Walter Hagen Once Again Winner of Premier Honours

Our American cousins will claim, and with a good deal of force that, as a result of Walter Hagen's victory once again in the British Open, undoubtedly the world's golfing classic, that he is to-day the world's greatest golfer. Of one thing there is no question, and that is he has a fighting spirit rarely if ever equalled in the annals of the game. A bad hole at a crucial period of a championship round has spelled disaster time and again to many a great player. Hagen, however, can take a six instead of a par 3 or 4 and go to the next tee and forget all about the tragedy of the previous hole and proceed to play par or better with the most marvellous sang froid. The U. S. crack rarely, if ever, "cracks." He has the most superb golfing temperament of any of the acknowledged masters of the game. Therein lies the secret of his glittering golfing career.

Hagen is 32 years of age, and was as a youth professional at the Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., where the experts predicted that he would one day win golfing fame, as he had every attribute even then of a high-class golfer. It didn't take long for this prognostication to come true, as at the age of 22 he captured the 1914 U. S. Open Championship at Midlothian, Chicago, with the remarkably fine score of 290. He followed this up in 1915 by winning the $1,000 Panama Exposition Tournament. In 1916 the Western Open Championship and the Metropolitan Open Championship were added to his string of victories. He repeated in the Western Open in 1921 and in the Metropolitan in 1919 and 1920. In 1919, too, he once again won the U. S. Open and in 1920, the French Open.

The season of 1921 also saw him the champion of the U. S. Professional Golfers' Association. In 1922 came the crowning triumph of his career, when he captured the British Open, nosing out George Duncan and Jim Barnes by one stroke. Last year in this great event he was just one stroke back of Havers, and last month he was again one stroke ahead of Whitecomb, so in three successive years he has twice been one stroke to the good and once a stroke to the bad in this great golfing classic. Truly a wonderful record. In addition to course records by the score, including a 62 at Belleair last year in the Florida title event, State and other championships, literally by the dozen have been won by Hagen, who for some years now has held no club professional position. He makes a very handsome living indeed by giving exhibition games and annexing fat championship purses from one end of the country to the other, not to mention syndicated articles on golf and movie picture rights.

This is the third time the British Open Championship Cup has crossed the Atlantic. "Jock" Hutchison lifted it in 1921, Hagen in 1922, and again this year. The U. S. Open Championship Cup has been carried to Great Britain twice, Harry Vardon winning it in 1900 and "Ted" Ray in 1920. So honours are now with the U. S. to the tune of 3 to 2. The British Open Cup also once crossed the Channel, the Frenchman, A. Massy, winning the 1907 championship.

Municipal Golf Clubs and Championship Golf The Municipal Golf Course thoroughly justified its place in the golfing sun at the Ontario Amateur Championship the other day, when Mr. Arthur Dorman, a member of the Chedoke Civic Club, Hamilton, in the semi-finals, made golfing history in defeating Mr. Frank Thompson, Canadian Amateur Champion, at the 20th hole, after being in the uncomfortable position of six down and six to play at the 14th hole. It was a record-breaking "come-back." A careful search of the authorities for an incident paralleling this in a first-class Tournament fails to find one recorded. The nearest approach was the Hilton-Herreshoff match in the U. S. National Amateur Championship at Apawamis in 1911. The Britisher was at one time 6 up and 8 to go on the brilliant Herreshoff, whose death two or three years ago was a distinct loss to U. S. amateur golf, but he eventually had to go to the 37th hole before winning the Championship, the last and only time an Englishman ever captured it.

Dorman several years ago was a caddie in England, once in a while carrying Harry Vardon's bag, but for ten years was not in a position to spare the time or money to play the game. Last year he joined the Civic Club in Hamilton and this season is up amongst the top-notch Ontario players. He has a three-quarter swing, but gets a very long ball from the tee, and follows this up with telling iron work. His position in a dairy calls for night work and he regularly during the Ontario Championship returned to Hamilton every evening to look after his duties. Graduates in increasing numbers from the Civic courses in Canada are going to be heard from in the future in the Canadian Tournaments. They will yet produce a player of championship calibre. Make no mistake about that.

(The Editor is always glad to answer questions about the Rules, and other golfing matters, but owing to so many of these requests coming in every month, he must ask in future that stamped-addressed envelope be enclosed with all such communications, otherwise they will not be answered).

Willie Fernie, 73, one of the oldest and best known golf professionals in the British Isles, died at Troon last month. He won the British open title once and was the only man to tie for second place on five occasions. Fernie had been a Troon professional for thirty years, and was greatly respected and beloved.

Revelstoke is another British Columbia town which has "got into the golf game," a successful club having been launched there this season. The following are the 1924 officers: President, Dr. A. L. Jones; Vice-President, H. H. McVity; Secretary, G. Whitehead; Captain, A. G. Langley and Ch. of Green Committee Dr. A. L. Strong. The links are picturesquely situated two miles from the town, and the success of the club is assured.

Mr. W. E. Hicks, Golf Editor of the Brooklyn "Times," is out with the following suggested rule in reference to the stymie:

"The player of the stymie may either lift his ball or insist upon the stymie being played. In the latter case he may not replace his ball after it has been hit by the opponent's ball."

In other words, under such a ruling, the player who lays a stymie and refuses to lift, is in danger of having his ball knocked yards away from the hole by his opponent's ball. A unique idea, which is securing support in some quarters.

In the death of Mr. A. D. Langmuir, General Manager of the Toronto General Trusts, Canada loses one of its outstanding financiers. Mr. Langmuir was a member of the Toronto Golf Club. The sudden death is also recorded at his country home in Uxbridge this month of the eminent King's Counsel and ex-Liberal Leader, Mr. H. Hartley Dewart, of Toronto. He was a member of the Toronto and Lambton Golf Clubs. Toronto and the Whole Province mourns the passing of two of their most promising sons.

In honour of his victory in the U. S. National Open Golf Championship at Oakland Hills, Cyril Walker, the club professional, was presented with a watch and a purse of money by members of the Englewood Golf Club, New Jersey, at a dinner at the club recently. The presentation speech was made by President George Van Keuren of the club, who complimented Walker on his remarkable feat in winning the championship and laid stress on the fact that the professional had surmounted many obstacles in the way of physical handicaps to gain the exalted position he occupied to-day. Among those who attended were Bobby Cruickshank, Shackamaxon professional, who is teaming up with Walker in a series of exhibition matches this season.

Editorial from Toronto "Globe":

"Sport may also be said to have captured the French-Canadians. They have excelled for a long time in lacrosse, hockey, snow shoeing, swimming and other forms of exercise. Though they were not among the contingent from Montreal which came after the Canadian amateur golf championship last week, golf has already taken root. One of the finest clubs in Canada, Laval sur le Lac, is exclusively French-Canadian, and they are well represented in other clubs. Golf is a plant of slow growth, but French-Canadians are developing many promising players. When they are able to take part on equal terms in the championship tournament, golf will be added to the sports which are bringing the young people of the two Provinces into closer relations and better understanding of each other."

We hear of many weird incidents on the golf courses of Canada from time to time, but the following authentic happening reported from England surely must be by way of a record:

"Although many golf courses have suffered tremendously from recent rains few have collected so much water as the Hendon Club. Swimming has actually taken place on the course, and the 13th green has been inundated to a depth of between four and five feet. After a particularly heavy storm the president, Mr. R. J. Monro, suitably attired, dived into the water on the green from an adjacent bank and swam around the flag."

"Fraser's International Golf Year Book" for 1924 (The Fraser Publishing Company, Montreal), as its name applies, has now taken on a world-wide complexion. Last year the publication was confined more or less to the Canadian field. The present edition just off the press, covers very fully the game and its activities, not only in Canada, but in the United States and Great Britain. It is replete with most useful information in regard to clubs, club officials, professionals, etc., throughout the golfing world. It is a most comprehensive work, replete with invaluable information. The Editor, Mr. George E. Fraser, is to be heartily congratulated on the concise and clever manner in which a multitude of golfing subjects are correctly and entertainingly reported.

Many Happy Returns of the Day to Sir Robert Laird Borden, ex-Prime Minister of Canada, who on June 26th celebrated his 70th birthday, most appropriately by presiding as President at an International meeting of The Red Cross Society in Toronto. During his strenuous duties as war-time Premier, Sir Robert, like Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith and Lord Balfour, often made time to play a round of the links. The ex-Premier at the present time is especially taking a keen interest in the new Ottawa golf club, "The Chaudiere," of which he is President, and a most energetic President, too. The heartfelt wish of golfing and other friends throughout the Empire is that he may be spared many more years to grace the numerous offices he fills so well in Church and State, in the social life and in the Realm of Golf.

Editorial, "Advertiser," London, Ont.:

"Arthur Dorman, from a public golf course at Hamilton, came uncomfortably close to taking the senior position in the Ontario golf series at Toronto.

The performance is interesting, not simply from his skill as a golfer, but from the surroundings in which he works and plays. He had to leave the golf tournament at Toronto, go back to Hamilton, where he superintends the delivery of milk from a dairy; catch a train at four in the morning and return for the next day's play.

The people who used to stand at one side and regard golf as the sport of the few have jumped over the fence and grabbed the clubs.

They are doing it largely through the municipal golf courses, and have found that it is more fun playing the game than wondering how it was done.

London is doing this very thing on its municipal golf links. The beginners are not only gouging great holes in the turf, but they are now and then taking a mighty swat at the elusive, but very lively little ball. It will not be long before we are growing our own Dormans out at Springbank."

“GLORIOUS GLENEAGLES”

President of The Royal Canadian Golf Association Writes Most Enthusiastically of This Gem of Scottish Courses

THE Editor is in receipt of the following most entertaining letter from Mr. S. B. Gundy, Toronto, President of The Royal Canadian Golf Association:

Gleneagles Hotel, Scotland, June 16th.

“See Gleneagles before you die. Don't see Gleneagles and die—that would be tragic, for then only in spirit could you come again and in this wonderful Island, spirits can mingle with the body at will. No police watch one's movements.

However, Gleneagles is what I want to tell you about. I enclose a card of the King's course. Played over it this afternoon. The Queen's course, also 18 holes, was opened yesterday afternoon and is just alongside the King's. The 10th greens are side by side, and the 1st and 18th greens are within speaking distance of one another. James Braid must have enjoyed planning these marvelous courses. Never in my wildest dreams have I pictured a course the equal of this. Nature provided the hills and valleys and gorse, and Braid and his assistants did the rest. The 7th green especially is a poem—imagination can't conceive anything finer. Every green, however, has its own distinctive character, and a not too narrow fairway gives the plodder a chance.

W. H. Despard and I left Quebec on the “Empire of Scotland” May 7th. With us was T. D. M. Burnside, of London (England), a subscriber, by the way, to your splendid magazine, who has a beautiful country place near Wells, where he gave us nearly a week of typical English hospitality. Since landing we have played St. George's Hill, Bramshot, North Hants, Royal Wimbledon, Landsdowne (Bath), Burnham, Deal and Sandwich. At Sandwich, the larks sang all day long over our heads. A strong sea breeze blew. It was neither hot nor cold, but the sun shone and the wonderful St. George's links were in perfect condition. We had 36 holes with good caddies and Heaven seemed very close at hand that day.

But after all, Gleneagles is the golfing top, is the golfing pinnacle,” I am sure. This hotel, opened only yesterday, is the very finest in Europe—not a doubt about it. There are Tennis Courts here, fifty of them, in addition to the two wonderful golf courses. The lounge rooms with superb dining room, music room and ball room are in their fittings and appointments far ahead of anything in the hotel line I have ever seen. What do you think of the following programme for the completion of our trip? June 7th, Gleneagles, 36 holes; June 8th-9th, back to Edinburgh and St. Andrews; June 10th, Troon; June 11th, Prestwick; June 12th and 13th, Turnberry. Then home June 14th from Liverpool per S. S. Celtic.”

The card enclosed by Mr. Gundy of the King's course, Gleneagles, shows a beautifully balanced course of 6,340 yards. It was here that George Duncan last month made his sensational score of 66 when he defeated Abe Mitchell in the £1,000 Tournament.—Ed. “Canadian Golfer.”

The Capital's Fourth Golfing Organization Is Already An Assured Success—Full 18-Hole Course will be in Play this Season—Sir Robert Borden and Other Prominent Men of Ottawa Are Taking a Keen Interest in the Club

THE property of the Chaudières Golf and Realty Company, which has organized the Chaudière Golf Club, consists of 157 acres of land on the Aylmer Road, adjoining the property of the Ottawa Country Club. The property extends from the Aylmer Road to the Ottawa River. About 125 acres are utilized as golf links, while 22 acres upon the hill adjoining the Country Club and about 10 acres near the river have been reserved for residential purposes. This farm was originally part of the property of the Wright family, who were pioneers in that district a century ago. Subsequently the farm was acquired by the late E. B. Eddy, the well known manufacturer. Chief Justice Latchford, who is a member of the Chaudière Club and who spent some of his boyhood days on this farm, gave a most interesting historical account of the early pioneer days at the formal opening of the Chaudière Club on the 21st of July, 1923.

The course was laid out by George Cumming, of Toronto, and work was commenced about the 1st of June, 1923. Seven holes with temporary greens were in play on the 1st of July of the same year. Later in the season, thirteen holes were in play, all on temporary greens.

The old farm house was moved to a more convenient site and converted into a club house. A small stone building formerly used as the farm dairy, was utilized as the professional's workshop and office. A pumping system from the Ottawa River was installed with hot and cold shower baths and all the usual appointments of a modern golf club.

Later on, the farm woodshed was moved from its original site and attached to the club house and within a very short time it was converted into a very pretty dining room.

A large verandah was built in front of the club house, commanding a delightful view of the picturesque links, beautifully dotted with elms and cedars, and of the Ottawa River in the distance.

The Club House of the Chaudiere Golf Club, Ottawa.

During the summer of 1923, sixteen permanent greens were constructed; five of them are near the river and on three of these holes there are interesting water drives. All of them are piped for watering.

During the season of 1923 about four hundred members joined the club, several cups were donated and there was the usual competition for the Club Championship. The Club had several entries in the Ottawa District Championship Competition of 1923.

During the winter one of several farm barns was removed from its original site and attached to the clubhouse, adjoining the old woodshed, now converted into a dining room. The structure of this barn rendered it easily adaptable to the purposes of a lounge room. The timber which entered into the construction of the barns and other buildings on the Eddy Farm was of a size and character that cannot be procured now-a-days. The barn in question had a vaulted roof, with five great beams stretching across. To-day it is a handsome and commodious lounge room. In front of it a spacious verandah suitably screened, has been constructed.

Adjoining this lounge room is a smaller lounge room for the use of persons occupying sixteen bedrooms, which have been built during the past winter.

Under these bedrooms are the men's locker room and shower baths, etc., partly completed, but still in process of construction.

The lounge room for women and the women's shower baths, locker room, etc., are in the old farm house at the other end of the structure.

It should be added that another of the old barns has been converted into a bungalow, equipped with hot and cold water baths and containing twenty bedrooms, for which there is an eager demand on the part of members.

The Club is sufficiently spacious and well equipped to undertake a dinner for more than three hundred people. One such dinner that of the Canadian Electrical Association, took place on Thursday, 12th of June, and two large dinners given by members of the Canadian Medical Association were also held here on the 18th of June.

Sir Robert Borden is President and Honourable E. N. Rhodes is Vice-President of the Chaudiere Golf and Realty Company. The other Directors are Mr. A. E. Corrigan, General Manager; Mr. William Foran, Secretary, and Mr. C. A. Gray, Treasurer.

The supervision of play, the arrangement and direction of competitions and the enforcement of the rules and etiquette of golf are in charge of a Committee of players elected annually.

Applications for membership are passed upon by the Directors or rather by a Sub-Committee, consisting of the General Manager and the Secretary. The rules governing membership are in printed form.

It will be observed that there is no entrance fee. The chief purpose in founding the club was to afford an opportunity of playing golf to hundreds of persons in Ottawa who could not join either of the three other clubs and many of whom were not in a position to pay an entrance fee. In other words, this club, in a certain sense, affords the same opportunities that would be given by a municipal course which Ottawa lacks at present.

With respect to the present season, nine of the permanent greens were put into play last month, and probably all of them before the end of the season.

The Interior of the Artistic Lounge Room, Chaudiere Golf Club, Ottawa.

One of the most interesting features of the development of this club has been the ingenuity with which the old farm buildings have been adapted to its purposes with excellent results. This has been accomplished with a minimum of cost under the exceedingly capable direction of Mr. Corrigan, whose wonderful energy and unflinching resourcefulness in face of every difficulty have been conspicuous throughout. Mr. Corrigan has also given his personal superintendence to the construction of the greens and the development of the fairway, with equally gratifying results.

George Mead, who has had a long experience as steward in the Royal Ottawa and Rivermead Clubs, has accepted the position of steward of the Chaudiere Club. H. Mulligan, for several years assistant professional at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, has been under engagement as professional at the Chaudiere Club since January, 1924.

Fred. Bingham, who has had charge of the construction of the course under the direction of Mr. Corrigan, is groundsman.

BRAMPTON'S FINE GOLF COURSE

Beautiful Ontario Town Has Taken Up Golf Most Enthusiastically, and is Developing Most Interesting Links

BRAMPTON, Ontario, has for many years been noted as the home of the Dale Conservatories, the greatest on the continent, with acre after acre of glass containing tens of thousands of beautiful blooms, orchids, roses, and members of all the flower family, but in the years to come Brampton will also be known as the home of one of the most picturesque 9-hole golf courses in Ontario.

