present championship course. This was arranged for when Bathurst Golf and Country Club was first laid out. The new nine will be for beginners and will include sufficient level and rolling land to be quite as interesting as the present course.

The Quebec Father and Son Tournament held at Beaconsfield, Montreal, went to the Darlings, E. Darling, father, and Tom Darling, son, who scored 142 over 18 holes. Tied for second were John and Bruce Adair and J. I. and David Rankin with 151. R. C. and Ralph Smith were tied in fourth place with M. R. and Graham Ferguson scoring 159. Other scores were: James and George Fraser, 169; W. E. and Billy Burke, 178; George and Bobby Kingston, 199.

In the Winnipeg Annual Municipal Championships recently held, 15-year-old Joedy Palmer won the Kildonan title by defeating Jim Berry on the twentieth hole, while Edgar Brown disposed of W. Peabody 5 and 3 in the deciding match at Windsor. Mrs. F. Swail won the Windsor ladies' championship, defeating Mrs. F. G. Bowser 1 up. The first flight went to Mrs. E. Fitzpatrick, who defeated Mrs. H. Dennehy, 2 and 1.

"Curley" Lobb won the first flight championship at Kildonan when he played sound golf to down R. Bryce, 6 and 5, while Les Gibson was the victor in the second flight final over Charlie Wellman, 1 up. The third flight went to F. Walker who defeated F. L. Hutchinson, 2 and 1.

Showing marked superiority over the largest entry in the history of field days in the Province of Quebec, Miss Eileen Kinsella captured major honours last month over Senneville, her home course, by touring it in 85 to lead 201 golfers from all parts of the Province. The noted Senneville golfer went out in 45 after a bad lapse at the second and ninth holes, but recovered on the homeward nine for a 40, giving her a total of 85, just one stroke better than Miss Margaret Lockhart, of Royal Montreal, and Miss Catherine Beer, of Beaconsfield.

A successful ladies' field day, the first over the new 18-hole course of the Riverview Club, Galt, Ontario, attracted 54 entries from Sarnia, London Hunt and Highlands Clubs, Guelph; Stratford, Brantford, Kitchener, Paris and Simcoe.

Mrs. W. F. Ferguson, Paris, turned in the best score of the day, an 89, leading Mrs. H. K. Stevens, of Galt, by one stroke. Mrs. Stevens received the prize for second best gross, while the prize for best nett score went to Miss B. McMurtry, Galt, with a 76, and second best nett score was turned in by Mrs. F. Watt, of Guelph, who had a 77.

The best gross score on the first nine holes was a 44 by Miss K. Bishop, of Brantford, while the prize for the best gross on the second nine went to Mrs. D. T. Croal, of Kitchener, who took a 46. The team prize was won by Kitchener.

Miss K. Bishop, of Brantford, had the three longest drives, while Miss Dorothy Farquharson, of Stratford, drove the longest single ball.

The approaching and putting contest was tied by three players, Miss K. Bishop, of Brantford, Mrs. D. T. Croal, of Kitchener, and Miss M. Laing, of Guelph.

Waterdown, Hamilton's newest golf course, staged an invitation tourney on Saturday, Sept. 13th, and 42 golfers, representing clubs in Hamilton and District, took part. Joe Thompson, Jock Fullerton and J. Armitage tied for the low gross prize with scores of 74, but in the toss-up Thompson was declared the winner, with Fullerton second. Thompson also figured in the low nett, tying with A. R. Tarlton and Jock Fullerton, but as only one prize could be secured by an individual player the prizes went to Tarlton, A. J. Turney and W. T. Dunsmore. Nicol Thompson, Jr., Cedar Brook, had the lowest score for the first nine holes, and F. Leneury, Chedoke, turned in the low score for the last nine. The prizes were presented by J. Precious, secretary-treasurer of the club. Water-down has a fine course and an ideal location and next season should be right in the forefront of clubs in the Hamilton District.

He reports record sales this season in all the lines handled by him.

The club championship of the Country Club of Montreal was captured by J. H. Patton, when he defeated E. B. Prichard in a 36-hole final, 6 up and 4 to go. The match climaxed a long and successful season of club competitions, which aided materially in developing the players of the Country Club.

R. Mackenzie, of the Marlborough Club, Montreal, captured low gross honours in the second invitation tournament of the Grand Mere Golf Club, Grand Mere, Que. Mackenzie scored a 86-80—166 in the 36-hole play and ended in a tie with Len Anderson, of Grand Mere, whose two rounds of 84 and 82 gave him the same total. The golfers played off over 18 holes and Mackenzie scored an 81 to Anderson's 89 and thus captured first place.