Brampton is fortunate in now numbering amongst its residents Mr. C. S. McDonald, the well-known Lambton and Senior golfer who has a most beautiful residence and grounds in the town and whose services have been freely given in forming a golf club there with a most enthusiastic membership. An ideal property of over 50 acres a year or so ago was secured and a thoroughly interesting 9-hole course laid out. The Editor of the "Canadian Golfer" had the pleasure this month of going over the links with Mr. McDonald and was delighted with the clever manner in which every advantage has been taken of the rolling land through which a small river winds its way between well wooded banks, many noble elms adding great diversity to the landscape. Every green is well placed, especially No. 4, guarded by the river both at the front and back, which when completed, will make one of the finest two-shot holes in the province. The home green, too, has much character. In fact, there is not an uninteresting hole in the whole course. The turf is excellent throughout the property; water has been laid to every green and by next season Brampton will have a 3000-yard course worthy of a visit from the most exacting player. The residents of the town who are taking up the game in the keenest manner, have in their pretty course a very great asset indeed. The following are the officers of this particularly well run club where not a dollar is expended on the course without the most careful and intelligent consideration: C. S. McDonald, President; R. W. Lowry, Vice-President; C. F. Bate, Treasurer; J. G. Hall, Secretary; Rev. M. McArthur, C. R. Duggan, A. H. Balfour, Board of Directors. Mrs. C. B. McKay, President Ladies Com.; Miss Helen Wilson, Secretary Ladies Committee.

THE GREAT RECORD OF THE THOMPSON BROTHERS

SINCE the resumption after the war of golf in Canada, the record of the Thompson brothers has certainly been a remarkable one. Here it is in major competitions: 1919 Amateur at Lambton, Stanley Thompson 2nd place in qualifying round, W. J. Thompson 5th, S. Thompson goes to 4th round in championship. W. J. Thompson is beaten in semi-finals by W. J. McLuckie at 37th hole. Frank Thompson wins Soldiers' Competition and Second consolation. In International Matches at Hamilton, W. J. Thompson defeats Jerome D. Travers the U. S. Open and Amateur Champion, 3 and 2. In Canadian Open at Hamilton, W. J. Thompson is the leading Canadian Amateur with 301. In 1920 at the Amateur Championship at Beaconsfield, W. J. Thompson won the qualifying round with 153. Stanley Thompson being 3rd with 158, Frank went to the 4th round before being put out. In the International Match at Roslyn, L. I., Frank Thompson defeated the redoubtable "Bobbie" Jones 2 up. The year 1921 was an outstanding one for the Thompson brothers. At the Open at Toronto, Frank Thompson, with 302 led all the Canadian Amateurs and then he proceeded to Winnipeg to win the Canadian Amateur, W. J. Thompson once again winning the best gross in the Open Handicap. In 1922 at the Amateur at Hamilton, "W. J." once more headed the players in the qualifying round with 153. Frank being 3rd with 156. The former again reached the semi-finals. In the Canadian Professional Golf Championship at the Country Club, Montreal, Nicol Thompson was the winner with 145. In 1923, W. J. Thompson, at Kanawaki, reached the ambition of all Canadian golfers and won the Amateur Championship. Stanley Thompson heading the field in the qualifying round with 149. This year already W. J. Thompson is the winner of the Ontario Championship and Qualifying rounds in both the Amateur and Ontario, and Frank the Amateur Championship, so it will be easily seen what a factor all the brothers have been in Canadian Golf the past few years. In addition, Matthew Thompson of Winnipeg, has many competitions in the west to his credit and in 1919 at Pittsburg, W. J. Thompson made a remarkably fine showing in the United States Amateur lasting until the last eight, when he was defeated by S. Davidson Herron, afterwards the winner of the Championship.

THE COURTESY OF THE BRITISHER

MR. W. H. DESPARD, ex-President of The Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto, who has just returned from a trip to Great Britain in company with Mr. S. B. Gundy, President of The Royal Canadian Golf Association, writes the Editor:

"We had a truly wonderful trip, and I was very much impressed with the courtesy shown us, which was prevalent on all the Old Country courses. Never once in all our games—and we played over sixteen courses—did I hear the word "fore" called, and we were not driven into once, and at any time any one was in difficulty in front, he immediately waved us through, and went and sat down and allowed us to pass. I do wish that these small attentions could be more generally practised on the Canadian courses. It would make the game so much more delightful, and I believe a genuine effort should be made amongst the golf players to instil this, particularly into the newer members who are continually joining the various clubs."

"DUNNVILLE ON THE GOLFING MAP"

Pretty Town on the Grand River Has Opened for Play This Season Most Attractive Links

(By our Staff Correspondent).

THE new Dunnville Golf and Country Club, Ltd., have now nine holes in play on their attractive property which is located on the Grand River, one mile from the town. The site was selected by A. Sutherland, of the Ancaster Club, and he has laid out for them a very comprehensive nine-hole course of 3,150 yards, which includes a 550 yard hole, No. 5, and a very sporting one-shot hole of 150 yards, No. 2. The most picturesque hole, perhaps, is No. 6, which is 260 yards, and parallels the river bank, presenting a beautiful vista down stream to the wooded banks on the far side. A more charming spot on a summer evening could scarce be desired.

The course as planned is not yet in play in its entirety, although the Executive is endeavoring to provide nine holes immediately, some of a temporary nature. As work is completed on one portion of the course, other final holes will be immediately developed. The development is under the immediate supervision of A. Sutherland, Jr., who has been engaged as the club professional.

A substantial residence which was already on the property has been transformed into a very pretty club house by the addition of a large verandah overlooking the river, and by interior remodelling. The opening dance held early in June, indicated the popularity of this feature.

The membership already includes some 140 shareholder members, and no doubt many non-resident members will be attracted from summer visitors at Port Maitland, five miles down the river.

Certainly golf will find a welcome in the Dunnville district and we wish to compliment the officers for their most successful efforts. Mr. John A. Burns, of the Monarch Knitting Co., is President, W. A. Fry, Vice-President, W. J. Appleyard, Secretary, and T. E. Parkes Treasurer.

To Mr. L. J. Haywood, the energetic Chairman of the Green Committee, much credit is due for the splendid progress already made by the Dunnville Club. Now that Dunnville has been successfully placed on the golfing map, we look for a rapid increase in the popularity of the ancient game among its residents.

METROPOLITAN CHAMPION HONOURED

MR. W. M. REEKIE of New York, the former well-known Canadian golfer, who recently won the Metropolitan Championship was paid a signal honour last month when he was given a complimentary dinner by the members of the Upper Montclair Country Club to suitably celebrate his notable victory and also presented with a beautiful Gruen watch and chain and an Honourary Membership in the Upper Montclair Club. On the watch is engraved "To W. M. Reekie, Metropolitan Amateur Champion, from his fellow club members, Upper Montclair Country Club, 1924." There are only three honorary members at Upper Montclair, Jerome Travers, the many times U. S. champion and Frank Dyer of Memphis, Tennessee, formerly a member of the club and winner of many State championships.

Prior to the dinner a most interesting match was staged between Messrs Travis and Reekie versus Messrs. E. M. Wild and A. F. Kammer of the Baltusrol Club, the latter the New Jersey State Champion and the former the runner-up. The Upper Montclair pair won on the last green, Reekie had a 73, Kammer a 75 and Travis and Wild each a 76.

All the leading amateurs and professionals of the Western provinces will tee-up at Saskatoon the week of August 9th and the tournament will be the most outstanding ever held in the west.

Mr. Fred B. Morrison, Saskatoon, chairman of the very representative management committee of the tournament, writes the Editor:

"Golfers throughout the West in general are looking forward to the tournament with great enthusiasm. The Committee in charge is well ahead with its arrangements, and a warm reception both on and off the links is assured our visitors. At the Riverside Country Club, where the main event is to be staged, many improvements are in progress and all of the 18 greens, some of them new ones, will be in first-class condition by tournament time. The fairways too, have been widened and are greatly improved. The course of the Saskatoon Golf Club, where part of the qualifying rounds of the Open and of the Professional event will be staged, has also been altered and improved, so that contestants are assured of two real championship courses to play on. While these two courses may not compare favourably with some of the fine eastern or Old Country courses, they are a credit to the West, and leave little to be desired. A word of warning may be in season. Look out for Kinnear's new third hole on the Saskatoon Golf Club course. "Damnation," is full of that estimable golfing attribute, every one of its 125 yards. As both the professional and amateur events are open to all comers, a good entry from the East and the far West is solicited, and the Tournament Committee extend a hearty welcome to all who care to come along and have a good time."

A "BOUQUET" FROM DEAR OLD SCOTLAND

MR. D. C. BANKS, Director of the St. Mungo Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Glasgow, makers of the famous "Colonel" Golf Balls:

"We have just perused your May issue, which we think is really excellent, and take this opportunity of offering you our warmest congratulations on such a fine golfing production. You already know the high opinion we have always held of the "Canadian Golfer." It is a chatty paper and fascinating to any reader interested in the game of golf, irrespective of his domicile. To the writer it is a little more interesting, as he knows a little about Canada and we, of course, do a good trade there, and we are glad to state that it is growing."

MRS. HUTCHINGS DISQUALIFIED

THE following despatch from Vancouver, B.C., June 25th, bears out the contention of the "Canadian Golfer" how important it is for every one to closely observe the rules:

"Mrs. Harold Hutchings, of Winnipeg, who was favoured to win the Pacific North Western Golf Association Women's Championship here this week, was disqualified from the event this afternoon after she had defeated Miss G. Barnett in decisive style by six up and 5 to play.

Agreeing before the game not to play stymies was the cause of the disqualification by the committee of the association, who ruled that the players had broken the rules of the association and were not eligible to compete any further.

Mrs. Hutchings reported the matter to the committee immediately after the game, when a hurried meeting resulted in the elimination of the star of the tournament. The Winnipeg lady said that there had not been a stymie laid by either player during the thirteen holes which decided the contest, but felt it her duty to report the arrangement made at the start of the game, when a member of the committee happened to mention at the tenth hole that she should not have picked up her ball when her opponent was making a long putt after the hole had practically been decided.

The ruling was made on a mere technicality and there was considerably sympathy expressed when it was learned that Mrs. Hutchings had been disqualified, as she was the big attraction of the tourney. She was playing at the top of her form, as her 82 showed yesterday. To-day Mrs. Hutchings was going still better, as she was out in 42 and was playing par golf on the home journey, which included another drive of about 290 yards on the thirteenth green."

Mrs. Hutchings is one of the finest women golfers on the continent, and one of the squarest of players. The incident is a most regrettable one, but "rules are rules" and must be obeyed and observed to the letter.—Editor Canadian Golfer.

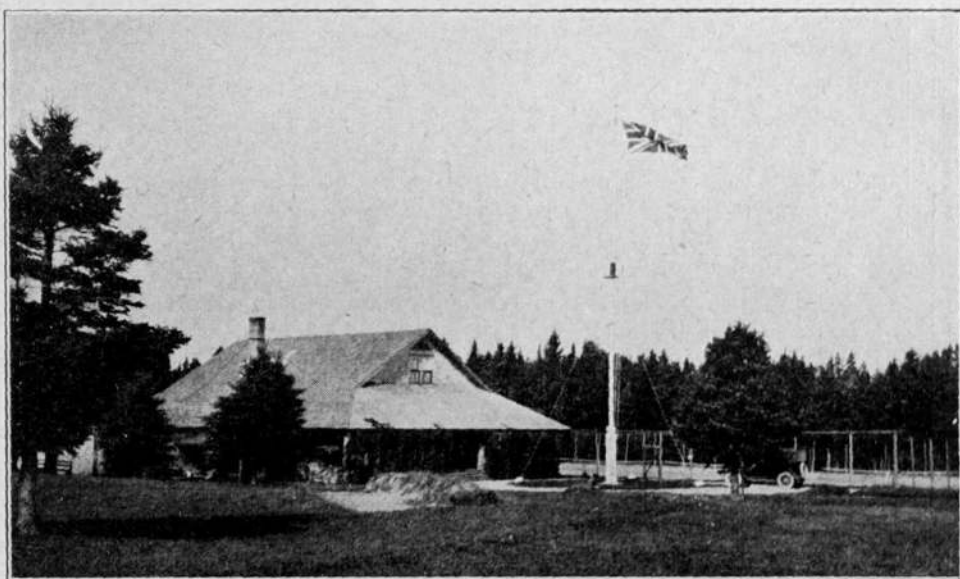

A POPULAR SUMMER RESORT

Little Metis Beach, is the Golfing and Tennis Rendezvous of Increasing Numbers from All Parts of Canada and the United States

(By Mr. W. H. Smyth, Montreal).

MANY Canadians from Eastern Canada, chiefly from Montreal, but with increasing numbers from Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton and London, will be spending the summer months at Little Metis Beach, Que. This is one of the beauty spots and ideal summer resorts of the lower St. Lawrence.

It was originally settled by a colony of Scotch yeomanry and still retains many of the traditions of the Old Land, although surrounded by an ever-increasing French-Canadian population. It is said the reason for their settling in this district is that on the day of their arrival there was so much snow, sleet, rain and fog that it reminded them of their old home, and it was unanimously decided to remain. It is situated in the County of Rimouski, a short distance from the main line of the C. N. R. to Halifax, at a point on the St. Lawrence where the river is 45 miles wide. It is a night's run from Montreal, 400 miles, without change, but many Montrealers, and even Torontonians, now make the trip by motor.

Thanks to the Quebec Liquor Commission, whose money is invested in good roads, the trip may be made with speed and convenience. The writer has on six different occasions motored from Montreal to Riviere du Loup in one day, a distance of 304 miles, which in itself is sufficient recommendation for the road. The remaining 100 miles is not as good, but the road is improving year by year.

The salt water of the Lower St. Lawrence is cold, but a short dip is very bracing, and those who prefer a warmer bath may do so in the artificial pool.

The motor trips in the neighborhood are many and charming, and for those who have never been intimately in contact with the native French-Canadians a very pleasant prospect is in view. They are a happy and contented people, ready and willing to give help and advice on any occasion, night or day, and very few indeed are unable to speak sufficient English to make themselves understood.

Nearly everybody in Little Metis Beach plays golf or tennis, many play both. The Cascade Golf and Tennis Club has nine tennis courts, equal to anything in Canada, in addition to which many private courts are maintained.

The golf course is 18 holes, and both interesting and sporty, and has been the golfing cradle of several Canadian champions, and near champions—such as C. B. Grier, Geoffrey Turpin, Norman Scott, Maurice Hodgson, J. W. Yuile and others. The course is in such demand that members desirous of playing must now register their starting time the evening before if they expect to play between the hours of 9 and 11.30, which is the starting time most favoured at Metis.

In addition to this the Boule Rock Club has opened a very fine course, comprising at present 12 holes, with the remaining 6 holes in the process of construction.

The hotel accommodation in the height of the season is always at a premium and late applicants have very little prospect of securing a resting place.

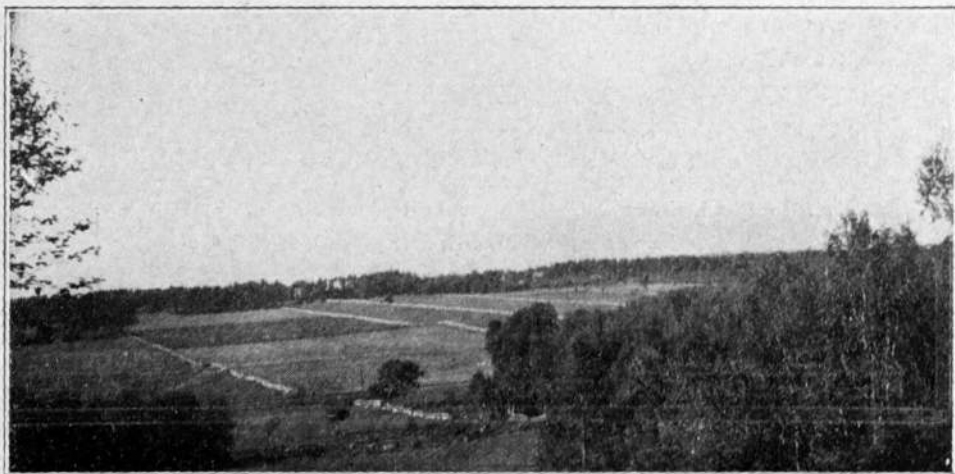

The Officers and Committee of the Cascade Golf and Tennis Club for 1924 are: Honorary President and Immediate Past President, W. G. Hodgson, Montreal; President, Dr. W. H. Smyth, Westmount; 1st Vice-President, A. F. C.

Ross, Westmount; 2nd Vice-President, Norman Seagram, Toronto; Secretary, Russell Barret, Montreal. Committee—J. S. Baillie, George H. Marler, George W. Grier, Quentin Bovey, Thomas Arnold, Jack Cowans.

Between July 14th and August 16th the various golf and tennis competitions will be held, for which a magnificent array of prizes will be offered to the successful competitors.

The competitions are as follows:

Golf—July 21, Baylis Trophy, Ladies' Handicap Singles; Qualifying Round and Match Play. Consolation for those defeated in the first round. July 28, Fleet Trophy, Men's Handicap Singles; Qualifying Round and Match Play. Consolation for those defeated in the first round. August 4, Mixed Foursome Handicap; Qualifying Round and Match Play. Consolation. Aug. 5, Percival Molson Trophy, Men's Open Singles; Qualifying Round and Match Play; open to members of two years' standing. August 9, President's Prize, Parent and Child Competitors; Handicap Match Play. August 16, Five Club Match; medal round.

This last named has become a most popular and amusing competition. Teams of five are chosen, usually two gentlemen and three ladies, or vice versa, and one club is assigned, by drawing. A medal round is played, the driver starting at the first tee, followed by the brassie, mid iron, mashie and putter in succession, regardless of the lie of the ball, so that one may see the driver playing in a bunker and the mashie or putter driving from the tee.

Tennis—July 14, American Tournament, mixed doubles, handicap. July 21, Junior Competition. July 28, Ladies' Handicap Singles; Ladies' Handicap Doubles. August 8, Ladies' Open Singles. August 9, Men's Open Singles; Men's Handicap Singles; Men's Open Doubles; Men's Handicap Doubles.

In these days of millionaire golf clubs it is refreshing to hear of a club which is still able to keep expenses within bounds. The club has a substantial balance on hand, and that, too, at the following very moderate amounts for fees:

Golf—Season, $10.00; Holiday, 2 weeks, $6.00; Week-end, $3.00; Saturday only, $2.00; Juniors, $3.00.

Tennis—Season, $10.00; Holiday, 2 weeks, $6.00; Week-end, $2.00; Saturday only, $1.00; Juniors, $3.00.

THE GOLF COURSES OF VICTORIA AND VICINITY

THE "Victoria Daily Times" recently issued a full illustrated page on the golf courses of that vicinity and our cotem concludes a most interesting and descriptive article:

"With the golf courses at other parts of the Island outside of the City of Victoria a visitor to Vancouver Island is able to spend ten or twelve days here and try out a different course each day, every course possessing that charm of the Island golf clubs, cool green, free from dust and heat of some of the other cities of the Pacific Coast and with more natural beauty than is often found with a perfectly laid out golf course. It is almost as if Nature had made her own facilities for playing the ancient game on Vancouver Island than if expert golf architects had mapped out courses.

A tourist coming to the Island can play Oak Bay one day and then gradually moving north he can play the next day at the Uplands, the next at Esquimalt, then move to Colwood, and getting farther outside the city can go to Cedar Hill or Duncan, then Maple Bay on to Qualicum Beach, then to Courtenay or Comox. A cordial invitation awaits golfers at every place. Some of the courses are private, but these private courses are owned by golfers who with the brotherhood of the players are ready to welcome the visiting comrades to a game and proud to show their well-kept links.

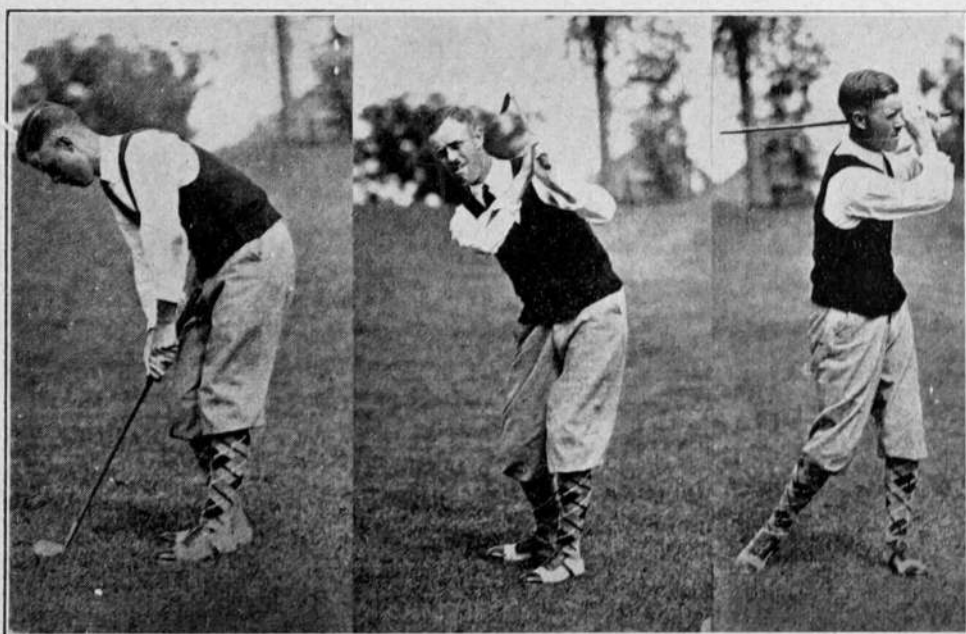

The Cedar Hill golf course is of comparatively new construction. The Duncan course is also fairly new. Qualicum golf course is perhaps the most enchanting of the Up Island links. It is a nine-hole course, 2,842 yards long. It is along the seafrent, has famous natural hazards that will appeal to all sportsmen, possesses large greens and is situated in some of the most beautiful scenery of the Island. There are few visitors who play golf who do not take advantage of a visit to Qualicum during their stay in Victoria. A little off the unbeaten track it offers an ideal retreat for the business man, seeking seclusion from city life for a week or two, but demanding golf. The addition of what is probably the most ideal bathing beach on Vancouver Island with a sandy shelving entrance to the water of a comfortable temperature for bathing, a bay in the Pacific like the fiction writers picture for their alluring stories of the South Sea Islands, makes Qualicum a golfer's dream of a real vacation."

The Rosedale Links, with their superb setting of stately trees, were in championship condition for the event. The fairways were in excellent shape; the greens were puttingly perfect and it was the consensus of opinion amongst all the contestants that the course gen-

Amateur Championship, were to some extent, but to some extent only duplicated this year. At the Winnipeg Golf Club, as at Rosedale, the Mississauga crack ended the morning round 2 up. At Winnipeg he had a very seasoned opponent indeed, in C. W. Hague, of Calgary (now in California), several years his senior. At Rosedale he had a young Collegian who, although he had won his spurs in cricket, football and hockey, was virtually unknown until a year or so ago, in Championship golf. But history rather repeated itself, because both Hague, of Calgary, and Somerville, of London, in the afternoon round, proceeded to wipe out that useful morning lead of two holes. Going to the 31st hole at Winnipeg, Hague was all square, and going to the 31st hole at Rosedale, Somerville was also all even. But there the comparison ends. Hague for the first time in the Winnipeg match went ahead of Thompson at the 32nd, and eventually took him to the 38th green before acknowledging defeat. At Rosedale, Thompson shook off his long-hitting, dogged, determined young opponent, who was really playing like a veteran, and proceeding to win the 32nd and 33rd, halving the 34th and winning the 35th, eventually registered a 3 and 1 victory. Both victor and vanquished at Rosedale were heartily cheered by an impartial and well behaved gallery of some 2,500 golfing enthusiasts, the twice crowned champion being carried off the 17th green shoulder high by a number of his enthusiastic Mississauga team mates. The referee and umpire of this intensely interesting final were Mr. S. B. Gundy, Toronto, President of The Royal Canadian Golf Association, and Mr. W. W. Walker, Montreal, Vice-President, two of the best posted men in Canada on the Rules and Etiquette of the game. The large gallery behaved throughout, however, in a most exemplary manner, and the officials were not called upon once to assert their authority. It was a perfectly run six-day Championship from the first drive until the last decisive putt.

THE QUALIFYING ROUND

Monday, June 30th saw the opening of the Championship, when all the leading players of Ontario and Quebec teed up together with seven from the States and one from Newfoundland (a Cambridge University student.) For the first time in some years there were no entries from the West—a regrettable fact, but distances certainly militate against the entering of the leading Western amateurs. In all there were 124 entrants. Among the notable absentees were the ex-Champions, G. H. Turpin, of Montreal, and F. R. Martin, of Hamilton.

Quite the sensation of the opening day was the fine golf of the young Californian Collegian, Lauren Upson, of the Del Paso Club, of Sacramento, California, who unheralded and unsung, looked at one time like tying for the qualifying prize with the ex-champions, C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, and F. Thompson, Mississauga, all

There were four scores of 168 qualifying for the 32nd place in the Championship Flight and in the play-off F. G. Hoblitzell, of Detroit, who entered from his old club at Sarnia, earned the right to compete. There were one or two notable upsets. For the first time in his remarkable career George S. Lyon, fresh from tying in the Ontario Open Championship, failed to gain a place, largely as a result of a morning round of 87. Several other well known players also missed making the charmed circle.

Of the 32 who did qualify, 15 players were from Toronto; 7 from Montreal; 3 from the U. S., 2 from Brantford and 1 each from Newfoundland, Hamilton, London, Windsor and Sarnia. One of the U. S. entrants was C. Stuart, of Chicago, who formerly resided in Galt, where he won a year or so ago both the junior and senior championships.

A word here about the young Californian, Upson. Last month he was absolutely unknown, except in his own State, where he had won the Intercollegiate Championship, and reached a couple of times the semi-finals in the State Championship. Then two or three weeks ago he came East on a lone adventure, and in the U. S. National Intercollegiate Championship surprised all the experts by winning the gold medal in the Qualifying Round at Greenwich, Conn., with a 74 and 71 for 145. Dexter Cummings, the subsequent champion was in second place with 152. As pointed out by W. E. Hicks, the Brooklyn "Times" golf expert, who forwarded these particulars about Upson to the "Canadian Golfer," to come 3,000 miles and enter a National Championship virtually an unknown and then sweep through the qualifying field with a margin of seven strokes is one of the most surprising achievements in the history of American golf.

And in Canada as subsequent events proved, he also came very nearly making golfing history.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP BY ROUNDS

The draw for the Championship found in the upper bracket the Champion, W. J. Thompson, and the ex-Champions, Frank Thompson and C. C. Fraser, with such good players as Maurice Hodgson, John Haddon and Seymour Lyon. In the lower bracket were the ex-Champions, W. McLuckie and C. B. Grier, and Stanley Thompson and F. G. Hoblitzell, with Upson an unknown but dangerous quantity. The chances of the ultimate dark horse of the Championship, Ross Somerville, of London, did not enter into consideration in the pools or elsewhere. But the clean-cut collegian was ultimately to save the situation for Canada by eliminating the last U. S. entrant in the semi-finals and incidentally himself making a bold bid—a very bold bid—for titular honours.

And this was the result of the first day's play at 36 holes:

C. J. Lennox, Montreal Country Club, defeated Eric Oswald, Lakeview, by 8 and 7.

Seymour Lyon, Lambton, defeated J. E. McLean, Weston, by 3 and 2.

John Haddon, Toronto, defeated William Cumming, Humber Valley, by 9 and 8.

C. B. Grier, Mount Bruno, defeated Arthur Dorman, Hamilton, by 10 and 9.

Frank Thompson, Mississauga, defeated C. M. Sheppard, Brantford, by 7 and 6.

W. Maybin, Toronto, defeated Carrol Stuart, Chicago, by 10 and 9.

W. M. Hodgson, Royal Montreal, defeated W. J. Thompson, Mississauga, by 1 up.

C. C. Fraser, Kanawaki, defeated J. Schiapacasse, Detroit, by 10 and 9.

John Lewis, Brantford, defeated J. A. Sullivan, Rosedale, by 5 and 4.

Ross Somerville, London, defeated R. M. Gray, Jr., Rosedale, by 5 and 4.

C. M. Jones, Scarboro, defeated G. P. Shaw, Scarboro, by 8 and 7.

Norman Scott, Royal Montreal, defeated Stanley Thompson, Mississauga, by 8 and 7.

Lauren Upson, Sacramento, defeated J. A. Cameron, Mississauga, by 8 and 7.

Wm. McLuckie, Kanawaki, defeated T. Kirkham, Windsor, by 4 and 3.

F. G. Hoblitzell, Sarnia, defeated A. McColl, Beaconsfield, by 1 up.

A. L. Gooderham, Jr., Rosedale, defeated A. C. M. Gosling, Newfoundland, by 2 up.

The outstanding feature of this first round was of course the defeat of the Champion by the brilliant young Royal Montreal player, Maurice Hodgson, who made such a favourable showing at Kanawaki last year and who has all the hall marks of a coming champion. The match was a bitterly fought out one. The morning round ended all square. After lunch the Royal Montrealler halved the 19th and then proceeded to win the 20th, 21st and 22nd. He held his lead of 3 up to the 27th, playing par golf. He lost the 28th and 30th. He, however, was still 2 up at the 34th. The Champion won the 35th and looked like also annexing the 36th, where his 15 foot putt rimmed the cup for a birdie 3. Hodgson getting the regulation 4, had the honour of eliminating by 1 hole up the 1923 title holder and one of the greatest players in Canada. No mean accomplishment and a feather in the golfing cap of the young Royal Montrealler, which he can pardonably wear for many a day to come.

And the other matches went more or less by schedule, although the crushing defeat of many of the players was hardly looked for and hardly explainable.

One of the most remarkable come-backs was that of McColl, another young Montrealler. Hoblitzell, the former Detroit Champion and Internationalist was 6 up in the morning round, and then McColl proceeded to play some of the best golf of the whole Championship week, his card in the afternoon showing a 35 out and a 38 in for a 73, only 1 over par. Hoblitzell was rather thankful under the circumstances to squeeze in with a one hole win.

The Second Round results:

Seymour Lyon defeated C. T. Lennox 7 and 6.

C. B. Grier defeated John Haddon, at 37th hole.

Frank Thompson defeated W. Maybin 7 and 5.

C. C. Fraser defeated W. M. Hodgson 7 and 5.

Ross Somerville defeated John S. Lewis 5 and 3.

Norman Scott defeated C. M. Jones 7 and 6.

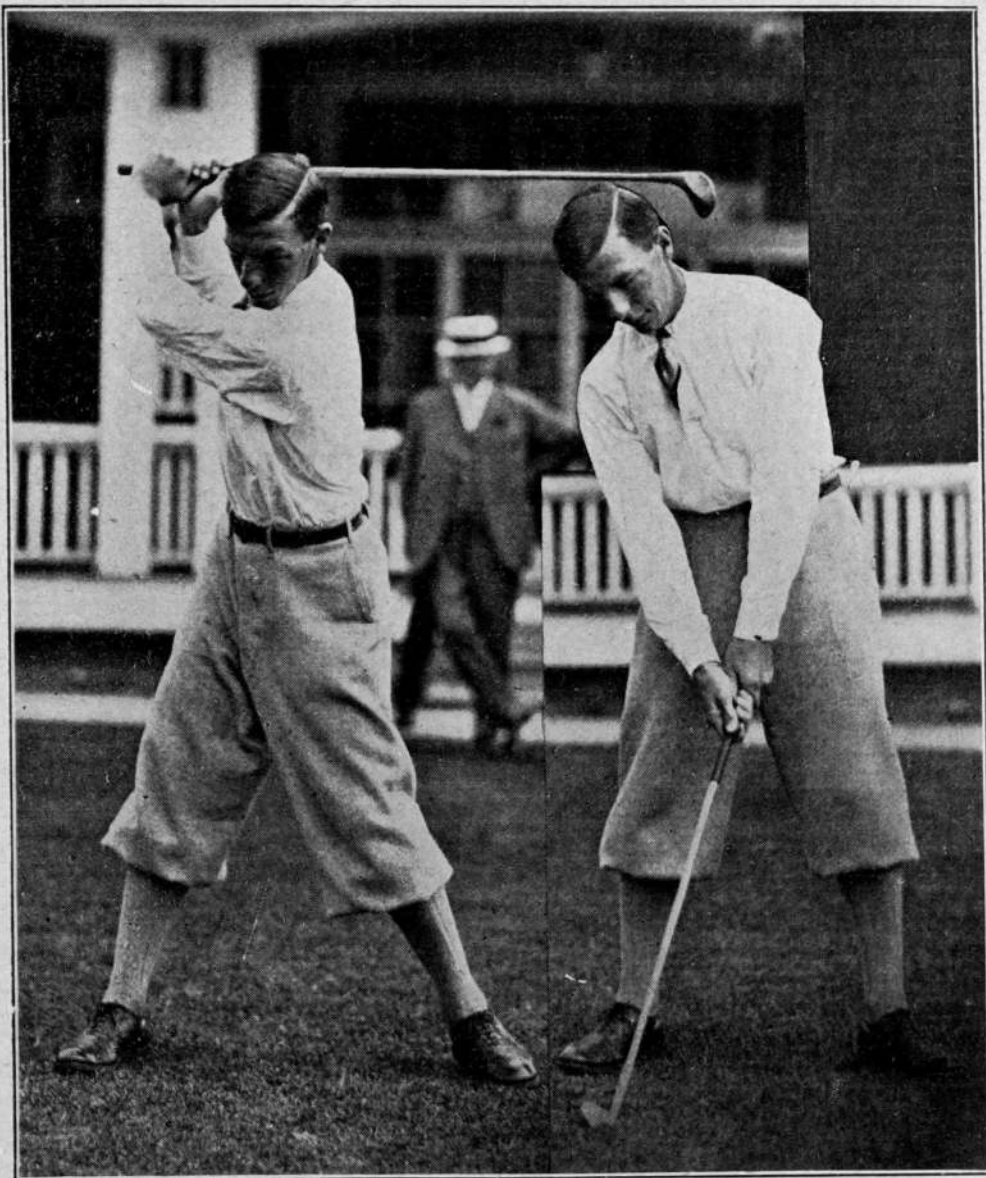

Lauren Upson defeated W. McLuckie at 38th hole.