P. R. McLagan, of Grand Mere, was the winner of the low nett prize. His nett of 151 was tied by E. Pope, of Shawbridge, and D. Hebert, of Ki-8-Eb, but the Grand Mere player won in a 9-hole play-off. The next 18-hole gross prize was gained by E. Roberts, of Grand Mere, with an 82, and the best 18-hole nett award went to G. Webster, of Grand Mere, with an 86-14-72.

The Ontario Golf Association has accepted the invitation of the Brantford Golf and Country Club to stage the annual fall tournament over the course of that club on Saturday, October 4. The competition is an 18-hole medal event and there will be a team event, to be decided by the lowest aggregate gross score of any four players entered from one club. There will be three prizes for low gross scores and one nett score prize. The Brantford club had intended to hold an invitation tournament on this date but decided to offer the course and date to the O.G.A. The Brantford club will augment the prize list of the Ontario Association. Entries will close on the Wednesday previous to the tourney.

During the big medical convention at Winnipeg last month, the distinguished delegates found time to enjoy three golf tournaments staged for their benefit. At the Niakwa Country Club some 120 medics competed. The winners were:—Guest prize, Dr. Darrow, of Fargo, N.D., 79, closely followed by Dr. Bush. Dr. A. J. Swan, of Winnipeg, with a brilliant 70 won the low nett event, the Ontario Cup, while Dr. Trimble, of The Pas, after tying with Doctors George Fletcher and McInnis, was declared the runner-up following the count out.

R. C. S. Bruce, one of Winnipeg's best known golfers, was in charge of the competition. Then the following day at the St. Charles Club 91 doctors competed in a bogey competition. When the final card had been handed in, it was found that Dr. A. K. Wilson, of Milestone, Sask., was the winner, being two up on the Colonel. The runner-up was Dr. R. T. McGibbon, of Saskatoon. The Childe Cup was won by Dr. E. Archibald, of Montreal, while Sir William Taylor, of the Royal Dublin, was the runner-up. For second day, Sir William was the first to tee off. Then 46 women, the wives, daughters or delegates to the convention had a very successful tournament at the St. Charles Club for the Notts Cup which was won by Mrs. Herbert Bruce, Rosedale, Toronto. This cup is the property of the British Medical Association, and is held by the winner for a period of one year, and this year the holder will treasure a miniature replica of this beautiful cup. Miss Margaret Fletcher was runner-up. Mrs. Laming Evans, London, won the special scratch prize donated by Mrs. W. Harvey Smith for the lowest gross score, having made the round in 94. Mrs. Evans is handicapped 9. The hidden hole competition, for which the women's golf committee donated a prize, was won by Mrs. D. Creighton, of Saskatchewan, who successfully manoeuvred the four chosen holes in 20.

Miss Orcutt Wins Canadian Ladies' Open Championship

Montreal, Sept. 20th, 1930.—It was rather a foregone conclusion after the International match which preceded the championship at Laval-sur-le-Lac, and which was won by America, 11½ points to 2½ points, that the final would again see two U.S. women playing off for the Ladies' Open Championship of Canada. And so it turned out. In the play-down for the championship at match play Miss Ada Mackenzie, the ranking Canadian player, by steady golf managed to reach the semi-finals but here she met the young, slashing player, Miss Helen Hicks, and the result was never for a moment in doubt, and the Toronto expert had to bow to a 7 and 6 decision. Miss Helen was simply irresistible and invincible. She played the first 9 holes in 35, which is 3 under par for the Laval course. Miss Mackenzie, for her, had the unique experience of winning only one hole from her long-hitting young opponent.

After such an outstanding victory, the 19-year-old Canadian champion was installed an odds-on favourite to again win the title. Miss Maureen Orcutt, who had come through to the final in the other bracket, however, has a happy faculty of taking the measure of Miss Hicks. Three times in all, she defeated Miss Hicks last year in important events and to the close followers of the game, it was not at all surprising therefore, that once again she triumphed over her young rival at Laval to-day in the 36-hole final and administered another crushing defeat, this time by a margin of 7 and 6.

Gardner White Again Wins Jasper Tournament

Jasper Park, Alta., September 20th, 1930.—“That fine sportsman and leading New York financier, Gardner White, again won the Jasper Park Totem Pole Tournament here to-day. To defeat in the final, 2 and 1, such a splendid young Canadian player as Freddy Wood, of Vancouver, amateur champion of British Columbia, demonstrates that White is still capable of playing a game which made him internationally famous some twenty years ago. During the war he toured Canada with Chick Evans and other well known U.S. stars in aid of the Red Cross funds of this country and made himself very popular with golfers in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and other centres. Quite a large sum for the Canadian Red Cross was raised by the exhibition matches.”