F. G. Hoblitzell defeated Alex. Gooderham 11 and 9.

And the sixteen became eight and the elimination witnessed some of the best golf of the Championship and the most sensational match of the whole week, not excepting the Thompson-Hodgson game of the first round. W. McLuckie, of Kanawaki, ex-Champion of Canada, a winner of many a stiff up-hill fight and greatly fancied for the finals at Rosedale, was no less than 5 up on the young Californian, Upson, at the end of the morning round. He had negotiated the first 18 holes in 73 and was playing only a stroke over par golf. In the afternoon there was a ding-dong battle, Upson picking up a hole and then losing it again, finding himself at the 28th in the unenviable position of being 6 down and 8 to play. It looked hopeless, but he then proceeded to play dazzling golf. His putting on every green bordered on the miraculous. He picked up hole after hole in par or better, and at the short 34th with a rather lucky 2 squared the match. Both the 35th and 36th were halved, as also was the 37th extra hole. Then at the 38th came a fitting climax nessed in a Canadian Championship. There is no question that Upson is a very fine golfer. His one great fault is too great deliberation. He takes to this most remarkable display of putting fireworks on the part of the rangy Californian. Forty feet off the green and partly stymied, he curled a beautiful ball into the cup and won one of the most sensational games ever wit-altogether too much time over nearly all of his shots. He unquestionably will remedy this (he is only in his twentieth year); and if he does he should be heard from in the years to come. Given less deliberation and a little more "punch" and he will not be so inclined to crack—as crack he undoubtedly will unless he changes his present methods.

Another fine match in this round was that between another ex-Champion, C. B. Grier, and the Toronto Club star player, J. Haddon. This too was all square at the 36th. At the 37th the Montrealer from the edge of the green ran down a putt for a birdie 3 and a hard fought victory.

The gruelling game he had the previous day with W. J. Thompson, undoubtedly was the undoing of Maurice Hodgson in his match with the ex-Champion, C. C. Fraser. In the morning round he was 1 down only, but perceptibly tired in the afternoon and was defeated handily by the hard-hitting ex-Champion.

In this round Ross Somerville commenced to show the golf that is in him by defeating John Lewis, of Brantford and Hamilton, a very sterling player indeed, by 5 and 3. In the afternoon in this match he went out in 35, which is 1 under par.

The Third Round Results:

Seymour Lyon defeated C. B. Grier 2 and 1.

Frank Thompson defeated C. C. Fraser 4 and 3.

C. R. Somerville defeated Norman Scott 2 and 1.

Lauren Upson defeated F. G. Hoblitzell 5 and 4.

This round proved especially fatal to all hopes of the Championship going East, Grier, Fraser and Scott, of Montreal, all likely finalists, lowering their colours to Toronto and London, but not without a game struggle. Two of the matches were by a 2 and 1 margin—Somerville-Scott and Lyon-Grier.

Lyon was 1 down to Grier at lunch time, but played sterling golf in the afternoon to register a victory against the Mount Bruno expert. Somerville was in the same position at the end of the morning round, but he too playing a most determined game in the afternoon, won out from the more experienced Scott, runner-up in the Amateur at Hamilton in 1922 and like Somerville a fine all-round athlete of the very best type.

Frank Thompson, playing championship golf, was 2 up on Fraser in the morning and continuing his winning streak in the afternoon, accounted for the Kanawakian 4 and 3.

Hoblitzell, it was generally thought, would give Upson a battle royal, but the latter was again at the top of his game and was still sinking putts from all parts of the green, with a 5 and 4 result.

The Semi-Finals:

Ross Somerville defeated Lauren Upson 4 and 3.

Frank Thompson defeated Seymour Lyon 6 and 4.

Naturally the semi-finals of any Championship are absorbingly interesting and those at Rosedale on July 4th proved particularly so because in Frank Thompson and Seymour Lyon Canada has two of her greatest young golfers, whilst in the other bracket were very fine types indeed of the Universities of the States and Canada—representatives of California and Toronto. In this match too, there was the International aspect, to give it added zest.

And at first it looked as though for the second time in the history of the Canadian Amateur a golfer from across the Border would go through to the finals. It was stated by more than one Toronto paper that an American had never reached the finals, but this is not so. In 1914 the last time he won the Championship, Mr. George S. Lyon at The Royal Ottawa decisively defeated the long-hitting Brice S. Evans, of Boston, in the final by 8 and 7.

Upson in the morning round was playing at the very top of his form. The outward 9 holes at Rosedale measure 3,115 yards, and are parred at 36. Upson negotiated them in 34. He had birdies at the second, third, eighth and ninth holes, and it speaks volumes for the nerve and pluck of the young Londoner that he was not completely swept off his feet by this regular whirlwind golf. He stuck to his muttons, however, and refused to be stampeded, although at the end of the 18th the best he could do was to acknowledge a three hole deficit.

The afternoon, however, saw a complete reversal of form. The imperturbable Toronto Varsity man completely rang the changes on the California star, whose remarkable, but too deliberate game, which had stood him in such good stead throughout the week, he completely shattered. Playing the 19th, 20th and 21st holes in fours, or one under par, Somerville delighted the large gallery which was following the pair, by squaring the match. The next hole was halved in three, and then at the 395 yard 5th or 23rd of this gruelling contest the Londoner with a par 4 to his opponent's 5 for the first time was out in front. It was generally conceded then by keen followers of the game that the Californian would crack, and he more or less did. He lost his magic putting touch and was eventually beaten on the 33rd green by 4 and 3. Somerville in the afternoon for 15 holes had a card of 60, or even fours. Upson had a 69. And that tells the story. It was a great match. A veritable battle of well-mused and well nigh nerveless youth. A contest between two quite distinct types of young manhood—the product of two seats of learning fundamentally the same but in some essentials, even in golf, quite different. Young Upson has emphatically stated that he will return next year to enter for our Amateur. It is to be hoped he will. We cannot have too many visits from young American golfers of his calibre.

The Thompson-Lyon encounter was in the morning of the evenest kind of character. The Mississaugan won the first hole and then the next eleven holes were halved—a remarkable fine exhibition of match-play golf. Lyon squared the match at the 13th, only to be down 1 again at the 14th. The Lambtonian, however, won the 15th and 16th, squared the 17th, but lost the 18th.

In the afternoon the ex-champion was quite in his best form and reeling off a masterly 34 on the outward journey was in a commanding lead of 5 up at the 27th. The match came to an end at the 32nd, 6 and 4.

AND FRANK THOMPSON REPEATS

It has almost invariably been the case when hard fought semi-finals have marked the penultimate stage of a championship, that the finals have been more or less listless. After five days heartbreaking grind, the finalists generally show traces of mental and physical strain. The last stages of a championship therefore are usually the most uninteresting of the whole week. But not so at Rosedale. The decisive stage of the whole series was unquestionably the most interesting. In the afternoon a gallery variously estimated at from 2,000 to 2,500 enthusiasts were fairly on edge from first to last and the atmosphere fairly pulsed with pent-up excitement. It was a fitting finale to a week of thrills many and upsets aplenty.

Even in the morning round a goodly company of keen followers of the game watched intently every shot of the finalists. In Somerville, London for the first time in its golfing history of over a quarter of a century, had a candidate for the blue riband golfing honours. Both players, during the week, had demonstrated that their game was well worth studying. Both had their admirers and both morning and afternoon justified the faith of their followers. There was not an uninteresting hole played from the 1st to the 35th.

The first hole of the finals was promptly annexed by Thompson with a par 4 to a 5. The next two were split and then the Londoner evened the match at the 4th with a 3 to a 4. Thompson came back with a 4 to a 5 at the 5th and also won the 200 yard 6th. The 7th was "all even," and then at the 8th the ex-champion with a beautiful 4 went into a 3 up lead. A 6 foot putt at the 255 yard 9th gave Somerville a 3 to a 4. The 10th was split but Thompson at the 11th again forged to the front with a 5 to his opponents 6. A fine 4 by the Londoner at the 12th a 3 at the 13th and a 5 at the 14th put hope into the heart of his well wishers, these hopes only to be dashed to the ground again when Thompson with a 4 to a 5 at the 15th and a 2 to a 3 at the 110 yard 16th once again established a two-hole lead. The 17th and 18th were divided and the ex-champion went in to lunch with that fairly comfortable margin in his bag.

The Varsity crack all through the championship had demonstrated such a faculty for coming from behind that his followers were still confident that in the afternoon round he would quickly wipe out that two lead leeway, and he promptly proceeded to do so. The 19th and 20th were halved but at the 21st with a 4 to a 5 and at the 22nd with a 3 to a 4 he had established even terms with his experienced opponent. Then followed nine halved holes in succession, nine holes where a break here or a break there might have meant a win. It was really a magnificent exhibition of dogged, determined golf. Somerville was outdriving the ex-champion, but the latter was approaching and chipping up to the flag in a well nigh faultless manner. A finer exhibition of both the short and long game has never been seen in Canada—rarely anywhere else. The gallery was keyed up almost to the breaking point but it was an eminently fair gallery and both contestants were impartially applauded for their many brilliant strokes.

And then the end of the tie came at the fateful fourteenth or 32nd of the match. In order to clear the fairway below of spectators the players had to wait on this tee for 5 minutes or so. Whether or not this worried the long-hitting Londoner it is hard to say but he forthwith topped his drive and Thompson seizing advantage of the error promptly proceeded to line out a beautiful shot followed by a second right on the pin with a short putt for an eagle 3. Somerville, after taking 4 to reach the green, conceded the hole. On the 33rd he was 30 yards out ahead of Thompson from the tee but the latter again put down a great second. Somerville was short on his approach and the Mississauga expert with a 4 to a 5 was two holes up. Both players were in the trap to the left of the tricky 34th but both played out perfectly and were rewarded with par threes.

In the comfortable position of dormy two, Thompson going to the 35th took no chances. Both were on in three,

Mr. S. B. Gundy, Toronto, President of the R. C. G. A., who refereed the Championship Finals.

Somerville was away and made a plucky attempt to bag a long putt for 4, but ran well over the hole. Thompson narrowly missed a 4 and Somerville failing to negotiate a 5 lost the hole 6 to 5 and Thompson, for the second time in his short but brilliant career, by a 3 and 1 margin carried off the Amateur Championship of Canada amidst the well-deserved plaudits of the immense gallery, the majority of whom followed the struggle until the last putt had found the cup.

The twice crowned champion if the last hole had been played in the afternoon would have had probably a 73 which is magnificent golf for a final. By his victory he becomes the fourth player to win the championship more than once (not the third as erroneously reported), Mr. George S. Lyon as all the golfing world knows has eight of 'em to his credit. Mr. F. R. Martin, Hamilton, won it twice as also did Mr. A. H. Kerr of Toronto.

In 1895, the year it was first played, the championship went to Kingston. The following year, Quebec provided the winner. Since then the only players to win the coveted cup have been residents of Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, Toronto 15 times providing the champion, Montreal 7 times and Hamilton twice.

Mr. Frank Thompson is 26 years of age so it is very appropriate that he should have won the 26th annual championship. He was 23 when he won the 23rd championship in Winnipeg so there must be "luck in numbers."

OTHER EVENTS

In addition to the championship there were two other flights. "The Championship Consolation" and the "Consolation". During the week there were several hard fought matches in these two events. In the Championship Consolation the semi-finals were fought out between four particularly good players resulting in J. E. MacLean (Weston), defeating C. M. Sheppard (Brantford), 5 and 4, and Jack Cameron, (Mississauga) defeating Joe Sullivan, (Rosedale), 4 and 3. The two latter particularly promising young players. In the finals, that sterling Weston player, J. E. MacLean defeated Cameron 4 and 3.

In the semi-finals in the Consolation fight, Geo. S. Lyon defeated S. H. Fellowes, (York Downs), 4 and 2 and A. B. Hannay, (Rosedale), defeated A. A. Adams, (Hamilton), at the 19th hole.

In the finals, Mr. Hannay, playing a particularly steady game, accounted for Mr. Lyon, 3 and 1.

CHAMPIONSHIP CHIP SHOTS

During Tournament week dinners to the players and guests were given by the R. C. G. A. presided over by Mr. S. B. Gundy, President of the Association, and by Mr. R. C. Matthews, President of Rosedale. They were both most delightful affairs, enlivened by bright music and capital speeches. At Mr. Matthew's dinner, among the guests was the Hon. Mr. McCrea, Minister of Mines, and he officially welcomed the golfers to Toronto on behalf of the Provincial Government. The minister, by the way, is one of the "Canadian Golfer's Hole-in-One's", having performed the stunt last year on the Toronto course.

The advantage of taking up golf early in life is well exemplified in the case of both Ross Somerville and Lauren Upson. The former's father, an ex-mayor of London, has always been an enthusiastic follower of the game and the son was brought up in an atmosphere of golf. Upson, when he was 15 years of age won the championship of the Del Paso Club, California, and has held it ever since.

The gallery which followed the championship final was one of the best behaved in the history of the game in Canada. Absolute silence was maintained when the players were making their drives, their approaches and their putts. The proverbial pin could have been heard to drop when the crowds swarmed round the greens. Golfing enthusiasts from all parts of Ontario were in that record gallery, an especially large contingent coming up from London. The Forest City has many fine golfers but this is the first time that a player from there has been prominent in a championship. Ross Somerville did not disappoint them even though he did not annex premier honours. He was knocking at the door.

Mr. R. C. Matthews, the President of Rosedale, his directors, the club manager, Mr. E. C. Bowyer, the club's professional, Hugh Logan and every member were out to the limit to make the championship a success. They have the satisfaction of knowing that their fondest hopes were realized. Rosedalian demonstrated that they certainly do know how to conduct a tournament. They planted the championship flag high. Very high.

All doubts were set at rest at Rosedale about the ability of amateurs to register long drives. There were many well over 250 yards and some that must have been flirting with the 300-yard mark. The sun has set on championship golf for the player who can't get over 200 yards from the tee.

The catering arrangements at Rosedale were well managed the crowds being admirably handled at all times. In fact there was not a detail of the tournament which did not run smoothly.

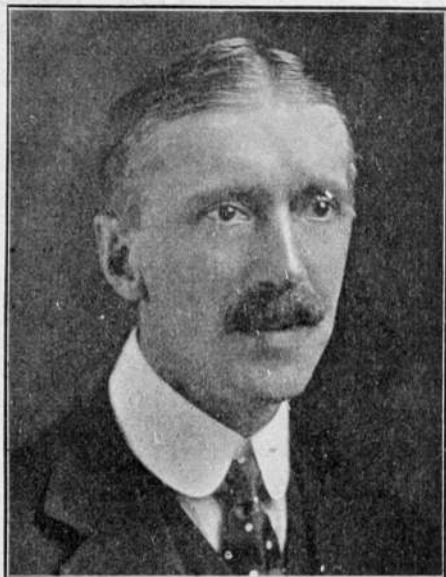

The following is the par of the course:
 Out 4,5,4 3,4,3 4,5,4—36
 In 4,4,5 3,5,4 3,4,4—36=72

It was rather freely predicted that during championship week that this par would be beaten. But Rosedale is a much harder course than it appears. There are many water and other hazards and every shot has to be carefully placed. As a matter of fact par was never even equalled. Seventy three was the best card returned by any of the players, an indubitable tribute to the championship calibre of Rosedale.

At the conclusion of the finals Mr. S. B. Gundy, president of the R. C. G. A. and Mr. R. C. Matthews of Rosedale, presented the prizes, an official list of which appears elsewhere in this article. All the recipients were cheered again and again and suitably replied. Then the curtain rang down on the 26th annual Canadian Amateur Championship, but the memory of it will long remain, alike with the golfers and the galleries.

Although keenly engaged in tournament work during the week Mr. B. L. Anderson Secretary of the R. C. G. A., found time to enter for the championship and was well up among the qualifiers, having to play off for last place in the Championship flight.

To get into the finals, Frank Thompson had to dispose of C. M. Sheppard of Brantford and W. Maybin of Rosedale, the amateur champion, C. C. Fraser of Kanawaki and Seymour Lyon of Lambton. Somerville accounted for R. M. Gray, Jr., Rosedale, ex-Ontario champion, John Lewis, Brantford, Norman Scott, Royal Montreal, runner-up in the 1922 amateur and Lauren Upson, gold medallist in the U. S. Inter-Collegiate Championship. So it will be readily seen that in reaching the finals neither had "a primrose path to tread."

Quite a record was made by the R. C. G. A. and Rosedale officials in sending off the big field in the Qualifying Round. Very sensibly five minute intervals were decided upon and instead of being away behind schedule as is generally the case in tournaments, the last pair to go off was ahead of time. The Canadian Golfer has always urged in tournaments a 5 minute interval, instead of a 4. Rosedale proved absolutely the wisdom of this arrangement.

TORONTO CITY LADY CHAMPIONSHIP

In a Field of One Hundred or So Entrants, Miss Ada Mackenzie Wins Chief Honours—List of Other Prize Winners in This Interesting Tournament

THE Summit Golf Club, Toronto, last month was the venue of the Toronto Ladies' Championship and one hundred or so of the leading ladies of the Queen City thoroughly enjoyed their two days' golf over this beautiful course, which was in splendid condition. The hospitality too, of the Directors and members and Ladies' Committee of Summit was unbounded, and nothing but praise was heard, alike of the links and the hospitality.

Unfortunately Mrs. Mulqueen (Miss Sidney Pepler), owing to family bereavement was prevented from defending her championship title (won at Scarboro last year with a superb 166), and as was generally expected, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Mississauga, annexed premier honours with a very fine score of 176. On the second day, she played some of the best medal play in her whole brilliant career, carding an 82, her last putt lying on the lip of the cup for an 81—fine golf for such a testing course as Summit. The following was this record card:

Out .. 4,4,5, 5,6,5, 3,6,5,—43
In 3,6,4, 4,4,3, 7,3,5—39—82

In second place was Mrs. E. W. Whittington, the Toronto Club stylist, closely followed by Mrs. R. Murdoch, of Humber Valley with 186. The following were the best 32 scores:

Writing to the "Canadian Golfer" about Summit, Mrs. M. K. Rowe, a member of the C. L. G. U. Executive, very truly says:

"Situated on the east side of Yonge Street, 960 feet above sea level, and north of Richmond Hill, it is one of the finest courses in the Toronto district. George Cumming, the leading professional in Toronto for many years, and who has an enviable reputation as a golf architect as well, laid out the course in the spring of 1914. It is unexcelled in natural beauty, while its holes individually are interesting and full of character. No. 8 is the highest and most picturesque; Nos. 2 and 17 are considered perfect one-shot holes, while Nos. 5 and 16 are as long and testing as even the most critical golfer could desire. There are few artificial hazards on the entire course, the natural adaptation for golfing holes, combined with the sandy soil, wide fairways, and large greens, make it ideal for championship competitions. Its accessibility is an additional attraction. There is an excellent radial car service with a stop directly opposite the club house and the completed Yonge Street highway affords a delightful trip for the golfer motoring to and from the links. The card with the women's par is given below:

WALKER CUP TEAM

GREAT BRITAIN will not be represented by any means by its strongest players in the Walker Cup Team, which is playing in the States next September. It is officially announced that the team will consist of: Cyril Tolley, former Amateur Champion; O. B. Bristowe, West Byfleet; C. L. Hezlet, Royal Portrush, Ireland; W. L. Hope, Turnberry; D. H. Kyle, Roehampton; W. A. Murray, West Hill; Robert Scott, Jr., Glasgow; Michael Scott, Royal St. George; T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, and E. F. Storey, Captain of the Cambridge University team.

Notable absentees, among others are: E. W. E. Holderness, who for the second time this year won the Amateur Championship, and Roger Wethered, ex-Amateur Champion, who tied for the Open in 1921 with Jock Hutchison and who is possibly the greatest amateur player in Great Britain. Without these outstanding players, it cannot be claimed that the British Walker Team is a representative one, and it is hard to see how it has any chance to lift the cup, September 12th and 13th at Garden City, Long Island. The United States amateurs have won the cup twice now and the chances are that they will make it "three in a row" next September. On paper their chances would seem 5 to 1.

THE ONTARIO CHAMPIONSHIPS

Mr. W. J. Thompson, Mississauga, Wins the Amateur, and W. M. Freeman, York Downs, the Open, after a Play-off with Mr. George S. Lyon—
The Sensational Golf of Mr. Arthur Dorman, of the Civic Golf Club, Hamilton

THE Ontario Championships this year had a particularly fine setting, the course of the Toronto Golf Club, one of the finest on the continent, having been kindly placed at the disposal of the Association, which for two years now has had charge of these very representative Championships.

In both the Amateur and the Open there was a large field of entrants and the resultant golf was replete with thrills and more than one outstanding incident.

Very much in the picture was the veteran Mr. George S. Lyon, who in a few days now (July 27th), will be 66 years of age. Not content with tying for the best gross in the Qualifying Round of the Amateur, he followed this up by going to the semi-finals in the match play which followed, and to crown it all in the Open again tied for chief medal honours. This is a most remarkable record, absolutely unequalled by a golfer over three score years in a first-class competition, either in this or any other country. Mr. Lyon sustained a broken ankle last winter as a result of a fall on a slippery pavement, and many friends were afraid his Championship career on the links had come to an end. But he really seems to be playing as good or better golf this season than he did over a quarter of a century ago, when he won his first Canadian Championship. There seems to be no limit to his endurance; no limit to his skill, both with wood and iron.

The other outstanding feature of the Ontario events was the wonderful semi-final match between the ex-Amateur Champion, Mr. Frank Thompson, (now the 1924 Amateur Champion), and the Hamilton Public golfer, Mr. Arthur Dorman, who at the 14th hole was apparently in the hopeless position of being 6 down and 6 to play, but then proceeded to perform the apparently impossible by winning out on the 20th green. It was a thousand to one wager that Dorman could not accomplish this wonderful feat. But he did, and in the doing of it created the sensation of the week.

The ultimate winners of both the Amateur and Open events, Mr. W. J. Thompson, of Mississauga, Toronto, and W. M. Freeman, of York Downs, formerly of Lambton, well deserved the premier honours. The 1923 Amateur Champion throughout the week played the steadiest kind of golf. His driving left nothing to be desired, whilst his work through the green and on the greens was brilliant. "Willie" Freeman has long been knocking at the Championship door and his victory in the Open was a thoroughly popular one.

In the championship flight Toronto was represented by no fewer than 13 players, Brantford by 2 and Hamilton 1. Among those who failed to make the first sixteen were such well known players as Stanley Thompson, Seymour Lyon, A. A. Adams and J. S. Lewis. On Friday and Saturday the rounds resulted as follows:

all departments of the game. Dorman unquestionably felt the strain of the 20-hole match in the morning and was too, under the handicap of playing for the first time in his life before a gallery, which, however, was a most sympathetic one and which most impartially applauded both victor and vanquished during the progress of the match.

In addition to the championship there were many most interesting games in the other flights which resulted as follows in the finals: Second flight, Stanley Thompson, Mississauga, defeated J. Sullivan, Rosedale, 4 and 2.

Third flight, G. L. Robinson, Lambton, defeated H. L. McCulloch, Galt, 3 and 1. Fourth flight, H. W. Phelan, Lakeview, defeated L. Gordon, Humber Valley, 1 up. Beaten eights championship flight, J. THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

The Open Championship on Monday June 23rd, was again favoured by perfect weather, although in the afternoon a tricky wind helped to spoil many a good card. All the leading professionals of the Province competed and many of the prominent amateurs. The field totalled 82.

Willie Freeman created a course record when he was out in a superlative 33 in the morning. Coming home in 39 he "led the pack" at the luncheon hour with a total of 72, closely followed by Mr. George Lyon and Nicol Thompson, Hamilton, each with a 74. In the afternoon, Freeman still playing fine golf was out in 37 but faltered coming in and carding a 43, had a total of 152 for the 36 holes. It was generally thought this would win but Mr. Lyon getting an afternoon round of 78 tied this fine score. Nicol Thompson and George Cumming who both looked like dangerous contenders had some indifferent holes in the afternoon round and eventually had to be content with 9th and 3rd place respectively. Andrew Kay, last year's champion and a prime favourite to repeat this year was in 6th place tied with Mr. E. MacLean of Weston.

The following were the cards of Mr. G. S. Lyon and W. M. Freeman:

Mr. Lyon—

In the play off Tuesday afternoon at the Toronto Club, between the amateur champion and Freeman, the latter won out with a score for the 18 holes of 85 to his opponents' 86. The new champion of Ontario, to whom hearty congratulations were the first to be extended by Mr. Lyon, is a pupil of George Cumming, and is especially a long driver. But for a weakness with his putter he would long ere this have annexed championship honours. He started his professional career as a youth at Brantford but it was at Lambton where he first sprang into prominence. He was the pro there for several years but is now at York Downs, Toronto. He is very popular indeed and his victory in the Ontario open has given unbounded pleasure to golfing friends throughout Canada. The following was the prize list in the open championship:

First Prize, $100—W. M. Freeman, York Downs, Toronto.

W. M. Freeman, York Downs, Toronto, winner of the Ontario Open Championship.

Second Prize, $75, Mr. George S. Lyon, Lambton Golf and Country Club Toronto.

Third Prize, $50, Geo. Cumming, Toronto, 156.

Fourth Prize, $25, Kernie Marsh, London Hunt, 158.

Fifth and Sixth Prize, $10 each, Mr. J. E. MacLean, Weston, and Andrew Kay, Lambton, tied with 159.

Seventh prize, $10, R. Cunningham, Kingston, 160.

Eighth Prize, $6.75 each, C. H. Perkins, Brantford, A. S. Russell, Lakeview, and Nicol Thompson, Hamilton, tied with 161.

Amateurs receive the equivalent to their prize money.

The whole arrangements of the championships reflected the greatest credit on the President of the Ontario

Association, Mr. M. C. Cameron of the Toronto Club, who officiated most ably at the presentation of the prizes, the energetic secretary of the association, Mr. J. C. McAlpine, of the Lakeview Golf and Country Club and an active committee, composed of Messrs. Geo.

S. Lyon, W. J. Thompson, Toronto, A. A. Adams, Hamilton, George Jacobs, Oshawa, G. T. Brown, London, John Lewis, Brantford, and R. M. Gray Jr., Toronto. The Ontario association, which was only formed last year is doing much for golf in the Province.

OUR "HOLE-IN-ONE-CLUB"

Membership This Season Will Reach Record Proportions—Many More Candidates for the Hall of Fame

"EVERYONE is doing it." From Coast to Coast our golfing sons are clicking off their Hole-in-Ones. The following reports have been received since the June issue:

At the Brightwood Golf and Country Club, Dartmouth, N. S., Mr. D. H. Williams, of Halifax, decided to join the immortals. He was playing with Mr. H. C. Coughtry when he bagged his "oneer" at the 150 yard second.

Galt is not often heard from in this competition, although once or twice before on this fine Ontario course the 9th hole has seen a one-shot performance. It was at this hole, playing with Mr. Reid Hunter that Mr. Wm. Hogg, on June 22nd most appropriately decided to celebrate his birthday by performing the feat. Hearty congratulations on both events.

Neepawa, Manitoba, is next heard from. The fifth hole on the golf course there is 155 yards over a water hazard. Mr. F. H. Kerr turned the trick here and Messrs P. Tod and H. Emery witnessed the feat.

Once again the 9th at Macaulay Point Golf Club, Victoria, B.C. This hole has already figured this season, but Mr. Fyvie decided to put it on the map once more during the club's June monthly medal competition.

Another Victoria golfer to join our "Hole-in-One" Club is Mr. J. A. Cameron, who found the "tin from the tee" on the 110 yard 16th at the Up-lands Golf Club. Messrs. W. Dick, H. Cameron and E. A. Melville were the witnesses of the stunt.

Vancouver can always be depended upon every month to get in the spotlight. Mr. J. M. McNeil, President of the McNeil Lumber Co., Ltd., playing on the Marine Drive Golf Course, registered a "one-shotter," and is receiving the congratulations of many friends as the result thereof.

Granby, Quebec, comes to the front this month with two star performers. At No. 5 hole Mr. Reg. C. Dozois neatly placed a ball in the cup with an iron and at No. 8 Mr. K. A. Cowley also earned membership in the Hall of Fame by sinking his tee shot.

Not to be outdone by Granby, Swift Current, Sask., this month also reports a brace of one-shotters, both made at No. 2, the Guleh hole on the Elmwood Club course. The Swift Current golfers thus to get in the charmed circle are Mr. Thos. Hill and Mr. Joseph H. Fownes.

Mr. J. M. Skead, of Rivermead, is one of Ottawa's best known golfers and is generally well up near the top in all competitions, but he never made a "oneer" until the other day he negotiated the 125 yard gully hole, the 6th, with a perfect mashie pitch. He was playing in a four ball match with Melville and Frankford Rogers and S. M. Brown. Col. N. G. Laroche and J. Archambault, M.P., were also just leaving the green as Mr. Skead's ball trickled into the cup.

There have been only seven holes in one made at Rivermead in thirteen years. Four have been on the 6th and three on the 14th.

Mr. W. R. Maxwell, of Sudbury, has the honour of being the first man from there to register an "ace." He was playing with Mr. W. R. Zimmerman, a member of the Summit Club, Toronto, when he lined out a perfect 195 yarder at the second hole of the Summit course. Congratulations.

Sarnia is always a welcome candidate for hole-in-one honours. Mr. Norman B. Forbes, playing with Mr. J. C. Mitchell, at the 9th hole, 134 yards, notched a "oneer."

The Weston Golf Club is looming large this season in our competition. The Rev. Hiram Hull on July 9th found the cup from the tee on the Orchard Hole, 135 yards.

Brantford makes its bow for the first time this season. C. A. Stirling manipulated the tricky 4th hole in one, whilst his opponent had to be content with an 8! But of such is the Kingdom of Golf.

The 12th hole at the Royamont Golf Club, Winnipeg, is 175 yards, but Mr. Harry Thompson negotiated it in one. The stunt was witnessed by Messrs. H. A. Thompson, Samuel Hutchings and Charles Case.

Mr. P. L. Markman, of the Beaconsfield Golf Club, Montreal, last month was a visitor at the popular Murray Bay Golf Club, attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Fire Underwriters, when he decided to gain fame by making the 14th hole, 185 yards, in a snappy little one. Messrs. J. H. La-belle and H. Roden "saw him do it."

And here is quite a record from the Westfield Country Club, N. B. Mr. A. C. Currie, who is a well known resident of St. John and an old golfer, made the 6th hole at Westfield in one. He was playing with his wife at the time and she promptly countered with a two. Mr. Currie has offered a box of balls to any couple duplicating this feat.

This month four players on public courses record ones. The Chedoke Civic Golf Club, Hamilton, contribute no fewer than three of these. They are Nicol Thompson, Jr., son of the celebrated professional, the 17th at Chedoke in one; C. N. Males, the 2nd, and Dr. H. S. Burns, a member of the City Board of Education, the 3rd. The Glen Stewart Golf Club, Toronto, reports Mr. A. W. Smith turning the trick at the 7th hole there, 165 yards. Always glad to welcome the Public Golf players to the Hole-in-One Club.

Total one-shotters to date this season in Canada, 55.

WINNIPEG PROFESSIONALS' GREAT GOLF

THOSE sterling professionals, Eric Bannister of the St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg and Ernest Penfold of the Winnipeg Club, have recently been playing some fine golf indeed. Over the very difficult Pine Ridge course, Winnipeg, Bannister, whose putting was simply uncanny, shattered all records with a brilliant 69, whilst Penfold also beat the course record with a 71. The following were the cards:

Par—Out	4 5 4 5 4 4 3 5 3	37
Bannister—Out	4 4 4 5 4 4 2 5 2	34
Penfold—Out	3 4 5 5 4 4 3 6 4	38

Bannister—In	3 3 5 4 3 5 2 5 5	35—69
Penfold—In	3 4 5 3 4 4 2 5 3	33—71

A few days following, playing over his home course Penfold was again in great form setting up a new record of 69 as follows:

Par—Out	4 4 4 3 5 3 4 5	36
Penfold—Out	4 3 5 4 3 3 3 4 5	34

It is to be sincerely hoped that both these outstanding golfers will be seen at the Canadian Open at Mount Bruno next month.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO MONTREAL

A Great Week of Golf from July 29th to August 2nd, when the Canadian Professionals Stage their Championship at Beaconsfield and the Canadian Open will be held at Mount Bruno

IT is announced that the Canadian professional golf association championship will be held on Tuesday, July 29th, over the Beaconsfield Golf course, Montreal. The present champion is Percy Barrett of Lake Shore, stead of $50.00, etc. These increased purses are bound to attract many of the stellar players of the United States. In 1919 when the Open Championship was revived after the war, the total prizes at Hamilton were $265.00. This Toronto. The pros. from all parts of Canada will participate in this interesting event for very handsome money prizes and the P. D. Ross silver cup.

This championship will serve as a curtain raiser to the Canadian Open at Mount Bruno, Montreal, the following Friday and Saturday, August 1st and 2nd, when the Canadian pros. will be joined by a strong contingent of their brethren from the United States and also many leading amateurs. The Royal Canadian Golf Association this year, is offering largely augmented prize money. The first prize will be $400.00, a gold medal and the custody of the Rivermead Cup, instead of $250.00. The second prize will be $200.00 and a silver medal, instead of $100.00. Third prize $100 in-year at Mount Bruno, they amount to $750.00.

In addition there are some special prizes for Canadian professionals. The "Canadian Golfer" is giving $50 to professionals holding a position in any club, belonging to the Royal Canadian Golf Association, $35 for 1st and $15.00 for 2nd, and Col Thos. Gibson, of Toronto, a member of the Royal Canadian Golf Association Executive has presented $150 for the best scores made by Canadian professionals. So the total prizes this year at Mount Bruno will amount to the tidy sum of $950.00 or nearly four times as much as five years ago. The Handicap limit for Amateurs is 10. A gold medal will be presented by the Association for the best amateur score. The week of July 28th to August 2nd, Montreal will be the Mecca of the leading wielders of wood and iron on the continent. The indications are for a record entry and a record gathering of golfing stars.

The Mount Bruno course is admittedly one of the finest on the continent. It provides an ideal stage for the holding of an Open Championship as it is a regular championship course of 6,543 yards. There are several very long holes, notably No two, 575 yards and No. 12, 595 yards. The par of the course is 70 and is made up as follows:

No. 1, 370 yards, par 4; No. 2, 575 yards, par 5; No. 3, 150 yards, par 3; No. 4, 360 yards, par 4; No. 5, 450 yards, par 4; No. 6, 400 yards, par 4; No. 7, 394 yards, par 4; No. 8, 165 yards, par 3; No. 9, 380 yards, par 4. Total, out 3,244 yards, par 35.

No. 10, 145 yards, par 3; No. 11, 335 yards, par 4; No. 12, 595 yards, par 5; No. 13, 440 yards, par 4; No. 14, 439 yards, par 4; No. 15, 220 yards, par 3; No. 16, 375 yards, par 4; No. 17, 380 yards, par 4; No. 18, 370 yards, par 4. Total, in 3,299 yards, par 35. Grand total, 6,543 yards, par 70.

The competition in the Open will start each morning at 8.30, Montreal time.

Showing what a stiff course Bruno is, the Open Championship was won there in 1922 by Al Watrous with 303, Tom Kerrigan, runner-up, 304. Watrous had the best single round of the tournament with a 71 or 1 over par. Although some of the greatest players in America, including Hagen and Kirkwood and other aces will be at Mount Bruno August 1st and 2nd. It is generally thought a score of 300 will not be beaten. The present Canadian Open champion is C. W. Hackney, at Lakeview, Toronto, last year with a card of 295. Tom Kerrigan was again runner-up with 300. They have already both entered for Mount Bruno. Entries for the championship close at noon Wednesday, July 30th, with Mr. B. L. Anderson, Secretary R. C. G. A., 18 Wellington Street E., Toronto. The assistant secretary is Mr. R. J. R. Stokes, Box 2722, Montreal, from whom all information regarding train service and transportation can be secured. Competitors will be allowed the use of the course commencing July 28th.

This year the entrants will find at Mount Bruno greatly improved Club House accommodation, a beautiful new building taking the place of the Club House burned down since the holding of the championship in 1922.

A TRIO OF GREAT VETERANS

THREE celebrated British professionals all of whom have toured Canada, have recently been very much in the limelight. First and foremost is the great "John Henry" Taylor, who headed the qualifiers in the British Open and then made such a gallant fight in the championship proper. Taylor is 53 years of age, but he never played better golf during the whole of his brilliant career than he did at Hoylake last month.

Then comes "Sandy" Herd, who, when it comes to age, goes Taylor three years better, he being 56. Playing Moor Park recently in the morning, he was round in 64 and followed this up in the afternoon with 67 or a total for the 36 holes of 131. Almost incredible golf this, for present day young champions, let alone a player approaching the three score mark.

Harry Vardon who has just celebrated his 54th birthday, unlike his great rivals in the past, Taylor and Herd, has not been playing up to championship form this season, but on Saturday, July 5th, he too was in the limelight celebrating his 21st year as professional at the South Herts Club, Totteridge, near London, where he is immensely popular with all the members. His "Coming of Age" was celebrated by a most successful tournament in which he, Braid, Taylor and Herd, the big four of the past 30 years were the central figures.

PUBLIC GOLF AT MOOSE JAW

New Citizens Course Successfully Opened by the Mayor of the City—
Many Interesting Events Staged

(Despatch from Moose Jaw, Sask.)

“WITH hundreds of players and spectators attending the Citizen's Golf Club was thrown open to members May 24th. His Worship, Mayor W. W. Davidson, at five minutes to 10 in the morning, rapped a spotless new ball from the first tee. The act signified the opening of the links and a few minutes later, players of both sexes were on their way round the 18-hole course.

The tombstone competition was the most popular event of the day. Men players were allowed 95 strokes and given a stake to drive in at the spot where their 95th stroke was taken. Lady players were given 120 strokes. For the men, W. Hullhurst was winner in the first flight and W. Bicker coped honors in the second flight. Mr. Hillhurst wound up on the twentieth green. Mr. Bricker was forced to drive his stake at the nineteenth.

Mrs. Harry Gabb just missed holing out on the eighteenth and was high for the ladies in the tombstone event.

The feature of the day at the Citizen's Course, however, was the foursome between Frank Smith and Dr. W. W. Irwin, who were matched against Gordon McDonald and Will McIntosh, the latter the club pro. The match, which went 18 holes, was all square on the home green. A very large gallery of spectators followed the players on their pilgrimage. The cards of the foursome were not taken, but at the conclusion, the best ball for the four was announced at 70; the best ball for two was given at 78.

Scores were:

McIntosh and McDonald.

Officials of the newly-organized club were decidedly on the job for the opening and received high compliments for the results of their work. Those taking part in the opening were: George Morrison, president; Pallie Pascoe, captain and vice-president; George Cumming, secretary-treasurer; Jim McDonald, chairman of the greens committee; George Richardson, chairman of the house committee; Fred Mobray, entertainment; Dr. W. Brown, membership; Moran Rutherford, handicap.

Lunches and refreshments, served at the clubhouse by ladies of the Minto avenue Presbyterian church, was one of the many features provided by the management of the club for the comfort and pleasure of members and guests.

The course, following many days of hard work by the club pro., hired workers and members of the club executive, led by Jim McDonald, was in perfect shape. The new sand and oil greens made the putting of members much more accurate, though the strength was puzzling after the faster grass greens."

FINE FACTORY FOR CANADA

MR. ERNEST A. PURKIS, of Toronto, for many years the popular representative in Canada of the celebrated Sporting Goods Firm of Slazengers, Ltd., London, England, and also of the Silvertown Company of Canada, Canadian Agency of the famous Silver King golf balls, has this month completed the purchase of a fine factory on a prominent Queen Street corner, Toronto, with a floor space of some 30,000 square feet. In this factory up-to-date machinery will be installed and a staff of experts from England and elsewhere brought here for the purpose of manufacturing tennis rackets and other sporting supplies. This is the first time that a representative British firm has opened up a manufacturing establishment in Canada for the production of sporting goods. It is contemplated making this Canadian Branch an important factor in also supplying the export trade. Work is being energetically pushed so that this important new Canadian enterprise will be in a position to look after the 1924 wants of Sporting Goods Dealers in Canada and elsewhere.

BUFFALO INVITATION TOURNAMENTS

Canadian Ladies Carry Off Many Prizes—In the Men's Event Two Young Toronto Players Also Make Good Showing

THE Buffalo Country Club has been the scene the past month of two most interesting Invitation Tournaments—one for the ladies and one for the men, both participated in by prominent Canadian players.

The Ladies' Tournament especially took on a regular International aspect, the leading players of both Canada and the States participating. The Championship was finally won by Miss Glenna Collett, Canadian Lady Champion, who defeated Miss Edith Cummings, the U. S. Champion, quite decisively by 6 and 5. Miss Collett also had the low score in the qualifying round—a brilliant 80.

The Canadians did exceptionally well, five of the eighteen players returning with tangible souvenirs of the week's play. Miss Ada Mackenzie won the beaten eights of the beaten sixteens of the Championship flight; Mrs. M. K. Rowe, of the Toronto Club, defeated Miss Marjorie Annable, of Royal Montreal, the Quebec Lady Champion, 1 up; Miss Edith Brownlee, of Ottawa, won the beaten eights of the first flight, defeating Mrs. Noble, of Buffalo, in the final, and Mrs. J. J. Ashworth, of the Toronto Club, lost in the final of the third flight to Mrs. L. R. Namm, of Buffalo.

The tournament was ably conducted by various committees, headed by Mrs. N. L. R. Spaulding, who has made for herself an International reputation in the successful handling of this annual Buffalo event.

In the Men's Invitation Tournament both Messrs. J. A. Sullivan and A. L. Gooderham, of Toronto, in a very classy field, qualified to play in the Championship Flight, but in the match play which followed, were defeated by two exceptionally good players in D. C. Corkran, the Baltimore star, and Arthur Yates, of Rochester. These two eventually fought out the finals, and Corkran defeated Yates 4 and 3.

DUNCAN AND MITCHELL WIN

Hagen and Smith Are Defeated by Celebrated British Golfers by 4 and 2 in 72-hole Match

GEORGE DUNCAN and Abe Mitchell July 14th avenged their defeat of last year at the hands of Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, of the United States, by defeating Hagen and his compatriot, MacDonald Smith, 4 up and 2 to play, in their 72-hole match for a purse of £300 and international four-ball honours.

On the first 36 holes of this year's contest, played July 10th, at the St. George's Club, the British pair finished 4 up. At the conclusion of the last half of the match over the Oxhey course, the Americans had succumbed, and Duncan and Mitchell prepared to split the £300 purse. Hagen and Smith will receive £50 each as the losers' end.

The United States contenders started the last two rounds confronted with the big task of overcoming the lead of four holes which their opponents had stowed away. During the first part of the morning round it looked as though they would do this easily. They were both driving long and straight and putting well. But at the tenth Hagen started missing his five and six foot putts, and from then on his green work was not in the championship class.

The match was won on the greens. Here Duncan and Mitchell kept the upper hand, even in the face of some brilliant work by Smith. The steady Californian saved the situation several times in both rounds with long, hard putts.

Duncan pleased the gallery of more than 5,000 spectators that followed the final day's play by giving a masterly exhibition of his game. Never once did he fail to drive straight down the fairway. His short shots always hit the green, and the few times his approaches found bunkers, he made the spectators gasp by his well-played recoveries.

There was very little fault to be found with the drives and seconds of the players. On several holes their drives lay huddled within a few feet of each other. The Oxhey course, which is a paradise for long hitters, is 6,478 yards in length, and has eleven holes over 400 yards long.

TOLLEY'S GREAT GOLF

British Amateur Crack Wins French Open Title with a Marvellous Score of 290—Is Beaten in the Amateur Finals by J. G. Anderson 1 up

OUTPLAYING a fine international field including the pick of French and United States professional stars, Cyril Tolley, former British amateur title holder, sprang one of the biggest sensations of the season July 1st and 2nd, at La Boulie France, by capturing the French open golf championship with a brilliant score of 290 for the 72 hole test over the difficult La Boulie course.

Playing his best golf the second day despite a rain storm which deluged the links, the long-hitting British crack decisively conquered his professional rivals, finishing three strokes ahead of Walter Hagen, the United States professional, and newly-crowned British open champion, whose remarkable 69 on the last round was not able to overcome Tolley's lead.

This score of 290 is one of the best ever made in an open championship and stamps Tolley as one of the greatest amateurs of the day.

In the amateur championship of France, which followed the open, Tolley was still playing a marvellous game and almost succeeded in capturing this event too. He had little difficulty in disposing of many fine players in reaching the finals where he met Mr. John G. Anderson, of New York, a well-known golfer and golf writer. He seemed to be certain of defeating him too, until he missed a short putt at the 15th in the second round and had bad luck also on the 16th where his ball, apparently dead in the cup, bounced out. Anderson eventually won the tightest kind of a match 1 up. He has been long in the golfing limelight having won his first Championship, the Intercollegiate, 21 years ago. He has many State championships to his credit and was runner-up in the French championship 13 years ago. His chief claim to fame, however, is contained in the fact that he was runner-up in the U. S. amateur championship in 1913 and 1915. Of recent years he has not been prominent in the major events although always looked upon as a dangerous contender. Anderson is 40 years of age. Nineteen hundred and twenty-four certainly seems to be a great year for "come-backs."

OFFICIAL OPENING OF PARIS CLUB

Pretty Ontario Town Now Has An Up-to-date Course and Club House—Many Prominent Golfers Take Part in Notable Opening Ceremonies

THE formal opening of the very pretty new club house and course of the Paris Golf Club took place on July 10th and the event was an outstanding success in every particular.

The club was particularly fortunate in securing four outstanding golfers

Perkins, and Somerville with Freeman. It was a very even match. At the 9th hole it was all square. The 10th was won by Thompson and Perkins. The next five holes were split. Somerville and Freeman lost the 16th, the 17th was halved and Thompson and Per-

Thompson, Toronto, ex-Canadian Amateur Champion of Canada and Ontario Amateur Champion; Mr. Ross Somerville, of London, runner-up in the Canadian Amateur; W. M. Freeman, York Downs, Toronto, Ontario Open Champion, and C. H. Perkins, Brantford, runner-up in the Ontario Open last year.

A gallery of several hundred from Paris, Woodstock, Brantford and Galt followed the 18-hole match between these experts and were treated to a very fine exhibition of the game indeed. Thompson was paired with kins were the winners by a 2 and 1 margin. Coming home Perkins had an exceedingly well played 34, which is the record for the Paris course. His score for 18 holes was 72. Thompson, Somerville and Freeman all had cards of 75. The play from the tee of all four players was particularly good, some very long drives being registered.

Considering the course was only laid out by Perkins last year and that it was opened for play but a few weeks ago, both the greens and fairways were in remarkably good shape and called for much praise from the Toronto and London players. It is a remarkably well balanced course of 2,715 yards, with several water hazards. The ground is rolling and altogether Paris has a 9-hole course a credit to the town and a credit to Ontario.

Following the match, over one hundred members of the club and visitors attended the dinner-dance in the artistic club house. Mr. R. E. Haire, the President of the Club, and his energetic Board of Directors and the Ladies' Committee came in for unstinted and well deserved praise from a number of Paris, Brantford and other speakers who paid tribute to the remarkable manner in which the club had been so successfully launched. All the players in the Exhibition Match also testified to the excellence of the course and the pleasure it had given them to assist in such a notable opening. The dinner was succeeded by the jolliest kind of a dance and altogether the Paris Golf and Country Club, which already has a membership of some 200, is off from the first tee with a swing and follow through that leaves no doubt as to its future.

The following are the officers of this very virile club: Hon. Pres., Senator John H. Fisher; Pres., Mr. R. E. Haire; Vice-Pres., Mr. J. R. Inksater; Sec.-Treas., Mr. J. F. Cameron. Directors, Messrs. J. K. Martin, R. E. Haire, J. R. Inksater, Henry Barrett, R. A. Cale, C. B. Robinson, H. A. Crooks, H. S. Smoke and Major Hall.

The ladies' section directing the successful dinner-dance included Mrs. C. Lovett, Pres.; Mrs. J. K. Martin, Mrs. Robt. Gorrie, Mrs. John Harold, Mrs. J. R. Inksater, Mrs. R. Thompson, Mrs. S. M. Moffat, Mrs. C. B. Robinson, Mrs. H. Goldie and Mrs. P. Wickson.

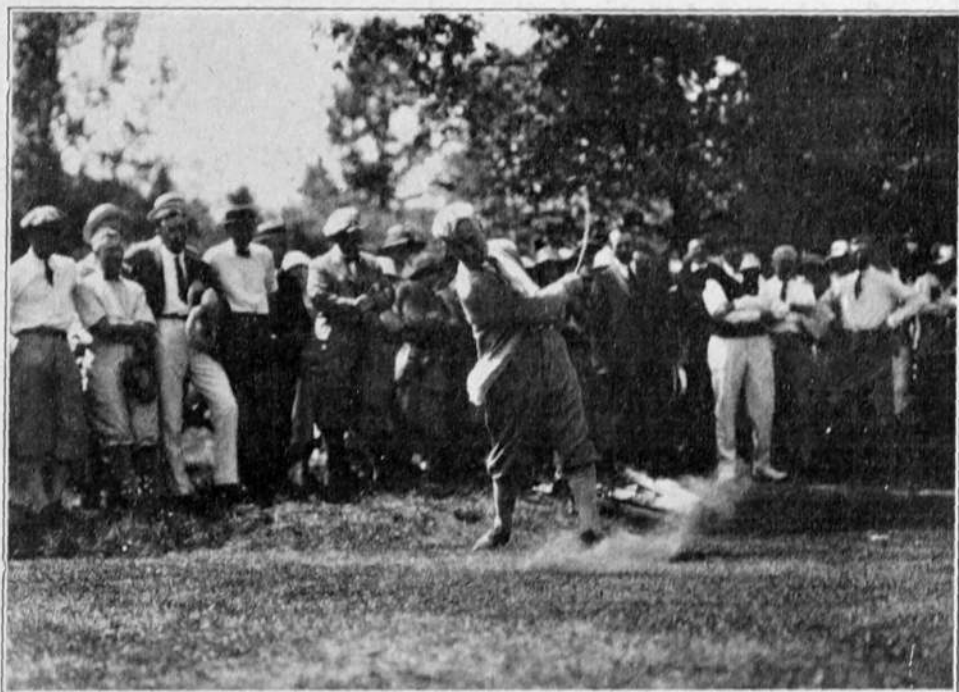

Thanks to the foresight of Mr. Haire and his devotion to every detail, the total expenditure on club house and course has been kept down to the quite remarkable one of some $15,000. It just shows what can be done along golf lines by an energetic President, backed up by a capable Board of Directors.

LONDON'S FINE PUBLIC LINKS

Successful Official Opening of the 9-Hole Course, Situated in Beautiful "Springbank," One of the Finest Parks in Ontario.

UNDER ideal weather conditions and in the presence of a number of the leading golfers of London and a delegation of the Humber Valley Golf Club, of Toronto, headed by Mr. Ralph Connable "the Father of Municipal golf in Ontario," the Thames Valley Golf Course was most successfully inaugurated last month at London, Ontario.

The links are situated in Springbank Park, one of the most beautiful playgrounds in Ontario, kept up in a most perfect condition, and run most suc-

The first ball was driven, and driven right well by Mr. Jared Vining, Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, on the auspicious opening day. Previously in a very eloquent speech, he declared that "this enterprise is not going to cost the ratepayers of London one cent in taxes," a statement which was greeted with great applause. The chairman paid a warm tribute to Mr. E. V. Buchanan, General Manager of the Commission, and his staff, for so speedily putting the course into play; to Mr. Ralph Connable for the great help he had been in assisting in the formation of the club, and to John Innes, professional of the Highland Golf Club, London, for his invaluable services in laying out the course.

Brief and congratulatory speeches by Commissioner T. W. McFarlane, London; Mr. Ralph Connable, Toronto, and Mr. Ralph H. Reville followed, and "then on with the opening game," participated in by the Thames Valley pro, Andrew Watson, paired with Mr. Ross Somerville, versus Kern Marsh, pro of the London Hunt, and Innes, pro of the Highland Club. A large gallery followed this feature match, which ended all square. Another interesting game was that between W. F. Cumming and W. F. Collins, of Humber Valley, Toronto, and Alex. Calder and Basil Sterling, of Longon.

Innes has certainly laid out a thoroughly interesting course, which by next season will provide a splendid test of golf. There are several most beautiful holes of admirable length. The following is the card and par: No. one, 220 yards, par 4; No. two, 650 yards, par 6; No. three, 410 yards, par 4; No. four, 280 yards, par 4; No. five, 570 yards, par 5; No. six, 100 yards, par 3; No. seven, 200 yards, par 4; No. eight, 300 yards, par 4; No. nine, 230 yards, par 4. Total yardage, 2,960 yards. Total par, 38.

The fifth hole, 570 yards, is particularly well planned, whilst the sixth short hole, is a little beauty. The Highland Golf Club pro is to be highly congratulated on the balance of the whole course.

The following are the official figures to date of the expenditures in connection with the club:

WALTER HAGEN REPEATS

Brilliant U. S. Professional Once Again Wins the British Open Championship—the World's Greatest Golfing Classic.

FOR the second time in three years Walter Hagen, of New York, is British Open Golf Champion. Hagen recaptured the title June 27th at famous Hoylake, when he turned in a score of 301 for the 72-hole struggle that began with 86 golfers competing.

Thus, for the third time in four years the trophy, emblematic of the British Championship, will be carried to the United States. Joek Hutchison, of Chicago, won it at St. Andrews in 1921, and Hagen at Sandwich in 1922.

Just as he lost the Championship by one stroke at Troon last year to Arthur Havers, Hagen regained it this time by that same slender margin. E. R. Whitecombe, a sterling British player, finished second to him with a card of 302.

Third place in the tournament is divided between Frank Ball, an Englishman, and Macdonald Smith, of California, both having turned in cards of 304.

J. H. Taylor, the veteran British golfer, who threatened for two rounds and part of the third round to walk off with the Championship, broke under the strain at midday. Limping with lumbago, Taylor, nevertheless, finished with his head up and still going strong, taking fifth place with 307.

Next came George Duncan with 308, one stroke in front of Jim Barnes, who has been trying to win the British Open ever since the war ended, and who says he intends to keep on trying year after year.

Gil Nichols, the former New England professional, who is well advanced in years, put up a good fight, and scored 310. The youthful Gene Sarazen, United States' Champion, who failed to qualify for last year's Open, failed miserably after he did qualify for this contest. He was low down in the list with a score of 323.

The story of this thrilling day over the long, hard course of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club is the story of a battle between Hagen and Whitecombe. As soon as Taylor slumped every one of the thousands who had forgotten about their offices and homes in order to watch the Championship come to a close, knew that the fight lay between Whitecombe and Hagen.

Walter Hagen, who for the Second Time wins the Open Championship of Great Britain, the World's Greatest Golfing Classic.

Whitecombe led Hagen Thursday night by three strokes, but when the third round ended at midday Hagen had drawn level with him. Both had scores of 224.

Hagen's victory the final day was the result of pluck, endurance and sound golf. He started out the first day with a 77 for his first round, several strokes over some competitors who were hardly considered in his class. In the second round, however, he came home with a brilliant 73, being topped only by the remarkable 70 of Whitcombe.

Starting out in the second day's play with a total of 150 against Whitcombe's 147, Hagen, it appeared, would have to fight an uphill battle. He played real golf, however, and came home with a 74. His play here was very little short of absolute perfection. His judgment of wind and the greens was superb, save at the second hole, where he took three putts. He was also twice bunkered at the sixteenth and took a six.

At the beginning of the last round Whitcombe's chance of winning the crown was about even with Hagen's. The latter started badly with a six at the 410-yard first. On the long third a mishit brassie found a bunker, and he took another six. As a result of these and other difficulties he went out in 41. Whitcombe, however, had taken a 43, but came home in 35. It was necessary for Hagen to play superb golf to win. At the beginning of the last four holes Hagen needed sixteen strokes for victory.

He got exactly the number necessary, and came home in even 4's for a 36, despite the gusty winds blowing over the course. At almost every hole on the homeward way he was in trouble of some sort, but he invariably recovered magnificently, and went on to his goal with a crowd of 10,000 watching his every shot down to the last putt, which he had to sink to beat Whitecombe and gain for the second time the British Open professional crown.

Abe Mitchell and A. Massy, a former Open Champion, both retired during the contest as a result of poor scores.

The veteran J. H. Taylor, who himself made such a glorious fight at Hoylake, pays this tribute to Hagen:

"If there were any previous doubts on the question of winning the Open Championship at Hoylake, Walter Hagen dispelled them. He proved during the week that he is one of the greatest golfers the world has ever seen. In addition—a far higher tribute—he has set up a high standard of a great fighter. It is only those who have experienced it who know what it is to keep pegging away with the knowledge that a score has been completed, and that nothing but perfection will suffice. The man who can attempt this and succeed needs no eulogy—the fact records it for all time."

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS TO SCARBORO COURSE

REALIZING for some time that certain alterations were necessary on the course, the Directors of the Scarboro Golf Club, Toronto, a few months ago engaged the services of Mr. A. W. Tillinghast, of New York, noted golf architect, to go over the property and make certain alterations, which would increase the length of the course and bring it more into line with other up-to-date courses.

Mr. Tillinghast made a thorough survey of the property, which he submitted to the club, and which at a recent meeting of the members, was adopted unanimously. When the alterations are completed, the minimum length will be 5,636 yards; medium length 5980 yards, and the maximum length 6,328 yards.

Practically no interference with play will be necessary during the time the alterations are being made. The total expenditure is estimated at $40,000. This year five new greens are being built, namely the third, tenth, eleventh, fourteenth and eighteenth. The intention is to spread this work over the next few years, and not to do it all at once.

Mr. Tillinghast spent several days at Scarboro this month going over the initial work. When the alterations are completed he is confident that Scarboro will compare most favourably with any of the championship courses in Canada.

QUEBEC PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

C. R. Murray, The Royal Montreal, After a Tie with His Brother, Albert H. Murray, of the Country Club, Wins the Open, Whilst Mr. J. W. Yuile, of The Royal Montreal, Annexes the Amateur, with Mr. Alex. Wilson Runner-up—Mr. W. G. Ross Wins Handicap

THE Quebec Amateur and Open Championships last month under ideal weather conditions, like the Ontario Championships, were marked by large fields of entrants and by very high class golf indeed. In fact, it is a question if better fields or better golf were ever recorded in connection with these important events. The Royal Montreal Golf Club was the venue of both the Championships, the Open being held on June 21st and the Amateur June 22nd.

Montreal boasts in the two brothers, C. R. Murray, of The Royal Montreal, and Albert, H. Murray, of the Country Club, players who have each won the Canadian Open Championship twice, their only Canadian rival in this fixture being Karl Keffer, of The Royal Ottawa, who also has two Opens to his credit. There are many fine professionals in the Province of Quebec, but in the past these three experts have generally "been there or thereabouts," and the 1924 Open proved no exception. With quite remarkable scores of 139 the brother Murrays tied for first place when all the cards were in, whilst in third place was R. Brown, of Summerlea, C. R. Murray's former assistant. For once Karl Keffer had to be content with 8th place with 171. Ahead of him were the ex-Amateur Champion, Mr. C. C. Fraser, of Kanawaki, Mr. Norman M. Scott, runner-up in the Canadian Amateur in 1922, Ami Desjardins, the clever French-Canadian pro of Laval-sur-le-Lac, and Mr. C. B. Grier, ex-Amateur Champion. The following were the quite remarkable cards of the Murray's.

C. H. Murray:

Out ..5,4,4, 5,4,2, 5,3,4=36
 In ...4,3,4, 4,3,4, 4,4,4=34=70
 Out ..5,4,3 6,4,4, 4,3,4=37
 In ...3,3,4, 3,4,4, 3,4,4=32=69=139

Mr. J. W. Yuile of The Royal Montreal Golf Club, winner of the Quebec Amateur Championship.

Albert H. Murray:

Out ..4,4,3, 6,4,3, 6,3,5=38
 In ...4,3,3, 4,5,3, 3,4,3=32=70
 Out ..4,5,3, 5,4,2, 5,3,4=35
 In ...5,2,5, 4,5,4, 3,3,3=34=69=139

The best score out and in of the two Murrays figure at 135, or nine under fours! Certainly a wonderful record.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

With two most consistent rounds of 73, Mr. J. W. Yuille, of The Royal Montreal Golf Club, won the Amateur Championship of Quebec, nosing out the ex-Amateur Champion of Canada, Mr. Alex. Wilson (1908), by the narrow margin of one stroke. His victory was well deserved in every respect, and was a most popular one, as for some years now in both Provincial and Dominion events he has figured quite prominently. The following is the quite remarkable card which won for him the Championship. It will be noticed that in both the morning and afternoon rounds he scored a 37 out and a 36 in. Such consistency in scoring must certainly be without a parallel:

Out . . . 5,5,3, 6,4,3, 5,3,3=37
In . . . 4,3,4, 3,4,4, 4,5,5=36=73
Out . . . 5,4,3, 6,4,3, 5,3,4=37
In . . . 5,2,5, 4,3,4, 4,5,4=36=73=146

Mr. Wilson had the Championship fairly well in his grasp with a 72 for the first round, then 38 going out and 26 for the incoming seven holes. Then at the long 17th, or 35th of the Championship he proceeded to take a 7 instead of a par 5 and narrowly missed premier honours. His card:

Out . . . 5,5,3, 5,4,3, 6,3,4=38
In . . . 5,3,4, 4,4,3, 3,5,3=34=72
Out . . . 5,5,4, 5,5,3, 4,4,3=38
In . . . 5,3,4, 4,4,3, 3,7,4=37=75=147

N. M. Scott, Montreal, and W. McLuckie, Kanawaki, tied for third position, which meant a play-off. Mr. McLuckie, who made a splendid recovery from his off day in the open tourney on Friday, won the third place when he defeated Mr. Scott at the fourth hole.

In the team competition The Royal Montreal again carried the honours with 20 strokes less than the Mount Bruno team, 606—626. Kanawaki was third with 627. Teams:

Royal Montreal: N. M. Scott, W. M. Hodgson, G. H. Turpin and J. W. Yuile.

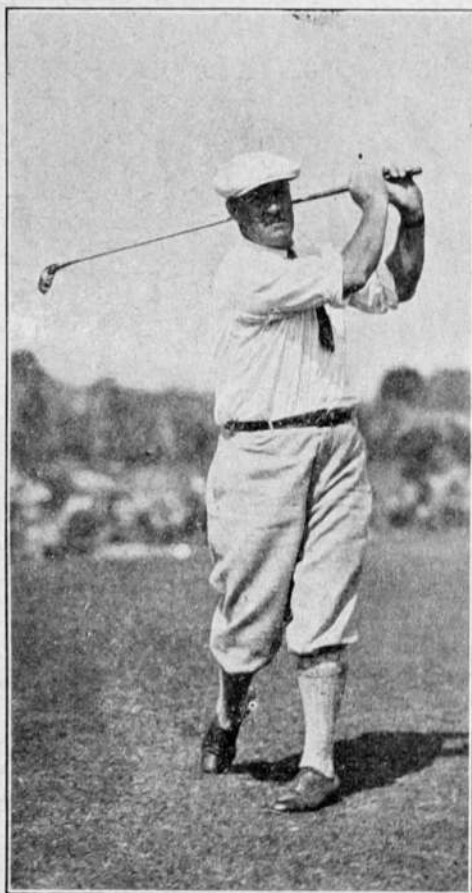

Mount Bruno: C. B. Grier, R. J. Dawes, F. S. Molson and A. Wilson.

Kanawaki—C. C. Fraser, W. McLuckie, G. M. Somerville and W. G. Ross.

The Royal Montreal has thus shone in provincial honours this year. Miss M. Annable is the lady champion; C. R. Murray the club's pro, is the open champion; J. W. Yuile is the amateur champion, while the club has the team honours. In the assistants' competition on Friday, Young, Murray's assistant, tied with Brunet, of Laval, for first place, but lost in the play-off.

Mr. W. G. Ross, President of the Kanawaki Golf Club, and one of the outstanding members of The Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, turned in a splendid 78-75=153, which gave him a net 135 and the first honours in the handicap event. Mr. S. B. White, Royal Montreal, with 81-75=156, and a net 136, took second place in this event. Mr. Alex. Wilson, runner-up for the amateur title, had a net 137 and the newly crowned champion, Mr. J. W. Yuile, had a net 138. Mr. Stanley May, Whitlock, was next with a net 139.

Altogether a most successful Championship. Well planned, well run and with the interest in both the Amateur and Open events sustained until the last putt had been holed. Montreal and the Province of Quebec, the "mother" of golf in Canada, still has in its amateurs and professionals exponents of the Royal and Ancient game to be reckoned with. The scores in both the Amateur and Professional events prove this.

THE ALL IMPORTANT HICKORY QUESTION

(By Wm. Burke, President of the Burke Golf Co., and an Acknowledged Authority).

THE first man who played golf played it with a wooden club, but of late years the reputation of the wooden shaft has been greatly injured as a result of the careless methods pursued by some manufacturers. Many pieces of hickory intended for golf shafts are not at all of a quality suitable for the purpose intended, being made by inexperienced dimension stock manufacturers—of whom there are a great many. Some of these operators seem to think that it is only necessary to roll the hickory log on the mill and cut it up into one-inch squares, regardless of the size or quality of the log. Apparently they do not know that there are seven distinct varieties of hickory grown in the United States, of which there are but three which will make a good golf shaft. These three are black hickory, shell-bark, and sweet pig-nut, the latter having been most abundant north of the Ohio river. Another species, known as the smooth-bark, bitter-nut hickory, is yet quite abundant in some of our southern states; but this wood is absolutely useless for golf shafts, as it seasons out very light and brash and will make a very poor shaft. Large quantities of this bitter pig-nut hickory have been exported to Britain in recent years, and that is why so many British golfers complain that we have no more good hickory in the States.

One of the most serious losses incurred through careless manufacturing methods is because of the culls. The purchaser's inspector comes along and culls out from 30 to 60 per cent. if he would do justice to a great deal of stock that the writer has seen—and there is little or no market for one-inch hickory square culls. Frequently they are a total loss to the manufacturer. Or, possibly a buyer comes along and purchases these culls for less than half the cost of production alone. In turn, he tries to manufacture these culls into golf shafts. Some of these he sells in the square to exporters or to some inexperienced club manufacturers in our own country. Of these latter, there are new ones springing up almost daily, with little or no knowledge of the golf club business, and trying to manufacture a golf club from cull and shaft stock.

It is a condition such as this that is at the bottom of much of the dissatisfaction with the wood shaft which has been shown by many golfers. They ask: "Why can't we get a good hickory shaft, as we did years ago?" They are told by the promoters of substitute shafts (which the average golfer knows are not good shafts), that we are compelled to use substitutes for hickory, and that hickory is almost completely exhausted. Such is not the case. It is true that from 1913 to 1919 and 1920 the consumption of hickory was extremely heavy for war material and for automobile production. Automobiles formerly used hickory exclusively for spokes and rims, but the advent of wire, disc and other styles of wheels for trucks and automobiles has caused consumption in this channel to fall off greatly, until it is now possibly not much more than half of what it was in the period above mentioned.

The writer is speaking from practical experience, having been engaged in the production and use of golf dimension material as well as carriage goods over a period of 47 years, the latter 23 being spent in golf material from the tree to the finished golf club. And he can state emphatically that hickory shafts are procurable to-day just as good as they were years ago.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS

Has Now Three of the Finest Golf Courses on the Continent—Popular Virginia Resort will be the Mecca of Many Canadian Golfers This Season

(Special Correspondence, "Canadian Golfer")

WHITE Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 15.—In his many years of experience in constructing golf courses Seth Raynor has had a flair for picking out choice spots where layouts could be created that would be genuine tests of skill. The Lido and National Links are both instances of his particular genius, and he has achieved still another triumph in the new 18-hole Greenbrier Golf Course at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, which will open for play this summer.

Few American resorts are so ideally located as this famous Spa in the Alleghany Mountains. Reached by only an over-night trip from most of the larger cities of the east and west, it is still so detached in feeling from most of the great business centers that rest and recreation come quickly to both mind and body. Vast stores of energy are waiting to be tapped in the silent mountains, verdure clad, and clear cut in the rarified air and brilliant sunshine. Two splendid golf courses have existed here for a number of years, and are familiar to thousands of golfers. Now the triple group makes what is undoubtedly the most interesting hotel layout in the country. Walter Hagen remarked on a recent visit that it was the most interesting he had ever seen.

The new course starts at the Greenbrier Golf Club, which is beautifully situated on a plateau overlooking an arm of the Greenbrier River. In a wide circle about it lie the envioning mountains, and the rolling valley between mountains and river is as well adapted topographically to a golf course as any in this country. The natural lie of the land has been cleverly taken advantage of to promote sportiness. The holes are varied in their interest, and from the first hole to the eighteenth there is not a weak one. A series of skillfully arranged traps, bluffs, plateaus, and water hazards make it just hard enough to play to stimulate interest.

The first hole is 420 yards in length, with a mountain road flanking its left fairway, and with a huge green slightly higher than from where the second shot will be played. The first real testing hole is the fourth, or Sahara. This demands the golfer's best effort, and players who make their par four here may feel satisfied with their start. The fifth is an elbow hole, the sixth a copy of the famous Cape hole, where the tee shot must carry close to the left and inside a huge mound to the right. The seventh tee faces a series of sand pits, and the hole has a brook to take care of misdirected balls. The eighth hole has for its most interesting feature a 150-yard carry from the tee. The ninth, or ravine hole, comes back across the ditch, and makes an outgoing total of 3,078 yards, and a par of 35. The incoming nine holes balance well with the outgoing nine and give a distance of 3,265 yards with the par 37, and a total of 6,343, with a total par of 72. The yardage is measured from the front tees, but in practically every instance back tees have been constructed which add considerably to the distance, and make a possible measurement of close to 6,400 yards for championship purposes.

Important changes have also been made since last year in the old eighteen-hole course, where the National Women's Championship was played in 1922, when Miss Glenna Collett ascended the throne as champion. At that time it proved an admirable test of golf, and the contestants were loud in their praises of its qualifications for a championship tournament. The management of The Greenbrier Hotel, however, felt that there was still some room for improvement, and invited Charles B. MacDonald, the first amateur champion of the United States, and Mr. Raynor to outline what changes they felt were needed. The improvements suggested and made have tended to offset the element of luck, and to penalize poor shots, and to secure the proper advantage and result for well played executions, and as a result the old course ranks much higher than before. The short nine-hole course is a favorite with beginners. It embodies most of the original holes on the flats on the Casino side of the river, and with the two long courses makes a group that is already attracting unusual attention, and that will undoubtedly be in line for many championship events in the near future.

The Golf Club is located in the beautiful Casino that overlooks the Greenbrier River, closely adjacent to the first and last holes of all three golf courses, and commanding a magnificent mountain view. This is a delightful centre of outdoor life for nine months of the year. An exceptionally good jazz orchestra plays here during luncheon and tea, which are served outdoors in warm weather. The wide verandahs and lawns also overlook the five splendid clay tennis courts where the annual Greenbrier tennis championship is played every Spring following the North and South tournament at Pinehurst.

The card of the new course is as follows: 1 (Iron Spring), 440 yards; 2 (Short), 130 yards; 3 (Orchard), 430 yards; 4 (Sahara), 353 yards; 5 (Cross Roads), 370 yards; 6 (Cape), 300 yards; 7 (Trail), 415 yards; 8 (Dog Leg), 360 yards; 9 (Ravine), 300 yards; 10 (Biarritz), 220 yards; 11 (Meadow), 440 yards; 12 (Plateau) 455 yards; 13 (Punch Bowl), 400 yards; 14 (Eden) 160 yards; 15 (Mountain), 400 yards; 16 (Long), 500 yards; 17 (Redan), 190 yards; 18 (Casino), 420 yards.

MANITOBA LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. B. Pellenz, of Elmhurst, Wins from Mrs. R. R. Beairsto on the Home Green—Mrs. Koester, With An 89, Led in the Qualifying Round

WITH the capital score of 89 Mrs. Koester of the Winnipeg Club headed the Qualifying Round in the Manitoba Ladies Golf Championship held last month on the beautiful Southwood course, Winnipeg. She also won the best nett with a 75. The next best nett scores returned were three 80's by Mesdames Francis, Gray and Cuthbert.

Sixteen qualified for the championship flight and many closely contested matches were registered. The results:

First Round.

Mrs. McTavish beat Mrs. Matthews.
Mrs. Bearisto beat Mrs. Balmer.
Miss Cross beat Mrs. Stevens.
Mrs. Fleming beat Mrs. Gray.
Mrs. Campbell beat Mrs. Fairry.
Mrs. Brydges beat Mrs. Morrow.
Mrs. Pellenz beat Mrs. G. Ritchie.
Mrs. Koester beat Mrs. Wright.

Second Round.

Mrs. Bearisto beat Mrs. McTavish.
Mrs. Fleming beat Miss Cross.
Mrs. Brydges beat Mrs. Campbell.
Mrs. Pellenz beat Mrs. Koester.

Third Round.

Mrs. Bearisto beat Mrs. Fleming.
Mrs. Pellenz beat Mrs. Brydges.

Finals.

Mrs. Pellenz defeated Mrs. Bearisto 1 up.

The championship final witnessed one of the most thrilling matches ever staged in a Manitoba Ladies Championship. At the turn Mrs. Bearisto was two up and at the 11th, increasing her lead to 3 with only 6 holes to play the championship seemed to be well within sight. With a fine six at the 550-yard 13th, Mrs. Pellenz, however, reduced her opponents lead to 2. At the 15th she picked up another hole and squared the match at the short 17th. At the 18th Mrs. Pellenz ran down the finest putt of the round for a 5 to Mrs. Bearistos' 6 and won a gruelling round and the championship of Manitoba by 1 up. Each had cards of 91, Mrs. Pellenz going out in 47 and coming back with 44, whilst Mrs. Bearisto reversed the figures with a 44 out and a 47 in. The victory of Mrs.

Pellenz, who is a member of Elmhurst, was a very popular one as she has long been a prominent figure in Manitoba

Mrs. B. Pellenz, Elmhurst Golf Club, winner of the Manitoba Ladies' Championship.

PACIFIC NORTH WEST CHAMPIONSHIPS

THE Pacific North West Championships, held June 20th to 28th, at Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, B.C., were marked by one of the most thrilling finals ever seen in Canada. Before a gallery of some 3,000 people Dr. Willing, the American Internationalist defeated Mr. W. I. Hunter, the ex-British Amateur Champion. At the end of the first round of the final, Hunter, out in 32, was 5 up on the Doctor. On the home run the positions were reversed, Willing securing a 32 and Hunter a 37 and eventually Dr. Willing won the championship 2 and 1.

The professional Championship was won by Neil Christian of Yakima, with 289. Tied for second place with 290 were Phil Taylor of Victoria, B.C., last year's champion and Martie Dutra.

The ladies' championship was won by Mrs. Young of Seattle, who defeated Miss Halloran of Salt Lake in the finals. The unfortunate disqualification of Mrs. H. Hutchings of Winnipeg, for not playing stymies in one of her rounds, unquestionably lost her the championship. She had, during the tournament, an 82 to her credit and was playing much better than any of the other competitors.

A full description of this most interesting tournament by Mr. H. T. Gardner, (with illustrations), will appear in the August issue of the "Canadian Golfer."

CRUICKSHANK'S GREAT GOLF

Paired with Cyril Walker, U. S. Open Champion, in An Exhibition Game, at St. Clair Country Club, Makes Record for the Course

THE St. Clair Golf and Country Club, one of the three Windsor and Walkerville clubs, had an official opening on Saturday, July 12th, which was an unbounded success. The fine St. Clair course was in splendid condition. It certainly suited Cruickshanks, who played the most brilliant golf of the quartette. He had a first round of 65 and a second round of 70 for a brilliant 135. His first 18-hole score was a record for the course, six under par. He was driving a ball up to 260 yards, and following this up with perfect iron work and putting.

His masterly exhibition of every shot was hugely enjoyed.

The Champion, Walker, was not quite up to his usual form as a result largely of indisposition. He is not very strong and was quite ill the day previous to the exhibition. He had rounds of 76 and 75 for a total of 151, or 16 strokes back of his partner. David Robertson had a 73 and 74 for a very consistent card of 147. He is a very fine player indeed, ranking 10th in the recent U. S. Open. T. Robertson was 173. The following was Cruickshank's record score:

First Round:

4,4,3, 3,3,4, 2,5,5=33

Second Round:

4,3,3, 3,4,4, 4,4,3=32=65

Third Round:

5,4,3, 4,4,5, 2,4,4=35

Fourth Round:

4,3,4, 4,4,4, 4,4,4=35=70

It will be noticed that the diminutive Scotsman had 2 twos and 9 threes in his score, and no fewer than 21 fours—great golf.

The St. Clair Club President, Mr. B. H. Manning, his Board of Directors and members came in for much praise for the successful handling of the official opening. There were many visitors from Detroit in addition to Windsor and Walkerville, both at the exhibition game and dinner-dance.

IN AND ROUND THE CLUB HOUSE

Interesting Happenings on the Courses of Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

In a head-on collision on the Toronto-Hamilton Highway this month near Burlington, Mrs. Nicol Thompson, of Hamilton, wife of the ex-Canadian Professional Champion, her infant son, William, her eldest son, Nicol, who was driving the car, and Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. W. J. Burniston, narrowly escaped fatal injuries, as did also several tourists from Braddock, Penn., who were in the car which collided with the Thompson motor. As it was, Mrs. Thompson, her mother and young son were badly shaken up and cut by flying glass. It was a very narrow escape indeed from a most serious mishap.

The new nine-hole golf course at Victoria Beach, near Winnipeg, was finally opened for play last month and was well patronized. It was intended to have Premier Bracken officiate and drive the first ball, but he had been unexpectedly called to Ottawa on public business and could not be present at the opening. Arrangements have been made to pipe lake water to the greens, so that this part of the course will be kept in first-class shape all season. Frank E. Sprague, mayor of the Beach, participated in the opening contest.

The Editor paid a brief visit to the Thornhill Golf and Country Club recently and was delighted with the appearance of this comparatively speaking, new Toronto course. Both club house and course are well planned and well situated. Thornhill has a membership of some 800 and ranks today amongst the leading golf organizations of Toronto, "the city of many churches—and golf courses."

Captain Harvey Lightbourne was the winner of the driving competition held at the Oakville Golf Club recently with a total of 581 yards for the three drives. Mr. Syd. Furness came second with 573. Messrs. Roy McGregor and George Marriott tied for first place in the approaching and putting competition.

With the course in perfect shape, the official opening of the Moose Jaw Golf Club was a most propitious one. Players of both the men's and women's sections gave high praise to the manner in which the fairways and greens had been manicured in preparation for the opening. H. J. Officials of the United States Golf Association said to-day that his entry had been accepted, although neither the course nor the date has been named for next year. Barnes was turned down as a 1924 entrant because his application for permission to compete was not received until after the closing date."

The North British Rubber Company Ltd., Edinburgh, with a Canadian branch in Toronto, has just come out with a magnificent new ball called the "Red Superflite." This ball is made in mesh marking and is particularly suitable for all classes of players. It is a wonderful driving ball, record distances having been obtained with it. The firm has adopted a very sporting marking on each one of the balls, especially for the convenience of players in a four-ball match. Instead of the numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4, a spade, heart, diamond and club are used—a very useful and attractive marking. These balls already are having a great vogue in Great Britain. Recently playing over the Northampton Golf Course, J. M. Jones, the professional, recorded a wonderful 68 with this wonder ball. The vogue of this ball in Great Britain is bound to be duplicated in Canada.

In the first match of the season at the attractive St. Thomas Golf Club course the home team defeated Chatham by the close margin of 11 matches to 10. The Chatham team brought with them T. McGrath, a young Irish professional, just recently arrived. Whether or not, says the "Times-Journal," he is in the habit of breaking records or setting records for the courses on which he plays, he did both so far as the St. Thomas course is concerned. What is more, he did it so easily that those who played in the same foursome were of the opinion that he might, given the opportunity, do even better. As it was, however, he turned in a 37 and 38, which is likely to stand for some time. His card was as follows:

Out . . . 3,4,5, 5,5,4, 3,3,5=37

In . . . 3,4,5, 4,4,5, 4,4,5=38=75

The Chatham players were entertained to dinner in the clubroom after the match. The clubroom looked exceedingly attractive with a long table set across the room and with the club's new dinner and silver service in use. The dinner itself was first-class and well served and the club has every reason to congratulate itself on its catering facilities. Speeches were few and short, just enough to carry the proceedings, after which the Chatham players started on the return trip.

month. Messrs. F. Thompson and Cardy won the match 1 up. The Amateur Champion had the very excellent card of 74. Mr. Stanley Thompson had a 78, Mr. Hills 80 and Mr. Cardy 82. The Montreal Gazette says:

"It was the first occasion on which Mr. Frank Thompson had played over Mount Bruno and he was anxious to see it in view of the fact that the amateur champion will be one of the field to play next month in the open championship contest over that course. 'It is a beautiful course' he commented afterwards. 'And it seems to me that the distances are admirable, while the greens are beyond criticism.' The big greens appealed to the champion and his long approach putts were cannily played with a cleek designed for that particular purpose."

Arthur Russell, the well-known pro. of Lakeview, Toronto, recently equalled the course record of that championship course. He had a card of 72—two strokes above par. It equals the course record made by Laurie

A particularly interesting game was staged July 9th at the Grand River Country Club, Kitchener, Ont., participated in by Mr. George S. Lyon, Lambton, and W. M. Some very fine golf was witnessed. The London Hunt expert was in rare form and with a 37 and a 33 for a 70 established a new record for the course. The visitors were loud in their praises of the Kitchener links, the greens especially coming in for most favourable comment. Exhibition games of this character not only provide much enjoyment to the local galleries, but they are also of a distinct educational value.

Charlie Murray, professional, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, holder of the Provincial open golf championship established a record for the Mount Bruno golf course this month, when he played the 18 holes in 67. Four strokes better than the previous record made by Al Watrous in the Canadian open two years ago. The next best done on the course is a 73 by Kerrigan.

Murray's card read:

Out 462 344 435—35
In 245 333 444—32—67

Par for the outward journey is 35 and the inward journey 35. The feature of his card was a total of five birdies. Murray was playing with Messrs A. J. Hills, R. Howard and R.

E. MacDougall when he made this record score. The ex-champion should be a dangerous contender at the Canadian Open next month at Mount Bruno.

Preliminary to the U. S. Open Championship at Birmingham, Mich., this month, golfers from the Atlantic Seaboard defeated their Western opponents in an 18-hole team play on the Oakland Hills course. The Eastern golfers won only by the narrow margin of 2 points, the score, under the Nassau rule being compiled at 10 for the Easterners and 8 for the western team. W. H. Cox, of the eastern team, turned in a card of 69, three below par. His performance was the best turned in. The result of the match was not decided until the last match reached the eighteenth hole. The ability of Doyle and Cox to take advantage of the slightest errors of their opponents, Laurie Ayton and Dewey Weber, enabled them to win the match for their team.

Although the three leading Toronto men were defeated by The Royal Montreal representatives, Toronto won from the Royal Montrealers by a score of 6 to 4 in the very important match for the Archie Kerr Cup, which since 1910 has been competed for between teams of these two old and representative clubs. The game was played on the green of the Toronto Club. The score:

Several of the games resulted in close matches. W. G. More lost to Alex. Hutchison on the eighteenth green, and Seymour Lyon won from R. McCall, also on the home green. The winners of the coveted cup in past years were: 1910, Toronto Golf Club; 1911, Royal

Miss L. Cardwell, Weyburn, Saskatchewan, writes:

"Will you please let me know the latest ruling regarding prizes for golf competitions? We have been presenting balls as prizes, but I understand that this is no longer done in golf clubs."

There is no objection whatever to giving balls as prizes in competitions. In fact, the majority of the leading clubs make a practice of doing so. No prize is appreciated more than golf balls. It is, however, against the ruling of the Royal and Ancient and The Royal Canadian Golf Association for amateurs to accept gifts of golf balls from Manufacturers or Agents.

Twenty-four players qualified and the prizes were won by Cadet O. D. Cowan and W. W. Squire, with a gross score of 94, and a net of 69. A heavy rain for five hours pre-

"The outlook for Ken-Wo this year is more promising than ever. We have secured quite a few new members, the course has been well rolled, and we have purchased a Shawnee Triplex Mower. Our property is approximately of 225 acres, well wooded, and the total length of the present 9 holes is 2,642 yards, bogey being 39 and par 34. Our longest hole is 494 yards, and our shortest hole is 132 yards. The club is situated midway between Kentville and Wolfville, and a convenient bus service operates between the two towns. As this is only the fourth year for Ken-Wo and the golfing population in this district being limited, we feel that we are making excellent progress."

Simcoe deserves to be congratulated on defeating Brantford last month by a score of 10 to 9. The two clubs have been playing "Home and Home" matches for a quarter of a century or so. Many years ago Simcoe had a particularly strong team and was rarely if ever, beaten on its own links. This year the club is developing a number of very fine young players.

The annual meeting of the Shaunavon Golf Club, Saskatchewan, was held recently, when the following officers were elected for the year 1924:

Hon. President, His Honour, Judge S. A. Hutcheson; President, J. C. Hossie; Vice-President, Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne. Hon. Sec'y-Treasurer, Geo. Stubbins; Captain, William Kidd. Executive Committee, J. J. McCrudden, D. Fulton, H. M. Underhill, E. A. Gee, F. Horsey.

The club had a very successful season during 1923. The grounds were improved, the greens were sanded and oiled and a small club house was erected. During the year inter-club matches with Swift Current were played, the local club winning the Jack Wood Cup, emblematic of team championship of South-western Saskatchewan. Several teams expect to compete for this cup this year. The Elmwood Club of Swift Current have already challenged for it. This year play has been almost uninterrupted by the winter weather, several of the more enthusiastic playing almost the whole winter. Many turned out for the official opening on Good Friday, several good scores being turned in, Messrs. Kidd and McCrudden having three rounds of 37-37-36 and 39-36-38 (on a par of 35). The club extends the privileges of the course free to all golfers when accompanied or introduced by a local member.
